SILVER MEN EARNEST

The Great Convention To-day at Chicago.

LEADERS PROCEEDING CAUTIOUSLY

The Largest Gathering in the History of Financial Agitation—Repeal of the Sherman Act to Be Opposed Unless Coupled With Some Provision to Increase the Volume of Circulating Medium.

CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—The indications are that the National Silver convention to be held here to-day will be the most largely attended in the history of financial agitation. Delegates are expected from every State and Territory, although, of course, the silver producing sections are most largely represented. The leaders of the silver movement are, for the first time on record, perhaps, proceeding with caution, and even such noted free coinage advocates as Lee Crandell, of Washington, and General Warner, of Ohio, decline to express an opinion as to exactly what will be the outcome of the convention.

A strong attempt is to be first made to unite all the different elements of the convention in one line of action regardless of past political affiliations; and Populists, Democrats and Republicans will be asked to forget for a time their partisanship of the past in the coming struggle for free silver.

It is already certain that the resolutions to be adopted and the delegation sent to Washington will be in opposition to the repeal of the Sherman law unless coupled with the repeal is enacted a new law providing for a greater volume of circulating medium.

The Colorado people are laying great stress on the opinion of the Colorado Attorney-General, declaring the right of a State to establish statutory depositories for silver bullion and to issue deposit certificates to be receivable by the State in payment of State taxes and by citizens at its option, in payment of legal debts. This is regarded as a unique means of increasing the volume of currency and may be recommended to silver producing States.

The greatest efforts of the convention, however, will be directed to influencing Congress, and an appeal will be made to the unemployed everywhere to call mass meetings and demand of Congress such legislation as will increase the volume of money and relieve the stringency of the financial situation.

A large delegation from the State of Colorado has arrrived, headed by Gov. Waite, Senator Teller, ex-Gov. John L. Routt, ex-United States Senator Hill, Congressman Bell, T. M. Patterson, President Fisk of the Pan-American Bimetallic League, and Secretary Hutchinson of the Colorado Mining Stock Exchange. The Alabama delegation came in a few minutes later. A conspicuous figure among the Alabamians was Capt. R. Kolb, called "Governor" by his friends, because they insist he was legally elected by the Populists last year and counted out by the Democrats. Others in the Alabama delegation were Col. Sumter Lee, F. G. Bowman, Warren Reese and Chairman Goodwin of the Democratic State Central Committee.

A. J. Warner of Ohio and Senator Reagan, of Texas, are also on hand. "We will not vote for the repeal of the Sherman bill or any of its clauses," said the latter, "unless a free silver act is an absolute certainty. English influences are to blame for present conditions. England is the creditor of the world and it is her policy to limit the production of silver as much as possible to enhance the value of her bonds and interest-bearing securities. The newspapers are not treating the question fairly for while they advocate the repeal of the purchase clause in the Sherman law they do not offer a substitute or show how currency is to be provided.

Ex-Governor Routt, of Colorado, said: "At the coming session of Congres they think they are going to inveigle the silver people into voting for the unconditional repeal of the Sherman law but they cannot do it; we're to smart for them. We are not in favor of that repeal unless what we favor is passed at the same time. We need more money in the country not only for the benefit of Colorado but everybody. Give me enough silver certificates and I'll buy up every railroad in the country. We need plenty of money in circulation to stimulate business and keep up property value."

Nothing to Say Now.

PATERSON, N. J., Aug. 1.—Three of Abram Fardon's most intimate friends visited the County jail yesterday to consult with him as to his guilt or innocence of the robbery of $10,650 from the First National bank. The imprisoned bank teller replied that the time for him to speak had not yet arrived and it is believed that he will remain reticent until he hears from his uncle, John J. Brown, the president of the bank, who is supposed to be in Italy.

Fardon's bail has been fixed at $15,000, but he does not expect to be released until to-morrow. The Fidelity and Casualty Company, which is on Fardon's bond for $10,000, it is understood, will not take any proceedings against Fardon, as the latter has promised to make good the deficiency. Fardon intimates that he is innocent and that other parties may be implicated.

A Syracuse Detective Shot.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Aug. 1.—One of the most dastardly tragedies ever perpetrated in this city was enacted on East Water street, within a few feet of the City Hall, at 10 o'clock yesterday morning. Detective James Harvey was in the act of making an arrest of two suspected individuals, when one of the men turned around and drawing a revolver shot the detective in the head, killing him instantly. The murderer gave his name as George A. Barnes, but refused to say where he resided.

Dead Fish.

PATERSON, N. J., Aug. 1.—Nearly all the fish between the Passaic Falls and the Straight street bridge have died since Saturday for the want of fresh water, the poisonous sewerage from the numerous silk dying houses remaining in the water. A complaint was made to the Board of Health against the fishermen selling wagon loads of dead and poisoned fish in the Italian districts.

"Wild Heresy."

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—Acting Mint Director Preston characterics as a "wild heresy" the proposition of State Attorney General Engley, of Colorado, to establish a state bullion depository to issue certificates against the silver bullion. The scheme is not violative of any United States statue, it is said, but is regarded at the Treasury as a temporary makeshift and impracticable.

A SCALPER'S SCHEME.

How He Manipulated World's Fair Railway Tickets.

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—The origin of the reports that have been in circulation for several days that the Lackawanna was selling cut rate tickets to Chicago for $10 was explained yesterday. It appears that a certain Broadway "scalper" has been selling Lackawanna special excursion tickets to the Fair for $10, arranging with the purchasers for the surrender of the return coupons to his agent in Chicago.

In order to protect himself the "scalper" expected to send a representative on the train with his customers to collect the coupons at the end of the journey. This man was not allowed by the railroad officials to go with the party, but the tickets looked all right and were accepted as far as Scranton. There, on closer inspection, it was seen that the return coupons from Chicago to Buffalo had been cut off and the rest of the ticket pasted together again.

The "scalper" evidently was afraid to trust his customers and had taken this means to make sure of getting the cost price of the tickets back by the sale of the coupon extracted, even if the rest were not returned to him according to agreement.

The passengers who held these mutilated tickets were put off the train at Scranton and are now demanding satisfaction from the road. As they are believed to be innocent holders they will probably not be allowed to suffer from the "scalper's" trick.

THE SIXTY DAY CLAUSE.

The Heavy Drain on the New York Savings Banks.

They Desire to Draw as Little Money as Possible from the Present Market—No Trouble Anticipated.

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—J. Harsen Rhoades, chairman of the executive committee of the savings banks of this State, explains in an interview the action of the savings banks in taking advantage of the 60 day clause in paying depositors. He is reported as saying:

"You see that the drain we have been experiencing for the last two or three weeks is still in force, and it shows how timely and expedient was our decision. Early in June I said the savings banks were in good condition and would probably soon be able to return their large currency holdings. But from that time on the withdrawals increased slowly, gradually, from day to day. But they were so steady and gained such volume that the whole aspect of things was changed. The start was not sudden and it took its rise among the more intelligent depositors of large sums. That accounts for the gradual character of of the growth of the disquiet. They read the papers and became more and more alarmed. But at no time was there any indication of a panicky feeling.

Mr. Rhoades added that the action of Friday was made necessary by the difficulty in getting currency from the downtown banks. He said that the savings banks presidents had drawn as little as possible on the strained market. But the drafts during the last week had reached $50,000 a day at his bank, against an average of deposits of $15,000. Seeing that this was hurting everybody, and that it threatened to make the savings banks a constant drain in present conditions, the action was wise for all concerned.

"We are well off for cash now," he continued, "and though our policy has been to draw as easily as possible on deposit banks, we have plenty of money on hand. The amount is less than the usual cash reserve (about two-thirds), but is enough, with the application of the 60-day rule, to avoid any further drafts on the general store of currency."

Albany Savings Banks.

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 1.—The trustees of the Albany Savings Bank met yesterday and adopted a resolution to pay depositors the amount due them on demand without notice, as the bank feels able to meet any run that can be made upon it until the present panic is over. The deposits in this bank are about $15,000,000, and the surplus $2,500,000. The bank has about $515,000 on hand. The trustees of nearly all the other savings banks in the city met, and the sentiment expressed was in favor of enforcing the 60 days' notice from depositors. The only banks which required such notice were the Albany city Savings Institution, the Home Savings Institution and the National Savings Bank. The other banks, except the Mechanics and Farmers' Savings Bank, may require notice later.

Boston Savings Banks.

BOSTON, Aug. 1.—At a meeting in the Parker House yesterday of representatives of 73 savings banks of the State, it was voted to recommend that the banks take action at once in applying the restrictions provided by their bylaws against the withdrawal of large deposits without the required notice.

The Royal Regatta.

LONDON, Aug. 1.—The regatta of the Royal London Yacht club took place yesterday.

There was a fair breeze from the north-northwest, and the yachts got away in capital style.

The boats that took part in the race were Mr. Royal Phelps Carroll's Navahoe; Lord Dunraven's Valkyrie; Mr. J. Jameson's Iverna; the Prince of Wale's Britannia; Mr. A. D. Clarke's Satanita, and Mr. P. Donaldson's Calluna.

When the yachts started on the second round the Navahoe got over the line eight seconds ahead of the Valkyrie. The Britannia was the third to cross, a minute later than the Valkyrie. Then followed the Gatanita, Calluna and Iverna in the order given. The Iverna got away ten minutes behind the Navahoe.

The Navahoe led the yachts home on the first round, but on the second round the Britannia took the lead and held it to the finish, the Valkyrie crossing the line second with the Navahoe third.

No Sunday Base Ball.

BUFFALO, Aug. 1.—The police commissioners have ordered that Sunday ball playing at Olmypic park must stop. A game between Buffalo and Springfield was played there Sunday and complaint was made by Church members and residents of the locality. Hitherto the Sunday games have been played on the East side grounds, but the lack of accomodation there led to the attempt to play on the regular Eastern league grounds nearer the center of the city. The East-Side grounds will have to be used if Sunday games are played hereafter.

THE COMING CONGRESS.

Crisp Expects the Session to Last Till December.

NON-COMMITTAL IN EXPRESSIONS

He Hopes That the Regular Session of the Fifty-third Congress Will Adjourn Early Next Summer So That the Time Spent in Special Session Will Be Saved at the End of the Regular Session.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—Although the two Houses will be called together in a week, a close search reveals the presence in the city of but 15 Democratic Representatives. Only three Senators have appeared at the Capital, and it is doubtful if there are more than a half dozen Senators in town. It is not easy to ascertain with certainty, for doubtless some of the members and Senators have followed the example set by Senator Mills, of Texas, who has gone quietly to a private boarding-house and has refrained from giving his address even to the officers of the Senate post office.

Ex-Speaker Crisp was accessible to all callers who had business with him yesterday, at his hotel, and received many visits from members. Most of them had suggestions to make respecting their preferences in committee assignments. Mr. Crisp has been steadily non-committal in his own expressions.

He believes that the work of this special session will continue without sensible intermission until next December when the regular session convenes, and he hopes that the regular session of the Fifty-third Congress will adjourn early next summer, so that the time spent in the special session will really be saved at the end of the regular session.

It is understood that the announcement of the committee appointments will not be made until within a week or ten days of the assembling of Congress and this fact has revived the scheme which is brought to the front at the beginning of every congress or passing a resolution allowing members to introduce bills and resolutions subject to reference to committees as soon as the latter are appointed. There is no real saving of time consequent upon this practice but it has the advantage most important, in the eye of the new member, of enabling him to forestall his senator in the introduction of some measure of interest to his own constituency.

Surprise is expressed that the customary call for a Democratic House caucus has not yet been issued. Mr. Holman, of Indiana, is the chairman of the caucus, and it is his function to issue this call, but he has not arrived in Washington. The uncertainty of this point has somawhat embarrassed the State delegates that have candidates in the field for House offices, as they desire to have their formal State caucuses fixed as nearly as possible preceding the full Democratic caucus.

SILVER PURCHASE.

Less Than the Full Quota Bought in July.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—For the first time since the passage of the Sherman law the Treasury last month failed to buy the full quota of 4,500,000 ounces of silver. The total purchase for the month was 2,884,000 ounces, leaving a shortage of 2,116,000 ounces at the counter figure of $0.70.30 per ounce.

The two populist members of Congress from Colorado. Messrs. Pence and Bell, were at the Treasury yesterday and had an interview with Secretary Carlisle and acting Mint Director Preston. They were in Mr. Preston's room at the time he rejected all the offers and made the counter offer of $0.7030 cents per ounce. Both of them were much concerned about what they claimed was an effort of the Treasury Department to "bear" the price of silver in the markets of the world. The silver men indicate a purpose to precipitate a silver discussion on the first working day of the extra session of Congress by a resolution of inquiry as to whether or not the Secretary of the Treasury has not exceeded his authority in refusing to purchase 4,500,000 ounces of silver in July as provided by the Sherman law.

NEW CORPORATIONS.

Enterprises Not Frightened By the Hard Times.

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 1.—These companies were incorporated yesterday:

The Anglo-American Trading Company of New York city and London, to conduct trade between this and European countries; capital $10,000, and directors, Harry L. Hass, and Jacob L. Hass of New York city and Leon F. Loeb of London, England.

The Eureka Cash and Credit Register Company of Elmira, to manufacture cash and credit registers; capital $60,000, and directors, E. Spencer Pratt, Walter F. Dewitt and Warren F. Beck of Elmira; E. Wilcox of Ashtabula, O., and T. C. Campbell of Knoxville, Pa.

The Lundberg Scale Company to manufacture weighing scales; capital, $100,000, and directors, Gustave Lundberg and Martin V. B. Finch of Troy; Philip Miller of West Troy; Charles F. Mattie of Green Island, and Patrick J. Rogers of Lansingburgh.

The Gould Paper Company of Port Leyden, Lewis county, has filed with the Secretary of State a certificate of increase of its capital stock from $60,000 to $260,000.

Corbett Coming Home.

CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—James J. Corbett starts East to-day. Within a week he will be at his old Asbury Park quarters to begin his first light training for the Mitchell fight.

UNCERTAINTY IN SIAM.

A Noticeable Feeling of Uneasiness Among the People.

The Blockade of the Siamese Coast May be Continued Until France's Demands Are Satisfied.

LONDON, Aug. 1.—A despatch to the Central News from Bangkok says: "The uneasiness among the people here, far from lessening, is increasing. Seven more French gunboats have arrived at Koh-si-[illegible]. Negotiations are still going on, but the progress made is not reported. The intentions of the French are awaited with fear and apprehension. Rear Admiral Humann, commanding the French squadron, has issued a second blockade notice, to take effect three days from Saturday. He will order the British warships Pallas and Swift, now lying off Bangkok, to go outside the blockade limits. M. Pavie, the French Minister Resident, has gone to Saigon, and Rear Admiral Humann is under direct orders from Paris. Unless the French Government interposes quickly, an attack on Bangkok seems certain. The trading community is surprised that Humann is still allowed a free hand."

PARIS, Aug. 1.—The ambiguous tone of Cabinet Council in accepting Siam's surrender has excited much comment. It is generally understood that this tone was adopted for the purpose of soothing international susceptibilities. It is stated on high authority that France intends to take decisive steps to insure Siam's carrying out the terms of the ultimatum. The blockade of the Siamese coast will be continued, it is said until, France's demands are satisfied.

The French force now present in Siamese waters is believed to be sufficient to make the blockade effective.

The general opinion here is that the issue of the controversy is a triumph for French over English diplomacy. It is believed in the diplomatic circle that there will be no disagreement between France and England in the delimitation of the frontier. It is also believed that China will adopt her customary course of Laissez Faire and not meddle with the matter.

Buffalo Races.

BUFFALO, Aug. 1.—Everything is in readiness for the ten days' grand circuit meeting which opens here to-day. The entry list is large, the track is good condition, nearly $100,000 is hung up in purses and the outlook is promising for the greatest series of races in the history of the circuit. In all there are 238 horses quartered at the driving park. The horsemen say the track is fast, and some record breaking is looked for if the weather does not spoil it.

Cholera in Russia.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 1.—Official returns that have just been issued show a marked increase in the ravages of cholera in the parts of the Empire where the disease is epidemic.

The epidemic exists, though in less severe form, in the Governments of Viatka, Kazan, Riazan, Oofa and Simbeersk.

Fourth Auditor.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—The President has appointed Charles B. Morton, of Maine, Fourth Auditor of the Treasury, vice John R. Lynch, of Mississippi, resigned.

Sensational Story.

CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—In connection with the grand jury investigation into the cold storage warehouse holacaust, a local paper prints the sensational story to the effect that the fire which was so disastrous to human life was of incendiary origin, the incentive being a desire to cover up a wholesale theft of goods stored in the warehouse.

Clifton Race Track.

PATERSON, N. J., Aug. 1.—All the leading members of the Board of Trade and a number of the local clergy met in the Elkings building last night and resolved to go before the Board of Freeholders in a body to-day to protest against the granting of a license to the Clifton race track.

A Canal Leak.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 1.—A telegram from Holly, N. Y., reports a leak in the Erie canal which it is feared may result in a serious break and consequent injury to commerce.

THE BUSINESS OUTLOOK

Failures and Destitution in the West.

GETTING HOME FROM COLORADO.

Lawlessness in Kansas—St. Louis Station Houses Full of Penniless Pilgrims—The United States Watch Company Resumes. Reduced Hours at Newark, N. J.—New England Industries.

TOPEKA, Kan., Aug. 1.—The stream of idle workmen from Colorado continues to pour through Kansas. Reports received here by the police department state that a great many depredations have been committed in the towns along the lines of the Santa Fe and Union Pacific railroads. Houses have been broken into and valuables stolen both in the towns and country. Reports to the police authorities state that tramps and burglars all along these lines of road have taken advantage of this movement east of idle working men and are plundering residences in towns and farm houses in the country.

Edison's Business Dull.

ORANGE, N. J., Aug. 1.—The Edison phonography works discharged 300 men yesterday. The works are almost completely shut down. The cause is believed to be financial stress. At the works this is denied. It is asserted that the reduction in the force is for the purpose of taking stock. Superintendent George F. Gallou has resigned and Charles Young has been appointed to succeed him.

There is trouble among the hat factories of this city and Orange Valley. Orders have been steadily falling off and many countermands have been received for orders already booked. The cause is the stagnation in the western trade. Some shops are already closed and others are about to follow suit. Not one is working to its full capacity. The closure of these shops would throw 3,000 operatives out of work.

Bay City Iron Works.

DETROIT, Aug. 1.—A Bay City, Mich., special says: The Industrial Works, ranking among the largest iron works and boiler shops in the country, have been closed, presumably for repairs, but the real reason is because the firm operating it cannot get money for the goods sold, and have decided to wait until something turns up. Clements & Son, the owners, are among the millionaires of the State, and have offices and agents in all the leading cities of the United States, and manufacture anything from an engine to a complete iron mill. The closing up of this mill throws out of employment hundreds of skilled workmen. Things will be opened up again as soon as the money market becomes easier.

BOSTON, Aug. 1.—The United States Watch company resumed work at their factory at Waltham yesterday with a full force, after a two weeks vacation. This was an agreeable surprise to the operatives and the community as it was feared that owing to the general depression in the watch market the company would extend its vacation another week or make a considerable discharge of help, as did the Waltham company. The operatives, both piece and day hands, were notified of a reduction of 15 per cent. in pay during the present stagnation only, with the promise that when times improved the old wages would be restored. The reduction applies to foremen as well as others.

New Hampshire Industries.

MANCHESTER, N. H., Aug. 1.—The big Amoskeag mills were closed yesterday. This is the first suspension of these factories for many years; 8,000 operatives are idle. The Jefferson mills started up again yesterday morning thus giving employment to 1,000 hands who had been idle for two weeks. All the remaining Amoskeag mills are certain to resume work Aug. 28, if not before, but it will be on the basis, it is stated, of a reduction of wages to operatives. It is said that there will be a general reduction of 10 per cent., and those receiving better wages than the average will be cut down 15 per cent.

Around Pittsburg.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 1.—A Greensburg special says that the striking glass workers at Irvin have accepted the five per cent. reduction in their wages and returned to work. In Pittsburg seven of the Jones and Laughlin mills closed down. A large number of men are idle with no immediate prospect of work. The machinists who have been making repairs at Oliver's mills went on a strike against an increase of from nine hours to a ten hour day. The Scottdale Rolling Mill Company, employing 200 men, has signed the Amalgamated scale. Work will resume in a few days.

Reduced Hours in Newark Mills.

NEWARK, N. J., Aug. 1.—The proprietors of the Arlington Sandpaper Company have announced that until further notice the mills will work but forty hours a week. Until lately they have been very busy. The Superintendent said yesterday that the condition of the building trade and the stringent money market affected the usual heavy orders for the fall trade. The Arlington Celluloid and Celluloite Company have also posted notices that until further orders the shop will be closed on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. The company has in its employ between two and three hundred hands.

St. Louis Police Stations Full.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 1.—Last night every cell in the police stations was occupied by voluntary prisoners. They were members of the mining fraternity en route from the mines in Kansas and Colorado to the cities of the East in the hope of securing work. Over 300 spent the night in the station houses, and after a breakfast, furnished by the officials, they left in droves for the East. Trainmen coming from the Missouri river say that there is not a freight train running Eastward but carries from 25 to 50 tramps.

DEAD-HEADS OBJECT.

Trouble Over Passes Into the World's Fair Grounds.

CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—There has not been a general disposition on the part of the exhibitors and employes to confirm to the order of the council of administration regarding the scrutiny and stamping of passes "good after Aug. 1." Many of these full term pass holders say they are not going to run after the chief of their department or the subordinates of Supt. Tucker to be inspected and investigated.

The British exhibitors and their employes talk in a defiant way about their rights and the ability of any man to keep them away from their exhibits when they hold a full term pass. They declare their intention of jumping over the turnstiles if the ticket takers refuse them admission on their passes and intimate that the British commissioners gave them such instructions. Other foreign exhibitors take the same ground that as the passes they received came through the commissioners from their country they will take orders from none other than official representatives of their governments. The exhibitors say they have submitted to enough restrictions and indignities in regard to their free admission to the Fair.

There is much complaint among both foreign and domestic exhibitors who have already met with a refusal from the department chiefs of Supt. Tucker's department to mark passes good after Aug. 1, on the ground that the holders are not regularly employed in attendance on exhibits.

PEARY IN HARD LUCK.

Indications that His Expedition May Be a Failure.

Less Progress Than Expected—His Steamer May Get Frozen in and Be Unable to Proceed this Year.

ST. JOHNS, Aug. 1.—Mail news of Lieut. Peary and his expedition received from Labrador is very unsatisfactory. The Falcon arrived at Battle Harbor on July 18, after a very rough and disagreeable passage from St. Johns. She was swept by heavy seas, which did considerable damage. The donkeys which Lieut. Peary took with him on boar the Falcon were in a perishing condition from the results of exposure and the injuries received when Battle Harbor was reached.

Lieut. Peary made a two-days' stay at Battle Harbor to enable him to repair damages and to give the animals a chance to recuperate. While there he tried to purchase dogs, but failed. He then sailed for Turnavil. Exorbitant prices were asked for the dogs there, so the lieutenant decided not to purchase. He visited Hopedale next, and there the same thing happened.

While at Hopedale he seriously contemplated killing his donkeys. He intended to visit the more northern parts of Labrador for the purpose of getting dogs, though the delay would seriously endanger the success of the expedition.

It is now considerably after the time when he should have sailed for Greenland, with good prospects of success. The season is getting late and the chances are that he will be unable to reach Bowdoin Bay, as the steamer may be frozen in and be unable to get clear until next year.

GHASTLY MURDER.

A Wisconsin Farmer Kills His Entire Family.

ANTIGO, Wis., Aug. 1.—William Nonemacher, a farmer living nine miles southeast of Antigo, murdered his wife and three children about 10 o'clock Saturday night and then made an unsuccessful attempt to take his own life.

The deed was not discovered until Sunday evening and the news reached here late yesterday.

At the inquest Nonemacher made a full confession. He said the crops were poor and he was afraid of starving; that his wife's parents were in Quebec, where they wanted money and he had none to send them.

His intention was to kill his family on Friday, but he changed his plan to Saturday night. After the family had gone to sleep he went out and got an axe and returned to do the deed. He first killed his wife by three swinging blows on the left temple, and then went into the next room and killed Joseph, six years old, and Willie, four years old by striking them on the head twice.

After killing the two boys he returned to the room where his wife lay, and picked up his year-old baby, held her in one arm and struck her on the top of the head.

Nonemacher then went to the barn, climbed up to the roof and jumped 20 feet to the floor of the pig sty, sustaining injuries to the spine and paralyzing his lower extremities.

Trouble at Ashland.

ASHLAND, Wis., Aug. 1.—The troubles between the union and non-union men at the lumber docks in this city culminated in a fight yesterday in which a number on both sides were injured. On Saturday all of the mill owners excepting Mr. Sheres gave in to the demands of the union men at fifty cents an hour. Mr. Sheres refused flatly to pay, and stated that he would get non-union help. These men were put to work, but no sooner did the union men on other docks get wind of it than they attacked the Sheres dock, which was guarded by the chief of police, sheriffs and deputies. A fierce fight followed, in which a number of the union men were badly clubbed and one shot, but not fatally. The men finally succeeded in reaching the boats and put the non-union men to rout. Then they returned to their work, but later about 20 of them were arrested on various charges.

Low Water.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 1.—No coal has been shipped by river from Pittsburg since the 18th of May, on account of low water, and as a result there are nearly 20 million bushels of the black diamond now ready for shipment. This will break all previous records. Most of the river mines are closed, as all the boats and barges are loaded. A rise is not expected before September.

Canadian Fishery Yield.

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 1.—The value of the fishery yield of Canada for the past year was $18,941,171, a decrease of $36,907, as compared with the previous year.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—Peck wants a store boy.

—The excursion of the First Church of Christ, to Papiac, will take place August 9.

—A regular meeting of the Hillside Tennis Club will be held at the club-house to-morrow evening at 8.

—The Street Railway Company has a new derrick wagon, perfect in its workings and good to look upon.

—Mrs. A. Mattis, mother of Wm. Wilson who was hurt by the cars Sunday, denies that the man was intoxicated at the time of the accident.

—Every housewife, no matter what machine she has been using, pronounces the Wilcox & Gibbs emphatically the best, once she has tried it. Mrs. F. A. Van-Name, agent, at 10 Grove street, is very obliging about showing the merits of the machine, and has a full stock of supplies on hand.

—J. W. Allen, the well-known house painter and decorator, has found his business increasing so rapidly that he has been obliged to open a store at 128 Central avenue, in what is known as the Manning flats. He is an expert at house painting, paper hanging and decorating in art, and he deserves the patronage of the people. The public will not be obliged to go to New York for decorators, as Mr. Allen makes a specialty of high-class decorations.

FIFTY MILE RACE.

That Lyceum Wheeling Contest to Be a Great Success.

A meeting of the Lyceum Wheelmen was held in the club-house last night to perfect arrangements for the coming 25-mile road race to be held Aug. 19. It was decided to close the entries Aug. 12, and it is earnestly desired that all those intending to participate shall enter as soon as possible so that arrangements may be made accordingly. The designs of the two gold medals have already been chosen, and they will be very handsome. The officials of the race have already been told in The Press. Nearly 50 entries are expected.

HAS ITS BACK UP.

The Plainfield Electric Light Company Serves an Injunction on Its Sister Over the Brook.

The Plainfield Electric Light Company served a notice this morning through their attorneys, Messrs. Lindabury and Bergen, of Elizabeth, on the North Plainfield Edison Company, calling on them to show just cause why they should interfere with the Plainfield company in its business over the brook. This action has been predicted by The Press, and its issue will be watched with interest.

Better Service In the Future.

The fault for the delay in putting up the borough electric light wires at their new elevation is said by the lighting company to lie with the street railway contractor, whose men are doing the work. The wires are being elevated above the trolley wire. The lighting company have fulfilled their part of the work, that of putting in taller poles, but the railway company have been unfortunate in not getting the wires restored. Almost complete connection is promised for to-night, and by to-morrow night every lamp will glow as usual.

Hard Luck for Wheelman Letson.

A young man named Letson, from New Brunswick, was in the City Court this morning, charged with riding a bicycle without a light. He was arrested on the far outskirts of the town, near Netherwood, by Policeman Myers, and said he was in a hurry to get to Elizabeth and that his lamp had just gone out when he was arrested. Nevertheless, he was brought to Plainfield and fined $1 this morning.

These Racers 4 Minutes Apart.

James Egan and Clark Mundy, clerks of David Smalley, had a friendly bicycle race last night, from Richmond and Fifth streets to Westfield and return. Egan won in 36 minutes. Mundy was 4 minutes behind.

One Good Egg Deserved Another.

Frank Richter, a Somerset street barber, has a curiosity in an egg, which his wife bought a day or two ago, and which contained another egg inside, with a hard shell on.

One of my children had a very bad discharge from her nose. Two physicians prescribed, but without benefit. We tried Ely's Cream Balm, and much to our surprise, there was a marked improvement. We continued using the Balm and in a short time the discharge was cured.—O. A. Cary, Corning, N. Y.

THE DEAD MAN COULD N'T SIGN.

SO HIS LAWYER FORCED THE NERVELESS FINGERS.

Facts of the Maynard Will Contest—Undue Influence Alleged to Have Been Exercised by the First-Born Son, Who Was at Hand When the Will Was Drawn.

A case that is likely to cause considerable interest in the courts is the contest regarding the validity of the will of the late James Maynard of this city, who died March 17, 1893, leaving all his property to his son Edward and cutting off his two other sons by a second marriage without a cent. One of his sons by his second marriage is named Edwin B., and the other is John B. Edwin is proprietor of Maynard's Tonsorial Parlor, and shortly after the will was made public he settled with Edward and agreed to give up all claims to his father's property for a consideration, having pocketed which, he went on his way rejoicing.

John, however, who lives in Boston, did not compromise, but began to pick flaws in the legality of the document.

James Maynard, the father, was taken ill Monday, March 14; and on Wednesday of the same week, it being evident that he was not long for this world, he called in his legal adviser, J. B. Coward, and a will was drawn up. The old man was too far gone to hold the pen to sign his name, so Mr. Coward traced his signature, holding the pen in the sick man's hand. Edwin says that he did not know his father was ill until Tuesday, and the papers that have been filed for an appeal from the admission of the will to probate state that undue influence was brought to bear on the sick man by the son Edward, who was intimately associated with the old man during his last illness, before the other boys could get around, and it is therefore held that the signature cannot stand. Attorney George DeMeza has the case in hand for John, the contestant, and it is set to come up in the Orphans' Court at Elizabeth September 14.

THE PUBLIC DISAPPOINTED.

Architect Fosgate Would n't Exonerate, But Simply Declined to Prosecute.

The case of the city of Plainfield against W. C. Smith, the contracting mason, brought on complaint of Blanchard Fosgate, the architect, who accused Smith of calling him names, was withdrawn this morning.

When the time came for its trial in the City Court, Walter Hetfield, acting for Mr. Fosgate, rose at the appointed time and to the surprise of all declared the case withdrawn. Ex-Judge John Ulrich, who appeared for Mr. Smith, arose and desired to know if in withdrawate the defendant from all blame in the matter, and also if he would pay all costs. Mr. Hetfield replied that his client, acting on his advice, simply withdrew the case, and that he did not exonerate Mr. Smith in the least; that furthermore Mr. Fosgate was ready to prove everything he had sworn to if Mr. Ulrich cared to fight the matter out, and that it was the city's place to pay the costs. Some lively arguing followed, for a few minutes, and the learned counsel for both sides were slightly irritated, but the Judge said the city would pay, and the jurors and spectators who had expected some lively fun went away disappointed.

PRAISE FOR FRAZEE AND WEBER.

These Two Councilmen Have the Thanks of Honest Workingmen.

At a recent meeting of Watchung Lodge, No. 167, International Association of Machinists, the following preamble and resolution were unanimously adopted and ordered placed on the minutes and published in The Daily Press:

WHEREAS, There was introduced in the Plainfield City Council, June 5, 1893, an ordinance granting to employes of the Street Department nine hours for a day's work; and

WHEREAS, Two Aldermen, Messrs. Vincent L. Frazee and Herman A. Weber, voted and worked in favor of the above ordinance; be it

Resolved, That to Vincent L. Frazee and Herman A. Weber our thanks and the thanks of all honest labor are due, for their untiring labor in our behalf.

The Borough Cars Will Soon Be Here.

Superintendent Passmore says that the Somerset street extension of the electric railway will be running between the 12th and 15th of August. The cars will arrive here early in the month. The great difficulty at present is the stringing of the wires. All of the electric light wires have to be raised, and in consequence the work of stringing the trolley wires moves slowly. Car No. 1, which has been idle undergoing painting, will be ready for duty Thursday.

Little Keeler the Ruling Favorite.

[From The Morning Journal.]

Keeler will be closely watched in the coming series, and he is likely to get a lively reception from the crowd.

[From The Sun.]

When Keeler, who was n't fast enough for the New Yorks, came to the plate, he got a royal welcome. He waited for a nice one, and then wanged a pretty single over second base, bringing in Foutz with the first run of the day. But the youngster was left, as Daly went out, Fuller to Connor.

The American Catarrh Cure

Is the result of twenty-six years' study and treatment of the disease. One bottle convinces the most skeptical. It is always ready for use, needing neither douche nor atomizer. It restores the hearing, cures the hawking cough and expectorating, removes the headache and nose bleeding, increases the appetite, produces sound sleep, invigorates the whole system and increases the vitality. Prepared only by W. B. Jones, M. D., No. 1336 South Eighth street, Philadelphia. For sale by F. W. Randolph, 21 West Front street. Price $1.

TWO JOHNS IN COURT.

$3 Apiece Paid by Belligerent Hackmen.

The trial of John Lynch and John Goodwin, cabmen, for fighting and disturbing the peace, Sunday, July 23, in front of the North avenue station, came up in the City Court this morning. Ex-Judge W. R. Codington appeared for Lynch, and presented his case in a very favorable light. He said that the fault of the row lay as much with Goodwin as with Lynch, who is only 15 years old, and he asked the Court to be lenient with his client as it was his first offence. Judge Coddington, after considering the evidence, adjudged each man the light fine of $3, and dismissed them with a warning.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Miss M. Wood of Richmond street will leave for the World's Fair to-morrow.

George M. Randall is at the Saunders House, Saunderston, R. I., till Sept. 1.

Mr. and Mrs. Abner Bartlett, Jr., are at the Mahomet House, South Plymouth, Mass.

Fred Sandford left town this morning to join his mother and sisters at Watch Hill, R. I.

Miss Lillian M. Walker, of Philadelphia, is visiting Miss Ada L. Wagner, Watchung avenue.

Miss Gertrude Volck, of Brooklyn, is visiting her aunt, Mrs. S. O. Doane, East Fourth street.

Patrons of the Jersey Central are glad to see Walter Durling of Somerville reinstated as conductor.

T. O. Doane, Jr., who has been visiting in New York State and Vermont, returned home last evening.

Mrs. Constantine P. Ralli, of Netherwood, has returned from a two weeks' visit at Bridgehampton, L. I.

Mrs. H. O. Newman is visiting Mrs. Henry C. Squires at her summer residence, Conklin, Broome county, N. Y.

Dr. Pocock has the congratulations of all in the news that by the death of an uncle he has acquired a portion of a large estate in Ohio.

Mrs. Robert L. Burnett left Plainfield to-day for Patchogue, where she will spend the month of August, going in September to Lake Hopatcong.

F. A. Church, of Craig place, has returned from Ghent, Columbia county, N. Y., where he and his wife have been enjoying farm life for over a month.

Miss Lawrence, of Hillside avenue, has left Plainfield for the remainder of the summer. She will spend some time at Flushing, Orange and Patchogue.

The Rev. Asa Reed Dilts was to-day welcomed back to Plainfield by many warm friends. He came to preach at the funeral of the late Rev. Marcus Ward Smalley.

Albany, are visiting Mr. Fellows's mother and sister Blanche, at their home on Duer street. Thence they will go to Spring Lake for two weeks.

Ex-Judge Wm. R. Codington to-day succeeds the firm of Jackson & Codington, John H. Jackson retiring. The ex-Judge is doing a tremendous amount of legal business, as his success in winning cases deserves.

Charles Benton VanWinkle, late with Walter L. Hetfield, to-day took charge of the New Jersey law business of Green & Codding, the well-known New York lawyers, who have just opened elegant offices in the Cook Bros' bank building, Westfield. Mr. VanWinkle is a pushing and thoroughly informed attorney, and will do himself credit in his new and responsible field. Green & Codding will find him just the man to handle their New Jersey work, and Westfield people in need of legal advice or documents won't have to go from home now to secure them.

Plainfield Germans Away from Home.

The Aurora Singing Society of New Brunswick celebrated their twentieth anniversary yesterday afternoon, to the delight of a large crowd.

About forty members of the Turn Verein of this city went over in stages and participated in the festivities. Societies were also present from Perth Amboy and Brooklyn.

During the afternoon there was singing by each society separately, under the direction of Prof. Stein.

Afterward an elaborate dinner was served, and a general good time was had. There was no parade, as the new bridge was not completed and could not be used.

Let There Be Light!

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—Again last night all of the borough through which I groped was in gloom impenetrable. Egyptian darkness may have had its uses in prehistoric times, and the blackness accompanying solar or lunar eclipses is all right enough in its way, but when the borough boasts a practicable electric illuminating plant and pays for the regular operation of the same, for goodness' sake let us have light. Voorhees Dead of His Injuries.

Hiram Voorhees, painter, died in Muhlenberg Hospital last night of the injuries received in his fall from W. D. Murray's new house Saturday. His death is the source of much heartfelt grief, as he was a most excellent workman and a good Christian man, having been converted some time ago by the Salvation Army. The afflicted family have the sympathy of all.

Twenty Years' Experience.

C. D. Fredricks, the well-known photographer, 770 Broadway, New York, says: "I have been using ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS for 20 years, and found them one of the best of family medicines. Briefly summing up my experience, I say that when placed on the small of the back ALLCOCK'S PLASTERS fill the body with nervous energy, and thus cure fatigue, brain exhaustion, debility and kidney difficulties. For women and children I have found them invaluable. They never irritate the skin or cause the slightest pain, but cure sore throat, coughs, colds, pains in side, back or chest, indigestion and bowel complaint."

SUN-LIGHT and FRESH AIR are THE BEST DISINFECTANTS, of course; but you can't apply them in every situation. What next? Well, that depends. For damp cellars use Quicklime, plenty of it. For vaults and cesspools use COPPERAS; cheap stuff; we sell it by the pound or hundred-weight—instructions thrown in. For kitchen sinks, for water-closets, for house plumbing, for the sick room, to deodorize discharges, to purify the air and to prevent contagion, use REYNOLDS'S ODORLESS DISINFECTANT. WORKING ITS WAY TO PLAINFIELD.

That New Electric Railway Scheme Progressing Onward from Orange.

The recently-organized New Jersey Improvement Company, which intends constructing an electric railway from Paterson to New Brunswick by way of Plainfield, as previously announced in these columns, has engaged H. J. Holmes, Jr., a Millburn real-estate dealer, to secure the right of way from South Orange to Plainfield. Mr. Holmes has already secured the consent of several property-owners in Springfield, but a few farmers are opposed to the scheme, as they think the railway will damage the streets. One of the latter said he would not allow the proposed electric road to pass his residence for less than $2,000. Mr. Holmes says that this man recently offered to sell his property for $900. The majority of residents of Springfield are in favor of the construction of the road, as the town is now without any railroad facilities, the nearest road being the D. L. and W. Railroad at Millburn, a mile from the centre of the village.

This is the form of the agreement which the property-owners are requested to sign:

For and in consideration of the sum of $1, to me in hand paid, the receipt whereof is hereby acknowledged, and for other good and valuable considerations, I, the undersigned owner of property fronting ..... feet on ....., in the county of ....., State of New Jersey, do hereby give my consent to and authorize and empower the New Jersey Improvement Company, its successors and assigns, to construct, equip, maintain and operate a street railway in front of said property, to be operated by electricity or other motive power, except steam.

Witness my hand and seal this ..... day of ....., A. D., eighteen hundred and ninety-three .....

Signed, sealed and delivered in the presence of .....

Among the first to sign the agreement was Chairman A. P. Stiles, of the Springfield Township Committee. Mr. Stiles, whose property has a frontage of 5,000 feet on the Plainfield road, is enthusiastic over the plan. In his agreement the company promised to operate the road in two years. Freeholder J. Martin Roll is also strongly in favor of the scheme.

Mr. Holmes says the company intends to pass along the Ridgewood road in South Orange to Mountain avenue, Wyoming (a town near Millburn), thence along Wyoming avenue to Springfield avenue, the Essex County road, along this thoroughfare a half mile to Main street, south along Main street to Springfield, where the route will extend an eighth of a mile. West on Morris avenue to Westfield avenue, thence to Westfield and Plainfield.

This is the route desired by the company, but Mr. Holmes says if the property-owners in Millburn and Springfield offer much objection the route will be changed, and extend from South Orange to Hilton, thence to Unionville, and along Westfield avenue to Westfield. The residents of Unionville, it is said, are anxious to have the road extend through that village.

ONLY 2 BIRDS DIFFERENCE.

The Dutch Team of Plainfield Lost the Pigeon Shoot.

The pigeon shooting contest at the Climax Gun Club grounds, yesterday, drew a large audience, who were well repaid, for the contest was a clever exhibition of the handling of the shotgun. The match, as stated in yesterday's Press, was a team race, the principals being Chas. Smith of this city and John Rothacker of Philadelphia on one side, against M. F. Lindsley of Roboken and Capt. A. W. Money of Oakland. The match resulted in a win for Money and Lindsley by the score of 90 kills out of a possible 100, to 87 for the "Dutch" team.

The birds were a first-class lot of strong fliers, particularly the last half shot at, as these were helped on their flight by a strong wind that had sprung up. Of the first 25 shot at, Lindsley killed 23, Money 22, Rothaker 24, and Smith 20. Of the second 25, Lindsley scored 22, making a total of 45; Money 23, total 45; Rothaker 21, total 43; and Smith 24, bringing his score up to 44. Neaf Apgar acted as referee, Jacob Pentz, of Shooting and Fishing, scorer, and the veteran sportsmen Al Heritage, of Jersey City, pulled the traps. After the contest the visitors were entertained by Mr. Smith, and after spending a pleasant evening left on the 10:17 train.

From Plainfield to King Solomon's Wonders.

The Jersey Central Railroad people, ever thoughtful of the wishes of amusement lovers, will run a special excursion from Plainfield at 7:03 to-morrow evening to the famous summer resort Eldorado. The steamer Eliza Hancox will make the river trip. This gives every Plainfielder a chance to go direct to the magnificent spectacle of "King Solomon" and get home without having to transfer roundabout through New York. The entire cost is only $1.25.

I feel it my duty to say a few words in regard to Ely's Cream Balm, and I do so entirely without solicitation. I have used it more or less half a year, and have found it to be most admirable. I have suffered from catarrh of the worst kind ever since I was a little boy and I never hoped for cure, but Cream Balm seems to do even that. Many of my acquaintances have used it with excellent results. Oscar Ostrum, 45 Warren ave., Chicago, Ill.

A MERRY TIME AT EUCHRE.

DELIGHTFUL SOCIAL EVENT AT HOTEL NETHERWOOD.

Charming Miss White and Esteemed Miss Raymond Won the Full Dozen—Who Took the Prizes, and What They Were.

The grand parlor of the Hotel Netherwood was again the scene of a happy gathering last evening, the event being the second progressive euchre party of the season.

Promptly at 9 the participants gathered in the spacious parlor, and under the guidance of Horace L. Balch the merry gamesters began the contest.

The prizes were ten in number, all useful and very pretty, and spoke well for the purchasing committee. There were twelve tables, and forty-eight players, who were:

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Balch.
Mr. and Mrs. D. F. McCabe.
Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Ogden.
Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Gage Brady.
Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Kelley.
Miss Florence Kelley and W. E. Smith.
Mrs. Ranney and Elliott Ranney.
Miss Richardson and Chas. A. Smith.
Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Richardson.
Mrs. W. B. Ogden and Clarence E. Smith.
Mrs. H. W. Williams and W. B. Ogden.
Mrs. Wm. J. Eaton and N. A. Benner.
Mrs. Wm. H. Sneckner and Jas. N. Stout.
Mrs. W. V. R. Smith and Wm. H. Sneckner.
Mrs. A. L. Gondran and W. V. S. Smith.
Miss Annie S. Betts and W. T. Wardwell.
Mrs. J. M. White and Chas. Kelley.
Miss Carrie White and J. M. White.
Mrs. Frank E. Miller and June M. White.
Miss Annetta Loeb and Frank E. Miller.
Miss Raymond and E. O. Raymond.
Miss G. Raymond and James Phyfe.

The winners were:

Miss G. Raymond—cut-glass dish.
Miss Carrie White—salad bowl, Limoges.
Mrs. F. E. Miller—silver scissors.
Mrs. H. W. Williams—Bohemian vase.
W. B. Ogden—silver whisk-broom.
Wm. G. Brady—silver-back hat brush.
Jas. Phyfe—silver scarf-fastener.
M. C. Ogden—silver cigar-cutter.

CONSOLATION PRIZES.

Mrs. Balch—silver link buttons.
James M. White—silver key-ring.

Miss G. Raymond and Miss Carrie White (who is conceded to be the most charming young lady at the Hotel) won the entire twelve games.

To-morrow evening Prof. D. Neuman, of Berlin, the wonderful mind and thought reader, will entertain the guests of The Netherwood with his rare performance.

Souvenir Night Next Monday.

Of all the souvenir performances given by the De Wolf Hopper Opera Company since its organization, the coming event celebrating the 100th time the curtain has been rung up on the pretty opera "Panjandrum", which takes place Monday evening, August 7, in the Broadway Theatre, New York city, from all accounts will doubtless be the most important; and judging from the promises of Managers French and Stevens, and also from the souvenirs given in the past, the mementoes commemorating this event are sure to be both unique and novel.

The joint appearance of Mr. and Mrs. Hopper, together with the great success which "Panjandrum" has attained, and the cool condition in which the Broadway Theatre is always kept, form a combination which, at this warm season of the year, cannot be excelled. Mrs. Hopper is getting along very nicely in the role of Paquita, and, although her appearance in this part a few weeks ago was her initial bow in comic opera, she is already a great favorite with the patrons of the Broadway. Her style of acting differs entirely from that of Miss Della Fox, who created this part, and with her charming features and pleasing manners, together with her clever acting, she could hardly do other than make a success.

That De Wolf Hopper, when he opened last May with his new opera and advertised as "going to run all summer", would do just as he said, was one of those foregone conclusions that those who are in the habit of wooing the fickle goddess of chance in her pool-room lair would be extremely well pleased to lay odds on. Thus far he has not broken his word, and from the present outlook he certainly will have no cause to. The business, considering the hot weather, is all that could be expected, and "Panjandrum", with its champagnelike songs, music and libretto, is sure to run just where it is until the commencement of Mr. Hopper's road season.

No Mussel, No Straps, No Nothing.

The following communication comes to The Press with a request for unabridged insertion. It is therefore printed as written, and if the dogs complained of are any worse than the letter of the complainant it must be a very sad state of affairs:

BIG NEISANCE.

I do not think the law is very stringet on Dogs, for every day they molest the houses in Cor Central Av frome second to fourth streets if you gates are not fasten right in your yard, if your kitchen door open right in, if your celler door open, in there in pan milk, or dirh meat, big ones and little ones, no mussel no straps no nothing.

Entertaining and Diligent.

Editor Steel, whose newspaper, the Newark Evening News, leads the State in excellence and circulation, has a kind word to say of the change in The Press management. He says in his journal:

Walter Irving Clarke has been called to the editorship of the Daily Press of Plainfield. Mr. Clarke succeeds J. A. Demarest, who has accepted the United States Consulship at Brockville, Canada. Mr. Clarke is a young man who has had an excellent newspaper training. He is an entertaining writer and a diligent worker.

Attorney DeMeza for the City.

On account of the absence of Corporation Counsel Craig A. Marsh, Attorney George W. DeMeza will represent the city August 17 in the case of the city against Annie Fisher for disturbing the peace and calling Lulu Henderson names. Ex-Judge W. B. Codington will defend Lulu. The girls are both colored.

Read and Reflect.

The great mass of mankind lose their health through inattention to catarrh of the head and throat. This insidious disease was considered incurable until the discovery of the American Catarrh Cure. For sale by L. W. Randolph, 21 West Front street. Price $1.00.

JOHN ADLEMAN HIS SUCCESSOR.

In Superintendent Passmore Plainfield Loses a Good Citizen and the Company a Valued Man.

John Adlemann, of Grant avenue, will to-morrow succeed J. H. Passmore as Superintendent of the Plainfield Street Railway Company. Mr. Adleman has been Mr. Passmore's foreman for the past year, and is thoroughly fitted to take the position. He is originally from Newark, but moved with his family to Plainfield some time ago.

While welcoming the new Superintendent, The Press wishes to extend its good wishes also to Mr. Passmore, who by his excellent management of the road and his many highly valued personal qualities has secured hosts of friends in Plainfield, to which he came a stranger. He and his wife, who also is greatly esteemed by Plainfield people, will leave to-morrow for Norristown, Pa., where Mr. Passmore will take charge of the street railroad of that town. He takes with him good wishes, for his prosperity, from all.

HELD UP BY A FOOTPAD.

A Westfield Man's Narrow Escape From a Thief.

Last night a man from Westfield, while riding his bicycle on Front street, near Richmond, was stopped by a footpad and his lantern wrenched away.

The object of the thief was probably to deprive the man of any light and then rob him. He succeeded in getting away, however, and left his assailant empty-handed.

This is not the first of these occurances and they should be stoped at once by better police protection of this locality.

Christ Church Election.

At the recent annual business meeting of the First Church of Christ, pastor Hand presiding, the following officers were elected:

AN ANGRY WIFE PLIES THE WHIP.

SENSATIONAL SUNDAY OCCURRENCE ON SOUTH AVENUE.

Few Words Were Spoken, But the Singular Scene Was Full of Dramatic Story—The Flogged Husband Was a Railway Man, and His Fair Companion Was Whipped as He Was.

A sensational story is told by a Westfield correspondent in the Newark Evening News and New York Recorder, of a horsewhipping case which startled the Sunday quietude of South avenue just beyond Fanwood.

A man and woman were driving along the avenue at a rapid pace, when their horse shied at a piece of paper which was blown across the road by the wind. The buggy swung around when the horse swerved, and both occupants were thrown out. The horse at once began to run in the direction of Fanwood. The animal was caught near the Fanwood bridge, just outside the village, by a bicyclist who gave chase and headed the animal off. The man and woman were pretty well shaken up by their upset, but after a few minutes followed the horse on foot. They met the cyclist and two others leading the horse. The rig was turned over to its owner, who at once commenced to overhaul the harness, which had become deranged. He had repaired a break or two, and was about ready to hand his companion into the rig when a second rig, containing two women, drove up behind. The second carriage was being driven at a good pace when it reached the spot, but was quickly drawn to a standstill.

Before it had entirely stopped, one of the women placed her foot on the wheel and sprang out. As she touched the ground the reached for the whip socket and took the long whalebone whip it contained, and, without speaking a word, began to lay it over the shoulders of the woman who had been in the accident. The sharp, bending whip came down six or seven times on the head and shoulders of the woman before she could obey the injunction of the man to "jump in and go". She finally jumped in and drove off. The woman with the whip gave her a final lash as the horse started. The man had been the only one to speak thus far, and when the first woman drove off he and the woman with the whip stood face to face for a full half minute without a word. Then, again without a word, she began to ply her whip, this time on the man.

After half a dozen blows she desisted, and with a final "Oh!" turned and stepped into her buggy. Her companion has sat smiling, and as soon as she was seated the rig turned around and drove away in the direction it had come. The man in the case said his name was Richards, and that he lived in Rahway. This was all he would say, except that the woman with the whip was his wife. He went to the station and took a train.

A Case of Eastern.

He was the son of a worthy citizen, and had just returned from college. His mother was a brusque, matter-of-fact man who had no liking for anything pronounced, and he noticed with sorrow that his son returned with the latest thing in collars, and various other insignia of dudedom. The old gentleman surveyed him critically when he appeared in his office, and then blurted out: "Young man, you look like an idiot."

Just at that moment, and before the young man had time to make a fitting reply, a friend walked in.

"Why, hello, Billy, have you returned?" he asked. "Dear me, how much you resemble your father."

"So he has been telling me," replied Billy.

And from that day to this the old gentleman has had no fault to find with his son.—Ernest P. Neville in Life.

An Unkind Remark.

Young Wife—Yes, father always gives away expensive things when he makes presents.

Husband—So I discovered when he gave you away.

And then he went to the library to draw a check for the monthly millinery bill.—Texas Siftings.

Purely Preventive.

Mrs. Dogood—I don't see why a big man like you should smoke a pipe from morning till night.

Dusty Rhodes—It's a necessity, ma'am; in winter I smoke to keep my whiskers from freezing, and in summer to keep the moths out.—Puck.

Somewhat Discouraging.

Indignant Collector—I am going to stay here until I get my money.

Mr. Fewsoads—I am afraid you will not enjoy yourself very long. I am going to move out next week.—Texas Siftings.

A Baised Motto.

She—Fair exchange is no robbery.

He (gallantly)—Come off. You haven't been to Chicago or you wouldn't say that.—Detroit Free Press.

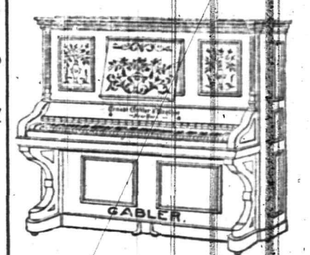
As We Were Saying



The purchase of a musical instrument is an important step. You don't buy a Piano for to-morrow, or day after, but for a long term of years. Saving on the price at the expense of the quality is about as foolish a thing as can well be thought of. We have sifted through the world of Pianos; those we have kept we know to be the best; Steinway, Gabler, Vose, Sterling and Brau-Muller. We are so sure of our judgment that we give a written guarantee with every instrument we sell.

WOMAN OF FASHION.

The Hat Worn by the Dainty Summer Maiden.

Lightness Must Be the First Consideration—Materials With Which We Trim—Shape of the Sailor—The Chiffon Poke and the Spotless Veil.

[COPYRIGHT, 1893.]

In the hottest of all hot days the summer girl wonders what could have possessed the first human being that demanded a covering for the head. Paul, no doubt, had a great deal to do with it, when he so strictly enjoined upon a woman the necessity of covering her head, not only with hair but with some adornment. But, holy man that he was, he must have approved of all our pretty little fixings and fussings, for he expressly states, after telling us that the woman was made for man, that "for this cause ought the woman to have power on her head."

Now, Paul was right, and although in the sultry days we would fain discard every speck of headgear, we recognize that it can indeed be made a wondrous power. That is why the summer girl is willing to be burdened with the weight of her beautiful, bewitching, lovely summer bonnets. They feel dreadfully uncomfortable, particularly when the heavy coil of hair also lies close to her head, but she knows that the daring little curve on one side, and the turn-back brim on the other, where nestle flowers, feathers or knot, brightens her face wonderfully, and by its peculiar shape brings into more prominence a rather insignificant feature. For, thanks to the freedom with which one may twist and turn the straw of to-day, a hat may bring out charms of which you never dreamed and soften irregularities or an undue prominence of points that have caused you worry and anxious thought.

A HAT FOR COQUETTES.

There is latitude—more latitude than ever before—in the choice of your bonnets. Never have more styles been shown in the shops as "the latest." The latitude has spread to colors; although, of course, we are usually careful to match our gown or the trimming of it. And when we have done this, no more thought seems to be expended for the coloring, except, possibly, to ascertain how many seemingly incongruous colors and shades may be blended into a harmonious whole.

We have read a great deal, of late, about the revivals of the old styles in bonnets, and, for curiosity, I ran through an old book to see if it was so. The glance was very reassuring. Such lofty pinnacles as those old hats attained it has never been our lot to know. The structures were most complex. Indeed, I marvel that they held together for a season—if, indeed, they actually did. Not only were they tall, but wide and massive and closely knit together. These structures, however, all bore the stamp of the directoire, and not of the good Princess Eugenie.

If you wish to be coquettish trim your hat altogether in front and almost entirely beneath the brim. The brim must be broad, must be turned back somewhat, must be curved or plaited and then trimmed with long looped bows, tiny birds, chiffon puff or other adornment. We grow cruel again. The perfect bird or the wings of it are seen once more upon the summer hat. It is usually the wing only, however. When the brim has been duly covered it is permissible to add one or two velvet or chiffon rosettes, a loop or two or a small flower cluster just back of it. This completes your hat, which slopes off your head in a downward, backward slant, very charming in view of the broad, upturned brim.

THE DEMURE GIRL'S HAT.

But for summer the chief object to be kept in view is lightness and airiness in effect, except, possibly, in the case of the yachting and outing hats, which are trimmed in more sober, solid fashion.

Choose the lightest and thinnest of straws, but, by no means, when the big fire flares are positively unbecoming, the smallest. For the big hat is the favorite, although it is often so bent and twisted that it loses half of its dignity in the process. Fold after fold of it, puff after puff, rosette after rosette, caught with great gold-headed pins, make a beautiful and not expensive trimming. If both hat and trimming are true straw-color, nothing can be prettier.

The leghorn, just at this season so popular and so seasonable, is graceful and soft and drooping. The white hat is a thing of beauty, if preserved spotless. I saw such a pretty one—quaint and old-fashioned; all looped and encircled with white net and lavender chiffon. There were some delicate white flower sprays added, and a bit of white velvet beneath. Lavender is cool-looking and accordingly most desirable.

In flowers, blues hold their own. In fad, the complaint one hears everywhere is that all the pretty blues are gone, and that no more can be had at the shops. Flowers are somewhat overshadowed this summer by gauzy clouds of chiffon and billows of lace. They peep out, it is true, but more modestly and shyly than of old, save where one meets a great imperious stalk, that rears itself proudly above the wonderful structure built by the deft hands of the milliner.

As with the big hats, so with the sailor—all shapes and sizes. We fluctuate between the English sailor, the French sailor and the sailor whose name is not on record. The English, I think, can claim the victory, for every one was wearing the high crowned, broad brimmed straw, as I watched them to-day. They cost from fifty cents to three dollars. The latter price secures a beautiful, fine straw, of either blue or red or white. The white were mostly in demand. The sailor of two colors—red and blue—were also popular. On the Fourth of July the patriotic maiden added a white ribbon to the red and blue straw and was proud of her colors.

The French sailor, of leather, took our fancy for awhile, but we turned quickly. This sailor is trimmed with flower bunches at the sides and its brim is quite narrow. The white felt sailor, also for yachting, has a high crown and exceedingly narrow brim.

The low-crowned sailor is worn to considerable extent. The crown is about an inch high and the hat is invariably trimmed with ribbon, wings or straw. One of these has two rows of the shining, braided straw encircling the crown and another row at the edge of the brim. A couple of wings and a few ribbon loops are added at the sides.

The chiffon yoke is the latest for truly rural districts. An organdie, a chiffon hat, pointed in front and drooping over each pink ear, leaves nothing to be desired either in coolness or appearance. It is just as soft and pretty as can be, and rests so lightly on one's tresses that it is possible to be cool when wearing it.

And the veil—have we discarded it? Ah, no; strange as it may seem, the veil glory never grows less. In winter it is such a protection from the cold; on the water it is a check to our wayward locks of hair, that are ever straying; in warm weather it sometimes hides—or we think it does—the uncomfortable flush of heat on our cheeks or the freckles that will come.

So we cling to the veil. It has, however, with the coming of summer, consented to drop its warm and royal color, and has taken to itself spotless white. So that the purple veil is already a thing of the past, and the brilliant green shade, that attempted to supplant it, is utterly forgotten.

White net sprinkled with big velvet dots, is much worn; a finer net, with lace border and rather large lace design scattered over, is chosen by some; a small mesh, closely covered with minute black dots, many women pick up lovingly in their fingers. The veil is still large, drops under the chin as much as it will, hangs loosely all around the face, and even down around the back of the head if you will. The pretty summer flush, which always accompanies the summer girl, shows softly between the meshes.

FORECAST OF CONGRESS

No Great Changes in the Rules of the House.

FIGHT OVER THE DOORKEEPERSHIP.

Turner Claims to Have Secured Enough Votes to Insure His Re-election—Congressmen Generally Slow in Arriving at the Capital—Finance the Absorbing Topic.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—Representative Catchings, the leading member of the House Committe on Rules, was an early caller on Mr. Crisp yesterday and remained in the ex-Speaker's room during the afternoon. He has always been Mr. Crisp's lieutenant upon the floor and his valued adviser in private, so it was at once assumed that he had been called into consultation respecting the committee assignments and the House rules.

Mr. Catchings shares Mr. Crisp's views respecting the length of the special session. Touching the rules, he feels that while there is urgent necessity for the adoption of some rules for the government of the House very soon after the House is called to order, there is no present reason for any radical revision. Under the old rules, when a majority really desired to reach a vote upon a pending question, the result could be attained through a special order or rule from the Committee on Rules. The practice, he thought, had lost none of its efficiency and was still available. If changes are to be made in the direction of cloture they will be made only after mature consideration and an exhibition of the actual necessity of the case.

The members of the House now in Washington are still in the dark as to the date of the Democratic House caucus which is necessary to perfect a scheme of organization of the body.

The lists at the House Postoffice show very few new arrivals of representatives. For this reason the contest for the House offices lacks virility and the various candidates who have opened up headquarters in true convention style have been rather lonely.

The warmest fight will be over the doorkeepership. Mr. Turner, the doorkeeper of the last House, is confident that he will have no difficulty in securing a re-election. He says that he has already 116 members on his list of absolutely reliable votes. As 110 votes constitute a majority of the Democratic caucus, his claim, if well founded, would ensure his election. He is confident of the endorsement of the New York delegation. This delegation is called to meet to-night but there is some reason to doubt whether they will be able to muster a quorum.

Mr. Fellows came over from New York yesterday morning and spent half an hour in consultation with Mr. Crisp, and returned to his home in the afternoon. He did not appear to be deeply interested in the question of the doorkeepership although when preised he said that Mr. Turner would doubtless receive the support of the New York men. Mr. Turner's two opponents, Hart, of Tennessee, and Smith, of Texas, are pursuing a quiet canvass and still express confidence of success.

It is impossible that there will be a caucus of the majority of the Senate this week. Senator Gorman, the chirman of the Democratic caucus in the Senate, has taken up his quarters at the Capital but he has not yet given the issue of a call consideration. It will, of course, be necessary for the Democratic Senators to get together and decide upon several questions. The one which will probably be the first to engage serious attention in the Senate, is the right of admission of the three Senators from the Northwest whose titles have been challenged, but Senator Gorman feels that there is no need for haste in the matter and the caucus will probably not be held before the middle of next week.

Senator Gorman, Sergeant-at-Arms Bright and Secretary of the Senate Gen. Cox, had a long conference in the afternoon at the Capitol and it is supposed the subject of the distribution of patronage under the two officers who take hold next Monday was up for consideration. The gentlemen denied that there was any significance attached to their meeting and when asked how soon the offices would be distributed made reply to the effect that the Senate was a body that moved slowly and much depended upon its action. It is known, however, that all Republican clerks and officials who are absent from the city have been advised not to return until notified, as the Republicans had not yet caucused and determined who they wanted to remain as the representatives of the minority. There is consequently much uneasiness among the Republican officials as to who will be retained as the favored few.

Senator Mitchell, of Oregon, after spending three months among the people of his State, reached Washington yesterday. He says that his people are divided themselves as to what is the 'best thing to do on the silver question.

"For one, I do not believe the Sherman act is, by any means, the sole source of the present financial difficulties in this country. I concede the way in which it has been administered by the department, which in my judgment is not according to its spirit, has contributed in part to the present financial depression, but I believe the real cause to be the apprehension under which the industrial classes are laboring in reference to the probable action of the present administration on the subject of tariff. These are times, however, when the real welfare of the country should not be sacrificed for the sake of mere partisan advantage."

Dull Times in Jersey.

PASSAIC, N. J., Aug. 2.—As many as 2,500 operatives are now in a state of enforced idleness for a part or the whole of their time. The Passaic print works, employing 600 hands, has been closed several weeks, and on Saturday the Pantesote Leather company gave notice of a two weeks shut down to its 100 men. In the Manhattan print works work has almost ceased, and the New York Belting and Packing company is laying off hundreds of hands weekly. The other mills in the city are working on half or three-quarters time. The two exceptions are the Botany Worsted mill and Reid & Barry's print works. Between them they employ 3,000 hands, most of whom are working overtime and have work now on hand sufficient to keep them busy for several days.

Out on Bail.

PATERSON, N. J., Aug. 2.—Abram Fardon, paying teller of the First National Bank, who was imprisoned on Saturday night for stealing $10,000 of the bank's reserve fund, was released on bail last evening.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

It Will be Devoted Solely to the Financial Question.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—Secretary Carlisle has gone to Buzzard's Bay to see President Cleveland. His visit at this time is at the request of the President, who desires to discuss with his Secretary of the Treasury the financial situation before he completes the preparation of his message to Congress on the silver question.

Secretary Carlisle carries with him much information, specially collated at the request of the President, on the question.

The President's message to Congress, it is understood here, will deal solely with the financial question, all other questions being left for subsequent communications to Congress. Mr. Cleveland, though away from the national capital, has kept fully abreast of the financial situation, and since the preparation of his message hardly a day has passed but, in response to written requests, financial information has been sent to Buzzard's Bay.

Assistant Secretary Hamlin took a grip-sack of official documents.

The message will be practically completed at Gray Gables after Secretary Carlisle arrives, and as at present arranged, the President, accompanied by Secretary Carlisle and Secretary Lamont, will leave Buzzard's Bay for Washington late Friday evening, so as to arrive at the Executive Mansion Saturday night. This arrangement is, however, subject to change, and it is possible the President may not return to Washington until Monday morning.

It is expected that a special cabinet meeting will be held on Monday at which the message will be read and that it will be sent to Congress on Tuesday. This arrangement, too, is subject to change and depends altogether upon the time when both the Senate and the House are organized and ready to receive official communications from the President. The delivery of the message may be delayed until Wednesday.

EXPOSITION HALF OVER.

A Great Success in Everything Except Attendance.

The Railroads Severely Censured for Maintaining High Rates—Stockholders of the Fair Will Lose Their Money.

CHICAGO, Aug. 2.—With the closing of the gate Monday the first half of the Columbian Exposition passed into history. The number of paid admissions during the month was 2,759 and the largest number of paid admissions was registered July 4, when 283,373 people deposited the admission fee with the ticket sellers. The smallest number was last Sunday, when only 18,637 paid admissions were recorded. The paid attendance for May was 1,050,087, while that of June more than doubled this figure, reaching a total of 2,875,113.

The officials of the Fair are greatly pleased with the artistic success of the Exposition, but this cannot be said of the financial end of the enterprise. The attendance has failed to reach the mark it was expected to attain during the first half of the Fair, and especially during the month of July. For this the railroads are in the main held responsible, and the officials do no hesitate to criticize their meanness and stubbornness in refusing to make a one-fare round-trip at the beginning of the Fair. The present hard times have had much to do with the attendance, but the management thinks the people would have attended largely had the railroad fares been reduced.

There must necessarily be a large attendance during the remaining period of the Fair if the management expects to pay its debts and this is all they now hope to do. It is a foregone conclusion that the stockholders of the Fair will get nothing on their investment, nor will their subscriptions be returned, as the money for which the Exposition is legally liable amounts to so much that it will take a tremendous daily average of paid admissions to ease the obligation.

President Higinbotham is as hopeful as any of the officials in the matter of finance. He says, "I have only one fault to find with the first half of the Exposition. The attendance has not been what it ought to have been. In all other respects the Exposition has been a success, as no one can reasonably deny, but in that respect the first half is by no means the better half. I believe that the attendance from now on will steadily increase. I believe that the admissions this week will exceed those of last. There have been about 6,500,000 admissions. Certainly more than that many will be registered during the remainder of the Fair and the total attendance will more than double those figures. The latter half of the Fair will surprise us as much with a large attendance as the first half has disappointed us with a bad."

The retrenchment policy will be renewed at once with increased vigor. One of the first effects of economy is felt in the elimination of one "special" night per week. Heretofore Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday were designated as "special" nights. Hereafter "special" nights will be confined to Wednesdays and Saturdays.

There will be no music at night except upon those days and the hours for the concerts have been changed so as to divide the music equally between the morning and afternoon. The free orchestral concerts will be given as usual, when the orchestra is not engaged in rehearsing for an afternoon programme, at least for the present. The new arrangement will work a saving of a few hundred dollars daily.

Poor Old Reading.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 2.—The receivers of the Reading railroad company yesterday, as was expected, failed to pay the interest due upon the bonds of the Philadelphia, Reading and New England (Poughkeepsie bridge) and the Philadelphia and Frankford companies. Both of these issues are guaranteed for principal and interest by the Reading, but the receivers base their action upon the allegation that in neither case has the interest been earned. The May coupons of the Philadelphia, Reading and New England are yet unpaid, and it would not be surprising if the bondholders should take some action to obtain the money thus due them.

Carlisle's Busy Day.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—If Secretary Carlisle during his few hours' stay in New York to-day accomplishes the programme laid out for him he will have an interview with the new collector of customs, Judge Kilbreth; confer with the Fairchild Commission, meet some of the Treasury agents investigating alleged Chinese fraudulent certificates and may confer with some of the prominent New York financiers.

Cost of the Borden Trial.

France Imposes Some Heavier Conditions.

DEVELLE ISSUES AN OFFICIAL NOTE

Relations Between France and England. Announcement in the House of Lords of the Establishment of a Neutral Zone in Indo-China.

PARIS, Aug. 2.—A Council of the Ministry was held at the Palace of the Elysee yesterday. M. Develle announced that Prince Vadhana had signified his Government's willingness to concede the supplementary guarantees demanded by France.

M. Develle also stated that his interview with Lord Dufferin was based on the negotiations which took place in 1889 between France and Great Britain which recognized the principle of a buffer state between the French and British possessions in the East. The question of a neutral zone, M. Develle added, had been reserved for future consideration.

The supplementary guarantees demanded by France from Siam, which include the temporary custody of the river and port of Chantibun, and that Siam shall not establish military stations in certain named places near the Cambodian frontier or within a certain distance of the Mekong river, were contained in a note issued by M. Develle and made public yesterday.

The text of the note is as follows: "The delay of Siam in accepting the ultimatum presented by the French Minister Resident at Bangkok has justified the Government of the Republic in imposing heavier conditions. Being desirous, however, to give further proof of the sentiments of moderation by which she has been constantly actuated France will content herself, as an indespensible guarantee for the practical execution of the clauses of the ultimatum, with occupying the river and port of Chantibun, until the complete evacuation of the posts established by the Siamese on the left bank of the Mekoug river.

"Further, for the purpose of guaranteeing a continuance of the good relations happily re-established between France and Siam and for preventing a conflict in the region of Lake Toulesap, Siam will undertake to maintain no military forces in Battambang and Siemruf and the locality situated within a radius of 25 kilometres of the Mekoug river, starting from the Cambodian frontier. Siam will only maintain the police force necessary to preserve order. Moreover Siam will not maintain warships or armed boats on the waters of the great lake or the Mekong river."

LONDON, Aug. 2.—In the House of Lords yesterday the Earl of Rosebery, Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, read the text of the first ultimatum and of the supplementary ultimatum sent by France to Siam and accepted by the latter country. He added: "We have signed an agreement in Paris establishing a neutral zone in Indo-China."

A Row Over the Duke.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Aug. 2.—The Duke of Veragua is the innocent cause of considerable friction among the Knights of Columbus. When the distinguished Spaniard was in this country, a number of the big officials of the Columbian Order decided to confer upon him the highest honor of the order, and he was made a "Knight of the Golden Cross." Quite a number of the order's members have united in a mighty kick as to the expense of the Duke's decoration, and the Hibernian Record of this city says that many are seeking information as to the origin of the order conferred upon the Duke. The ceremony of presenting the decoration occurred at Hotel Waldorf, New York, just before the Duke of Veragua left for home. Secretary of State Phelan, Supreme Knight of the order; Mayor Tracy, of Meriden, and Thomas Harrison Cummings, of Boston, made up the delegation. The insignia presented the Duke was of gold and is said to have cost $500.

FREEDOM OF THE PRESS.

A New England Judge Defines Publishers' Rights.

BOSTON, Aug. 2.—Some interesting points concerning publishers' rights are settled by Judge Colt of the Circuit Court of the United States in an opinion sent down in the case of Emily A. Corliss et al vs. E. W. Walker et al.

The suit was brought by the widow and children of George H. Corliss to enjoin the defendants from publishing and selling a biography sketch of Mr. Corliss, and from printing and selling his picture in connection therewith. The bill does not allege that the publication contains anything scandalous, libellous or false, or that it affects any right of property, but the relief prayed for is put upon the novel ground that such publication is an injury to the feelings of the plaintiffs and against their express prohibition. The judge says, in part:

"I cannot assent to the proposition that Mr. Corliss was a private character. He had hired himself out to the public as an inventor, and his reputation became world-wide. He was a public man in the same sense as authors or artists are public men. It would be a remarkable exception to the liberty of the press if the lives of great inventors could not be given to the public without their own consent while living or the approval of their families when dead. But whether Mr. Corliss is to be regarded as a private or public character (a distinction often difficult to define) is not important in this case.

"Freedom of speech and of the press is secured by the Constitution of the United States and the constitutions of most of the States. Under our laws one can speak and publish what he desires, provided he commits no offense against public morals or private reputation.

"This matter directly concerns the exclusive right of property which the plaintiffs have in the painting and photograph, and it would be a violation of confidence or a breach of contract between the parties to permit the defendants, under these circumstances, to use either of the plates.

"The injunction is denied as to the use of either of the plates.

TEN MILLIONS OF MONEY

New York Banks Will Add That Amount to Their Circulation.

Government Bonds Are So Cheap That It Will Pay National Banks to Issue Money Against Them.

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—A new and unexpected element of relief has been injected into the financial situation. United States bonds have reached such a low figure that the national banks see their way clear to make a profit by issuing circulation against them. Arrangements have therefore been made by some of the more prominent banks to increase their circulation from the minimum limit at which it now stands to such amount as will materially relieve the present tension. It is estimated that $8,000,000 or $10,000,000 will be so added to New York's supply of currency within a very short time.

Orders have already been placed with the Controller of the Currency for part of the new bills; and some of the banks have bought their bonds preparatory to depositing them in Washington. Among the banks that are named as interested in the movement are the Gallatin, Fourth, Merchants, First, New York and Park.

The Fourth National has already ordered $2,000,000 in bills engraved, and the Gallatin about $800,000. The latter bank has purchased $550,000 of the bonds and the Bank of New York $300,000. The rest of the amount will be made up among the other banks named.

Negotiations are reported to be under way between the savings banks and the National banks for the transfer of a large block of government 4s for use as security for the new circulation. The savings banks are not allowed, ordinarily, to carry over 10 per cent. of their assets in cash. As a matter of fact, they generally carry a much smaller per centage, so, in spite of the fact that they have been accumulating cash lately, they are probably still below the 10 per cent. limit allowed them. It is thought that they would rather dispose of a large block of securities now and have the cash in hand than wait until the cash is actually needed, in case it ever is, and then have to sacrifice their holdings for what they would bring.

Edison Sarcastic.

ORANGE, N. J., Aug. 2.—The shut down at the Edison phonograph works is only partial. One hundred and fifteen men and girls are still at work. The total number discharged was 240. They were discharged without a moment's notice. Mr. Edison has issued the following statement: "The phonograph works have been shut down because we have nearly completed all the orders on hand and the proprietor therof, seeing that the country had resolved itself into a national lunatic asylum, decided to wait until the wave subsided."

Great Yacht Racing.

LONDON, Aug. 2.—The regatta of the Royal Southampton Yacht Club was held over a course of fifty miles.

The contestants were the American yacht Navahoe, owned by Mr. Royal Phelps Carroll; Mr. A. D. Clark's Satanita, Mr. P. Donaldson's Calluna and Mr. J. Jameson's Iverna.

The race was an exciting one, but the yacht Navahoe held the lead throughout and won easily. The Satanita was second. The Calluna carried away her bobstay and was compelled to withdraw. The Iverna also gave up the race.

The race for the Queen's cup, open to boats owned by members of the Royal Yacht Squadron, also took place yesterday. The course in this race was also fifty miles long.

The yachts starting were the Valkyrie, Britannia, Meteor (owned by the German Emperor), Viking and Mohawk.

The Valkyrie finished first, the Britannia second and the Meteor third. The judges declared the Valkyrie the winner.

THE JINGLE OF SILVER.

Bi-Metallic Men in Convention at Chicago.

A. W. THURMAN MADE CHAIRMAN.

Speeches By Leading Advocates of Silver Money—Aggressive Action to Be Taken Against the Gold People—National Banks Discussed—The Convention Made Up of Earnest Delegates.

CHICAGO, Aug. 2.—The national convention of the American Bi-metallic League met here yesterday. Gen. Warner called the convention to order, and Secretary Barrington read the call for the gathering. After this Gen. Warner delivered an address in which he said that decided action was needed, and that it was a time for plain talk. All over the country alarm was manifested over the possibility of the establishment of a single gold standard. The silver men were not by any means on the defensive. On the contrary, they proposed to take aggressive action against those who are attempting to take advantage of the conditions which they have created to force upon the country a single gold standard.

The present financial condition is largely artificial, amounting almost to a public crime, and for it the gold men should be responsible.

At the conclusion of Mr. Warner's address Mayor Harrison was introduced, and delivered an address of welcome which was responded to by Hon. T. M. Patterson, chairman of the Colorado delegation.

Hon. Allen W. Thurman was chosen permanent chairman, an made a lengthy address, in which he said:

"I deny that gold alone affords a sufficient basis upon which the circulating medium and credits of this country should rest, and I charge those who now demand that silver shall be destroyed are not true hard money men but paper money men. They know full well that the people of this country will have in some form or another a sufficient circulating medium and they propose to furnish it in the shape of a promise to pay, issued by themselves, which they will try to make the people believe will be paid upon demand in gold. That the present state of affairs is directly pointing to this direction I most firmly believe; but if the people keep paying the National debt at anything like the rate they have been paying it our national banks as banks of issue will have to go out of existence. Now, do they want this to come about? Not by any means, and while it is true of late years on account of the high premium on government bonds, little if any profit has been made upon their circulation, yet in the long run the profits upon it have been immense, and if they can succeed in persuading Congress to issue more bonds bearing a lower rate of interest so they can buy them at par, the profits will again be tremendous."

Speech-making occupied nearly all the time of both afternoon and evening sessions.

The committee on Resolutions of the silver convention met at the Palmer house last night and organized by making ex-Senator Reagan, of Texas, chairman, and Robert Schilling, of Wisconsin, secretary. A sub-committee consisting of Senator Reagan, Congressman Bryan, of Nebraska, Thomas M. Patterson, of Colorado, ex-Congressman Bartine, of Nevada, Ignatius Donnelly, of Minnesota, George Washburn, of Massachusetts and Mr. Manning, of Alabama, were selected to draft the resolutions and report to the general committee at 9 o'clock this morning.

NEW POSTMASTERS.

Another Batch in the Fourth-class Grade Announced.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—The total number of fourth-class postmasters appointed yesterday was 96, of which 35 were to fill vacancies caused by resignations and death. Among the appointments were the following:

Maine—G. A. Bradman, Abbott Village; Albert Hunter, Clinton.

New Hampshire—J. A. Norris, Dorchester.

New Jersey—P. Prentice, Charlton Hill; J. V. B. Terhune, Hawthorne; Henry Fahr, Maple Shade; D. C. Bush, Oakland.

New York—Eugene Philo, Altoona; W. J. Sly, Amity; T. H. Oram, Fort Montgomery; D. J. Kyle, North Wolcott; W. W. Thomas, Rushford; A. G. Tillinghast, West Valley.

Pennsylvania—J. M. Stonerod, Birmingham; John Stiltz, Brush Valley; Thomas Ackard, Coalmont; Isaac Stephens, Frankfort Springs; A. W. Snyder, Millinville; W. P. Hausman, Rew; B. F. Kreps, Salona; B. F. Logan, Trainer; A. S. Christian, Trumbaursville.

Better Outlook in Denver.

DENVER, Aug. 2.—There is a perceptible decrease in the number of men being fed at Camp Relief and the army of unemployed is not so large as it was one week ago. Thus far 1,200 men have been sent out of town by the relief committee, and there has been little if any suffering in the city or State, although a large number of men are out of work. What may come if the silver mines remain closed is for the future to develop. There is little lawlessness and likely to be little as every precaution is being taken to separate the honest workmen from the professional tramp and ruffian the latter out of the city. Contemplated city improvements will soon give work to all who may desire it of Denver's unemployed, but those from the West and outside the State must take care of themselves.

Murder and Lynching.

GALVESTON, Tex., Aug. 2.—Near Montgomery three negroes attacked the house of M. Marsh, killed him, ravished his wife murdered his infant and cut out the tongue of his seven year old child. His wife is believed to be dying. One negro was caught and lynched. The sheriff and posse are searching for the others.

Clifton Race Track Gets a License.

PATERSON, N. J., Aug. 2.—The Board of Free Holders of Passaic county has granted a license to the Clifton Race Track for three years for $1,000 per year. The local clergy offered a strong protest. It is thought the races will begin a week from next Monday.

SILVER SENTIMENT.

A Protest Against the Rejection of Silver Bids.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—Following is the text of the protest which the Colorado members addressed to Secretary Carlisle after the rejection of the silver bids at which they were present:

DEAR SIR:—Upon leaving your office at noon to day we saw Mr. Preston, acting director of the mint. At that hour he had not received any offers of silver on to-day's purchase. We have just now returned from a second visit to his office where we found that five offers had been there to-day, viz.:

Forty thousand ounces at 0.7065; 100,000 ounces at .7150; 86,000 ounces at .7100; 40,000 ounces at .7095; 50,000 ounces at .7050.

All of these offers Mr. Preston has declined although this is the last day of the month and he has already purchased but 2,168,000 ounces in July. He has estimated that the value of silver in London to-day is .7067 and the assayer in New York has telegraphed him that some silver bullion, how much or how little not stated, has been sold in New York to-day for .7025. He has made a counter bid of .7030 upon the silver offered to-day.

He has no intention of purchasing the 4,500,000 ounces in July as directed by the statute. He makes no offer with a view to doing so. He holds that the language of the law, that the Secretary of the Treasury is hereby directed to purchase from time to time, silver bullion to the aggregate amount of 4,500,000 ounces or so much thereof, not exceeding $1 for 371 1-4 grains pure silver, etc., imposes no duty upon your department to purchase at all, unless the price is satisfactory to you.

The action of to-day will no doubt be accepted generally as outlining the policy of your administration for succeeding months. While the silver mines are already closed and the mines idle, the people still cling to the hope that by your official act their interests will be saved from utter destruction. In our judgment the action contemplated by Mr. Preston will bring further distress and we respectfully ask the exercise of your authority to prevent such result.

Yours, respectfully,

LAFE PENCE,
JOHN C. BELL.

CONFESSIONAL SECRETS.

A High Church Rector Ordered to Divulge Them in Court.

A Departure From the Unwritten Law of England—Several Priests Declare That They Would Not Have Obeyed the Court.

LONDON, Aug. 2.—Priestly circles are considerably agitated over a ruling just made by Sir Frederick Jeune, Chief Justice of the Court of Probate and Divorce, to the effect that a minister of the Gospel has no right to plead privilege when asked to state in court the substance of a confidential communication made to him in his sacred capacity by one of his parishioners.

Hitherto it has been the unwritten law of England, as well as of many, many other countries, that a divine shall not be compelled to disclose such communications and in cases which occur almost weekly Roman Catholic priests are excused from disclosing statements made to them under the sanctity of the confessional.

In the case in court the divine belonged to the high ceurch branch of the Episcopal denomination, and was in the habit of hearing confessions. The court, however, compelled him to disclose the information that had been made to him.

Several Catholic priests who have been interviewed concerning the decision declare that they would go to prison for contempt of court rather than reveal the secrets of the confessional on the witness stand.

CATHOLIC POLITICS.

A Sensational Story By Way of Minneapolis.

MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 2.—The Journal prints a sensational article on recent developments in American Catholic politics, which it declares comes from the highest authority. Mgr. Satolli, the Papal Legate, left for Washington after having spent several weeks in the Northwest, and the Sournal declares that the rebellion of Archbishop Corrigan, of New York, is now to be punished and in a very diplomatic way.

The head and front of the offending of the Archbishop of New York has been in his refusal to reinstate Dr. Bvrtseel in his original parish, or one just as good, in spite of the fact that he has been admonished to do so by the Ablegate. Behind this refusal Satolli is said to see a determination on the part of Corrigan not to yield to his authority. It must be either this or a resolve on Corrigan's part to resign from the the arch-diocese.

The Journal says that Satolli, after consultation with his close friend, Archbishop Ireland, of St. Paul, the leader of the liberal wing of the American Catholic Church, has determined to go to Rome soon and lay the matter before the Pope, with the recommendation that a coadjutor be appointed to "assist the Archbishop of New York in the management of so large a diocese." This action, if approved by the Pope, as there seems every reason to suppose it will be, would be equivalent to the removal of Corrigan from the active management of the arch-diocese.

The Journal hints that in case such action was taken by the Holy See it is entirely probable that Archbishop Ireland would be appointed that coadjutor.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—Workmen of Marsh, Ayers & Co. are requested to meet at the shop at 8 to-night.

—A detachment from Company H, 3d Regiment, Somerville, will go to Sea Girt next week for rifle practice.

—E. P. Thorn's cat is still missing, and fears for its safety are entertained. There is talk of getting out a search warrant to go through a certain house nearby.

—The delay on the new North Plainfield public school building is caused by the non-arrival of terra cotta which was ordered over a week ago of a Trenton firm.

—"Paddy" Lyons, it is said, drove a party of pleasure-seekers over to Mt. Bethel, Sunday, with "Billy" Sullivan's rig, and the latter says he eloped with the price, $5.

—David Hand, of Netherwood, had a merry load of young people in his box wagon last night. They were having a straw-ride, and made the streets of the town lively as they drove about.

—To-morrow night at the Salvation Army a special meeting will be held, led by Staff Captain Annie Keith, who hails from bonnie Scotland but is now in charge of one of the Women's Training Homes in New York city.

—While absent from Plainfield on her Western trip, Mrs. L. Adams, the milliner, will leave her business in competent hands, and her patrons, bearing this in mind, will find the service and work fully up to the standard.

—The Street Commissioner's men are tearing up the turnpike on West Fifth street, near New street, for the purpose of establishing a proper grade. It seems a pity to tear up that well-built street, but it is said to be necessary.

—There is a stump of a tree directly in the path leading to the camp-meeting grounds. Sunday night fully a dozen women fell over it, and some of them were badly bruised. A crowd of hoodlums stood around watching what they called "fun."

—The frolicsome youths who started for Feltville on a bathing expedition, Monday night, nearly lost one of the party. He got out in water "over his head", and being unable to swim called for help. He was rescued by some of the expert swimmers.

CAN'T STAND HIS TRADE.

The Smell of Paint Makes Painter Fulton Deathly Ill.

LeGrande Fulton, of Clinton avenue, was stricken with painter's colic, yesterday afternoon, and his condition was so bad that it required the combined efforts of three strong men to hold him.

Fulton was formerly employed by the Jersey Central Railroad, as a car painter in the Elizabethport shops, and last New Year's Day he was taken ill with the painter's colic. He rallied under medical treatment, and finally gave up the trade. Yesterday he went to the shops again, and was taken sick. He reached home about 4, and in the yard the cramps again set him wild. Mrs. Fulton called in three men, who were at work in the fields, and they remained with the sick man over night. Dr. Brakeley, of Dunellen, was summoned, but it was a long time before medical aid could relieve him.

THE REGISTRY BOARD MEETS.

Those Who Will Register North Plainfield Democrats.

The Somerset County Registry Board is in session at Somerville to-day for the purpose of electing the local boards of registry. The Democrats that have been chosen for North Plainfield are as follows:

NORTH PLAINFIELD TOWNSHIP.

First district—George B. Stewart, John T. Case.

Second district—John Bodine, E. C. Morse.

NORTH PLAINFIELD BOROUGH.

First district—David J. Carney, John Blackford.

Second district—David E. Smalley, George Squire.

The Passaic Bridge Trouble.

Contractor J. C. Cooper denies much that has been said about the Passaic bridge trouble. He never stated that he would not change the work, and that he has been paid only $300, not $365. He further says that Colthar, the builder, has not done his work as it should be; that no matter what his past record is, he has made a mistake this time. Colthar was reported as having been paid only $50; Mr. Cooper says the amount is $145.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

C. E. Brooks and family go to-morrow to Annisquam, Mass.

Miss Mabel Maxson, of Madison avenue, is enjoying the delights of Belmar.

S. A. Davis, of the City Hotel, is back from a pleasant trip to Ocean Grove.

Miss Maggie Lynch, of Brooklyn, is visiting relatives on Madison avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Seely Edsall are expected home to-morrow from Stroudsburg, Pa.

Dr. F. S. Wells, of West Fourth street, will enjoy a short outing at De Ruyter, N. Y.

Brooks Brown, one of Seely Edsall's employes, has gone to Asbury Park for a week.

John Mantz, of the clothing firm of Mantz Bros., has gone to Passaic for a week.

Miss Freeman, of Rahway, is visiting her aunt, Mrs. W. C. Ayres, of West Second street.

W. H. Sampson and family, of Fifth street, are enjoying the delights of Sullivan county, N. Y.

Samuel Taynor, of Summit avenue, was unfortunate in loosing a valued horse last night from the colic.

W. H. Moore, formerly manager of the Plainfield Electric Light Company, is visiting friends in town.

J. M. Whiton and family, of Central avenue, will spend the remainder of the summer at Moosehead Lake, Maine.

Mrs. George Smock and Mrs. C. H. Penfield, of Park avenue and Seventh street, are sojourning at Long Branch.

Edward White is negotiating for a yacht to take a party fishing off Far Rockaway, Sunday. They will troll for bluefish.

Andrew McCardall, foreman in the foundry at Pond's, is reported to-day as much better. Yesterday he was able to sit up.

The members of Queen City Lodge, No. 226, I. O. O. F., will attend the funeral of their late brother Hiram K. Voorhees, to-morrow.

Miss Minnie Scheidecker, of Church street, will be registered at the Robison Cottage, Ocean Grove, during the month of August.

Mr. and Mrs. George VanNess of Jersey City, will spend the month of August with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Conover, on Elmwood place.

The Rev. C. Schenck left this afternoon for the Catskill Mountains. His family will follow him later. He will remain for the month of August if the stay proves beneficial.

Harry Rand, of West Front street, is carrying his right hand in a sling, the result of an accident, which he says is not worth recording.

H. Clifford VanEmburgh leaves to-morrow night for Hornelsville, N. Y., to take charge of F. A. Dunham's engineering business at that place.

Albert Hinrichs expects to ride in the bicycle races at Asbury Park, August 19. He is the only representative that the Crescent Wheelmen will send.

Mrs. J. P. Homan and daughter, Mrs. Samuel Clark, of Fifth street, are at The Grandview, Asbury Park, where they will enjoy the hot month of August.

Miss Katie E. Sayerd and Miss Katie A. Dorgan have returned home after three weeks at the home of their aunt, Mrs. T. J. Walsh, North Amherst, Mass.

Mrs. Wm. White, of the borough, who is spending the summer at Asbury Park, made a short visit home, yesterday, but will not return for good until September.

Elder A. J. Stewart, of the First Church of Christ, attended services at that church Sunday for the first time in three months, and had charge of the Communion service. He has been very ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Sandford will spend the month of August at Lake Placid, in the hope of benefiting Mr. Sandford's health, which has not improved very much since his recent illness.

Mrs. L. Adams, the milliner, left town to-day to visit her old home, Cleveland, Ohio. Thence she will proceed to Toledo and later view the World's Fair wonders. She will be accompanied by her niece, Miss Mamie Chapman, and the trip will occuy about five weeks.

Alfred Norbury, Assistant Superintendent of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, will take all of the company's Plainfield staff and a number of friends to Boynton Beach for a day's pleasure, Friday. There will be 16 in the party, and Hand's stage will convey them.

Counselor John H. Jackson is once more able to be about after his long siege of serious illness. He is feeling much better, and feels like resuming active law business. He will therefore go into partnership with Winfield S. Angleman, which will make a very excellent legal firm.

Word has been received that Emil Berckman and John M. Schorb, Jr., of this city, who sailed for Europe July 17, arrived safe and sound at Southampton on the 25th, having a very pleasant voyage over. They will visit Hamburg, and probably go to France before returning home in September.

The Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes visited Asbury Park yesterday afternoon and called on Frank H. Gardner, cashier of the City National Bank, who has been very ill at the Park for some time past. Dr. Yerkes found Mr. Gardner too ill to see anyone, even his most intimate friends, so he returned disappointed.

The death of the Rev. Marcus Ward Smalley was a particularly distressing blow to his young wife. She was Miss Jennie D. Runyon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Runyon of Lafayette place. The wedding took place only last fall, September 15. The funeral yesterday was attended by a large number of friends and relatives, and the services were tender and impressive.

Miss Miller Will Pay.

The case of Carney Bros. vs. Annie Miller that was to have come up in Justice Mosher's court this morning has been settled without the aid of the law, and Miss Miller will pay. The case of Foster and Seguine has been postponed until Monday.

FRANCIS TO CATCH HERE.

Fritz the Fat Boy Going Away—The Team Getting Better Patronage Abroad Than at Home.

As predicted in these columns, Fritz has asked for and secured his release from the Crescent base-ball team, and Manager Keller has secured for his place Francis, as The Press recommended. Francis is a favorite here, and his accession will in no way weaken the team.

The Fishkill local paper is in an ecstasy of admiration over the Crescents' great work in drubbing the team of that town. It says:

For the second time this season only, the Hiltons were beaten yesterday, and nothing else could be expected, as the Crescents won the New Jersey championship last season, and are considered a team way up in their business. They are all big men and genuine sluggers in every sense of the word, as was evidenced by the way they slugged Leith at any and all times they desired. Snoden pitched for the visitors, and throws a straight, fast ball, which the Hiltons had no trouble in finding, but their hits were not bunched, and a little hard luck in knocking out long fly fouls, which ordinarily would have been fair, succeeded in losing the game for them, after they led in the second inning by a score of 6 to 2. From this time out the game was a case of kicking throughout. Umpire Toomey's decisions, although fair, not seeming to suit either club or the audience. The features of the game were a long fly over the right field fence by Murphy, and a home run by McCloskey, with three men on bases. The catcher for the Crescents, (who is a fat boy) kept the audience in laughter throughout the game. The Crescents defeated the Poughkeepsie's two games this week, and as the latter club come here to morrow the Hiltons should have a fair chance of winning. The score was 20 to 10.

Manager Keller in the New York Sun to-day advertises for some good team to give him a guarantee game away from Plainfield, Saturday, August 12. That he will get an excellent guarantee is certain, for the Crescents are appreciated everywhere outside of their own town and have a reputation that makes them a desirable team to play against. Let it be advertised in any place but Plainfield that the champion Crescents will play, and gratifying gate receipts result. But how is it in their own town? The attendances are not large enough to pay expenses, and only by out-of-town games can the deficiency be met. It is humiliating to a lover of the great national game to confess that Plainfield has not sufficient public spirit to support decently and as it ought the best base-ball team it has ever had, but it is the truth. A fine base-ball team such as the Crescents is a good advertisement for the town, and the town ought to support it.

The grand-stands of the Crescent base-ball field get the full sweep of the summer breezes. The games afford the best of sport. The wire-nettted stand is free for the gentler sex. Then no one should stay away from next Saturday's game. The great Brown boys are coming, with the full Woodbridge team to back 'em.

Among those who saw the New York and Brooklyn teams play ball yesterday were Manager Keller and Pitcher Turner, of the Crescents. In spite of the rain they saw William Keeler put up an excellent game. Every time he came to the bat the audience applauded vociferously.

The Sun speaks of the Crescents as "one of the strongest teams of this vicinity."

SMUGGLED RUM INTO JAIL.

A Prisoner Who Had Sobered Up Was Made Drunk Again.

Marshal Pangborn of North Plainfield had occasion to arrest John Burke, Sunday night, for being fighting drunk. Burke was shut up in the North Plainfield lock-up, and was left to get sober.

Monday, the weather being extremely hot, the marshal left the outer door of the jail open, and, being called away for a moment, he did not consider it necessary to shut it. Shortly after he returned, Burke began showing strong symptoms of intoxication, and soon grew wild and noisy. The acute Marshal saw at once that some one had smuggled liquor into the jail during his absence, and he set to work to find out the culprit. After some skillful detective work, he managed to locate the evil-doer, and confronted him with his misdeeds. The man confessed all, and said he would n't do so any more. He was fined $5, and released with a warning.

PARMELE DECLINES A HEARING.

He Prefers to Have the Grand Jury Pass Direct Upon His Case.

The examination of Charles Parmele (who is accused of cruelty to little John Taylor) which was to have been held before Justice Nash to-day, has been waived, and his bail will be renewed this afternoon for his appearance before the Grand Jury in September.

John H. French was his bondsman.

The Judge Did Right in Discharging Him.

A bicyclist named Potter was arrested by Policeman Myers last night beyond Netherwood for riding without a light. He said that he was on his way from Germantown, Pa., to Bayonne City, where he lived. An impromptu court was held by Judge Coddington at 10:30 last night, and Mr. Potter was discharged. Plainfield will soon get a bad name among wheelmen if out-of-town bicyclists ignorant of the ordinance are brought to the City Court every time they go through the unfrequented suburbs without a light.

Steady Rain Needed Now.

(Official Crop Bulletin.)

SOUTH PLAINFIELD—The warm sunshine and high winds have dried up the soil, so much so, that sweet and field corn, cucumbers, lima beans and potatoes will not be a heavy crop. A steady rain is greatly needed. The light showers on 26th and 29th were of little benefit.

The great mass of mankind lose their health through inattention to catarrh of the head and throat. This insidious disease was considered incurable until the discovery of the American Catarrh Cure. For sale by L. W. Randolph, 21 West Front street. Price $1.00.

SUN-LIGHT and FRESH AIR are THE BEST DISINFECTANTS, of course; but you can't apply them in every situation. What next? Well, that depends. For damp cellars use Quicklime, plenty of it. For vaults and cesspools use COPPERAS; cheap stuff; we sell it by the pound or hundred-weight—instructions thrown in. For kitchen sinks, for water-closets, for house plumbing, for the sick room, to deodorize discharges, to purify the air and to prevent contagion, use REYNOLDS'S ODORLESS DISINFECTANT. THE BUSY BUSINESS MAN

ALWAYS FINDS TIME TO READ THE DAILY PRESS

NEWS OF OUR NEIGHBORS.

Bright Gossip from the Flourishing Township of Ripleyville.

WESTFIELD, August 2.

Westfield has a new post-office, situated in the Plainfield Cook Bros' National Bank building, with entrances on both Broad and Elm streets. The quarters are commodious and tastefully furnished, but poorly lighted, being in this respect inferior to those formerly occupied.

The surprising thing in connection with this moving of the post-office is that the petition to have it done was signed and largely circulated by merchants who will suffer by the change. Let it be remembered that in a town like Westfield the location of the post-office is a matter of considerable importance to tradesmen, as the office acts somewhat like a magnet, drawing travel to itself along certain well defined routes, and leaving business interests in unfavored portions of the town to suffer accordingly.

Speaking of the post-office leads one inevitably to the question of the postmastership. The two candidates most worthy of mention are Freeholder Mulford M. Scudder and ex-Postmaster Addison S. Clark. The race is interesting at present, with the Freeholder about two lengths in the lead.

The twelfth annual excursion of the Sunday-schools of Westfield, Fanwood and Scotch Plains, to Ocean Grove, takes place to-day. This excursion has become an annual event in the history of the three towns, second only in importance to Christmas and the Fourth of July. It is especially to be distinguished as the time when the youth of nineteen is tempted to don knickerbockers, murder his mustache, and obtain a free ticket to the seashore by posing as a member of the Sunday-school infant class.

Appleton Morgan, LL. D., President of the New York Shakespeare Society and Editor of Shakespeariana, is once more residing in Westfield. Mr. Morgan, who is a college-bred man and a graduate of Columbia Law School, has recently published a little book called "The Society and The Fad", in which he cleverly dissects the Browning cult.

Columbia Law School has given Westfield another bright man in Charles N. Codding, the young attorney who with Judge John B. Green has recently opened law offices in the National Bank Building, which offices are in charge of Charles B. VanWinkle of Plainfield. Mr. Codding has for some time been successfully prominent in Westfield's public affairs, and as a consequence is now being talked of as the probable Republican candidate for Assemblyman in the third district.

REESE.

ADVISED BY HIS PLAINFIELD FRIENDS

Rowland Cox, the Famous Patent Lawyer, Writes to Secretary Gresham on the Financial Question.

The long duration of the period of business depression and the great scarcity of ready money have caused many prominent business and professional men to bring their private influence to bear on the Chief Executive of the nation and his advisers. Plainfielders have not been behind in the good work, and the latest news that The Press hears on the subject is that Rowland Cox of Seventh street, following the wishes of many associates of the business world, has written to his personal friend, Walter Q. Gresham, Secretary of State, urging him to use his influence with the President in attacking the financial question immediately on the gathering of Congress. If good results can be judged by the number of communications that have been received by the chief officers of the country, the people may look for an improvement in the state of their pockets shortly after Congress convenes.

Brilliant, Thorough, Faithful.

(From The Elizabeth Journal.)

Walter Irving Clarke, formerly a reporter on the Plainfield Daily Press, succeeds James A. Demarest, who has been the managing editor since the paper was established, and who has resigned to enter upon his duties as U. S. Consul at Brockville, Canada. Mr. Clarke is a brilliant and faithful hustling young fellow, and a thorough newspaper worker.

Mr. Hudson's Vocal Classes.

Walter A. Hudson, the vocal teacher, has closed his studio, and will hie himself to the mountains in quest of a much needed rest, after his arduous labors in New York and Plainfield. He has been very successful since opening his studio in this city, and the rapid progress of his pupils attests his ability as a teacher. He will resume instructions September 12.

Metropolitan Eyes See Possibilities of a Fortune in Its Development.

A New York member of The Tribune staff waxed enthusiastic, in a lengthy article in last Sunday's issue, over the historic Watchung Mountain eminence known as Washington Rock. After a detailed description of the enrapturing view, the writer says:

While by no means so extensive, and though there is no silvery ribbon of river in the middle distance, the view suggests the splendid panorama presented to the eye when one stands on the piazza of the Mountain House in the Catskills. In many respects it is equally satisfactory. It is an extremely civilized view. The hand of man is apparent everywhere.

There is no other outlook on the mountain comparable with this. The plateau here is exceptional. There is, perhaps, an acre of practically level land, covered with a thin growth of flourishing trees. One cannot help thinking what a fine site it would be for a summer hotel. There was a hotel here a few years ago, in fact, but after being burned it was not rebuilt. Under proper management it would seem that such an enterprise, at this short distance from New York, and in a spot so easily accessible, could not fail of success. There would be no difficulty regarding a water supply. Within a quarter of a mile of this point is a bountiful spring of water as pure and cold as that to be found in the innumerable springs that delight the soul and the palate of the pedestrian in the White Mountains. It is not surprising that the Rock is visited by many picnic parties throughout the summer. They come from all the towns and cities within a distance of a dozen miles or more, and those who come once invariably desire to came again. On Sundays some thirty residents of the plains come up in wagons and bring a supply of beverages of various sorts that appeal to the thirsty. The man who asks for beer receives a negative answer with such a palpable series of winks as would shock a true-blue Prohibitionist.

The Rock remains to be discovered by the great majority of New Yorkers. Some day they will find it out; and perhaps some day somebody will make a fortune there. The writer has visited it a number of times this summer, each time with fresh delight, wonder and satisfaction. He unhesitatingly recommends a trip to the Rock to all who are in search of a superb view that may be obtained with a small expenditure of time, money and muscle.

THE OLD CHURCH WILL STAND.

The Precious Relic of Plainfield's Early Seventh-Day Life Not to Be Molested.

The organ for the new Seventh-Day Baptist church has arrived, and will be put in place as soon as the glaziers have finished their work in the organ loft. It is a very fine instrument, and one of which any church would be proud.

The date of the opening of the new church has not yet been decided on. The rumor started from an irresponsible source that the old church would be cut up into modern dwelling houses is pronounced by Dr. Lewis to be utterly unfounded.

It has not been decided definitely what is to be done with the old church, but it will probably be rented for various church purposes so that the property will pay for itself and not be a dead investment. When the brethren return from their vacations, steps will be taken toward the plans for a formal opening, and the date will be decided, but as they have plenty of time and do not believe in hurrying, a late opening of the church may be looked for.

A FORMER PLAINFIELDER HONORED.

Father Stafford Made Vice-President of Seton Hall College.

Rev. John Stafford, who has been for some time past assistant priest of St. Mary's Roman Catholic church in Jersey City, has been appointed by Bishop Wigger Vice-President of Seton Hall College. Father Stafford is a native of Paterson, and about nine years ago graduated from Seton Hall. He went from there to the American College in Rome, where he took high honors and won several medals for his excellence in the studies of moral theology and philosophy. There Monsignor Satolli was one of his teachers in dogmatic theology. After his return from Rome he was sent to St. Mary's church in Plainfield where he officiated as assistant priest for four years and whence he was transferred to Jersey City. He has the congratulations of his many friends in this city.

Half Rate Excursions to the World's Fair via Washington and the B. & O. R. R.

The Baltimore and Ohio R. R. will run a series of special excursions from New York to the World's Fair at rate of $17.00 for the round trip. The trains will consist of first-class day coaches equipped with lavatories and toilet conveniences. The trains will start from Jersey Central station, foot of Liberty street, New York, at 8:30 a. m., August 5, 9 and 15, and reach Chicago at 4:30 p. m. the following day. Tickets will be valid for outward journey only on the special trains, but will be good returning from Chicago in day coaches on any regular train within 10 days, including day of sale. Stops will be made for meals at the dining stations on the line. A tourist agent and a train porter will accompany each train to look after the comfort of passengers. Tickets will also be sold for these trains at the Jersey Central offices in Newark, Elizabeth, Plainfield, Bound Brook and Somerville. New York offices 172, 415 and 1140 Broadway, and station foot of Liberty street. 26-w&s-3w

I have suffered from catarrh of the worst kind ever since I was a little boy and I never hoped for cure, but Cream Balm seems to do even that. Many of my acquaintances have used it with excellent results. Oscar Ostrum, 45 Warren ave., Chicago, Ill.

DEAD IN THE BACK YARD.

McArdle's Skull Crushed and His Neck Broken.

NEW YORK, Aug. 2—Hugh McArdle, a painter, 22 years old, who lived at 243 East Fifty-ninth street, was killed at an early hour this morning in a manner that makes a case for thorough police investigation.

The dead man was one of a party of four young men who had a growler party on the roof of the double tenement at 235 and 237 East Fifty-ninth street last night. At 5 this morning McArdle was found dead in the yard in the rear of 237.

His skull was crushed, his neck broken and his body badly bruised.

Policeman Michaels of the East Sixty-seventh street station reported it as a case of accident, but the relatives of the dead man believe he was killed and will try to get the matter investigated.

KILLED AT DUNELLEN.

James McGerry Struck By a Passenger Train Near the Tanks.

The local passenger train that is due at Plainfield at 2:30, bound for New York, while running by the tanks between Bound Brook and Dunellen, this afternoon, struck James McGerry, a blacksmith who lives in Raritan, and threw him unconscious to the side of the track.

He was picked up and taken to the Dunellen freight house where Dr. Brakeley attended him, but found him beyond medical aid. He died shortly after 3.

The engine struck him in the temple, and it is supposed that he was confused and could not get out of the way.

THE PENALTIES OF MATRIMONY.

On Account of His Employe's Wife, Barber Kesselring Won't Get His Vacation.

George Kesselring, the Park avenue barber, has had very hard luck with his employes lately. Not long ago one of his men suddenly disappeared leaving a bad financial record behind him. His place was speedily filled, however, and Kesselring was just preparing to take a much-needed vacation when man No. 2 took his departure suddenly leaving only a note in the cash drawer which read: "Good-bye. My wife is after me."

Kesselring sighed, forgave the man, and prepared to do double work instead of taking his desired rest.

Picturesque Route to the Fair.

No other line offers the variety of scenic interest between New York and Chicago that is enjoyed by World's Fair tourists via the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad. Measures are to be taken by the North Plainfield Township authorities to stop the dumping of garbage, by residents of Dunellen, who throw this waste just over the line in North Plainfield. Complaints are constantly being made in reference to it.

His Wants Were Few.

Tramp—Please, mum, would yo be so kind as to let me have a needle and thread?

Mrs. Suburb—Well, y-e-s, I can let you have that.

"Thankee, mum. Now you'll oblige me very much if you'll let me have a bit of cloth for a patch."

"Well, here is some."

"Thankee, mum, but it's a different color from my travelin' suit. Perhaps, mum, you could spare me some of your husband's old clothes that this patch will match."

"Well, I declare! I'll give you an old suit, however. Here it is."

"Thankee, mum. I see it's a little large, mum, but if you'll kindly furnish me with a square meal, mebby I can fill it out."—N. Y. Weekly.

Incompatible.

With a faint glow on her usually pale cheek the young woman traced geometrical figures in the sand with the point of her parasol.

"Which of the two do you prefer, Mr. Farlow," she asked, "Thoreau or Margaret Fuller?"

"I must confess," Miss Ticklowell," replied the young man, "that I have read very little of either."

"It is as I feared, Mr. Farlow," said the Boston maiden, retreating from him with a shudder. "We are incompatible. We never could be happy together. You pronounce it eether."—Chicago Tribune.

Too Tempting.

"I think, Willie," said his father, who had been looking through the new house, "I shall give you one of the rooms at the other end of the building."

"What's the matter with this one?" inquired Willie, anxiously.

"The matter, my son," rejoined the experienced parent, his left eyelid coming slowly down over the eye, "is that the window opens out on the kitchen roof, the coal shed is close to the kitchen, and this is the circus season."—Chicago Tribune.

The American Catarrh Cure

Is the result of twenty-six years' study and treatment of the disease. One bottle convinces the most skeptical. It is always ready for use, needing neither douche nor atomizer. It restores the hearing, cures the hawking cough and expectorating, removes the headache and nose bleeding, increases the appetite, produces sound sleep, invigorates the whole system and increases the vitality. DR. O'KEARNEY'S SHOT.

It Saved the Life of an Indian at the Last Moment.

Exciting Sport by a Retired Officer in the Jungles Near Deccan—The Capture of Three Tiger Cubs—Other Adventures.

Dr. Brian O'Kearney, a retired surgeon of the British army in India, has been a guest of the Palace for several days. He has the outward appearance of an old veteran, and the vast fund of anecdote which old travelers are apt to have. To a representative of the San Francisco Examiner he related an experience in the jungle as follows:

"We fellows on half pay, you know, like a bit of hunting now and then, so when one of my men came to my house near Deccan one morning with the news that a big panther had broken cover, we lost no time in getting up a party of beaters and starting out.

"The beast turned out to be a pantheress. She had hidden her cubs somewhere and had taken possession of a nulla or ravine only about a mile from the house. The beaters did not care to go up the ravine after they had located the panther, so I took a dog boy and a man to carry my second gun and we started ahead.

"There was not a sound to be heard save our own movements. We had gone about ten rods up the nulla when there was a half growl, half spit, like that of an angry cat, and the big beast jumped out of the bushes within a yard of my face.

"One of the men was on his knees half under me pulling away the brush; the other was at my left hand with the extra gun. The panther ignored him, but she pulled the dog boy out from between my legs as a cat would a mouse. She took this poor fellow in her mouth, seized the other with her paw and then made for the thick brush again.

"I confess I was too frightened to stir, but as she passed me she gave me a blow with her great long tail, as much as to say: 'My mouth is full and my paws are busy, but I'll give you one whack just for luck.' That blow sent me spinning down the hill, and that fact sealed the big beast's death warrant. I kept hold of my gun, and when I got to my feet she turned her broadside toward me. The dog boy was still in her mouth and one paw was on the breast of the other beater, but I pulled a bead on her and dropped her in her tracks.

"By that time the rest of the beaters had came up, howling over the fate of their comrades. We measured that panther and found her eight feet long. It was one of the biggest ever killed in that district. The beaters skinned the beast, and I've got the pelt at my home in India now."

Dr. O'Kearney also related an experience with tigers on the Bombay side. He told how the beaters in that district tracked a tiger by the pugprints, or footmarks, and then lined up to get the big game at bay.

"In this case, however," said the huntsman, "the tiger got between the beaters in the line without anybody getting a shot at her, but we captured three tiger cubs about six weeks old. I held one of these up in my hands and made it whine, thinking perhaps the mother would come back, but we never saw or heard of her again.

"One of these cubs was tamed by Col. Hansen of the army, another was sent to the Zoological garden in London, and I do not remember what became of the third. They weighed about twenty pounds each at the time we got them. They were tiger-striped as pretty as you please, and if they could have forgotten their savage nature they would have made the cunningest kind of playthings."

Dr. O'Kearney, before his retirement from active service, was in the Afghanistan war, in 1879-80. He was with the Sixty-sixth regiment at the battle of Mayand, when that body of troops known as the Kandahar column was hopelessly routed by the overwhelming forces of Ayub Khan. The old veteran says that more than half the regiment were killed, and if the Afghans had followed up their advantage not one of the British soldiers would have escaped.

Churches in the Capital.

There is no city in the United States which might be called the city of churches with more appropriateness than Washington. They are not particularly large, or imposing these Washington churches, but there are an immense number of them. As a matter of fact, the capital contains nearly 200 churches—most of these belonging to the Methodist denomination, which claims fifty-two. The Baptists come next with forty-five, then the Episcopalians with twenty-six, and the Presbyterians with twenty-one. The Roman Catholics have thirteen, the Lutherans ten, the Congregationalists four, the Hebrews and the Christians two each, and the Universalists and the Swedenborgians one each. Besides these there are half a dozen non-sectarian bodies.

As We Were Saying

The purchase of a musical instrument is an important step. You don't buy a Piano for to-morrow, or day after, but for a long term of years. Saving on the price at the expense of the quality is about as foolish a thing as can well be thought of. We have sifted through the world of Pianos; those we have kept we know to be the best; Steinway, Gabler, Vose, Sterling and Brau-Muller. We are so sure of our judgment that we give a written guarantee with every instrument we sell.

DEADLY APPENDICITIS.

A Disease Which Is Not Only Painful But Dangerous.

Its Seat a Rudimentary, and Useless Sac Opening Into a Large Intestine—The Appendix Vermiformis Is a Complete Mystery.

Appendicitis, which is numbered among the most insidious and dangerous affections known to medical science, has again been brought prominently to public attention by the sudden death of Clarence C. Bayne, the promising young athlete of the university, says the Philadelphia Record. The disease is due to the inflammation of the vermiform appendix, a useless wormlike tube attached to the large intestine. So suddenly and rapidly does the trouble develop that the resisting powers of the strongest constitution are unable to combat its fatal tendencies.

The seat of the inflammation in appendicitis is in the lower right-hand side of the abdominal cavity. Here the small intestine joins the large intestine and a large, blind pouch is formed at this point, to which the older anatomists gave the name of "the cæcum." This is the commencement of the large intestine, and is the most dilated part of the tube, measuring about two and one-half inches, both in its vertical and transverse diameters. It is covered by the peritoneum, and is retained in place by a fold of that most delicate membrane. Attached to the lower and back part of the cæcum is the veriform appendix, a long, narrow, worm-shaped tube. In all the lower forms of animal life which suckle their young, except the orang-outang and the wombat, this appendix is of considerable length, and performs an important duty in the digestion and assimilation of the food. In man it is rudimentary in character, and has apparently no other function in the human economy than to be the temporary resting place of small seeds and other particles of undigested food, which set up inflammation of the most fatal character.

The appendix varies from three to six inches in length, its average diameter being about equal to that of a goose quill. As pictured in the illustration, Fig. 1, showing the posterior portion of the lower part of the large intestine, the appendix is directed upward behind the cæcum, and terminates in a blunt point. Its canal is small, and communicates with the cæcum by an orifice, which is sometimes guarded in an incomplete valve. In the interior view, shown in Fig. 2, the cavity of the large intestine is laid open to exhibit the relation of the various parts. The ending of the small intestine is shown to the right, immediately behind which projects the termination of the vermiform appendix. From D to F is the cæcum, with the orifice of the appendix clearly indicated at E. At B is the valve which presides over the junction of the small and large intestine.

The entrance of a single grape seed, cherry stone, or other concretion into the narrow orifice of the canal of the appendix acts as a foreign body and quickly induces all the symptoms and signs of a severe local peritonitis, with pains and tenderness in the right groin, chills and fever, and with the body drawn up to relax the muscular strain on that side. Unless the cavity of the abdomen is opened and the cause of the trouble removed ulceration of the bowel, and more frequently still of the appendix, occurs, allowing a discharge of extraneous matter into the cavity of the peritoneum, with violent and extensive peritonitis of the most fatal character.

Chinese and Cockroaches.

One of the strangest superstitions of Chinamen is the awe with which they regard the cockroach. John holds the ugly black pest as something sacred, claiming that it is specially favored by the gods and a particular favorite of the great Joss. The most unfortunate mishap that can befall a Chinaman is to step on a cockroach. Instantly visions of terrible disasters and calamities arise before him. In some instances the superstition has been known to prey so on the minds of the Celestials as to drive them insane. As a result of this state of affairs, Chinatown is overrun with cockroaches, and a Chinaman would as soon think of killing himself as of killing one of them.

MARIE HENRIETTE,

The Most Versatile of Any Crowned Woman of Europe.

The golden rose of virtue conferred by the pope will this year go to Marie Henriette, queen of the Belgians. The fact that the lady has had to wait so many years for this consecrated token should not be regarded as in any way a reflection upon her worthiness to wear it. It is only that there are so many ladies of rank in Europe to whom the golden rose of virtue belongs by right, that the queen of the Belgians has been forced to wait. The queen of the Belgians is, perhaps, the most versatile in her talents of any crowned woman of Europe. She is an adept at the piano, violin, harp and a number of minor musical instruments; is a horsewoman of the greatest skill and daring, and, strangely enough, in legerdemain she has a facility unsurpassed by the most famous of professional sleight of hand performers. Her paintings have long been the envy of artists and the admiration of critics, and at the great fair given in Brussels last year an album containing water color sketches by the countess of Flanders and her daughter was bought by Sir Edmund Monson, the British minister to Belgium, who at the same time expressed deep regret that he had not been able to secure the specimen of the queen's handiwork—a group of violets—which had fallen to the bid of M. Leo Lambert de Rothschild. Early next day the funds of the good cause for which the bazar was given received a noteworthy and unexpected addition by her majesty having contributed another very pretty picture, especially sent from the palace to meet the wishes of the British minister.

HOUSE NUMBERING.

A postal card to me in that relation will insure your receiving your correct street number.

If a thing is worth doing at all it is worth doing well. Do not, therefore, use the rust-inviting tin and sheet-iron indicators, but try the bright, enduring, attractive nickel numbers, varieties of which, at 10, 15 and 20c. per number, I offer for your selection. Also white enameled letters for glass doors and windows. Orders respectfully solicited.

THE SILVER PLATFORM

A Concise Statement of Bi-Metallic Sentiment.

NO COMPROMISE TO BE ACCEPTED

A Declaration That the Sherman Act Must Not Be Repealed Without the Substitution of a Law Authorizing the Free Coinage of Silver—Bankers Invited to Attend to Their Legitimate Business.

CHICAGO, Aug. 3.—The Silver Convention met here again yesterday and devoted most of the day to speechmaking. A platform was finally adopted containing a lengthy preamble discussing the financial situation, and containing the following declarations:

First—There must be no compromise of this question. All legislation demonetizing silver and restricting the coinage thereof must be immediately and completely repealed by an act restoring the coinage of the country to the conditions established by the founders of the nation; and which continued for over 80 years, without complaint from any part of our people. Every hour's delay in undoing the corrupt work in the interest of our foreign enemies is an insult to the dignity of the American people, a crushing burden on their prosperity and an attempt to place us again under the yoke from which George Washington and his compatriots rescued us. We protest against the financial policy of the United States being made dependent upon the opinion or policies of any foreign government and assert the power of this nation to stand on its own feet and legislate for itself upon all subjects.

Second—We assert that the only remedy for pure metallic financial troubles is to open the mints of the nation to gold and silver on equal terms, at the old ratio of 16 of silver to one of gold. Whenever silver bullion can be exchanged at the mints for legal tender silver dollars, worth 100 cents, that moment 412 1-2 grains of standard silver will be worth 100 cents, and as commerce equalizes the prices of all commodities throughout the world, whenever 412 1-2 grains of standard silver are worth 100 cents in the United States they will be worth that sum everywhere else, and cannot be bought for less. While it will be urged that such a result would enhance the price of silver bullion it is sufficient for us to know that a similar rise would be immediately made in the price of every kind of property except gold credits in the civilized world. It would be a shallow, selfish class that would deny to the mining industries at the cost of banruptcy to the whole people. The legislation to demonetize silver has given unjust increase to the value of gold at the cost of the prosperity of mankind, wheat and all other agricultural products that have ever ridden side by side with silver.

Third—While the "Sherman act" of July 14, 1890, was a device of the enemy to prevent the restoration of free coinage and is greatly objectionable because it continues the practical exclusion of silver from the mints, and reduces it from a money metal to a commercial commodity, nevertheless its repeal, without the restoration of free coinage, would stop the expansion of our currency required by our growth in population and business, widen still farther the distance between the two precious metals, thus making the return to bi-metallism more difficult, greatly increasing the purchasing power of gold, still further breaking down the price of products of the farmer, laborer, mechanic and tradesman, and plunge still further all commerce, business and industry into such depths of wretchedness as to endanger peace, the preservation of free institutions and the very maintenance of civilization; we, therefore in the name of the Republic and of humanity, protest against the repeal of the said act of July 14, 1890, except by an act restoring free bi-metallic coinage, as existed prior to 1878. We suggest that the maintenance of bi-metallism by the United States at the ratio of 16 to one will increase our commerce with all the silver-using countries of the world, containing two-thirds of the world, without decreasing our commerce with those nations who buy our raw material, and will compel the adoption of bi-metallism by the nations of Europe quicker than any other means.

Fourth—We assert that the unparalleled calamities which now afflict the American people are not due to the so-called Sherman act of 1890, and in proof thereof, we call attention to the fact that the same evil conditions now prevail over all the gold standard world. We are convinced that bad as is the state of affairs in this country it would have been still worse but for the Sherman act, by which the nation has obtained to some extent an expanding circulation, to meet the demands of a continent in process of colonization, and the business exigencies of the most energetic and industrious race that has ever dwelt on the earth, and we insist upon the execution of the law without evasion so long as it is upon the statute books and upon the purchase of the full amount of silver each month that it provides for, to the end that the monthly addition to the circulating medium the law requires shall be maintained.

Fifth—We would call the attention of the people to the fact that in the midst of all the troubles of the time the value of the National bond and the National legal tender money whether made of gold, silver or paper, has not fallen a particle. The distrust is not of the Government or its money, but of the banks which have, as we believe, precipitated the present panic on the country in an ill-advised effort to control the action of Congress on the silver question and the issue of bonds. We invite the bankers to attend to their legitimate business, and permit the rest of the people to have their full share in the control of the Government. In this way they will much sooner restore that confidence which is so necessary to the prosperity of the people. It must not be forgotten that while boards of trade, chambers of commerce, bankers or money dealers are worthy and valuable men in their places, the Republic can more safely repose upon the great mass of its peaceful toilers and producers; and that this "business man's age" is rapidly exterminating the business of this country. The time has come when the politics of the nation should revert as far as possible to the simple and pure condition out of which the Republic arose. We suggest for the consideration of our fellow-citizens that the refusal of the opponents of bi-metallism to propose any substitute for the present law or to elaborate any plan for the future indicates either an ignorance of our financial needs or an unwillingness to take the public into their confidence; and we denounce the attempt to unconditionally repeal the Sherman law, as an attempt to secure gold monometallism in flagrant violation of the last platform of all the political parties.

A STRANGE CONDITION.

Fall River Mills Embarrassed Because Banks Have No Small Bills.

FALL RIVER, Mass., Aug. 3.—The mill situation has reached the strangest condition ever known in the history of the local cotton industry. Yesterday several treasurers of mills received notices from their banks that there was difficulty in paying checks in currency. Substantially, the notices say that the banks will hereafter honor no checks in money, but will endeavor, as far as possible, to take care of deposits already made.

The effect of this action will be widespread, and may call for a total suspension of operations on the part of the mills.

Treasurers who are receiving checks daily from Boston, New York and Philadelphia will find them of no value in procuring currency to pay wages. Some of the mills that received the notices will be able to pay their help this week. They could pay them in checks that will be honored at the grocery stores and banks, but they are not likely to adopt such a policy.

Some treasurers say they will ask their help to work along until such time as the banks can procure small bills and change enough to meet the wants of the weekly pay-rolls. Others say they see no way out the difficulty except in a shutdown and the violation of their contracts.

The banks having numbers of small traders among their depositors are faring very will, and they will have no trouble for two or three weeks at least.

Yesterday a large portion of the American Linen Mill shut down. Rumors are plentiful to the effect that the Granite and Laurel Lake mills will shut down in a short while, as soon as present contracts are closed. City Treasurer Brightman has succeeded in raising $70,000 among citizens on short loans for city purposes.

NO CHOLERA WANTED.

Precautions Insisted Upon at All Italian Ports.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—Since the United States quarantine regulations, which require five days' detention of immigrants under observation in special barracks and steam disinfection of the baggage before sailing, have been enforced at Naples, several applications have been made by the agents of steamship lines to be permitted to depart from other Italian ports, particularly Salermo, and thus be relieved of the necessity of complying with the restrictions imposed. But Dr. Wyman, Surgeon-General of the Marine Hospital Service, in view of the prevalence of cholera in that country, decided that it would be unwise to permit vessels to sail for the United States from any Italian port without undergoing all the precautionary requirements, and he cabled Assistat Surgeon Young at Naples, to inform the steamship officials that "Five days' isolation of immigrants and steam disinfection of their baggage will be required at all Italian ports."

BLOCKADE RAISED.

The Fact Officially Announced in the House of Commons.

LONDON, Aug. 3.—Sir Edward Grey, Parliamentary Secretary of the Foreign Office, announced in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon that the French blockade of Bangkok had been raised.

Mr. Henry Labouchere, the well-known Radical, who represents Northampton, complimented Lord Rosebery, the Foreign Minister, upon his statesmanlike attitude throughout the whole Siamese affair, and expressed the hope that Lord Rosebery would follow the same course in regard to Egypt so as to remove a natural source of irritation to France.

YELLOW FEVER.

A Spanish Steamer Brings the Disease to Pensacola.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—Surgeon-General Wyman, of the Marine Hospital Service yesterday received a telegram from Surgeon Harris, at Pensacola, Fla., stating that the Spanish steamer Leonor, which arrived at quarantine on the 22d of July from Cuban ports, brought two sick seamen who were admitted to the quarantine hospital. Their disease developed into yellow fever. The steamer was sent to Chaudeleur Station and the physicians, nurses and sick were isolated and all preventatives taken.

A Strike Off.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 3.—The strike at Spang, Chalfant & Company's steel works at Etna is off. After another unsuccessful attempt by President Garland of the Amalgamated Association to secure recognition of the organization and the firm's signature to the wage scale, a meeting of the Amalgamated puddlers was held at which the men decided to apply for work. This they did in large numbers and were told that they would be given employment as fast as vacancies occurred, but that those of the men now working would be discharged. While the Amalgamated scale was not signed Mr. Chalfant said his firm would pay the same wages paid in similar mills in the Pittsburg district. The strike has been in progress since June.

The President's Message.

BUZZARD'S BAY, Mass., Aug. 3.—The report in an evening paper that the President would recommend the issuance of three hundred millions in bonds to offset the present financial stringency, could not be verified here last night. The President has not given out a single idea of what his message may contain, and any reports published are mere guess work. The fact is, he has barely completed his message, much less heralded its purport throughout the country, and then again, it is likely to be more or less revised before it is sent to Congress.

Considerate Economizing.

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—To reduce expenses and at the same time obviate the necessity of discharging any of its Jersey City employes, the Pennsylvania Railroad has issued an order laying off all shop hands and road workmen, outside of those employed in the running of trains one day in each week. The new order is to go into effect on next Saturday and continue in force until further orders. It is hoped by this plan to continue to give employment to all the present force.

Eight Hours.

WHITESTONE, L. I., Aug. 3.—The Norton Can Company of this place have cut down the working hours of their employes from ten to eight hours per day. Lack of orders is the reason given out.

Jute Mills Close.

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—The Chelsea Jute Mills of Brooklyn, on Newtown Creek, were closed yesterday for an indefinite period. Eight hundred skilled operators were thrown out of employment.

The Democratic Caucus Next Saturday.

OFFICIAL CALL FINALLY ISSUED

Members Still Fail to Arrive in Great Numbers—Doubt as to Whether There Will be Enough on Hand for the Caucus Saturday Night.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—Members of Congress continue to come in very slowly and there is some doubt expressed as to whether there will be a majority of the Democrats in town in time for the caucus which is set for Saturday night.

It is probable that the Democratic members of the Senate may caucus about the middle of the week to determine the distribution of patronage under the Secretary of the Senate and the Sergeant-at-Arms, but no call for that purpose has yet been issued. There may be a little delay in this owing to the fact that the courtesy which exists among Senators will require them to wait the action of the Republicans in determining what men shall be kept as the representatives of the minority.

Among the first things to come before the Senate will be the question of the admission of Senators, the case of Lee Mantle, appointed Senator from Montana to succeed Mr. Sanders, being now before the Senate and ready to be called up at any time in accordance with the motion of Mr. Hoar at the close of the last session. This is a question of privilege and may take up the time of the Senate for quite a while.

Representative Robertson, of Louisiana, in response to a telegram yesterday received authority from Judge Holman to issue a call for a Democratic caucus. The call is as follows:

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2, 1893.

By authority from Hon. W. S. Holman, chairman of the Democratic caucus, I hereby call a caucus of the Democratic members of the 53d Congress, to meet in the House of Representatives on Saturday, August 5, at 8 o'clock p. m.

S. H. ROBERTSON,
Secretary Democratic Caucus.

SUNDAY CLOSING.

World's Fair Directors Fined for Contempt of Court.

CHICAGO, Aug. 3.—Judge Stein, of the Superior Court, has decided that the World's Fair directors and officers who had been directly responsible for closing the Exposition gates Sunday, July 23, had violated the injunction granted in the Clingman petition, and were consequently guilty of contempt. He ordered that Directors Gage, Hutchinson, Henrotin, McNally and Kerfoot should be fined $1,000 each and stand committed to jail until the fine was paid.

In the case of Director Victor F. Lawson the court held that the officer had voted in belief that the injunction had lapsed and was not intentionally guilty. In view of this mitigating circumstance a fine of $100 was imposed. Director-General G. R. Davis was held less directly responsible, and was fined $250 with the same provision regarding payment.

At the closing of the arguments Judge Stien granted an appeal.

A Bold Robber.

PLATTSBURGH, N. Y., Aug. 3.—Paul Smith's Station on the Northern Adirondack road was entered at noon yesterday by a stranger who asked for a ticket to New York. As soon as the agent opened the cash drawer he was seized and robbed of $150 in cash and tickets. The robber started North through the woods.

Amasa Lyon & Co. Fail.

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—Amasa Lyon & Company of this city, manufacturers of umbrellas, have become unable to meet maturing obligations and Sylvester J. O'Sullivan, the Treasurer, has been appointed receiver of the company on the application of the trustees of the concern. The liabilities are $121,410.

Napies Catholics Need Not Fast.

ROME, Aug. 3.—The Pope has directed the Catholic inhabitants of Naples not to fast on Fridays as long as the cholera prevails. His Holiness feared that the physical weakness engendered by fasting might cause the people to be more susceptible to the disease.

The Braddock Works to Resume.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 3.—It is announced that the Braddock Wire Works at Braddock will resume next Monday giving employment to 350 men. A compromise wage scale has been accepted by the workmen at a slight reduction from former prices.

BETTER OUTLOOK.

The Gold Reserve Again Above the $100,000,000 Mark.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—For the first time since April 20, 1893, when the gold reserve fell below the $1,000,000 mark, the reserve has been maJe intact. The gold in the Treasury yesterday exclusive of that held as a basis for gold certificates amounts to $100,791,570, or $791,370 free gold. Business troubles throughout the country, however, affect government revenues, and the Treasury balance is declining. Srcretary Carlisle, though absent from the city, is in communication with the Treasury Department by wire and yesterday, after a conference in New York of the eminent financiers, directed acting Secretary Curtis to send the following telegram to the 150 national bank depositories throughout the United States: "Your authorized balance hereby fixed at par of security. Transfer excess whenever practicable to nearest sub-Treasury."

This action of the Treasury Department will release to the banks about $900,000, and is intended as far as practicable to relieve the financial stringency prevailing in the country. According to former regulations each depository bank was permitted to hold government funds to the extent of from 90 to 95 per cent. of the United States bonds deposited to secure the same. This action of the Treasury permits them to hold government funds to the par value of the government bonds on deposit, and it is believed will have the effect in a slight degree at least, of improving the financial situation.

RESIGN IN A BODY.

The Board of Finance of the World's Fair Sick of Their Job.

CHICAGO, Aug. 3.—The Board of Finance which was appointed to control money matters of the Exposition has resigned. The members refused to go on with their work, because the board of directors sought to make them merely an advisory committee of the Council of Administration. At the time the finance board was appointed the directors voted to stop all fixed appropriations for the different departments of the fair and allow the new board to decide how much money was needed to carry on the work of the Exposition.

There is litle doubt that the Council of Administration will now proceed in earnest to cut expenses. It has done some work in that line during the past few weeks, but the reductions have fallen short of the desires of the directors. The running expenses are supposed to be nearly $20,000 a day. They fully reached those figures the first two weeks of July, but were supposed to have been brought down to $15,000 a day for the last two weeks of the month. The figures are not obtainable at this time, but the most reliable estimates that could be had were to the effect that the expenditures for the last two weeks in July would go beyond $210,000.

"Absurd and Shameful Gossip."

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—Speaking of the story published in Minneapolis that Mgr. Satolli, on his return to Washington from the Northwest, would take steps to punish Archbishop Corrigan, of New York, for his refusal to re-instate Rev. Dr. Burtsell in his original parish, St. Ann's, Bishop Keane, rector of the Catholic University where the papal legatee resides when in this city, said: "It is an absurd and shameful piece of newspaper gossip and I have nothing further to say about it."

Circulation Statement.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—The circulation statement issued by the Treasury Department yesterday shows that the amount of gold and silver coin and certificates, United States notes and national bank notes in circulation Aug. 1 was $1,611,099,017, an increase during the month of July of $17,372,608. The increase during the last 12 months was in round figures $9,000,000. The per capita circulation, based on an estimated population of 67,000,000 Aug. 1 was 24.02.

He Worked the Pay Rolls.

BUFFALO, Aug. 3.—James C. Green, foreman of the Barber Asphalt Company, was arrested yesterday and locked up, charged by his firm with embezzling a large amount of money. He added the names of dummy laborers to the rolls. An accomplice presented their time slips and drew the money for the imaginary workmen.

Poor Cubans.

HAVANA, Aug. 3.—The Spanish steamer Julia, which sailed recently from Key West for the purpose of bringing back to Cuba a number of poor Cuban families that had sent a petition to the government asking assistance, to enable them to return to their native land, arrived here yesterday. She had on board 361 Cubans.

PLAIN TALK.

A United States Judge Scores the Edison Company.

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—In the United States Court yesterday Judge Lacombe refused to grant a preliminary injunction in favor of the Edison Electric Light Company and the United Electric Light and Power Company. The Edison company brought the suits for injunctions on the ground of infringements of the incandescent lamp. Attorney Cravath appeared for the United Company and Mr. Clark for the Mount Morris Company.

Judge Lacombe said that it appeared to him that the Edison people intended to hold this recently patented lamp as a whip over all the people in the electric light business in the United States. In other words, they meant that no one should go into the electric light business without using that particular lamp; that they must get all their dynamos, lamps and equipments from the one place, and if their plant had been furnished by another concern, in order to do business and use the lamp in question they must tear out their entire plant and put in a new one. He did not think this was fair, and ordered a peremptory adjournment until the term following that of the 15th inst.

INNOCENT CHRISTIANS EXECUTED

Accused People Tortured to Force Them to Implicate Themselves and Others—The Matter Officially Considered in Parliament.

LONDON, Aug. 3.—The question of Turkish outrages upon Armenian Christians was again brought up in the House of Commons. Several members asked for information as to the charges made that the Turkish officials had tortured the persons who were some time ago arrested for complicity in the seditious rioting at Cesarea and Marsovan, in their efforts to get the accused to implicate themselves and others.

In response to the questions Sir Edward Grey, Parliamentary Secretary of the Foreign Office, said that what little information the Foreign Office had on this subject was very painful. Fifty-six persons had been arrested, and of this number 17 had been condemned to death and many of the others sentenced to long terms of imprisonment.

Subsequently the Sultan of Turkey commuted the death sentences of all but five of the prisoners. These five men had been executed within the past two or three days. From the evidence that had been given at the trials, all of which had been carefully investigated by the British representative in Turkey and a report thereon forwarded to the Foreign Office, it was clear that two of the men executed, and probably more, were innocent of the charges made against them.

The British representative in Constantinople had used his influence to convince the Ottoman authorities that the trials were unfair, but his efforts to have the wrong righted were in vain.

LONDON, Aug. 3.—A meeting of the Anglo-Armenian Association was held in this city last night to take action in regard to the persecution of Armenians by Turkish officals. Francis Seymour Stevenson, Member of Parliament, presided.

Francis A. Channing, who represents East Northamptonshire in Parliament, moved the adoption of a resolution denouncing the manner in which the trials of the accused Armenians were conducted and the subsequent execution of five of the prisoners.

After the resolution had been approved an appeal was drawn up calling upon the government to use every effort in behalf of the Armenians who are still in prison and who are doomed to sufferings worse than death.

The government is also asked to approach the powers with the view of forming an international commission to inquire into and report upon the condition of the Armenians now in Turkish jails.

All the speakers severely criticised the English government for the alleged half hearted manner in which it has acted in the matter.

WORLD'S FAIR EXPENSES.

The National Commission and Lady Managers in Session Too Much.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—The Treasury Department is taking measures to curtail the expenses of the National Commission and the Board of Lady Managers at the World's Fair.

It is stated that both of these bodies have been and are now in session unnecessarily, thus involving large running expenses. Both bodies have executive committees authorized to transact any business demanding urgency and it is therefore contended that it is not necessary for both or either of them to remain in session at this time.

Secretary Carlisle's attention has been called to the large expense thus incurred, and recommendations have been made to him looking to the curtailing of the expenses of both these bodies.

An Indian Scare.

WEST SUPERIOR, Wis., Aug. —The Indians of Northern Wisconsin and Minnesota have for the past three weeks been gathering in Washington county, near Shell Lake, a small town about 90 miles from this city. The wild blue berries are very plentiful there, and the Indians are given permits by the government authorities, who have charge of them, to go to this place and gather them. About 500 Indians from other reservations are now in the county.

While the Indians were under the influence of liquor yesterday several shots were fired by them, as all are well armed. The only persons injured were Indians, however, but the white settlers in the neighborhood are in fear of their lives.

The World's New Editor.

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—A sensation was created in the World office last evening when Col. Charles H. Jones walked into the editorial rooms and assumed direction of the paper. He comes to the World not only as editor, but as the personal representative of Mr. Pulitzer, with supreme authority over all departments of the paper. Col. Jones was, until two months ago, editor of the St. Louis Republic.

Savings Bank Sound.

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—The soundness of the savings banks in New York city was never better demonstrated than by the manner in which they went through the recent run made on them. A reporter called on the officers of nearly all the savings institutions in the city yesterday and learned that with but one or two exceptions none of them had been compelled to dispose of their bonds to meet the emergency.

Princely Cargoes.

LONDON, Aug. 3.—The North German Lloyd steamer Spree, which sailed at noon from Southampton for New York, has on board £850,000 consigned to American houses.

The White Star line steamer Majestic, from Liverpool for New York, took £350,000, a total of £1,200,000 shipped to-day.

Decreased Railroad Revenues.

CHICAGO, Aug. 3.—Careful estimates of the passenger earnings of the Western roads for the month of July place the decrease for that month as compared with June earnings at $500,000. This decrease is divided pretty evenly among all the roads.

COLLEGE POINT, L. I., Aug. 3.—The Enterprise Rubber Works at this place have decided to shut down three days each week, owing to the dullness in business. The works employ over 1,000 men and women.

LIGHT OF THE HOME.

Plump, Noisy, Laughing Babies—Well Nourished and Growing Upon a Diet of Lactated Food.

A plump, noisy, laughing baby is perpetual sunshine in the house.

A baby full of noise and fun,
The veriest mystery under the sun,
As brimful of mischief and joy and glee
As ever a human frame can be.

Such a baby is well nourished and growing; such a baby is one that is fed on lactated food.

Lactated food frees mothers from long nights of anxiety; it is within the reach of all classes.

Lactated food saves every year thousands of infants' lives; it is the best preventive of the dread cholera infantum; it is the safest, the most nourishing diet for an infant.

Hundreds of happy children have been brought up on nothing else, and the unasked-for testimony that has come in the grateful letters of happy mothers has shown that wherever it has been used it has succeeded.

NEW POSTMASTERS.

Another List of 119 in the Fourth Class Grade Named.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 3.—The total number of fourth class postmasters appointed yesterday was 119, of which 58 were to fill vacancies caused by resignations and death. Among the appointments were the following:

NEW JERSEY—P. C. Staats, Dunellen; J. E. Bateman, Dividing Creek.

NEW YORK—Thomas Garson, Browns Station; Walter Johnson, Burnt Hills; G. W. Austin, Centre Village; J. W. Butts, Colden; A. D. Williams, Conklingville; James Aker, East Maine; A. D. Capron, Glen Castle; H. N. Norman, Laona; J. C. Turner, Leon; J. D. Legg, Long Eddy; W. S. Wright, Marlborough; B. B. Badger, Ouaquaga; J. L. McGrath, Phoenicus; J. G. Dayton, Plattekill; W. F. L. E. Reed, Smith Mills; W. A. White, South Stockton; Wm. Lounsbery, Jr., Stone Ridge; Aavis Winne, The Corner.

PENNSYLVANIA—John Sweeney, Airville; Henry Seiger, Dallastown; L. R. Grumbling, Hellam; C. F. Obert, Lincolnville; C. R. Gray, Lowville; Theodore Lippincott, Maud; J. S. Ness, Mount Wolf; U. F. Henderson, New Lebanon; M. F. Smith, Red Lion; J. W. Aikens, Yeargertown; Mrs. Mary Poff, Yorkana.

POSTAL ROBBERY.

A New England Mail Pouch Taken But the Loss Small.

BOSTON, Aug. 3.—The leather mail pouch from the Woburn postoffice which was due in Boston on the 9:45 train Monday morning did not arrive and it was first thought that it might have miscarried. Tuesday forenoon, about 11 o'clock, the pouch was found cut open on a woodpile in the rear of the Lowell station on Causeway street. The postmaster at Woburn had classified the letters and tied them in bundles. Three of the bundles had been undone and some of the letters had been opened, but a great majority of the mail matter remained intact.

The opened letters were forwarded, and one letter of which the address was missing, was returned to the sender. Inspector Evans has not yet finished his investigation, but he thinks that the loss is small. His theory is that the robber or robbers took the pouch as it lay on the platform of the station, cut the straps and opened it, and were just beginning to ransack its contents when something frightened them away.

An Importing Firm Assigns.

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—William Sulzbache and Henry Gitterman, composing the firm of Sulzbacher, Gitterman & Wedells, importers of woolens, of Worth street, made an assignment yesterday with preferences to Matin H. Lehmaier. The business is an old established one, having been founded in 1858. They formerly did a very large business, and in 1873 they were estimated to be worth $1,000,000, but the business has gradually fallen off and lately their capital was estimated at only $250,000 and their credit rating was shaded at Bradstreet's. The attorneys for the firm estimate liabilities at $520,000 for merchandise, borrowed money and discount, but it will take some little time to make a statement giving the exact figures. The nominal value of the assets is equal to the liabilities, but they cannot tell what the actual value will be until an inventory is completed and the stock appraised.

Dull Along the Consolidated.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Aug. 3.—The consolidated Road has begun to be affected by the general depression during the past week. Freight traffic on the several division has decreased more than 10 per cent., and passenger traffic has also fallen off considerably. The road has laid off seven work trains and one gang of freight trainmen were dismissed from the shore line division yesterday. The decrease of business is chiefly felt on the New York & Shore Line division. It is thought that unless business picks up soon more men will be dismissed. It is said here that 80 men has been discharged at the Hartford shops.

Adolph Goldsmith & Co.

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—A meeting of the creditors of Adolph Goldsmith & Co., wholesale dealers in jewerly of Maiden Lane, was held yesterday. A statement was presented showing nominal assets of about $214,000 and liabilities $185,000. No offer of a settlement was made, but a committee of creditors was appointed to examine the books and stock and decided upon terms of compromise.

—The number of street railway passengers last Sunday was 2,500. Camp-meeting caused much of the travel.

—Miss Scribner and Miss Newton will re-open their school for girls and kindergarten Tuesday, September 19.

—Aaron D. Thompson has transferred to John D. Runyon and Charles H. Hand property in North Plainfield for $400.

—Next Tuesday, August 8, the Sunday-school of the German Reformed church will have their annual excursion to Boynton Beach.

—The vegetable garden adjoining the residence of Justice A. W. Sperry, 65 Grandview avenue, is the wonder and envy of passers-by.

—The Music Hall season will open August 9, with the production of burlesque and vaudeville by "Helen Russell's English Sports" Company.

—In Salvation Army hall to-night Staff Captain Annie Keith, of the Women's Training Garrison, New York city, will conduct a special meeting. Everyone is invited to attend.

—At the camp-meeting in Vail's Grove to-morrow night there will be preaching by the Mr. Hand of Christ's church. Able divines have been engaged for Sunday, the closing day.

—The last regular meeting of the American Sabbath Tract Society, before the coming sessions of the Seventh-Day Baptists' General Conference, will take place in this city, August 13, at 2 p. m.

—The Plainfield police have been notified that Michael Joseph Teedy and John G. Frazer, of Ontario, are wanted by the Canadian Government for larceny of large amounts. $500 reward is offered for their capture.

FUNERAL OF H. K. VOORHEES.

Odd Fellow Brethren and Fellow-workmen Prominent at the Obsequies.

The funeral of Hiram K. Voorhees, who died from injuries received in a fall in a partially completed house a few days ago, was held this afternoon, and a large number of friends of the deceased attended the ceremonies.

The Odd Fellows, of which organization Mr. Voorhees was a member, held their particular services at his late residence, 40 Duer street, North Plainfield, at 1:15, whence they accompanied the body to the First Methodist Episcopal church, where the Rev. Dr. C. R. Barnes conducted the ceremonies. Dr. Barnes spoke at length of the character of the dead man and emphasized the beauty of the belief in the hereafter with many examples to give force to the discourse.

The flowers were very handsome, and included a pillow of asters and roses from Engine Company No. 2, a cross from the employers of the deceased, and a crescent from his fellow-workmen, employes of Marsh, Ayres & Co., who turned out nearly 30 strong, at the church. The body was followed to the North avenue station by the Odd Fellows, marshaled by W. D. Ford, the members of Plainfiel Engine Company No. 2 and the employ of Marsh, Ayres & Co. The pall-bearers were:

Watson Tunison, G. W. VanNest,
Fred W. Bird, Robert Barnes,
E. W. Pepper, E. H. Wolverton.

The interment was in Somerville.

May Be Laid Off This Time.

Patrick Lynch is not likely to be a policeman much longer. He has been insubordinate a number of times, and when assigned by Chief Grant to the Boulevard district he laid down his club and badge, and said he would n't go on the proposed beat. The case has been complained of to the Police Committee, who will be expected to act summarily.

Cutting Down Their Help.

At Scott's Press Works last Saturday 12 men were laid off, and 15 more received notice last night to stop work. At Potter's Press Works 20 were told last night that after Friday their services would not be required.

The Other Son Speaks.

Edward Maynard, who is benefited in the will, denies the claim of his brothers that their father James Maynard was unduly influenced. He says that James dictated just the terms he wanted, and was able to hold his pen in signing.

THE FIGHT IS ON.

THE INJUNCTION MAY BE PERMANENT.

Mayor Saunders and Counselor Reed to Answer the Electric Light Company Next Monday Morning.

The North Plainfield Borough Council will meet to-morrow night, and at that time they will be officially told of the injunction which the Plainfield Electric Light Company has served on them, which was told of exclusively in The Press of Tuesday. This injunction has been served on Mayor Saunders and Borough Counsel Reed. The paper calls on the borough to show just cause why they should not be restrained from cutting down the poles, and the limit of time fixed for a reply is Monday at 10 a. m. At that hour a hearing will be given in the Chancery Chambers in Jersey City, and counsel Bergen for the Plainfield company will argue in favor of a permanent injunction being granted.

TELEPHONE AND SHOWER BATH.

Two Improvements Voted In, at the Hillside Tennis Club-House.

The Hillside Lawn-Tennis Club held a business meeting last evening at their club-house on Watchung avenue. The attendance of members was large.

The meeting was called to order by the President, G. P. Mellick. Secretary D. C. Ivins called the roll, and the minutes of the previous session were read and adopted.

The principal subjects for discussion were, whether it was advisable to put a telephone in the house, also whether a shower bath was needed. Considerable time was taken up in the discussion, during which the report of the club's finances was read, showing them to be in excellent condition.

President Mellick, as Chairman of the Executive Committee, read a report of the committee in which it was stated that they did not favor the telephone project. He admitted, however, that Mrs. Fox, the owner of the property, had been very kind to them, and they were under obligations to her, and ought to pay her something for the use of the property. What she asks is that a telephone be put in.

A statement was made of the purpose of the club, its standing, etc., by Mr. Ivins, and a good many thought they ought to have the improvements. Mr. Foote also gave an able argument on the subject in discussion.

It was finally decided to put in both a telephone and a shower bath.

After other routine business, the meeting adjourned.

A TRIO OF TRIBUTES.

Beautiful Floral Emblems Bestowed on the Casket of Hiram Voorhees.

Miss Lincoln, the Park avenue florist, made three beautiful set pieces for the funeral of Hiram Voorhees, the painter whose death was the result of a fall from the top of an unfinished house. There was a pillow from Engine Co. No. 2, a cross from his employers, Marsh, Ayers & Co., and a crescent from his fellow-workmen.

The pillow is of white asters, with a border of white and tea roses, and white sweet-pea blossoms. The words "Plainfield No. 2" are displayed across the face of the pillow in purple immortelles.

The cross from his employers has a base of purple asters, the body being of the same flowers in white, and trimmed with white roses and sweet-pea blossoms. Across the bar of the cross is inscribed "At Rest".

The most beautiful of the pieces is the crescent from the dead man's fellow-workmen. Its base is of pink roses and slips of hydrangeas, while the crescent itself has a foundation of smilax with white roses and white sweet-pea blossoms. The trio of pieces is one for any maker to be proud of, and formed a beautiful tribute to the dead.

TO JOIN THE DANCE.

Plainfield Crescent Wheelmen Will Enjoy the Montclair Cyclists' Celebration.

At a meeting of the Crescent Wheelmen, held last night, in their new quarters, 193 North avenue, four new members were elected: F. W. French, W. Manning, C. Lester, T. J. Carey.

George Stevens and John Kenney were appointed a committee to make arrangements for the members to visit Montclair next Wednesday night, at which time the Montclair cyclists will celebrate their first anniversary. The festivities will include a parade, lawn fete, promenade and dance. A large number will probably go from here.

IONA COUNCIL ACCEPTS.

She Will Participate Gladly in the Sister Tribes' Festivities.

At the regular meeting of Iona Council, held last evening, the invitation to be present at the reception to be given to Omeme Tribe of Elizabeth, Friday evening of this week, by Mlantonomah Tribe, No. 118, of this city, was accepted, and they will attend in a body. The Council is in a flourishing condition. The Pocohontas, Mrs. Geo. Richter, makes a capital presiding officer, and her able assistants never tire in promoting harmony and advancing the interests of the Improved Order of Red Men.

This Directory Has the New Numbers.

H. H. Baker has completed an arduous task in changing to the new numbers the addresses of every householder and storekeeper in town, in the city and borough directory. A copy of the new directory, revised to date, was received by The Press this afternoon, and, considering the especially great and confusing labor on this issue, it seems to be, from a cursory glance, remarkably free from errors.

—David T. Kenney has sold to Frank Gleason North Plainfield property for $1.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Miss Florence Randolph has returned from Connecticut.

Percy Brown is home from a month at the Delaware Water Gap.

Bert Mundy is visiting friends in Chester, Morris county, for a few weeks.

Miss Gertie Tier, of Bank place, goes to-morrow to Asbury Park for a week.

Police Sergeant Kiely is off for a week's vacation. He will visit various places.

Dr. F. C. Ard, of Watchung avenue and Fifth street, has removed to Westfield, N. Y.

Miss Phœbe Mills, of the borough, is visiting relatives at Basking Ridge and vicinity.

Joseph Angerbauer, Jr., has returned to his New York duties after three weeks vacation.

Mrs. John Darling and Miss Mabel, and Dr. and Mrs. Robert Lowry, are home from Asbury Park.

Mrs O P. Voeseller and son are stopping at Hultz cottage, Ocean Grove, for the month of August.

Mayor H. E. Cramer and family, of Elizabeth, Pa., returned home to-day from their Plainfield visit.

Miss Neil McKee, of Brooklyn, is a welcome visitor at the home of his sister, Mrs. A. J. Leader, 63 Duer street.

Miss Emma Gillem, of Duer street, is enjoying farm life with friends up at Bedminster, among the Somerset hills.

George Rockafellow, Jr., of Brooks Bros., New York clothiers, has been spending part of his vacation at Lake Hopatcong.

Charles Beggs, of Brooklyn, and Miss Emma Dennis, of Washington street, have gone to Trenton to spend a few days with friends.

Mrs. Dudley S. Miller and son started yesterday for South Branch, where they will visit Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Vanderbeek until Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Beerbower of the City Hotel, Judge and Mrs. Coddington, and Mr. and Mrs. McClintock, left yesterday for a week's rest and fishing at Budd's Lake, Mrs. Beerbower's former home.

Mrs. F. A. Pope, wife of the First Assistant Postmaster, and Mrs. James A. Demarest, wife of the American Consul at Brockville, Ont., are at Alexandria Bay, in the heart of the Thousand Islands, for a few weeks.

Walter Irving Clarke returned to-day from the seashore, where he has been settling his family for the remainder of the summer, the change being necessitated by the serious illness of his son, Bruce Addison Clarke.

Washington society will be graced by two charming Plainfield young women the ensuing two weeks. Miss Estelle and Miss Lizzie Bittenbender, of 52 Watchung avenue, left to-day for the Capitol City to visit a cousin at 1238 G street, N. E.

Friends of Mrs. Walter Walker will rejoice to know that there is prospect of her complete recovery from the delicate operation she was forced to undergo. Mr. Walker is very proud of his fine son, who weighs 8 pounds and is as pretty as his mother.

Sad bereavement has fallen on Mr. and Mrs. Warren F. Bartlett, in the loss by death of their little daughter Edith Magion, a bright and winning child. The funeral will be from the afflicted parents' residence, 1109 West Front street, to-morrow afternoon at 2.

Monsignor Satolli, Drs. O'Gorman, Pagan and Price, and the Rev. Father Cushing, who was formerly assistant priest of St Mary's and St. Joseph's churches in this city and borough, are to pass through Plainfield this evening at 5:30 on their way to Washington.

Harry Grannatt, of West Fourth street, who five years ago was so ill that he could not walk to the cars on his way to Colorado, came back to Plainfield Tuesday, and is visiting his father and mother. His health is greatly improved. He will return to the West in a few days.

Misinformation was given yesterday relative to the visit of the Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes to Cashier F. H. Gardner at Asbury Park. Not only did the good clergyman see the patient, but found him somewhat improved, and rejoiced in the tidings, as will all Plainfield, that there is now a chance of restoration to health.

Councilman Marsh, ex-City Clerk Leonard and family, and Miss Minnie Marsh, returned yesterday from the World's Fair, greatly pleased with all they saw, but finding it hard to get all around even in two weeks. Miss Anna Marsh, who was also of the party, will go further West to visit relatives before returning.

Mr. and Mrs. David W. Pond, who are making a tour of the West, have reached Hot Springs, in the Black Hills of South Dakota. While in Wyoming they experienced weather ranging from 96 to 102 degrees in the shade; but as the air was perfectly dry they felt less uncomfortable during a ten-mile horseback ride across the treeless prairies than they had on very humid days of only 90 degrees heat on Plainfield's shaded streets.

But Peter Was Innocent.

J. S. Powlison of Somerset street was putting in a new hitching-post when a waggish friend had it stolen and hidden in the engine house. Then the wag sent Mr. Powlison a note, saying: "Peter Seader stole your post to use for firewood". So Mr. Powlison is mad at Peter; and, though he got the post again, threatens direst vengeance.

SUN-LIGHT and FRESH AIR are THE BEST DISINFECTANTS, of course; but you can't apply them in every situation. What next? Well, that depends. For damp cellars use Quicklime, plenty of it. For vaults and cesspools use COPPERAS; cheap stuff; we sell it by the pound or hundred-weight—instructions thrown in. For kitchen sinks, for water-closets, for house plumbing, for the sick room, to deodorize discharges, to purify the air and to prevent contagion, use REYNOLDS'S ODORLESS DISINFECTANT. MYSTERIOUS MAGIC.

NETHERWOOD'S GUESTS PERPLEXED BY A MIND-READER.

Herr Neumann of Berlin Finds Hidden Watches, Pins and Words, to the Astonishment of All.

Magic ran riot in the parlors of Hotel Netherwood last night. Pins were hidden and found, a watch that had been carefully placed in the coat pocket of someone not its owner was restored to its rightful place. And all by a man who was out of the room when the things were hidden or chosen, and never as much as dreamed of asking a question when he came back. In short, "Professor" Neumann, of Berlin, was giving one of his exhibitions of mind reading.

The "Professor" is a little man, that is, in stature, very little, in fact, but in will power, so his assistant told the audience last night, he is a giant. The height of the assistant makes up for any want of inches on the part of the "Professor", as he is fully six feet four.

After the prospective audience had wandered around the corridors of the hotel and had made up their minds to go in and see the wonders, and after the parlor had filled up, the awful ordeal was gone through of getting together a committee of unfortunates who were, willing to sit around a table in the middle of the room and assure the skeptics that everything was open and above board. This was at last effected. Two or three arose with a bold front and, taking their places at the table, shamed their friends into joining their number by gibes and jeers as to their fear of being magnetized. All this had taken some time, and there was a general movement and rustle of relief in the audience when the assistant arose and announced that the performance was about to begin.

A number of small articles was placed on the table and the "Professor" was led from the room by one of the committee. One of the articles was chosen and the mind-reader was brought back. He picked out one of the men on the committee and told him to hold his wrist tightly and think of the article chosen. The "Professor" then started around the table, his mental guide following, still holding on to his wrist. Over each of the articles he hovered for a moment, his hand outstretched much as a man would appear if intent on catching a fly. Darting from one side of the table to another, sometimes clapping his hand to his forehead as if in deep thought, he at last pounced upon a silver chain and held it up triumphantly.

"This is it", he said.

But the gentlemen of the committee shook their heads. It was not it.

"Act; you do not on the article think hard enough", the little man said, "we will try once more einmal".

So saying he darted off again, pulling the committeeman after him. This time he hit on a handkerchief. But again it was wrong. His assistant looked uneasy. The members of the audience, who had been as quiet as mice, began to talk.

"I can do nothings with this one", cried Herr Neumann, "will this gentleman try?"

The unsuccessful guide sat down muttering, and another from those around the table arose. This time, success awaited the mind-reader's efforts as was shown by the burst of applause that greeted his holding on high a small piece of folded paper. The man who had sat down was heard to say something about anybody being able to tell after he had picked up all the things, but his remarks were drowned out by the clapping.

After Herr Neumann had acknowledged the applause he was again led from the room. This time a pin was hidden behind one of the window curtains and the "Professor" was brought back. He chose a man who knew the locality of the pin to hold his wrist and thereby transmit the "electric fluid" which conveyed the thought.

Securing a firm grasp on his guide, he started around the room at a lively pace, pulling the unfortunate after him and keeping one hand out in front to warn him of furniture or people in the way. Around the room he went, stopping near staid dowagers who gazed at him through their lorgnettes, past old maids who shrank back into their chairs as if appalled at the presence of a mind reader, until he really went up to the curtain where the pin was sticking and after running his hand up and down its edge brought out the pin amidst vociferous applause.

The most startling test that the mind reader did was to have some one choose a word on a certain page in a bulky book, hide the book and also hide a pin and then have him find both book and pin and stick the pin through the word on the particular page chosen, all while blindfolded. For his guide in this experiment he chose a stern man who advanced with portly mien and took him by the wrist. Herr Neumann started off at a fearful pace, the stern man trotting behind with lamb-like docility. First the book was found, then the pin, and the word was transfixed by the pin to the accompaniment of loud applause from the audience who were aroused to a pitch of enthusiasm.

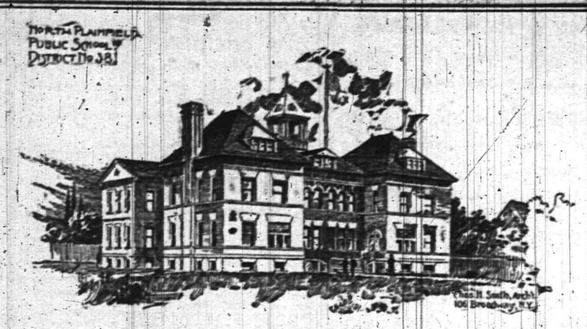
Then the hat was passed around and received sundry quarters and nickels. Just before this many people seemed to feel the heat of the room and took advantage of the open windows to go out on the piazza.

All this and much more was done by the mind reader, and it caused much wonderment and speculation, but you can find it all in any elementary experimental psychology.

I feel it my duty to say a few words in regard to Ely's Cream Balm, and I do so entirely without solicitation. I have used it more or less half a year, and have found it to be most admirable. I have suffered from catarrh of the worst kind ever since I was a little boy and I never hoped for cure, but Cream Balm seems to do even that. Many of my acquaintances have used it with excellent results. Oscar Outram, 35 Warren ave., Chicago, Ill.

Head and Reflect.

The great mass of mankind lose their health through inattention to catarrh of the head and throat. This insidious disease was considered incurable until the discovery of the American Catarrh Cure. For sale by L. W. Randolph, 21 West Front street. Price $1.00.



NORTH PLAINFIELD'S MODEL PUBLIC SCHOOL, AS IT WILL APPEAR WHEN COMPLETED.

In this most excellent picture of how the new front of the North Plainfield public school on Somerset street will appear, borough residents will notice a wonderful and thoroughly pleasing transformation from the appearance of the old structure. The familiar bell tower alone remains to recall what the building was like so long.

Besides being a thing of beauty and a credit to Architect Smith's workmanship, the enlarging of the school will be a great public improvement, as by the addition of the new class rooms there will be ample accommodation for all North Plainfield children of school age. Thanks to Mr. Smith's ingenious planning, all of the rooms will be sunny, cheerful and healthful, and little ones crowded out from above will no longer have to be cooped up in the damp unhealthful cellar.

The work of construction is being delayed considerably because of the non-arrival of shipments of terra cotta used in construction, and the new building will probably not be ready for occupancy till a few weeks past the opening of the fall term.

GOSSIP IN THE BOROUGH.

Breezy Bits of Gossip Picked up by the Stroller in His Rambles.

Alex. Thompson's linemen are still hanging wires for the Somerset street railway.

Sam Taynor lost one of his seven horses day before yesterday. Sam said he died like a citizen, with his shoes on.

Michael Powers has the contract from the street railway company to replace and put in good condition all the crosswalks on Somerset street.

The Sweet Singers of Somerset Street last night visited Pedelfous's hotel in Washington Valley and made the mountains ring with their vivacious melody. They spent the evening in a truly enjoyable manner.

Lew Smalley, the "dinkie" electric-light pole carrier, has about completed the replacing of the poles for the Edison Electric Light Company along their Somerset street circuit. The taller poles were necessary on account of the street railway wires interfering with the street lighting circuit.

THE LOSS OF THEIR PASTOR.

A Western Church Bereaved in a Plainfield Young Man's Death.

Not only in Plainfield and vicinity is there heartfelt bereavement because of the death of the Rev. Marcus Ward Smalley, but in the far Southwest also a community is mourning his untimely end.

In its issue of July 30, the Daily Post of Houston, Texas, says:

GONE TO REST.

DEATH IN NEW JERSEY OF A WELL KNOWN MINISTER.

The many members and friends of the various Baptist churches in the city, especially those of the Third church on Washington avenue, will regret to hear of the death of the Rev. Marcus W. Smalley, which took place yesterday morning at the home of his parents in Plainfield, N. J.

This worthy young man was ordained to the pastorate of the Third church soon after its organization as such. He was its first pastor and this was his first charge. He soon became very much attached to the people, and to say that the church loved their pastor would very inadequately express the close relationship that existed between the two.

The reverend gentleman was married at Plainfield, N. J., last September and brought back with him as energetic, accomplished and consecrated a young wife as ever entered the door of any church in Houston. Together they did a work that will not soon be forgotten, and sowed good seed that will grow and expand and the good effects be felt many generations to come. The sympathy of the whole Baptist fraternity is extended his bereaved wife.

THE GIRLS ALL WANTED JOE.

Conductor Ross Makes Himself Solid With the Excursionists.

The people of Fanwood and Westfield will talk for weeks of yesterday's big excursion. It was a great event, and was managed with that perfection which is characteristic of the Jersey Central Company. Joseph Ross, conductor of the second section, on which were most of the children, deserves special commendation for his careful watch over every detail. He made so excellent an impression that when, on the return trip, Westfield was reached, the Locust Grove girls refused to leave the train until they could be assisted by and say good-bye to that "kind little conductor, dear Mr. Joe".

Even Base-Ball Reporters Sometimes Nod.

In Monday's issue The Press said:

It is rumored that Fritz is about to ask for his release, to go to Scranton. In case he goes, why not secure Rafferty, who is anxious to join the Crescents and whom all the kranks would like to see here?

So of course it was Rafferty who was meant when it was stated yesterday that Francis had been engaged as The Press had advised, in Fritz's place. All the kranks understood that the inadvertent use of the name Francis was a mistake.

Capable, But Lax.

A. T. Hinrichs of this city will ride as a member of the Elizabeth Wheelmen team in the race for the Daily Journal trophy, Saturday. Town Tattler John C. Wetmore writes of him:

Hinrichs is the fastest rider Plainfield has. He is a man of great capabilities, but rather lax in his training. Starting from scratch in the Town Tattle race, he rode in 31:48. He can do much better than this.

A Good Job Done.

The cesspool which is the supply of the notorious North avenue sewer, and into which all of the station sewage is deposited, was cleaned out by a gang of "odorless excavators" last night after midnight, and the sewer itself was flushed out with water so that it will be a trifle less offensive for a little time to come.

IMPRESSIONS OF CHICAGO.

A General View of "The White City" as Seen by Mr. Honeyman—Harnessing Perfection to Industry.

Tourist Manager A. V. D. Honeyman, of this place, has been writing to a newspaper his impressions of the World's Exposition, from which we extract the following:

"It is, as no other ever was, a World's Fair. The entire earth seems to be represented, including Greenland, Lapland, Australia, and all the islands of the sea. And this representation is not nominal, nor only as to the wares which the various countries manufacture and offer for sale. It is a living representation of human beings and human art, such as were never before commingled. Here the Orient and Occident are one. Mankind is one. The whole world lies at your feet.

"The pity is that everybody cannot view this most marvelous exhibition. A worse pity it is that thousands who could visit it will not do so, from want of interest, or from a misconceived notion that somehow the money necessary to be expended will not be repaid in knowledge or enchantment. Were it but enchantment, one could not find fault with the deliberate stay-at-homes. But as it is the rarest opportunity which has ever been given to men to gather up into one mighty impression the focussed product and the culminating auroral display of the civilizing forces of six thousand years, I can freely say it is criminal to the mind for any man or woman, who has the ability of purse to see it, to miss it. If such an one is indifferent, because the New York newspapers fail to tell of the gorgeous creations of architecture in Jackson Park, of the gems from the East, and the marvels from the West, it is again a pity, because the magazines are and will be full of the story, and every traveler, who comes hither and returns, tells the tale as if of Aladdin's lamp and of Fairy Land.

"My second week's and second Tourist impressions of the Chicago wonder, is far deeper than the first. The first appalled me. I could not grasp the whole in its tout en semble, much less in its details. As one of my party admirably put it: 'Yesterday I knew something; to-day I know nothing.' I was mystified and enchanted. But now I begin to feel it is possible to obtain a clear conception, at least of the architectural whole. The tremendous aggregation of domes, columns, architraves, peristyles, roofs, minarets, kiosks, temples, convents, and finally, wheels, windmills, wigwams and lagoons, resolve themselves into reality, position, force, life.

"And now comes the greater wonder of details. These details are like the pages of illustrated books, whose text and drawings are not fables, but clear-cut facts, polished to perfection and warm as the blood-currents of humanity. Everything that man has done to beautify, to utilize, to potentialize, is on view here, and when the mind can actually come down to particulars, these works of art are found to cover a wider range and reach more exquisite finish than students of art in books can conceive of. Not alone Americans, who lead in the great things, but the Orientals and Europeans, have harnessed perfection to industry and created gems not to be described in language.

"Charley Dudley Warner, who is now in Chicago, gives, in one sentence, the correct impression of this Exposition upon all similar well-read and highly cultured minds; and if such real judges say this, what shall we of the masses declare but the same? His words are: 'Never before in the history of the world was there such a beautiful creation by man.'

"I would that every reader of these lines could see it, as it will ever linger in memory as the greatest vision men, not yet lifted by God into heaven, are likely to have on earth. These are deliberate words written to-day, and not those of the enthusiasm of two weeks ago.

"How shall your readers most economically and pleasurably see these things? Of course, I think with a congenial party in an economical spot very close to the grounds. But be this as it may, to see the Fair under great difficulties, and at large expense, will pay anyone a thousand fold."

Cause for Suspicion.

Jester—I don't like to distrust a man before I really know anything of him; but, to be candid, I would be inclined to put very little faith in that chap you just introduced me to.

Quester—And why, pray?

Jester—Because he's such a stutterer.

Quester—Pshaw! How can a misfortune of that kind be interpreted as impugning a man's honor?

Jester—Readily enough. It seems to be the most natural thing in the world for him to break his word.—Boston Courier.

The Spring Chicken Again.

Heavy Tragedian (at railway hotel)—Prithee, landlord, dwells there within the precincts of this hamlet a machinist?

Landlord—A machinist? Yes, sir.

Tragedian—Then take to him this bird of many springs. Bid him wrench asunder these iron limbs, and then, for our regalement, to chisel slices from its unyielding bosom, for we would dine anon—and pray, you, do it quickly. Yon peas you need not carve; for those, with dex'trous management, we can swallow whole. Away!—Boston Globe.

A Cautious Preliminary.

"I want to see the editor," said the man with a club. "Is he in?"

"Yes, he is in," replied the intelligent office boy, "but you had better step into the room adjoining and see Mr. Coke. He's a lawyer."

"What on earth do I want to see a lawyer for? It's the editor I came to see, and I'm going to thrash him."

"Yes, that's all right; but still you might do well to see the lawyer first. You might want to make your will. After you have seen the editor you might not be able to."—Brooklyn Life.

Strange Things Happen.

Uncle Simon—Strange things happen sometimes.

Aunt Sally—What ye heard?

"That boy o' John's has turned into a first-rate go-ahead sort of a man arter all. They say he's makin' money hand over fist in th' city."

"He is?"

"Sure as shootin'. An' jus' think! That boy never seemed to care for anything but studyin' his lessons and mopin' around home. Never started west to fight Indians, or hired out as cabin boy, or run off with a circus, nor nothin'."—Good News.

He Left Early.

"You didn't stay late to-night," said Trivvet to Dicer, as his room-mate returned early from a call on Miss Fosdick.

"No," replied Dicer, gloomily.

"What was the trouble?"

"I casually asked where Mr. Fosdick was, and she said he was down in the cellar watching the gas meter."—Brooklyn Life.

It Takes Material.

"Let see," said the lady, "how many yards are there here?"

"Fourteen yards, madam," answered the salesman.

"Enough for a dress?"

"Quite enough."

"Then give me fourteen yards more."

"For another dress?"

"No, for sleeves."—N. Y. Press.

It Didn't Cure.

Biffers—You are not looking well, old man.

Tiffers—I am not well, not at all well. I have been to the doctor a dozen times, but it hasn't done a particle of good.

"Did you follow his advice?"

"No, but I paid his bill."—N. Y. Weekly.

EXTREMELY DISRESPECTFUL.

Grandma (who is more good than handsome)—Your grandfather and I were married just sixty years ago to-day, Herbie.

Herbie (laconically)—He' orter been lynched.—Judge.

A Wonderful Machine.

There is no doubt that man is a fine mechanism, but like every other machine he wears out by friction. It is said that he is born again every two or three years His body is virtually re-made from food. To retard this making over is radically wrong, as a man loses so much vitality in the delayed process that it takes a long time to recuperate. The process of making anew is so accelerated by purging with BRANDRETH'S PILLS that a new man, as it were, may be made in two or three months, and the change in the mechanism is such that the worn out part is replaced by the new without the usual running down of the entire machine. You don't have to stop for repairs. Purge away with BRANDRETH'S PILLS the old diseased and worn out body. They are purely vegetable, absolutely harmless and safe to take at any time.

A New Arrival at The Zoological Gardens at London.

The wart hog, or Vlacke Vark, or Ethiopian wart hog (P. Æthiopicus) is a native of southern Africa. This species differs from his brother from north Africa (Ætians wart hog), in as much that his warts at the side of his face are larger; in fact, he is a more formidable animal, his tusks when full-grown reaching eight inches in length. The animal lives entirely on roots. The color of this hog is gray, with dark mane, and hair sparsely scattered over the body. When chased, Gordon Cumming says, he presents a most ludicrous appearance. On account of his short neck, being unable to look round, and naturally anxious to see if his pursuers are gaining upon him, he is obliged to lift his snout well in the air, so as to look over his shoulder, and with that, and his tail, when running, stiff and upright, he has a most absurd look; the above sportsman also says the animal is not devoid of sagacity.

People Who Fall Safely.

A fall, as a rule, injures a drunken man much less than a sober one because the controlling power of the mind being rendered nil through intoxication the body falls as an inert mass, and thus the chances of injury are lessened, for, strange though it may appear, it is no less a fact that the most numerous cases of injury arising from a fall are caused by the effort, voluntary or otherwise, to avert the consequences, thus straining the muscles and tendons. Very rarely are injurious effects from a fall known in a lunatic asylum, for the same simple reason—the mind has no influence over the action of the body. And it is a remarkable and well-known fact to those who have to deal with such cases, adds the Boston Herald, that whatever injuries are so caused heal much more rapidly than in the case of sane people, the mind having more to do with retarding or assisting nature's efforts than is generally known or realized.

PUBLIC SALE OF REAL ESTATE.

CITY OF PLAINFIELD.

Notice is hereby given that by virtue of a warrant issued by William A. Coddington, Esq., City Judge of the City of Plainfield, in the County of Union, to me directed for unpaid taxes assessed on lands, tenements, hereditaments and real estate in the said city of Plainfield in the year eighteen hundred and ninety-one the subscriber, the collector nominated and appointed by the Common Council for that purpose, will on Thursday, the twenty-fourth day of August next, at the hour of two o'clock in the afternoon, at his office, 311 Park avenue, in the city of Plainfield, sell the lands, tenements, hereditaments and real estate hereunder described, at public vendue, for the shortest time for which any person or persons will agree to take the same and pay such taxes, together with the interests thereon, and costs, fees, charges and expenses.

JULY 8

HOPEFUL MR. SPRINGER

He Looks for a Short Session of Congress.

THE WAYS AND MEANS COMMITTEE.

How it Will Handle the Tariff Question—Silver Champion Bland Certain that the Unconditional Repeal of the Sherman Act Cannot Be Secured.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—Representative Springer, of Illinois, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee in the last Congress, was at the Capitol yesterday. In brief, his opinion is that Congress will not be in session more than a week or ten days in August. In that time the hopeful Mr. Springer thought the silver purchase clause of the Sherman act could be repealed and the Ways and Means Committee could be empowered to draft a tariff bill for submission to Congress when it reconvened, which would be some time in October. As to the tariff, it would be impossible for the Ways and Means Committee to do justice to the subject while the House was in constant session. There were too many disturbing elements and the surroundings were not favorable for wise and safe legislation. But if the committee was empowered to prepare a bill and was allowed to go to some quiet place on the seashore, or elsewhere, and pursue its labors unmolested, the result would be a satisfactory bill.

Touching the course of the Ways and Means Committee in dealing with the tariff, Mr. Springer said it would doubtless report one general tariff bill instead of a series of specific bills. That policy had done good service last Congress, but the time was now at hand when the Democratic party must redeem its pledges and reform the entire tariff system. To do this would not involve any radical change in the rules of the House, for Mr. Springer believed that the majority can always reach an expression of its will through the Committee on Rules, which can bring in a special rule to fit each case as it arises.

Mr. Springer had not seen Mr. Crisp, so he did not say anything respecting the composition of the committees or his own place upon them.

"If the President parts company with the Chicago platform I believe his party will part company with him," were the significant words uttered by Representative Oates as he discussed the situation. "The Chicago platform upon which he was nominated and which the people endorsed in such thundering tones last November, calls for the repeal of the Sherman law and the maintenance of gold and silver as money upon a parity. Any scheme which contemplates the abandonment of the use of silver is antagonistic to that declaration of principles and will not be supported by the Congress that is to convene next week.

"There can, in my opinion be no unconditional repeal of the Sherman law. If the President has set out to repeal the Sherman act without offering anything in its place, he has set up a platform not in accord with that upon which he went before the people."

Mr. Oates looks for the repeal of the Sherman law, with a condition that will provide for the free coinage of silver at an increased ratio.

Senator George came into town from Georgia and takes a rather cheerful view of the situation in the South. He believes there will be money for his people to move their crops and that with the movement of cotton easier times will result.

Senator Squire, of Washington, is one of the few Western senators who takes the ground that the President should be allowed to deal with the silver question in his discretion. He believes that it would be good policy for Congress to pass a joint resolution permitting the President to suspend the operation of the silver purchase section of the Sherman Law in his discretion. He also thinks well of the inter-convertible bond scheme suggested by Representative Tom Johnson, of Ohio, and feels that it would add much elasticity to the currency.

Mr. Bland, the champion of free coinage, has arrived and was seen in consultation with three members of his faith, who are in the city. He said the friends of silver had agreed upon no plan of campaign other than that they were opposed to the repeal of the Sherman Law unless they were given free coinage of silver. Mr. Bland, in speaking of the ratio, said he saw no reason to change that now in force. So far as the possibility of repeal was concerned, Mr. Bland was emphatic in his declaration that the unconditional repeal of the purchasing act could not be accomplished in the other House.

DESPERATE STRIKERS.

Alleged Threats to Burn a Whole Family Alive.

WEST SUPERIOR, Wis., Aug. 4.—Mrs. W. C. Chisholm, wife of the cashier of the Minnesota Iron Company, at Ely, Minn., arrived in this city last night, accompanied by two small children, having left the scene of the Mource strike to escape the threats of the strikers and possible death. She is prostrated with fear and excitement. She says that several shots were fired into their house at Ely, and that the strikers threatened to burn Mr. Chisholm and his family alive if they did not leave the place. He decided to remain, and sent his family here for safety. Mrs. Chisholm says the strikers are becoming desperate.

The Pennsylvania Reducing.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 4.—President Roberts of the Pennsylvania railroad has caused to be issued from the general office of the company an order for the reduction of the hours of labor in the mechanical department from six days a week of ten hours per day to five days of nine hours each. The order affects all the shops of the Pennsylvania railroad system including the leased and controlled lines. This action is taken with a view to reducing the expenses and is in line with the policy or rigid retrenchment inaugurated some time ago, the beneficial effects of which have already been manifested in the shape of a great increase in net earnings.

Reducing Expenses.

HARTFORD, Conn., Aug. 4.—The New York and New England Railroad has already discharged 125 section hands along the line of the road. It is announced by Superintendent Quigg of the Western Division of the road, that 45 or more men employed in the repair shops at East Hartford will be discharged to-day.

Bank of England Discount.

LONDON, Aug. 4.—At the regular weekly meeting of the directors of the Bank of England it has decided to advance the rate of discount from 2 1-2 per cent. to 3 per cent.

A STARTLING STORY.

Evidence That Chicago's Fatal Warehouse Was Fired by Robbers.

CHICAGO, Aug. 4.—Evidence of a startling nature concerning the cold storage warehouse fire was taken by the grand jury yesterday. The witness who gave this startling testimony was John Joseph Duggan, formerly a Stony Island avenue saloonkeeper, and the man who first told of the looting of the cold storage warehouse and its firing by a gang of robbers.

He was flushed and excited with the inquisition he had undergone, but said he had made a clean breast of it all.

According to Mr. Duggan there were 150 men concerned in the conspiracy, and he declared that he had given the names to the grand jury. He said that from the opening of the exposition, right up to the time of the fire, goods were stolen, or at least removed, from the cold storage warehouse by the wagon load. The wagons used were express wagons generally, though he had known of water carts going out the gates with tanks filled with hams, bottles of wine and other stock.

"Who removed these goods?" was asked.

"Employes of the cold storage warehouse and a gang that lives on Stony Island avenue just outside the grounds."

"Did you give evidence that would implicate criminally the persons who removed the goods?"

"Yes, there'll be a sensation when this whole thing comes out. There are about 150 implicated. I have given the names to the jury."

More witnesses in regard to the affair will be called to-day.

IRON HALL.

Several Changes for the Benefit of the Order.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Aug. 4.—The supreme sitting of the Order of the Iron Hall has acted on the report of the committee on law. Several changes were made in the constitution of the order. The section governing the meeting of the supreme sitting was changed so as to make it imperative that the sitting meet once every two years. Under the old rule the sitting did not meet unless the supreme justice called it together. The supreme justice still has power to call a special meeting at any time. A change was also made in the section governing the deposit of funds of the order. By the change each district is to have a depository. The constitution was further changed so as to place women on an equal footing with men in the order. A resolution expressing confidence in the present supreme officers of the order was passed.

BLOUNT'S REPORT.

His Statement of Hawaiian Affairs Arrives at Washington.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—Minister Blount's long expected report on Hawaiian affairs is in the possession of the Secretary of State. It arrived in the official dispatch bag from San Francisco in company with a communication from Mr. Severance, the United States Consul General in Hawaii, telling of the Fourth of July celebration at Honolulu at which Minister Blount presided. Mr. Blount is expected in Washington about Aug. 20 to participate in the conferences of the President and Secretary Gresham over the amended protocol of a treaty submitted by the provisional government.

DR. M'GLYNN.

He Will Say Mass for One Month at Bath Beach.

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—Vicar-General McNamara, representative of Bishop McDonnell during the latter's absence from the Brooklyn diocese, has written a letter authorizing Dr. Edward McGlynn to say mass for one month in St. Finbar's Church, Bath Beach. The pastor of the church is Father Ward.

The unexpected privilege reached Dr. McGlynn last evening, while he was at the fair for the benefit of St. Finbar's Church. He expressed gratification and then said he would be pleased to officiate at low mass at 7:30 next Sunday morning. He added that he would it agreeable later on to officiate in high mass.

The Boycott is Unpopular.

CHICAGO, Aug. 4.—Boycotting one railroad by others is proving a very unpopular method of enforcing requirements with many of the roads. A good deal of squirming is indulged in where it has to be resorted to in obedience to association agreements. The Wabash has given notice that the one declared against the Mobile & Ohio by the Western Passenger Association will only be observed by it so far as the lines within the territory of the association are concerned. On all other branches business arrangements with the Mobile & Ohio will be maintained as formerly.

Women Lawyers.

CHICAGO, Aug. 3.—The first meeting of women lawyers ever held took place yesterday in Congress Hall of the Isabella club house. It was the first step toward a realization of that dream of so many women lawyers, that one day there may be a national association of women lawyers the same as among men. Many famous women were grouped in the pretty corner hall when the president, Florence Crolise, called the meeting to order. Addresses were made by Catharine Waugh McCulagh, Carrie Burnham Kilgore, J. Miles Foster and others.

No More Sunday Closing.

CHICAGO, Aug. 4.—The opinion is unanimous among lawyers that the gates of the World's Fair will be opened every day in the week from now on until they are finally closed next October. The Appelate Court will not be in session until after the midsummer vacation which ends in September, and the appeal prayed for yesterday cannot therefore be passed on until October.

An Insurance Decision.

LANSING, Mich., Aug. 4. — Attorney General Ellis has given an opinion to the effect that the insurance law passed by the late legislature is unconstitutional, owing to section 5, which permits unauthorized companies to do business in the State.

Judge Barton Insane.

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—Judge William M. Barton of Peekskill has been taken to the insane asylum at Poughkeepsie suffering from paresis. For some time past he has been in very poor health and at present his condition is very precarious.

Canadian Gold Mines.

BELLEVILLE, Ont., Aug. 4.—American capitalists are investing largely in mining property in this district. The latest deal is the transfer of the Bingham gold mine to Alexander Chisholm, of New York city, for $50,000.

DID THEY SPECULATE?

Two Wall Street Clerks Disappear Leaving the Safe Locked.

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—When the members of the firm of Woerishoffer & Co., bankers and brokers of Exchange Place, reached their offices yesterday morning they found that the two clerks in their grain department had not reported. The safe in that department was locked and these two men were the only ones in the employ who knew the combination.

As the absent clerks did not appear, the firm decided, after waiting for some time, to have the safe opened by an expert from a safe house. The expert arrived and was about to blow open the safe when an old employe, who had formerly worked for the firm, happened to drop in. He knew the combination and opened the safe.

The firm notified all persons with whom it had open transactions of the situation as soon as it was known that the clerks had disappeared. The Clearing House was also notified.

The firm gave out the following statement late in the afternoon:

"Our two clerks in charge of the grain department did not report this morning, and as they had the combination of the small safe in that department it caused us a little inconvenience in making comparisons. We are now examining the grain books and will endeavor to ascertain the cause of their absence. We presume they have been speculating on our count and got scared."

A member of the firm said: It would have been impossible for the clerks to have got any money, but we want to find out why they disappeared.

THE ARMY WORM.

Hundreds of Acres of Grain in Minnesota Destroyed.

CROOKSTON, Minn., Aug. 4.—The dreaded army worm has been at work on the grain fields of Polk, Kilbon and Marshall counties for the past ten days, and its ravages have been enormous. Hundreds of acres have been wholly ruined by the pest and in others the yield will not exceed five bushels per acre. Wheat, which at the beginning of the week looked good for at least fifteen bushels to the acre, is in many instances in such bad shape that it is not worth harvesting.

The situation has become so serious that a meeting of the county commissioners has been called to consider means of relief.

A WRATHY DEPOSITOR.

Fraud and Conspiracy Charged Against a Denver Bank.

DENVER, Aug. 4.—William Coleman, a depositor in the suspended Peoples' Savings Bank, has begun suit against the bank, its officers, shareholders and directors to recover $2,000, which he had on deposit in the institution. He also asks for an execution against the bodies of the defendants, and that they be placed in jail until judgment shall be obtained and satisfied. Charges of fraud and conspiracy are made against the bank authorities. President Lawrence, of the suspended bank, is now in New York endeavoring to raise money with which to reopen the institution.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—A lot of wine in a bonded warehouse in Philadelphia, which had been housed for more than three years, was recently sold at auction for its tax. The price obtained simply paid the tax, and now the warehouse owner asks that the government pay him for three years's storage charges. Acting-Secretary Curtin has refused to do so, holding that his only remedy is against the original owner of the wine.

The Milwaukee Bank Solvent.

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 4.—Bank Examiner Lynch has finished his examination of the books of the Milwaukee National Bank of Wisconsin and has forwarded his report to the Comptroller of the Currency. He says the bank is solvent. Mr. Lynch will remain in charge of the bank until it resumes or until it is put into the hands of a receiver for the winding up of its affairs.

Alcohol a Scientific Preparation.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—The Treasury Department is advised that the United States Circuit Court for the Southern district of New York has decided that absolute alcohol is a scientific preparation and entitled to free entry. This decision is opposed to all Treasury rulings and an appeal has been taken from it.

Killed by the Cars.

LANCASTER, Pa., Aug. 3.—George W. Kirby, of Brookly, N. Y., aged 50 years, was walking on the Pennsylvania railroad track at Columbia, yesterday afternoon when he was struck by a locomotive and dragged 200 yards. Both legs were cut off and his head was badly mutilated. He was dead when picked up.

A Ghastly Accident.

SUSQUEHANNA, Pa., Aug. 4.—Harry Tompkins, of Albany, N. Y., was cut to pieces at Lawsville Centre, this county, yesterday by falling under a reaping machine. The horses he was driving were stung by bees, running away, caused the accident.

CONCEALING CHOLERA

Startling Statements of the London Lancet.

HUNDREDS OF DEATHS IN FRANCE

Successful Effort to Hide the Epidemic in Marseilles—Even the Government Deceived—Precautions in Naples—Superstition of the Poor.

LONDON, Aug. 4.—According to the Lancet, the well-known English medical weekly, cholera has been epidemic in Marseilles for the last three months. The local officials, it is asserted, have carried their policy of deception to such an extent that even the government has been led astray in regard to the real state of affairs. The prefecture now admits that there have been 401 deaths from cholera in Marseilles since the middle of May. On several days 20 deaths were recorded and on last Saturday the mortality went up to 25. During the last four week there have been 836 deaths from cholera throughout France.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—The Marine Hospital Service has received no details from Naples since the cable message yesterday announcing the spread of cholera in that city. Previous reports were rather encouraging. Under date of July 20, Assistant Surgeon G. B. Young made a report of the situation, in which he says the intelligence of the first outbreak reached him just after he had completed the preliminary examination of the steamship Massilia, which sailed on July 22 with about 350 emigrants. The emigrant boarding houses are nearly all in the ward where the outbreak occurred. The arriving passengers were met at the trains and boats and conducted direct on board the Massilia.

Dr. Young says the sanitary regulations of Naples are good and energetically enforced and the water supply is excellent, so that there should be no difficulty in checking an outbreak. The only thing in the way is the ignorance and superstition of the poorer classes. The steamship companies, he says, were willing to proceed with the erection of the disinfecting plant required by the regulations but unexpected difficulties were met in obtaining a suitable site.

LONDON, Aug. 4.—The Rome correspondent of the Central News says: "Since the outbreak of cholera in Naples more than 100,000 residents have fled from that city. The official reports greatly understate the facts. The report for Sunday last said that there were 19 new cases and nine deaths. Reliable private advices declare that there were 52 new cases and 28 deaths on that day, and 49 new cases and 27 deaths on Monday. The official figures for Tuesday are 18 new cases and 6 deaths. Several cases of cholera have occurred in Rome."

BEHRING SEA DECISION READY.

Commissioners Morgan and Harlan Sail for Home Next Saturday.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—Indications that the Behring Sea Arbitration Commission will conclude its deliberations and agree on its decision before the end of this week, if it has not already done so, are given in the official information received at the State Department that Senator Morgan and Justice Harlan, the arbitrators on the part of the United States, will sail from Southampton for New York next Saturday.

It is stated at the State Department that Messrs. Morgan and Harlan could not leave Paris until the arbitrators had agreed on a verdict, and it is presumed that the commission set a date for voting on the five points at issue, thus enabling the gentlemen mentioned to make definite arrangements for sailing.

YACHT RACING.

The American Boat Nearly Capsized in a Gale.

LONDON, Aug. 4.—The yacht race for the Town Prize of £100, open to yachts of over thirty tons, took place yesterday.

The Navahoe was nearly capsized, not being equal, apparently, to the stiff gale blowing at the time.

The Calluna also met with an accident. She fouled the steam yacht Cleopatra shortly after passing Leap Shoal and broke her gaff and tore her mainsail. She was, therefore, compelled to give up the contest.

The Satanita and Valkyrie sailed well in the heavy wind. The former crossed the finishing line eight minutes ahead of the Valkyrie.

Sad End of Three Excursionists.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., Aug. 4.—A. Miller & Brundage surrey, occupied by Stephen H. Hatch, wife and two daughters, of New Bedford, Mass., while crossing the New York Central railroad at Main street, this city, yesterday afternoon, was struck by a train. The carriage was completely wrecked, Mrs. Hatch almost instantly killed and the others painfully bruised and cut. The crossing where the accident occurred is protected by guard gates, but the man in charge was unable to see the approaching train on account of another which had just passed from the opposite direction. The injured ones were World's Fair excursionists returning home.

A Diplomatic Answer.

"Can't you settle this bill to-day, senator?" asked the tailor of the delinquent legislator.

"No, Snip; it wouldn't be parliamentary. I've merely glanced over it, you know, and I can't pass a bill until after its third reading."—Judge.

Rover Makes a Joke.

"Come take a ride on my tail," said the dog to the cat.

"How can I ride on your tail?" asked the cat.

"Can't you see it's a waggin'?" said the dog, winking his left eye at the canary.—Harper's Young People.

HEADLONG TO DEATH

A Distressing Accident at Chelsea, Mass.

CROWDED BALCONY GIVES WAY

Four People Killed and Many Injured. Wild Struggle for Life—Scores of People Narrowly Escape Being Drowned—List of the Killed.

BOSTON, Aug. 4.—A distressing accident occurred at the boat house of the Chelsea Yacht club, on Broadway, near the bridge over the Mystic river, last evening, that changed a night of gayety and enjoyment to one of mourning.

Four persons are dead while some 15 or more are injured to a greater or less extent.

The club was having a concert and illumination at its quarters, in honor of the ladies, many of whom were present from Chelsea and neighboring places.

All had proceeded pleasantly until shortly before 9 o'clock, when one of the balconies gave way suddenly and most of its occupants were thrown to the pier or float below in indescribable confusion.

The rear of the club house has an overhang over the river, and two balconies, one above the other, each 30 or 40 feet in length.

Directly beneath the balconies is a large float, and it was this that prevented the entire number of people from falling into the water. As it is no one is known to have been drowned, although it is possible that some may have fallen from the float into the water and been lost.

The balcony gave way near the center, the bottom sloping in either direction and slightly outward, forming a sort of a chute through which nearly 40 of the occupants were precipitated to the float, some 35 feet below.

The band had just stopped playing and the signal had been given from the commodore's flagship to illuminate. Every one was anxious to see the spectacle and the 175 and 200 people on the upper floor of the house crowded out upon, or towards, the upper balcony. The weight was too much for the weak supports of the balcony and they gave way with a crash that startled every one who heard it.

J. P. Warren, the band leader was the first one to fall and he was instantly killed, striking on his head.

The flooring boards kept gradually giving away and one after another shrieking men and women were precipitated through the ragged opening. The scenes were indescribable and everything was in terrible confusion. One man alone was in the lower balcony, but managed to keep clear of the falling humanity and escaped uninjured.

A cry of fire was raised and an alarm sounded from the nearest box summoning the fire department, the members of which did excellent work in caring for the dead and injured.

Nearly two score people were thrown from the balcony by the accident and piled in a struggling and confused mass upon the float.

Three or four of the injured were seriously hurt, while the remainder have only bruises or flesh wounds.

The following were killed:

J. P. WARREN, band leader, 139 Pearl street, Chelsea.

A. L. PEMBERTON, musician, Belmont street, Melrose.

Mrs. AUGUSTA P. SCHUMAN, 11 George street, Chelsea.

Mrs. A. P. PUTNAM, Chelsea.

The more seriously injured were taken to the United States Naval Hospital and to the Frost Hospital, where their wounds were dressed, while many were able to go to their home unassisted.

ARMY OF UNEMPLOYED.

What New York May Expect in the Near Future.

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—The World to-day has a long article indicating that the metropolis will soon be overrun by an army of idle men. Statistics from 57 trades in New York city are given to show that in these trades alone over 36,000 men are out of work, and it is declared that this represents only a portion of the city's unemployed. It is stated that thousands are coming here from the West in search of employment and that immigrants are tarrying in New York because of business stagnation in Western States. It is also pointed out that the host of idlers is being daily increased by the shutting down of factories, and the claim is made that the manufacturers who do not close their mill doors are importing pauper labor. Western cities, it is claimed, feed and forward tramps to New York free of cost, and it is hinted that the statistics may point out bread riots in the near future. The statement is made that Horace Greeley's maxim "Go West, young man," has been reversed by the silver kings of the Sierras.

DETAINED FOR DISINFECTION.

Three Deaths on an Anchor Line Ship From Naples.

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—Three deaths occurred aboard the Anchor Line Steamer Karamania, which arrived yesterday afternoon from Naples, with a general cargo and 471 steerage passenger.

July 17, Rosa Buccola, aged 47 years, died, and was buried at sea.

August 3, at 8 a. m, Giuseppo Pascalo Romuale, aged 40 years, died and was buried at sea the same date.

Maria Di Nicala, aged 23 years, also died August 3, and was buried at sea.

Health Officer Jenkins has detained the steamer to determine the cause of death, and for examination and disinfection.

All the passengers came aboard at Naples.

All were well on board yesterday afternoon.

Rioting at Leadville.

DENVER, Aug. 4.—A special from Leadville, Col., says: Trouble occurred at the Arkansas Valley Smelter yesterday when the company announced a reduction of ten per cent. in all wages, to take effect at once. Quite a number of the men considered this a fair proposition, but the others refused to go to work. About 40 men remained working, but the strikers got together and drove the men who were working out of the smelter. Quite a scrimmage ensued, stones and clubs being generally used, but no one is reported seriously injured, although several were badly pounded up. The plant will shut down for the present, at least. A meeting will be held to-day to adjust matters, if possible. The captain of the Leadville militia has asked the adjutant-General at Denver for arms and ammunition for use in case of necessity.

CATHOLIC AFFAIRS.

An Emphatic Denial of Several Recent Rumors.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—It is authoritatively stated that Mgr. Satolli has not as yet rendered a decision in the case of Dr. Burtsell, of New York, and has not positively ordered Archbishop Corrigan to restore him to his old parish. The only action so far taken by the apostolic delegate in the case was the writing of a letter to Archbishop Corrigan, May 29, in which he said:

"This afternoon at half 3 o'clock a committee of 12 citizens of New York presented themselves to me with a petition that I should interpose my good offices for the purpose of obtaining the return and restoration of the Very Rev. Dr. Burtsell to the parish of Epiphany or to another in the city of equal importance in a moral and a financial point of view.

"I make it a duty to indicate this to your excellency, so that, in your charity and prudence, you may judge if, and how far, and in what manner it may be expedient to condescend by your authority to their request. It would, perhaps, make them more attached and deferential to you, as they desire to be.

"Please let me know your opinion and decision in the premises."

It is also stated that the report that Mgr. Satolli will go to Rome and lay the Burtsell matter before the Pope with the recommendation that a coadjutor be appointed to "assist the Archbishop of New York in the management of so large a diocese," as a punishment for his action in the Burtsell case is the "most absurd of all the absurd stories that have been printed about that case."

SILVER QUESTION IN ENGLAND.

Gladstone Confident that No Serious Crisis Will Occur.

LONDON, Aug. 4.—In the House of Commons yesterday Sir Ellis Ashmead Bartlett, Conservative member for the Ecclesall Division of Sheffield, asked the government whether, since the stoppage of the free minting of silver in India, there has been, as stated, a depreciation in the value of securities held in England to the amount of £130,000,000; whether the supply of gold was not sufficient for the monetary requirements of trade, and what measures the government proposed to take to avert a financial crisis.

Prime Minister Gladstone replied that he did not know how to ascertain the truth of the assertion that a decline to the amount referred to had taken place in the value of securities held in England. He did not believe that the supply of gold was insufficient for trade requirements, and he could not announce measures to avert a crisis that he did not believe would occur.

NEW POSTMASTERS.

Still Another Batch in the Fourth Class Grade Announced.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—The total number of fourth class postmasters appointed yesterday was 97 of which 42 were to fill vacancies caused by resignations and deaths. Among the appointments were the following:

At Buffalo—Buffalo, 14; Providence, 7.

Small Bills Scarce.

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—The overshadowing feature of the financial situation has come to be the scarcity of currency. From all over the county there has been such a continual demand for bills of small denomination, and New York has responded so freely to the requests of out of town banks, that now the metropolis itself is suffering from what very closely approaches a currency famine. For several days money brokers have been offering premiums of from $2.50 to $10 per $1,000 for small bills of $20 and under and yesterday the bids were $20 and $25.

World's Fair Directors Under Bonds.

CHICAGO, Aug. 4.—The bonds of the World's Fair officials found guilty by Judge Stein of contempt of court in violating the Glingman injunction by closing the Fair to the public Sunday, July 23, were filed yesterday, thereby suspending proceedings pending the action of the Appellate Court. The case in which the parties are held to answer cannot take precedence on the Appellate Court calendar, and at the earliest possible time will not be called before the end of next October.

The Blockade Not Yet Raised.

LONDON, Aug. 4.—A dispatch from Bangkok, dated Thursday, says: "Nothing has been done yet to carry out the presumed instructions to the French officials to raise the blockade. Residents are still very anxious. The opinion is that Rear-Admiral Humann is receiving orders through Saigon, where the forward party is delaying in the hope that events may enable France to increase her demands.

Oil Well Supply Company.

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—Judgment for $28,788 has been entered against the Oil Well Supply Company of this city and Pittsburg, in favor of Naylor and Co., for ores and metals.

Senator Turpie's Condition Much Better.

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 4.—Senator Turpie's condition was much improved to-day, and his family announces that he will be able to attend the coming session of Congress.

Not a Candidate.

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—J. Sloat Fassett was in this city yesterday. He said the report that he would be a candidate for State Senator this Fall was untrue.

A Big Bank Fails.

ST. PAUL, Aug. 4.—The National German American Bank, capital $2,000,000, failed to open its doors this morning.

WEATHER INDICATIONS.

For New Jersey: Showers To-Night and on Saturday; Stationary Temperature; Easterly Winds.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—The new fire department headquarters will be ready for occupancy about Oct. 1.

—The Dunellen Presbyterians and New Market Baptists, both Seventh-Day and First-Day, will join in an excursion to Ocean Grove next Tuesday, August 8.

—John Goff caught the prize fish of the season, at Highland Beach, yesterday. He was one of the Catholic Young Men's Lyceum excursionists, all of whom had a great and joyous day.

—Boroughites were amused last night to see on one of the unlighted thoroughfares a man running along the street with a lantern, showing the road to a bicycle beginner who was being boosted along by another man.

—In these days when finance is so uncertain, it is a comfort to feel that your property is well insured against loss by fire. J. C. Pope & Co., the old reliable fire insurance agents, are still in the Savings Institution, East Front-street, writing policies in only such companies as are sure to pay all just claims in full.

SOME GREAT SPORT TO-MORROW.

Base-Ball Kranks Will Have Several Special Treats.

The Brown brothers' crack team from Woodbridge will make the Crescents hustle on the North Plainfield diamond to-morrow. Besides the excellence of the visiting team, there will be other features to attract a crowd and please the kranks.

For instance, to see Freddie Jones catching again will be alone a treat. Rafferty has been loaned to Englewood, and won't be on duty with Keller's colts till next week. Jones will therefore forsake first base and return to his old-time position. McIndoe will cover first as of yore. Manager McLaughlin, of the Westfields, will fill the vacancy in left field.

The batting order of the visitors will be:

C. Brown, 2b.	W. Brown, 1b.
Anness, lf.	Simmen, ss.
D. Brown, p.	Callan, c.
A. Brown, 3b.	G. Brown, rf.
	Cook, cf.

The Crescents will play in Poughkeepsie next Wednesday, and Fishkill Thursday. They may give the Ellenville team a game Friday.

Don't be backward about attending the game to-morrow even if the sky is cloudy. In case rain breaks up the game storm checks good for another admission will be given. This will probably be the last game here before Labor Day, as the team has out-of-town dates to fill.

LATER.

McLaughlin can't come to-morrow, after all. A good substitute will be procured, perhaps an old Plainfield favorite.

TRADE BOARD'S HOUSE-WARMING.

Plans Under Discussion for an Elaborate Time in the Fall.

The decorations and furnishings of the Board of Trade building will be completed by Monday night, and the house will then be open for the use of members. No formal opening will be indulged in at present, but plans for an elaborate housewarming in September are being discussed by the House Committee, although no date has been chosen as yet. The house will be very comfortable and attractive when all is finished, and the members will have a convenient and cheerful club to drop into when they feel so disposed.

Giving Westfield Gas a Chance to Grow.

The Sargent Gas Machine Company has been incorporated at Westfield, with a capital of $50,000. The machines will be manufactured at the Irving mill, on Central avenue, which has been run for a year past as an experimenting shop. Mr. Sargent considers that he now has the machine past the experimental stage and can guarantee its working.

Church Picnic at the Lake.

The Trustees of the Church of the Heavenly Rest will take the Sunday-school for their annual picnic, to-morrow. They will go by three stages to the grove at New Market lake, where boats and fishing tackle have been engaged. The Women's Friendly Society join in, and go at the same time.

Handy for the Thirsty Camps.

Dr. Cooper of Westfield has raised sufficient funds by subscription to erect a drinking fountain. It is to be located on Broad street in front of the Leader newspaper office.

HE BUILT CHRIST CHURCH.

LIKE HIS DIVINE MASTER, HE WAS CARPENTER AND PREACHER.

Good Jack Stewart Is Dead, and Will Be Buried from the Meeting-House He Reared.

Sad is the tidings for the friends left behind that Andrew Jackson Stewart has gone his long journey. He died at his home on West Fifth street at an early hour last night, surrounded by his sorrowing family. His illness had been of considerable duration, but last week he was considered to be greatly improved, and served Communion in Christ church Sunday. But the change was only temporary; his span of life had been run, and he passed gently away leaving a clear record behind him.

The departed was a plain citizen, an honest man. Everyone knew and esteemed him. To all he was sturdy Jack Stewart, and he was always active and busy in spite of his 66 years. By trade he was a carpenter and stair-builder, and a mighty good one. A thing that was built by Jack Stewart was sure to be substantial and right. His last notable work was the new First Church of Christ building, on Grove street by the bridge. He was a faithful officer of the church, and was its architect and builder; designed the structure, and was its chief workman in fashioning it with hands.

And now he is to be buried from the church which he built. In the stillness of the Sabbath afternoon, his silent clay will be borne to the sanctuary he loved so well, and loved ones will gather there to hear the words of eulogy and comfort from the preacher. His dust will be laid at rest, and his life-record and the church he reared will form a lasting monument to his memory.

Mr. Stewart leaves a wife, a son, William, and a daughter, Lizzie, who is Mrs. Frederick Canfield. He was born in Washington Valley, where his father, William Stewart, kept the Washington Valley Hotel, now Demler's. William was better known as Judge, having presided over the Somerset County Court. George, Abel and Warren Stewart are brothers of the deceased; and Mrs. E. Wilson, of Washington Valley, and Mrs. S. Hedden, of North Plainfield, are sisters.

ANOTHER SAD AFFLICTION.

Death of F. A. Miller, the Well-known West End Druggist.

Frederick A. Miller, who kept a drug store at 202 Muhlenberg place, died this morning in his forty-fourth year. He was comparatively a new-comer in Plainfield, having been in business here but five years, but he had won many friends and patrons, and by his untiring industry had built up a prosperous establishment. He was one of the kindest of men, and besides his devotion to his family he had the quality of true charity—helping the needy in secret, out of the goodness of his heart. Many a poor person will cherish his memory for the deeds of kindness he bestowed.

Mr. Miller came to Plainfield from Paterson. A widow and two lovely daughters mourn the untimely end of the husband and father cut down in the prime of life.

HE NEVER CAME BACK.

Grocer's Clerk John Davis Is Mourned $200 Worth, in Ripleyville.

John W. Davis couldn't resist the World's Fair fever, and stole to go. John was a grocery clerk, and for two years drove a wagon for W. W. Gilby of Westfield. Last Saturday he went away, promising to return Monday. He failed to come back at the time stated, but no special importance was attached to the matter until yesterday, when Mrs. Corkright, who had given Davis $35 to hand to Landlord Whitaker to pay her rent, asked why she had not received a receipt. Mr. Whitaker said that the money had not been given to him. Inquiry revealed the fact that Davis had made preparations to leave Westfield for good. He procured clothing from the tailors and gave them worthless checks, and also bought shoes in the same way. Wherever he could get a friend to cash a check for him he did so. Altogether, including Mrs. Corkright's rent money, he secured nearly $200 before leaving town. He had been greatly excited over the World's Fair, and it is believed that he went direct to Chicago.

Pyquette's Cow in Soukup's Corn.

Mrs. Vydelle Pyquette was assaulted by J. Soukup, in Dunellen, while driving her cow home from pasture. It seems that the cow had got into Soukup's corn, and when he found it out he attempted to take the animal away from its owner and drive it to the pound. Mrs. Pyquette held her own, and was a little too much for Soukup, who, finding he was foiled in his attempt to get the cow to the pound, began to abuse the woman with vile language. She had him arrested and taken before Justice Storms, who made him give bonds to appear before the Grand Jury at New Brunswick at the September term of court.

The American Catarrh Cure

Is the result of twenty-six years' study and treatment of the disease. One bottle convinces the most skeptical. It is always ready for use, needing neither douche nor atomizer. It restores the hearing, cures the hawking cough and expectorating, removes the headache and nose bleeding, increases the appetite, produces sound sleep, invigorates the whole system and increases the vitality. Prepared only by W. B. Jones, M. D., No. 1336 South Eighth street, Philadelphia. For sale by F. W. Randolph, 21 West Front street. Price $1.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

A. S. Patterson, of 143 East Seventh street, is home from Water Mill, L. I.

Walter Winans, the Prohibition leader, will preach in the Dunellen M. E. church next Sunday morning.

The family of B. O. Bowers have gone to Asbury Park, where they will remain for awhile at the Minot House.

Mrs. George H. Rockafellow and daughter Cecil Helen, of West Fifth street, are spending a few days in the country.

Counselor and Mrs. John Ridley, of Second place, are enjoying the summer days at Pine Bush, Orange county, N. Y.

The sea breezes sweeping over Branchport refresh and invigorate the family of John M. Crane, sojourners at the Norwood Hotel.

George Witherspoon, of East Front street, will manage the tour of the actress Kathrine Clemmens, and company, the coming season.

Mrs. R. G. Randolph and Miss B. A. Randolph, of 52 Westervelt avenue, are visiting in Sandusky, Ohio, on their way to the World's Fair and the far West.

Patients of Dr. F. C. Ard who are anxious to resume treatment under his charge will be glad to learn that he will return August 15 from his vacation at Westfield, N. Y.

Miss M. M. Godown, of 141 East Fifth street, left last evening on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad for Chicago. She will be gone three weeks, and will visit her sister, Mrs. H. A. Leland.

The Rev. F. Fletcher, of the New Market First-Day Baptist church, will occupy the Dunellen Presbyterian pulpit Sunday morning, the Rev. A. L. Martine having exchanged with him for that occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Leland, of Grandview avenue, have the sincerest sympathy of The Press and a host of friends in the death of their bright and promising little daughter, Sadie M., age eight months.

Peter C. Staats, Dunellen's new postmaster, is a most excellent and worthy man, and his appointment gives satisfaction to a wide circle of friends. Mr. Staats was formerly in the employ of Christian Scheidin, and later was engaged on the new Babcock building.

Excellent pulpit selections have been made by the Committee on Supplies of the Trinity Reformed church for the coming Sundays. The Rev. Dr. Isaac P. Brokaw of Freehold will preach August 6, the Rev. D. Charles Preyer of Newark Aug. 13, and the Rev. Dr. K. P. Ketcham August 20. The church will be closed August 28, undergoing repairs and cleaning.

Bret Harte, whose family are well known Plainfielders, cannot work except in seclusion, and when he is busy on a story he will hide himself away in some suburban retreat known only to his closest friends. Here he will rise just after dawn, be at his desk several hours before breakfast, and remain there, with an interval of an hour for a walk, the whole day. When he finishes his book, whatever it may be, he hands it to his publisher, and considers his work at an end, for he dislikes the reading of proofs as much as Byron disliked punctuating his verses.

EXCITEMENT OVER A FIT.

George Giles of Fanwood Can't Stand the City Air.

George Giles, who lives on the Westfield road beyond Fanwood, was taken with a fit in the vestibule of Charles Smith's saloon this morning about 10:45. He fell backward, and struck his head on one of the swing doors, bruising himself considerably. He was removed to a side room, and cared for by some of the men in the saloon. The man did not seem intoxicated, and had had only two drinks while in Smith's saloon, but seemed to be suffering from some mental disorder, as when he was propped up on a pillow he cried loudly for some one to help him. When he had sufficiently recovered he was taken home in a cab.

Repairing the Steeple.

The work of repairing the steeple of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church is proceeding finely under the direction of Master Carpenter T. O. Doane. The stonework of the tower ends at a height of 70 feet, and above that all is wood. The steeple had not been repaired since built, and some of the timbers were in bad condition. One of the finials was several inches out of plumb. Mr. Doane rigged a scaffold, and the church Board of Trustees climbed up to examine. They gave him unlimited authority to do the right thing, and he is renewing some of the woodwork which had decayed and is having the boards sheathed with tin.

Salt-Water Days at the Grove.

The famous old-time resort, Florida Grove, is still doing a big business at the old stand; and Proprietors P. Fligen & Son, who have so long and successfully managed the place, are looking out for the comfort and delight of all comers. They announce that August 5, 12, 19 and 26 will be Salt-Water Days, and August 31 Salt-Water Day for the colored people. They provide every facility for perfect enjoyment of the Grove.

Wrestling With a Barrel.

Bartender Lou Coleman of the Hotel Grenada bet Expressman Rickett $5 that he could haul a 520-lb barrel of whiskey out of the cellar, unassisted, by a single rope. As this paper is put to press the barrel is half-way up, after a tussle of one hour.

Picturesque Route to the Fair.

No other line offers the variety of scenic interest between New York and Chicago that is enjoyed by World's Fair tourists via the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad. Passing through Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, the capital of the nation, and by way of Harper's Ferry and the historic Potomac Valley to the Allegheny mountains, which are crossed at an elevation of 3,000 feet above the sea, the traveler sees the arena of the activity of the nation as well as the principal historical features and scenic wonders of the East. SUN-LIGHT and FRESH AIR are THE BEST DISINFECTANTS, of course; but you can't apply them in every situation. What next? Well, that depends. For damp cellars use Quicklime, plenty of it. For vaults and cesspools use COPPERAS; cheap stuff; we sell it by the pound or hundred-weight—instructions thrown in. For kitchen sinks, for water-closets, for house plumbing, for the sick room, to deodorize discharges, to purify the air and to prevent contagion, use REYNOLDS'S ODORLESS DISINFECTANT. THAT'S THE KIND OF STATESMAN

Congressman Dunn of Plainfield's District on Deck Early and Hustling for the Public Welfare.

Representative Dunn, of Elizabeth, was the first of the New Jersey Congressional members in Washington. Mr. Dunn was one of the early callers on Speaker Crisp, and then went on a hunt for some place to stay during the session of Congress. He wants a place in the suburbs, as he says the weather is too warm to stay in the city. In his conference with Speaker Crisp, Mr. Dunn presented the claims of one of the Republican members of the New Jersey delegation for a place on one of the committees, which this member particularly desires. Mr. Dunn would not give away either the name of the member or the committee, because, he said, he might not succeed in his undertaking, and he did not want the matter to have undue publicity.

When asked as to his own preference for committee assignments, Mr. Dunn said he would be satisfied to serve wherever the Speaker placed him. Like everybody else, Mr. Dunn is for the repeal of the Sherman law, and is prepared to urge measures for immediate financial relief.

Representative Geissenhainer arrived after Mr. Dunn, and registered at the Arlington. He will have a conference to-day with Speaker Crisp. There seems to be no doubt that Mr. Geissenhainer will be made a Chairman, and may get the Immigration Committee.

PLAINFIELD TAKE WARNING.

That New Law Against Contaminating Streams Is Dangerous to Trifle With.

The Westfield Board of Health, through its Secretary, John M. C. Marsh, caused the arrest of Charles Hickel for throwing the carcass of a horse into Branch Mills Brook. The arrest was made under the sanitary code. Judge Collins fined Hickel $20 and costs. Under a law passed at the last session of the Legislature the pollution of a stream in this manner is punishable by a fine of not more than $1,000 or imprisonment for not more than two years. The Board will probably prefer charges against Hickel before the next Grand Jury under this law.

Half Rates and Fast Trains to Chicago Fair via Pennsylvania Railroad.

The popular excursions to Chicago which are being run by the Pennsylvania Railroad seem to furnish exactly what the people want. The first two trains were well patronized, and as the vacation season is now well advanced the remaining excursions will undoubtedly attract a much larger number of passengers.

A decided improvement in the train schedule, which accelerates it so as to deliver the passengers in Chicago at an early hour the following afternoon, places the special train almost on an equality in the matter of speed with the best express trains.

The special trains are composed of the standard coaches for which the Pennsylvania Railroad is famous. Only one night is passed on the road, and the arrival in Chicago is so timed as to give abundant opportunity for engaging quarters before nightfall.

The dates of the next excursions are August 12 and 16. The special train will leave New York at 9 a. m., Jersey City 9:13, Philadelphia 11:30, Frazer 12:09 p. m., Downington 12:22, Parkesburg 12:41, Lancaster 1:25, Conewago 1:57, Harrisburg 3 p. m., arriving in Chicago early the next afternoon. The excursion rate, good only on the special train and valid for return within ten days, is $20 from New York, $18.25 from Philadelphia, and proportionately low from other stations.

No one should fail to visit the Fair with such facilities at hand.

Wishes of Success.

Editor Lowrie of the Dunellen Call reprints from these columns the recent announcement of change of management and says:

It is with pleasure that we print the following, taken from the Plainfield Press, Saturday edition. The words in commendation of the retiring editor we feel are richly deserved, and the words of praise in reference to the one who has been appointed to take his place are not too strongly drawn. May success attend Mr. Clarke in his enlarged field is the wish of the Call.

To Be Kept on Its High Plane.

[From The Westfield Leader.]

Walter Irving Clarke has succeeded J. A. Demarest (appointed Consul at Brockville, Can.,) as Managing Editor of the Plainfield Press. Mr. Clarke has been three years associate editor, in which position he has done excellent work. A native of the same Massachusetts city (Pittsfield) as the editor of the Leader, he has had a journalistic experience of nine successive years, and will keep the Press on its present high plane.

THE STROLLER'S NOTE-BOOK.

CRISP GLEANINGS FROM THE BOROUGH NEWS FIELD.

Personal and Impersonal Gossip About North Plainfield Matters Presented in Chatty Form.

The Borough Council meets to-night.

Somerset street has not yet been widened.

Amos Vail of Greenbrook says the apple crop will be light.

Master Eddie Becker is errand boy at Mundy's meat market.

Abram King of Brook avenue has gone into the insurance business.

One of Bill Frieze's sons is learning the baker's trade with Henry Voehl.

Freeholder Bullman is at the county seat to-day attending to public business.

Street Commissioner Gavin is having the top dressing placed on Brook avenue to-day.

John Adleman, the new Street Railway Superintendent, has many friends in the borough.

Assessor Cooley has about completed his yearly assessments. Did you hide your dorg?

Mrs. James McKee, of Goshen, N. Y., who is a sister of Mrs. Daniel Cory, is visiting friends here.

It required over thirty tons of crushed stone to dress the strip from the bridge to Front street on Somerset.

The parlors of Warren Engine Company are being nicely furnished by the committee appointed for that purpose.

The electric lights will do the night-blooming-cereus act very soon—at least, so says Tom Humble, the engineer.

You can hear the question asked "Who is going to be Senator?" nearly every day. The Stroller can suggest a name.

An entertainment will be given in Turn Verein Hall, August 10, by local talent, in aid of St. Joseph's Roman Catholic church.

Mr. and Mrs. William M. Wright left Plainfield yesterday for the mountains. Mr. Wright intends going in business in New York city in the fall.

The North Branch drummer boy who looks after the electric lights evenings has been having a picnic the past week on account of the lights not burning.

The hose tower now being built by Daniel Hullck in the rear of Warren engine-house looks like an Erie railway grain elevator. It is a veritable sky-scraper.

Calvin D. McMurtry, of Somerville, Secretary of the Somerset County Agricultural Society, and a prominent Democrat of that county, is in town to-day on business.

Two Jenny Linds who are visiting Mrs. C. Frank French of Somerset street entertained a few friends last evening with choice vocal selections, which were well rendered.

There is a congregation anxious to use Justice Crosley's court-room Sundays to hold services in. The Council will probably allow them the privilege at its meeting to-night.

John Harkins, of New Brunswick, was in town yesterday representing the New Jersey Cigar Company. John has many warm friends here, and he's a jolly, jovial, good person to meet.

John Becker, Jr., of Somerset street, receives every week all the Denver papers. The Colorado editorials would amuse almost any Eastern man these times. They're full of silver.

The wooden bridge across the brook at the end of Westervelt avenue was sold to W. C. Smith of Washington Valley for $15. The new iron bridge to take its place will soon be in position.

Newton Smalley now owns a five-year-old son of the celebrated Whips, which horse was a son of Electioneer. He is California-bred, and comes from the late Senator Stanford's Palo Alto farm at Menlo Park.

Andrew E. Kenney leaves Plainfield tomorrow for Cincinnati, where he has been ordered to report by the Emerald Benevolent Society's executive officers. He expects to return to Plainfield the latter part of September, for another brief visit.

W. F. Williams, who is connected with Peter C. Kellogg, the great horseman and auctioneer, is the best posted man in this country on trotting stock. He is an encyclopedia on sire, son and dam of all the great trotters that have ever been bred.

Fred Hut was out with a party in a yacht off Far Rockaway, fishing for bluefish, Monday. They caught over 300 pounds; and Fred says a 15-pound bluefish is all he wanted to tote home for his share. The balance was sold at 7 cents a pound.

Well Equipped for His Duties.

[From The Newark Advertiser.]

Walter Irving Clarke, a clever young newspaper man, who began his career as an editor on an amateur paper, has succeeded to the managing editorship of the Plainfield Daily Press, left vacant by the departure of James A. Demarest for Brockville, Ont., where he has been appointed consul. Mr. Demarest's association with The Press has covered a period of useful work during fifteen years. Mr. Clarke is well equipped for his new duties on our bright and lively contemporary.

She Doesn't Want Much.

Mrs. Stone has rendered a bill against the James Todd estate, Dunellen, for $7,500. Among the items are 62 weeks board at $5 per week and 62 months rent of a tenement house.

'Twill Be a Beauty Show.

All Dunellen is planning for the great tent bazar of the M. E. Epworth League, August 22, 23 and 24. Among the features will be a promenade concert.

I feel it my duty to say a few words in regard to Ely's Cream Balm, and I do so entirely without solicitation. I have used it more or less half a year, and have found it to be most admirable. I have suffered from catarrh of the worst kind ever since I was a little boy and I never hoped for cure, but Cream Balm seems to do even that. Many of my acquaintances have used it with excellent results. Oscar Ostrum, 45 Warren ave., Chicago, Ill.

OH, THAT THIS IS TRUE!

All Will Rejoice in the Prospects of Cheaper Coal.

There is a very fair prospect—says the Washington, Warren county, Star—of our having cheap coal this winter. In the month of June the production was more than 4,100,000 tons or equal to the amount which is sent to market in the busiest autumn month. Such an output in summer means that the carrying companies do not intend to restrict production. A coal war will ensue before the end of the year unless there is a change. The New York companies have the notion that the Reading's stock of coal will be thrown on the market, and are shipping and selling all the coal they can previous to that event. Up to this time the Reading has withheld her large supply of coal from the market unless purchased at full rates, but it cannot continue. The road must have money and this is the most direct way of obtaining it. It is reported that outside brokers are cutting rates fifty cents per ton and it is believed that the regular coal agents will be forced to reduce prices. It looks as if coal would be very cheap from September on. The closing down of manufacturing establishments and the depression of the iron trade do not seem to be taken into account by the prophets who are predicting that 45,000,000 tons of coal will be shipped this year, which is 3,000,000 more than in 1892.

Gone to His Reward.

[From The Dunellen Call.]

The Rev. Marcus Ward Smalley was well known in this community, having been for several years associated in Sabbath-school work with the members of the Presbyterian church. Some few years ago he left Dunellen to attend the school at Chicago under the direction of Evangelist Dwight L. Moody, from which in time he graduated with the title of Rev. prefixed to his name. He immediately went south and took charge of an important church of the Baptist denomination in one of the large cities of Texas, where he labored with great success. During his ministry there he returned north for a vacation, and when he returned he took with him as companion for life Miss Jennie Runyon, daughter of Augustus Runyon, to whom he was married from her father's home in the presence of a large concourse of friends and relatives. This spring Mr. Smalley came north to secure some rest and recuperate after a winter's work, but the rest he was to obtain was not such as 'friends living might desire. He had fought the fight, he had run the race, and his reward was not to be of earth but of heaven. Attended by loving hands he passed away, and his weeping companion and parents could say:

"Sleep on, beloved; sleep and take thy rest;
We loved thee still, but Jesus loved thee best."

Where Lake and Ocean Breezes Blow.

In selecting a seashore home, the location of the house is a first consideration. At Asbury Park, in the popular North Asbury section, is a house that has every essential point in its favor. This is the Al Paso, situated at 304 Sixth avenue, very near the boardwalk and with a broad open beach before it, across which the refreshing sea-breeze has full sway. The Al Paso is also convenient to the Fifth Avenue station of the Jersey Central, and the electric cars stop at the corner close by. Sunset Lake is one side, and Deal Lake on the other. The proprietor, Mrs. J. E. Chapman, whose husband was until his death some years ago a lawyer in Plainfield, is very faithful in looking after the wants of her patrons. Rooms may be engaged for the remainder of the season on excellent terms.

Kept His Wits and Saved His Party.

A company of young people, including George Craig and the Misses Ace, were boating on New Market lake, Tuesday. The boat capsized, and the entire party were thrown into the water. The Dunellen Call says that Mr. Craig had all he could do, although the water was not very deep, to keep his party from drowning, but fortunately he managed to get the boat righted and one by one his little party were put back into their places.

Wheelmen, Keep Off the Walks!

A young man while riding his wheel on the New Market sidewalk the other night ran into and knocked down Mrs. Frank Gaskill. She was somewhat injured and suffered considerably from pain in the head. The riding of bicycles on the sidewalk, especially after dark without a lantern, even in the rural districts, is to be condemned, and the offending cyclist could be held for injuries sustained whether the right to use sidewalks in country places is prohibited by ordinance or not.

Talk to Men of Brass and Iron.

Thomas Elgar, Prison Evangelist, will speak at the Y. M. C. A. meeting next Sunday at 4:15 p. m. The Public Ledger of Philadelphia says that over 2,000 people heard him speak under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. at Chester, Pa. "Gates of Brass, and Bars of Iron" will be his subject. His addresses are said to be of thrilling interest. All men are invited.

The Prettiest Baby in Plainfield.

There is a chance for some one of the many pretty babies in this city to have a present of $50, as that sum is offered for the first prize, with smaller yet liberal amounts for other prizes, to the prettiest babies who have used lactated food; full particulars forwarded free by Wells, Richardson & Co., Burlington, Vt., sole proprietors of lactated food, known in hundreds of homes as "the food that saves babies' lives." This food should be used by every baby during the dangerous summer months.

SUSPICIOUS DEATHS ON SHIPBOARD.

DR. JENKINS HOLDS THE KARAMANIA FOR DEVELOPMENTS.

Immigrants from Naples Ordered to Hoffman Island—No Cause for Alarm, But Cautionary Measures Adopted.

NEW YORK, August 4.—The Anchor Line steamship Karamania, which arrived yesterday from Naples with 475 steerage passengers, lay off Quarantine this morning displaying a yellow flag. The ship was strictly quarantined, no one save the Health Office physicians being permitted to board her. This was on account of the three suspicious deaths which occurred during the voyage, two of them yesterday, when the vessel was almost in, and the bodies buried hastily at sea. The fact that the vessel came from a cholera-infected port gave rise to the rumor that the deaths were due to cholera.

Health Officer Jenkins visited the ship this morning, and said that while he hesitated even to use the term cholera, still he considered the circumstance of the deaths sufficiently suspicious to warrant his holding the vessel for the full period necessary for the development of the disease. The minimum period of detention would be five days, and the vessel during that time would be strictly quarantined, and the passengers transferred either to Hoffman Island or Swinburn Island for surveillance.

Dr. Jenkins said that he had a long consultation with the ship's physician. Since the bodies had been buried at sea, it was, of course, impossible to determine the cause of death by an autopsy. He could only hold the vessel for the development of fresh cases.

According to the statements of the ship's physician, Dr. Jenkins said, the deaths were due to acute diarrhœa. When asked why the bodies had been buried in such extreme haste, when almost in sight of land, the physician said there was no ice on board, and that he did not consider it advisable to keep the bodies.

Dr. Jenkins' deprecated any reports tending to cause alarm, but in the absence of any positive proof as to the cause of the deaths he would keep the vessel in strict quarantine.

FORESTERS TO CELEBRATE.

100 Plainfield Followers of Robin Hood to Have a Big Demonstration.

The Court of the Ancient Order of Foresters in this city is making preparations to participate in the great demonstration to be held in Newark, August 15.

It is estimated that about 7,000 men will be in line. The figures that the committee announces are as follows: Jersey City, 5,000; Hoboken, 3,500; Elizabeth, 2,500; Paterson, 1,000; Passaic, 1,000; Rutherford, Boiling Springs and Arlington, 1,400; Perth Amboy, 1,500; Rahway, 100; New Brunswick, 200; Trenton, 1,500; Plainfield, 100; Dover, 80; Asbury Park, 75; Camden, 125; Hackensack, 2,000; Newark, 4,000.

To the above numbers may also be added the uniformed rank of the order, known as Conclaves: Empire, New York city, 200; Washington, Brooklyn, 125; Lexington, Brooklyn, 80; Enterprise, Jersey City, 75; Kings Bridge, New York, 60; Bayonne, Bayonne, 40; Catarnet, Paterson, 65; Newark, Newark, 40. A grand total of 7,763 men uniformed and otherwise.

The parade will move promptly at 1. General orders governing the parade will be issued in a few days, when all the courts are heard from. The meeting places of the various Courts of Forestry in Newark will be open from early morning for the reception of visiting Foresters, and Chairman Fallon and his assistants are arranging to make their guests as much at home as possible.

A Half Dozen Trade Makers.
THAT YOU NEED EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR.

Leave Plainfield and you hear of dull times. Funny you don't hear of that around here. Only reason is we are out after the business and if we can't sell goods for profit, will sell for fun.

Have you heard of our sale of 25c Muslin Underwear for Ladies? There are Night Dresses, Skirts, Chemise, Drawers and Corset Covers; never made for a quarter, but that's all we ask for them.

And then our 50c line is something great. There are Hamburg-trimmed Night Dresses, Shirts and Drawers that the manufacturer wanted more for, but he wanted cash and we bought them at our own price.

A Hosiery Bargain—And only for a few days we will sell a Hermsdorf dye stocking for ladies that cost to import $3 per doz., for 23c. pair.

Gentlemen, here's one for you—an extra fine half-hose in tans, best ever made, and the price, 23c., is a low one.

Table Linen and Towels—We picked up a lot of Table Linen at a price that will sell them as quick as we bought them. One lot at 25c., one at 37c., and one at 44c.

Granite Ironware Sale—If you are a housekeeper you will be interested in this sale. No better ware made and the prices are just what you pay for tinware. There are many other bargains in this department that we are anxious to sell and they go for little money.

A BIG SHOE BARGAIN!
We have picked up a lot of Ladies' White Canvas Oxford Ties
Worth at least $2 a pair. Our price 98c. to clear them out. Buy quick as this one lot is all we will have.

" " " " " $1, worth $1.25.
" Double Hemstitched Windsor Ties 35c., worth 50c.
" Men's Colored Embroidered Handkerchiefs 10c, worth 15c.
" Brown Linen Crash, extra heavy twill, 10c., worth 15c.
" Bleached Table Linen 38c., worth 50c.
" Unbleached Table Linen 38c., worth 50c.
" Ladies' White Embroidered Handkerchiefs 17c., worth 25c.
" Ladies' Fast Black Hose 7c., worth 10c.
" Children's " " all sizes, 10c., worth 15c.
" Golden Gloss (small) 16c., worth 25c.
" " " (large) 31c., worth 50c.

In order to reduce stock before moving to the new Babcock building, we will offer at greatly reduced prices about 250 articles of Footwear, all good reliable goods on which we give the same guarantee as if you paid full value for them.

Most of these goods we have marked down to the cost of manufacture, or below. This is the first opportunity ever offered in Plainfield to buy good reliable goods at such prices, but we take this method of reducing stock, as we prefer the cash to moving the goods.

CHILDREN'S BUILDING.

A World's Fair Structure of Extraordinary Interest.

Description of Its Most Attractive and Utilitarian Features — Where the Babies Are Cared For—A Collection of Pledges.

No one who is interested in children can fail to find much interest in the Children's building at the fair, and we doubt not that some who do not include themselves in that category will give more than a passing glance. The building is prettily decorated on the outside and is built with an open court in the center, extending to the second story.

In this court are various appliances for gymnastic exercises, which boys and girls enjoy alike. Here at certain hours of the day, a class in physical exercise is led by a teacher. As one watches the children go through the movements of arms, legs, feet and heads, one longs to join them and cannot but feel that their muscles will be developed and more graceful actions will be the result of such work.

On the second floor are several rooms, devoted to sloyd, a model kindergarten, kitchen garden, the teaching of deaf and dumb children to speak, etc. In each of these, practical demonstrations are given at different hours of the day.

Where many of the visitors linger the longest is the roof of the building, which is the children's playground. Here, protected from the sun by an awning and from all danger of falling to the ground by wire netting six feet high around the edge, a group of merry boys and girls were playing. Some were sliding down a parlor toboggan, laughing heartily as one and another slipped, coming together in a heap. Others were sitting in little chairs amusing themselves in other ways or talking with the visitors, for whom benches were provided. Each child child wore attached to its clothing a brass tag with a number. This serves to identify the child by its mother, who is enjoying the fair in comfort, feeling that her child is being cared for in comfort, with no fears that its health will be endangered by heat or fatigue.

On the lower floor are the rooms where the babies are cared for. Dainty cradles and rugs for those who are old enough to sit alone, with rattles and other suitable playthings, are provided in abundance, to be viewed, however, through glass doors. Very wisely, visitors are not allowed in these rooms except by special permission. Many cases arranged around the walls are filled with toys and children's books. In the upper halls are also specimens of children's work, drawings, etc. One very creditable painting is marked the work of a little girl thirteen years old.

In one room the red, blue and green temperance pledge cards which have been signed by children throughout the country are festooned in graceful loops. Altogether, we think many will find this a spot of great interest.

The Rock That Moses "Smote."

The famous "Rock in Horeb," anciently called the "Rock of Massah," and at present known throughout the orient as the "Stone of the Miraculous Fountain," being the identical rock which Moses struck with his rod in order to give water to the children of Israel, is religiously preserved and guarded even down to this late date. Dr. Shaw in his book, "Shaw's Travels," page 252, says: "It is a block of granite about six yards square, lying tottering and loose in the middle of the valley of Rephidim, and seems to have originally been a part of Mount Sinai." The action of the waters of that miraculous fountain, as related in the 17th chapter of Exodus, hollowed a channel about 2 inches deep and more than twice that broad across the face of the rock, this not upon unsupported testimony, but upon the word of such men as Rev. Dr. Shaw, Dr. Pocock, Lieut. Clogher and other eminent scholars and travelers. M. Beauingorton, a German nobleman who visited the "Rock of Horeb" in the year 1507, declares his belief in the generally accepted story of it being the rock of Moses' famous fountain. See "Churchill's Collection of Voyages," volume 2, page 337.

A Snake Laboratory Founded.

An enlightened Bengali, Babu Govind Chandra Laha, has contributed 15,000 rupees toward the expenses of a snake laboratory at Calcutta. Two main lines of research will be followed in the laboratory. So-called cures for snake bites will be tested under strictly scientific conditions, and the properties of the snake poison as such will be investigated. The laboratory will be the only institution of its kind in the world, and the committee of the Calcutta Zoological gardens which has taken the matter in hand expects that it will be largely resorted to by the scientific inquirers who visit India during cold weather. In accordance with the practice of scientific laboratories in Europe a charge will be made for the use of tables and instruments at a rate sufficient to cover working expenses. Work done on behalf of the government will also be charged for according to a regular scale.

Then and Now.

In the monster newspaper printing presses of to-day the roll of paper is from four to six miles long, and the daily papers using such presses are legion in number. When Benjamin Franklin proposed to start a newspaper his mother tried to dissuade him from the undertaking, urging that there were already two papers in America and there was no room for another.

An Experienced Attendant.

First Waif (at the mission)—Why did yer ask the preacher to tell us a story wid er moral?

Second Waif—'Cause them's always th' mos' interestin' ones. They pick out the good ones to make th' morals go down easy, an' we're near 'nough to th' door to slip out 'fore the moral comes.—Good News.

Not at All Lazy.

Housekeeper—Why don't you go to work, you lazy vagabond?

Tramp—Lazy, mum? Do you call a man wot tramps from here to San Francisco an' back, year in an' year out, lazy? I think, mum, gents like me displays considerable energy.—N. Y. Weekly.

GHERARDI HONORED.

Presented with a Rare Loving Cup by Russian Officers.

Rear Admiral Bancroft Gherardi, of the United States navy, who commanded the international naval squadron during the recent review in New York harbor, has received a most delightful surprise at the hands of the admiral and officers of the Russian fleet. In appreciation of the many kind attentions shown them during the review and their visit in New York waters, they have presented to the American admiral a rare Russian loving cup of the most exquisite workmanship.

The cup is five and one-half inches high, three and a-half inches in diameter at the top, and two and one-half inches at the base. It is of transparent enamel, with a gold framework and has never been successfully imitated in the United States.

The exterior is divided into six sections, one containing the standing figure of a hunter reloading his musket, another a multicolored crane, another plants and flowers in decorative arrangement, and so on. The general ornamental scheme is Slavonic, with a suggestion of rococo.

Tiffany has made for it a handsome oak box, highly polished and lined with white satin. On the cover is a silver plate with the following inscription:

To REAR ADMIRAL BANCROFT GHERARDI
From
Vice-Admiral N. Kaznakoff and captains and officers of H. I. M.'s cruisers Dimitru Donskoy, General Admiral and Rhynda in remembrance of the Naval Review in New York Harbor.
1893.

Naturally Admiral Gherardi feels highly honored at being so remembered by the gallant Russians, and will always value the cup, not for its intrinsic value, but for the good will and fellowship which accompanies the gift.

Uncle Silas Got Even.

"I tell you," said Uncle Silas, "city folks is full o' their jokes an' things, but I guess yer uncle kin keep up with 'em most o' the time."

"Somebody been joking with you?" asked the new boarder.

"Yes. Thet is to say, a young feller thort he was. He was out yistiday an' missed his dinner. It was purty dusty, but that wasn't any excuse fur his bein' sarcastic 'bout the neighborhood."

"But what did he say?"

"Wal, I asked him where he had been, an' he says: 'I've bin out scourin' the country.' 'Bin out scourin' it?' says I. 'Yes,' says he. 'Wal,' says I, 'ef ye'll step into the kitchen maybe ma'll give ye a towel, so's ye kin go back an' dry it off.'"—Washington Star

Mrs. S. W. White

Tells of a family blessing.

Thus she writes to Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I suffered for 10 years with female complaints of the worst form, accompanied by severe spinal trouble, causing incessant backache, weakness of the stomach, and nervousness.

MRS. S. W. WHITE

"I gave up all hope of ever being well again. Just then I began to take:—

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I followed your directions and treatment until I am now a perfectly well woman.

"I gave it to my two daughters, aged 14 and 16 years, and they are fine, healthy girls.

"It is surely a blessing to our family."—816 Holly St., West Philadelphia, Pa.

THE SILVER PROGRAMME

Bland Will Introduce a Free Coinage Bill.

THE SHERMAN ACT IMPERFECT

Contestants for Seats Arrive at Washington—Republican House Caucus To-Night. Reed to Be Nominated for Speaker. Where is All the Small Currency?

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—As soon after Congress meets as it becomes practicable Mr. Bland, the leader of the silver forces in the House, will introduce a bill embodying the views of the silver men. It will provide for the repeal of the Sherman purchasing act and substitute therefor the free coinage of silver at the present ratio of 16 to one. "That," said Mr. Bland," will be the gound upon which we will make the fight, although there has been no definite plan agreed upon."

He recognized that men could honestly differ as to the ratio, but that was a matter that should be settled in the party itself. Upon the use of both gold and silver as money at a parity the Democratic party could not differ. If a compromise measure increasing the ratio was reached, he said he saw no reason why the present dollar should not be kept in circulation as now. He proposed, however, with all his power to resist any increase in the ratio.

The attitude of the Treasury Department in refusing to buy silver was arbitrary and uncalled for, Mr. Bland said, but there was no ground for the talk that the Secretary could be impeached. The law gave him the discretion he was exercising and that was one of the mistakes of a law that was, as he looked at it, full of mistakes. He had warned the friends of silver on this very point when the bill came up for consideration in the House.

The Bland-Allison act was superior in that respect in that it did not give the secretary this power but required him to purchase a specific amount. If the United States, Mexico and South American countries together with the countries of Asia on our west, were to agree upon a common ratio, Mr. Bland thought we would have all the trade we wanted and would thereby force Europe to come to the use of silver as money.

Mr. Bland said that he had not seen the Speaker, and when it was suggested to him that some of his friends in the East would be glad to see him off the committee on coinage he only smiled and replied that they could not stamp rate run him off the floor of the House. The champion of silver declared that there would be a bitter fight against any attempt to change the rules so that a cloture provision might be incorporated.

Contested Seats.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—One of the first of the contestants for a seat in the House has arrived in Washington in the person of Mr. Belknap, Republican, of Michigan. Mr. Belknap is a contestant for the seat for the Fifth Michigan district and asserts that he was elected by the narrow margin of 19 votes. He has the certificate of the State court and claims that Mr. Richardson, his opponent, should have been required to make the contest but the clerk of the House has placed Mr. Richardson's name on the rolls and that puts the onus of the contest on Mr. Belknap. The latter, however, expects to have an objection entered when Mr. Richardson comes forward to take the oath of office and thus throw the case immediately into the hands of the committee on elections or a special committee appointed to deal with the matter.

The canvass for the nomination for the two contested places in the House organization was resumed again yesterday afternoon with renewed vigor by the candidates, the incoming of personal friends putting more life into the fight than has yet appeared.

Mr. Hurt, for the first time, is out with the positive statement that he will win in the race for doorkeeper, while Mr. Smith appears to beas sanguine as ever. Amos Cummings is doing some energetic work against Mr. Turner, of his State. The friends of Turner say that Mr. Cummings' opposition is due to personal reasons, and that it will not affect his canvass.

In the contest for sergeant-at-arms, Mr. Outhwaite and three other Ohio members, it was said, would repudiate Mr. Yoder's nomination if the State saw fit to endorse him, and fight him in the general caucus even to the extent of losing the State the place it held during the last Congress.

Small Currency.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—Treasury officials state that the Treasury is prepared to supply all the small currency wanted and the lack of such currency in certain sections of the country is accounted for by the supposition either that all money is scarce or that the banks have failed to procure of the Treasury the small notes needed for home consumption.

At no time in recent years has so much small money been sent to New York and the lack of small notes there cannot be accounted for here except on the theory that much of it is being hoarded by those who receive it, thus withdrawing it from active circulation.

New Postal Cards.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—Postmaster-General Bissell has awarded to C. C. Woolworth, of Castleton, N. Y., the contract for supplying the Department with postal cards for the next four years. The contract price for the single cards is .3287 per thousand and .6374 for the double cards. These are material reductions from the present prices and the saving for the four years is estimated at $280,000. The present qualities of the cards are to be maintained.

Gold Certificates.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—It is stated at the Treasury Department that there is no likelihood of the resumption of the issue of gold certificates until the free gold stands from seven to ten millions above the reserve. Their increase can only be authorized by the Secretary of the Treasury, who has not yet given instructions in that direction. The free gold is now $900,000.

Republican Caucus.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—Representative Thos. J. Henderson, Chairman of the Republican caucus, has issued a call for a caucus to meet in the rooms of the committee on judiciary, Saturday evening at 8 o'clock. It is said that ex-Speaker Reed will be honored with the complimentary vote of his party for the Speakership at the caucus but who the remaining candidates for the empty honors may be is not known.

The New York Collector.

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—The new collector of the Port, James T. Kilbreth, was formally installed in his office yesterday.

HIS LAST SPECULATION

A Chicago Board of Trade Man Shoots Himself.

CHICAGO, Aug. 5.—With the frosts of 60 years upon his head and no prospects for the future, Nelson Vankirk, a well-known operator in grain and provisions, shot and instantly killed himself yesterday. Shortly before 1 o'clock the occupants of the offices on the fourth floor of the Rialto building were startled by the report of a revolver which seemed to come from room 411, in the southwest corner, occupied by Vankirk, and in which one or two other operators had desk room. A rush was made for the office and the first of those who entered found the unfortunate man sitting at his desk with his head upon his breast and a stream of blood trickling down upon his shirt sleeves from an ugly hole in the right temple. Underneath the chair was the revolver, still smoking. He was still breathing although unconscious, but before the doctor, who had been summoned, reached the office, he had given a gasp and expired. The deed was evidently premeditated, as upon his desk was a sealed letter addressed to one of his daughters, who has been living with him at Evanston since the beginning of the summer.

About two weeks ago he was caught in the slump in wheat and compelled to announce his failure. The deceased was a widower and leaves several married children and one single daughter, the latter having attained considerable reputation as a singer.

MORE TRAVEL.

Low Railway Rates Increase World's Fair Business.

CHICAGO, Aug. 5.—All the Western roads are at present enjoying the sensation of witnessing a substantial increase in the amount of their passenger traffic. Every road in the Western Passenger Association is doing more business now than at any time since the opening of the Fair, and at least two of the roads which were strenuously opposed to a reduction of rates below 80 per cent. of the double locals are now denouncing themselves for not coming down at an earlier date.

The agents of the various Western lines are almost unanimous in reporting that the prospects for a continued increase of business are most favorable. This showing is a decided surprise to some of the lines which have been croaking about the financial stringency which alone, they claimed, has been keeping people back from the Fair. They are now carrying more passengers and are making more money from their passenger traffic than at any time since January 1.

DISGRACEFUL DANCING.

The World's Fair Authorities Investigate an Oriental Attraction.

WORLDS FAIR GROUNDS, CHICAGO, Aug. 5.—The pressure brought to bear on the Council of Administration to take some action in regard to the objectionable oriental dances on the Midway Plaisance, resulted in the issuing of instructions from that body to the Director General to immediately conduct a thorough investigation of the dances in question and report to the Council.

Major Pangborn, President of the Associated American Exhibitors, called the dances the "scum of the brothels of the Orient" before the National Committee and the Lady Managers yesterday placed themselves on record as being shocked by the immorality of the performances. Some of the ladies had been to see the dancers, as a matter of duty only.

DEFYING SATOLLI.

Colorado Catholics at Variance With the Pope's Representative.

DENVER, Aug. 5.—At the annual synod of the Diocese of Denver, held yesterday, Bishop Matz presiding, a resolution was passed approving the Bishop's school policy. Inasmuch as Mgr. Satolli only a month ago condemned the school policy of Bishop Matz in denying the Sacrament to children who attended the public schools, the resolution is a virtual condemnation of the action of the apostolic delegate.

The priests who refused to signed the resolution were forced to answer to the roll call and vote aye or nay in open synod.

Lumber Camp Burning.

BRADFORD, Pa., Aug. 5.—The lumber camp of Keshuqua, two miles east from the Kinzua bridge on the Erie railroad, is burning. Kane's big saw mill and boarding house and several tenements have already been destroyed and the fire has communicated to the lumber yards which contain millions of feet of lumber. Assistance was asked for from here and a steamer and hose company have left for the scene. The loss will be $100,000, covered by insurance.

Poor Anti-Slavery Work.

LONDON, Aug. 5.—The Berlin correspondent of of the Times says: "The work of the German Anti-Slavery Committee will shortly come to an end. The committee's funds, amounting to 2,000,000 marks, have been thrown away in two years without any appreciable result. This is partly owing to the incapacity and extravagance of Herr Bochert, the leader of the expedition to East Africa."

No Apology.

HONOLULU, July 18, via SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 5.—Charles Creighton, of whom an apology was demaned by the provisional government for insulting Minister Blount, has not yet replied, since the rejection of his proffered explanation and apology. The Royalists declare he will refuse to apologise further and that he still claims Blount is not offended and that the government is persecuting him.

After Thirty-two Years.

SING SING, N. Y., Aug. 5.—Official papers are received here for the pardon of Isinuael Freeman, colored, a life convict in Sing Sing prison, for murdering his wife in 1861. He has served under fifteen wardens, having been imprisoned 32 years. He left for New York, and from there will go to Mexico, where he lived when a boy.

Sheriff Indicted.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Aug. 5.—The grand jury yesterday indicted Sheriff McLendon, Deputy Sheriff J. A. Perkins, Jailer Harold and police captains Ghaver and Hackett for failing to do their duty in permitting Lee Walker to be taken from the jail and lynched and burned two weeks ago. Several of the members of the mob were also indicted.

NEW POSTMASTERS.

The Latest Batch for Four States Includes 118 Names.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—The total number of fourth-class postmasters appointed yesterday was 118, of which 35 were to fill vacancies caused by resignations and death. Among the appointments were the following:

Maine—Miss Alice E. Haines, Readfield; Mrs. Helen M. French, West Gardiner.

Massachusetts—H. W. Turner, Leeds.

New York—J. King, Barkers; J. C. Pickard, Byersville; James Gray, Colosse; J. J. Hall, East Branch; Dewitt Lindsay, Hess Road Station; F. A. Frost, Keeseville; Mrs. Johanna Hannigan, North Hartland; Eithan Stone, North Pembroke; L. H. Clark, North Russell; F. H. Jemmings, Palermo; M. V. F. Clemens, Redfield; S. F. Richards, Ridge Road; O. L. Hart, West Kill; Thos. Laing, Williamstown.

Pennsylvania—B. F. Boutcher, Abington; A. Griffith, Bridgeport; Lemuel Rose, Dillsburg; E. C. Krause, Limerick; J. B. Starr, West Conshohocken; H. G. Chrisman; Zeiglerville; Israel Whaley, Coventry.

Treasury Changes.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—Official changes are announced in the Treasury Department as follows:

Appointed—Gilbert B. Nelson, New York, and Andrew H. Pitchford, New Jersey, assistant inspectors of boilers, New York. Philip Smith, Massachusetts, assistant custodian United States postoffice and Sub-Treasury building, Boston, Mass.

Resigned—George Pattison, Chinese inspector; L. E. Timson, assistant custodian United States postoffice and Sub-Treasury building, Boston, Mass.

Removed—L. F. O'Neil and John H. Butler, assistant inspectors of boilers, New York. F. W. Winship, Chinese inspector.

Thomas Dissatisfied.

CHICAGO, Aug. 5. — The report that Theodore Thomas, director of music at the World's Fair, had resigned is denied by the World's Fair officials. Director General Davis said, so far as he knew, the report was false. If he has resigned, said Col. Davis, "I know nothing of it, but I do not think he has nor do I think there is danger that he will resign."

Couldn't Prove the Charges.

CHICAGO, Aug. 5.—H. Bertrand Nemitz, who came back to Chicago from Canada under a cloud raised by the Swiss Commissioner, M. Perrioud, has withstood the examination of his accounts and the jeweler's stock in the Swiss pavilion and his alleged persecutor has been unable to prove any of the criminal charges brought against the Swiss exhibitor's chosen representative at the Fair.

Paper Worth More Than Gold.

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—The scarcity of currency has led to a peculiar condition of affairs in Wall street. Yesterday a money brokerage concern at one and the same time was offering 1 per cent. premium for gold and 1 1-2 and 2 1-2 premium for currency so that the usually discredited money was worth more than the yellow metal.

A Job for Anderson.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—The President has appointed E. Ellery Anderson, of New York, one of the Pacific Railroad Commissioners in place of Mr. Dimmock, who was appointed by Mr Cleveland, but declined the position. The salary of a commissioner who is engaged in the performance of his duties is $10 per day with expenses.

William Wants a Yacht.

LONDON, Aug. 5.—Emperor William yesterday asked G. L. Watson, the designer of the Valkyrie and Britannia, whether he would undertake to build a yacht faster than any now afloat. What Mr. Watson replied is not stated.

Short Time.

EASTON, Pa., Aug. 5.—Orders were received at the Lehigh Valley shops yesterday putting every department on short time. Until further notice the shops will be run five days a week. About 400 men are affected.

TREATED LIKE CHOLERA

The Suspected Steamer at Quarantine.

HEALTH OFFICERS SAY LITTLE

Every Precaution Taken and All Suspicious Cases to be Investigated—Health Commissioner Edson Discusses the Situation and Offers Valuable Suggestions.

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—The steamship Karamania, on which three suspicious deaths occurred during her voyage from Naples to this port, still lies in Quarantine. Dr. Jenkins, the health officer, again visited the steamship yesterday and made another examination as to the matter of the supposed presence of cholera on the vessel.

Dr. Jenkins says that while he can find no evidence that cholera exists, or has existed, on the Karamania, he deems the circumstances sufficiently suspicious to hold the vessel and passengers until all doubts are removed.

Dr. Edson, Health Commissioner, sent out this order yesterday:

"CHARLES F. ROBERTS, Sanitary Superintendent:

"DEAR SIR: You are hereby directed to have the Chief Inspector of the Bureau of Contagious Diseases have all localities where deaths from diarrhoeal diseases occur visited forewith and a written report of the facts covering each case forwarded to you and filed in our office.

CYRUS EDSON, Health Commissioner."

"N. B. In case of adult deaths from these causes and in all suspicious deaths, material for bacterial research must be procured."

Dr. Cyrus Edson, Health Commissioner of this city, will say in the forthcoming issue of the American Druggist and Pharmaceutical Record: "It is to be regretted that some of the newspapers resort to sensational head lines, and thus unnecessarily alarm the public in connection with contagious and infectious diseases. While much good is accomplished through leading the people to observe the laws of sanitation in their own persons there is also much harm done through unreasoning fear and nervous dread which are caused by these sensational methods.

The mere fact that the Karamania was detained at quarantine yesterday should not be a source of great alarm, for never in the history of this country has its sanitary condition been so good.

"Cholera has been generally prevalent in the interior of Russia and in Asia ever since last year, and has been known to be epidemic in the south of France since March of this year. Its existence in Naples has recently come to life, though it has not yet become epidemic there. The north of Europe has been free of cholera since April, when some cases occurred in Laurient, one of the northern provinces of France. I have said that the sanitary condition of the United States in general is excellent, and this is more especially true of large cities. Since the great source of infection is the water used for drinking it is around this that the most stringent safeguards should be thrown. This has been fully recognized in the larger cities, and thanks to the energetic work of the various boards of health, there is little or no cause to fear as to impure drinking water. Sojourners at summer resorts, however, should exercise particular caution, as the drinking water used at these temporary places of residence is frequently contaminated, not at present with cholera germs, but with other germs of diseases which may weaken the system and so afford a lodging place for cholera germs should these be introduced later.

"That the health authorities of this city are able to combat the disease, even should it reach this country, a contingency which I scarcely class among the possibilities, was amply demonstrated in the way that the few cases were handled which appeared here last year, and further it may be said that the sanitary condition of the city is better now than it was then.

"There are just three points to bear in mind:

"First—That cholera can only be taken into the body by means of food or drink.

"Second—That even if taken into a healty stomach cholera germs are harmless, as the acid gastric juice at once kills and digests them.

Third—That they are certainly killed when submitted to the boiling temperature.

"Bearing these facts in mind, every person may face the problem 'if the cholera comes' with equanimity, feeling assured of his ability to care for himself."

QUARANTINE, Aug. 5.—Dr. Jenkins, with his deputy, Dr. Talmadge, visited the Karamania last night and inspected the passengers. All are well on board. The health officers then visited Hoffman and Swinburne islands. Owing to the extensive repairs in progress on Hoffman Island, the passengers will be taken to Hoffman Island first, where they will be bathed and then sent to Swinburne Island for observation. Arrangements have been completed to isolate them while bathing on Swinburne Island. One ward will be strictly isolated for patients should new cases develop.

The Anchor line people sent provisions to the boarding station. They were taken to the steamer on the steam launch under charge of the health officers employes.

Reducing Mexican Army.

CITY OF MEXICO, Aug. 5.—The Mexican army will be reduced by 5,000 men. There will be created at the same time a body destined to facilitate the organization of an auxiliary army sufficiently powerful for any emergency. The Mexican army at present numbers about 40,000 men.

Strike Ends.

PATERSON, N. J., Aug. 5.—The ribbon weavers in the employ of Levy Brosmet yesterday decided to strike against the reduction of 10 per cent. in their wages. The firm immediately issued an order closing the mill for four weeks. Two hundred hands were employed in the factory.

SAVAGE WAR IN SAMOA.

Human Heads Thrown About Like Base Balls.

APIA, Samoa, July 19, via San Francisco Aug. 5.—War broke out between Malietoa's and Mataafa's forces but was stopped of the three powers intervened and the fighting. Mataafa and his chiefs have surrendered. Mataafa's loss was 7 killed and 20 wounded.

Malietoa's army consisted of about one thousand fighting men armed with rifles, axes and long knives. This army with martial music, consisting of bagpipes, cornets, horns and drums, started on the morning of July 8 toward to the seat of war. Malietoa's army was far more powerful than Mataafa's having plenty of arms and ammunition and many more warriors. Malietoa also had the advantage in securing the aid of tribes which Mataafa had counted upon to back him. Although Mataafa had been disappointed in not securing allies, he would not surrender.

When the attack came, Mataafa's forces being short of ammunition, retreated. Mataafa, seeing no hope of success and having lost his nephew, who was killed and decapitated, ordered 19 boats to lie off Mulund, Malietoa's residence and stronghold, for the purpose of drawing attention, while in the meantime darkness setting in, he lowered his ensign, cut down his flagpole, and set fire to Maile. This town was formerly the King's residence and was beautifully laid out in Samoan style. The houses were well built, but rather than have the town fall into the King's hands Mataafa preferred to see it go up in smoke. Mataafa's strategy with the boats being successful in keeping the army off, he departed with his followers for the island of Savai, another of the Samoan group.

That afternoon the conquerors, Malietoa's warriors, returned to Apia with the spoils of victory. These spoils consisted of the bleeding heads of human beings. Each man who had the luck to cut off the head of an enemy marched through the streets of Apia with it. They walked up the streets yelling like fiends, with eyes starting from their sockets with excitement and throwing the severed heads about like baseballs, blood dripping all over the bearers. Many heads were brought in this manner and after being exhibited about the town were presented to Malietoa as trophies of war. The King graciously received them and they were then thrown in a pile on the ground.

Mataafa lost 16 killed and seventeen wounded. Malietoa's loss was four killed and twelve wounded. Malietoa's excited friends marched to and fro through the town, clearing everybody out of the way. The white people took refuge on the verandas of houses while the warriors held the streets. The whites were at the mercy of the excited natives, who were crazed with victory and blood and if there had been any clash would probably have been massacred.

The fact of his surrender has already been started. Mataafa and 28 chiefs went on board the British warship, while the natives' arms were brought and piled on deck. United States Vice-Consul Blacklock was on board the Katoomba and remained to see the final surrender. Until it is decided what shall be done with the prisoners they will probably be kept on warships.

A CHANCE TO EXPLAIN.

Mysterious Unendorsed Notes in the Mitchell Bank of Milwaukee.

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 5.—There were sensational developments yesterday regarding the Mitchell Bank. Washington Becker as receiver of the Wisconsin Marine and Fire Insurance Company bank has begun suit in the Superior Court against John L. Mitchell, David Ferguson and John Johnson to collect promissory notes made May 22, 1893, which aggregate $600,000. The notes given by Senator Mitchell aggregate $300,000, and those by Johnson and Ferguson $150,000 each. These notes were in the hands of the bank at the time of the appointment of a receiver. The notes have never been paid. The notes were not secured by collateral. They were merely a promise to pay.

The Northwestern National Insurance Company has brought suit against John L. Mitchell for $90,000, which represented the company's funds in the bank at the time of the collapse. Mitchell is a director of the company and he is held personally responsible for the funds.

Reading's Employes.

SOUTH BETHLEHEM, Pa., Aug. 5.—The conference between Vice-President Voorhees, of the Reading Railroad, the general superintendents and division superintendents of the Lehigh Valley road and the grievance committee of the latter line's employes was ended yesterday. Chairman Hughes of the employes committee made a rather indefinite statement which says the men were granted all they could reasonably expect and that many rules were adopted which will be to their advantage. Nothing further as to the outcome has yet been learned.

Dr. McGlynn.

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—The Sun says the communication of Vicar General McNamara as representative of Bishop McDonnell of the Brooklyn diocese to Father Ward, rector of St. Finbar's church at Bath Beach, empowers Dr. McGlynn to say mass "alone" for one month in that church. In view of the fact that McGlynn had twice made a request to be allowed to officiate at St. Finbar's Church, it is clear that the Vicar-General's permission only extended to that particular church, and for a period of one month.

Buddhist Priest Barred.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—Acting Secretary Curtis has refused to permit the landing of a Chinese or Buddhist priest who was recently brought to this country by the Pacific steamer Wanding at San Francisco. Application in his behalf was made by Thomas D. Riodan, counsel for the Chinese Six Companies. Mr. Curtis holds that as he has no certificate from the Chinese government, and does not belong to the exempt classes, the priest had no right to land.

DRUGGED IN THE CRADLE

NURSERY IS RESPONSIBLE FOR MUCH INEBRIETY.

Opium and Alcohol Frequently Given to Infants—Neglect of a Baby's Diet Results in Awful Consequences.

The inebriety of later life is often the result of opium and alcohol given in some form to babies for trivial reasons; nurses who have given children medicines for indigestion know how difficult it is to wean the child from the drugs.

The one great duty of parents to their children is, therefore, not to give them medicine, but to make sure that they get food, pure, ample and capable of supplying materials of healthy growth and development.

Where natural mother's milk is out of the question or insufficient for the enormous demands made by the rapidly growing child, lactated food is prescribed by physicians; it quickly makes chubby, rosy faced, lively babies, the delight of mothers, fat, happy and crowing.

Writes Mrs. Daniel Brown, 114 Cross st., Central Falls, R. I.:

"I have three of the most healthy little children in the state, and I must say that they owe their health to having been brought up on lactated food; one of the leading doctors in Pawtucket advised me to use it and I shall always feel glad that I followed his advice; my youngest child is 14 months old and is as healthy and wheery as any little boy could be, and I am sure that lactated food has a great deal to do with it; it has been a great blessing to our little family, and I consider it my duty to recommend it to all my friends. They all have the same good word for it after they have tried it; it has only to be tried and the good results will be seen at once; I shall always feel grateful to the ones who placed lactated food within the reach of all, whether rich or poor.

Lactated food is in fact the most economical, as it is most nourishing and healthful.

AN UNUSUALLY GLOOMY WEEK

Failures During the Week Number 459. Volume of Trade Reduced One Half in Many Western Centers—A General Lack of Currency.

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—Bradstreet's today says: While telegrams from many points South and West report a more hopeful feeling in financial and commercial circles, due to the increased currency issue by the New York national banks, the gold afloat for the United States, and in the expectation that Congress will promptly repeal the compulsory purchase of silver clause of the Sherman act, the week has, on the whole, brought more unfavorable features in the hoarding of currency East and West, the near approach of the demand for funds to "move the crops," the the increase in the shut-down movement by manufacturers in New England, middle and central Western States, and the clog to trade shown by prohibitive rates for New York exchange at centers East, West and Northwest.

Total bank clearings this week aggregate $973,186,000, a gain of 9.5 per cent. over last week, but it is a poor week's total, that is less than $1,000,000,000. The decrease this week compared with a year ago is 10 per cent., and in July contrasted with 1892 it was 10 per cent., while for seven months the decrease this year is less than 2 per cent. Revised and corrected returns of all bank and banking embarrassments in six months ended June 30 last show a total of 219 (South Dakota omitted), with $66,289,000 liabilities and $58,378,000 assets. Suspended national and savings banks each show an excess of assets over debts.

Exports of wheat are unusually heavy this week, the total for seven days being 5,622,000 bushels against 40 per cent. less in the week a year ago, and 4,030,000 bushels two years ago. Stocks of wheat in the United States, Canada, afloat for and in Europe equaled 151,000,000 bushels Aug. 1, or from 54,000,000 to 83,000,000 bushels more than on like periods in preceding years. Wheat prices reacted after the new "lowest on record" made this week, but cereals, hog products, live stock, wool, cotton, coffee and almost all staples are weak, with a downward tendency.

Jobbers have to contend with a desire by county merchants to cancel orders, and at a number of Western centres the volume of general trade is about one-half that of a year ago, while total wages in industrial lines at like points are similarly reduced in volume. Chicago believes liquidation in grain and provisions is over, and that free exports of the latter will result. Chicago packers and grain shippers selling to interior Eastern points, having been unable to sell their New York exchange, are ordering the currency to pay for stuff shipped direct by express, thus doing away with banks. At New York credit of both banks and commercial interests is unimpaired; but actual money is scarce and commands a premium.

Actual receipts of gold at New York this week were about $1,000,000, principally from West Indies. The tendency of the New York stock market is to discount the gold importations and the increased national bank circulation. The short interest is enormous, and active stocks command premiums for use for bear operators. The bear interests accordingly exhibit panicky symptoms, the buying to cover shorts causing sharp recoveries in prices. The pressure of securities offered by savings institutions is also decreased, but the bond market shows great irregularity. There are 459 business failures in the United States reported this week, against 489 last week, 155 in the week a year ago, 218 two years ago, and 155 three years ago.

THE DAILY PRESS.

W. L. & A. L. FORCE, Publishers and Proprietors.
WALTER IRVING CLARKE, - Managing Editor.

WEATHER INDICATIONS.

For New Jersey To-Morrow: Westerly Winds; Cooler, Fair Weather.

That always bright and clever journal, the Bound Brook Chronicle, has hit on a happy heading for its South Bound Brook paragraphs, and speaks of happenings on the other side of the Raritan as "Transpontine Affairs".

With the retirement of the veteran Noah Brooks, the editorship of the Newark Daily Advertiser devolves upon Frederick Evans, Jr., a newspaper man who has already made a high mark in the journalistic world. Mr. Evans is a comparatively recent accession to The Advertiser, and since his connection as manager the journal has progressed steadily. From its old plane of conservatism he has brought it forward and made it a modern and model newspaper, and now that he is to have supreme control of its columns and the direction of its policy it is bound to lead the State.

A MANLY RECORD.

Ever since his election, by a gratifying majority, March 8, 1892, to the office of Councilman, Michael T. Connolly has served the borough of North Plainfield with commendable devotion. Mr. Connolly is an earnest man, one who devotes his fullest energies to whatever work he has in hand, and the reason for his resignation is that he felt he could not in his limited time faithfully serve his constituents. His conscientiousness does him credit. Mr. Connolly goes out of office as he went into it, with the sincere respect and esteem of every good citizen, irrespective of partisanship.

POPULARIZE THE PARK.

Tennis enthusiasts of Dunellen have petitioned the Borough Commissioners for the privilege of establishing a court in the public park property. The permission will doubtless be granted, and it is respectfully suggested to Plainfield's Fathers that this city might very properly follow suit. Plainfield's modest city park needs development, and a portion of its present ugly waste might very judiciously be laid out in a well-kept tennis court where devotees of the great sport might out and drive to their heart's content. With a tennis court by day and a bandstand for free evening concerts, and a few other improvements, the city park would become a scene of much activity and enjoyment.

THE EVOLUTION OF RED PAT.

Thrifty Dunellenites have long poked fun at a local character known as Red Pat. They have cuffed him about and sneered at him and sent him to jail. Returning from his latest visit to the iron-barred cell, Patrick surprised everyone by appearing in a new suit, and giving pledge of reform. The Call newspaper says that he looks absolutely like a gentleman. Well then, make him one, good citizens of Dunellen! Patrick has taken sufficient interest in himself to earn clean garments and to long for clean heart and habits. He promises to be sober and industrious, if given the chance. Give him that chance. The manhood in him has been awakened, he sees the wretchedness of his past, and longs to be different. Whether he is to be a respected citizen or the town laughing-stock depends largely on how his professions are treated. They deserve credence and support. Give him plenty to do and plenty to eat, and above all don't twit him of his past. Twitting has sent many a man on the back road. The Press will watch with interest the courageous attempt of Red Pat to break away from himself. Give the man a chance!

RULE OF THE TONGUE.

Recent events have demonstrated that he who can control a mob is not always capable of self-government. When a disorderly gang swarmed about the house of Charles L. Parmele, bent on violence, one of the most stalwart defenders of the peace was Sergeant Patrick Lynch. Mr. Lynch has done years of creditable police service, and is appreciated accordingly. But in one flash of temper he fell from grace. His superior, Captain Grant, gave him instructions which he improperly resented; a hasty and insolent word, and he and his good Captain were separated by a painful breach of discipline. The Sergeant is as good-hearted as he is big, and soon calmed down and reflected. To-day he is humbly penitent, and ready to ask for pardon and return to duty. The Press would advise his reinstatement. The Sergeant manfully and contritely acknowledges his wrong; he has suffered and is suffering considerable mental disquietude and mortification. The offense, while it should be condemned severely, is not so bad that it cannot be forgiven. The people will be glad to see the big Sergeant don his brass and blue again, and happy to experience once more the sense of protection that his brave and manly qualities inspire when he is on patrol. The Sergeant has learned the lesson that he who controls his tongue is greater than the ruler of a city, and he will be a better officer than before as a result of this little episode.

It's Just Like Home to All the Boys.

Edward N. Harned, Principal of the Harned Academy, has issued a handsome pamphlet descriptive and illustrative of his excellent institution of learning. The Academy will reopen for the fall term September 18. It has been enlarged and refitted, and is now a most complete and elegant institution. The illustrations of the pamphlet show the building, exterior and interior, in superb style.

Must Wait Till Next Year.

The Street Committee of the Borough Council has decided that it is not in funds to macadamize Duer street from Emily to Linden avenue.

MR. CONNOLLY STEPS OUT.

NO TIME LEFT FOR COUNCILMANIC DUTIES.

Great Regret Expressed Over His Resolution—Republicans Accused of Trying to Steal a March in Electing a Successor.

The session of the Borough Council last night had two notable features—the presence of Mayor Saunders, back from his trip to Europe, and the resignation of Councilman Connolly. The Mayor was heartily welcomed, and the resignation of Mr. Connolly was accepted with profound regret expressed by unanimous vote. Mr. Connolly is a hard-working man, and does not feel that he has spare time to fulfil the duties of the office with satisfaction to himself and his constituents. As Mr. Saunders said, he is the best judge of that, and could not be dissuaded from the step. In his resignation Mr. Connolly expressed his gratitude for all the courtesies shown to him.

The matter of electing a councilman in Mr. Connolly's place was laid over for one week, at the suggestion of Mayor Saunders. The Republicans had a majority present, and it is asserted that local politicians had a scheme almost hatched to get them to rush a Republican into the Democratic vacancy. It was to the credit of the councilmen that no attempt was made to carry through such an unjust plan. By all precedent of politics and honor, the vacancy should be filled by a citizen of the same party affiliation. Mr. Saunders urged that time be taken in filling the office, as the post of chairman of the Lights Committee is a most important one. Until the election, Mr. Hummer will serve as chairman of that committee

WILL STAND NO NONSENSE.

Mayor Saunders Says the Borough Street-Lighting Mess Is Inexcusable.

The Borough Mayor last night urged Councilman Hummer of the Lights Committee to take firm hold of the muddle in which the North Plainfield street-lighting system has been. Mr. Saunders said it was inexcusable for the streets to be in darkness because of the simple matter of elevating the wires out of reach of the trolley system. The Mayor is one of the leading practical engineers in the country, and he urged that there was absolutely no reason for such a bungling job. Not a single lamp should have been out one night. It was all very simple to effect such a change without any such prolonged inconvenient experience as the borough had been obliged to undergo. The lighting company's attempt to put the blame on the street railway company was no excuse. The lighting company was responsible to the borough, and should have seen to it that the thing was properly managed.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—A song service will be held in the W. C. T. U. rooms to-night.

—Chatham street's improvement will be completed next week.

—Borough Magistrate Crosley took in $44 fines in May and June.

—Guttman's band will give a concert at the merry-go-round Monday evening. Perfect order is maintained.

—Twenty men were laid off by the Potter Press Works last night, and the time of the rest was cut down to 10 hours.

—James Brand wishes the statement of another paper denied, as he did not hurt himself as was published, but only had a slight cut on the hand.

—The Warren hose tower is completed as far as the framework and sheathing, and the first payment of $100 was ordered last night to the contractor.

Must Not Molest His Wife.

Tom Fayhe is on the rampage again. His wife, whom he has left alone for some time, has been prospering by keeping boarders at New and Second streets, and yesterday Tom turned up and tried to break up housekeeping. He ordered an expressman to take away the cook stove so the boarders should have no dinner, but plucky Mrs. Fayhe kept the intruders at bay. The police have been appealed to.

Here to Stay.

Nobby hats, stylish neckwear, and everything in the line of men's furnishings, trunks, valises, etc., are to be found in complete assortment at the handsome new furnishing store 37 Somerset street, Thorn's Block. The proprietor, J. Goldstein, is an energetic and reliable man, and is building up a great trade. You can't beat his prices even in the city, and his goods are of the best quality.

After the Borough Dogs.

Marshal Pangborn says he has secured a dog catcher to go on duty Monday. Mayor Saunders has impressed on him the necessity of a vigorous warfare on all dogs running at large unmuzzled.

Hard Luck for Berriman.

Wash Berriman, the popular base-ball umpire, is sadly afflicted. He has just lost his oldest child, another is dying, and he himself is very low, all from diphtheria.

A Great Public Improvement.

The expense of putting Rock avenue in shape so that it will not be impassable this winter as heretofore, was $336.92, to be equally divided between township and borough.

LAWYERS NOT YET READY FOR THE FRAY.

So Next Monday Morning the Argument on the Injunction Will Be Postponed to Cooler Weather—What Counselor Reed Says.

Counselor Charles A. Reed got home late last night from his fishing and yachting cruise at Forked River, and the reporter who had been haunting his office to find out what he had to say on the electric-light pole fight gleefully welcomed him.

At the meeting of the Borough Council last night Mr. Reed was by a unanimous vote instructed to be on hand Monday morning, at the time set, to answer the writ. But just the same Mr. Reed will make no answer. Instead, the argument will be put off till September.

In the first place, Mr. Reed says that he knows nothing of the merits of the case, not having had time to look into it. He explains that the Council took its belligerent attitude against the Plainfield Gas and Electric Light Company without consulting him, and that he is not yet familiar with the borough's rights in the matter.

In the second place, Counselor Frank A. Bergen, who represents the company, has gone away, leaving R. V. Lindabury to look after it. Mr. Lindabury is as unfamiliar with the details as is Mr. Reed, and by mutual consent the postponement will be made.

So the borough and the company won't be in the thick of the fun for weeks to come. Meanwhile the poles and wires stay up.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Miss Maggie Flynn has gone to Asbury Park for a week.

Ira F. Riker is about to engage in the business of funeral director.

E. H. Ladd, jr., and family, of Franklin place, are at Avon Inn, Avon by the Sea.

Mrs. A. C. Vail is among the summer throng at Indian Harbor Hotel, Greenwich, Conn.

Miss Nettie Hulsart of Berkley Heights is visiting Miss Maude C. Dunn of West Third street.

Miss Florence M. Morgan, of Lebanon, Pa., is visiting Miss Lillie Miller, of West Third street.

C. J. Noel, of Netherwood, has been confined to his home by slight illness for several days.

Wm. C. Bodine, 232 Muhlenberg place, joins his family at Flemington, Hunterdon county, this afternoon.

The family of ex-Mayor Justus H. Cooley of the borough are spending the month in the Catskills.

Janitor Hope of the Bryant school took his wife to the hills of Warren and Somerset, for her health, to-day.

Mrs. S. Fitz Gerald, of Somerset place, and her granddaughter, Mamie Carney, are spending a few weeks at Dobbs Ferry.

Mrs. Florence McD. Allen, from Lansingburgh, N. Y., is visiting her aunt, Mrs. Charles H. Schermerhorn, 130 North avenue.

An eight-pound baby daughter came to brighten the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. P. Moore, of North avenue, Thursday evening. Both mother and child are doing well.

Nellie, the infant daughter of John McGuire, died at her home in South Plainfield, this morning, age 1 year and 4 months. The funeral will be to-morrow at 1:30 p. m.

Augustus Bloodgood, formerly of Plainfield; a veteran of the War, and now missionary in the Jersey City slums and saloons, has been visiting Salvation Army friends in town.

The wife and family of Charles Smith of Front and Somerset streets are spending a few weeks with Mr. Smith's uncle's folks in east New York. They visit Coney Island and Rockaway Beach every other day.

Mrs. L. Cole, of 78 Duer street, goes Monday to the DeWitt House, Asbury Park, for a much-needed rest. She will be joined by Mrs. Wm. H. N. Cadmus, of Brooklyn, and they will remain probably four weeks.

The Rev. Clarence Dunham, of the Theological Seminary of New York, will supply the pulpit of Holy Innocents Episcopal church, Dunellen, to-morrow, the rector, the Rev. A. S. Phelps, being away on vacation. The service begins at 3:45 p. m.

The Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis will preach to-morrow in the Bound Brook Congregational church, as the pastor, the Rev. L. B. Goodrich, is on a vacation. Dr. Lewis will preach also August 13. On the third and fourth Sundays of August the church will be closed.

Clarence Eick, who gave much satisfaction while organist in the First Presbyterian church of this city, is now organist of the Bound Brook Congregational church. The Chronicle remarks that under his direction the musical services are improving rapidly.

R. F. R. Huntsman, of 44 Westervelt avenue, was summoned home by telegraph yesterday from a business trip to Providence, because of the serious illness of his two-year-old daughter Leontine. Mr. and Mrs. Huntsman took the little one to Belmar to-day, to give her the benefit of the salt sea air. They will probably stay till the end of August.

Picturesque Route to the Fair.

No other line offers the variety of scenic interest between New York and Chicago that is enjoyed by World's Fair tourists via the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad. Passing through Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, the capital of the nation, and by way of Harper's Ferry and the historic Potomac Valley to the Allegheny mountains, which are crossed at an elevation of 3,000 feet above the sea, the traveler sees the arena of the activity of the nation as well as the principal historical features and scenic wonders of the East. SUN-LIGHT and FRESH AIR are THE BEST DISINFECTANTS, of course; but you can't apply them in every situation. What next? Well, that depends. For damp cellars use Quicklime, plenty of it. For vaults and cesspools use COPPERAS; cheap stuff; we sell it by the pound or hundred-weight—instructions thrown in. For kitchen sinks, for water-closets, for house plumbing, for the sick room, to deodorize discharges, to purify the air and to prevent contagion, use REYNOLDS'S ODORLESS DISINFECTANT. Made and sold for fifteen years at

THE RED MEN'S COUNCIL FIRE.

MIANTONOMAH'S WIGWAM A SCENE OF FROLIC.

From Sachem to Youngest Brave They Spake, Sang, Danced, Rejoiced, Till the Morning Stars Winked Sleepily—Gorgeous Decorations and a Glorious Time.

The wigwam of Miantonomah Tribe, No. 118, Improved Order of Red Men, was gay last night with bright flowers and decorations from the woods and fields. The occasion was a visit from their friends and brothers of Omeme Tribe of Red Men, from Elizabeth.

The large chandelier that hangs from the centre of the wigwam was decorated with a huge umbrella of cat-tails, with a handle of ferns hanging down to within a few feet of the council fire, which itself was arched over with cedars. The Sachem's stump, occupied by Sachem John H. Carney, was attractively decorated with ferns and leaves, while near it was a pedestal covered with bouquets presented to the Sachem by the sisters of Iona Council.

On the wall behind the Sachem's stump was a large inscription with the words "Welcome, Omeme, Iona, Chiefs!" in sheet metal, and surrounded with ferns, leaves and cat-tails. The chairs of the officers were canopied over with ferns and cat-tails.

After the braves had gathered around the council fire, Charles Benton Van-Winkle was initiated into the mysteries of the Red Men's Order in the presence of the visiting brethren. When the secret ceremonies were over, the council fire was quenched, and the sisters of Iona Council were invited to enter. They were introduced to the tribe by Chief of Records William Newcorn; and Sachem John H. Carney made some fitting remarks of welcome.

Speeches, songs and music were then indulged in. The first speech was made by Great Sannap Russell of Washington, who made a decided impression on the tribes assembled. Other speeches were made by Great Representative Norman C. Magee, District Deputy Great Sachem Andrew J. Stiglitz, of Plainfield, and Deputy Mrs. William Newcorn.

Past Sachem Bauerman, of Omeme, presented to Sachem John H. Carney a beautiful peace-pipe. Mr. Carney replied in a neat and humorous speech of thanks. The pipe will be on exhibition at Randolph's drug store. Pocohontas Sister Mrs. George Richter was called on for some remarks, and made a decided hit, calling forth rounds of applause. Eli M. Odam entertained the tribes with a comic song, and Wenonah Sister Mrs. Charles Holstein made a few remarks, which were followed by a short speech by Sachem Bishop of Leola Tribe. Chief Holland of Opeche Tribe delighted the members of the reservation with his comic songs; and Chief of Records, Brother Faint, of Leola Tribe, proved himself an orator in a short speech which brought forth much applause.

Sister Radin, of Iona Council, made a few remarks, and Past Sachem Creter of Omeme favored the tribes with a song.

Then to the music furnished by Messrs. Frazer and Creighter, on violin and piano, the tribes went into the banquet hall, where long tables were spread with everything that heart could desire or would stimulate the gustatory nerves.

The banquet was in charge of Sisters Mrs. George Voeht, Mrs. William Leighthauser and Mrs. Dencklau. After everyone had enjoyed the pleasures of the table to his fill, the company trailed the wigwam, led by Sachem J. H. Carney and Pocohontas Sister Mrs. George Richter, back to the hall, where dancing was indulged in till morning, when the visitors were compelled to take the train for their own hunting-grounds, vowing that they had never before had so enjoyable a time.

Great credit is due Brothers Vroom, Sanger, Houseman, Westphal, Wycoff, Odam, Allabam, Newcorn and Stiglitz for their energy and taste in preparing the elaborate decorations that graced the wigwam.

More Than Ordinary Ability.

[From The Bound Brook Chronicle.]

With the departure of J. A. Demarest to Canada, where President Cleveland gave him an important mission, Walter Irving Clarke is advanced to the editorial chair of the Plainfield Daily Press. Mr. Clarke is a writer of more than ordinary ability, the article on Mizzen Peak printed in this paper last week being from his pen. In him the Press will have the right man in the right place.

A Summer Show Right Here at Home.

Plainfield amusement-lovers will have a chance next Wednesday night to enjoy light summer entertainment without going to the metropolitan roof-gardens. Burlesque and vaudeville will be richly interpreted at the Music Hall opening, by Helen Russell's incomparable company of feminine artists. The costuming will be new and gorgeous, and the array of talent and beauty superb.

To Enlarge the Corps to 100.

Captain George F. Edwards is planning great things for Leal's Cadets in the fall. If all can be perfected as he wishes, desirable youths not members of the school will be eligible, and the corps will be made a rousing 100 in membership. This would make a fine display of shapely uniforms and a bristling array of muskets. Everything is shaping for excellent prospects.

A Hustler.

From The Somerville Democrat.

Walter Irving Clarke succeeds Brother Demarest as Managing Editor of the Plainfield Daily Press. Mr. Clarke is a hustler, and is sure to make the paper more bright and spicy than ever.

TRAPPED IN A BOX CAR.

FIVE FANWOOD TRAMPS ADROITLY HANDLED.

Knights of the Road Have Been Terrorizing the Township, But They Met Their Match in the Stalwart Judge and Colonel, Charles K. Moore.

Last evening about 9 a tramp with one arm apparently in a sling called at the residence of L. J. Briggs, Fanwood, and demanded money. The fellow on looking through the front door could see a party of ladies in the library, but could not see a party of gentlemen in the dining room. Judge Moore happened to be one of the latter party, and hearing the demand for money immediately interviewed the tramp and ordered him to leave town at once. Disclaiming the title of tramp, the fellow started towards Westfield. A few minutes later a messenger arrived from Dr. F. W. Westcott asking the Judge to come to the station. On meeting the Doctor, and also Mr. Davis, he learned from them that they had both been interfered with on the public highway by two tramps, and they thought the men had left in the direction of Plainfield. Judge Moore at once advised the Plainfield police by wire, and, accompanied by Station Agent Fisher, made a tour of investigation. No trampe were found, but Mr. Warren, who was on the lookout at his residence, reported that one of the gentry called on him; and on his demands being refused turned away, not neglecting, however, to appropriate an umbrella from the pizza. Mr. Warren followed him, and in his efforts to escape the thief dropped the umbrella. Had Mr. Warren overtaken him, something else would have dropped, but not Warren.

This morning at 6 the Judge was awakened by a messenger from the station. On arriving there, he was informed by the agent that there were a number of suspicious characters in a box car opposite.

The Judge found the statement to be true, and, finding one of the doors fastened, quickly closed and fastened the other, and the rats were caught.

"Let us out, or we will cut our way out"—they yelled.

"All right:"—said the Judge—"you can only come one at a time, and the first will receive a bullet."

Quiet ensued for a moment, when the spokesman of the party promised that if they were released they would immediately leave the town.

At length the Judge relented, though he says he at first decided to wait for the local freight, attach the car and bring it to Plainfield. On the door being opened, out jumped five intelligent-looking tramps. One of them told the Judge they did not want to be jailed in this weather, and mistaking him for a constable remarked that he supposed that official and the Judge would make something out of the case.

"I am the Judge"—remarked Mr. Moore.

"Great Scott, boys, let's skip!"—said one, and after promising to notify all men of the same profession they might meet on the road to steer clear of Fanwood, they were permitted to depart; not, however, without one quietly remarking: "If Union county wants to pay our board for awhile, we will return when the snow begins to fly".

I feel it my duty to say a few words in regard to Ely's Cream Balm, and I do so entirely without solicitation. I have used it more or less half a year, and have found it to be most admirable. I have suffered from catarrh of the worst kind ever since I was a little boy and I never hoped for cure, but Cream Balm seems to do even that. Many of my acquaintances have used it with excellent results. Oscar Ostrum, 45 Warren ave., Chicago, Ill.

MR. HUBBARD CALLS A HALT.

PLAINFIELD'S VOICE OPPOSED TO COUNTY EXTRAVAGANCE.

Cranford's Freeholder Reports that Plainfield Is Ignorant of the Facts, or She Would n't Talk So Foolishly—Taxpayers to Bear the Burden of Improving a Syndicate's Speculation on a Side-Track Road.

The adoption as a new section of the county road system of the Springfield road from Union avenue in Cranford to Mountain avenue in Springfield was a matter that caused considerable debate at Thursday's session of the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders.

The Committee of the Whole recommended its adoption, and Mr. Scudder offered the resolution to adopt the road.

Mr. Hubbard of Plainfield was the first to speak in opposition. He said he did not wish to be regarded as an obstructionist, but it seemed to him that it was time to call a halt in adopting roads when there was no money with which to improve the roads already adopted. There should be a halt in the adoption of roads of this character. He did not believe the people of the county would approve of its adoption, as it was not, in his opinion, a road which was of the character contemplated by the act for county roads. Its improvement was not a matter of public necessity, as it was for local interest, and advancement of immediate property.

Mr. Hunt of Cranford took issue with Mr. Hubbard, and said this road improved would become a benefit not only to Cranford, but Westfield and Springfield and other sections of the county. If the Plainfield people were not ignorant of the location of the road they would understand the desirability of improving it.

Mr. Hunt said a syndicate of capitalists had bought a large tract of land in the vicinity of the road, and if it is adopted by the county will grade and pave other connecting roads, so that great public benefit will accrue.

Mr. Roll said the people of Springfield were not desirous of having this road adopted. They would prefer the Benedict road, which is more direct. He did not think they were very desirous of either road, and he differed with Mr. Hunt as to the great benefit which would come to Springfield.

Mr. Moore opposed the adoption of the road because there was no money for the $50,000 worth of roads already adopted and not built. He knew some Cranford people who were not in favor of the adoption of the road.

Mr. Howard stated that a delegation of Cranford people had waited on him in opposition to the road.

Mr. Hunt said in every community people will be found who oppose everything. The men who oppose this road are about a dozen who live at Benedict's corner. At the town meeting there were only 7 opposition votes.

Mr. Donohue favored the adoption of the road and said that he believed money spent on county roads is always well spent.

The resolution was adopted by a vote of 11 to 4, Messrs. Hubbard, Hunt, Kyte and Moore voting in the negative.

Mr. Hunt thanked the majority, and said he believed that he would live to see the day when the road was a greater benefit than they were aware it would be.

But just the same Plainfield taxpayers will growl at their increased county assessment when the bill comes in.

Insulting for the Farmer Orator.

(From The Elizabeth Journal.)

The Rahway Union Democrat does n't take kindly to the news, first published in the Journal, that Senator Marsh and James E. Martine of Plainfield are likely to be candidates for Senator and Sheriff respectively, next fall. It says:

The Elizabeth Journal is very "profuse" in making nominations for both parties. It names for the Democrats as a strong ticket, Senator Marsh for renomination, and James E. Martine for Sheriff. The public generally agree with the Journal as to the strength of such a ticket, but each of the gentleman named being strong in another direction—that is, strongly inclined not to accept such nominations, it is not probable that the voters of the county will have the pleasure of voting for them this year.

Possibly the Union Democrat is right, but the Journal's information came from Democratic sources that are not generally far from the right. It looks very much as if the information was strictly correct.

Rahway Clamors for Kyte's Successor.

The Westfield Standard is respectfully informed by the Rahway Advocate "that Rahway is entitled both by precedent and party usage to the Republican nomination for Assembly this year. Plainfield, in the person of the Hon. John Ulrich, was honored for three years, 1887-89, next the townships, 1890-92, by the Hon. Geo. Kyte, and this year the nomination will be, without doubt, cheerfully accorded to Rahway by the Third District Republicans."

Cheaper Than Learning French.

"I guess I 'll have to study French"—said Mrs. Tarryman.—"It 's the only way I 'll ever be able to understand that French clock in the parlor." She did n't know that the most eccentric French clock is trained at Collier's to tell time in perfect, reliable American. Just escort your old eccentric mantel ornament to 103 Park avenue, and have it injected with a chronometric elixir that will enable you to catch a train by it every time.

—Bound Brook will have its excursion to Asbury Park Tuesday, August 15.

SENATOR SMITH STOPS A TRAIN

AND TALKS INTERESTINGLY ABOUT THE EXTRA SESSION.

He Declares There Will Be No Restriction of Debate in the Senate, But That the Plan Is to Repeal the Sherman Law and Then Adjourn Without Considering Substitutes—He and Dr. English Start for the Capital.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Congressional Limited goes through Newark towards Washington at 3:45 p. m. The spectator sees a long, dark line whiz by and hears a report as the crack in the atmosphere closes.

The only things that can stop the train, except head-on collisions, are United States Senators; and one of the latter, James Smith, Jr., the popular and accomplished New Jersey statesman, accomplished the feat Thursday. He had a red flag jammed into the platform, and when the locomotive stopped with a snort all the trainmen and passengers looked out to see the collision or the Senator, whichever it might be. When the train was at a standstill, Senator Smith and Congressman English hopped aboard and began their journey to Washington.

Before leaving for Washington, Senator Smith made an important statement to a Daily Advertiser reporter about the extra session. The big fight over silver will of course be made in the Senate.

"There will be no curtailing of speech;"—he said—"but the present plan is to repeal the Sherman act at once and adjourn until December without offering a substitute.

"This would leave the Secretary of the Treasury free to purchase silver at his discretion. In reality, however, it would mean the immediate stoppage of such purchase, because we have more bullion on hand now than is needed.

"By the time December comes we can see how the business of the country is, and then act accordingly."

Senator Smith's views will be read with much interest, for Senator Smith is always right.

RISKED HIS LIFE FOR THE BET.

Bartender Coombs Won the Whisky Barrel Wager.

If ever man earned $10, Louis Coombs did yesterday. He wagered Ex-Freeman Rickert $5 that unassisted he could get a 520-lb. barrel of whiskey out of the Hotel Grenada cellar. For fully two hours he wrestled with that barrel, and by 4:30 had got it half way up. He used two planks to roll it up the steps, and blocked it every time he pushed it ahead an inch. In spite of the rain, a crowd gathered on the sidewalk and watched and joked and cheered. One skeptic rashly wagered $5 more against the prospects of Coombs getting the barrel out, and Coombs snapped him up. The time limit was 5, and several minutes before the hour Coombs mustered all his reserve force and boosted the barrel out upon the flagging amid the plaudits of the bystanders. Coombs was covered with dust, and soaked with sweat. But he got his $10, and after a bath and a rubbing down he was as fresh and smiling as a new-blown rose.

One of the interested spectators was James Conneely, who was enthusiastic over the pluck and endurance shown by Coombs.

"He did it manfully"—said Mr. Conneely.—"At the last he rose up like a Hercules, and there she was on the sidewalk as solid as a rock."

The great event was duly celebrated after dinner, with much flow of jubilation and spirit, at the Grenada bar.

Half Rate Excursions to the World's Fair via Washington and the B & O. R. R.

The Baltimore and Ohio R. R. will run a series of special excursions from New York to the World's Fair at rate of $17.00 for the round trip. The trains will consist of first-class day coaches equipped with lavatories and toilet conveniences. The trains will start from Jersey Central station, foot of Liberty street, New York, at 8:30 a. m., August 5, 9 and 15, and reach Chicago at 4:30 p. m. the following day. Tickets will be valid for outward journey only on the special trains, but will be good returning from Chicago in day coaches on any regular train within 10 days, including day of sale. Stops will be made for meals at the dining stations on the line. A tourist agent and a train porter will accompany each train to look after the comfort of passengers. Tickets will also be sold for these trains at the Jersey Central offices in Newark, Elizabeth, Plainfield, Bound Brook and Somerville. New York offices 172, 415 and 1140 Broadway, and station foot of Liberty street. 26 wds-3w

St. Nick the Prince of All.

The St. Nicholas magazine, always the cream of juvenile publications, has absorbed its only worthy competitor, Wide Awake. The consolidation will make St. Nicholas absolutely unapproachable in merit by any possible rival. The beauty of St. Nicholas will continue to be that not only very young people but children of a larger growth with gray hair and specs delight to revel in its pages.

A Wonderful Machine.

There is no doubt that man is a fine mechanism, but like every other machine he wears out by friction. It is said that he is born again every two or three years. His body is virtually re-made from food. To retard this making over is radically wrong, as a man loses so much vitality in the delayed process that it takes a long time to recuperate. The process of making anew is so accelerated by purging with BRANDETH'S PILLS that a new man, as it were, may be made in two or three months, and the change in the mechanism is such that the worn out part is replaced by the new without the useful running down of the entire machine. You don't have to stop for repairs. Purge away with BRANDETH'S PILLS the old, diseased and worn out body. They are purely vegetable, absolutely harmless, and safe to take at any time.

APPOINTED FOR LIFE.

The Janitress of the Treasury of the United States.

An Old Colored Woman Who Has Saved the Government a Vast Fortune—Story of Her Life—Buying Her Freedom.

The first colored woman ever officially appointed in the service of the United States government is Sophia Holmes, janitress of the United States treasury.

Through thirty-two years from the subterranean corridors of the treasury building the old janitress has witnessed the rise and fall of nine administrations. Hers, writes Lida Rose McCabe in the Chicago Record, was a life appointment, and it was the reward of honesty. Sophia was born in Washington. Her father was a body guard to Gen. Mason, of Georgetown. "I am not all-black blood," said Sophia, coyly. At sixteen she married a slave whom Col. Seaton, the noted abolitionist, bought to save him from being sold out of the district. The price of her husband was $1,000.

Holmes became a confidential servant in Col. Seaton's household. His wages were $22.50 a month and clothing. This money he had put to his credit to purchase his freedom and it was doubled monthly by Sophia from her earnings as laundress.

The pair had paid $600 when the war broke out. Sophia's husband went as body servant to Capt. Burns, of the Fourth marine regiment. In the first battle of Bull Run Capt. Burns was shot from his horse. Arming himself with his master's rifle, Holmes mounted and led the column. The black man's body was riddled with bullets, and after eight weeks in the hospital he died, leaving Sophia with two children to support.

Her story interested such men as Senator Wilson, James G. Blaine and Lincoln's cabinet. Gen. Spinner came to the rescue by employing her old days as scrub-woman at the treasury. There were ninety women dubbed "Uncle Sammy's Scrub Brigade."

It was while thus at work that Sophia entered upon her official career. It came about in this way. The sheets of bank notes were then cut by shears, and a certain night found the floors of the counting-room covered with shavings. In sweeping that evening Sophia discovered a box packed with bank notes that had been overlooked in locking up the vaults at the close of a day's count.

AUNT SOPHIA HOLMES.

"I keeps on sweeping right along all the whiles I keeps on thinking," said Sophia, swaying in her rocker as she told me the story. "The night watch, he passed to and fro—to and fro. I's going to call him, but something kept sayin'-like: 'Sophia, don't do it! Don't you do it. You's a poor black woman! He may take the bank notes and say you stole 'em!'

"After while he stopped at the door. 'You take a powerful time a-cleaning up to-night, Mrs. Holmes,' says he, pleasant-like. 'You work yourself too much.' 'Thank you, sir,' said I. 'I likes to keep things nice.'"

When the watchman's steps once more died down the corridor, Sophia tremblingly examined the box. There were packs of $2, $5, $10, $50 and $100 notes. Darkness filled the treasury. She thought of her two children waiting their supper at home. But she could not leave the building. She still busied herself mechanically with her broom.

"I prayed the good Lord to direct and protect me," said Sophia.

She guarded the bank notes until two o'clock in the morning. When she heard the familiar shuffling steps of Gen Spinner, the United States treasurer.

When she heard the door of his office close Sophia made her steps thither and knocked.

Gen. Spinner had a dream that night that something was wrong at the treasury, and, restless and disturbed, he had at last come down to the building.

He and Sophia carried the box to his office. All of the officials of the department were summoned from their homes. Sophia was kept prisoner until the money was counted. Then she was sent home in Gen. Spinner's carriage to her children, who had been cared for by the neighbors. The box contained one hundred and eighty thousand dollars.

Sophia was called to Gen. Spinner's presence shortly after her first find to receive her official appointment.

"Expecting to be discharged from her scrub work she was unable to realize the import of the paper given her. Thrusting it in her dress she took her stand in the ladies' toilet-room, debating which woman she would ask to read her the paper. She was perfectly certain that it was her discharge from the scrubbing business. Finally she accosted Miss Stoner, the first woman clerk in the treasury. "It's an appointment," said Miss Stoner. "Don't you know you have saved the government a quarter of a million of dollars or so? This paper entitles you to have work here so long as you live."

"I took that blessed paper home," said Sophia, radiant with the memory, "and not a person has ever seen it since."

A COLORADO GIRL.

She Has Killed More Deer and Elk Than She Can Count.

There are not a great many real Colorado girls. I mean by this that as Colorado is a very young state there hasn't been time for many girls to be born and grow up within its limits and a girl must have had that experience to be "really and truly" a Colorado girl. Fifteen years ago there were but few families in Colorado as compared with the present number, so there is little to wonder at in the fact that natives of the feminine gender are scarce now. There are plenty of little ones, but I don't count them, because they are mostly too small. I met one once who was about fourteen years old, and she was the smallest real Colorado girl I had ever seen up to that time. Her claim to the title was perfect, for she was born away up in the mountains of Colorado, and had lived always with the great peaks of the Rockies for neighbors. We met on a railway train. She was returning home after spending a few days in Denver—her first visit to a city. I asked her if she had had a good time, and she said no. City life didn't suit her, and she wanted to get back to the mountains. Was it not queer that that girl preferred solitude, rough living and severe winters to the fascinations and bustle of city life? I've often wondered since whether her love for mountainous surroundings ever weakened.

If real Colorado girls are comparatively scarce, however, a pretty good substitute is to be found in fair numbers. Lots of girls came to the "Centennial state" when they were wee, tiny things and "grew up with the country." This growing-up process resulted in producing a splendid variety of girl; for it was aided by a fine climate, plenty of outdoor life, scarcity of enervating luxuries and plenty of invigorating exercise. One of these Colorado-by-adoption daughters lives on Elk river, in Routt county, not many miles from my own home, and I have just returned from a visit to her father's house. Her name is May Keller, and although born in Pennsylvania, that state can lay no strong claim to her now, as she came to Colorado with her father and sisters when a small child, and has lived here ever since. The family went to Leadville first, but for many years have occupied a ranch lying among the picturesque hills of this county.

Life in a new, wild country has agreed well with Miss May. To look at her now you would see a well-developed young woman of medium height, with luxuriant dark hair and a pair of dark eyes which seem to have borrowed their sparkle from the sunbeams dancing on old Elk mountain's snow-covered top. She is a belle in the neighborhood, of course, and quite deservedly so; because, besides being competent to manage household affairs, entertain a caller, or dance with the best, she is a first-rate rifle-shot, and keeps the family larder supplied with venison and elk meat. These are all virtues that appeal warmly to the heart of a Routt county man, and most valuable they certainly are in a region so far removed from the centers of civilization. There are more men than women in this sparsely settled country, and a girl of the right kind is bound to receive plenty of attention from hopeful bachelors.

Miss May was quite a young girl when she killed her first deer, and although that was not very long ago, she cannot now tell how many deer and elk have fallen before her rifle. It must be remembered, however, that she never slaughters game for so-called sport. The meat is always taken home to be eaten. Just here I should like to remark that the fair huntress is quite as successful in cooking game as in killing it; and not game alone, but numberless other dishes appear from time to time on the Kellers' table as most satisfactory evidence of her cleverness in the kitchen. During my late visit to their house, May, and her sister Maud, made doughnuts and mince pies that still linger pleasantly in my memory; and for my special edification they turned out a substantial roll of butter that would well have borne comparison with the best Philadelphia or Orange county product. The sisters help their father in many ways about the ranch too, and are highly valued assistants.—Philip Marston Brasher, in Harper's Young People.

How He Knew.

George—Now, old chappie, I love Clara better than life, but I am quite convinced that my attentions to her are not congenial.

Harry—How do you know? Has she told you so?

"No."

"Has she said anything about it to you?"

"No."

"Well, how do you know, then?"

"Well; to tell the truth, I met the old man on the front steps the other night, and he gave me the straight tip."—Texas Siftings.

BEFORE THE BATTLE

The Impending War Between Gold and Silver.

SPECIAL SESSION OF CONGRESS

Uncertainty as to What Will be Done. The Drift of Opinion at Washington. Caucuses of Both Democrats and Republicans.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—For the twelfth time in the history of the United States Congress will at noon to-day be convened in "extraordinary" session.

As soon as notice is received by the Senate that the House has organized the proper committee will be appointed to wait upon the President and notify him that Congress is ready to receive any communication he may have to make. This will call forth the message explaining the President's reasons for convening Congress in special session and suggesting legislation to cure the ills for which the country is suffering.

The torrid heat of the capital at this time does not incite to active exertion so that the Senators are not likely to sit many hours daily, nor to hold daily sessions at the beginning. If, however, the Senate is disposed to go earnestly to work from the start, it has before it the privileged question of the right to seats of Senators Mantle, of Montana, Beckwith of Wyoming, and Allen of Washington. Should the Republicans insist upon a disposition of these cases nothing else can be done until they are passed upon.

Another privileged motion pending is Mr. Hoar's resolution touching Senator Roach's character, with Mr. Gorman's substitute, and still another is Mr. Chandler's resolution of similar nature concerning Senator Power. So far no line of policy has been defined by either party upon these subjects and it is probable that in both the Senate and the House the parties will caucus during the week to agree upon their respective plans of campaign.

The House will be called to order by Clerk Kerr, who has been selected by a caucus of his party for re-election, but who would nevertheless have performed that duty, under the law, as the holding over Clerk of the last House, even if he had not been chosen for re-election.

There will probably be little done in the House the first week owing to the non-existence of committees. The organization of the House will take but a short time and the programme for the remainder of the day will depend entirely upon such intimation concerning the message, as may have previously come from the White House. If the precedents are followed, Speaker Crisp will be sworn in by Representative Charles O'Neill of Pennsylvania, who is the oldest member in point of service and the "father of the House."

The usual resolution notifying the Senate that it has been organized and is ready for business, will be sent to that body, and three members on the part of the House will be named to act as a joint committee to wait upon the President. It is not likely that the message will be sent in to-day. The afternoon will probably be occupied in the biennial drawing for seats.

It is only by authority of the rules of the House that the Speaker appoints the committees. The usual custom therefore will be followed of adopting, temporarily, the rules of the previous Congress.

No bills, under the rules, can be introduced until the committees have been named, but the desire of Representatives to keep pace with the Senate in this respect will probably cause a resolution to be passed suspending the rules so as to permit the introduction of bills for reference to the appropriate committees when appointed.

After the message is read both House and Senate will probably adjourn for three days.

GOVERNMENT MESSAGES.

Uncle Sam Fixes Rates for His Own Telegraphing.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—Postmaster-General Bissell has issued an order fixing the rate to be paid to telegraph companies for transmitting Government messages (not including those passing over circuits established by the Weather Bureau) during the year ending June 30, 1894, as follows:

For day messages containing not more than 20 words, exclusive of place from and date, 20 cents, not exceeding 1,000 miles, and one cent for each additional word. One quarter of this rate is to be added for each 500 miles or fraction thereof, but no rate on a message of 20 words to be more than 40 cents, nor on any additional word more than two cents. The rate between any points in any State, Territory or the District of Columbia shall be 20 cents for 20 words and one cent for each additional word.

For night messages not exceeding twenty words, exclusive of place from and date, 15 cents for any distance within 2,000 miles, and for greater distances 25 cents; in each case 1 cent for each additional word.

It is further provided that if during the year any telegraph company charges the public less for ten words than is here fixed for twenty words, the Government rate shall be reduced to the rate charged to the public.

DEMOCRATIC CAUCUS.

Mr. Crisp Receives the Nomination for Speaker and Makes a Speech.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—The hall of the House Saturday night was well filled with Democratic members when Mr. Holman, chairman of the caucus, called it to order. It was known before hand that Mr. Crisp's renomination as Speaker was assured, and that there would be no contest over the Doorkeepership, Turner, of New York, after the action of the New York caucus, declaring that he was not a candidate, and Smith, of Texas, seeing the landslide in Hurt's direction, withdrew from the race.

After a short speech by Mr. Holman Mr. Turner, of Georgia, nominated Mr. Crisp for re-election in a brief but well-timed speech. This nomination was seconded in short, pithy speeches by Messrs. Coombs, of New York; Hatch, of Missouri, and Wilson, of West Virginia, after which Mr. Crisp was nominated by acclamation and amid applause.

In accepting the nomination Mr. Crisp spoke as follows:

"The extraordinary condition of affairs throughout the country has necessitated our meeting in extraordinary session. In so far as that condition is attributable to existing law, we are in no wise responsible therefor. Now, for the first time in more than thirty years, we are in full power. We can repeal the laws, and we can make good ones. The people have entrusted us with that power, and expect us to exercise for their benefit.

"Our financial system should be revised and reformed. The strictest economy in public expenditures should be observed, and taxation should be equalized and greatly reduced. To these purposes we are thoroughly committed. We must redeem our pledges.

"Sincerely for your confidence and esteem, I pledge myself to devote to the discharge of the duties of the responsible position you have assign me, all the energy and ability I possess."

Mr. Kerr was renominated clerk, and, after a sharp contest Herman W. Snow was selected as the caucus candidate for Sergeant-at-Arms.

Lycurgus Dalton, of Indiana, was nominated for Postmaster by acclamation.

The candidates for Chaplain were as follows: Rev. George C. Woodruff, Connecticut, Presbyterian; Rev. S. W. Haldaway, Maryland, Methodist; Rev. W. S. O. Thomas, District of Columbia, Baptist; Rev. E. G. Bagby, District of Columbia, Campbellite; Rev. Mr. Journey, North Carolina, Southern Methodist, and Rev. George Elliott, District of Columbia, Methodist.

On the third ballot Mr. Haldaway, of Maryland, was nominated.

REPUBLICAN CAUCUS.

Mr. Reed Nominated for Speaker According to Programme.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—The Republican caucus Saturday night nominated Thomas B. Reed for Speaker, according to the programme.

The remainder of the ticket nominated was as follows: Clerk, Ed. McPherson, Pennsylvania; Sergeant-at-Arms, A. J. Holmes, Iowa; Doorkeeper, J. F. Hathaway, Montana; Chaplain, Rev. Horace Green, of New York, these being with the exception of the Chaplain, the officers of the Fifty-first Congress.

A recommendation was also made to the Democratic caucus to retain upon the rolls Captain Currier, of Iowa; George Jenison, of New York, and S. H. Decker, of Ohio, Republican messengers; Albert Kennedy, Michigan, Chief of Pages, and John Chancey, of the District of Columbia, the Republican "Whip," all of whom served in the last Congress.

Caucus of Populist Members.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—Thirteen members attended the Populist caucus at the National Hotel Saturday night. They decided to vote as a unit to maintain the present ratio of silver to gold—16 to 1. No ticket for officers of the House was nominated.

FAMOUS MURDER CASE.

A Wealthy Cleveland Man Claims to Have Been Unjustly Convicted.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 7.—A famous case of murder, which occurred in Germany in 1859, is about to be reopened by John Schaber, a wealthy picture frame manufacturer of this city, who has all this time rested under conviction for complicity in the crime. The murder occured at Hoppenbach, Wurtemburg, in June, 1859, and grew out of a carousal of a company of young men, of whom Mr. Schaber was one. He and George Eckstein were arrested, and under the operation of the inquisition the latter avowed their guilt. Schaber made a half confession, though he was in no condition at the time of the crime to know afterwards what happened. Both men were sentenced to death, but the punishment was later changed to life imprisonment.

Twenty years ago both were pardoned on condition that they leave the country, which they did. Later Schaber has discovered that Eckstein is living at Bucyrus, O., and from him he has got the avowal that his confession, on which they were convicted, was false. Depositions will be taken on Nov. 12, and Schaber expects to prove his innocence in a case now pending in Germany over a newspaper libel connected with the actions of the lawyer who defended Schaber years ago.

AN UNPROFITABLE SUNDAY.

Lighter Attendance Than Usual at the World's Fair.

CHICAGO, Aug. 7.—The gates of the World's Fair were thrown open yesterday but the turnstiles failed to click as merrily as on former Sundays. People who did attend the Fair were either strangers in the city for a limited stay or city people who strolled out to pass a day in the cooling shades of wooded islands. The buildings were open, but the majority of exhibits were hidden beneath a stretch of canvass. The places on the Midway Plaisance were open and here the larger portion of the crowd congregated.

Director-General Davis will return from a fishing trip early in the week, and it is likely that the matter of the resignation of Theodore Thomas, musical director of the Fair, will be brought before him for action. Mr. Thomas, it is asserted, has offered his resignation to the Music Committee, but it is powerless to act, so the matter will be referred to Mr. Davis for his action. However, this will not in any way interrupt the carrying out of the regular programme of music already planned.

The Victoria Victims.

LONDON, Aug. 7.—The Duke of York has announce that it is his desire that the money collected by seamen and marines of the British navy and presented to him and Princess May on the occasion of their wedding be added to the fund for the families of the victims of the Victoria disaster. If the money is not needed for the Victoria fund, it is to be invested for the benefit of the widows and other relatives of naval men dying in the service of their country.

Allison's Opinion.

CHICAGO, Aug. 7.—Senator W. B. Allison, of Iowa, does not believe in free coinage of silver and favors the suspension of the purchase clause of the Sherman Act. "I do not approve" he said, "of the repeal of the entire Act for it leaves the Government in possession of a vast quantity of silver bullion with no method of disposing of it. I believe the people desire only the stoppage of the purchase of more silver, and not the disuse of that already purchased."

Poor Peach Crops.

LAMBERTVILLE, N. J., Aug. 7.—Two hundred and fifty replies out of 300 inquiries sent out to the largest peach growers of Hunterdon county, substantiate the report that unless rain comes soon, not half of the usual amount will be shipped. During a full crop Hunterdon county yields 1,500,000 baskets.

Denver's Unemployed.

DENVER, Aug. 7.—Seven hundred men registered Friday and Saturday at the City Hall, applying for employment under the new street improvement ordinances. Probably not half of that number will be given work.

LAST WINTER'S WAR SPIRIT REVIVED

The Hughes Court Martial Calls Forth All Sorts of Bitter Expressions—Alleged Plans of Both the Populists and the Republicans.

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—A special to the World from Topeka, Kan., says: The Hughes court-martial, which will continue another week, has revived the war spirit of last winter, and the refusal of Col. Hughes to obey the Governor, is referred to by the Populists as the greatest crime in the history of the State. In a leading editorial the Ottawa Journal, edited by State Printer Snow, in outlining the plans of the Populists for the future, says:

"The cold fact remains that the Republicans will respect the muzzle of a Winchester if nothing else. Populists must make up their minds that they must protect by force their victory at the ballot box.

"The shedding of human blood is a melancholy business, but better, tenfold better, that Topeka should be made a graveyard, that not an inch should be left upon another, that the plougher and the sower should traverse its site than that the Republican crime of last winter should be repeated."

At several points in the State independent companies have been organized and will be thoroughly drilled.

Senator Sol Miller, who has been a resident of Kansas for 35 years, advises the Republicans to organize and arm companies ready for business. He says:

"Under the law independent companies can be organized anywhere in the State. Tens of thousands of Republicans own their own weapons—shotguns or Winchester rifles—that are more effective than the muskets furnished by the State, and their owners are expert in their use. Let rifle and shotgun companies be organized and drilled. They would more than match Arts and his riff-raff and in a pitched battle could mow them down in battalions."

These threats tend to arouse the blood of both parties and excite the radical element to reiterate them on every street corner.

DR. M'GLYNN.

He Says Mass and Explains His Rights and Privileges.

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—The Rev. Dr. Edward McGlyn celebrated mass at 7:30 yesterday morning in St. Finbar's Roman Catholic Church at Bath Beach.

Long before the hour appointed for the mass to be solemnized crowds flocked to the church so that when Dr. McGlynn, accompanied by Father H. B. Ward, rector of the church, and an acolyte, presented himself at the altar, every seat was filled and camp stools were used in the aisles.

Dr. McGlynn was assisted by Rev. Father Ward. The mass being "low," it was read, not chanted, and only two tapers lighted the altar. There was no music whatever. At the close of the service Dr. McGlynn administered communion to about 150 persons. It was believed that the clergyman would address the congregation, but he simply read the ritual and occasionally faced the congregation with eyes cast downward and hands in attitude of prayer.

In conversation with a reporter after the service Dr. Glynn said: "I shall remain at Bensonhurst with my nieces until October and endeavor to derive benefit from the bracing sea air. While here I will say mass every day.

"I did not preach at the mass simply because I had not been invited to do so. All that I was privileged to do was to say mass.

"It is not settled who will say mass next Sunday. This is not the first time that I have said mass in public since His Holiness the Pope restored me to my priestly functions. There are many people who believe that I was only permitted to say mass in St. John's College, in Brooklyn; that is a mistake.

"At the time of my restoration I received the announcement from Archbishop Satolli. He also sent me a letter certifying that I was a priest in good standing. He commended me to all bishops and rectors throughout the country, affectionately requesting them to permit me to say mass in their parishes. This letter I took with me when I went to Florida during Lent. I was escorted around the country there by Bishop Moore and celebrated mass in the Cathedral and in various churches. I also preached a special sermon in the Convent at Fernandina, and was invited to hear confessions.

FOUR PEOPLE KILLED.

Fatal Break of a Mammoth Reservoir in Maine.

PORTLAND, Me., Aug. 7.—The great reservoir of the Portland Water Company on the eastern promenade burst yesterday morning, letting loose its 20,000,000 gallons of water in the short space of about 15 minutes. The immense mass of water thus suddenly loosed dashed with mighty power upon the houses occupied by the families of Michael Lappin and Dennis M. Conley. The buildings were crushed as if they had been made of cardboard, and four persons lost their lives. Mrs. Dennis M. Conley, Miss Agnes Conley, Miss Mamie Conley and James Moseley.

A Startling Report.

DANVILLE, Ill., Aug. 7.—Two freight trains collided on a bridge here yesterday, wrecking two engines and 27 cars. Two hundred men have been at work all day clearing away debris in search of bodies. Only one was found, that of Brakeman Stone.

Charles Jackson, a brick mason, was seriously injured. He claims that he and 17 other brick masons were beating their way in a grain car and that all the others were killed and that their bodies are at the bottom of the river. His story created intense excitement but as only one body has been found, it is believed that he is mistaken.

Stevenson Predicts a Short Session.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 7.—Vice-President Stevenson passed through the city on his way to Washington to preside over the Senate. To a reporter who saw him on the train the Vice-President declined to speak of the probable action of Congress, but ventured the opinion that the session would be a brief one, possibly not longer than two weeks.

A PRECIOUS RELIC.

Part of the Remains of the Mother of the Virgin Mary.

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—Mgr. Marquis of Quebec, who arrived yesterday on the French steamship La Champagne, brought with him a part of the remains of St. Ann, the Mother of the Virgin Mary. The relic comes from the Basilica of Apt, in the providence of Avignon. Father Tetreau of the little French Church of St. John Baptiste, in East Seventy-sixth street, met Mgr. Marquis at the pier and took to his church the silver bound glass jar containing the relic, which is about six inches long. Mgr. Marquis and Father Tetreau are friends, and when the Monsignor started for Rome, Father Tetreau asked him to go to the Archbishop of Avignon and intercede for a part of the Saint's body.

The opening of the canal was signalized by the firing of military salutes and by the enthusiastic cheering of the multitude present.

A Clever Smuggler.

PORT TOWNSEND, Wash., Aug. 7.—Lee Sing, a Christianized Chinaman who has been employed on the revenue cutter Oliver Wolcott for ten years as the captain's private steward, was arrested yesterday for smuggling opium into the United States. The Chinaman's cabin was searched and 18 large cans of opium found under his bunk. The amount of smuggling he has done will, it is supposed, aggregate many thousands of dollars.

THE QUARANTINED STEAMER.

Passengers Transferred to Hoffman Island and Every Precaution Taken.

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—All the passengers of steamer Karamania were transferred at six o'clock yesterday to Hoffman Island. As soon as the last passenger stepped aboard the transfer barges a gang of the ship's crew were put to work under the directions of a Quarantine officer demolishing all deck houses, closets and hatch coverings which will be burned in the ship's furnaces. The vessel will undergo a thorough cleansing without delay.

When the Karamania arrived on the night of Aug. 2, with a history of deaths at sea, Health Officer Jenkins, after some thought, arranged to transfer the passengers to Hoffman Island for bathing and the disinfection of their effects and subsequently remove them to Swinburne Island where they would be lodged for a period of five days. Hoffman Island was occupied by men who were putting up the observation building and making certain repairs for the improvement of the plant. These men were required to remain in that portion of the island where the work was in progress and one building was set apart for the isolation of the immigrants during their temporary stay on the island. Before a single passenger was landed the workmen deserted in large numbers.

Dr. Jenkins had only selected Swinburne Island as a place of detention because he desired that the improvements be continued without interruption on Hoffman Island so that the facilities for accommodation would be greatly increased. There was ample accommodation for the Karamania's passengers and if the new building could be finished the capacity would be increased so as to locate full 2,500 people on Hoffman Island.

GREAT ROWING SOME DAY.

Preliminary Work of Getting English and American Oarsmen Together.

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—Frank E. Pratt, of the Chicago Navy, who went abroad last June to secure foreign entries for the World's Fair regatta at Lake Geneva, and also to arrange a race between the English 'varsity eights and Harvard or Yale, returned on the Germanic without having accomplished either mission. Mr. Pratt was seen by a reporter.

He said he was satisfied with his trip and although none of the English or French cracks are coming over this year he claims to have agitated the question so well that there is every possibility that we shall have some aquatic visitors next season, and, unless all signs fail, an international intercollegiate eight-oared race between the winner of the Oxford-Cambridge race on the Thames next March and the winner of the Harvard-Yale race at New London in June.

PUGILISM HARD HIT.

A Pennsylvania Judge Knocks Out Two Boxing Clubs.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 7.—Judge Gordon, sitting as a committing magistrate, in the Court of Quarter Sessions Saturday, gave a knockout blow to boxing exhibitions by holding James H. Shoemaker, lessee, and Henry Pincus, manager, of the Winter Circus, and Jack Fogarty, manager of the Ariel Athletic Club, in $5,000 bail each to keep the peace and "be of good behavior," and an additional $1,000 bail each for appearance at the next term of court to answer charges of keeping disorderly houses.

A dozen pugilists and their seconds were held in $800 bail to answer charges of assault and battery and prizefighting. A warrant was issued for Stanton Abbott, the English Champion light-weight, but he is outside the State.

Drowned by a Cloudburst.

SHARPTOWN, Ind., Aug. 7.—The neighborhood was visited Saturday by the most disastrous storm known for years, doing great damage to crops and farm property. A cloudburst flooded the land to a depth of 18 inches. Johnson Fork was swollen beyond its canks. Scores of cattle were washed away and drowned, and hundreds of acres of corn were blown flat by the wind. Several barns were struck by lightning and destroyed with their contents and implements, and many farmhouses were inundated.

The Blue Fleet Won.

LONDON, Aug. 7.—The umpires in the naval contest between the Red fleet, commanded by Vice-Admiral Fairfax, and the Blue fleet, under the command of Rear-Admiral Fitzroy, have decided that the Red fleet, which was assumed to be that of an enemy, failed in its objects, and have awarded the victory to the Blue or defensive fleet. This is the first time in the history of British naval manoeuvres of this kind that the defensive fleet has won.

A Monetary League.

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—The World's City of Mexico special says: "A project is on foot for forming a union of all Latin-American states into a monetary league for mutual aid in defending themselves against a European combination which it is believed intends to force payments in gold at the present high rate of premium of all obligations contracted when gold was at lower prices."

Cut in Wages.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Aug. 7.—The blast furnace owners of the Mahoning and Shenango valleys have made a cut of 15 to 20 per cent. in wages. Five hundred men are concerned. The prices were reduced to what they were in 1886, the lowest point in seven years. The manufacturers say that under the present condition of the market they had no other alternative.

A Relic of St. Clair's Expedition.

GREENVILLE, O., Aug. 7.—Eight miles north of this city John Neff found a cannon captured from St. Clair's soldiers by Indians during the retreat from Fort Recovery to Greenville in 1791. A derrick was used to extricate it from a hole 11 feet deep. It is a brass six-pounder, six feet long.

Struggling East.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 7.—About 200 of Denver's unemployed struggled through this city yesterday, coming in on the $5 tickets offered by the railroads and continuing East on freight trains as a rule. Many of them tell pitiful stories of hardships and of families left behind.

A Colorado Smelter Shuts Down.

DEATH AMID DARKNESS

A Horrible Crash on the Lake Shore Railroad.

THREE KILLED AND MANY INJURED

Collision Between a Passenger and Freight Train—Ghastly Scenes Among the Dead and Dying—Three Sleeping Cars Totally Wrecked.

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 7.—A special from Fremont, O., says: A terrible wreck occurred late Saturday night at Lindsey, a small village eight miles west of this place, on the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern. An engine and three sleepers were badly demolished and three people killed outright, while fully 25 were more or less, badly injured. The wreck was caused by the collision of a West-bound passenger train and an East-bound freight. Passenger train No. 9, the Pacific express due at this place at 9:50 o'clock, left here about ten minutes late. The train consisted of an engine, baggage car, two express cars, three coaches and five sleepers. The coaches and sleepers were all well filed with people, many of whom were on their way to Chicago.

At Lindsey, the next station west of this place, the train passed a local freight, No. 74, which had been side-tracked to await the passing of train No. 9. The train was runuing at full speed and passed safely until the sleepers neared the switch, close to the freight, when the first three sleepers jumped the track and ran into the engine of the freight. The engine was wrecked and the sleepers crushed like eggshells.

As the sleepers were filled with passengers, it seems a miracle that all were not instantly killed. The scene that followed the collision was heartrending. The groans of the dying, the shrieks of the injured and the hissing of escaping steam combined to add horrow to a sight that will long be remembered by those who witnessed it. Work was at once begun to render aid to the injured, and those who were imprisoned in the ruins. The disaster was immediately reported and an extra composed of an engine and coach was made up at this place. Doctors William Caldwell, F. U. Hilbish, M. Stamm and R. B. Meek had in the meantime been summond, and the party at once proceeded to the scene of the wreck. The sight that greeted them was terrible. The track for some distance was covered with debris, beneath which several persons were imprisoned. Legs, hands and arms protruded here and there from beneath the ruins. It was later learned that the dead were engineer Edward Lafferty of the local freight; Charles Spane, a brakeman on the same train, and porter Robertson (colored) of the sleeper Erie of Chicago.

On the arrival of the medical party the injured were at once taken care of, with the united efforts of the physicians of this city, and Drs. Wolland and W. L. Steirwalt of Lindsey. About 15 of the injured who had received wounds of a less dangerous character, after receiving surgical attention, proceeded on their westward journey on that part of the passenger train which had escaped damage. The others who had received serious injuries were taken to the hotel Nichols and private residences where they are now receiving the best of care.

The seriously injured are as follows:

Prof. Emerson, of Amherst College, Gloucester, Mass., chest crushed, will die.

J. A. Hamilton, of Pittsburg, injured internally, perhaps fatally.

Porter Stevens, (colored) of New York, extent of injuries not known.

Porter Pelham, (colored) of the sleeper Orinoco, Chicago, injured internally, very serious.

A. H. West, of Chicago, badly cut, not serious.

Centerfielder Ryan, of the Chicago baseball club, badly cut.

Catcher Kittridge, of the Chicago baseball club, cut about head and body.

Those killed outright were:

ED LAFFERTY, engineer of local freight No 74; residence, Elyria; married and leaves a widow and four children.

CHARLES SPANE, brakeman on freight; residence, Clayville, N. Y.

Porter FERGUSON (colored), of the sleeper Erie; residence, Chicago.

About 3 o'clock in the morning the wrecking train arrived at the scene and began the work of clearing the tracks for the passage of trains. About 6 a. m. the bodies of the three railroad men were reached and taken from beneath the ruins. They were taken to the morgue of John Boyer and there put in shape for transfer to their different homes. The bodies were in horrible condition and presented a most sickening sight. Arms were cut off, legs torn and mangled and heads smashed out of all semblance of human shape.

At noon a special train arrived from Toledo containing the officials of the road, and an examination and investigation was at once instituted. The wreck was cleared up so that evening trains can pass over this division.

Prof. Emerson and Porter Pelham are now in an unconscious condition and their deaths are momentarily expected. During the day thousands of people have driven from all parts of the county to visit the scene of the disaster.

Chicago's Temperance District.

CHICAGO, Aug. 7.—Seven of the leading hotel keepers in the prohibitory district adjacent to the World's Fair, among them Warren F. Leland, and his son, were arrested Saturday on charges of selling liquor. They all gave $500 bonds for their appearance in court. The arrests were made on complaint of the Hyde Park Protective Association with the view of testing the law and defining if possible the liquor law of the prohibitory district of Hyde Park, a recently annexed surburb.

A New Jersey Murder.

EATONTOWN, N. J., Aug. 7.—John Ghew, an employe of Pierre Lorillard's stalls at Monmouth Park race track, was brutally murdered there yesterday. The murder is alleged to have been committed by S. P. Donovan, also an employe of Mr. Lorillard.

Michigan Stove Works Closed.

DETROIT, Aug. 7.—The Michigan Stove Company has closed its shops and about 1,100 men are thrown out of employment. The utter impossibity of securing currency to pay the men was the cause. The company has no idea when it will be able to resume.

A Big Pay Roll.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Aug. 7.—Saturday was the semi-monthly pay-day at the Pennsylvania Steel Works and $67,300 were distributed among the employes. Of this amount $50,000 was in gold and silver.

—Manager Keller has done a good thing in getting Murphy off his base-ball team. Murphy made three errors for Paterson yesterday, helping lose the game to the Cuban Giants.

—Policeman Giese, assisted by policemen Dagnall and Scribner, neatly captured Tom Doud Saturday. Doud has been hiding from the police ever since he escaped from arrest for fighting. Mayor Gilbert gave him 5 days.

—As exclusively predicted in these columns Saturday, the case of the Plainfield Gas and Electric Light Company vs. the Borough of North Plainfield was to-day adjourned in chancery for two weeks, when Counselor Bergen will be back from Europe.

—Plainfield town is practically dead, just now, so far as business is concerned. Everyone is away or about to go, and the tradesmen are taking a rest. They do n't expect to do much during August. The Jersey Central Railroad alone does n't complain of hard times.

—There was another small fire at the Potter Press Works Friday afternoon. It started in the dry grass near the machine shop, and threatened serious consequences, but some of the employes rushed out and extinguished the flames. The fire originated from locomotive sparks.

—Two young men were promiscuously dumped on the sidewalk on East Front street at 8 last evening. Eye-witnesses say the horse was whipped, and turned suddenly in the road, throwing the occupants out on the walk. The horse was caught. The driver was slightly injured, and the wagon somewhat broken.

—Better make another visit to the shore to-morrow. You can go in good company, with the Presbyterians and Baptists of Dunellen and New Market. The train will leave Dunellen at 7:45, and stop at Grant avenue, but not at North avenue. This excursion will be a well managed and delightful affair. $1.25 will buy a ticket.

Anxious to Relieve Small Depositors.

The Directors of the Dime Savings Institution will meet to-morrow night to talk over affairs and act for the best interests of the depositors. An attempt will be made to amend the by-laws so that the depositors of small amounts may have a chance to draw their money if desired without waiting for the 30 days limit.

Mrs. Perrine's Plight.

Mrs. Perrine, of Chatham street, North Plainfield, had a peculiarly disagreeable experience Saturday afternoon. She went into an out-house, when the flooring gave away and she was precipitated below nearly up to the arm-pits. Workmen in the neighborhood rescued her with difficulty.

These Wheelmen Ride Fast.

Charles Lister and J. A. Haynes, members of the Crescent Wheelmen, went by train to Phillipsburg yesterday and rode home on their wheels. Their actual riding time from Annandale to Plainfield was only 2½ hours, which is considered very fast.

Launches His Own Canoe.

David S. Dunavan, who for years had been a faithful helper with D. W. Littell, left there Saturday night and will open a plumbing establishment for himself at 106 Park avenue.

GEORGE SMOCK'S SUDDEN DEATH.

HEART FAILURE OVERTOOK HIM ON HIS WAY UP STAIRS.

He Was a Familiar Figure on Plainfield Streets, and Owned Much Valuable Property—His Wife and Daughter the Sole Survivors of the Family.

George Smock, one of the oldest and best-known residents of Plainfield, died very suddenly at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Charles H. Penfield, 624 Park avenue, Sunday morning at 7:30. The physicians attribute his death to heart failure. Mr. Smock had been very well for some time, and his death was unexpected.

Saturday night he was apparently as well as usual, and sat on the piazza and talked until a late hour with some friends who chanced to come in.

Sunday morning Mr. Smock arose early, as was his custom, and sat on the piazza before breakfast. He said he did not feel very well, and declined to eat any breakfast. Shortly afterwards he was siezed with violent nauses, and when the attack had passed off he said he would go up stairs as he felt a little weak. Mrs. Penfield heard her father go up stairs, and listened so as to know that he was all right. Soon afterwards she was startled by hearing a heavy fall, and on running up stairs found Mr. Smock lying on the floor and growing rapidly black in the face. Mrs. Penfield sent immediately for a physician, but there was some delay in obtaining, one and when at last the doctor came Mr. Smock had breathed his last.

His physician told Mrs. Penfield nearly a year ago, when Mr. Smock was so ill with the grip, that he might drop off suddenly at any time, but the possibility was so remote that the warning did little to lessen the shock.

Mrs. Smock and Mrs. Penfield returned from Long Branch Friday. They had intended staying over Sunday, but some business of the household fortunately called them back in time to be present at Mr. Smock's death.

Mr. Smock was born in Bound Brook in 1825, and had lived in this vicinity ever since. He has always been a farmer, and a very successful one. His widow and daughter, Mrs. Penfield, are the only surviving members of the family.

Some time ago Mr. Smock lost four of his children in rapid succession, and he had never entirely recovered from the shock. He leaves a snug fortune, chiefly in real estate and mortgages. The funeral, which is to be private, will be held to-morrow afternoon at 3 at Mrs. Penfield's residence. The Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes will officiate.

THE CAPTAIN'S CHILD.

Charming Christening Ceremony Graced by a Dainty Maiden.

Sunday afternoon the infant child of Capt. J. G. Rose was baptized at its parents' residence by the Rev. Dr. True, pastor of All Saints church, Fanwood.

The Episcopal baptismal service was impressively read in the presence of a few intimate friends of the family, the child being christened Harold Cleland.

Little Dorothy Ellis graced the gathering, and after the ceremony charmed all present by her motherly attention to the little fellow.

SUNDAY FIGHT ON FRONT STREET.

Bumble-Bee and Locust Participated, and Men Cheered the Victor.

A crowd of Plainfielders enjoyed a lesson in natural history in front of the home of Dr. O. L. Jenkins on East Front street yesterday. A fight was on between a big locust and a giant bumble-bee, and for some time it was waged most interestingly. The bee finally conquered and killed the locust, and then with much labor dragged the body from the middle of the road to the sidewalk, where he deposited it for future use.

These Medals Out of Sight.

The two medals to be given as prizes, in the Lyceum Cyclers race August 19, have been received by William J. Kiely. They are both very handsome, and the winners of them will certainly feel proud. One is first prize for first man in, the other time prize. They are of gold with blue and red enamel and other elaborate decorations. The outspread eagle on the time prize is especially beautiful. Thirty excellent entries have already been received for the race.

Baled Hay Afire.

Several small bales of hay in front of N. W. French's store on East Fourth street got afire from some unknown cause this afternoon, and the heat broke a large plate-glass window. Buckets of water put out the blaze. Assistant Chief Martin was notified and visited the scene.

The American Catarrh Cure

Is the result of twenty-six years' study and treatment of the disease. One bottle convinces the most skeptical. It is always ready for use, needing neither douche nor atomizer. It restores the hearing, cures the hawking cough and expectorating, removes the headache and nose bleeding, increases the appetite, produces sound sleep, invigorates the whole system and increases the vitality. Prepared only by W. B. Jones, M. D., No. 1336 South Eighth street, Philadelphia. For sale by J. W. Randolph, 21 West Front street. Price $1.

GEORGE SMILLIE MORALIZES.

He Thinks Immorality Will Crop Out to the Surface at Pious Asbury.

The handsome features of G. F. C. Smillie, of 927 Central avenue, adorned the Asbury Park letter of Caricaturist Walt McDougall in Sunday's World, and Mr. McDougall wrote:

It is said that there are three varieties of girl at Asbury Park—the athletic girl, the piazza girl and the literary girl. In other places there is the girl who goes around in conjunction with a man, but in Asbury Park there are so few men that this variety is hardly procurable for analysis. This paucity of men grows yearly more marked, and the quality of the unmarried eligible men worse every season.

This year's supply is astonishingly limited. Asbury Park is too primitive for the modern except the boy from the farm to whose eyes it presents a picture of wild revelry. But he soon learns that the picture is unreal, a sort of mirage whose deceptive charms flee as he pursues them and he realizes the hollowness and vacuity of the place. This year shows a big decrease in the attendance. A brooding air, an air of breathless expectancy hangs over the place as if soinething were about to happen, and the people seem to be idly awaiting it. Men like Billy Campbell or George Doane, who have been coming here all their lives, seem to think it portends nothing, but G. F. C. Smillie, the good-looking bank-note engraver who owns several villas here, thinks it means more freedom in the near future and less concealed wrong-doing. For there certainly is more wrong-doing of several sorts in Asbury than in many freer places, only the wrong-doers are put to more trouble and expense.

ALL ABOARD.

Plainfield to Have a Special Excursion for the Pennsylvania Mountains.

Supreme enjoyment is possible for every Plainfielder Saturday, August 12, when the Jersey Central Railroad will run a special excursion to Mauch Chunk, Glen Onoko and the famous Switchback. The train will leave Plainfield at 9:27 a. m., and there will be abundant time for keen relish of the pleasures of that glorious region. The round-trip fare is only $1.75, putting the excursion within the reach of all. The trip is worth the time if only to enjoy the Jersey Central's incomparable train service, and when one considers the happiness in store at the end of the short journey into the mountains, who can resist joining in the holiday frolic?

13 A SECOND.

Another Giant Wonder Turned Out by the Scott Works.

The mammoth printing press that was recently manufactured for the Chicago Tribune by the Scott Printing Machine Works in this city has been put together for testing previous to shipping, and was seen by a representative of The Press Saturday. The huge affair is in reality three cylinder presses, one above the other, and all feeding into the same folding machine. Its capacity is 48,000 twelve-page papers per hour, printed, pasted, cut and folded. By a modification of the folding mechanism a paper of any number of pages can be printed up to 48, as the cylinders will hold that number of pages in stereotype plates.

FRISKY TIME AT A FUNERAL.

The Undertaker's Team Stepped Into a Hornets' Nest.

While driving into the cemetery yesterday afternoon with the body of A. J. Stewart, a team of horses belonging to Undertaker Runyon stepped into a hornets' nest. A lively time was the result. One of the horses became frantic, and the driver was obliged to unhitch the animal and walk him around. It was some time before the excitement quieted down.

Thomas In Hard Luck.

H. S. Thomas of The Courier met with an accident in New York, yesterday afternoon. He was riding a bicycle, racing with two buggies over a nice concrete road, when he came in collision with one of the rigs and was thrown off and injured. His wheel was a mass of glittering steel tangled up with his corporeal self. Thomas was able to get home on the 10:15 train here, but to-day feels hardly able to stand up.

Patriotic George Will Go.

George W. Moore, of East Front street, who is ever-zealous to enhance the object of the G. A. R., and especially Post No. 73 of this city, has been notified by Asst. Adj. Gen. Barnett of a meeting of the Department Council of Administration, to be held in Asbury Park August 17. Mr. Moore is the only member from here, and he will attend. The Council has only five members in the entire State.

Plainfield's Games Away from Home.

The following games have been scheduled by the Crescents away from home:

Wednesday, August 9, Poughkeepsie.

Mrs. Rice Seriously Ill.

Mrs. Frank Rice, who lives near the mountain, was brought to the Muhlenberg Hospital yesterday afternoon suffering from a severe attack of pneumonia. Her temperature is 104 this morning, and the doctors say that she is very ill. There are 14 other patients at the hospital, all doing well.

The Crescents to Play Corbett.

On August 17 the Crescents will accompany the Jr. O. U. A. M. on their excursion to Asbury Park, and will play against the Asbury Park team. Secretary Dobson writes that the champion Corbett, who is training at the Park, will play with their team.

SUN-LIGHT and FRESH AIR are THE BEST DISINFECTANTS, of course; but you can't apply them in every situation. What next? Well, that depends. For damp cellars use Quicklime, plenty of it. For vaults and cesspools use COPPERAS; cheap stuff; we sell it by the pound or hundred-weight—instructions thrown in. For kitchen sinks, for water-closets, for house plumbing, for the sick room, to deodorize discharges, to purify the air and to prevent contagion, use REYNOLDS'S ODORLESS DISINFECTANT. Made and sold for fifteen years at

HIS LAST WORDS A PROPHECY.

ELDER STEWART'S FAREWELL SAYING TO HIS CONGREGATION.

The Carpenter Preacher's Funeral Overflowed the Church with Those Mourning a Good Man Gone—Preacher Hand's Sincere and Tender Eulogy Touches Every Heart.

The funeral ceremonies of the late Andrew Jackson Stewart were held in the First Church of Christ on Grove street yesterday afternoon at 2:30.

The church, which Jack Stewart himself built, and where one short week ago he officiated in the administration of Communion, was crowded to its utmost extent. Even the vestibule was filled with people, and outside the edifice little groups of men stood near the windows listening to the stirring words of the preacher, the Rev. Brother Benjamin Hand.

When the funeral arrived, the casket was borne into the church by six old comrades: Charles Wilson, John Ackerman, F. Greene, S. P. Hoffman, William B. Mundy and W. H. Mears.

The ceremonies began with a fervent prayer by Pastor Hand, followed by a hymn by the choir. The pastor read from the fourth chapter of Thessalonians, and then began his discourse, taking as a text the twenty-sixth verse of the twelfth chapter of St. John:

If any man serve Me, let him follow Me; and where I am, there shall also My servant be: if any man serve Me, him wild My Father honor.

"When I stood here seven months ago," — said Brother Hand — "at the funeral of a dear friend, I remember Brother Stewart saying 'The dead cannot hear you. They have gone away, therefore speak to the living'. Just so I will speak to you here this afternoon, and have taken a saying of Christ's as the basis of my remarks." Mr. Hand preached eloquently and at some length on his text, and concluded his remarks with words pertaining directly to the life of the deceased. He spoke of Brother Stewart's last words before the congregation of that church: how he had said in his discourse only the Sunday before 'It may be the last time I shall speak to you; but, thank God, I am ready to go'.

"I do not say," — commented Mr. Hand — "that Brother Stewart is now sitting in Heaven, but I do say that if any man had a right to hope for Salvation, free and complete, he was that man. Certain it is that since he was baptized in the name of the Lord, 33 years ago, he has served God faithfully and truly. There were those who said it was not right for him to preach the Gospel: that he was an uneducated man, and could not even use good grammar. I only know that in my hours of depression I would love nothing so well as to go to his shop and sit next to him on his bench and hear from him the word of the Lord. Homely and plain his words may have been, but they did more to cheer me and many besides than the stilted discourse of those who lacked the true spirit though able to put what little they had to say into correct English as taught in our grammars. I have yet to hear of the man who was ever taken advantage of by Brother Stewart in business, or where anything was at stake, and know that his good works were many. I am not fond of eulogy, but I may say that the departed was a good man, an honest man, a Christian, and always had the best interests of his brethren and city at heart. Many could do much worse than take him as an example."

The floral tributes were in keeping with the dead man's life—plain and simple, but beautiful withal. The only set piece was a pillow made of white asters and white roses, with the words "Our Elder" across it. This was from the stricken congregation.

The interment took place in the graveyard of the Methodist church.

PRAISED BY THE JUDGE.

Young Traynor Credited With Assisting Him in the Big Tramp Capture.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—In your report of the capture of tramps at this place in your edition of Saturday last, although correct, no mention was made of the brave young man, John Traynor, who under my direction closed the door of the freight car whereby the vagabonds were secured. Many a man of mature age would have hesitated to perform the duty which this lad did. He is an honor to this community, and though a laborer by the day is respected by all with whom he is brought in contact.

Through your courtesy I desire in the name of the law-abiding residents of Fanwood to thank him publicly.

CHARLES K. MOORE,
Justice of the Peace.

SIMMONDS DOWNED BERGEN POINT

Interesting Games Enliven the Saturday Tea of the Hillside Club.

The Hillside Tennis Club gave one of its bi-weekly teas Saturday afternoon. The attendance was fair, notwithstanding the number of people that were out of town. Mrs. James L. Anthony and Mrs. Fox received, and Miss Alice Simpson officiated at the tea table. An interesting feature of the afternoon was the tennis between Sydney Smith, of Bergen Point, and Albert Simmonds, of Plainfield. The games were spirited and close, and were watched by a large number of interested spectators. Simmonds succeeded in winning more games than his adversary, though they were very evenly matched.

The office of The Press was radiant with sunshine Saturday afternoon when the Rev. Dr. Charles B. Mitchell came on from the West and favored the staff with a call. He got in trim for a Sunday sermon by taking a delightful spin over the old familiar macadamized streets, and preached to the enjoyment and profit of a large congregation in the Centenary M. E. church, Newark, yesterday. He will spend a few days among his Plainfield friends.

Westfield vs. Somerville, Here.

The final game of the series between Somerville and Westfield will probably be played here Saturday, Aug. 19, as the Plainfield team will be at Orange on that date. The public need not be without entertainment.

It Was a Beauty.

A heavy shower deluged Asbury Park yesterday afternoon while the sun was shining in Plainfield. The effect was a perfect double rainbow, against a background of intensest blackness, as gorgeous a spectacle as the skies ever reflected.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

I feel it my duty to say a few words in regard to Ely's Cream Balm, and I do so entirely without solicitation. I have used it more or less half a year, and have found it to be most admirable. I have suffered from catarrh of the worst kind ever since I was a little boy and I never hoped for cure, but Cream Balm seems to do even that. Many of my acquaintances have used it with excellent results. Oscar Ostrum, 45 Warren ave., Chicago, Ill.

A FANWOOD MAN SAVED HER.

FATAL RAILROAD ACCIDENT NARROWLY AVERTED.

Three Trains Were in the North Avenue Station at Once, and a Female Passenger Got Confused—Her Preserver Imperilled His Own Life For Hers.

Saturday morning the train leaving Plainfield for New York at 10:04 pulled into the North Avenue station promptly on time, just as a heavily laden coaler was running east on track 3.

The passengers were alighting from the 10:04, and those at the station were preparing to board it when down grade from the east came Conductor Barick's train, and dashed into the station a few minutes late. Conductor Wm. Clark of the 10:04 saw the train coming in, and pushed back the passengers who were leaving his cars. A woman about to board the 10:04 was pulled back to the platform by a Fanwood man who saw her danger, and the cylinder of the incoming train brushed the clothes of both.

When the train from the east was finally stopped, Engineer Wyncoop stepped off the front end of the baggage car, his fireman having charge of the engine. The bell was ringing on Wyncoop's engine, but the noise of the rapidly moving coal train had drowned its sound so that it was not heard by persons more than ten feet away. No whistle of alarm was sounded.

IS PLAINFIELD WICKED?

This Pious Editor Thinks It a Most Unrighteous City.

(From The Madison Eagle.)

Plainfield is a very wicked place, although our newspaper friends there are not among the class who see no difference between Sunday and a week day. Last Sunday we visited that city and, besides witnessing a host of bicycle riders, both male and female, the electric cars in full blast and the arrival and departure of steam cars, places of business were opened and unusual activity prevailed in all the thoroughfares. Even a colored man was pushing a mail cart through Main street, filled with pouches. Handsome churches were numerous on every hand, but the tolling bells had no effect whatever on the crowds of pedestrians who were bent on the demands of business.

PLAINFIELD'S THREE CRACK SHOTS.

Apgar, Smith and Keller to Partake of Big Tournament Honors.

What promises to be one of the best attended and most interesting tournaments held in the South this season will be held at Charlotte, N. C., Aug. 16, 17 and 18, under the joint management of the Inter-State Manufacturers and Dealers Association and the Charlotte Gun Club. There will be a match for teams of six men, one third of the match to be shot each day. Teams have entered from several States. Those who have already decided to go from New Jersey are Noel G. Money of Oakland, Edwin Collins of West Hoboken, Ferdinand VanDyke of Newark, Enoch D. Miller of Springfield, Neaf Apgar, T. H. Keller, and Charles Smith of Plainfield, T. W. Morley of Paterson, and John W. Hoffman of German Valley.

POETIC JIM IN THE TOILS.

The Hall Field Was Too Small to Hold Him and His Voice.

Silver-tongued James Emmons, whose eloquence entertains while his inebriety disgusts, thought the base-ball grandstand was a lecture platform, Saturday, and insisted on spouting in stentorian tones. Marshal Pangborn tried to subdue him, but James was recalcitrant and wanted to fight. He was unceremoniously bundled into a feed wagon and locked up over Sunday to get sober. This morning he donated $5 to the borough treasury.

PLAINFIELD WILL HELP ILLUMINATE

Something Very Fine Expected of This Cycle Parade.

About 20 members of the Crescent Wheelmen are preparing to go to Montclair, Wednesday, in response to an invitation sent to them by the bicycle club of that place to participate in the lantern parade to take place Wednesday night. The men will leave Plainfield about 5, so as to give them plenty of time to arrive at their destination and rest before the parade.

A Wonderful Machine.

There is no doubt that man is a fine mechanism, but like every other machine he wears out by friction. It is said that he is born again every two or three years. His body is virtually re-made from food. To retard this making over is radically wrong, as a man loses so much vitality in the delayed process that it takes a long time to recuperate. The process of making anew is so accelerated by purging with BRANDETH'S PILLS that a new man, as it were, may be made in two or three months, and the change in the mechanism is such that the worn out part is replaced by the new without the usual running down of the entire machine. You don't have to stop for repairs. Purge away with BRANDETH'S PILLS the old, diseased and worn out body. They are purely vegetable, absolutely harmless and safe to take at any time.

You can be Happy.

You know you ought to be bright, cheerful, and happy.

You determine each day that you will be happy yourself, and make others so.

The day is not very old before your brightness is gone, your nerves go "all to pieces," and you are helpless on the couch.

You have falling or displacement of the womb, — causing "bearing down feeling" and backache, — perhaps ovarian troubles, with inflammation of the uterus and leucorrhœa.

Then remember Lydia E. Pinkham made a great discovery. Her Vegetable Compound has cured thousands just like you, and will you. It is given you by a woman who gave her life to the study of your troubles.

BARODA'S GAIKWAR.

Like Everybody Else He Wants to See the Chicago Fair.

Another ruler of the far east who has just signified his intention of paying the new world a visit is the gaikwar of Baroda. His highness is premier Hindoo prince of India, and is one of the most enlightened of the native potentates. His aim, according to Sir William Hunter, is not to have a show capital, with fine palaces, hospitals, colleges and public gardens, but to have his districts well administered and to spread education among his people. His highness exercises considerable care in the selection of men to assist him in the government of his territory, and he recruits from the best of the native officials in the Bombay presidency. He has strong sympathies with his own race, the Marhattas, and devotes much time to the promotion of their interests. He has spent some money, not only in the erection of schools, but in the construction of railways, the introduction of a plentiful supply of good water to his capital, and in numerous public works. The value of the gaikwar's moral influence upon his court and subjects, it is said, can hardly be exaggerated. "His home life," says Sir William Hunter, "is pure. He does not spend money on costly trifles, and his palaces are furnished like English country houses. Hospitable to strangers and fond of a quiet talk with an English visitor, he appreciates, chief of all, straightforwardness and candor among those by whom he is surrounded. His subjects are proud of him, and the more his highness resides among his people the more they grow to understand and like him."

A third representative of oriental royalty is now coming this way from the west. He arrived in San Francisco the other day and he is known as the nawab of Rampur. He is only seventeen years old, and his present trip around the world is intended to put the finishing touches on his education. Five years ago his father and mother died and he became a ward of the English government. He has learned to play cricket and take tiffin like the average English young man. In another year he will be of age and come into full control of his dominions, subject to the general protecting care which Great Britain exercises over the native rulers in sections of the earth where she has control.

TURKISH TYRANNY.

Rigors of the Censorship Obtaining in the Sultan's Dominions.

Dr. Francis E. Clarke, the founder of the Society of Christian Endeavor, who has just completed a tour around the world, during which he visited and addressed thousands of societies, many of them in heathen lands, gives an amusing illustration of the rigors of the censorship which obtains in Turkey. That was the only country visited in all his travels in which freedom of speech was found to be impossible. He was not permitted to use the words "union," "fellowship," "organization," "society," and was warned that any expression which conveyed the idea of united action would expose him to censure. The government is so fearful that the people may get the idea that there is strength in union that it recently forbade the use of a certain geography because it spoke of the union of two rivers. The censors are especially vigilant in suppressing all publications which seem to prejudice their religion. A recently published tract in which it was stated that "Christ came into the world to save sinners" created wide commotion, which was only allayed by the printing of a revised edition in which the word "Christian" was inserted before the word "sinners." It is not surprising that a government which is thus intolerant and fearful of the effects of enlightened education should sanction the burning of Christian colleges and condemn Christian teachers to death and imprisonment, upon manufactured pretexts, as was recently done in the case of the professors and officers of the American college and mission in Marsivan.

Ta-ra-ra Boom on a Bell.

A bell which plays "Ta-ra-ra Boom-de-ay" has been set up in a church at Ahlmar, one of the ancient cities of Holland, the intention being to ring out this lively tune whenever services are about to take place.

Easy to Find.

Not long ago an accident happened to little Barbara's doll Gladys, which was thereupon sent to a store where surgical attention is given to wounded dolls. When the day came for it to be discharged, cured, Barbara obtained permission to go and get it.

Barbara stood on tiptoe before the counter at the store, and asked if her doll was mended.

"I guess so," said the young woman behind the counter, fumbling over a pile of dolls on a shelf. "But I'm afraid I can't tell which one it is in all this lot."

"Oh, you can find her easily enough," said Barbara, confidently. "Her name's Gladys!"

A GALLANT FIREMAN.

The Hero in Charge of the World's Fair Fire Department.

The Chicago fire department, whose history furnishes many instances of level, thoughtful courage, has no member more widely known than Chief of Battalion Edward W. Murphy. In a department conspicuous for individual courage Murphy is noted for his splendid heroism. He is said to have saved more people from death by fire than any other man in America. He has been mentioned honorably for feats of daring in eight general orders written by a man who is seldom lavish of praise—the present chief of the Chicago fire department. He was the first winner of the Lambert Tree medal, which is given every year as a reward for the most conspicuously courageous feat undertaken by a Chicago fireman. Except for the rule that prevents a man from taking the medal twice he might have had a new decoration every year, for a year has seldom passed since the fund was created that has not been marked by the performance of some fine deed by this brave man. The writer saw him one night during a fire in Warren avenue go into a blazing frame house when the chances seemed almost twenty to one that he would be burned or suffocated. A woman had said that her two babies were in the burning building. Murphy groped about on the floor, crawling from room to room until he found the bodies of the children. He was very nearly killed himself, but when, half dead, he was pulled through the window by two of his men he held the bodies in his arms. The daring of the man has been so extraordinary that it has given ground for jealousy in the department and firemen have been heard to complain that when lives were to be saved Murphy gave no one else a chance, but always insisted on being first in the burning building. He is an American by birth, and he went on the force in 1875. In 1876 he was appointed lieutenant and in 1880 captain. Chief Swenie promoted him to an assistant marshalship in September, 1885, giving him command of the Fifth battalion. Later he was transferred first to the Twelfth battalion and then to the Fourteenth. It was on account of his energy and fearlessness of danger—a valuable quality in a place built as the exposition is built—that he was given charge of the fair department when Chief Swenie took it out of the hands of Mr. Burnham. His career in Jackson park has been brilliant. Marshal Murphy has been hurt dangerously twice, both accidents happening while he was on his way to a fire.

Making the Best of It.

A German girl who recently came to merica to marry a man who had been here for some years and who had made himself so indispensable to his employers that he could not even be spared long enough to go to Germany to fetch his bride, tells some amusing experiences in her new home.

"The thing which vexed me most," she said, after relating all sorts of queer mistakes which she naturally made, "was about my sheets. I had a beautiful set, all linen and all embroidered and worked with initials by my own hands. When I got here the American beds were all so big that not one of my sheets could be used."

"What a shame!" exclaimed her sympathetic listener. "What did you do?"

"Well, you see," the bride answered with a smile, "of course they were as much too large for handkerchiefs as they were too small for sheets; and so I took them for towels. And everybody thinks they are lovely."

Glass Bangles.

Both Hindoo and Mussulman women wear glass bangles, and in the northwest provinces they are regarded as sacred objects. If a glass bangle is accidentally broken its pieces must be gathered together and kissed three times.

She Was Tired of It.

"I don't care," pouted little Frances, who is something of an invalid; "I think my doctor describes me too much medicine."—Judge.

MEETING OF CONGRESS

Interest Centres on the President's Message.

SAID TO BE A SHORT DOCUMENT

Both Houses of Congress Organized and Ready to Consider the Financial Question—General Disposition to Make Contested Seats and Other Matters Wait.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—The Fifty Third Congress of the United States was opened at noon yesterday in extraordinary session. The occasion attracted crowds to the Capitol.

In the Senate, after the opening formalities, resolutions were offered and agreed to, to inform the House of Representatives that a quorum of the Senate had assembled and was ready to proceed to business, to notify the House and the President of the election of Mr. Cox as Secretary of the Senate, fixing the daily hour of meeting at noon, and for the appointment of a committee of two Senators to join a like committee on the part of the House to wait upon the President and inform him that both Houses are in session and ready to receive any communication he may be pleased to make. Senators Harris and Sherman were appointed as such committee on the part of the Senate.

Mr. White, of California, then rose and said that it was his painful duty to announce the death of his late colleague, Mr. Stanford. He should at a date to be fixed hereafter, request the Senate to set apart a day for such remarks in regard to Mr. Stanford's memory as might be deemed proper, and should content himself now with moving, as a mark of respect, that the Senate do now adjourn.

The motion was agreed to, and the Senate, at 12:30 adjourned for the day.

In the House, 336 members having responded to their names, the clerk announced that there was more than a quorum present, and that the first business in order was the election of a Speaker.

Holman (Dem., Ind.), as Chairman of the Democratic caucus, rose and said that he had the honor to put in nomination for that high office the Hon. "James" F. Crisp of Georgia. The laughter caused by this slip of the tongue had hardly abated before it was renewed when the clerk fell into the same error and announced that "James" F. Crisp had been put into nomination.

Then Thomas B. Reed, of Maine, was placed in nomination by Mr. Henderson, (Rep., Ill.), chairman of the Republican caucus. The mention of Reed's name was greeted with Republican applause. And then arose Mr. Kem, (Pop., Neb.), and amid general laughter announced the name of Mr. Simpson.

The vote being taken, it showed that Crisp was elected Speaker, receiving 211 votes against 122 votes for Reed and 7 for Simpson.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

It is Held Over on Account of the Senate's Adjournment.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—The President's message would have been sent to Congress yesterday afternoon had it not been for the early adjournment of the Senate out of respect to the late Senator Stanford. Mr. Pruden, one of the President's secretaries, was about to enter his carriage with the message when the announcement that the Senate had adjourned was received. Consequently the transmission of the message was withheld till to-day.

From sources believed to be well informed it is learned that the message will not be more than two columns in length and that it recommends the unconditional repeal of the Sherman act.

Silver Democrats express themselves as agreeably surprised at what they understand to be the moderation of the President's recommendations. Though he recommends unconditional repeal, he recognizes that silver is one of the money metals of the country which must be maintained, and points out that with the present attitude of European countries the proper ratio between gold and silver cannot be maintained by this country alone.

Therefore he does not favor the coinage of silver under the present conditions, except for subsidiary purposes. He thinks European nations who are now depressing the price of silver can by the suspension of its coinage in this country, except for subsidiary purposes, be coerced into an international agreement more favorable than we have heretofore had. He is in favor of silver on a parity with gold, and stands by the platform of 1892, but says the platform cannot be carried out, for the reason that a fixed parity cannot be maintained.

GETTING TO BUSINESS.

An Effort to Secure Immediate Consideration of the Silver Question.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—At the suggestion of Representative Bourke Cockran in the House yesterday, a number of its members, principally the New York delegation, met in the Arlington hotel last night and informally discussed the best method of securing immediate consideration and fixing of a time for taking a vote on the silver question. No specific proposition will be made to the silver people, but the members of the conference express the hope that an arrangement satisfactory to both sides will be agreed upon. Nothing will be done looking to this end until after the President's message has been read. The conference designated the following gentlemen to take a poll of the House and ascertain its sentiment as to the method and manner of proceedure that should be adopted in this matter:

Messrs. Harter, Ohio; Brawley, South Carolina; Hall, Minnesota; Lapham, Rhode Island; Wolverton, Pennsylvania; Garnsenheimer, New Jersey; Bynum, Indiana; Cobb, Missouri; Raynor, Maryland; Sperry, Connecticut; Cockran, Tracy, Fitch, Dunphy and Fellows, New York.

These gentlemen will meet again to-day and report the result of their conference with the silver men and endeavor to agree upon a proposition to be made to them regarding the debate and time for taking a vote on the question.

REPUBLICAN POLICY.

The Party Waiting to See What the President Has to Say.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—It is improbable that at a caucus which the Republicans have called for to-day they will take up and discuss any question of party policy. The caucus is called for the purpose of determining who is to be chosen as the representatives of the minority on the clerical and working force of the Senate. This patronage is small in extent and it is thought will not consume any time in its disposition.

Concerning the policy of the party, a prominent Senator, who has always been active both on the floor and in the caucus, and who has heretofore been a stalwart partisan, said last evening that the Republicans were anxiously awaiting the suggestions of the President.

"We understand," said he, "that the President has some remedy which he and Senator Voorhees, chairman of the Finance Committee, have fixed which will cure our ills and make us well. The Republicans will interpose no objections to the treatment which may be proposed. The question of the rights of the Senators to their seats is the highest question that can be brought before this body, but we are not disposed to insist upon this and will go to the extent of permitting that to be laid aside temporarily so that there may be a speedy passage of such a law as the President may in his wisdom suggest and which it is presumed he has the assurance he can pass. The Republicans are too patriotic to attempt to prevent anything that is for the good of the country, and if there is any measure that Democratic can possibly agree upon that will restore the confidence of the people, we as a party will support it first and then settle the disputed questions relative to the rights of members to their seats."

THE WORLD'S FAIR.

Shall It be Continued During the Coming Year.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—The proposition to keep open the Columbian World's Exposition throughout the summer of 1894 found its way to Washington previous to the opening of Congress, but it has not been suggested to any members of the Illinois delegation. Senator Palmer said he could not talk intelligently upon a proposition concerning which he knew absolutely nothing. Senator Cullom said he had heard such a suggestion made in Chicago, but had nothing to say beyond the fact that he would support any measure, within reason, which the various boards of the Fair and the people of Chicago might want.

General John C. Black, Representative-at-Large, said that if the people of Chicago, especially those charged with the management of the Fair, believed it could be made a legal and financial success he would be in favor of continuing its existence for another year. But only, of course, upon the request of the people of Chicago.

Representative Frank J. Aldrich, in whose district the Fair Ground is located, said it was for the local directors and the commissioners to determine that they want the Fair kept open. Upon the expression of that request, he had no doubt Congress would act favorably, and the Chicago representatives would do all they could. We all feel, he added, that too much money has been expended on the buildings that they are too beautiful in detail and magnificent as a whole to be destroyed in six months. November is not a bad month in Chicago, and independent of the question of continuing the Fair next year, I think it would be a good thing to keep it open until Dec. 1.

Representative Durborrow thought the extension of the Fair would be a good thing. It would help out financially and allow a greater number of persons to visit it. Since his arrival in Washington a number of members had told him that owing to the financial condition of the country, persons in their districts who wished to visit the exposition had been prevented from doing so.

Representative Hitt, of the district adjoining Chicago on the west, said enthusiastically that whatever the people of Chicago desired to have done, after a full study of the situation, ought to be done, and he would aid in accomplishing it. "The matter, however," he said, "should not be hastily determined. Philadelphia discussed a continuance of the Centennial, but finally concluded not to attempt it. But I have confidence in the managers of the Columbian Exposition and know that if they believe the opening next year can be successful they will make it so."

"TOO YOUNG TO BE ALONE"

A Pretty Girl at Coney Island Proves to Be a Burglar.

CONEY ISLAND, N. Y., Aug. 8.—Jennie Mather, a pretty girl, 16 years old, who lives at 10 Richard street, South Brooklyn, was arrested at a little after midnight by detective Morson C. Macias on the suspicion of being too young to be alone on Coney Island. She said her family relations had been very unpleasant and she had started out for herself. She had a chatelaine watch and considerable money with her. Chief McKane sent the girl home in charge of detective Kelly. After he had left her he met Detective Sergeant McMillan, of the 11th Precinct, Brooklyn, who said there were two warrants out for burglary against the girl, and she was charged with entering the house of a relative with false keys and stealing jewelry and money to the amount of $300. The watch that she had was a portion of this booty. Jennie was found at her home and taken to the station house and locked up.

INDIA'S SILVER BURDEN

No Market Anywhere for the White Metal.

STOCK VALUED AT $750,000,000

The Subject Discussed in the House of Lords—Result of the Stoppage of Free Coinage—Effect of the Hall Marking Law.

LONDON, Aug. 8.—In the House of Lords yesterday the Earl of Northbrook, sometime Governor General of India, called the attention of the House to the existing obstacles to the importation of manufactured silver arising from the compulsory hall marking law in England. He said that the silver in the hands of the people of India was estimated to amount in value to from £130,000,000 to £150,000,000.

Owing to the stoppage of the free coinage of silver by the Indian government the people were unable to find a market for their metal and were sustaining enormous losses. The abolition of the hall mark law in England, together with free trade in articles manufactured from silver, would, he declared, mitigate the evils brought about by the stoppage of free coinage.

The Earl of Kimberley, Secretary of State for India, admitted that it was desirable to change the law. Silver manufacturers in England were, however, opposed to the abolition of the law compelling their goods to bear a hall mark. He saw no reason why the various standards of manufactured silver ought not to exist in England the same as in other countries.

Lord Herschell, Lord High Chancellor, said he had been advised that there were no large hoards of silver in India. During the famine vast quantities of silver ornaments had been sent to the mints, where they had been converted into rupees. The estimate as to the value of the ornaments among the natives was a greatly over-rated one.

The Earl of Northbrook moved that the Secretary of State for India submit to the House the papers he had on the subject.

The Earl of Kimberley promised that he would do so.

TWENTY-TWO DROWNED.

Sad Accident to an Excursion Party Off the Coast of Wales.

LONDON, Aug. 8.—News of a sad accident to a party of excursionists was received last evening from Port Talbot, a town in Glamorganshire, Wales. Twenty-eight pleasure seekers from Ystrad took a boat at Port Talbot and, in spite of repeated warnings of danger, the boat being overloaded, put out into Swansea Bay. The rowers being inexperienced, the boat became unmanageable and was carried into the breakers. A heavy sea finally struck the boat, causing the occupants to rush to the side, when she capsized and all were thrown into the water. Twenty-two, including several women and children, were drowned. Others were picked up by a pilot boat. The man who had charge of the boat and two assistants swam ashore. The accident was witnessed by hundreds of persons on shore, who were powerless to render any assistance.

New York Bonds go Begging.

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—No outside bidders were expected and none came to buy the $319,214.64 non-taxable 3 per cent. school-house bonds of 1911, which the city offered for sale in the Comptroller's office yesterday afternoon. The Sinking Fund Commissioners took them at par. These bonds have ordinarily been considered a good investment and the bidding has usually been brisk. Since the money market became so tight, however, no one will buy them at par and the city will not sell for less, as it has a heavy income from its sinking fund to invest, so that the city can tide over the present state of affairs without having to pay too dearly for it.

NO ANARCHISTS WANTED.

Socialistic Congress at Zurich Ejects Them by Force.

ZURICH, Aug. 8.—Yesterday's session of the International Socialistic Congress was marked by a great deal of excitement. First there was a heated debate on the question whether anarchistic and independent Socialists, duly certified as delegates, should be permitted to attend the Congress. Mr. Cahan, of the United States, advocated the exclusion of the French and Dutch delegates. Finally a resolution was carried to admit delegates only from societies recognizing the necessity of the organization of labor concurrently with political action. The adoption of this resolution, which was tantamount to the exclusion of Anarchists, led to a great uproar. The avowed Anarchist delegates positively refused to withdraw. Several of them had to be ejected by force. In the midst of the excitement Herr Landauer, a Berlin Anarchist, used a stick and precipitated a hand-to hand fight, in which he was at length overpowered by the bystanders.

MISSING ATTORNEY.

He Returns Just Before an Important Case Comes On.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Aug. 8.—Attorney John K. Whiting, who has been missing from this city for more than a month, returned home yesterday, but would say nothing concerning his disappearance. Attorney Whiting is the administrator of the estate of the late William Gray, and proceedings were to have been brought in the Probate Court to-day asking for the appointment of some one to succeed him. About the time of Whiting's departure Attorney A. Di Penney applied to the Probate Court for an accounting of the settlement of the Gray estate. Whiting left the day that the case came up and nothing had been heard of him since until yesterday.

DENVER'S HUNGRY.

The Charity Camp Maintained With Hundreds of Patrons.

DENVER, Col., Aug. 8.—The Public Charity Camp, which has been maintained under military supervision at Rive Front Park, for two weeks was not abandoned yesterday, as had been announced, and about 400 men are still being fed and lodged in the militia tents there. The authorities dare not break up the camp and turn out upon the city a small army of hungry men. Every effort is being made, however, to discourage unemployed men from the mining towns from coming to the Denver relief camp, as it is very difficult to raise funds to feed those already here.

CROPS IN MINNESOTA.

Wheat Looks Well and a Good Yield is Expected.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 8.—The weather during the past week has been favorable for maturing the crop, which is ripening so that it will be ready to harvest next week upon most of the fields in Minnesota and North Dakota. All reports show that wheat has filled remarkably well to the top of the head, with a plump berry of fine quality. Where the heads fill full to the top is this way much better results in the yield per acre are obtained than is generally expected.

Telegraph to Ellis Island.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—Supt. Stump, of the Bureau of Immigration, has entered into a contract with the Western Union Telegraph Company for the operation of a line from New York to Ellis Island, New York harbor. This will make both a telegraph and a telephone line to Ellis Island, which were greatly needed, and will facilitate the transaction of public business demanding urgency. The government will own both the telephone and telegraph plants.

Short of Water.

MAHANOY CITY, Pa., Aug. 8.—Owing to the continued drought the Mahanoy City Water Company very unexpectedly on Saturday night shut off the supply heretofore furnished the Reading Coal and Iron Company, and in consequence all the collieries in this district shut down. Arrangements are being made to use mine water in some of these places, but operation of the collieries will be unsatisfactory and far from general.

To-Days Yachting.

LONDON, Aug. 8.—The Prince of Wales' cutter Brittannia went to Cowes from Southampton yesterday and afterward proceeded to Ryde to prepare for the race for the Earl of Desart's cup, which is to take place to-day under the auspices of the Royal Victoria club. The Prince of Wales went aboard the Britannia at Cowes. The American yacht Navahoe is also at Ryde preparing for to-day's race.

Bad Business Methods.

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—The Fourth National Bank yesterday threw out the account of Zimmermann & Forshay, on account, as stated, of their business methods, including the offerings of a premium for current funds and exacting of a still higher premium when the funds were resold. Zimmerman & Forshay are large bullion dealers.

Locked Out.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Aug. 8.—Owing to a movement of some 300 employes of the Lalance Grosjean Agate works to form a branch of the Amalgamated Association, the concern locked out its workmen. This action of the company will probably nip the proposed organization in the bud and the plant is expected to resume operations.

ANGER AT PLYMOUTH

Beecher's Old Church in a State of Excitement.

MUST HIS FAMOUS HYMNAL GO?

Dr. Lyman Abbott Has Taken Steps to Introduce a Revised Book—Mrs. Beecher and Others Strongly Object—Dr. Abbott Unmoved.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Aug. 8.—There is much sorrow and indignation among the older members of Plymouth Church congregation in this city because the Plymouth collection of hymns, for nearly 40 years associated with the name of Henry Ward Beecher, is to be thrown out of the church and a new collection, compiled by the Rev. Lyman Abbott, the present pastor, substituted for it.

The work was a labor of love with the great preacher, he having spent years in collecting the best hymns.

Dr. Abbott set about the enterprise of putting the Beecher hymnal out of the old Beecher Church with considerable caution and with outward evidence of tenderness for the feelings of those who were so affectionately wedded to the Beecher traditions. He lamented the rather cumbersome size of the Plymouth collection, and said of the 1,400 hymns it contained quite 800 that were never sung. He sent around to the different members of the congregation and asked them to indicate their favorite hymns, that no one's feelings might be hurt should a new hymnal be substituted. He approached Mrs. Beecher on the subject.

Mrs. Beecher is 81 years of age, but bright of intellect. She clings ardently to every memory and association connected with her husband. She feels hurt at Dr. Abbott's action in changing the hymnal, and has told him so. She said to Dr. Abbott that Mr. Beecher had devoted so many years' labor to the compilation of the Plymouth collection, had made it so much a labor of love in which his whole heart was engaged, that it seemed a pity to obliterate this monument to his memory.

Dr. Abbott, however, was not to be moved from his purpose. He went on with the work of making a new hymnal, which is at last completed and in the hands of the publishers. It will be delivered to the congregation on Dr. Abbott's return to his charge this fall. He is now in England.

The new hymnal, instead of 1,400 contains only 600 hymns, and many of them are the work of young men not conspicuously noted for lyric gifts.

NEW YORK CENTRAL REDUCTIONS

Time Cut Down, But No Wholesale Discharges.

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—Chauncey M. Depew was asked yesterday about the notice to the New York Central employes in the round house at Mott Haven that a reduction of three hours a day would be made in the time for which they are paid and admitted that such notice had been given.

"Is it meant to be permanent?"

"Oh no, when the times readjust themselves to the normal standard it will probably go out of force."

"Many of the railroads throughout the country are adopting a policy of retrenchment in their working expenses. Does the New York Central contemplate following their example to any greater extent?"

"Yes," said Mr. Depew, "in view of the falling off of through travel to Chicago, we have decided to reduce our through train service four trains each way in connection with that city and the Southwest."

"Will this involve more than the trainmen?"

"It will; it will involve the men in the round-house, the yards and the shops to a certain extent, also."

"I suppose many hands will be discharged?"

"No, I do not believe in that. The retrenchment will take the form of reduction in time amounting to ten per cent. that will affect the entire service of the road including all the shops and operating departments."

IS IT SMALLPOX?

A Suspicious Case on Board a Steamship From Rotterdam.

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—The steamship Obdam, Capt. Ponson, from Rotterdam with 34 cabin and 343 steerage passengers, anchored in Quarantine at 2:02 p. m. Aug. 7, amid a fleet of steamers and other vessels. Deputy Health Officer Sanborn boarded the steamer about 4 p. m., after clearing off the other vessels of the fleet. He inspected all the passengers, and under his direction the steerages and holds of the vessel, according to the usual custom at Quarantine, were disinfected. The inspection being over, Dr. Sanborn was taken to the steamer's hospital, where he found a passenger suffering with an obscure eruption resembling smallpox, but not being able to definitely determine his diagnosis the vessel was held until morning to await a further examination and consultation with Dr. Jenkins.

Dr. Sanborn says that all of the passengers were vaccinated before embarking at Rotterdam, and the baggage of the steerage passengers was also disinfected under the supervision of the United States Marine Hospital Surgeon at that port.

Cholera in Europe.

BERLIN, Aug. 8.—The report of a death from cholera in the East End of Berlin on Sunday has caused a scare in the city. The correctness of the diagnosis is doubted. An autopsy will be held to clear up the case.

VIENNA, Aug. 8.—Cholera is spreading in Roumania and Galicia. Several cases have been reported in Lemberg, the capital of Galicia.

Killed a Shark, Then Fainted and Drowned.

DIGBY, N. S., Aug. 8.—While fishing from a canoe yesterday near Digby Cut, Louis Pictou was attacked by a man eating shark. Pictou fired the contents of his rifle into the shark's head, killing it. Pictou afterwards becoming faint from fright, fell overboard and was drowned.

GOING TO WORLD'S FAIR?

A REMARKABLE HOTEL THAT IT WILL PAY TO VISIT.

The Beautiful Building Put Up Within the Past Few Months—Erected by C. E. Brown, the Well-Known Chicago Merchant.

CHICAGO, Aug. 7.—If one goes to the World's Fair there is a substantial, comfortable hotel that it will pay him to visit.

The proprietor, Mr. C. E. Brown, is a well-known successful merchant, 4658 State street.

The story of how he came to put up at the hotel is interesting.

To use the words of its energetic and successful proprietor, Paine's celery compound (the remedy that makes people well) built it.

MERCHANT BROWN.

Mr. Brown says:

"Believing it to be a duty that every man should acknowledge and recommend that which has done him good is the cause of this statement, which, to give all particulars, must go back to my boyhood days. When about 12 years old we moved to central Illinois, where three years I had 'the shakes,' or ague, for which I presume gave me what they called an ague cake or enlargement of the spleen.

"At the age of 17 years I came to Chicago and entered the old Chicago university, but my health was so poor that I could not make much progress with my studies, and from that time on until about eight years ago I was sick more or less, without any one being able to tell just what was the trouble, or to give me any relief.

"Eight years ago while lying aboard my yacht in Milwaukee harbor I awoke one morning but was unable to get up or move. Dr. Adam Miller was called, and he pronounced my trouble dropsy of the heart. After about six weeks of hard fighting and my determination not to die I got up, but was not well, and had to continue taking medicine. About two years ago I lost my wife, the worst thing that could happen to a man. I had a very sick spell after that. A friend then recommended Paine's celery compound, and I took six bottles of it and it put me on my feet again, and I am feeling, and have felt for the past year, the best I ever did in my life. I take no medicine at all now. A short time ago I bought six bottles more of Paine's celery compound. Five of them I gave to friends. I have recommended it to many of my customers and friends both here and at Central Falls, R. I., and I fail to hear of a single one it has not done good. Even a Mrs. Yeager, who has stood out a long time from taking it, said it was the best thing she ever tried.

"I believe that Paine's celery compound was the means of curing me of the dropsy and making me well, so that I was able to take up the battle of life again. And I have built during the last four months a beautiful building, and I have been so well that I have stood every day upon its walls fully eight hours a day, from the time of throwing the first shovel of dirt. I now have 125 rooms for World's Fair visitors, and if any of your friends are coming to the World's Fair, just tell them to stop at Brown's hotel that Paine's celery compound built, and they will find it well built, no crumbling walls or fire trap, but solid and substantial, like the writer.

"I am surprised at myself being able to stand as much work and the long hours from 7 a. m. to midnight, and on the jump all the time, besides confusion and asking questions, which used to make me very nervous. Am feeling well, looking well, and a living example of what your compound has done, and shall recommend it the longest day I live.

"I can refer you to Marshall, Field & Co., Keith Bros., and many other Chicago merchants in regard to my standing," says Mr. Brown; "or you can write to Dr. Miller, who has been my family physician for a good many years, although I am glad to say that I have not been obliged to call him in for over a year."

A table of statistics might be prepared, giving testimonials from men and women from every state in the union, of every age, the rich and the poor, and from every condition in life. There is not a city or village in the United States where Paine's celery compound is not known and prescribed. It has cured nervous diseases, brain troubles, kidney disorders, and liver complaint where the patient's life has been despaired of. It makes people well. Try it.

SCHOOL BOARD EXTRAVAGANCE.

When the Plainfield Board of Education purchased the Wadsworth property at Central avenue and Sixth street, ostensibly for a new High school site, even such conservative citizens as Mayor Gilbert were provoked at the extravagance, and sought to have abridged that power of the School Board which they felt had been abused.

The Press from the first contended that the expenditure was needless and extravagant. Such opinion is confirmed by developments.

The School Board has confessed, since the hue and cry it aroused, that it has no intention of building a new school-house now, and therein acknowledged the needlessness of its purchase. But it boasted of the great investment it had made. A great investment, truly! The house which it has acquired is to-day without a tenant. It brings no revenue. It is in need of repairs, and repairs cannot be made unless the Board makes a pretense of occupying the building as a school. So perforce it must fall into decay, or else the expense of opening unnecessary class rooms there must be borne.

If the School Board was anxious to invest in speculative projects, why did it not select property to purchase that was sure of bringing revenue to the people these hard times? The $12,000 or more of public funds tied up in the Wadsworth property would to-day find ready loan on the best security at excellent interest. Better a business investment than a real-estate speculation, when the result of the real-estate purchase is so uncertain and the money used is the people's.

Truly, the School Board's folly has put a white elephant on the hands of the city. What to do with the acquisition is a problem. The best thing would be to sell it and put the money back in its legitimate channel. But the School Board is too "set in its ways" to do that.

REPORTERS AND PUBLIC BUSINESS.

A singular feature of the School Board's discussion of the Wadsworth property is its request that the newspapers say nothing about it. The Press recognizes that there are matters transacted in School Board session which it would be indiscreet to publish, as the discussion of a teacher's merits, or the comparison of one teacher with another. But when public funds are at stake, or the Board is in a quandary over property which the people never wanted it to buy, the duty of the newspapers to their constituents is to state the facts. In that respect The Press fulfils its obligation to the community. Any reasonable request of the honorable gentlemen of the School Board, The Press is willing to grant, but it objects to attempts at muzzling.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

In his usual terse, manly and decisive way of handling great questions, President Cleveland in his message to Congress to-day makes gratifying progress in the financial question. He earnestly recommends the repeal of the Sherman law, and holds silver legislation to be the cause of the present crisis. Tariff Reform he admits to be urgent, but says it must wait until the financial difficulty is over.

With Grover Cleveland, the people's devoted President, active at the helm, the Ship of State will sail the people into more peaceful and prosperous waters than ever before.

INGRATITUDE FROM THE MOTHER.

Justice Tempered With Mercy Results in the Abuse of the Court.

Yesterday afternoon Patrick Lynch was deputized by Judge Moore of Fanwood to arrest Lawrence Wallace on a charge of disorderly conduct. On being apprehended, Wallace pleaded guilty to the charge, and immediately swore to complaints, charging William Mesler and Charles G. Frentz with being disorderly persons. Sergeant Lynch arrested the two latter offenders, and brought them to court. Both pleaded not guilty, and demanded immediate examinations.

Frentz testified in his own behalf that he struck Wallace on the public highway. He was fined $5 and costs. Mesler testified on his own account that he refused to strike Wallace but he jumped out to the middle of the road and said: "I won't fight you; you ain't my match, but if you have another man as good as you come out and I'll lick you both". The sentence in this case was $5 and costs.

Wallace was then sentenced to pay a fine of $20 and costs or stand committed for 30 days. The Sergeant brought Wallace to the Plainfield lock-up, but subsequently released him on an order from Judge Moore. The order was based on the fact that Mrs. Murray, Wallace's mother, paid the fine and costs in his case with the exception of 50 cents, which the Court loaned her to make up the amount, which she agreed to repay this morning.

Mrs. Murray followed the Judge this morning along South avenue, overtook him, and greeted him with a volley of abuse, saying that she would lay for him and watch his every movement as closely as he had watched her son. She also threatened him and his with injury. The Judge warned her to be very careful as to what she said, and not to make herself liable to arrest. He lost his 50 cents.

Officer Lynch was thanked by the Court, and commended by all, the prisoners included, for his promptness and courtesy.

On complaint of Charles K. Moore, Judge Wadsworth, of this city, this afternoon issued a warrant for the arrest of Julia Murray as a disorderly person.

FOUL WORK OF FIREBUGS.

PROPERTY IN THE BUSINESS HEART OF THE TOWN IMPERILLED.

Combustibles Piled Up in the Wooden Out-Buildings Back of Smith's, Berkaw's and Lederer's — Clerk Richards Found Them Burning and Prevented a Serious Blaze.

An atrocious attempt was made at 9:30 Saturday night to set fire to some out-buildings that are connected with the stores of J. V. Berkaw, J. A. Smith and I. Lederer, and situated in the rear of the main structures.

A smell of burning was noticed, and a search was made for its origin, by W. F. Richards who clerks for Mr. Berkaw.

Going to the rear of the store, he found the odor becoming stronger, until finally he opened a door of one of the out-houses.

Instantly a dense and stifling smoke gushed out, and it was with some difficulty that the fire was extinguished. It required several pails of water to quench the flames.

Then it was found that some miscreant had prepared for a big fire, by piling a quantity of woolen cloth, paper, small boxes and other rubbish together, and touching a match to the inflammable stuff.

Had it not been discovered in time, a serious fire must have resulted, as the row of frame out buildings was very dry, the flames would have spread rapidly, and many valuable business buildings would have been imperilled.

OFF AGAIN FOR CHICAGO.

Third Private Tour From Plainfield to the Great World's Fair.

A. V. D. Honeyman starts next Monday on his third private tour to the World's Fair, this time with about forty persons. Among those who expect to go from this section are the Rev. Edward G. Reed and family, of Somerville; the Rev. and Mrs. George F. Greene, of Cranford; the Rev. and Mrs. George K. Allen, of Perth Amboy; the Rev. and Mrs. John B. Kugler, of Reaville; Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Suydam, A. DeHart Voorhees, of New Brunswick; Mrs. B. V. Leigh and daughters, of Clinton; Miss Crittenden, Miss Palmer and Mr. Bushnell, of this city; A. D. Thompson and family, of Netherwood. There are others from Elizabeth, Morristown, Princeton, and elsewhere.

Plainfield people expecting to go to the Exposition cannot possibly be in better company or have a more delightful time than by joining one of these private parties.

Close Shave For The Workman.

George Mehl, Jr., escaped a serious accident yesterday. While he was working on Terrill & Cole's new building on West street, as a fourteen-foot yellow pine timber was being drawn up to the top of the building, the rope slipped and let the beam fall to the ground a considerable distance. Mr. Mehl was standing under it, but someone called to him of his danger, and he jumped through an opening just in time to save himself.

Off for Montclair To-Morrow.

The Crescent Wheelmen have decided to start for Montclair at 4:30 to-morrow afternoon instead of 5 as first planned, so as to give more time to get to their destination comfortably. A programme of the order of the proceedings has been sent to Plainfield, and examination of it shows that a very elaborate parade is expected.

Bad Boys at Scotch Plains.

Some of the young hoodlums of Scotch Plains are playing havoc with hen roosts and stock pastures there. Edward Willis's hennery was robbed a few nights ago, and the following night two of John Brick's cows were caught in the field and milked dry. The lads are known, and will be made to answer for their mischief.

He'd Make a Dandy.

Charles H. Hand, recently owner of the Elkwood building and now owner of the Crescent building on Broadway, takes a conservative view of the financial condition of the country. He says if money becomes too tight and depreciates too much in value he will sell out and go on the stage as the Stuttering Singer.

Gone to Make Evons Howl.

Residents in the First ward have for a long time been annoyed at night by the baritone voice of Michael Bingham's mastiff dog, which was tied in the yard at the City Hotel. Mr. Bingham heeded good advice, and has turned the quadruped out to pasture on a farm at Evons.

Those Grand Old Relics.

George Moore is about to make another effort to have the old Grand Army flags of the State placed in the rotunda in the State House at Trenton. Mr. Moore is untiring in his efforts, and will soon make a pressing appeal to have his end accomplished.

Enough to Keep One Man Busy.

The firm that supplies George W. Rockfellow, grocer, with coffee, has the exclusive right of sale in the World's Fair. The manager informs Mr. Rockfellow that the number of cups they furnished to the thirsty crowd July 4 was 155,007.

Midnight Fishing and No Luck.

Eight fishermen from this city, headed by Billy Brown as chief cook, went to Perth Amboy at midnight Saturday, and got back Sunday morning with three porgies and an eight-inch bass.

The American Catarrh Cure

Is the result of twenty-six years' study and treatment of the diseases. One bottle convinces the most skeptical. It is always ready for use, needing neither douche nor atomizer. It restores the hearing, cures the hawking cough and expectorating, removes the headache and nose bleeding, increases the appetite, produces sound sleep, invigorates the whole system and increases the vitality. Prepared only by W. B. Jones, M. D., No. 1336 South Eighth street, Philadelphia. For sale by I. W. Randolph, 21 West Front street. Price $1.

THE SCHOOL BOARD'S WHITE ELEPHANT.

TIMES TOO HARD TO TAKE CARE OF IT.

The Wadsworth Property in Need of Repairs, But Nothing to Be Done Till the Taxpayers' Ship Comes In—An Attempt to Get Around the Law So as to Patch Up the Unused Structure—Reporters Warned to Keep Mum.

The members of the Plainfield Board of Education, having wandered from their various homes, gathered last night in the High School building for a regular meeting. The President of the Board seemed to have forgotten about the session, and an accommodating coal man who was among those awaiting the transaction of business consented to go on his wheel and remind the President that his presence was required. When at last the members had assembled, the Clerk read the minutes of the previous meeting, which were approved. All the bills that had been received were read, examined, and ordered paid. The various committees reported various improvements made since the previous meeting of the Board. The trees had been removed that were considered injurious to one of the pieces of school property. The flagging had been relaid around the Bryant, Irving and Washington schools. The fuel for the coming winter had been entirely put in, and was most satisfactory as to quality as far as can be judged from appearances. The city water had been put in the Franklin and Irving schools, as the gas pumps used in those buildings had become entirely worn out.

E. L. Finch made some remarks as to the advisability of having some classes established in the Wadsworth house this coming winter, as according to law the Board could not spend money for repairs of any property not actually being used for school purposes. By having a class meet in the building, the Board would be carrying out the letter of the law at least, and such an action would make it possible to spend money lawfully in making such repairs as might be necessary.

Mr. Babcock said that times were pretty hard, and 'twould be better to wait until things were more prosperous. Among the repairs needed were some to the boiler, which was in a leaky condition. Mr. Babcock said the water could be turned off and the boiler could wait. After discussion, it was decided not to go to the expense and trouble of establishing classes in the Wadsworth dwelling yet awhile, so the matter was tabled.

Mr. Finch said for the benefit of the reporters that he did not think it would be advisable to make any note in the papers of his suggestion concerning the property.

The next question that came up was as to whether the flag-pole, which has to be removed from the roof of the Irving school on account of its being decayed, should be replaced by a new one in its former position or whether it would be advisable to put a large one in the yard, as it is said that the rocking of the pole in the wind loosens the roof and causes leaks. After considerable discussion, the question was laid on the table, and the meeting adjourned.

SUNDAY-SELLING.

The New Ordinance Killed, Then Reconsidered and Tabled.

The new ordinance against Sunday-selling was brought up last night for final adoption. The vote was 5 to 3 against it, Councilmen Bird, Frazee, Marsh, Miller and Weber voting no. Then on Mr. Marsh's motion, who said he did n't know there was so much opposition against it, and who held that Mr. Fisk who introduced the ordinance ought to have a chance to talk on it, the vote was reconsidered and the ordinance was tabled.

THE COUNCIL TAKES A HAND.

It Will Not Accept Any More Payments for North Avenue Sewer Conections.

The Common Council last night adopted on second reading and ordered engrossed and advertised preparatory to final passage an ordinance repealing Sec. 4 of the North avenue sewer ordinance. This section provided that on payments of $10 any citizen could connect with the sewer. The Council in the new ordinance abrogates that privilege.

DEATH LURKS IN THE CESSPOOL.

Austin Hamilton Overcome by the Noxious Gas.

Austin Hamilton of Lake street was overcome by the gas of a cesspool he was cleaning out, at the Myers property on Front street yesterday afternoon, and was taken to the Muhlenberg Hospital looking like a dead man. Only by most arduous labor was consciousness restored, and this afternoon his condition is very low.

Too Good a Chap for Such a Fate.

Harry F. Skiff, recently agent for the United States Express Company in this city, has been in a wreck. From here he was transferred to a night messenger route, running between New York and Philadelphia. He goes through here every other night on the 1:17 train bound West. A few nights ago while his car was being drilled in the yard at Philadelphia it bunked into another car and Skiff was thrown to the floor and severely injured by boxes falling on him.

SUN-LIGHT and FRESH AIR are THE BEST DISINFECTANTS, of course; but you can't apply them in every situation. What next? Well, that depends. For damp cellars use Quicklime, plenty of it. For vaults and cesspools use COPPERAS; cheap stuff; we sell it by the pound or hundred-weight—instructions thrown in. For kitchen sinks, for water-closets, for house plumbing, for the sick room, to deodorize discharges, to purify the air and to prevent contagion, use REYNOLDS'S ODORLESS DISINFECTANT. Made and sold for fifteen years at

Reynolds's Pharmacy, Corner Park and North Avenues.

HO FOR THE NOTCH!

Rapid Transit on Somerset Street to Begin Next Saturday.

Those who have occasion to go up Somerset street will be glad to know that the extension of the street railway on that thoroughfare will be in operation Saturday. The new cars that have been ordered for the extension have not yet been shipped from the makers, but Car No. 1 of the old line will be put on temporarily, and its new and shining surface will be gazed on with delight by the up-country residents out towards the mountain.

Presentation and Annexation.

Charles Silvers, of Elizabeth, has presented, through George W. Moore, a handsome gilt-framed picture of Past Commander Atwood to Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R. The presentation will be made at the Post meeting to-night. It is also understood among the veterans that an effort will be made to combine the two Posts. The comrades in Post 73 favor annexation by having the other Post disband and apply for membership in the regular way.

THESE PEOPLE IN HARD LUCK.

STRANGE VICISSITUDES OF THE KIELY FAMILY.

Four of Them Badly Hurt at Different Times, by Similar Accidents—Farmer Blazier Also Visited by Much Affliction—His Oldest Boy Taken Away.

The Kiely family of which William E., the telephone lineman, is a member, has been having an extraordinary run of bad luck.

William's sister Minnie is the girl who is laid up with a broken leg from falling into the yard while hanging clothes on an elevated line at Blatz's Hotel.

Another sister, now employed by Mrs. John E. Beerbower of the City Hotel, is still quite lame from a fall some time ago. She slipped on the icy sidewalk in front of Bliumm's Hotel and was badly injured. She sued for damages, and lost the suit.

William's father has been confined to the house a long time from injury caused by overstraining himself in lifting heavy flagstones.

William himself got into trouble with the Plainfield Athletic Society, of which he was Treasurer, and was threatened with prosecution if he did n't make good an alleged deficiency.

Last Saturday William was working on top of a pole on Somerset steet when his spurs slipped and he slid violently to the ground. The fall jarred him considerably; and his arms were filled with big splinters from the pole. The injuries were exceedingly painful, but after having the splinters plucked from his torn flesh and the wounds dressed he resumed work, feeling that he could n't afford to be idle.

In the afternoon an acquaintance stopped underneath the pole where Kiely was working, and twitted him unmercifully. He was a member of the Athletic Society, and, sore with the Society's grudge, told Kiely he ought to have broken his neck.

If Kiely has the trials of Job, he has n't Job's patience, and it was human nature for him to get mad and descend for the purpose of doing the fellow up.

But His taunter did n't give him a chance. No sooner was the bottom of the pole reached than the tormentor hauled off and dealt Kiely a terrific blow in the face, knocking him down and disfiguring him by blacking one of his eyes.

Some men in Kiely's place would have considered all this misfortune sufficient provocation to go off and get gloriously drunk, but to his credit he let the flowing bowl alone. He'd make a fortune, however, as a dime-museum exhibit of the unluckiest man alive.

Another man whose cup of bitterness is full is Edward Blazier, of Martinville. Blazier is a farmer poor in pocket and poorer in luck. One year ago he lost his wife, and was left with four young children. The oldest, Warren, was just old enough to help his father about the place, and Warren, whose age was 13, is the one of whose drowning these columns told a few days ago. It seems that after dinner on Wednesday Warren, in company with two other boys, went swimming in the Chimney Rock brook. At several points the water is deep enough for good swimming. Warren began to disrobe, but the other boys decided not to go in and warned young Blazier against doing so as the water was too cold. Blazier paid no attention to these warnings, but plunged in and swam out into the deep water. After making a dive he did not come up and the boys began to scream and ran away. A farm hand recovered the body, but life was extinct.

Martinville is a little village on the second mountain back of North Plainfield. It is a primitive place, ten miles from any railroad, and an accident of this kind awakens the most intense interest in the minds of the simple farmers. All day Thursday the neighbors for miles around kept coming to the house to gaze upon the features of the dead boy and offer sympathy to the bereaved father. Little knots of villagers stood around the store talking over the event in subdued tones. All agreed that Blazier was a man to be greatly pitied.

BASEBALL EXTRAORDINARY.

A Free-for-All Fight Threatened at Detroit.

DETROIT, Aug. 7.—There was an exciting incident at the Detroit Athletic club grounds Saturday evening during a game of baseball between a team from the New York Athletic Club and the home team. The New Yorkers were defeated in Friday's game and it is said came upon the grounds considerably nettled at their defeat and decidedly exasperated at criticisms showered upon them. The game progressed pleasantly, however, till the sixth inning. At the end of the fifth the score was 1 to 0 in favor of Detroit.

The New Yorkers went to the bat at the opening of the sixth and trouble was soon brewing. Campbell of the New York club was caught out, but continued his run to first and deliberately ran down Buchanine, Detroit's first baseman. The incident occasioned loud protests from both the field and the grand stand. It was passed, however, and the game proceeded. With two men on bases Cuming, a few moments later, made a home run. As he passed the plate he collided with Bowerman, Detroit's catcher. No damage was done, but Cuming turned and dealt Bowerman a stinging blow in the face.

A wild scene ensued. The home players gathered around the plate threateningly and the occupants of the grand stand rose as one man and rushed onto the field with a roar like thunder. The police quickly interfered but it required all their energies to prevent a serious riot. No semblance of order was maintained while the managers of the teams negotiated. The Detroits demanded a substitute for Cuming. This was refused and the game was declared a draw at the end of the fifth inning—thus terminating in Detroit's favor. Feeling ran high among the spectators, and Cuming was escorted by the police to the bus which conveyed the New Yorkers to their hotel. Some stones and sticks were thrown at the bus, but no one was injured.

Mrs. George A. Moore, of East Front street, left on the 1:15 Royal Blue line train this morning for Decatur, Ill., to pay a month's visit to her uncle, Joseph Mills, of that place. She will also spend two weeks at the World's Fair.

Sam Taynor, borough constable, last night gave a party to his friends at his Summit avenue residence. Guests attended in large numbers, and Sam entertained in great style. A merry time was spent by all present, and they hope to have the affair repeated before snow flies.

A. M. Falkenfelt, a member of the Saengerbund, with his bride whom he has just brought from New York city, last evening gave a reception to several members of the Saengerbund at residence on Pearl street. The visitors were royally entertained, and passed a pleasant evening.

Elder B. W. Hand, who preached the effective funeral sermon over the remains of Andrew J. Stewart, Sunday, was a nephew of the deceased. Mr. Stewart was baptized 33 years ago by the Rev. John Duer, then pastor of the Second Baptist church, after whom Duer street was named. In this church Mr. Stewart held membership till after it became the Park Avenue Baptist. He originated the cottage meetings which have been held nearly every evening for more than 30 years. Among the notable buildings which he helped to construct were the old Seventh-Day and Baptist churches. Besides his son and daughter he leaves three grandchildren, by his deceased daughter Anna, who was Mrs. Henry Compton of Metuchen.

WANTED TOO MUCH FROM THE CITY.

UNREASONABLE DEMANDS OF MADISON AVENUE PROPERTY OWNERS.

$1,000 Asked for a Thimbleful of Land—Mr. Dreier Says Take All Or None—Councilmen Wax Wroth and Decline to Treat with the Greedy—Commissioners Appointed.

All is not serene in the Madison avenue ranks. The proposition to widen the thoroughfare from Front street to the railroad is meeting with considerable opposition from those who want the city to pay them handsomely before they will consent to the seizure of their property.

Opportunity was given to objectors to be heard, at last night's Common Council meeting, and they were not bashful in making their wants known.

Lawyer W. R. Codington appeared for two property-owners, J. W. Jackson and Judge Austin. Mr. Jackson owns the corner property next to the M. E. church, and Mr. Austin a 25x25 lot. Mr. Jackson is not opposed to the widening of the avenue, but feels that the narrowing of his lot will make it less valuable and that he ought to be reimbursed for the land taken and the damage done. Mr. Austin holds that to take off 8½ feet will almost destoy the usefulness of his lot.

Henry Piker has a lot 18x25, and both he and Mr. Austin demand $1,000.

Samuel Dreier argued against widening Madison avenue. He said he knew of many streets in New York that were narrower that did more business. He had paid $7,000 seventeen years ago for his land at the corner, 25x75, and had put up a building that cost much more than that. If the street were widened as proposed, the entire building would have to come down, and he wanted every cent he had paid out. The lot adjoining, 20 feet front, where the Chinese laundry is, was held at $6,000, and he thought his figure was not unreasonable.

The heirs of T. J. Gillies presented a written protest against any of their property being taken for the widening.

Councilman See moved that all of the offers of the Madison avenue property-owners to sell their land be rejected.

Councilman Marsh seconded this, as he held the proportions to be beyond all reason. Both Mr. See and Mr. Marsh said it was plain to be seen that the Council could not treat with the objectors. The motion to reject their offers was unanimously adopted.

A resolution was introduced to appoint J. Fred MacDonald, Jeremiah Manning and William C. Ayres commissioners to assess damages and benefits of the proposed widening. It was suggested, however, that both Mr. Manning and Mr. Ayres owned property near the avenue, and that they would therefore be objectionable. The assessors appointed were J. Fred MacDonald, E. C. Mulford and Wm. M. Sandford.

They will meet in the Council chamber August 31 at 8 p. m. to prepare a schedule of benefits and damages and hear what the property-owners interested have to say.

Disgraceful Disagreement.

A colored man and a woman supposed to be his wife, held a heated discussion on Front street, near Watchung avenue, last evening. She wanted the man to go home, to which he did not consent. His coat and vest were pulled off in the tussle, and a general scrap was engaged in by the two.

Beautifying The City Park.

Street Commissioner Meeker was last night authorized to cut the weeds in the City Park and put the grounds in shape. He will also plant posts across the entrances so that the promenade may be restricted to people afoot and horses and cows can't be driven across.

FEMININE FEROCITY.

A Spiteful Meeting of the Lady Managers of the World's Fair.

CHICAGO, Aug. 8.—For four hours yesterday afternoon the Board of Lady Managers wrangled and when the meeting adjourned the report of Mrs. Meredith, which was the cause of all the trouble, was still before the body. There were tears, hisses, stamping and other noises. As soon as the meeting was called to order there was a desire expressed that Mrs. Nancy Houston Banks, of Kentucky, explain how a certain deposition made by Mrs. Hall, of Delaware, secretary of the committee, came to be published. The deposition was in an awards support of Mrs. Cunningham's charges that Mrs. Meredith, chairman of the committee, had acted with "malice."

This brought forth a great deal of feminine oratory but Mrs. Banks finally explained that the first she knew of the publication of the deposition was when she saw members of the press with type-written copies and she at once notified the officers of the Board.

Mrs. Meredith then made a report, included in which was the information that every member of the committee had signed a letter addressed to Mrs. Palmer, asking that Mrs. Hall be excused from further service on the committee.

Then trouble began and for three hours one parliamentary question after another was raised, until even the man who sits as parliamentary expert at Mrs. Palmer's side and advises her, was bewildered. As the debate grew a large number of outsiders, attracted by the noise, pushed by the guards and filled the chamber.

None of the many propositions met with the approbation of a sufficient number of members to insure a loption and the board finally adjourned in a very ruffled frame of mind, leaving the matter unsettled.

A Wonderful Machine.

There is no doubt that man is a fine mechanism, but like every other machine he wears out by friction. It is said that he is born again every two or three years. His body is virtually re-made from food. To retard this making over is radically wrong, as a man loses so much vitality in the delayed process that it takes a long time to recuperate. The process of making anew is so accelerated by purging with BRANDRETH'S PILLS that a new man, as it were, may be made in two or three months, and the change in the mechanism is such that the worn out part is replaced by the new without the usual running down of the entire machine. You don't have to stop for repairs. Purge away with BRANDRETH'S PILLS the old, diseased and worn out body. They are purely vegetable, absolutely harmless, and safe to take at any time.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—The German Sunday-school went to Paplac this morning.

—Fourteen girls were laid off at the carpet factory last night.

—The man who takes the ad. out of the newspaper takes the add out of his cash box.

—Hulett is giving away copies of The Musical Echo to all callers, this week only.

—Six of McCullough's men were laid off Saturday, from his planing mill in North Plainfield.

—Even Paterson can't stand Gentle Willie. Capt. Moorehead fired Murphy yesterday.

—Sebastian Miller, arrested by Marshal Pangborn for disorderly conduct, was fined $2 last night.

—Another dressing of crushed stone is being put on Somerset street by the street railway company.

—A 15-ton stack of hay owned by Chauncey B. Ripley was burned at Westfield, early Monday morning.

—Two men got into an altercation in a Somerset street grocery store last night and fought, but there were no arrests.

—Information about Wanamaker, the Y. M. C. A. seaside camp on Deal Lake, can be obtained at the Y. M. C. A. rooms.

—The ordinance to macadamize North avenue from Richmond street to Berckman was adopted on final passage last night.

—White's great sale of ladies' oxford ties at 68 cents and 78 cents opened yesterday. The bargains are big. Don't miss the chance.

—The walls and ceilings of the second story of the new fire department headquarters are to be covered with wainscoting instead of plaster.

—E. P. Thorn's big white cat was home again yesterday, but it eloped with the aid of human hands. The reward for its return has been doubled.

—James F. Martin and James Egan are to ride a bicycle race for $10 a side next Monday night, from Plainfield to Westfield and back over the county road.

—An out-of-town bicyclist ran into a frog at the Front-Somerset street turnout of the street railway, late last evening, and wounded his wheel. He walked home.

—Lew Bird lost his cow from Boice's apple orchard, Sunday, and last night it was found grazing at Somerset street and Jackson avenue, surrounded by a lot of hoodlums.

—A young colored lad was learning to ride a safety on Park avenue last night after dark. He got frightened at a carriage, and came down on the ground with much force.

—Anything in the bicycle or machinery line that needs repairing, take to Lister, 119 Exchange alley. His work and materials are superior in quality and reasonable in price.

—While riding a wheel on Park avenue, last evening, Michael Coyne ran into an elderly man. Both he and the wheel took a fall. There was no damage beyond slight bruises.

—Prof. Armstrong has been engaged by F. M. Hulett to organize a mandolin and guitar club for women and a banjo and guitar club for men. The studio will open next week.

—Sunday base-ball thrives in the outskirts. Last Sabbath 200 people watched the East Ends defeat the Neversweats 16 to 8, in the Scotch Plains Notch near the swimming-hole.

—A large number of painters have been laid off this week by the bosses. One remarked this morning that he did not believe there were nine of the trade employed in the city.

—The housewife cares at this season more about having her butter and eggs fresh and nice than any other article of food. So the careful housewife goes to Mills, 312 Liberty street.

—A hay wagon collided with a carriage owned by Mrs. Verdon at the corner of Somerset and Emily streets last evening. No one was hurt, but Mrs. Verdon's carriage will need repairing.

—The Common Council transacted little beyond routine business last night. Everything of note is told under appropriate headings. The Council will meet again Tuesday, August 15.

—The councilmanic Street Committee was last night empowered to grant the petition of Carty & Stryker to put up a wooden awning in front of their store at Central avenue and Second street.

—A. D. Phillips was last night granted the contract for putting in the electric-light fixtures of the fire department headquarters. His bid was $285. The only other bid was that of Mr. Soule for $315.

—No regular business meeting will be held in the rooms of the W. C. T. U. Thursday, August 10, but all are cordially invited to attend a special prayer meeting to be held at 3:30 p. m. that day.

—The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Trade of Plainfield will be held in their rooms, 117 East Second street, Thursday evening, August 10. A number of applications for membership will be voted on.

—Over 2,000 people enjoyed the band concert at the merry-go-round at the foot of Pearl street last night. Mr. Shelley has been prevailed on to remain until Saturday night, and he will then leave for Westfield. Another open-air concert will be given some night this week.

—You want good music in your home, at as little expense as possible, and F. M. Hulett is ready to meet your wishes. He offers rare bargains in first-class organs, and sells slightly used pianos very cheap. The inducements are great at 324 West Front street. Better stop in and talk it over.

—A big man with a bellowing voice sang "After the Ball" to the great delight of a gathering indoors, and the delectation of a crown on the sidewalk without, in one of the up-stairs parlors of the City Hotel last night. He is one of a jolly crew of drummers, who will stay in town all the week. A large number of bystanders lingered about some time after the bawl was over.

The Philadelphia at Callao.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—Much anxiety and doubt were cleared away yesterday at the Navy Department by the receipt of a cable message from Captain Barker, Commanding the United States steamship Philadelphia, stating that his vessel arrived at Callao from Rio de Janerio yesterday morning. The Philadelphia had not been heard from since July 9 when her arrival at Rio was reported with information that she would sail thence immediately for Callao.

Fort Johnson is Again Akin.

AMSTERDAM, N. Y., Aug. 8.—The name of Fort John on postoffice was yesterday changed to Akin by the Postoffice Department. Two years ago some of the citizens of the place petitioned Congress to change the name from Akin to Fort Johnson, which was done. This was objectionable to the Akin family and they have had the name changed back to Akin, which is also the name of the Central Hudson railroad station.

The Tunnel Receivership.

JERSEY CITY, Aug. 8.—The rule to show cause for the appointment of a receiver for the Hudson River Tunnel company, which was to have come up before Chancellor McGill at Jersey City yesterday, was again adjourned by agreement between United States District Attorney White, counsel for the company, and A. Q. Keasey, for the contractors, until Sep. 5.

Spudds—This is about the twentieth time I've called with this bill. I'd like to know what your prospects are, anyway.

"Oh, they are bright, very bright. You know I have a rich old uncle."

"I've heard so."

"I'm his heir."

"So they say."

"It's true, too. He's coming to see us next week."

"All right. Here's ten cents to buy rat poison."—N. Y. Weekly.

GALLANTRY.

"No, miss, we couldn't think of letting you cross through this dreadful mud and slush!"—Life.

To the Manner Born.

"Well," said the lawyer to the rural witness, "how far was it from your house to the road?"

"Well, sir," said the witness, "I reckin hit wur 'bout an acre an' a half."

"Idiot!" cried the lawyer. "How many yards was it?"

"Well, sir," replied the witness, "dar wuz only one yard, an' that wur my yard, an' hit ain't fenced in, nuther!"—Atlanta Constitution.

Her Candid Opinion.

Suitor (a young author)—Then my letters have pleased you so much, my dear Elsie, that you have always read them two or three times over?

Else—I solemnly declare that to be a fact, Henry, dear.

Suitor—Then you really think that—

Elsie—My candid opinion is that you should try to improve your handwriting.—Boston Globe.

Why They Shook Hands Coldly.

Tommy—I know that Mr. Spoon doesn't kiss Helen when he goes home after a call, even if he is engaged to her.

Tommy's Mamma—Tush! Why do you think so?

Tommy—Because I ran into the hall last night to say good night when they did an' I stood and watched them."—Chicago Record.

Society Note.

First Clubman—McGinnis' pointer dog is dead. I've got to break it to him, and, knowing how he loves that dog, I hate to do it. There will be a fearful scene if I don't prepare him for it.

Second Clubman—Tell him first that his wife is not expected to live.—Texas Siftings.

Only Half a Trial.

Purchaser (angrily)—You told me this horse could go with the speed of the wind. It was all I could do to get into town before noon.

Dealer—He ain't had no fair show yit. Wait till ye turn him home'ard. Goin' home he's greased lightnin'!—N. Y. Weekly.

AN INSTANTANEOUS PHOTOGRAPH.

Portrait of the young man who says he can shave himself in the dark.—Life.

Bound to Get Out of It.

Mrs. Blinks (after breakfast)—My dear, I wish you'd stop into Bigg Store & Co.'s and order seven-eighths of a yard more of that cloth I got yesterday, and three-quarters—

Mr. Blinks—I'm afraid I'll forget it you give me the items now. Just speak to me over the telephone this afternoon.

Office Boy (in the afternoon)—Please, sir, Mrs. Blinks is at the 'phone, and wants to talk to you.

Mr. Blinks (hurriedly)—Say—er—tell her I'm drunk.—N. Y. Weekly.

Meteorological Item.

Mr. Manhattan Beach—There is something in these weather predictions after all.

Mr. Murray Hill—As a general thing they are failures.

Mr. Manhattan Beach—Yes, but windy and blustering weather was predicted for to-day, and here is a telegram from your mother saying she will be here on the afternoon train.—Texas Siftings.

Horses Burned.

BUFFALO, Aug. 7.—The large barns filled with hay on a farm owned by C. J. Hamlin at East Aurora were destroyed by fire Saturday. It is reported that three horses and a colt perished. The farm where the fire occurred is seperate from Hamlin's stock farm at the same place.

Alive and Dead.

A lady had almost decided to buy the coat she was trying on. The weary saleswoman breathed a sigh of relief. The customer had been hard to suit. Even yet she fingered the buttons and twitched the sleeves thoughtfully.

"What was this fur when it was alive?" she asked abruptly, as she adjusted the collar.

The saleswoman hesitated and stammered. She was torn between a business-like desire to make a sale and a conscientious regard for the truth. Her confusion was painful.

"Well, ma'am, we have to call it martin," she said at last, "but it was skunk when it was alive."

Incompatible.

With a faint glow on her usually pale cheek the young woman traced geometrical figures in the sand with the point of her parasol.

"Which of the two do you prefer, Mr. Farlow," she asked, "Thoreau or Margaret Fuller?"

"I must confess, Miss Ticklowlle," replied the young man, "that I have read very little of either."

"It is as I feared, Mr. Farlow," said the Boston maiden, retreating from him with a shudder. "We are incompatible. We never could be happy together. You pronounce it eether."—Chicago Tribune.

Good as a Clock.

Daughter—The clock has stopped, and I promised my music-teacher to practice a full hour every day.

Father—Well, never mind; begin your practicing, and I'll let you know when the hour is up. I'm going out.

"But if you go out how am I to know?"

"You'll see me coming in."—Good News.

His Wife Had Initiated Him.

She—You are always talking about the fashions. Now, honestly, do you think that you would know the latest fashion in hats if you were to enter a milliner's?

He—Certainly.

She—How?

He (ruefully)—By looking at the prices.—Boston Globe.

A Square Deal.

Two vagrants called on a kind old lady in the suburbs of New York.

"To which of you two shall I give this nickel?" she asked.

First Tramp—Give it to him, madam. He has purchased the route from me and I am taking him around to introduce him to the customers.—Texas Siftings.

A Lord of Creation.

Rumson—Yessiree; I'm master in my own house; I can tell you that!

Friend—When you and your wife don't agree, what do you do?

Rumson—Do? I get so mad I jus let her have her own way to spite my self for marrying her.—Puck.

SYMPATHY.

"Oh, Adolphus! you have been looking very poorly of late. I wish you would insure your life; it would be so nice to have something to remember you by!"—Once a Week.

The Stronger Anesthetic.

Wagleigh—Prof. Boresome gave a lecture on anesthetics the other night, with experiments with chloroform. More than half the audience were put to sleep.

Tagleigh—With chloroform?

Wagleigh—No, with the lecture.—N. Y. Herald.

His Wife Had Initiated Him.

A Brooklyn man who does business in New York but lives up the Hudson met a neighbor on a Central train. The latter had a large ostrich egg.

"What are you doing with that ostrich egg?"

"I'm taking it out to my farm, where I am going to hang it up in my poultry yard."

"For what purpose?"

"I want to inspire my hens with ambition to do better than they have been doing."—Texas Siftings.

A Very Peculiar Calf.

Butcher—Have you any orders this morning, madame?

Young Wife (who is keeping house)—Yes, that calf's liver you brought me last week was very fine. I want another one, but be sure and get it from the same calf, as my husband is very particular.—Texas Siftings.

A Powerful Creature.

Mr. Hennery—Sam, have you seen my new incubator?

Sam—Hencubator? No, sah; but ef she done lay all dem yere eggs she say a mighty pow'ful fine fowl, sah!—

Cleveland Urges Repeal of the Sherman Act.

COMPLETE TEXT OF THE MESSAGE

The Present Condition of the Country. Foreign Nations Profiting by Our Mistakes—Lack of Confidence a Serious Menace—Not a Party Matter—Immediate Action Necessary—Tariff Reform Can Wait Until the Financial Problem is Settled.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—The following is the full text of President Cleveland's message to Congress, read in both Houses at noon yesterday:

TO THE CONGRESS OF THE UNITED STATES:

The existence of an alarming and extraordinary business situation, involving the welfare and prosperity of all our people, has constrained me to call together in extra session the people's representatives in Congress to the end that through a wise and patriotic exercise of the legislative duty with which they are solely charged, present evils may be mitigated and dangers threatening the future may be averted.

Our unfortunate financial plight is not the result of untoward events nor of conditions related to our natural resources; nor is it traceable to any of the afflictions which frequently check national growth and prosperity. With plenteous crops, with abundant promise of remunerative production and manufacture, with unusual invitation to safe investment and with satisfactory assurance to business enterprise, suddenly financial distrust and fear have sprung upon every side. Numerous moneyed institutions have suspended because abundant assets were not immediately available to meet the demands of frightened depositors. Surviving corporations and individuals are content to keep in hand the money they are usually anxious to loan, and those engaged in legitimate business are surprised to find that the securities they offer for loans, though heretofore satisfactory, are no longer accepted. Values supposed to be fixed are fast becoming conjectural, and loss and failure have involved every branch of business.

Legislation the Cause.

I believe these things are principally chargeable to Congressional legislation touching the purchase and coinage of silver by the general government.

This legislation is embodied in a statute passed on the 14th day of July, 1890, which was the culmination of much agitation on the subject involved, and which may be considered a truce, after a long struggle, between the advocates of free silver coinage and those intending to be more conservative.

Undoubtedly the monthly purchases by the government of four million and five hundred ounces of silver, enforced under that statute, were regarded by those interested in silver production as a certain guarantee of its increase in price.

The result, however, has been entirely different, for immediately following a spasmodic and slight rise, the price of silver began to fall after the passage of the act and has since reached the lowest point ever known. This disappointing result has led to renewed and persistent effort in the direction of free silver coinage.

Meanwhile, not only are the evil effects of the aporation of the present law constantly accumulating, but the result to which its execution must inevitably lead is becoming palpable to all who give the least heed to financial subjects.

The Treasury Hampered.

This law provides that in payment for the four million and five hundred thousand ounces of silver bullion which the Secretary of the Treasury is commanded to purchase monthly there shall be issued Treasury notes redeemable on demand in gold or silver coin at the discretion of the Secretary of the Treasury and the said notes may be reissued. It is, however, declared in the act to be "the established policy of the United States to maintain the two metals on a parity with each other upon the present legal ratio or such ratio as may be provided by law." This declaration so controls the action of the Secretary of the Treasury as to prevent his exercising the discretion nominally vested in him.

If by such action the parity between gold and silver may be disturbed, manifestly a refusal by the Secretary to pay these Treasury notes in gold, if demanded, would necessarily result in their discredit and depreciation as obligations payable only in silver and would destroy the parity between the two metals by establishing a discrimination in favor of gold.

Up to the fifteenth day of July, 1893, these notes had been issued in payment of silver bullion purchases, to the amount of more than one hundred and forty-seven millions of dollars. While all but a very small quantity of this bullion remains uncoined and without usefulness in the Treasury, many of the notes given in its purchase have been paid in gold. This is illustrated by the statement that between the first day of May, 1892, and the fifteenth day of July, 1893, the notes of this kind issued in payment for silver bullion, amounted to a little more than fifty-four millions of dollars, and that during the same period about forty-nine millions of dollars were paid by the Treasury in gold for the redemption of such notes.

The policy necessarily adopted of paying these notes in gold has not spared the gold reserve of one hundred millions of dollars long ago set aside by the government for the redemption of other notes, for this fund has already been subjected to the payment of new obligations amounting to about one hundred and fifty millions of dollars on account of silver purchases, and as a consequence for the first time since its creation been encroached upon.

Foreign Nations Profited.

We have thus made the depletion of our gold easy, and have tempted other and more appreciative nations to add it to their stock. That the opportunity we have offered has not been neglected is shown by the large amounts of gold which have been recently drawn from our Treasury and exported to increase the financial strength of foreign nations. The excess of exports of gold over its imports for the year ending June 30, 1893, amounted to more than eighty-seven and a half millions of dollars. Between the first day of July, 1890, and the fifteenth day of July, 1893, the gold coin and bullion in our Treasury decreased more than one hundred and thirty-two millions of dollars, while during the same period the silver coin and bullion in the Treasury increased more than one hundred and forty-seven millions of dollars. Unless government bonds are to be constantly issued and sold to replenish our exhausted gold, only to be again exhausted, it is apparent that the operation of the silver purchase law, now in force, leads in the direction of entire substitution of silver for the gold in the government treasury, and that this must be followed by the payment of all government obligations in depreciated silver.

Gold and Silver Must Part.

At this stage gold and silver must part company and the government must call in its established policy to maintain the two metals on a parity with each other. Given over to the exclusive use of a currency greatly depreciated according to the standard of the commercial world we could no longer claim a place among nations of the first class, nor could our government claim a performance of its obligation, so far as such an obligation has been imposed upon it, to provide for the use of the people the best and safest money.

If as many of its friends claim, silver ought to occupy a larger place in our currency and the currency of the world through general international corporation and agreement, it is obvious that the United States will not be in a position to gain a hearing in favor of such an arrangement so long as we are willing to continue our attempt to accomplish the result single handed.

The knowledge in business circles among our own people that our government cannot make its fiat equivalent to intrinsic value, nor keep inferior money on a parity with superior money by its own independent efforts, has resulted in such a lack of confidence at home, in the stability of our currency value that capital refuses its aid to new enterprises, while millions are actually withdrawn from the channels of trade and commerce to become idle and unproductive in the hands of timid owners. Foreign investors equally alert not only decline to purchase American securities but make haste to sacrifice those which they already have.

Lack of Confidence a Menace.

It does not meet the situation to say that apprehension in regard to the future of our finances is groundless and that there is no reason for lack of confidence in the purposes or power of the Government in the premises. The very existence of this apprehension and lack of confidence, however caused, is a menace which ought not for a moment to be disregarded. Possibly, if the undertaking we have in hand were the maintenance of a specific known quantity of silver at the parity with gold, our ability to do so might be estimated and gauged, and perhaps in view of our unparalleled growth and resources, might be favorably passed upon. But when our avowed endeavor is to maintain such parity in regard to an amount of silver increasing at the rate of fifty millions of dollars yearly, with no fixed termination to such increase, it can hardly be said that a problem is presented whose solution is free from doubt.

The people of the United States are entitled to a sound and stable currency and to money recognized as such on every exchange and in every market of the world. Their government has no right to injure them by financial experiments opposed to the policy and practice of other civilized states, nor is it justified in permitting an exaggerated and unreasonable reliance on our national strength and ability to jeopardize the soundness of the people's money.

Not a Party Matter.

This matter rises above the plane of party politics. It vitally concerns every business and calling and enters every household in the land. There is one important aspect of the subject which especially should never be overlooked. At times like the present, when the evils of unsound finance threaten us, the speculator may anticipate a harvest gathered from the misfortune of others, the capitalist may protect himself by hoarding or may even find profit in the fluctuation of values but the wage-earner—the first to be injured by a depreciated currency and the last to receive the benefit of its correction—is practically defenseless. He relies for work on the ventures of confident and contented capital. This failing him, his condition is without alleviation, for he can neither prey on the misfortunes of others nor guard his labor. One of the greatest statesmen our country has known, speaking more than fifty years ago when a derangement of the currency had caused commercial distress, said:

"The very man of all others who has the deepest interest in a sound currency and who suffers most by mischievous legislation in money matters, is the man who earns his daily bread by his daily toil."

These words are as pertinent now as on the day they were uttered, and ought to impressively remind us that a failure in the discharge of our duty at this time must especially injure those of our countrymen who labor, and who because of their number and condition are entitled to the most watchful care of their government.

Immediate Action Necessary.

It is of the utmost importance that such relief that Congress can afford in the existing situation be afforded at once. The maxim: "He gives twice who gives quickly," is directly applicable. It may be true that the embarrassment from which the business of the country is suffering arise as much from evils apprehended as from those actually existing. We may hope, too, that calm counsels will prevail and that neither the capitalists nor the wage earners will give way to unreasoning panic and sacrifice their property or their interests under the influence of exaggerated fears. Nevertheless, every day's delay in removing one of the plain and principal causes of the present state of things enlarges the mischief already done and increases the responsibility of the government for its existence. Whatever else the people have a right to expect from Congress, they may certainly demand that legislation condemned by the ordeal of three years' disastrous experience shall be removed from the statute books as soon as their representatives can legislatively deal with it.

It was my purpose to summon Congress in special session early in the coming September that we might enter promptly upon the work of tariff reform, which the true interests of the country clearly demand, which so large a majority of the people, as shown by their suffrages, desire and expect, and to the accomplishment of which every officer of the present administration is pledged. But while tariff reform has lost nothing of its immediate and permanent importance and must in the near future engage the attention of Congress, it has seemed to me that the financial condition of the country should at once be laid before all other subjects, be considered by your honorable body.

I earnestly recommend the prompt repeal of the provisions of the act passed July 14th, 1890, authorizing the purchase of silver bullion, and that other legislative action may put beyond all doubt or mistake the intention and the ability of the government to fulfil its pecuniary obligations in money universally recognized by all civilized countries.

Only One Patient and He is Recovering. Every Precaution Taken to Guard Against the Disease—Regular Bulletins to Be Issued Hereafter.

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—Health Officer Jenkins issued the following bulletin yesterday:

"QUARANTINE, Aug. 8.—The bacteriological examination of Lorenzo Morace, a passenger on the steamer Karamania, who has been isolated on Swinburne Island, shows the presence of cholera bacilli. The patient is recovering and is now able to be up and about. The other passengers of the Karamania, who are on Hoffman Island, are in good health.

"The steamer Massilia, which arrived from Marseilles and Naples to-day, 17 days out, reports one case of measles aboard. With this exception, all are well.

"W. T. JENKINS, Health Officer."

There is no danger of any further outbreak, and, consequently, no necessity for alarm.

Every precaution has been and will be taken to guard against the introduction of the disease by the passengers into this country.

The passengers will be detained until every danger from cholera infection has passed away.

From now until all danger of cholera has passed Health Officer Jenkins will issue daily bulletins giving the exact physical condition of all the passengers on vessels from infected ports, or ports supposed to be infected.

BUCHAREST, Aug. 9.—Fifteen cases of cholera and four deaths were reported in Brahilov yesterday. In Soolina 26 cases and five deaths were reported.

SHORT OF CURRENCY.

The Chemical Bank Unable to Furnish Cash for the Central Pay Roll.

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—The great scarcity of currency at the present time is very conspicuously shown in the refusal of the Chemical Bank to make up the amount of the New York Central Railroad Company's pay roll. Mr. Depew, the president of the New York Central, was seen at his office. In relation to the matter he stated that the bank's refusal to make up the monthly pay roll was due entirely to the scarcity of currency. "Our pay roll," he said, "amounts to $800,000 a month. The Chemical is our depository and will so continue. It will give us just what currency it can, but the present scarcity renders it unable to accomodate us as formerly, and we must collect it elsewhere. It has been suggested that we issue our own notes, but we will not have to resort to that measure, as the money is already in sight. It would besides hardly be lawful, though in the crisis of 1873 many merchants issued notes from five dollars upwards."

An Adopted Daughter's Rights.

CHICAGO, Aug. 9.—Under highly romantic circumstances, Mrs. Eva Lewis, of Chicago, was awarded $76,182 by Judge Lansing in the county court at Lincoln, Neb. Mrs. Lewis started in life as a Chicago waif. When 3 years old she was adopted from the Chicago foundling home by wealthy Jason G. Miller, of Plattsmouth, Neb., who was childless. He agreed to make her his heiress, but when she reached womanhood she married against his will and in Miller's will no mention was made of her. She promptly sued for a share in the quarter million estate and after a bitter legal fight has won.

GOLD AND SILVER WAR

Hill Introduces the First Bill to Repeal.

STEWART LEADS OFF FOR SILVER

How the Message Was Received in Both Houses of Congress—Cautious Comments by Leading Statesmen of All Parties. No Partisan Spirit Shown—Efforts to Secure Prompt Consideration of the Question With a View to an Early Settlement.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—The proceedings in the Senate yesterday were of great public interest. In the first place the President's message was read and listened to with marked attention on both sides of the chamber, not a Senator moving from his position during the quarter of an hour or more which the reading occupied. The message was referred to the Committee on Finance and its immediate printing ordered.

Then the floodgates of legislation were thrown wide open, and a current of bills on financial and other subjects was admitted.

Mr. Hill, of New York, was the first Senator to get in a bill for the repeal of the purchasing clause of the Sherman act.

Mr. Hill's bill declares that this repeal is not to be considered as an abandonment of bimetallism, but that the policy of the government shall be the maintenance of gold and silver as the standard of money metal to the accomplishment of which the government shall be steadily and safely directed.

Mr. Stewart, of Nevada, followed with two other bills, and a speech, on the same subject. In the speech he declared himself against the repeal of the Sherman act, as such repeal would, he said, destroy silver coinage forever.

A resolution was offered by Mr. Lodge, of Massachusetts, directing the Committee on Finance to report a bill by the 23d of August, if not sooner reached.

This resolution was supplemented by another offered by Mr. Hale, of Maine, fixing the hour of meeting of the Senate on and after Thursday next, at 11 a. m.

These resolutions precipitated a discussion, in which several of the leading Senators on both sides of the chamber participated. They went over without action, and will be laid before the Senate to-day.

Senator Voorhees, chairman of the Finance Committe, announced that the committee would be convened on Thursday to take up the great question. The call was be issued later.

THE HOUSE.

Mr. Richardson, the Democratic Contestant from Michigan, is Seated.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—The President's message was awaited by the members of the House with great anxiety, listened to with intense interest and afterwards privately discussed from various standpoints.

Never in the history of Congress has such interest been manifested in a state document as was shown by the House to the reading. As the clerk began a hush fell over the House had nearly every member followed the words of the message with intense attention. Were it not that local papers and already issued extras containing the full text of the message the situation would have been painful in its intensity.

When the reading of the message was concluded the election case from the fifth district of Michigan was taken up, and after two hours debate Richardson, the Democrat, was seated on his prima facie title.

PROMPT ACTION.

A Disposition on Both Sides to Settle the Question Soon.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—The advocates of the repeal of the Sherman bill have had their hands strengthened by the strong message of the President and they are now at work trying to secure an agreement with the free silver men by which the financial question may be considered in the House without waiting for the formation of the committees.

The Committee appointed by the recent conference at the Arlington Hotel has made some progress among the leading silver men. Representatives Livingston of Georgia and Bland of Missouri are favorably disposed toward prompt action, providing a reasonable time for debate is allowed.

Immediately after the reading of the President's message the House advocates of the immediate repeal of the silver purchasing clause of the Sherman law, assembled in the rooms of the Committee on Judiciary for a further discussion of the terms of the proposition to be made to the friends of free coinage of silver.

It was stated that the gentlemen representing the free silver side of the controversy desired before proceeding further with negotiations, to present the matter to the whole body of silver men and learn whether or not they would support an agreement to discuss the question and come to a vote at a date certain. This caucus of silver men, it was said, would be held today. Upon this, the anti-silver men adjourned to meet again after the result of that caucus is known.

Representative Tracy who led the fight against free coinage in the last House, was of opinion that the House should properly organized before proceeding to the discussion of any question; and unless the silver men would agree to vote at a certain date, allowing plenty of time for everybody to talk, he certainly would not agree to enter upon a discussion.

HOW THEY TAKE IT.

What Leading Statesmen of All Parties Say About the Message.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—Among leading Democratic Senators especially there is a strong disinclination to pass judgment upon the message at this time, which is in marked contrast to their free expression in former years.

A notable fact is the general absence of adverse criticisms from a party point of view and among those who have reserved an expression of their judgment the Democrats are quite as numerous as the Republicans. For instance, Mr. Voorhees, chairman of the Finance committee, declined positively to be interviewed on the message and Mr. Hill, of New York, did the same although later in the day he gave some indications of what his views are by the introduction of his bill in the Senate.

Mr. Gorman said: The message is a clear-cut statement of the President's views. All of the comment that I have heard in the Senate is that it is as terse and clear a statement as could have been made.

Senator Cockrell, chairman of the Appropriation committee, was very wary and when pressed for an opinion said: "I am not sure that I understand fully the purport of the message and until I have read it carefully I cannot express an opinion."

Senator Chandler, Republican, of New Hampshire, said: "The two columns treating on the silver question seem to be thoroughly sound except where the President uses the word 'principally' in stating that the prevailing situation is due to silver. The last clause, declaring that there must be immediate action upon the bills to carry out the pledges of the Democratic party concerning the tariff will disturb business more than his soundness on the financial question will improve it."

Senato Allison, one of the leading financial lights of this country, was very conservative in expressing his opinion. He remarked: "It is a fair message. He states truly that the Sherman act was a compromise between the free silver men and those who opposed their views." Senator Allison also thought that the tariff references of the President were calculated to disturb business further at a very critical time.

Mr. Bourke Cockran, of New York, who is expected to lead the anti-silver forces on the floor of the House, said: "Admirable, most admirable. Even the silver men must admit that it is the most perfect presentation of the question that could be made."

Representative Bland, of Missouri, the Moses of free coinage men, said: "As nearly as I could make out, it was a plea for a single gold standard, because England maintains it. If England would coin silver probably this country would do so. We seem to have lost the spirit of 1776."

Representative Springer, of Illinois, chairman of the Committee on Ways and Means of the last House, said: "The President has very ably and tersely stated the present financial situation and his message will commend the earnest and careful consideration of Congress and of the whole country. The duty of Congress is made clear and there can be no doubt that the representatives of the people and of the States will at once carry out the President's recommendations."

Representative Holman, of Indiana, chairman of the last Committee on Appropriations, said: "It is a vigorous and able expression of the President's views upon the situation."

Senator Lodge, (Rep., Mass.)—"I am very well pleased with the recommendations regarding the financial question of the day, and think the President's position demanding immediate and unconditional repeal of the law is what is needed. In that respect it is a very strong document. I agree with the President that this is no time for personal or party politics on the silver question."

Senator McPherson, (Dem., N. J.)—"It is the strongest presentation of the case possible and the arguments advanced meet every objection that can be put forward."

Senator Teller, (Rep., Col.)—"The simple assertion of the President that the present financial condition is due to the Sherman law, does not make it so. His premise is wrong and his conclusions necessarily fall to the ground."

Senator Peffer, (Pop., Kan.)—"The banker will regard it as perfection, the farmer and workman will see in it a further reduction of the product of their farm and their labor. It is the first attack of money kings in their final struggle for supremacy."

Senate Patronage.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—The Democratic members of the Senate will hold a caucus to-day for the purpose, it is said, of distributing the patronage of the body. It is also probable that in view of the precipitation of the silver debate that this subject will receive the earnest attention of the caucus. After this caucus decides that the Republicans may have, the Republicans will probably hold another conference to-morrow to settle their appointments.

A Horrible Accident.

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 9.—There was an accident in the converting department of the Bessemer Steel Works here yesterday and five men were terribly burned and cooked by molten metal. The workmen were about to make a cast and the apparatus became unmanageable. With a hiss the hot metal flowed into the pit under the converter and as it struck the water there was a terrible explosion. Foreman John Tilly, Robert McCloud and Jesse Snee are all terribly burned. Two laborers, names unknown, also received injures that may prove fatal.

A Startling Declaration.

CHICAGO, Aug. 9.—A remarkable declaration was made yesterday by Mayor Carter Harrison. In an address of welcome to the annual convention of the Military Surgeons of the National Guard of the United States he said. "There are 200,000 people in Chicago to-day unemployed and almost destitute for money. If Congress does not give us plenty of money we will have riots that will shake the country."

Meeting of U. P. Directors.

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—At the meeting of the Union Pacific Board of Directors last evening a plan was agreed upon giving to the present holders of the sinking fund bonds the opportunity to renew their bonds under present conditions and rate of interest for six years, the company reserving the right for the trustee to draw at par after the first year, or redeem the whole amount of bonds after September 1, 1893.

Purification by Electricity.

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—Mayor Gilroy returned yesterday afternoon after seeing the test made at Brewsters for the purification of the Croton water by electricity. He said: "The test was entirely satisfactory. The results were simply marvellous. A very strict chemical analysis of the water, however, will be made by the chemists in the Public Works Department. This will not be completed for a few days."

FOR THE BABIES.

DR. GRINNELL RECOMMENDS LACTATED FOOD.

Cholera Infantum is Reaping an August Harvest—Lactated Food is the Surest Preventive—It Has Saved the Lives of Many Infants—Important That Parents Now be Supplied With It.

"After using lactated food for five years in cases of children suffering from cholera infantum, and in debilitating or wasting diseases, during which time it has never failed me, I have pleasure in calling the attention of physicians to it, and in recommending its use."

So says A. P. Grinnell, M. D., the dean of the medical faculty of the university of Vermont, and the statement is published in the Ladies' Home Journal.

The statement is of inestimable value to mothers if they will but avail themselves of Prof. Grinnell's experience.

More than one-third of all the babies born die before they have lived a year, and two-thirds of the little unfortunates die in the summer months.

Cholera infantum is, of course, the most destructive cause. The infant's stomach gives out, and frequently the natural food is not nourishing. That is one reason why lactated food is used. This food is pleasure to the taste, easily digested, and contains the elements of strength that the little ones so sadly need.

It is what physicians term a predigested food, and they consider it especially valuable in all weak conditions of the digestive organs, not only for infants, but for invalids, the aged and all whose stomachs are weak. Thousands of packages are prescribed every year by physicians, but the greatest demand comes at this season.

Wells, Richardson & Co., of Burlington, Vt., who put up lactated food, have probably received more heartfelt letters of gratitude from delighted mothers whose babies' lives the food has saved than one could read in a month. Hundreds of photographs of little ones have been sent to the company by grateful parents.

A child's life is too sacred a thing to be trifled with. Lactated food should be used from now on through the summer until the child is old enough to eat other food with safety. It is not expensive; it is not a secret; it is prepared under the supervision of no less a man than Prof. Boynton of the Vermont university; it will prevent cholera infantum; it will save the life of the child who is wasting away with this dread disease. From every part of the country come the most grateful testimonials of its value—from mothers and fathers whose babies have been saved and from invalids to whom it has given strength.

Lactated food is not a medicine—it is simply nature's substitute for mother's milk, and is a pure food that has saved many a little one's life. All reputable druggists sell it, and at this season of the year it is of the utmost importance that Parents supply themselves with it.

Alive With a Broken Neck.

BROOKLYN, Aug. 9.—Henry Richardson, who broke his neck by taking a dive at Bath Beach last Saturday, is still alive at the Cumberland street hospital, but is growing weaker. It was difficult for him to swallow and the doctors say they do not think he will live more than five or six days more. He still has possesion of his faculties and talks to his family.

War Heat.

CADDO, I. T., Aug. 9.—War heat has been reached in Cedar county. Gov. Jones removed the county judge and sheriff from office and put men in their places who were of his political faith. News received here announces that the ousted county judge has been murdered and that the whole country is in arms. Trouble of more serious nature yet is expected.

A Fatal Blast.

PATERSON, N. J., Aug. 9.—James Morel and John Richie, quarry men, were blown twenty feet in the air by a premature blast at the Pompton Quarry yesterday. Richie's eyes were blown out and his hands blown off. Morrell was internally injured, and one arm was broken; Both men were taken to St. Joseph hospital. They will die.

A Famous Horse.

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—Ormonde arrived safely last evening. Since winning his last race in 1887, he has traveled 21,000 miles, and he has 3,100 miles more to go before ending his travels at W. O'Brien MacDonough's stock farm, Menlo Park, Cal.

Premium on Gold and Silver.

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—Zimmerman & Forshay have bought $250,000 gold, afloat, paying a premium of 1 1-4 per cent. They offer 1 1-2 per cent. for any part of $100,000 in silver dollars.

Woolen Mills Shut Down.

BURLINGTON, Vt., Aug. 9.—The woolen, merino and cotton mills in Winooski and this city have shut down, the latter till September 4 and longer if business does not improve.

Enforcing Quarantine.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—The revenue cutter Colfax, stationed at Wilmington, N. C., has been ordered to proceed to Fortress Monroe, Va., to aid in enforcing the quarantine laws.

Canadian Lumber.

MONTREAL, Aug. 9.—The lumber business in Canada is expected to suffer severely from the financial depression in the United States.

A New York Bank Goes.

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—The Madison Square Bank failed to open his morning. Depositors will probably be paid in full.

Bold Robbers at Paterson.

PATERSON, N. J., Aug. 9.—Mrs. Steinhauser of East Twenty sixth street opened her front door yesterday to sweep off the stoop when three men confronted her with revolvers and warned her not to make an outcry. They then pillaged the house and secured $500 worth of diamonds and made their escape.

A Big Reduction.

WALTHAM, Mass., Aug. 9.—A reduction ranging from 1 to 30 per cent. has been made in the wages of the employes of all departments in the American Watch factory.

Thread Mills Close.

NEWARK, N. J., Aug. 9.—Mills 1 and 2 of Clarke's O. N. T. thread works at Kearney have shut down.

THE DAILY PRESS.

W. L. & A. L. FORCE, Publishers and Proprietors.
WALTER IRVING CLARKE, - Managing Editor.

WEATHER INDICATIONS.

For New Jersey: Possibly Thunder-Shower Thursday Evening; Cooler To-Morrow; Northwest Changing to Easterly Winds.

With its usual keen perception and thorough grasp of a subject, The Evening Post of New York says editorially:

President Cleveland's message is a model of sound common sense on the money question. It presents the plain truth to the two houses of Congress, and places on them the responsibility of action for the rescue of the country from its present deep affliction.

A BLACK SHEEP.

No one can be more safely trusted with a confidential disclosure than a newspaper man. He who is true to the high principles of the honored profession of journalism is entitled to the fullest trust, for he will never betray. In the breasts of Washington correspondents are often locked many Government secrets. Statesmen, clergymen, police, anyone who has ever had to do with newspaper men, will vouch for their truthfulness and high sense of honor as a class. Therefore whenever a case is noted of betrayal of trust by a newspaper it stands out in flagrant prominence.

President Cleveland supplied, as is customary, a copy of his message to the United Press, a giant brotherhood of newspapers. He stipulated that it should not be published, nor its purport disclosed to the world, till it was actually delivered to Congress. In the pledge of P. V. DeGraw, General Southern Manager of the United Press, he had implicit confidence.

All newspapers that were members of the United Press received a copy of the message to have in readiness when the "release" was wired. That was to be when the message actually reached the Capitol. They promised to abide by Mr. DeGraw's statement, which was: "This message is furnished to you in advance under my pledge that no part of it will be published until you shall have received a release from me, which will be sent to you the moment the message reaches the Capitol."

As ever, the newspapers kept their word—all but one! That single exception was The Commercial Advertiser, whose editor, violating his specific pledge and all sense of honor and decency, published the message in his columns long before the time of its delivery in Congress, in order to secure a "beat" on his contemporaries.

With shame and humiliation all self-respecting members of the newspaper craft learned of this contemptible betrayal. The Manager of the United Press was astounded and disgusted. Acting within the rules of the Association, he meted out punishment with commendable swiftness, and The Press is glad to record that in consequence of its breach of faith the United Press service of The Commercial Advertiser has been discontinued for 30 days and the paper has been fined $1,000.

The Commercial Advertiser has earned the contempt of its upright fellows, and the right to be called a Judas among newspapers.

THIS CHAP A PEDESTRIAN.

Eight-Year-Old Charlie Mincenbaugh Wandered Miles from His Home.

The German Reformed church excursionists were dismayed on counting noses last night preparatory to coming home, to find that little Charlie Mincenbaugh, whose parents live on Somerset street over Mattison's drug store, was missing.

All were alarmed for fear he had been drowned, but after much worry, excitement and delay Charlie was found safe and sound in New Brunswick. He had followed the river up, on foot, on an exploration trip.

When Charlie goes on another picnic he'll have a clothesline attached to his girdle and his mother will keep hold of the other end.

Nothing Offensive Whatever.

The Halifax Chronicle says of the show to be given in Music Hall to-night that, after viewing the performance the local Chief of Police, a highly moral functionary, expressed himself as greatly pleased, that there was nothing distasteful about it, and not a feature would offend wife or sweetheart.

A Ramble to Look for Rocks.

Young men interested in the study of Geology are invited to accompany Messrs. E. R. Taylor and John Dalziel on a ramble, Saturday afternoon. The party will leave the Y. M. C. A. rooms at 2, and join a party from the 1:30 train from New York.

Plainfield's Superior Mold.

The Passaic News speaks editorially of Plainfield as a city of secondary importance judged by population, but of superior mold in matters of morality and education.

WHO SHALL BE COUNCILMAN?

THAT'S A VEXED QUESTION IN THE BOROUGH.

The Democracy Is Entitled to the Vacancy, But Republicans Are Said to Be Scheming to Perpetuate the Majority that Has Been Thrust on Them.

The matter of electing a Councilman to take the place of Michael Connolly, resigned, is likely to cause some excitement in North Plainfield, for instead of permitting the vacancy to be filled by a Democrat, in accordance with all political custom and precedent, the Republicans are said to be scheming to capture it for themselves.

An inkling of this was given in these columns last Saturday evening. Since then the plot has grown, and there is likelihood of its being consummated.

The Councilmen have stood 3 to 3, in politics, and Mayor Saunders's vote was necessary to decide a tie. With Mr. Connolly out, the Republicans are in the ascendancy, and can if they wish elect one of their party to succeed the member who has resigned. The Republican Councilmen have been approached by leading Democrats and by reporters for their views, and decline to commit themselves.

If the Republicans insist on attempting to take from the Democrats that which is the Democracy's due right, the only way the Democrats can foil them is to withdraw in a body and leave the Council without a quorum, and they are too devoted to the public interests to do that. Will the Republicans be as honorable?

Half-Rate Excursions to the World's Fair via Washington and the B. & O. R. R.

The Baltimore and Ohio R. R. will run a series of special excursions from New York to the World's Fair at rate of $17.00 for the round trip. The trains will consist of first-class day coaches equipped with lavatories and toilet conveniences. The trains will start from Jersey Central station, foot of Liberty street, New York, at 8:30 a. m., August 5, 9 and 15, and reach Chicago at 4:30 p. m. the following day. Tickets will be valid for outward journey only on the special trains, but will be good returning from Chicago in day coaches on any regular train within 10 days, including day of sale. Stops will be made for meals at the dining stations on the line. A tourist agent and a train porter will accompany each train to look after the comfort of passengers. Tickets will also be sold for these trains at the Jersey Central offices in Newark, Elizabeth, Plainfield, Bound Brook and Somerville. New York offices 172, 415 and 1140 Broadway, and station foot of Liberty street. 26-w&s 3w

To Confer on Consolidation.

At the meeting of Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A.R., last evening, a communication was received from Major Anderson Post, in regard to the proposition to consolidate the two Posts. The matter was discussed at some length, and a committee was appointed to confer with the committee already appointed by Major Anderson Post. A report will be made at an early date.

The remainder of the evening was occupied with routine business. The meeting was harmonious throughout, as is characteristic of the Post.

The Finest in All Somerset.

The finest house of worship in Somerset county will be the new Second Reformed church of Somerville, the cornerstone of which was laid yesterday in the presence of 1,000 spectators. The site is on Main street, and the building alone is to cost $45,000. It is to be of stone, and 15 months will be required to complete it. The corner-stone laying was by the pastor, the Rev. Edward G. Read, and addresses were made by the Revs. T. W. Chambers and John F. Mesick, former pastors.

An Old Plainfield Favorite Back Again.

A very special meeting will be held in the Salvation Army hall to-morrow night. Major Rebecca Chatterton, daughter of Judge Chatterton, of Dublin, Ireland, and now of the Women's Training Home staff in New York, and Captain Adele Grosclaude, the celebrated guitarist and French vocalist, will be present.

Talk and Lemonade.

James C. Adams, who has addressed audiences of men in the First Baptist church on two different occasions, has been secured to speak at the Y. M. C. A. rooms next Sunday afternoon at 4:15. Ice-cold lemonade will be served.

The Cesspool Victim Doing Well.

Austin Hamilton, the man who was overcome by the gas of a cesspool in which he was working, and who was removed to the Muhlenberg Hospital, was reported this morning as doing well, although he is not yet out of danger.

IT PLEASES WALL STREET.

The President's Message Favorably Received by Bankers and Brokers.

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—Immediately after the message had reached Wall street and considerably before the average operator had an opportunity to read not to speak of digesting it, a drive was made against the whole stock market. It is an old device with the bears to sell on a piece of good information in order to kill the effect. It proved successful once more, and some long stock was sold by holders who had not time to read the message and concluded from the drop in prices that the document was disappointing.

As a matter of fact, however, it fully met the expectations of leading bankers and conservative Wall street houses, who have been most desirous that silver legislation should take precedence of everything else and that Congress should adjourn as speedily as possible after repealing the Sherman silver law.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Miss Beckman of 302 Orange street is resting in Fordham, N. Y.

J. Hervey Doolie anticipates taking a trip on his wheel through Vermont.

W. F. Fulper and family have moved from the City Hotel into one of the Miller flats at Park avenue and Fourth street.

Mrs. Eden L. Bolce has returned from a visit of one week among the Randolph families in Bound Brook and Millstone.

The Rev. H. G. Coker of Newburgh will preach in the Park Avenue Baptist church next Sunday and the Sunday following.

The Coddington-Beerhower party are having a delightful time at Budd's Lake, and will leave with regret to-morrow evening.

William Stout, of East Front street, is improving of his serious illness, and was able to be dressed yesterday for the first time since his attack.

T. S. Armstrong, manager of Reynolds's Pharmacy, spent Sunday at Brown's Mills in the Pines, where he located his family at the Forest Springs Hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph C. Blimm, of Watchung avenue, have the sympathy of the community in the death of their little baby which occurred at 5 this morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Seely Edsall believe in enjoying the summer days near to nature's heart. Having rested from their former trips, they leave to-night for a season at Kennebunkport, Me.

Miss Helen Graff, one of Brooklyn's charming young women, is the guest of Mrs. George Lisignolo. She will also visit Miss Schipper, of West Seventh street, before returning home.

Peter J. Collins, an old Plainfielder, and now despatcher for the Brooklyn Elevated Railroad, who has been visiting his sister, Mrs. Sylvester Sharkey, since Saturday, left to-day for the World's Fair city.

R. B. Schermerhorn, of Doylestown, Bucks county, Pa., is spending a few days with his brother Charles Schermerhorn, on North avenue. He is a prominent man at home, being Clerk of the Court of Sessions and Oyer and Terminer. He will visit several places during this month.

H. N. Spencer, North Plainfield's efficient Collector, contemplates a trip to Illinois, where he will spend some time with his relatives and friends near Delavan, after a short visit to the Fair in Chicago. He will return to open the temperance crusade for the winter, which work will be pushed with vigor as soon as some details can be completed.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—The First Church of Christ is enjoying the day at Papiac.

—The Grocers have engaged 30 cars to convey their excursion to Papiac Labor Day.

—The German Lutheran congregation will go on an excursion to Papiac August 17.

—In order to reduce his present stock to make room for new goods, F. M. Hulett is offering great bargains in pianos and organs, in terms to suit customers.

—The 28th Regt., N. J. Vol's, will hold their annual reunion, in the Opera House, Long Branch, August 31. Members in Plainfield and vicinity are requested to be present.

—The Westfield Standard says that Tom Malone, the signalman who was injured at Plainfield several months ago, is at his post again looking out for the block signals as before.

—Wallace V. Miller, of the Hotel Grenada, has brought suit against Francis X. Schoonmaker, of Putnam avenue, through Justice Mosher, for alleged breach of contract. The papers are returnable August 15.

—The Orphans' Court at Elizabeth this morning granted an order for Charlotte Park, administratrix of Marseilles M. Park, deceased, to sell his lands to pay debts. Jackson & Angleman, of this city, represented the administratrix.

—The Directors of the Dime Savings Institution met in quarterly session last night and transacted their regular business. The reports showed the institution to be in a most flourishing condition.

—Two comic operas, "Cleopatra" and "Monte Cristo" will be given by Helen Russell's "English Sports" company in Music Hall to-night. The show is said to be a royal shower of transcendent loveliness, the ecstacy of wit, the soul of dance.

—Brilliant auroras are predicted for September, according to a natural law that brings them every eleven and one-third years. The magnetic storms will be unusually grand, if the sun spots tell the truth as accurately as in previous years.

—Patrick McGovern was arrested on Linden avenue by Marshal Pangborn for intoxication and disorderly conduct, this morning. He was lodged in jail, and will be tried at 7 to-night. As he is an old offender he will probably be sent to Somerville.

—Three "cut-out line boxes" were put in position yesterday by the street railway company workmen. Two are at the corner of Front and Somerset streets, and the third at Madison avenue and Front street. They will be used in connection with the Somerset street branch of the road.

Grade Crossings Must Go.

The scheme for depressing Broad street and Central avenue, Westfield, beneath the railroad tracks, is again being agitated. The flagmen at both crossings are vigilant and faithful, but at night, after they have left their post, the danger is great.

The American Catarrh Cure

Is the result of twenty-six years' study and treatment of the disease. One bottle convinces the most skeptical. It is always ready for use, needing neither douche nor atomizer. It restores the hearing, cures the hawking cough and expectorating; removes the headache and nose bleeding, increases the appetite, produces sound sleep, invigorates the whole system and increases the vitality. Prepared only by W. B. Jones, M. D., No. 1336 South Eighth street, Philadelphia. For sale by I. W. Randolph, 21 West Front street. Price $1.

SUN-LIGHT and FRESH AIR are THE BEST DISINFECTANTS, of course; but you can't apply them in every situation. What next? Well, that depends. For damp cellars use Quicklime, plenty of it. For vaults and cesspools use COPPERAS; cheap stuff; we sell it by the pound or hundred-weight—instructions thrown in. For kitchen sinks, for water-closets, for house plumbing, for the sick room, to deodorize discharges, to purify the air and to prevent contagion, use REYNOLDS'S ODORLESS DISINFECTANT. Made and sold for fifteen years at

Reynolds's Pharmacy, Corner Park and North Avenues.

Dr. Rodman Gets Proper Credit.

A perfect picture of Grace P. E. church, Plainfield, adorns the August issue of the Architects and Builders Edition of The Scientific American, with the architect's plans and description. The American gives Rector Rodman credit for securing the erection of the church through his endeavors and perseverance. The cost of the building is given at $32,000, and of furnishings and equipments $8,000.

Picturesque Route to the Fair.

No other line offers the variety of scenic interest between New York and Chicago that is enjoyed by World's Fair tourists via the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad. Passing through Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, the capital of the nation, and by way of Harper's Ferry and the historic Potomac Valley to the Allegheny mountains, which are crossed at an elevation of 3,000 feet above the sea, the traveler sees the arena of the activity of the nation as well as the principal historical features and scenic wonders of the East. IS IT A SEVENTH-DAY CRISIS?

THAT SUNDAY-SELLING ORDINANCE IN THE BALANCE.

Development of the Feeling that There Should Be No Discrimination—Will the Old Ordinance Stand, or the State Law Be Attacked?

Those who are accustomed to view with complacency the matter of keeping open on Sunday stores that are owned by professors of Seventh-Day religion, were surprised to find so many opposed to the proposed new ordinance regulating the matter.

Five out of eight Councilmen developed an antipathy to the proposed new ordinance, and it was tabled for future action.

What that action will be, remains undetermined. Some of the Councilmen are understood to be opposed to having any stores in Plainfield open at all on Sunday. In this view they are endorsed by many people. It is notorious that some of the Sunday-selling shops are lounging places for young men and boys who spend the popular Sabbath in idling, profanity and bolsterous conduct. Strangers get a bad impression of the town at seeing so many shops doing business. The "soft drinks" establishments have an especially pernicious influence, and the "hard cider" they sell causes much mischief.

There are many who believe that the State and City have no right to discriminate and to say that some shall close on Sunday and others may sell. This is a country, they argue, where the majority rule, and they hold that all should observe the universal Sunday as the Sabbath, so far as refraining from doing business is concerned. If they want to keep another Sabbath also, that is their affair. Some look on the opposition to the proposed new ordinance as a Seventh-Day crisis. One Councilman said: "Is a man to be permitted to sell goods Sundays just because he goes to a certain church, while others are forced to close up? It is unjust and unconstitutional."

If the proposed ordinance be killed, the one now on the books will be still in force, and everyone in Plainfield knows how hard it is to convict anyone of Sunday selling under that, for he has but to say "My conscience makes me" and he is safe.

There are those who urge the adoption of an ordinance forbidding Sunday selling without exception. These would have the good Seventh-Days prosecuted. The Seventh-Days would fall back on the privileges accorded by the State law (on which Plainfield's present ordinance is founded), and the question of the constitutionality of that law would then be decided. It would be an interesting fight. Whether such an outcome is precipitated depends on the action of Plainfield's Councilmen.

A SMALL BOY STARTS A BLAZE.

Little Frankie Shepherd Causes Excitement in the Old Express Building.

That a match in the hands of a small boy is a dangerous thing was proved this morning by a North avenue happening. Little Frank Shepherd, who lives up stairs over the old Express office, got hold of one of the little brimstone-tipped sticks at 9:45 and proceeded to have some fun in the cellar. He found a pile of paper, oil-cloth and rubbish to which he applied the lighted match. A merry blaze resulted, which was communicating with the woodwork when discovered. Mrs. Staats, Mrs. Runyon and Mrs. Shepherd fought the fire with pails of water and saved the building from the destruction that threatened it.

DEADLY KEROSENE.

Mrs. Apgar Attempted to Re-Fill a Lighted Stove With Ill Effects.

What might have been a serious accident was averted last evening, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Apgar, Elmwood place.

Mrs. Apgar was using an oil stove. The oil became low in the tank, and while the stove was still burning she attempted to fill it up. The oil caught fire and spread rapidly about the stove. She became frightened, and called to her neighbors for help. Several men in the neighborhood ran to give assistance, and with much difficulty the fire was extinguished.

It was discovered that Mrs. Apgar's hair was burned a little, but otherwise no personal damage resulted.

NICE KIND OF A HUSBAND.

John Ammerman Won't Support His Wife and, Wants Her to Keep Him in Funds.

John Ammerman was arrested yesterday afternoon by Special Officer Jacob Kriney, of Evona, on complaint of R. V. Saums, for using abusive and indecent language to two women on Clinton avenue. Ammerman's wife left him some time ago on account of non-support, and obtained a place as maid in a family living on Clinton avenue. Ammerman has troubled his wife considerably by importuning her for her wages, which she very justly refused to give him as he always proceeded to get drunk when in funds.

Yesterday morning Ammerman appeared and demanded some money from his wife. She refused to give him any, and Ammerman threatened to return and force her to give him some. He then went into town, and, having borrowed some money from a confiding tradesman, proceeded to get drunk. In the afternoon he returned and shocked the neighborhood with the vile language that he used towards his wife and her mistress. Saums heard the altercation and made a complaint to Special Policeman Kriney, who started for the scene of action. Ammerman became alarmed and set out for the railroad station, boarding a train just as Kriney caught up to him. The policeman caught him, however, and took him, much against his will, to the police station.

He demanded a hearing, and Walter Hetfield, his lawyer, went surety for his appearance before Mayor Gilbert Friday night at 8.

Popular Excursions to the World's Fair via Pennsylvania Railroad.

ADDITIONAL DATES IN THE NEAR FUTURE

So great is the popularity of the half-rate excursions to the World's Fair that the Pennsylvania Railroad Company has decided to increase the number of trips. In pursuance of this plan popular excursions will be run August 12, 16, 22, 28, September 9 and 13. These excursions will be run under the same conditions as those which have preceded them, and will afford everyone an opportunity of attending the World's Greatest Fair at an inconsiderable cost.

A decided improvement in the train schedule, which accelerates it so as to deliver the passengers in Chicago at an early hour the following afternoon, places the special train on an equality in the matter of speed with the best express trains.

The special trains are composed of the standard coaches for which the Pennsylvania Railroad is famous. Only one night is passed on the road, and the arrival in Chicago is so timed as to give abundant opportunity for engaging quarters before nightfall.

The special train will leave New York 9 a. m., Jersey City 9:13, Newark 9:25, Elizabeth 9:32, New Brunswick 9:53, Trenton 10:25, Philadelphia 11:30, Frazer 12:09 p. m., Downington 12:22, Parkesburg 12:41, Coatesville 1:02, Lancaster 1:25, Conewago 1:57, Harrisburg 3 p. m., arriving in Chicago early the next afternoon. The excursion rate, good only on the special train and valid for return within ten days, is $20 from New York, $18.25 from Philadelphia, and proportionately low from other stations.

Many expressions of satisfaction have come from those who took advantage of the earlier excursions of this series.

The Shann Murder Trial.

TRENTON, N. J., Aug. 9.—The trial of Mrs. Mattie C. Shann, indicted for murdering by poison her 30-year-old son, John F. Shann, at their home in Princeton on April 18 last, has just begun here. The peculiar and horrible nature of the accusation against the woman—the doing to death by slow torture of her own child to recover $2,100 insurance on his life—lends dread fascination to the trial, and the expected throng of spectators was early on hand. A jury was obtained yesterday, and several witnesses examined.

The Cherokee Strip.

CHICAGO, Aug. 9.—Gen. Miles, acting under instructions from Washington, has ordered all the troops in the Indian Territory to be in readiness for an invasion of the Cherokee strip on instant notice. In view of this command, it is believed in army circles here that the strip will soon be thrown open to settlers. Before this is done one of the troops will patrol the country and drive out all "Sooners."

Weather Report.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—For New England, variable winds; fair weather; warmer fair Thursday. For Eastern New York, Eastern Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, the District of Columbia and Virginia, warmer; fair; southerly winds; warmer fair Thursday.

Wilbur Resigns.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 9.—Elisha P. Wilbur, president of the Lehigh Valley Company, yesterday resigned as one of the receivers of the Philadelphia & Reading Railroad Company and Judge Dallas, of the United States District Court, appointed John Lowber Welsh to fill the vacancy.

Good Jobs.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—There are 100 Presidential vacancies alone in the Treasury Department. Among those are 33 internal revenue collectors. Secretary Carlisle is very anxious to fill these places and had an interview with the President yesterday afternoon on the subject.

Reading Lease Dissolved.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 9.—The directors of the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company, yesterday, in view of the default of the Reading Railroad Company on bills due, dissolved the lease of the road to that corporation.

Work for Two Thousand.

SHAMOKIN, Pa., Aug. 9.—The fire in Pennsylvania colliery has been extinguished. Work will be resumed to-day, giving employment to two thousand hands after one month's idleness.

LONG LIST OF PRIZES.

That Lyceum Cyclers' Race to Be a Big Affair.

The arrangements for the bicycle race of the Lyceum Cyclers, August 19, are about perfected, and as the time draws near interest increases. Wm. J. Kiely has received about all the prizes to be offered, and they will be on exhibition this afternoon in J. Hervey Doane's show window on Park avenue. There are still a few prizes to be given. The list so far completed is as follows:

First prize—Handsome gold medal.
Time prize— " " "
From Charles Lister—Bicycle lamp.
" W. R. Conover—Box of cigars.
" Nathan Guttman—Meerschaum cigar-holder.
From W. H. Rogers—Cyclometer.
" T. J. Carey—Silver clock.
" J. H. Doane—Bicycle charm.
" C. Dickinson—Gold pin.
" J. J. Kenney—Bicycle shoes.
" U. B. Crane—Bicycle hat.
" M. C. Cashion—Order for best pair of trousers at Wm. Sebring's.
From L. W. Randolph—Shaving set.
" H. M. Sherwin—Pair of patent-leather shoes.
From Magee & Co.—Luggage-carrier.

It is expected that there will be about fifty entries, among whom is Chas. Coffin of Newark.

Those having the matter in charge do not expect to make any money out of the race, and any surplus will be used in making the affair a complete success.

Notes of the Wheelmen.

The Columbia Cycle Club will run to Plainfield August 13.

The Crescent Wheelmen will leave at 4:30 this afternoon for the Montclair celebration.

A house warming will be given by the Newark Wheelmen in their new clubhouse Saturday evening.

An extended tour of a party of Riverside wheelmen will be made through New Jersey this month, many of the members having decided to spend their vacations that way.

The Metropolitan Association of Cycling Clubs, with which Plainfield clubs are connected, will hold their first annual race meeting in Waverly, Saturday, September 16, at 2:30 p. m., rain or shine.

There is a growing tendency among wheelmen to ignore the conventional club runs and select those they see fit singly or in pairs. Club runs emanated when wheelmen were not secured by road laws, as they are now, and were in need of protection.

The One Road that the People Always Support.

While other lines of travel are suffering severely from various causes, the Central Railroad of New Jersey, because of its catering so faithfully to every wish of its patrons and because of the incomparable perfection of its local traffic, is doing as well as in any summer season. President J. R. Maxwell says that on his road the reduction of expenses thus far has been little more than normal. Additions to track, structure, and stock have been stopped, as well as summer work. But his road and railways general are in the best condition they have ever known. Mr. Maxwell added:

"We have not reduced train service yet, except a little in the coal branch. And in reducing forces the principle to be followed is the shortening of time and not the discharge of men. This is not always possible, but in all machine shops it is practicable, and will be followed."

A Little Girl Injured.

An accident that might have had serious results happened this morning near the Park avenue railroad bridge. A man was driving a two-seated carriage along Park avenue. On the back seat were two young girls, one of whom held a little girl of about 4 years in her lap. As the rig went under the bridge the horse became frightened and started suddenly, throwing the little girl out into the road. She struck her head, cutting it quite badly. The driver stopped, the child was picked up, and he drove on again. The little one seemed very much frightened and hurt, and many a passer-by who chanced to see the accident wondered why the child was not taken to a drug store where the cut could be attended to.

The Old Man Took a Tumble.

As one of the electric cars came to the corner of Grant avenue and Second street, last night about 9, an old man started to get off. The conductor pulled the bell to stop, and warned the old man to keep still until the car should come to a standstill. Disregarding the warning, the passenger alighted while the car was still in motion, and turned two somersaults as the result. All passengers would do well to follow the instructions of the conductors in regard to getting off or on the cars while in motion, as serious accidents might result from carelessness in securing a footing.

A Move in the Right Direction.

Plainfield has so many old wooden structures in the business heart of town that it is a matter of rejoicing when one of them is torn down. Frank Linke has taken hand in the work of reform, and is having the old wooden barn at the rear of his place of business on West Front street ripped to pieces.

A Wonderful Machine.

There is no doubt that man is a fine mechanism, but like every other machine he wears out by friction. It is said that he is born again every two or three years. His body is virtually re-made from food. To retard this making over is radically wrong, as a man loses so much vitality in the delayed process that it takes a long time to recuperate. The process of making anew is so accelerated by purging with BRANDRETH'S PILLS that a new man, as it were, may be made in two or three months, and the change in the mechanism is such that the worn out part is replaced by the new without the usual running down of the entire machine. You don't have to stop for repairs. Purge away with BRANDRETH'S PILLS the old, diseased and worn out body. They are purely vegetable, absolutely harmless, and safe to take at any time.

WESTFIELD WARBLINGS.

Live News of the Town—The Correspondent Grows Poetic.

WESTFIELD, August 8.

The Young People's Society of the Congregational church have discontinued their Sunday evening prayer meetings for the summer, and assumed charge of the Wednesday evening church prayer meetings instead.

Col. Geo. Starr and daughter Miss Jennie of North Broad street, are in California. On their arrival in Chicago they will be joined by Mrs. Starr and the Misses Lucy and Emma Starr, who are now at Point Pleasant.

The yellow tufts of the Golden Rod are now to be seen scattered over the fields. It is rather early for the appearance of the flower. A spray plucked this morning lies on my desk. It speaks of frosty nights, of falling leaves, and of vacation days ended.

The Rev. Cornelius Patton has in contemplation the organization of a boys' Club at Garwood. The project is in rather a nebulous state at present, the night for talking the matter over having been a stormy one. It is generally known, however, that a meeting room, with regular religious services conducted by Westfielders, is a part of the plan.

There has been considerable talk in Westfield at various times on the water question. The last township election hinged on the question, and resulted in the election to the Town Committee of Martin Welles, who stood opposed to unconditional adoption of town water. He favored an investigation of the matter, and then a decision by the people, based on the results of investigation. The results of investigation, if there are any, have not yet been made public by the Committee; and in the meanwhile the water company goes on laying its pipes in the village streets. To criticize public officers is never a difficult thing; indeed, there are times when it would be quite easy, and when the temptation to do so is strong.

The management of the Westfield baseball team have fulfilled their promises to the people made at the beginning of the season. They have done even better than their promises. It was announced that the team would be "amateur, enforced by a professional battery". This was, indeed, the makeup of the team for the first few games; but the weak players were soon weeded out and stronger players were engaged, till the team became a purely professional one. It seems, however, that the enterprise of the managers was hardly justified by the amount of interest shown in the game. To say that Westfield cares nothing for base-ball this summer is to come not far from the truth. Even the prospect of a game with Somerville, with the mighty Harkins in the box, does not draw a fair-sized crowd to the Drake Park diamond. REESE.

FROM UP IN THE MOUNTAIN.

Washingtonville Sends a Budget of News for Town Folks to Read.

Mrs. Wm. Demler and son, who have been visiting, are home again.

The Misses Palmer, of Brooklyn, are visiting their cousin Miss Nettie Beeching.

Miss Louise Taylor, of New York, is sojourning with her many friends in this place.

Mrs. George Bullman, who has been on a pleasant visit to friends in Newburgh, has returned home.

Dr. Ruby and wife, of Brooklyn, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Smith at Wolf Hill Farm Cottage.

John Hess is at home with a broken leg. An accident at the stone quarry near Scotch Plains was the cause of the injury.

Misses Annie and Tillie Cook of Newark are visiting their charming cousins, the Misses Burgmiller, at Fair View Farm Cottage.

Sol Sayles is erecting a handsome residence at Berkley Heights. It will cost $40,000. Cammeyer, the shoe man, his next neighbor, expects to build one still finer.

Brosie Smith was frightfully stung by a nest of hornets so that his eyes were closed and face swollen, causing much suffering. He kicked the nest without being aware of it in time to get away.

The Rev. Mr. Scudder again preached to a large congregation in the Mary E. Wilson Memorial chapel Sunday evening. He is an easy and interesting speaker, holding the attention of his audience to the close of his remarks, which is hard to do in general this hot weather.

Thomas Rogers and Wm. Simmonds, who have been on a vacation trip up the Hudson, have returned to the delight of the young ladies of Berkley Heights. They were interested spectators at the game between the Bostons and Brooklyns last Saturday. Simmonds, who is an umpire of some note, says the Crescents can outplay the Brooklyns, and William is good authority.

A bevy of bright young women made up a dove party, and then persuaded an unsophisticated young man to give them a ride over the mountain, where they spent the day picking berries, scratching their hands, tearing their dresses, and getting sunburned. They had provision enough to feed the starving miners of Denver. They were chaperoned by Miss Jessie Coddington, which is sufficient to guarantee a delightful day's outing.

FOR CANADA'S RULER.

Lord Aberdeen to Be Inaugurated with Great Pomp.

The Flower of Dominion Officialdom Striving to Prepare a Fitting Welcome to the Governor General and His Wife.

The new governor general of Canada, the earl of Aberdeen, accompanied by the countess, is expected to arrive at Ottawa shortly and all Canada is deeply interested in giving them a fitting reception. They will land at Quebec or Halifax and, according to the programme already decided upon, will be met at the pier by a committee of the Canadian parliament, headed by the speaker of the senate, and formally welcomed and escorted to the capital city. The latter place will witness the installation, which this year is to be accompanied by a military turnout, although one of no large proportions, and by a gathering of Canada's most distinguished political and social leaders.

The newly-knighted chief justice, Sir Samuel Henry Strong, will administer the oath in the throne-room. Then the governor general will deliver an address from the queen, after which the senators, preceded by the usher of the black rod, will file through the wide portico of the parliament buildings, ascend the scarlet-carpeted stairs, and, the gentleman usher having made three profound obeisances, the speaker of the senate will read an address of welcome.

The house of commons, which makes and unmakes cabinets in Canada, proposes to honor the governor general in democratic fashion. Speaker White and a committee will meet Lord Aberdeen at the railway station and, escorted by a detachment of troops under Lieut. Col. McPherson, there will be something like a triumphant procession to Parliament hill. The Canadian populace, totally unacquainted with the vastness of such an affair as the inauguration of a president of the United States, are taking rather more interest than usual in the new ruler. Various civic bodies, the board of trade, the chamber of commerce and several incorporated bodies have sent delegations to witness the installation ceremonies.

The social side of the earl's reception is likewise proceeding apace. Rideau hall, or the government house, as Canada's executive mansion is doubly styled, will for days to come be in the hands of decorators, painters and furnishers. The lawns and terraces are being trimmed, and the first reception promises to be a tremendous social affair. In fact there is a "court" in Canada, not so pronounced, to be sure, as when the queen's daughter and her husband, the marquis of Lorne, ruled the dominion, but still a "court." Canada's social side is not thoroughly understood even by the dominion residents. All functions revolve more or less about Rideau hall. This is a plain but imposing structure in Ottawa's most attractive square, foliage and flowers setting it off admirably. The earl has selected an upper suite for himself and the countess will make her nest on the ground floor next the conservatory. A superb "at home" will begin the social career of the new residents at Rideau. Lady Tupper, wife of the cabinet minister, is managing the details. It is hoped that the earl and countess of Derby, to give the retiring governor general and his wife their new title, may be able to wait for this affair.

Sir John Thompson, the premier, went to Paris some little time ago and is expected back in Ottawa shortly. However, should the earl be ahead of him, Sir Adolphe Caron will be in effect master of ceremonies, not only from his official position as member of the cabinet, but because he is believed to be the one man in Canada well informed in aristocratic functions.

Will Cheapen Aluminum.

Information has come, says an exchange, to two important scientific bureaus in Washington—the geological survey and the Smithsonian institution—of absolutely inexhaustible deposits of bauxite ores in Alabama and Georgia which give promise of solving the chief difficulty heretofore encountered in the cheap production of aluminum for commercial purposes. Specimen lumps of these ores recently analyzed at the Smithsonian institution show 48 per cent. of pure aluminum in the light tints and 40 per cent. in the brown shades, whereas ordinary clay on an average contains only 33 per cent. Bauxite derives its name from the fact that it was discovered first near Baux, or Beaus, near Arles, France. Besides France it is found to a limited extent in Austria and elsewhere in Europe and in workable quantities in Arkansas and other states and territories of the union.

Translations of the Bible.

In 170 years after the death of Christ the whole Bible had been translated into Latin by some unknown author into what is now known as the old italic version. By the year 300 it was extant in Greek, Syriac and Latin, and by the ninth century in thirteen languages.

A Principle at Stake.

"Your account of the concert last night," said the musician, trembling with indignation, "omitted all mention of the very thing I wanted to see printed. The violin I played, as I was careful to tell your reporter, was a genuine Stradivarius, and one of the best he ever made."

"That's all right," said the editor of the Daily Bread. "When Mr. Stradivarius gets his fiddles advertised in this paper it will cost him fifty cents a line. Good morning, sir."—Chicago Tribune.

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—Postmaster Dayton has appointed General Fitz-John Porter cashier of the Postoffice.

BISHOP GILLESPIE.

He Has Been an Episcopal Priest for Half a Century.

Bishop George D. Gillespie, of the west Michigan Episcopal diocese, recently celebrated his golden jubilee at Grand Rapids, Mich.

Bishop Gillespie was born June 14, 1819, in Goshen, N. Y. He entered the theological seminary at the age of 18, and graduated in 1840, receiving the deacon's order June 28, of that year, in St. Peter's church, New York, from Bishop P. F. Onderdonk. He was ordained June 30, 1843, in St. Mark's church, Leroy, N. Y., by Bishop L. Laney, and entered upon his pastoral duties as rector of St. Mark's. He was for six years rector of St. Paul's church, Cincinnati; ten years rector of Zion church, Palmyra, N. Y., and then became rector of St. Andrew's church, Ann Arbor. When the Michigan diocese was divided, at the fortieth annual convention in 1874, Dr. Gillespie was elected bishop of the western Michigan diocese. He was elected December 2, 1874, and was consecrated in St. Mark's church, this city, February 24 following. He has found time outside of his church duties to do much real missionary work for charity and philanthropy. For years he has been chairman of the state board of charities and corrections and has done much to ameliorate the condition of the inmates of jails, almshouses, asylums and reformatories, and has acquired a reputation in this direction that is not confined solely to Michigan.

Can Plants See?

Darwin gave it as his opinion that some of them can, and an Indian botanist relates some curious incidents which tend to verify the belief. Observing one morning that the tendrils of a convolvulus on his veranda had decidedly leaned over toward his leg as he lay in an attitude of repose, he tried a series of experiments with a long pole, placing it in such a position that the leaves would have to turn away from the light in order to reach it. In every case he found that the tendrils set themselves visibly toward the pole, and in a few hours had twined themselves closely around it.

Long Fence.

The longest fence in the world is in Australia—1,236 miles. It is made of wire netting and its object is to keep out rabbits.

A Painful Test.

"How do you know Dr. Gallum is the best physician in the city?"

"Because his prices are the highest."—Chicago Record.

THE UMBRELLA GIRL.

—Fliegende Blaetter.

Just the Same.

Tutter—Have you ever observed, Miss Clara, that sometimes when a thing happens it comes to you as a souvenir of a past age? Sometimes a slight thing—a word, a strain of music—awakens hidden memories, and revives a prehistoric age, and you exclaim to yourself, involuntarily: "I have lived before."

Miss Slimson—Oh yes, indeed, Mr. Tutter; that's the way I felt when I heard that story you just told me.—Truth.

A Florida Winter.

Kate—What! are you going to marry again so soon? And I heard you promising your husband to see that his grave was kept green!

Constance—Well, you know I buried him in the Everglades.—Judge.

ALL TALK AND NO WORK

A Day of Discussion at the Capital.

SILVER MEN HAVE THEIR INNINGS.

The Free Coinage Caucus Formulates Resolutions—Conditional Repeal of the Sherman Act Finds Many Supporters Among All Political Parties.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—The caucus of members of the House of Representatives who favor the free coinage of silver, was held yesterday in the hall of the House.

At the close it was officially announced that the following resolution, offered by Mr. Boatner, of Louisiana, had been adopted by a unanimous vote:

Resolved, That we will support a bill repealing the Sherman act, and concurrently providing for the free and untrammeled coinage of silver with full legal tender quality on such a ratio as will provide and maintain the parity between gold and silver.

Be it further resolved, That a committee of seven be appointed by the chairman of this conference to draft and introduce such a bill and take proper steps to secure the full and free discussion and consideration thereof and a vote of the House upon the bill and all proper amendments.

The committee provided for in the foregoing resolution was composed of Messrs. Bland, Sibley, Boatner, Lane, Bryan and Bailey. By vote of the caucus Judge Culberson was added to the committee.

When the caucus met it was estimated that there were about forty members of the House in the Hall, but during the two and three-quarter hours the caucus was in session about 100 members were added. Estimates of the number in attendance ranged from 60 to 125, the clerk of the caucus fixing the number at 93, and Mr. Bland saying he counted over 100.

Judge Culberson, of Texas, was elected chairman of the caucus and Representative Sibley, of Pennsylvania, the only Democrat present from the Eastern States, secretary. The only Republican present was Representative Bowers, of California. The Populists were represented by Jerry Simpson and Mr. Kem, of Nebraska. The attendance upon the caucus can hardly be regarded as a test of the strength of the silver forces in the House, for the reason given by Mr. Enloe, of Tennessee. That reason was that the Democratic party was charged by the people with the duty of legislating so as to remedy the present depression in all branches of business. A Democratic caucus, and not a mixed conference, should have been called to talk over the situation and to formulate a plan of relief. Of the entire Tennessee delegation—many of which are in favor of free coinage—but one (Mr. Cox) was present at the conference. This same thing was true of a number of free silver men from other States, who did not desire to seem to separate themselves from their respective party organizations, even on this question.

Reports from members after the caucus adjourned agreed that no differences of opinion were disclosed in the progress of the discussion. The question of the ratio for the coinage of silver was not discussed except incidentally, and as will be noticed, no specific figure was named in the resolution.

Speeches were made by Judge Culberson, Messrs. Bland, Hatch and Heard, of Missouri; Crain and Bailey, of Texas; Simpson, of Kansas; Oates and Bankhead, of Alabama; Bryan, of Nebraska; Sibley of Pennsylvania; Boatner and Blanchard, of Louisiana; and others, all in support of the object for which the caucus had been called.

Besides the action reported, a motion by Mr. Bland was adopted authorizing the appointment of a committee of "whips" one from each State, whose duty it shall be to canvass the House, discover each member's standing upon the proposed bill and see that every friend of the measure is in his seat and ready to vote when the time comes. This committee has not yet been named.

Mr. Bland stated after the caucus that it had been in every respect satisfactory to the friends of free silver coinage. The "steering committee" which had been named, he said, would probably meet the committee of anti-silver men and discuss the details of the discussion to be had upon the bill outlined in the resolution adopted. "We will require ample time," remarked Mr. Bland; "to carry out the terms of the resolution, and I do not see how it will be possible to come to a vote under a month, or probably six weeks. I cannot tell when the committee will have its bill ready to present to the House. The question of the ratio to be inserted in the bill was not discussed, but it is apparent that some of the free silver men are satisfied that the present ratio of 16 to 1 should be changed. We shall probably vote upon the present ratio of 16 to 1 and if that is defeated then 18 to 1, and so on up to 20 to 1, if necessary.

DEMOCRATIC SENATORIAL CAUCUS.

Conditional Repeal of the Sherman Act Gaining in Strength.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—Almost every Democratic Senator was present at the party caucus held yesterday morning. The meeting was convened at 10:30 o'clock and, when at the hour of noon nothing definite had been accomplished an adjournment was taken until immediately after the adjournment of the Senate.

The resolution of Mr. Hale (Rep.) Tuesday, which so suddenly and unexpectedly brought the question of speedy repeal of the Sherman law before the Senate, was thought by some Democrats to have placed them in a position where a conference became necessary in order that the policy of the party might be discussed and unanimity of action agreed upon. As might be expected, with the Democrats divided upon this subject, as are the Republicans, there was a diversity of opinion and a vast amount of unimportant talk was indulged in, with the inevitable result of nothing being determined upon when the noon hour came around.

The discussion was decidedly animated and at times there was a tinge of sarcasm in the tones of those who were inclined to look upon the attitude of the President, as defined in his message, as being in opposition to the platform of the Democratic party. No definite proposition was advanced, and when the caucus adjourned it was just as much at sea as when it was called together.

Immediately after the caucus numerous conferences were had between the Democrats and free silver Republicans of the same persuasion, the result of which was apparent as soon as the journal was read. A motion was made to adjourn, and it was noticeable that the silver Republicans voted with the Democrats to carry out this proposition. This was taken as an evidence of a desire for time, and the caucus immediately reassembled.

The discussion developed the fact that there were present some members who were not tied to the 16-to-1 ratio. A motion was made looking to the preparation of a bill by which the Sherman law should be repealed and free coinage of silver, at a ratio with gold to be agreed upon, provided for. The discussion developed that a ratio of 30-to-1 would be acceptable to those who felt that the old ratio should be changed.

The afternoon caucus was almost as unproductive of results as the morning session. Most of the time was consumed in the expression of individual views, which clearly demonstrated that each element in the party was firmly wedded to its own notions. One Senator, who occupies a high position in the Finance committee and whose leaning towards free silver is pronounced, declared positively: "You can set it down as a certainty that the Sherman act will not be repealed unconditionally."

On the other hand some Senators who have sided with the President said rather despondently that while no tangible advance had been made toward a point where the party could be regarded as united, they had not abandoned hope that the efforts in that direction might eventually result in success.

It is gathered from this that the conditional repeal proposition is gaining in strength and that certain of the ultra-silver men are preparing to follow in the direction indicated by the leaders in the silver caucus in the House, namely towards a repeal with free coinage at an increased ratio.

It was a rather significant fact that the silver men appeared to have less anxiety than their opponents about the result of the caucus, as was evidenced by their conduct while the Senators were discussing the situation, a number of them leaving the room and going to the restaurant, where they calmly indulged in luncheon, apparently unconcerned as to what was going on in the chamber above.

Neither party in the Senate has ever been able to caucus with complete success on the subject of silver and yesterday's caucus was no exception to the rule. So, after exhausting the possibilities of debate, the caucus fell back upon the oft-tried expedient of delegating to a committee the task of endeavoring to arrange a plan of business that should be satisfactory to all sides.

Mr. Gorman, the chairman of the caucus, was authorized to appoint this committee, and the caucus itself adjourned subject to his call, which will be issued as soon as the committee has reached an agreement and is prepared to submit a report for action.

At the conclusion of this informal caucus Senator Gorman said he would not appoint the committee authorized by the caucus until to-day.

House Committees.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—Speaker Crisp did not come to the Capitol yesterday, but remained at his hotel, devoting the day to the consideration of the formation of the committees. He said, when asked about the probabilities in this connection, that he saw no reason for changing or modifying the opinion he had expressed when he first came to Washington, viz: That two or three weeks must elapse before the list would be announced.

There is still nothing but speculation possible concerning the regular committees. Speaker Crisp listens to all suggestions, requests and recommendations from members and others interested, but says nothing—at least nothing that may be quoted. Messrs. Bland and Springer, who have been marked for decapitation as chairmen of the committees of Coinage, Weights and Measures and Ways and Means respectively, were closeted with the Speaker for an hour or so, separately, on Monday. They came out of his room smiling and apparently confident. All the latter insists that he will again be at the head of the leading committee of the House.

Senate Session.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—The Senate was in session yesterday only 20 minutes and a considerable part of that time was occupied by the chaplain in an eloquent eulogy of the late Senator Stanford, of California. The only item of business transacted was the reference to the Committee on Appropriations of the House joint resolution to provide for the payment of sessional employes of the two Houses during the present extraordinary session.

A motion to adjourn was made by Mr. Gorman, of Maryland, the parliamentary leader of the majority, and Mr. Platt, of Connecticut, in the like role for the minority, demanded the yeas and nays.

All the Democratic Senators voted for adjournment and were reinforced by all Senators from the silver-producing States. The negative vote was given by Republicans.

The result was yeas 48, nays 21, and the Senate adjourned till to-day.

Hamilton Loan in Trust Company.

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—Wm. F. R. Mills has been appointed receiver of the Hamilton Loan & Trust Company at No. 150 Broadway. He is the Second Vice President of the company. F. W. Pomeroy, First Vice President was appointed at Denver, Col., a few days ago receiver of the property of the company in the Northwest, it having branches at Kearney, Neb., Denver, Omaha and Tacoma, Wash. The company has loaned, it is said, over $2,000,000 on Western farms and had paid in capital of $350,000. At the office it was said that the receivers had been appointed as a matter of protection and to save the assets of the company as it is claimed there is a large surplus of assets over liabilities.

General Electric.

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—The finance committee of the General Electric company announced yesterday that arrangements had been completed for discharging the floating debt of the company amounting to $4,000,000. Bonds of various Electric companies owned by the General Electric were sold to a syndicate for the amount required. J. Pierrepont Morgan and D. O. Mills are said to be the principal subscribers to the syndicate.

Clearing the Strip.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—The government is to take forcible measures in ridding the Cherokee Strip of intruders. In a few days President Cleveland will issue a proclamation calling on all unauthorized persons to leave the strip and directing the War Department to enforce the order.

Indian Allotments.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—The President has appointed Henry W. Patton of Banning, Cal., a special agent to make allotments in severalty to the Indians. The appointment does not require confirmation by the Senate.

FATAL YELLOW FEVER

Two Deaths Announced at Pensacola.

FIFTEEN HUNDRED PEOPLE LEAVE

Trains Crowded and Everybody Panic Stricken—More Alarm Than the Circumstances Probably Warrant—Efforts to Keep the Disease from Spreading.

PENSACOLA, Fla., Aug. 10.—The Escambia County Board of Health has issued the following official paper:

"The Board of Health regrets to announce that two deaths have occurred in this city, those of Rev. F. C. Watts and Ellen Wood, both pronounced yellow fever.

"The houses have been isolated, bedding and clothing destroyed and all necessary precautions taken to prevent the spread of the fever.

"The public will be notified immediately if any new cases develop.

"At present we see no cause for alarm.

"(Signed) ROBERT W. HARGIS, M. D.,
"President Board of Health.

"Attest: D. J. BRENT, Secretary."

This announcement created almost a panic, and it is estimated that fully 1,500 people left the city by the trains of the various railroads last night.

Undoubtedly the alarm is greater than the circumstances warrant, as every effort has been made, with apparent success, to confine the fever to its present locality.

OHIO DEMOCRATS.

Undecided as to Both Policy and Candidate.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 10.—Will the Democracy of Ohio stand by President Cleveland or by the platform on which he was elected? That is the question to be solved within the next 48 hours, and there is no man in or out of Ohio who can predict the result with confident accuracy. Nearly half of the delegates are unpledged and one-quarter of them do not know how they will vote.

Neal has declared that he will abide by the Chicago platform and his followers are Democrats of the unterrified stamp who stick to him as long as there is a show of his nomination.

On the other hand the Campbell men make no denial of the fact that they are with the Administration and that they are out to beat Neal, and to beat him with any man who can be made available. Campbell will not be a candidate.

METROPOLITAN POSTOFFICES.

The First Assistant Postmaster General Reports Them Better Than Expected.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—First Assistant Postmaster-General Jones has returned from a brief visit to New York and Brooklyn. He found the New York postoffice in a better condition than he expected. There was insufficient room to be sure, but Mr. Jones thought that by rearranging space, renovating the building, and by making the most of what they had it would be found that the situation was not as desperate as has from time to time been reported. The Brooklyn office he found in a very satisfactory condition. The letter-stat on system of collecting and delivering local mail without taking it to the general postoffice would soon be, he thought, a successful operation.

A Millionaire's Miseries.

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—An operation was performed on John W. Mackay, the millionaire Californian, yesterday afternoon, for the removal of a vermiform appendix. Dr. Charles McBurney performed the operation. Dr. Arthur B. Townsend, Mr. Mackay's physician, was also present. Mr. Mackay is living temporarily in the apartments of his oldest son here. Mr. Mackay's trouble was appendicitis and has nothing whatever to do with the wounds inflicted by the crank in California.

THE H-O COMPANY, New York

WHAT HE DIDN'T KNOW

A Deputy Surveyor Who Couldn't Tell His Own Duties.

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—Deputy Surveyor A. B. Catlin, a brother-in-law of Secretary Tracy, caused the Custom House Investigating Committee to smile continuously during their open session yesterday. Mr. Catlin is head of the staff of weighers and was asked to define his duties. He was so painfully embarrassed that he could not do so.

The commissioners wanted to know something about the Italian weighing frauds which caused such a flurry in the Custom House in 1891. There were some thirty weighers and others discharged at that time. Mr. Catlin was unable to recall the name of a single weigher who was in any way connected with the scandal.

There was no check, whatever, he said, on the weight as announced by the weighers on the docks. His own subordinates did not report to him and any complaints lodged against them would not necessarily ever be brought to his attention.

TALKED TOO FREELY.

A Letter Which May Cost Our Minister to Siam His Job.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—Col. S. H. Boyd, the United States Minister to Siam, has not tendered his resignation to the President as the result of the publication of a personal letter which he wrote Mr. Holderman, expressing views on the Siamese situation in very undiplomatic language and reflecting on Secretary Gresham. While Col. Boyd will not be asked to resign, it is understood his term of office will be made to end by the appointment of a successor. Mr. Holderman called on Secretary Gresham to explain why he made the Boyd letter public, but the Secretary declined to hear him, stating that he was wholly indifferent to the subject.

Mr. Boyd was appointed Minister to Siam Oct. 1, 1890. The salary of the position is $5,000.

A Legal Anomoly.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—Two Indians named Kosinee and Henri Manypenny, sentenced to be hanged in Wisconsin on Aug. 25 for murder, have had their sentences commuted by President Cleveland because of a legal anomoly. The Indians were convicted in a United States court and sentenced to death under the laws of the United States. Capital punishment has been abolished in Wisconsin, however, and public sentiment is much opposed to its infliction, and for these reasons the lives of the two men are spared.

Questionable Financiering.

READING, Pa., Aug. 10.—Gen. A. Harvey Tyson, of Gov. Pattison's staff, was arrested yesterday on a second charge of false pretences preferred by Henry D. Paxson, of Philadelphia. The bail is fixed in $200. He gave bail. Tyson is also under bail to answer the charge of passing a worthless check for $600 on Secretary of the Commonwealth, William F. Harrity, at the Equitable Trust Company in Philadelphia. The National Democratic chairman is president of the company.

Armour Buys Gold.

CHICAGO, Aug. 10.—Armour yesterday bought $500,000 gold in Europe for immediate importation. This is said to be the first purchase of this kind ever made by a purely commercial house, all imports heretofore having been through the banks. It is said that the company contemplates further purchases of the same kind and that the move is in the interest of relieving the present financial stringency.

Forest Fires.

DULUTH, Minn., Aug. 10.—Passengers on the steamer Dixon, which arrived last evening, state that the woods along the north shore of Lake Superior from Two Harbors to Grand Portage are afire and burning fiercely. There are not many towns and only a few settlers in the district and the greatest loss will be to standing pine.

A Proposed New State.

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—A special to the World from El Reno, Okla., says: At the preliminary Statehood convention it was decided to work for the admission of Oklahoma and Indian Territory as one State, and a general convention of the two territories will meet at Purcell in October to call a constitutional convention.

Wyoming Senatorship.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Aug. 10.—Gov. Osborne has decided not to appoint any one to the Senatorship made vacant by resignation of A. C. Beckwith until the Senate shall have decided the question whether or not the Senator appointed after the failure of the State Legislature to elect is entitled to a seat.

More Steamships.

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—The Allan-State Line, it was said yesterday, is about to increase its fleet by the addition of three new steamers and to acquire larger dock facilities.

Less Train Service.

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—The New York Central and Hudson River Railroad Company has decided to discontinue four of its trains each day between this city and Chicago.

Glove Trade Dull.

GLOVERSVILLE, N. Y., Aug. 10.—More glove shops in Gloversville and Johnstown are either closing down or reducing the number of employes.

A Nashville Bank Fails.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 10.—The First National Bank of this city suspended after banking hours yesterday afternoon.

Judicial Appointments.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—Charles C. Binney, of Philadelphia, and Conway Robinson, of Washington, D. C., were yesterday appointed assistant attorneys in the Department of Justice.

WATCHING THE CHOLERA

Measures to Better Protect the Canadian Frontier.

ANOTHER CASE AT QUARANTINE.

The Latest Reports From Naples—Cholera Extending Into the Adjacent Country—Every Precaution Taken to Keep Back the Disease—No Danger.

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—At the meeting of the Board of Health yesterday the following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That the Board of Health of the State of New York be and is hereby requested to take measures to provide such quarantine service at the Canadian line as will secure the proper inspection of foreign emigrants entering this State from Canada.

This is intended as an extra precaution against cholera.

In his bulletin at noon yesterday Health Officer Jenkins reported as follows:

"Vicenzo Cagliostro, aged 23 years, a passenger of the steamer Karamania, was removed yesterday from Hoffman Island to the hospital at Swinburne Island, suffering with a slight diarrhoea. The bacteriological examination reveals the presence of the spirillum of Asiatic cholera.

"Dominico Barata, aged 22 years, another passenger, was removed from Hoffman Island to the hospital, suffering with choleraic symptoms, but the bacteriological examination proved negative. The case was not Asiatic cholera. He recovered and was returned to Hoffman Island.

"Lorenzo W. Moracio, the first patient removed is convalescing."

At 9 o'clock last night Dr. Jenkins issued the following:

QUARANTINE, S. I., Aug. 9.—There are no new cases to report to-night. The situation is about the same as at noon. The two patients at Swinburne Island Hospital continue to improve. The disinfection of the baggage of the passengers of the Massilia is nearly complete. The following cablegram was received to-day from Dr. Doland, my representative at Naples: "Arrived on Monday. Cholera here since July 17; extending in adjacent country. Ten died to-day; 15 sick. Steamer Hesperia refused bill of health. Weser and Cachemire passengers isolated here five days. Reported as having arrived at Gibralter all well. Further information as soon as obtained."

The arrival of the Massilia without any illness and this report concerning the Cachemire and the Weser encourages me to believe that there will be no developments of the disease on board these vessels.

WM. T. JENKINS, Health Officer.

CIVIL SERVICE.

Letter Carriers Received by Postmaster-General Bissell.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—Henry C. Power, of New and York, C. H. Cutler, of Boston, representatives of the National Association of Letter Carriers, had an extended interview with Postmaster-General Bissell yesterday, relative to the enforcement of the Civil Service law in the free delivery offices. The Postmaster-General expressed in unmistakable terms his desire and intention to fully enforce the spirit and letter of the law. Both gentlemen are more than satisfied that the interview will be productive of practical results. It is desired to prevent the discharge of civil service appointees, such as occurred in the Terre Haute and Topeka offices.

Desperate Prisoners.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Aug. 10.—The convicts made another daring attempt to blow up the penitentiary with nitro-glycerine last night but were foiled by the timely discovery of Warden Norman. The principals were the Reeves Brothers and a man named Millard, all serving terms of 31 years each. From the quantity of dynamite, nitro-glycerine and other explosives found in their possession they evidently intended to make a death struggle for liberty after blowing up the prison walls.

New England Trains.

BOSTON, Aug. 10.—The New York & New England will immediately replace the burned bridge at Blackstone by a temporary wooden structure and trains will be running over it in three days. At present passenger trains are running over the Providence & Worcester to Woonsocket on the New England, and then back to the main line at Woonsocket Junction, making a detour of about a mile. Trains lose less than ten minutes by this route, and some are making regular time.

Steamboating Dull.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Aug. 10.—The directors of the Providence & Stonington Steamship company have voted to pass the quarterly dividend that would ordinarily be payable to-day. There has been a large shrinkage in business the past quarter. Two-thirds of the stock is owned by the New York & New Haven railway company. The corporation has paid 10 per cent. per annum for some years.

Cigar Factory to Close.

KINGSTON, N. Y., Aug. 10.—Towell, Smith & Co. have notified their 300 employes that they will close their cigar factory in this city next week for an indefinite period owing to the stringency in the money market.

Champlain Canal Break.

TROY, N. Y., Aug. 10.—Thirty canal boats are stalled on the Champlain canal at Waterford unable to proceed northward, owing to a break in the canal at Stillwater.

From Pugilism to Politics.

BOSTON, Aug. 10.—"Joe" Lannon, the boxer, announces that he is through with pugilism. He has entered into the arena of politics and is a candidate for the common council from South Boston.

DAYS OF DEATH.

CHOLERA INFANTUM RAGES LIKE AN EPIDEMIC.

Infants Dying From Want of Proper Food—How to Preserve the Lives of the Babies—Soon Within the Reach of Every Family—The Good that Follows the Use of Lactated Food.

"Infants are suffering frightfully in these days," said a physician to a Press man yesterday.

"July and August are fatal months for children and the death rate from cholera infantum will keep up during September.

"Cholera infantum, under which title many cases of indigestion are reported, is a preventable disease," and he showed the reporter a recent grouping of statistics, from which it appeared that this disease was preventable by the use of lactated food.

Hundreds of physicians prescribe this lactated food for their little patients at the beginning of summer, with the assurance that the dread disease will not appear in that family.

Thousands of mothers have testified to the fact that lactated food has done what nothing else could do—saved the lives of their little ones.

No better evidence can be offered of its superiority than the many instances in which fretful, peevish and sleepless babies as soon as put upon lactated food, sleep all night and wake up laughing. The happy change, physicians say, is solely due to the superior nourishing and satisfying qualities of this food.

It must be borne in mind that lactated food is so inexpensive that it is within the reach of every family. For twenty-five cents a mother can buy a package that contains enough to make ten pints of cooked food.

The most skillful specialists in children's diseases have publicly advised mothers that to be on the safe side they should use lactated food until their children are old enough to come to the table. It strengthens the weak ones and keeps the well babies strong.

Grave Robbers.

NIAGARA FALLS, Aug. 10.—Two fishermen who had been to Lewiston and were following the New York Central track up toward the city early on Wednesday morning reported that when almost under the cemetery of the Niagara University they heard shots fired and immediately after two men came rushing down a small embankment from the top of the gorge toward them. The fishermen, owing to the location of the spot, became terror stricken and fled. These men were those fired upon while attempting to rob the tomb of Rev. Father Rice of its body. The popular belief here is that the object of the robbery was to secure the body and hold it for ransom.

A Ghastly Accident.

HUNTINGDON, Pa., Aug. 10.—John D. Smith, aged 77, a prominent farmer of Barre township, this county, while driving a reaper yesterday afternoon, was thrown in front of the machine and decapitated by the knives and his body otherwise terribly mutilated. Mr. Smith was driving four horses and ran over a hornets' nest and the insects resented the interference by stinging the horses and rendering them unmanageable. In dashing along with the reaper Mr. Smith was thrown in front of the rapidly working knives, which completely decapitated him, tore off one arm and slashed his body frightfully.

Couldn't Cure Himself.

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—Dr. Wing Qui, the best known Chinese medicine man in this city, died yesterday in his room at No. 12 Pell street, without medical attendance. He had been sick for nearly six months, and though his friends brought several physicians to his room, he refused to take any of their medicine, and insisted on treating himself. He was educated in China, and had been the great medicine man for the Chinese in Mott street twelve years. He leaves a wife and three children in China.

Three New Gunboats.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—Preliminary steps for the construction of three new gunboats for the United States Navy were taken by the Navy Department in the issuance of advertisements inviting bids for their construction. The bids are to be opened in sixty days. One of the vessels is to be of a special type for use in Chinese waters while the other two are to be ordinary gunboats. The last Congress appropriated $1,200,000 for their construction.

Earthquake in California.

SANTA ROSA, Cal., Aug. 10.—The severest earthquake felt here since 1865 occurred this morning at 1:11 o'clock. Oscillations were apparently southeast and northwest. Considerable damage was done in the way of falling chimneys, broken windows, etc. The court house was badly shaken up.

WEATHER INDICATIONS.

For New Jersey: Possibly Thunder-Showers This Evening; Fair To-Morrow; Slightly Warmer, Southerly Winds.

Even the partisan New York Tribune can express only commendation for the President's message. In a leading article entitled "Honor to the President" it says:

The President deserves high honor for this message, so free from every suggestion of trimming and compromise at a time when the air is full of bartering schemes, and so earnest and strong in its appeal to the good sense of men of all parties to stop the dread of vicious action on the money question.

Fully as warm praise is given by the Republican Philadelphia Press:

The message of President Cleveland can be cordially commended. It is well conceived and well executed. It is direct, straightforward, moderate and judicious. The President addresses himself to Congress with earnest appeal, but in temperate and convincing terms. His reasoning is lucid, and his measured words, while less aggressive than some expected, are calculated to persuade and not to offend. The scope and spirit of the message are admirably framed and pitched, and its tone is unexceptionable.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—The funny creation "Hoss and Hoss" is booked for August 20 in Music Hall.

—Central Lodge, No. 48, A. O. U. W., hold their regular meeting this evening.

—Miantonomah Lodge, I. O. R. M., will work the Adoption Degree on two persons, and the Hunters Degree on fourteen, this evening.

—Ellis Eddie, a butcher whose shop is on Muhlenberg place, was arrested last night for intoxication and disorderly conduct. He was fined $5 by Mayor Gilbert this morning.

—The horse of cartman Carey of the borough ran away last night. The kingbolt of the wagon gave way, spilling Carey and his assistant, and frightening the animal, which galloped home.

—The Salvation Army promises a treat to-night. Major Rebecca Chatterton of New York, and Captain Adele Groselaude of Perth Amboy, will be present to conduct a very interesting meeting.

Let All the Fish Escape Again.

Information has reached The Press that the millpond at New Market has been partially drained off by the mill owner without the screen made for preventing the fish from escaping being put in. Fish Commissioner Foote, of Morristown, has been notified. The drawing off of the water made the lake very shallow, and pleasure seekers from Plainfield who went yesterday afternoon to row and fish were greatly disappointed.

To Sell 148 Plainfield Lots.

The real-estate firm of Taylor & MacDonald, of which J. Fred MacDonald is a member, will hold a public auction sale August 19 of 148 lots on North and Leland avenues and Columbia avenue opposite the water-works. These are on high ground, and desirable building sites. A free train will be run from New York to the sale. Particulars will be announced by advertisement in The Press Saturday.

A Bright and Spicy Pen.

(From The Somerset Messenger.)

Editor J. A. Demarest of The Plainfield Press has gone to Brockville, Can., as Consul to that town from this country. He is succeeded as Managing Editor by Walter Irving Clarke, whose bright and spicy pen has heretofore contributed much towards the success of our newsy contemporary.

Another Free Concert To-Morrow.

Mr. Shelley, owner of the merry-go-round, has decided to leave Plainfield Monday. Saturday night will be the last chance for a ride. For Friday evening he has secured Guttman's cornet band, and will have them give another open-air concert, free to everybody.

Heinz's Harry.

One of Martin Bros' bright graduates has been leaving samples of his wares in the New Brunswick Fredonian office. The grateful editor says:

Harry Vail, of Plainfield, the genial salesman of the Heinz Pickling Co., was in town yesterday. Heinz's Harry is one of the jolliest boys on the road.

Brilliant and Promising.

Speaking of the dissolution of the law firm of Jackson & Codington, the Somerville Messenger says:

Ex-Judge William R. Codington, the junior member, will continue the business at the old stand. He is a son of the late George W. Codington of Millington, and is one of Plainfield's most brilliant and promising lawyers.

Crescents, 8; Poughkeepsies, 2.

Turner and Keenan took turns yesterday in pitching against the crack nine at Poughkeepsie. The score:

GUS FRAZEE'S LOST DOCUMENT.

ON ITS POSSESSION HINGES THE TITLE TO HIS ESTATE.

He Deeded the Property to His Wife as the Result of a Railroad Accident, and It Was to Revert Back to Him on Her Death—But the Agreement to That Effect Has Disappeared.

For lack of a scrap of paper, Augustus M. Frazee is likely to lose all title to the property which his earnings bought, at 128 Watchung avenue, corner of Second street.

Gus, as the veteran express messenger is known to everyone in Plainfield, has been a commuter on the Jersey Central Railroad continuously since the road was built. In all seasons and in all kinds of weather he has attended to the New York wants of Plainfield merchants. He has been in the harness so long and his service has been so faithful that he is entitled to retirement and rest. But the good fortune he deserves seems to elude him.

Frazee was thrifty, and by years of economy and saving he acquired the old Peace street Webster home. He and his good wife lived happily there, and love and prosperity reigned. The property was in Gus's own name, but one day something happened that caused him to transfer it to his wife.

In those days Gus was in the habit of catching the last boat for his train on the return trip from the city, and occupying the corner seat in the last car, with his bundles piled around him. It chanced one afternoon that he caught an earlier boat, and had time to walk up to the baggage car, where he installed himself for the homeward journey. Suddenly, while the train was bowling along at full speed, there was a crash and grinding roar. Two cars at the rear had jumped the track, were overturned, caught fire, and were destroyed.

A young man who occupied the seat where Gus had been accustomed to sit was killed.

In his own escape from a violent death Gus saw the mercy of Divine Providence. The event made a profound impression on him, and he decided that he would prepare for future possibilities by transferring his property to his wife so that in case of his death she would be provided for without any chance of will contest. Mrs. Frazee protested against her husband's generosity, but Gus said "Nancy, you deserve it. You have been the best of wives to me, and have helped me save the money for the home. You must be provided for, and I do this to make my mind easy."

It was finally decided—says Gus—to make the transfer, with the proviso that in case of the wife's death previous to his, the estate should revert back to him. "She and I both signed a paper to that effect"—he added.

Since Mrs. Frazee's death a few weeks ago the question has come up what to do with the property. The children, knowing it to be in the mother's name, considered that it would fall to them, and there began to be unpleasant talk about town that they were trying to make a division in which the old man was to be counted out.

Gus was asked about this, by a Press reporter, and said that the property was morally his, by right of the provision made in the agreement already referred to, but he was sorry to say that the document in question was missing. It having been a matter solely between husband and wife who were devoted to one another, he had never had the paper recorded, though the deed itself was.

"I worked hard for that little home"—said Gus.—"Many a winter's day I have tramped through sleet and slush and been wet and half frozen to the knees. It's a wonder I have any legs left. But Nancy always took good care of me when I went home nights, and would take away the numbness and put dry clothing on me. She refused to accept my deed of the property to her unless I'd accept an agreement to have it revert back to me in case of her death, and it's hard luck that the paper embodying her wish is gone.

"It's pretty touch to reach my time in life and have nothing to enjoy as the fruit of hard toil. The property that is mine by right I am not permitted to possess, and there is no pleasure left but the beautiful visions that come to me of my lost ones.

"The only time when I forget this trouble and realize that all is vanity, is when I rest in my couch at night and dream of the good wife whose passing away was so peaceful and whose last hour was so full of beautiful visions and sayings; or when at the break of day I visit the churchyard and hold reverie in the sweetest thoughts that ever came to man, over the memory of the woman and the child whose lives were so inwrapt in mine."

Human nature is the same, no matter what the man's station in life; and in the story of Gus Frazee the rugged expressman there is a tenderness and a pathos which speak as full a volume of love for his dear ones gone, and of disappointment in his own ambitions, as though he were one's very self, whose griefs always seem of vaster magnitude, and sensibilities keener, than those of any other man.

A Wonderful Machine.

There is no doubt that man is a fine mechanism, but like every other machine he wears out by friction. It is said that he is born again every two or three years. His body is virtually re-made from food. To retard this making over is radically wrong, as a man loses so much vitality in the delayed process that it takes a long time to recuperate. The process of making anew is so accelerated by purging with BRANDETH'S PILLS that a new man, as it were, may be made in two or three months, and the change in the mechanism is such that the worn out part is replaced by the new without the usual running down of the entire machine. You don't have to stop for repairs. Purge away with BRANDETH'S PILLS the old, diseased and worn out body. They are purely vegetable, absolutely harmless, and safe to take at any time.

Professional Dignity.

He was ragged, and was evidently no friend of the barbers, but in spite of it all there was a certain pride in his deportment as he stepped into the police courtroom.

"Have you ever been arrested before?" asked the judge, without looking at him.

"Have I—aw come off, judge, don't rub it in. Do I look like an amateur?"—Washington Star.

Evidence of Style.

Mrs. McCorkle—Your husband is a very stylish man, I understand.

Mrs. McCrackle—What makes you understand that?

"I hear that he seldom gets home until two in the morning."

"How does that make him stylish?"

"It shows he's the latest out."—Truth.

A Bright Outlook.

"That's a curious thing your little brother is waving about on a stick, Miss Clara."

"That's a coat tail."

"A coat tail! To whom, pray, does it belong?"

"To the young gentleman who called here last."—Life.

No Hope for Him.

"I'm puzzled," said the youthful graduate, "to know what to do with the old man; never had any education, and he's out of place everywhere."

"Not on the farm?"

"Yes; it's cultivated, you know."—Atlanta Constitution.

How He Knew.

Jake—Here's an advertisement in th' paper fer that dog you found. The man wot owns him offers a reward.

Jim—How d'ye know it's a man?

Jake—Th' paper says "no questions asked."—Boston Globe.

Friendship.

"I don't think you treat Good Heart right."

"How is that?"

"You borrow money from him and never repay it. You take up his time when he is busy, and use his office as if it were your own."

"Shoo! He's a friend of mine. You surely don't think I would treat anybody that way who wasn't a friend?"

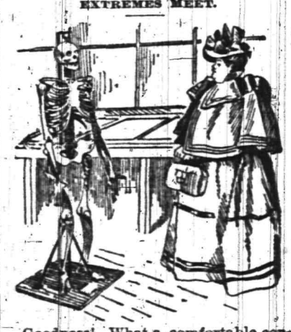
A Subject for Sympathy.

The prisoner, a tough-looking citizen with a prognathous cast of countenance and a bad eye, had been found guilty of beating his horse to death.

"I wish it were in my power to punish your brutality as it deserves by sending you to the penitentiary," said the magistrate, with strong indignation; "but I shall fine you $100 and you will stand committed till the fine and costs are paid."

"Can't you make it a little lighter, squire?" pleaded the prisoner, drawing the back of a grimy hand across his eyes. "That's purty hard on a man that's just lost a good hoss!"—Chicago Tribune.

EXTREMES MEET.



Goodness! What a comfortable condition for summer!—Life.

Society Item.

Mrs. Billus had heard no sounds from the barn for some minutes, and her motherly instincts told her something was wrong.

"What are you doing out there, boys?" she called out.

"We're holding a little social function, mamma," answered Johnny.

And the next instant the back door of the barn was cautiously opened and a large yellow dog with a tin can tied to his tail darted out and ran with the utmost earnestness and vociferation down the alley.—Chicago Tribune.

Bridget's Close Guess.

A newly-arrived Hibernian servant, who had been warned against admitting strangers to the house, collared a gas inspector and shouted to her mistress:

"I've got wan av thim thaves, mum, comin' in wid his dark lantern in broad daylight!"

The frightened official was released, but the master of the house, when informed of the incident, dryly remarked that Bridget was not so far off in her suspicions after all.—Boston Commercial Bulletin.

Half a Dozen for Each.

Dick Gordon met a lady friend from the country, and after the theater they went to an up-town restaurant. Each glanced at a bill of fare, and Dick said to the waiter:

"Gimme a half dozen fried oysters."

"You may give me half a dozen broiled lobsters," said the young lady.

Mr. Gordon fainted and the waiter fell in a trance.—Albany Journal.

Is the result of twenty-six years' study and treatment of the disease. One bottle convinces the most skeptical. It is always ready for use, needing neither douche nor atomizer. It restores the hearing, cures the hawking cough and expectorating, removes the headache and nose bleeding, increases the appetite, produces sound sleep, invigorates the whole system and increases the vitality. Prepared only by W. B. Jones, M. D., No. 1336 South Eighth street, Philadelphia. For sale by I. W. Randolph, 21 West Front street. Price $1.

SUN-LIGHT and FRESH AIR are THE BEST DISINFECTANTS, of course; but you can't apply them in every situation. What next? Well, that depends. For damp cellars use Quicklime, plenty of it. For vaults and cesspools use COPPERAS; cheap stuff; we sell it by the pound or hundred-weight—instructions thrown in. For kitchen sinks, for water-closets, for house plumbing, for the sick room, to deodorize discharges, to purify the air and to prevent contagion, use REYNOLDS'S ODORLESS DISINFECTANT. Made and sold for fifteen years at

FIRE IN THE BAGGAGE CAR.

Flames Originated Between the Floors, and It's All a Mystery.

A peculiar fire broke out yesterday afternoon between the floors of the baggage car on train No. 41 that leaves New York at 4:30 for Plainfield. When the train pulled up at the North avenue station, smoke was seen issuing from crevices in the floor of the car. The hose that is kept at the station for such emergencies was brought out, and the flames were speedily extinguished. The origin of the fire is unknown.

TRAINS BLOCKED BY A WRECK.

Collision of Freight and Coaler on the Reading at Weston.

A wreck occured at Weston, a station on the Philadelphia and Reading railroad above Bound Brook, early this morning, blocking both tracks and interrupting traffic for some hours. The trouble was caused by the collision of a freight train with a coaler. Passengers who got through were transferred around the wreck to trains made up on each side.

STREET RAILWAY EXTENSION.

SOMERSET STREET BRANCH TO BE OPERATED TO-NIGHT.

First Car to Be Run at 7:30, and Continuously Thereafter—Transfer Tickets at the Junction—New Cars Coming Soon—Prospects of Getting Towards Netherwood.

Superintendent Adleman of the Plainfield Street Railway has completed preparations for the opening of traffic on the Somerset street branch of the railway this evening. The first trip will be made at 7:30. Car No. 1, of the old service, will be used, in its new coat of paint and varnish. If the first trip is the success hoped for, the car will continue to run back and forth between the North avenue station and the terminus till 11. If there is any difficulty, it will be remedied. Regular service will be begun to-morrow morning.

At the junction of Somerset and Front streets transfer tickets will be issued so that one may ride between any portion of the West Front street route and the Somerset street route for a single fare.

The two new cars that are to be operated on Somerset street are about ready to ship, and will be here soon. Until their arrival, Car No. 1 will be run. It will make a round trip every 24 minutes. When the two cars are running, 12 minutes will be the headway.

Mayor Saunders for the borough personally overlooked the work of clearing the tracks on Somerset street this morning and putting the road in shape for the traffic. Superintendent Adleman was praised for the energy displayed and the excellent work accomplished.

The extension of the street railway into the Netherwood district, which has required such long and careful planning, at last gives promise of becoming a working reality.

Chandler W. Riker, of the company, was in town to-day and assured a Press reporter that such extension was at last definitely in sight. The company's representative has secured sufficient consents for right of way from the present terminus out Watchung avenue to Fifth street, and very nearly enough to build track and trolley line on Fifth street to Richmond. From that corner on, it is probable that consents will easily be secured. The matter is being pushed as rapidly as possible, and by next spring everything will probably be ready for the actual extension.

An August Night's Amusement.

For this time of year, the audience in Music Hall last evening was a large one. From Councilman to gallery god, all seemed to find considerable enjoyment in the mirth and dance produced by Helen Russell's English Sports. A very pretty exhibition was the Indian club swinging by Miss Trixie Coleman. G. H. Turner and Joseph B. Johnson furnished amusement by their antics, and were favorites. Miss Russell and her corps of shapely females did some clever dancing. For a vaudeville and variety show, it was modest and quite within the bounds of propriety. The numerous young women and matrons in the audience saw and heard nothing to shock their sensibility or to drive them away. The ancient flavor of most of the jokes was the worst feature.

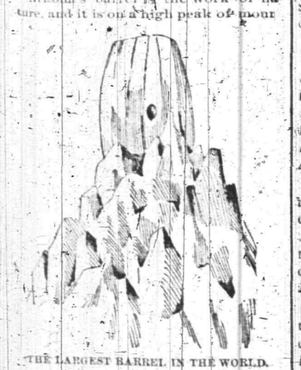
NATURE'S HANDIWORK.

A Wonderful Cask of Rock in the Mountains of Arizona.

For many years Heidelberg university has had the honor of owning the largest barrel, or "tun," as they call it, in the world. They have had the honor, although it does not really belong to them, for Arizona has a barrel that makes their—fade into insignificance.

The one at Heidelberg will not hold liquid, neither will the one in Arizona. In this they are the same, but are different in many other ways.

Arizona's barrel is the work of nature, and it is on a high peak of mountain, about five miles from Agnas Calientas, which is, in the Catalina mountains, about sixteen miles from a railroad.



THE LARGEST BARREL IN THE WORLD.

The barrel is one of those peculiar rock formations and is about 200 feet high, and the top of it is at least 2,000 feet above the valley. It can be seen for miles before the traveler gets to it, and its appearance is most deceiving. It requires no effort of the imagination to see the large utensil of Bacchus perched on its peak with a glass under a faucet as if ready to be filled. A large fissure in a certain spot forms a bunghole. It does not look like a barrel unless seen from the plain; on all other sides it is simply a rugged rock.

It is a soft granite formation of volcanic origin, and is crumbling to pieces all the time. It is so soft that half a dozen men with picks could knock it to pieces in a few days. But it has had its present form for centuries, and will no doubt keep it until all who can now see it have passed away.

Charles Stephens, letter-carrier No. 4, has been enjoying his vacation, and for a few days past has been visiting friends at Summit. He was taken very ill yesterday, and, on the advice of the physician, as brought to his home in this city.

Mrs. Edward Buchanan, of Brooklyn, who is spending the summer in North Plainfield, gave a small luncheon to-day. The guests were Mrs. Landborne, Mrs. Jacob VanDeventer, Mrs. Constantine P. Hall, Mrs. James L. Anthony and Miss Anthony.

The funeral of little Elsie Florence, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph C. Blimm, of whose sad death these columns told yesterday, will be held at the home of the afflicted parents, 321 Watchung avenue, to-morrow afternoon at 2:30.

In addition to the talent told of in yesterday's Press, who will participate in the complimentary benefit Midsummer Night Dance for St. Joseph's church this evening, Miss Etta Raybert, the young elocutionist and popular favorite, and Miss Cora Shepherd, the talented reader, will appear to delight the audience.

Town Topics comments as follows on a Plainfield social note: "Brooklynites were surprised to hear from Lake Hopatcong of the engagement of Miss Mabel Hill, a prominent Heights belle, and C. A. Watson, of Plainfield, N. J. The announcement was entirely unexpected, and is looked on as the outcome of the romantic influences of the little camp on Crescent Point, which George Watson, father of the prospective groom, has established since going to Lake Hopatcong to spend the summer. Miss Hill has been a guest of the Watsons, and I understand that other young men at the lake did not consider young Mr. Watson even a rival until Miss Hill was prevailed on by some of the young ladies at the resort to enable them so to do by having her engagement announced."

GENIAL JOE AT THEIR HEAD.

CRESCENT WHEELMEN JOIN THE MONTCLAIR JUBILATION.

Captain Haynes was Given a Post of Honor on the Staff, and Wore a Gaudy Sash in Token—The Parade Was One that Should Be Duplicated Here.

The Crescent Wheelmen turned out in great style yesterday afternoon to go to Montclair, where they had been invited to take part in the bicycle parade. At 5, twenty-three members of the club were waiting in front of their rooms on North avenue, and when Captain J. A. Haynes gave the word the long line of men started with a ringing of bells and a tooting of horns. They went directly to Newark, where they had supper, and from there took the easy run of 6 miles to Montclair. Here they received a royal welcome. Each rider was given a rod with a Chinese lantern at each end, to tie across his handle-bar. Captain Haynes was accorded a place on the staff which led the procession, and was decorated with a beautiful sash as a badge of office. Clarence E. Teel acted as captain of the Crescents while Mr. Haynes was on duty on the staff. The Plainfield men had the honor of being placed on the first part of the first division in the procession, which numbered fully 800 riders. When they started, all the lanterns were lighted, and the long sinuous lines of light going over the rolling roads made a very pretty spectacle. The procession ended about 10, and the tired but happy Plainfielders were glad to make for Newark, where they took the train for home. Before they left, however, they indulged in the refreshments that had been lavishly provided by their hosts, and stayed long enough to see the dancing begin on the open-air dancing floor. In spite of their weary bones, they all agreed that they had had a most delightful time.

WORKED ON THEIR VANITY.

A Clever Schemer Solicits Biographical Sketches From Rich People.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—The Postoffice Department officials were yesterday notified of the arrest in Philadelphia of W. Dunlap, upon a charge of using the mails for fraudulent purposes. Dunlap's scheme, it is stated, was to send circular letters to persons of means in different parts of the country asking for biographical sketches and photographs of themselves, which would be published in a forthcoming volume to contain portraits of the President, the members of his Cabinet, men prominent in the secret societies, etc.

The amount solicited by Dunlap in each case is said to have been considerable and the number of favorable responses surprisingly large. It is said that Dunlap has been in this business about four years, a part of that time in this city, but owing to the adroit manner in which he worded his circulars in has been exceedingly difficult to secure his indictment. It is said that Dunlap must have realized something like $50,000 by his scheme.

NEW POSTMASTERS.

The Latest Batch Contained 81 Names, 32 Being in the East.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—The total number of fourth-class postmasters appointed yesterday was 81, of which 32 were to fill vacancies caused by resignations and death. Among the appointments were the following:

New Jersey—Alpine, Edward Kohler; Basking Ridge, J. E. Buck; Fairview, P. D. Wragg; Haglingen, A. S. Dixon; Rocky Hill, A. T. Lewis.

New York—Barnard's Crossing, C. H. Banker; Belleville, H. S. Green; Forestville, A. W. Bull; Frewsburgh, George Mellon; Grapeville, J. A. Lozee; Kinneys Four Corners, A. A. Eaton; Morris, G. B. Foltz; Rotterdam Junction, A. W. Bull; Thousand Island Park, E. J. Gardner; Wrightsville, Richard Hakes.

Pennsylvania—East Prospect, E. J. Sitler; Farmers Valley, Randall Tyler; Fawn Grove, R. F. Webb; Lewisberry, L. S. Reiff; Loganville, M. J. Glatfelter; Marysville, S. S. Leiby; Tilden, I. S. [illegible].

A Colorado Flood.

PUEBLO, Col., Aug. 10.—As the result of a cloud burst in the valley of the Fountain Creek, a roaring flood of water swept down that stream last night. Several city bridges are slightly damaged. The Union Pacific Railroad is the worst sufferer. Two of its bridges are damaged. Half a mile of Denver and Rio Grande Railroad is covered with water at one of the stations a few miles north of here. There are washouts on several other roads.

Troublesome Indians.

DURANGO, Col., Aug. 10.—The Utes are leaving their reservation in large numbers and are becoming troublesome and plundering as they go and wilfully destroying game. Twenty-five mounted men have left here in pursuit and the authorities will at once make efforts to get the Indians back on the reservation. The military may be called out.

Small-pox in Reading's Jail.

READING, Pa., Aug. 10.—Considerable excitement was created here yesterday by the announcement that two cases of small-pox had been discovered in the Berks county Jail. The institution is crowded with prisoners. The victims will be removed to the hospital.

MEN WHO SPIN THE PEDALS.

Gossip of Wheelmen's Clubs Roundabout Plainfield.

The Bloomfield Cycling Association has taken out articles of incorporation.

A team race for the championship of Union county will take place Labor Day.

The annual road races of the Harlem Wheelmen will take place over the Cranford-Elizabeth course the afternoon of September 2.

The third of a series of ten-mile races of the National Turn Verein Wheelmen will take place over the Irvington-Millburn course, August 12.

At a meeting of the Atalanta Wheelmen Monday night the report of the treasurer showed that the recent 100-mile Newark-Princeton and return road race netted the Club $100 profit.

At the international race meet of the Metropolitan Association of Cycling Clubs at Waverly, September 16, bicycles will be offered for first prizes in six events, there being a $250 diamond for first prize in the one-mile invitation race. This tourna ment is in the international circuit, and comes two days after the Springfield races, with no other meet to compete with on that date. Among the cracks that are expected to be present are: Zimmerman, Tyler, Taylor, Windle, Gary, McDuffee, Bliss, Lumsden, Johnson, Sanger, Geo. Smith, Hoy, Smith, Murphy brothers, and such foreign men as Osmond, Watson, Stocks, and Meintjes.

The Riverside Athletic Club will hold its annual race meet at the Waverly Fair track, Saturday, August 26. One of the principal events of the meet will be the three-men-team race for the valuable silver trophy known as the Newark Sunday Call Cup. This trophy is of heavy sterling silver, simple yet rich and handsome, and, including the base, is exactly 12 inches high, with ample space for inscription of the club and individual names of the winners. Messrs. H. Hawthorne, C. H. Coffin and G. W. Coffin of the Orange A. C. C. were the winners last year. The competition is open to any bicycle club in New Jersey in good standing. The cup to be held permanently must be won three years, not consecutively. In addition to this trophy, a diamond scarf pin will be presented to the contestant in this race winning the greatest number of laps. An entrance fee of fifty cents per man, which must accompany each entry, will be charged. Entries for this event, as well as the others, will close August 19. For any other information address C. D. Edwards, Secretary Cycling Committee, Lincoln and Arlington avenues, Newark.

HUDSON RIVER BY DAYLIGHT.

The Most Charming Inland Trip on the American Continent.

The "Albany" and the "New York", the steamers of the Day Line, are two of the most elegant steamers in the world. They are large and commodious; there is an abundance of comfortable seats, and a good restaurant is located on the main deck, where you can enjoy a good dinner, and at the same time look out upon the beautiful scenery of the river. When the boat leaves the dock you leave the bustle and hum behind you, and enter, as it were, upon a new existence. Now you can stop hurrying, for a time, at least, and at your leisure can take in the marvelous beauties of the river as they unfold before your eyes. To float upon the bosom of the majestic Hudson, to gaze upon the mighty hills that fringe its banks, to view those quaint but familiar collections of river craft being towed along, scarcely seeming to move: all these, and a myriad of other experiences, are familiar to those who have had the good sense or the good fortune to make the trip between New York and Albany by the day boat. From the time the boat pushes majestically out into the river till it touches the dock at the end of the route, a succession of magnificent panoramas is spread before the tourist. Too much cannot be said regarding the arrangements which have been made for the comfort and pleasure of those who adopt this method of travel. A correspondent of the Boston Courier writes: "The journey up the famous Hudson is undoubtedly the most interesting and picturesque inland voyage in the United States. It has been described and re-described, however, until the task of investing an account of its varied and beautiful scenery with any flavor of novelty has become utterly hopeless. But its attractions, though stale in narrative, are perennially charming to actual sense, and the point of view afforded by the palatial steamers 'New York' and 'Albany', of the Day Line, is an ideal one. These magnificent boats are unique in one feature, which will be appreciated by tourists; being designed for day service and tourist purposes only, they carry no freight whatever, save personal baggage of passengers. Thus the lower forward decks and other desirable points of view, customarily monopolized by unappreciative packages of merchandise, are open to passengers, and the fittings and accommodations of the craft throughout are enabled to be of a more light and elegant order, and are upon a more uniformly sumptuous plan than is usually possible. Veritable pleasure boats, every suggestion of toil is banished from their decks, and the holiday atmosphere engendered by external circumstances and a happy purpose is thus subtly maintained.

Proof of Merit.

The proof of the merits of a plaster is the cures it effects, and the voluntary testimonials of those who have used ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS during the past thirty years is unimpeachable evidence of their superiority and should convince the most skeptical. Self praise is no recommendation, but certificates from those who have used them are. Beware of imitations and do not be deceived by misrepresentation. Ask for ALLCOCK'S, and let no solicitation or explanation induce you to accept a substitute.

I feel it my duty to say a few words in regard to Ely's Cream Balm, and I do so entirely without solicitation. I have used it more or less half a year, and have found it to be most admirable. I have suffered from catarrh of the worst kind ever since I was a little boy and never hoped for cure, but Cream Balm seems to do even that. Many of my acquaintances have used it with excellent results. Oscar Osgrum, 45 Warren ave., Chicago, Ill.

TROLLEY CURRENT SHOCKED THEM.

BUT HAD THEY BEEN ON TERRA FIRMA 'TWOULDN'T HAVE HURT.

Being in Midair, When They Jumped from the Contact They Were in Danger of Breaking Their Necks—Neither Hurt Seriously.

James Kaiser, who was working on the new trolley wire system of the Somerset street branch of the street railway, fell this morning from a ladder at the corner of Somerset and Front streets and jarred himself severely. Kaiser was shocked by the current, and jumped involuntarily He landed on his feet but the force of the fall threw him on his back. A United States Express wagon took him to the Arlington Hotel, where he boards, and Dr. Carman was summoned. He found that Kaiser's ankle and back were severely strained. Kaiser says that he received the shock from the guy wire that supported the trolley wire, and that made him lose his balance. He will recover in time to go to work Monday.

Howard Riley, another lineman, was shocked by contact with the wire, while at the top of a pole. He jumped, but was grabbed by William Kiely, a fellow-workman, who saved him from falling.

Substantially Agreed.

Prudent Jimmie—I do not wish unduly to influence your Araminta, but in a matter so momentous as the choice of a husband there are many things to be taken into consideration, and I am not entirely satisfied that between you and young Mr. Horace Bizzleby there is that harmony of disposition, that spirit of mutual forbearance and joy of self-sacrifice that must subsist as the foundation of a truly happy union. Pardon me if I seem anxious, but—

Miss Araminta (young but self-possessed)—You needn't worry about me and Hod Bizzleby, mamma. I turned him down a week ago. He can't waltz for shucks.—Chicago Tribune.

A Great Fisherman.

Sykes—Hullo, Brownlow! What luck?

Brownlow—None at all. Been here three hours and haven't caught a thing.

Sykes—That's queer. Lots of fish there. What bait are you using?

Brownlow—By thunder! I expect that's the trouble. Forgot my bait.—Harper's Bazar.

THE HEIGHT OF DEVOTION.

First Chicago Girl—Do you love your husband?

Second Chicago Girl—Indeed I do. I love him more than any man I ever married.—Truth.

Honesty the Best Policy.

"No honest dealer," said the grocer, picking some dark-gray objects out of the scoop and pouring the rest of the contents carefully into his swiftly revolving coffee-mill, "will put stones into his coffee. It's a fraud on the customer. And, besides," he continued, dropping a handful of burnt peanuts into the hopper, "it injures the mill."—Cleveland Press.

SPARRING OVER SILVER

Difficult to Decide Upon a Plan of Campaign.

BOTH SIDES WANT THE ADVANTAGE.

Each Faction Would Like to Be the First to Introduce a Bill and Leave the Other Follows to Depend Upon Amendments—Further Conferences To-day.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—Another day has passed and the two wings of the majority in the House of Representatives are apparently as far as ever from an agreement upon the method of conducting the proposed discussion of the silver question. Yesterday was spent in fruitless conferences on the subject, and because no progress has been made in the negotiations, the House was compelled to adjourn for lack of anything to engage its attention.

The two committees, representing the silver and anti-silver forces, seem to be playing for position, each desiring to assume the initiative, but of what avail the point of advantage sought will be it is difficult to discern among the mass of rumors that are afloat.

The anti-silver men, led by Bourke Cockran, propose that a bill shall be introduced to repeal the purchasing clause of the Sherman law, and that a vote shall be taken upon that proposition first. If it be defeated, amendments may be offered providing for the free coinage of silver, and a vote be taken on them.

The free coinage men offer a counter proposition, that the bill outlined by the free silver caucus shall be introduced by the committee authorized to prepare it, providing for a repeal coupled with free coinage; that any amendments desired may be offered, and that a vote shall be taken at the end of three weeks.

This was not acceptable to the anti-silver men, who insisted, it is said, upon a vote first upon the proposition to unconditionally repeal the purchase clause. It was impossible apparently for the committees to come together, and after several separate consultations and two joint meetings, adjournment was taken until to-day.

The free coinage men were represented in the conferences by Representatives Bland, Boatner, Culberson, Bryan, Bailey, Bankhead, Oates and Lane; the unconditional repealers by Cockran, Tracey, Hatch, Rayner, Catchings, Lapham, Geissenhainer, Coombs, Fitch, Wilson of West Virginia, and John Dewitt Warner.

Considerable interest was added to the situation by the fact that Secretary Carlisle visited the Capitol in the course of the morning and was in consultation in the library with Representatives Cockran, Tracey and Raynor. He also called upon Speaker Crisp in the latter's room and remained some time.

After the House had adjourned, Representatives Cockran and McMillan called at the Treasury Department and were closeted with Secretary Carlisle.

Last evening a proposition was formulated by the anti-silver committee, which it is believed will be acceptable to the free coinage committee, and that at the meeting to-day the conference will request the Committee on Rules to report an order to the House covering the arrangement.

It is that the House proceed to the discussion of a bill providing for the repeal of the purchasing clause of the Sherman law, that opportunity be given to offer an amendment providing for free coinage of silver at the ratio to be agreed upon by the silver men, if that is possible, if not, then the votes shall be taken upon the ratios proposed.

If free coinage, at any ratio, be rejected an amendment may be offered, similar to the Bland bill of 1878, limiting the purchase of bullion and amount of coinage. This failing, the vote to be taken on the bill as introduced, or unconditional repeal. The discussion to last two weeks, with the privilege to any member, who fails to get a hearing, of printing his remarks in the Record.

A Double Lynching.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 11.—It is reported, that the soldiers at Fort Anderson went to Coal Creek Wednesday night, and taking Dick Drummond from his boarding house, hanged him to a trestle. Shortly afterwards they went to another boarding house and captured a miner named Elkins and hanged him to the same trestle. Drummond and Elkins were the men arrested on suspicion of ambushing and killing Private Loughler Monday night. A later dispatch from Coal Creek says the soldiers have arrested a miner named Moore on suspicion of being an accomplice of Drummond and Elkins, and unless he can prove his innocence he will be lynched. Yesterday over 1,000 miners went out on strike and serious trouble is expected.

Missing Clerks Heard From.

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—The firm of Oberishoffer & Co., bankers, of No. 52 Exchange Place, have heard from their two missing clerks. The information came in the form of a letter bearing the postmark of Brooklyn, N. Y., and the contents were to the effect that the missing men were anxious to return and be forgiven. It is said that examination of the books of the missing men disclosed a considerable shortage. It is expected that this letter will be followed by others.

Senator Brice Ill.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—Senator Brice, of Ohio, has been ill at Chamberlin's hotel, in this city, for the past three or four days, suffering from congestion of the bowels. Dr. Wales, his attending physician, says that the complaint was not serious and Senator Brice would be able to attend to his duties at the Capitol by to-morrow.

Fell Forty Feet.

SPRINGFIELD, O., Aug. 11.—A horrible accident is reported from Roundhead, Ohio. Seven carpenters were working on the roof of the new Methodist Church, the rafters of which broke loose. Five fell forty feet and two, Oliver Swager and Clarence Morrow, were fatally injured.

Resignations Wanted.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—It is learned that the resignations of a number of principal examiners and first assistant examiners in the patent office have been requested by Commissioner Seymour.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 11.—The Democratic State Convention yesterday nominated Lawrence T. Neal for Governor.

BEATING UNCLE SAM.

How a Schemer Made Money Out of New Postoffices.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—What is believed to be a very extensive conspiracy to defraud the government is now being unearthed by the Inspectors of the Postoffice Department. C. P. Barrett, of Spartansburg, S. C., who is believed to be the head conspirator, has been arrested upon what is believed to be positive proof of his guilt. The story as told by the Postoffice Department officials is substantially as follows:

Early in the last administration Barrett succeeded in getting himself and a friend appointed as postoffice referees in the Spartansburg district. The officials of the district were expected to refer to them all applications for appointments of postmasters in that section, together with all questions as to the establishment of postoffices, etc. Barrett, it is said, at once began operations, and during his term succeeded in getting from 25 to 50 new offices located in York, Greenville, Pickens and other counties in his section of the State.

It has since been discovered that in many cases the postmaster was the only patron of his office, and by false returns as to cancellations of stamps, a very good income was obtained. In some of the cases the bonds furnished are said to have been bogus. Barrett also had himself appointed a special mail carrier to these offices, which was another source of revenue.

It is also said that some of thes postmasters procured printed letter heads, and by taking advantage of their position as postmaster and by giving as reference Barrett and a number of other postmasters in the deal succeeded in getting credit for pianos, sewing machines, etc., from city dealers. Altogether the scheme is said to have been a very extensive and profitable one. Several of the parties are now in jail and additional developments are expected.

CHOLERA AT QUARANTINE.

The Latest Reports Indicate That Danger Is Over.

QUARANTINE, NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—Vincenzo Cagliostre, aged 28 years, who was removed to the hospital at Swinburne Island on the 8th inst., died Wednesday night of Asiatic cholera. His remains were incinerated.

Lorenzo Moracio, the first patient removed, continues to improve and will probably be discharged from the hospital.

Last Night's Bulletin.

QUARANTINE, Aug. 10, (9 p. m.)—There is no change since the last bulletin. No new cases, no deaths.

The disinfection of the baggage of the passengers of the steamer Massilia is now complete and she will be permitted to go to her dock to-morrow. The crews of the Karamania are all well. She has been disinfected and newly painted. If the crew remain well, the Karamania will be released to-morrow.

WM. T. JENKINS, Health Officer.

The Currency Situation.

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, W. E. Curtis, was at the Sub-Treasury all yesterday afternoon. He had a conference with the Clearing House Committee, whom he told that the Treasury Department was doing all in its power to bring the currency famine to an end. The time for delivering National bank notes after the receipt of applications for them has been reduced from 20 to 14 days, and orders for them were coming in at the rate of $10,000,000 a day. The Sub-Treasury at San Francisco had been ordered to send $8,000,000 in gold to the Sub-Treasury in New York. The mint in Philadelphia had been set at work coining half eagles, for which there was a large demand.

Dangers of Bathing.

ASBURY PARK, Aug. 11.—Thomas Wilkinson, of the firm of Bailey, Banks & Biddle, of Philadelpaia, was seriously wounded while bathing here yesterday. He was rendered unconcious by being hurled against an iron pole supporting a life line. When rescued he had a serious cut two inches long on the forehead and another on the side of the face and a gash under the chin. The tendons of both hands were injured. A physician worked for four hours resuscitating Mr. Wilkinson and dressing his wounds.

German Finances.

FRANKFORT, Aug. 11.—The conference of the Finance Ministers of the several States forming the German Empire has concluded its labors. The object of the conference was to devise means for raising by taxation the money necessary to meet the increased expenditures necessitated by the Army bill. The conference appointed a committee to meet in Berlin and prepare bills for presentation to the Reichstag embodying the conclusions arrived at by all the Ministers.

A Rumored Revolution.

PANAMA, Aug. 11.—The government claims to have discovered a general plan for a revolution, concocted by parties now in Curacao, and has arrested in Bogota, Santiago Perz Garces, Santos Acosta and others. The opposition leaders here declare that the whole affair is an attempt to discredit them, and that no party desires or is prepared for a revolution.

Show Printers' Combine.

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—The Show Printers' Association of America, which organized in Chicago July 11 for mutual protection, will hold a congress in New York city early this month to complete details of their purpose to establish permanent headquarters for the central or executive body in New York city.

Checks for Wages.

HARTFORD, Conn., Aug. 11.—Eight of the principal manufacturing concerns in this city, after a conference with the banks, decided to pay wages hereafter only by check, payable through the Clearing House. Other manufacturers will take similar action.

THE CUP DEFENDERS.

Yesterday's Contest Between the Jubilee and the Vigilant.

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 11.—Two famous yachts, both of them aspirants for the honor of defending the American cup, met yesterday for the first time, and all interest was naturally centered in these flyers.

It was during the run of the New York fleet from New London to Newport that the cup defender Jubilee threw down the gauntlet to the cup defender Vigilant, and a battle royal it was. No athletes competing for a rich purse and the championship of the world ever watched each other so closely as did the New York and Boston boats.

At 10 o'clock a single gun boomed across the water and the Jubilee on the starboard tack under mainsail, working foresail, jib, gaff, topsail, and small jib topsail, was the first over the line. Fifty-eight seconds behind her, under the same canvas, came the Vigilant, the others following in a great bunch.

The Jubilee was the first to go on the port and tack and head over toward the Connecticut shore. She was followed a few seconds later by the Vigilant. After standing about half a mile to windward to give them a good stretch for the race, they went about again and then made one long leg for Race Rock with the tide east of them.

In the run through Fisher's Island Sound the Jubilee seemed to outfoot the Vigilant and by the time they were abreast of Race Rock the Boston Boat had put nearly a mile of clear water between them.

By the time they reached Point Judith the wind freshened and drew still further. Baloon jib topsails were set and later spinmakers were broken out to starboard. The racers were now almost bow and bow and the Vigilant would first blanket the Jubilee and then fall astern again.

This was done several times until Narragansett Pier bore abeam, when the Vigilant for no tangible reason ran ahead and maintained her lead until the finish.

LEHIGH VALLY EMPLOYES.

What Was Agreed Upon at the Recent Conference.

EASTON, Pa., Aug. 11.—The result of the conference between Vice-President Voorhees of the Reading, the superintendents of the Lehigh Valley and the Grievance Committee of the latter road, last week at Bethlehem, was made known yesterday. The men get a number of concessions upon points which have been a source of annoyance to them. The engineers and firemen will not have to take care of engines at terminal points. Engineers will get $2.70 a day the first six months; $3 per day the second, six months and $3.25 after that. Yard and mine engineers will receive $3 per day. No employe will be suspended without a hearing, and, if blameless of charges, will be paid for lost time. No employe can be compelled to take another trip after twenty hours consecutive work, except in case of wash-out or wreck. At relay telegraph offices where two or more operators are employed, ten hours shall constitute a day's work. In other offices twelve hours shall be the limit. Other things being equal seniority shall have the preference.

CLIFTON'S TROUBLES.

The Law and Order People Again After the Race Track.

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—The Law and Order League of Passaic county, N. J., has begun to make trouble already, and yesterday the officials descended upon the track officials armed with warrants for their arrest. The bone of contention is the fact that the track officials allow book makers to lay prices against races which take place outside the State, which is against the State penal law.

President George H. Engeman, Secretary Charles V. Sass and Charles Primrose, who has charge of the betting ring, were taken into custody and forced to go to Passaic, where they each gave $500 bail and were released.

The Law and Order League say they will carry the war to the bitter end.

YELLOW FEVER REFUGES

They Are Stopped in Their Flight from Pensacola.

SEVERAL CITIES BAR THEM OUT

New Orleans Detains Pensacola Passengers Five Days—Birmingham Establishes Complete Quarantine Against the Infected City—Special Trains North.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 11.—The State Board of Health met yesterday to act on the threatened yellow fever epidemic at Pensacola. After a full discussion of the subject it was determined to take every precaution against the introduction of the disease here short of absolute quarantine. Every through train on the Louisville and Nashville road carried many passengers out of Pensacola. All of them were caught about 30 miles from this city and detained. Among them were the members of the New Orleans base-ball club who left Pensacola in a great fright. The passengers interrupted will be detained five days and hereafter all passengers from Pensacola will be detained the same length of time, unless they have health certificates. Those who have certificates will be kept for 10 days at an isolated point from the city. Inspectors are being sent out to closely watch trains. The health officials do not believe that there is much danger that the fever will come here. There has been none in New Orleans for fifteen years and the city is not alarmed.

Quarantine at Birmingham.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Aug. 11.—Birmingham has declared quarantine against Pensacola, Fla. A special train passed through here yesterday consisting of three coaches and a baggage car. The coaches were filled with refugees. They were not allowed to get off the train, all doors being locked and guards standing on all platforms. They went north from here.

Soldiers to Be Removed.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—It is understood that the company of United States troops at Barrancas, near Pensacola Fla., will be removed to some other port on account of the yellow fever in the vicinity.

Savannah Declares Quarantine.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Aug. 11.—Savannah has declared quarantine against Pensacola. All trains arriving from Florida have been inspected and a rigid detention of Pensacola fugitives will be enforced.

Augusta Puts Up the Bars.

AUGUSTA, Ga., Aug. 11.—The Augusta Board of Health has quarantined against Pensacola until December 1.

Welcome at Atlanta.

ATLANTA, Ga., Aug. 11.—A train load of fugitives from Pensacola reached here yesterday. It was a special train and the passengers were some of the most prominent people of that city. They found every door closed against them until they reached Atlanta. At no place were they allowed to stop. All Alabama cities had most rigid quarantines. They were, however, welcomed to Atlanta. None were sick. They say the panic there was great, but they express doubt as to the genuineness of the fever.

NEW YORK'S UNEMPLOYED.

Preparations for a Parade and Demonstration.

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—Samuel Gompers, President of the American Federation of Labor, called a meeting of representative labor men last evening at the headquarters of the United Garment Workers, to take steps in the near future to arrange a parade of unemployed.

There was considerable diversity of opinion among those present, some advocating immediate action, while the majority maintained that on account of the present stringency, a demonstration at this time would be inadvisable.

Finally it was resolved to ask the different labor unions, each to send five representatives to a conference to be held at the International Labor Exchange on Aug. 20, at 2 p. m., to discuss the matter.

China and Russia.

LONDON, Aug. 11.—The Chinese Government, replying to Russia's recent demand for an explanation of the massing of Chinese troops on the frontier of the Pamirs, says that China intends to occupy only Chinese Pamirs, from which she will not recede an inch. The note adds that China does not intend to interfere with Russia's occupying other parts of the Pamirs, but she hopes that Russia will confine her operations to those parts.

Socialistic Congress.

ZURICH, Aug. 11.—The International Socialistic Congress rejected a resolution offered by Norwegian delegates that a universal strike be started immediately after a war is declared. The resolution was supported by representatives of only four nations, while the representatives of 14 nations voted against it. A Belgian amendment in favor of aiming to suppress militarism by withholding supplies, was adopted.

Cholera Becoming Worse.

VIENNA, Aug. 11.—An official statement issued by the Sanitary Council of Austria declares that the condition of the country with regard to cholera is very precarious, much more serious than it was in 1892. The Home Office has sent a circular to the Government officials throughout the country enjoining the strictest precautions.

Water Famine.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Aug. 11.—The city is threatened with a water famine. The water in the wells from which the entire supply is drawn is very low and the authorities are afraid that in case of fire the supply would be exhausted.

CRISP TAKES A SCALP

An Important Change in the Committee on Rules.

OUTHWAITE SUPPLANTS M'MILLIN.

Speculation as to Whether the Change Is on Account of the Silver Question—What the Committee Will Probably Do.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—Nothing of special importance was done yesterday in either the Senate or the House. Just before the adjournment of the House the Speaker created some surprise by announcing a change in the Committee on Rules. He made Mr. Outhwaite, of Ohio, a member in place of Benton McMillin, of Tennessee.

Up to that time not a single intimation had been made of the intention of Mr. Crisp to supplant Mr. McMillin with Mr. Outhwaite, and when the change was comprehended there was a general inquiry, "What does it mean? What was the occasion for it?" Many were the theories propounded as answers. No one was more surprised than Mr. McMillin himself when he learned the fact. In the confusion that prevailed at the time he did not catch the names as they were read; and it was not until Mr. Reed walked over to his seat to ask why his name had been dropped that he knew he was no longer one of the "Big Five."

To a reporter for the United Press Mr. McMillin said he did not care to discuss the matter. It would not be seemly nor courteous for him to do so. The Speaker was charged with the duty of organizing the committees of the House, and he was not to be criticized for his intelligent and patriotic discharge of that duty. There was nothing personal in the action, he was sure, for there had never been the slightest friction at any of the meetings of the committee. A gentleman acquainted with the facts said, that in Mr. McMillin's fifteen years service as a member of the House he had never gone himself nor sent any one to the Speaker with reference to his committee assignments, except in response to a summons from that official.

It was suggested that Mr. Outhwaite's well-known and ardent advocacy of a repeal of the Sheman law might account for the change; but this was discredited by Mr. McMillin himself, who said he was satisfied that could have no influence upon the Speaker's determination, for the latter had no knowledge, at least from him, of Mr. McMillin's position in that regard. It was learned that Mr. McMillin regards the Sherman law as a very unwise, if not dangerous, measure, and he can, therefore, probably be counted on to vote for the repeal of the silver purchasing clause.

A friend of Speaker Crisp said the reason for the change, in his opinion, lay in the suggestion that had been frequently made during the 52d Congress that there should be a Northern Democrat on the committee. "That, and that alone, accounts for the change. When the committee was formed two years ago," he continued, "the party had just past through a fierce fight for the Speakership, and it was deemed best to put a representative of each of the two factions on the committee. So Mr. Catchings was chosen from the Crisp ranks and Mr. McMillin from those who opposed him. This year there was no fight of that kind on hand, and the way was clear for adopting the suggestions regarding a Northern Democrat."

Mr. Outhwaite was one of Speaker Crisp's supporters in the contest of 1891.

The Committee on Rules will get to work at once. The rules of the 52d Congress have been referred to it and of course they will form the basis of the code to be recommended for adoption by the present body.

French Labor Troubles.

PARIS, Aug. 11.—Seventy of the leading members of the Labor Exchange, which was closed during the recent troubles in Paris, were fined 50 francs each and costs for refusing to comply with the law for the regulation of trades syndicates. The court ordered the dissolution of all the syndicates concerned in the violations of the law, including the executive committee of the Labor Exchange. Several of the defendants declared that they would go to prison rather than pay the fines imposed upon them.

Fifty Per Cent. Reduction.

PANAMA, Aug. 11.—The Panama Mail employes are much excited over a reduction of salaries of 50 per cent. Notice was given that the salaries of all employes from general agent down will be paid after the 1st of September in common silver instead of in American gold. The reduction of salaries, it is believed, will not be accepted and it is believed that the best officers will leave. It is expected that the reduction will extend to the fleet officers. It already includes the coast agent.

Prize Fighting in Jersey.

HACKENSACK, N. J., Aug. 11.—Charles McManus, proprietor of a hotel at Ridgewood, was arrested last night charged with allowing a prize fight in his dining room on April 25, on which occasion "Sandy" Templeton and "Johnny" Morrison of Paterson fought for a purse. McManus gave bonds in $1,000. The arrest caused a sensation in Ridgewood, as many residents of the town who attended the fight are fearful that their presence will be made known.

Slate Trust.

TROY, N. Y., Aug. 11.—The Vermont Slate Trust decided at a meeting at Granville that, beginning Monday, the concerns forming the trust should work four days in the week and Sept. 1 there should be a general reduction of wages of 10 per cent. The decision affects the quarry interests in the whole section.

Back to Buzzard's Bay.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—The President will leave to-day for Buzzard's Bay to stay probably till the 1st of September.

MANY VICTIMS.

CHOLERA INFANTUM'S DREAD RECORD.

A Serious Time For the Little Babies—Physicians Advise the Use of Pure Food—Lack of Proper Knowledge Causes Suffering—How the Health of Children May be Preserved.

Mothers of Plainfield, read what's here.

There is an epidemic of indigestion and cholera infantum in this and other states.

Health boards everywhere are reporting a startling fatality from cholera infantum.

Physicians say that in nearly every case the child is poorly fed and nourished, and hence the disease.

"It is absolutely certain," says a physician in one of the medical journals, speaking of the alarming summer mortality among his patients, "that the cause of this high death rate among infants is indigestion."

At the beginning of summer, the best physicians gave warning that pure food must be used for babies. That this warning did not reach every city and town in this state it is evident from the high infantile death rate. But in those places where the newspapers published the discussions that were going on, large quantities of lactated food were sold and this best of diets for children was used. The result is, statistics show that fewer deaths have occurred in those towns and cities where the larger amount of lactated food was used.

Comparisons of this sort are absolutely convincing.

August is a fatal month for the little ones, and unless lactated food is used, the local physicians say that the dreadful mortality and increasing amount of sickness among children will continue.

The one safe plan is to feed infants on lactated food.

The Samoan Situation.

LONDON, Aug. 11.—Replying to a question in the House of Commons yesterday Sir Edward Grey, Parliamentary Secretary of the Foreign Office, said that the latest advices from Samoa showed that Chief Mataafa, who was recently engaged in warfare with King Malietoa, was on board the British cruiser Katoomba. Mataafa's principal sub-chiefs were with him on the warship. Sir Edward added that the decision to be reached regarding Mataafa and his supporters would be subject to the result of consultations between Great Britain, Germany and the United States.

Bold Robbery.

PASSAIC, N. J., Aug. 11.—Walter Fredericks, agent at the depot of the Delaware, Lackawana & Western Railroad, was assaulted in his office yesterday afternoon. A strange man struck him on the neck with an iron bar. Fredericks was rendered unconscious, but came to soon after and found that he had lost his pocketbook containing $10. The thief escaped.

Silver Rates.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—Silver continues on the rise in London, the price yesterday being, according to official advices received at the Treasury Department, 30,7625 per ounce. This is a cent per ounce above the price paid by the Treasury. Of the 357,000 ounces of silver offered the Treasury bought 322,000 ounces at $0.7515 per ounce.

Secretary Carlisle Ill.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—Secretary Carlisle was not at the Treasury yesterday morning. After his conference with Speaker Crisp he returned home, remaining there most of the day. He is not well, his rheumatism hanging on most stubbornly and giving him much pain. Assistant Secretary Hamlin is acting Secretary of the Treasury.

HER OWN SKILL SAVED HER.

Medical Student Miss Woodhouse Retains Presence of Mind in Her Hour of Peril.

Miss Woodhouse, the charming young woman who is a student of Dr. Keeney, had a narrow escape from injury in an accident which befell her last evening. She was mounted on a spirited bay, and riding at a swift gallop, when the saddle turned, and the animal came down Watchung avenue on a run, with the young lady lying across its back clinging to the girths. After riding some distance in this manner she became possessed of her curb reins, and by repeated jerks brought her horse to a trot and slipped to the ground, surrounded by the people who had come to her assistance, until her saddle was re-adjusted, when she remounted. Miss Woodhouse is an expert equestrienne, a pupil of Mrs. Percy Ohl, and fortunately rides without a stirrup, or fatal results might have followed her experience.

That Unsafe Bridge.

At the last meeting of the Somerset County Board of Freeholders a communication was received from E. A. Quayle, counsel for the Morris county Board, stating that the engineer of that Board had examined the bridge over the Passaic, near Stirling, and declared (as The Press has reported) that it had not been built in accordance with the plans, and was unsafe for public travel. In consequence, the Board refused to accept the bridge. The communication was referred to the Building Committee, of which Messrs. Adams, Bullman and J. E. Ballantine are the Somerset members, with instructions to notify the contractor that unless he proceeds to complete the bridge within ten days, then the committee will get some one else to do the work, and deduct the amount from the contract.

SHE SLAPPED THE CHIEF'S FACE.

DUSKY MRS. WYETT DEVELOPS INTO AN AMAZON.

Her Husband and Chief Grant Prevented Her Elopement with Negro Sydney, and She Fought Viciously Before a Crowd at the Railway Station.

Charles H. Wyett is an industrious porter. He is a quiet and orderly Negro, but this morning trouble came to him through his wife, and the end is not yet.

Mr. and Mrs. Wyett have always lived happily, but a colored man who is a stranger here met the woman, infatuated her, and alienated her affections so that their flight was arranged for this morning.

At 9 they went to the North Avenue station to depart for their future home. The husband, however, heard of the scandal, and informed George W. Grant, chief of police. Wyett and Chief Grant went to the station to head off the elopers. They found the twain, and the chief went up to arrest them, when the woman slapped him in the face. Her husband tried to assist him, and he too was struck.

The woman fought viciously, escaped from the officer, and went to the home of her mother, Mrs. Peterson, East Sixth street, where she was arrested later by Chief Grant and Sergeant Kiely and taken to the station house.

In the meantime the other man, who goes by the name of Sydney, made his escape by train for Baltimore.

A Press representative in conversation with Mr. Wyett learned that he was heartbroken over the affair. He said he was trying to make his home, in Cottage place, a model one, and he did not know why the women should become so wayward, but if she was going on in this way he would not live with her.

The woman will have a hearing this evening before Mayor Gilbert, on the charge of disorderly conduct and assaulting an officer.

A BOY'S TERRIBLE FALL.

16-Year-Old George Killoran Badly Injured by Dropping from a Tree.

George Killoran, age 16, of Duer street and Linden avenue, is in bed at home suffering terribly from internal injuries.

He was in a giant pear tree in Boice's orchard yesterday afternoon when the limb broke and he fell 30 feet to the ground. He landed on his back and was unconscious for an hour.

His companions carried him into the shade and bathed him with water. When he came to they took him home in a wagon.

Dr. Tomlinson is attending the unfortunate lad, whose injuries are very serious.

A New Piscataway Road.

The Middlesex County Common Pleas Court has received a petition from R. H. Swayzee and others for a new road in Piscataway township from the Harris Lane school house over the Sayre propety to Greenbrook. The petition was granted, and the following commissioners were appointed to survey the road: Samuel S. Giles and A. L. Boice, of Piscataway; Albert Mundy and J. M. Boylan, of Raritan, and Bernard Dunnigan and Donald McVicar, of Woodbridge.

Plainfield's Crack Horses to Race.

Great racing is promised on the track of the Gentlemen's Driving Park Association, Saturday. It will begin at 2 p. m., and admission to the grounds will be free. The race in which most interest is taken, and on which perhaps the most money will be put up, is that between John Hayes's "Andy", John Chandler's gray horse, and Peter Osborne's sorrel mare. Considerable interest is taken in the race, as all the horses are evenly matched.

Hedden Kills a Three-Foot Adder.

William Hedden, of Kensington avenue, while painting around his house, Tuesday, was surprised to see a flat-headed adder approaching him. The reptile had been coiled up, and showed fight when molested. It was killed, and measured over three feet in length.

Flew the Birds from Plainfield.

Benjamin Elwin, of Irvington, sent fifteen homing pigeons to this city Wednesday by wagon. They were liberated at the corner of Park avenue and Second street at 10:03 a. m. The object was to give the birds practice before the National race in September.

Struck By a Brick.

One of the masons at work on A. D. Cook's new house on East Seventh street was accidentally struck on the head by a falling brick, yesterday afternoon, and his scalp was severely cut. The wound was dressed by a physician, and he was taken home.

Plainfield Paddles Not a Success.

The Dunellen Call says that "the latest thing on the lake is a boat owned by Plainfield parties and which has paddle-wheels worked on the bicycle principle. It cannot be called a success, however."

Quick Insurance.

Samuel P. T. Wilbur, representing the Fidelity and Casualty Company, has paid $60 to C. N. Train for injuries he received at Pond's. The claim was presented August 8, and paid August 9.

A Wonderful Machine.

There is no doubt that man is a fine mechanism, but like every other machine he wears out by friction. It is said that he is born again every two or three years. His body is virtually re-made from food. To retard this making over is radically wrong, as a man loses so much vitality in the delayed process that it takes a long time to recuperate. The process of making anew is so accelerated by purging with BRANDETH'S PILLS that a new man, as it were, may be made in two or three months, and the change in the mechanism is such that the worn out part is replaced by the new without the usual running down of the entire machine. You don't have to stop for repairs. Purge away with BRANDETH'S PILLS the old, diseased and worn out body. They are purely vegetable, absolutely harmless, and safe to take at any time.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

George White has returned from his vacation.

Mrs. C. Mitchell, of 68 Grove street, returned from Chicago Wednesday.

Miss E. Holmes, of East Fifth street, started for Fitchburg, Va., yesterday.

Arthur Matthews, of West Third street, is spending two weeks at Asbury Park.

F. W. Dunn, the North avenue grocer, was kept at his home by illness yesterday.

Miss Etta VanBuskirk, of West Second street, is spending the week at Locust Grove.

Dr. Charles R. Thiers, of Somerset street, is home again from his summer outing.

Miss Ethel King, of Craig place, is visiting her grandmother, Mrs. J. W. King, in Brooklyn.

Geo. P. Dupee and family have left Watch Hill and will spend the rest of the season in the Adirondacks.

Mr. and Mrs. George VanNess have returned to their home in Jersey City, after their visit on Elmwood place.

George Mantz, of the firm of T. & G. Mantz, is taking a business trip through New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

August and Charles Windham, of New York, nephews of Henry Windham, are stopping at the Crescent Hotel.

J. Beat, the accomplished representative of the Clark Mile-End Thread Company, is stopping at The Albion.

Fred Benzer, of Benzer, of Brooklyn, has returned home after a pleasant visit to Frank Blatz, of Somerset street.

Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Hegeman, Sr., of Sycamore avenue, Washington Park, leave to-morrow for Lake Placid, N. J.

The Rev. C. E. Herring is back from his vacation and will preach as usual in the First Presbyterian church, Sunday.

Announcement is made of the engagement of Miss Emma Naylor, of East Ninth street, to Mr. Smalley, of Dunellen.

George Voehl and a party went to Manasquan yesterday and captured over a bushel of fish, mostly flounders and sea bass.

George B. Naylor, of 267 East Front street, is jubilant over the advent of a 10-pound boy. The little fellow dates his life from Monday.

A. C. Vail and family, of West Eighth street, will return home Saturday from Greenwich, Conn., where they have been spending three weeks.

The honor and happiness of being a grandfather is now the lot of James Lot Marshall. His daughter, Mrs. William Ahlgren, presented her husband with a daughter this morning.

In the sad affliction of the loss of their baby daughter Ethel, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert W. Stover have the sincere sympathy of every Plainfield parent.

Asa Nichols, formerly of this city and now of Bridgeport, is spending a day or two with Geo. Babcock, of the firm of Magee & Co., Somerset street.

Miss Annie Finley, of East Third street, and Miss Julia McCann, of West Third street, will leave to-morrow to spend three weeks in New York State.

The Coddington-Beerbower party, who were expected home last evening from Budd's Lake, telegraphed that they will not return until Saturday evening.

Miss Estelle VanMiddlesworth, one of Plainfield's most charming young women, is visiting her attractive cousin, Miss Minnie VanMiddlesworth, of East High street, Dunellen.

The installation of the Rev. F. Peterson as pastor of the New Market Seventh-Day Baptist church will take place to-morrow. Among those who are to take part is the Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis, of Plainfield.

The many friends of William H. Shotwell, of the borough, are glad to see him on the streets again, although he walks with a cane. He injured his knee one day last week, by a fall, while running to catch a train.

Among the latest to delight in the beauties of Plainfield are Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Moore, who now occupy one of Chas. Sebring's new flats on North avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Moore formerly lived in Somerville, where Mr. Moore is a faithful employe of the Jersey Central Railroad Company.

The electrical equipment of the Somerset street extension was accomplished under the able direction of Alexander Thompson, a most expert electrical engineer, of the U. S. Electric Railways Company, 10 Wall street, New York. L. W. Serrell of this city is general manager of the company.

The audience in Saengerbund Hall last night was disappointed in the non-appearance of Mrs. Fred Cenfield, a gifted artist whose name had been down on the programme for a piano solo. She was obliged to cancel the engagement out of respect to the memory of her father, whose death occurred Sunday.

The keyboard of the Postal Telegraph office on North avenue, opposite the Jersey Central station, will hereafter be graced by the accomplished operator and graceful young woman, Miss B. C. Young, of Three Bridges, who will send messages quick as a wink and reward you for your patronage with the sweetest of smiles.

In John Adleman the Plainfield Street Railway Company has a most competent and devoted superintendent. He not only takes full care of his office duties but is continually hustling about looking after every interest of the concern. He is an earnest and indefatigable worker, and has sufficient executive ability to direct affairs so that all works smoothly and well.

A delightful dance was given last evening at Rockview Farm, the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. T. Barrett. Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Copelan, of Brooklyn; Mr. and Mrs. Wright, the Misses Edith and Emma Wright, of New York; the Misses Maud and Edith McArthur, Passaic Bridge; the Misses Sadie and Mattie Barrett, Miss May Doane, Mr. and Mrs. J. Hervey Doane, Charles Doane, Charles Angleman, Charles Langdon, of this city.

SUN-LIGHT and FRESH AIR are THE BEST DISINFECTANTS, of course; but you can't apply them in every situation. What next? Well, that depends. For damp cellars use Quicklime, plenty of it. For vaults and cesspools use COPPERAS; cheap stuff; we sell it by the pound or hundred-weight—instructions thrown in. For kitchen sinks, for water-closets, for house plumbing, for the sick room, to deodorize discharges, to purify the air and to prevent contagion, use REYNOLDS'S ODORLESS DISINFECTANT. Made and sold for fifteen years at

Reynolds's Pharmacy, Corner Park and North Avenues.

THE NEW LUTHERAN CHURCH.

Liberality of Various Citizens with Money and Goods.

The Rev. Edward Klonk, pastor of the German Lutheran church of North Plainfield, publishes an excellent religious journal in his Lutherischer 'Gemeindefreund. From the latest issue is translated the following:

John Koch, our Treasurer, has made us a present of $1,000, and has promised to give $1,000 more, if we collect another $4,000, but we have several years time to do it in. For the present he will lend us this $1,000 without interest. Miss Anna Plaschinska, President of our Ladies' Society, has also lent us $1,000 for one year without interest.

F. M. Hulett, the well-known music dealer on Front street, will make us a present of a very nice organ for the church. A. M. Griffen, the plumber, has offered to do all plumbing work for nothing. We are very much obliged to these liberal gentleman for their help in building our church.

Will Prosecute Plainfield's Claims.

The Knights of Pythias of this district held a meeting at Elizabeth last Tuesday evening, when the matter of a home for Pythians came up for consideration. It was decided to appoint a committee that will meet in September and take active measures towards securing such a building. Plainfield Pythians through Past Chancellor John Ulrich will do their best to have the home built here.

SOMERSET'S ROAD IS RUNNING.

A NIGHT OF WILD DELIGHT OVER THE INAUGURATION.

North Plainfield Borough Goes Crazy with Joy Over the Advent of Rapid Transit—Successful Trial Trip, Followed by Toasts to the Road's Success, and Speeches.

If there has been any misgiving in the mind of anyone as to the popularity of such an electric street railway service as Plainfield's, all doubt must have been dispelled last night, when Car No. 1 made its initial trip over the Somerset street extension.

As early as 7, people gathered at the corner of Front and Somerset streets, and by the time all was ready for the trip hundreds were eagerly waiting the start.

As soon as car No. 1 reached the corner it was quickly crowded to suffocation with such of the throng as could squeeze into it. Some of these were especially invited, and prominent among them were: North Plainfield's most excellent and honored Mayor, William L. Saunders; Chandler W. Riker and Samuel Schoch, of Newark, and James Jackson and J. T. Fritts of Plainfield, Directors of the Street Railway Company; ex-Councilmen Charles P. Sebring and B. A. Hegeman, Jr.; Borough Councilmen George H. Neal and H. E. Needham; Collector H. Newton Spencer, Chief Marshal William N. Pangborn, Borough Clerk John Vetterlein, Alexander Thompson, electrical engineer; and Plainfield Councilman F. E. Marsh.

With the perversity of human nature, those who have been the most notorious kickers against the construction of the Somerset street line were among the first to board the car. Among these was the genial giant John Goodwin and a chap named Morrison, who apparently were in great delight, as the trip was free.

Superintendent Adleman had charge of the car, and made everyone as comfortable as possible. But he couldn't do much in the line of affording personal ease, in the midst of such a crowd. So large a gathering has seldom been seen at any demonstration in the city. Loud and frequent cheers were given in honor of the completion and opening of the road, and there were decorations and illuminations all along the route.

It was exactly 7:55 when Conductor McCarty rang the bell, which was the signal for Motorman Wallace to put the car in motion. Slowly at first, but gaining speed, she moved along Somerset street, as smoothly and gracefully as was to be expected of such perfect mechanism.

Both sides of Somerset street were lined with people, mothers holding their babes, young men with their sweethearts, old men and maidens, while the people in the houses along the route craned their necks out of the windows, all eager to witness the eventful scene.

When the car reached the Crescent Hotel, a fine display of fireworks was given, while on the opposite side of the street stood the venerable Peter Wooden, who was elated beyond measure, at having lived to see Somerset street grow from country fields to thrifty rapid-transit thoroughfare.

On and onward howled the car, and cheer after cheer rose up in praise of the successful trip. Red fire was liberally burned, and the illumination was punctuated with the electrical display of the car itself, caused by dirt being on the rails, and causing the current to flash forth in gorgeous lightning.

At the house of Warren Engine Company flags, bunting and lanterns formed a very pretty decoration. The house was thrown open from top to bottom, and the ringing of the engine bell increased the enthusiastic racket.

At the Arlington Hotel a warm reception greeted the car and its inmates. Around the entire building were strung Chinese lanterns, while the interior was brightly illuminated. Here also was a large crowd of people.

The trip to the mountain was made without a break, and the terminus was reached at exactly 8:07. The trolley was then reversed, and at 8:09 the car was started on the return trip. This was as successful as the other. At the Arlington Hotel the car stopped, and several got off and on invitation accepted the hospitality of the popular host, Henry Windham.

In the hotel parlors, toasts were drunk, and speeches were made by Mayor Saunders, Secretary Riker and others, in which they spoke glowingly of the initial trip and its glorious success.

From the hotel down, the car ran smoothly, and when it reached Front and Somerset streets it was found that the same number of minutes had been taken for the trip each way, making the round trip 24 minutes. This will be the regular schedule time from terminus to terminus, while only one car is running. When the two new cars are on, a car will leave each end every 12 minutes.

After the trial trip was over, the company coined money by running on schedule time at the regular fare. To-day the branch is operating smoothly.

The only regret in connection with last night's boisterous festivities was the absence of merry Tom Nevins, president of the company, who was in Boston with his family.

A feature of the demonstration was the host of small boys who chased after the car from one end of the road to the other, adding by their enthusiasm to the picturesqueness of the occasion.

A singular coincidence in connection with the opening of the Somerset street branch is that just one year ago last night, August 10, 1892, the main line was opened and the Plainfield Mayor and Councilmen enjoyed the initial trip down West Front street and back.

Slow-Trot Smith Spoils His Pants.

A very amusing sight was witnessed on East Second street, last evening, when Slow-Trot Smith, of Billy Randolph's barber shop, tried to ride a safety. He started off all right, piloted by Elder Slocum on one side and Do n't-Care-a-Snap Jones, but the rider came to grief, and into a mud puddle he turned a somersault and spoiled his white pants.

THE CRESCENTS DOWN EAST.

How They Wallop the Crack Nines of Hudson River Towns.

To-day the Crescents are playing the nine at Fishkill, and will doubtless win, as they are in excellent shape and defeated the Poughkeepsies again yesterday, by the following score:

Crescents	2	0	5	2	4	0	4	0	—17
Poughkeepsie	0	0	0	2	0	4	0	2	1—9

The detailed score of the first game is as follows:

Umpire—Corcoran.

McLaughlin pitched yesterday, and showed good speed. Manager Keller had to come home last night to get ready for a flying business trip to Auburn.

The Crescents are short to-day Leo Smith and Martin, and borrowed two Poughkeepsie players. McLaughlin is captain and manager in the game against Fishkill.

The Poughkeepsies are not satisfied, but want the Crescents to go back there again. They are bound to beat them if it takes all summer.

THE HORSE STOPPED STILL.

A Little Plainfield Story Illustrating How Not To Disturb a Tired Equine.

It was down on Park avenue, early the other evening, that the old horse thought he had gone far enough. Whether it was a case of complete collapse, or simply a momentary tired feeling, did not appear, and is not material. The horse stopped right in the middle of the street, and traffic was suspended for the time being. The vehicle to which the weary equine was attached contained an elderly trio, one old man and two ladies aging rapidly. The old man rose up, leaned over the dashboard, and belabored the horse heroically for full five minutes without cessation or success. Then he made a remark which shocked the ladies quite as deeply as some persons are disturbed by a soubrette's portrait, and they clung to one another and implored the assistance of the gods. A little crowd gathered on the sidewalk, applauding the efforts of the old man, and making sarcastic comments on the years and beauty of the horse. The poor equine took it all in good part, and looked as resigned as a pretty girl in an Asbury Park bathing suit. He did not mind being licked a little bit; what he wanted was a moment's rest. At last, the old man was played out, and sank down upon the seat breathless and red in the face.

"Let us out, Nathan, let us out"—besought one of the women, with her foot on the step of the carriage.—"Don't let him start!"

"Start!" cried the old man.—Start! No: I won't let him start. Jumping Jupiter! what have I been doing for the last ten minutes!"—and his cheeks puffed out with suppressed agony.

And just then the old horse walked peacefully away and left the crowd laughing at the people in the carriage. That horse knew when the joke was on his side.

LOOK FOR THE OPEN DOOR.

Plainfield Commuters Sure to Find Some Short Cut to the Ferry Boat.

By a strange freak of perverted fancy the railroad company keeps the doors to its Jersey City waiting room closed and ostensibly bolted when the morning trains are coming in, thereby obliging commuters and others to walk away around the station to the boat when a short cut might be made through the waiting room but for this absurd habit of locking it up. Every day some poor man undertakes to open the first door he sees, and, getting left, sheepishly follows his fellow-travelers in their weary walk around the big depot.

It will interest commuters to know, however, that, while all the doors are closed, the second one counting from left to right as you approach from the cars is generally unlocked. Of course, this is no rule, and is subject to variation, but it is pretty safe to count on, keeping in mind the fact that one of the doors is sure to be open for the convenience of the employes, who may be relied on to take care of themselves no matter how hard they make the passengers work.

DENNIS GAVIN IN GREAT LUCK.

HE DRAWS THE WORLD'S FAIR COUPON OFFERED BY ST. JOSEPH'S.

This Only One of Many Interesting Features of a Glorious Entertainment—The Talented Artists of the Midsummer Night Dance Delight a Large House.

The Midsummer Night Dance given for the benefit of St. Joseph's church, in Saengerbund Hall, last night, was a complete success in every respect.

While the audience was assembling, O'Reilly's orchestra rendered the sweet strains of "After the Ball", which had a good effect.

At the appointed time, the ever-smiling John H. Carney came forth and with beaming countenance made the announcement that the entertainment would begin with a selection by the male quartette, Joe Martin, Harry Spencer, Calvin Sutton and Harry Roberts. They rendered "The Shamrock" and "Good-Night" in fine style, for which they were heartily applauded. Then came Miss Cora Sheppard, who gave a pleasing recitation that was appreciated.

When Eli Odam appeared, he put the audience in excellent humor and delighted all by his funny songs. This was followed with a double jig and reel, by the Misses Clara Lanning and Elydia M. Boyce, who captivated the people with their graceful dancing. Miss Morris then sang a solo, which all enjoyed.

William Westphal made quite a hit with his comical sayings. One had only to look at him to be seized with convulsions of laughter.

One of the best features on the programme was the group of selections by the Dresden Trio, Alfred Norbury, Fred A. Lewis and Fred J. Pope. Their singing was delightful, as their pleasing voices blended in sweet harmony, in the rendition of comic songs which set the audience in roars of laughter, and in sentimental ditties.

J. T. Velgard in reciting "Shamus O'Brien", brought forth his best efforts, and skillfully flitted from sublime to ridiculous and back again.

Miss Elydia M. Boice appeared again and danced the Sailors' Hornpipe. In this she showed great skill, and the dance was very neatly done.

The very name of Miss Etta Raybert is enough to cause enthusiasm among her admirers, and last evening she was at her best, when she rendered "I Want It So Bad". The talented young woman received an ovation, and the hearty applause which was given she well deserved.

The Spanish dancing by Miss Clara Laning was a unique affair and given in good style.

Mr. Velgard then announced that "Plainfield's only John H. Carney" would appear. It is not necessary to say that he was received in royal fashion, for Carney is the star of the town. He kept the audience laughing till their sides ached, and then they wept with merriment until they didn't know how to stop. John gave his German dialect in unusually good fashion, and the people did not quiet down until some time after he had left the stage.

The last number on the programme was "Fifteen Minutes in Japan", represented by twelve young women who were dressed in oriental costumes which were exceedingly pretty. The dancing and figures were most fascinating, and the young women went through the movements with marked precision. Each one carried a Japanese parasol and fan, which they manipulated in correct Japanese style, and the effect was most pleasing. Mrs. Richard Boyce had charge of this dance, and the arrangement of the entire part, and she deserved to feel very proud of the pupils and the result. Those taking part were the Misses Fanny Moore, Lena Weber, Katy Carty, Katy Flanagan, Lizzie Flanagan, Lizzie Casey, Loretto Quinn, Alice Kelly, Nora Flynn, May Day, Nellie Lawler and Katy Leahy. Miss Alice Quinn was the accomplished accompanist.

At the close, the Rev. Father Miller, of St. Joseph's church, said the drawing for the World's Fair ticket would take place. Each admission ticket had a coupon which entitled the bearer to a chance. The numbers were all shaken up in a box, and Father Miller drew a coupon, which was No. 210, and was held by Dennis Gavin, who will go to Chicago free.

After this, the floor was cleared, and the young people danced till early morning.

New Station at White House.

A new station is being erected at White House by the Rockaway Valley Railroad Company. This is a great improvement to White House. It has been long needed, instead of the old shell that stood on the Jersey Central ever since the road was built.

The Ever-Watchful Marshal.

The bridge at the head of Prospect avenue, North Plainfield, broke down last night. Marshal Pangborn put out a warning signal by placing a limb of a tree there with a lighted lantern on it.

Plainfield Clothes for the Honolulus.

An express package of clothing was consigned to Missionary Robert Anderson at Honolulu, from Plainfield, Wednesday.

Proof of Merit.

The proof of the merits of a plaster is the cures it effects, and the voluntary testimonials of those who have used ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS during the past thirty years is unimpeachable evidence of their superiority and should convince the most skeptical. Self praise is no recommendation, but certificates from those who have used them are. Beware of imitations and do not be deceived by misrepresentation. Ask for ALLCOCK'S, and let no solicitation or explanation induce you to accept a substitute.

I have been a sufferer from catarrh for twenty years. I found immediate relief in the use of Ely's Cream Balm. Miss Jessie Coddington is spending a short time with her grandparents of the Valley.

The Misses Patterson, of Brooklyn, are enjoying a short visit to the country as the guests of Miss Nettie Beeching.

Mrs. Robert Clark, accompanied by Master Bert, will spend a few weeks enjoying the beauties of Lake Hopatcong.

Miss Fanny Boast and Miss Eva Greenslade, of Bayonne, are enjoying the mountain breezes as the guests of Miss Minnie Bicknell.

Alfred Drew and bride, who was Miss Annie Baldwin, are spending the summer with Mrs. Stephen Bicknell. Mrs. Drew is the daughter of the late Peter Baldwin.

Robert M. Clark is studying law in Newark with one of the prominent firms, preparatory to entering a law school. The one thing this place lacks is a lawyer, and Robert will make a good one.

Mrs. Thos. Stead is renewing her youth among her friends, the Stiness of Greenbrook. She is going to visit some old friends at Green Village, Morris county. Mrs. Stead, although ninety-four, is hale and hearty, plies her needle and thread, and in her spare moments reads The Press, taking great interest in the current affairs of the day.

Patrick Donnelly, in the employ of H. J. Smith, met with what might have been a serious accident. While riding along the road on a load of hay he was thrown off by the sudden starting of the horses, the driver starting them off rapidly without notice. He struck the hard road bed, and lay stunned for a few minutes. It was feared he was hurt internally, but he is about his duties to-day, although very sore. Pains in his back remind him where he struck the road.

A Woman's Back.

The mainspring of her life.

What can she do, where can she go, so long as that deadly backache saps both strength and ambition?

She cannot walk, she cannot stand; her duties are burdensome; she is miserable.

The cause is some derangement of the uterus or womb. Backache is the sure symptom.

The one unfailing remedy is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. A woman discovered it and gave it to woman. Mrs. T. W. Lane, of Holyoke, Mass., tells what a comfort it is to write to a woman about her peculiar troubles, and have a woman read her letters and give a woman's sympathy and help. Thousands send Mrs. Pinkham letters, grateful for renewed life.

HISTORIC WEAPONS.

Now on Guard Before the Los Angeles Courthouse.

They Have Served in Every Mexican Revolution in California and Played a Part in the Famous American Conquest.

At the corner of Main and Commercial streets, Los Angeles, planted muzzle downward, are two curious cannon, also two old smooth-bores on guard at the courthouse doors.

These old pieces, says the Los Angeles Herald, have figured in every Mexican revolution in California and in the American conquest.

In 1818, Bouchard, the pirate, visited the coast. The country was practically unprotected, and the piratical craft visited Monterey, burned the custom house, sacked the village, and then came back to the Refugio ranch, above Santa Barbara, doing considerable damage there. The vessel next landed at San Juan Capistrano, and after plundering the mission sailed away and was never heard of again in California. The Spanish government then sent out some cannon to protect the coast, and these four cannon are some of those sent. From the time of Mexico's independence, in 1821, to that of the American occupation in 1846, there were perhaps a dozen revolutions and counter revolutions between the nortenos and surenos, and the capital of the territory was removed either north or south, owing to the residence of the victorious "pronouncing" governor. But the most noted battle in which these cannon figured was on the bloodless plains of Cahuenga, a beautiful little spot a few miles north of this city.

There was a revolution on foot. The south had pronounced against Gov. Micheltorena and his battalion of soldiers. It was on the 19th day of February, 1845, that the sans culottes of Castro and Pico confronted each other in battle array, each army about four hundred strong. Pico had the formidable four cannon and the valiant Castro had three equally as dangerous. The guns were mounted on carretas and drawn upon the gory field by oxen. About a hundred shots were exchanged, Castro's gunners frequently using rocks and pebbles, evidently being short of ammunition. It seems that each contending side understood the art of war, and as the guns were drawn up in position would retreat to a safe distance. The merry war occupied two days, and when the smoke of battle cleared away and the roll was called it was found that—a mule had been killed. Castro duly enrolled this in his report of the "casualties."

When the forces under Commodore Stockton captured Los Angeles these historic cannon passed into the hands of the gringos. Two of the guns were planted on Fort Hill, overlooking the city, and the other two were planted in front of the commodore's headquarters, which was about a half block distant from the corner where these same two cannon are now planted, but wrong end up.

Believing that the conquest was complete, Commodore Stockton took a trip down to San Diego, leaving Lieut. Gillespie in charge with fifty men. His instructions were to preserve order but to be lenient. He soon filled the guardhouse with suspected persons. Finally, a "revolutionist" named Varela had been fined for disorderly conduct; he refused to pay and defied Gillespie's authority. He organized a band of about twenty men and one night they attacked the adobe headquarters of Gillespie by discharging their muskets in the air and beating drums, evidently expecting to frighten the Americans. They received a volley; one man was wounded in the foot and they gave up the siege.

Some of the political leaders, led by Flores, agreed on the "revolt," and they "pronounced" against the American occupation. Los Angeles was captured, and with it only two of the cannon, or, rather, the Mexican forces only got two, and these were useless. Under the terms of surrender Gillespie and force were marched out of the city in military order, flag flying, drum beating and with their arms, including cannon. Gillespie had already spiked the two cannon in the fort on Fort Hill, and there he left them, each half filled with ball. The other two he carried to San Pedro, where, before embarking on the steamer, he was to deliver them into the possession of the military forces at that point. But he spiked the guns and rolled them into the bay. About twenty-five years afterward some enterprising Americans dug them out of the bay and placed them on duty, where they have since remained, without relief.

A MODERN VERSION.

MINISTER—"Wilt thou now take
This carriage, these diamonds,
To be the husband of thy choice,
Fast lock'd in the bond of Hymen?
And wilt thou leave home and friends
To be his loving wife;
And help to spend his large income
So long as thou hast life?"
"I will," the modest maid replies
The love-light shining in her eyes.

Minister—"And wilt thou take this dress'd up doll,
This ostentatious pride,
With all these unpaid milliners' bills,
To be thy chosen bride?
And wilt thou love and cherish her
While thou hast life and health,
But die as soon as possible,
And leave her all thy wealth?"
"I will," the fearless man replies,
And eager waits the nuptial ties.
—Once a Week.

He Knew Chickens.

Mr. Suburb—What on earth are you trying to do, neighbor?

Mr. Nextdoor—Merely taking down a little of this fence, so that I can move my chickencoop over into your yard.

"Eh? My yard?"

"Yes, I like to be neighborly and considerate to other people's feelings, you know."

"But—er—"

"Yes, you sha'n't have any more cause to complain about my chickens scratching up your yard."

"But you are moving your whole coop over on to my property!"

"That's the idea. Quick as the chickens find their coop in your yard, they'll conclude that you own them, and will spend the rest of their natural lives scratching in my yard, you know."—N. Y. Weekly.

In a Circle.

"It is interesting," he said to the dyspeptic young man, "to observe the different names we have for the same thing."

"Is it?"

"Of course it is," he went on with the persistence of the man of research. "Take 'lamb,' for instance. When it gets old it is called 'sheep.'"

"Anybody knows that."

"And the sheep, after it is killed, is called 'mutton.'"

"You're getting right around to where you started from."

"How?"

"When your mutton is cooked and served in our boarding-house it becomes 'lamb' again."—Washington Star.

Of No Interest to Him.

Cubbage (fiercely)—It is very discouraging to a man to have to carry a shrieking baby around the room all night and then to reflect that of such is the kingdom of Heaven.

Mrs. Cubbage (meekly)—How can that be possibly affect you, dear?—Puck.

Consulting the Proprieties.

"I've changed the name of my story," said the young writer.

"What do you call it now?"

"The Engagement Ring.'"

"Why?"

"Because every time I offer it, it is returned with thanks."—Washington Star.

Terribly Effective.

THEY BEGIN THE BATTLE

The Silver Question Before the House.

BLAND INTRODUCES HIS BILL

A Fight Between Democrats So Far—Republicans Not Consulted—Reed Says His Say Outside—No Plan of Action Yet Adopted for the Senate.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—The two wings of the Democrats got together yesterday morning in caucus, and it was decided, after some little discussion over the time of debate, to begin the silver fight at once, and, in pursuance of this agreement, as soon as the House met Mr. Wilson introduced a bill for the repeal of the Sherman law and Mr. Bland then sent to the Clerk's desk the agreement arrived at by the conference, which was offered as a substitute to the repeal bill. It limits debate to 14 days, sessions continuing from 11 a. m. to 5 p. m. and with night sessions for debate only if desired. The vote first to be taken on the bill to be presented as a substitute for the Wilson bill, providing for free coinage at the ratio of 15 to 1. If that fails, then at ratios running from 17 to 1 up to 20 to 1; if they all fail, then on the revival of the Bland-Allison Act of 1878; and then on the original measure.

Mr. Bland demanded the previous question on his order, but this was antagonized by the Republicans, under the leadership of Mr. Cannon, who wanted time to debate the question. Under the ruling of the Speaker, in the absence of rules of agreement, ordering the previous question would cut off debate. By the operation of voting by tellers Mr. Cannon secured sufficient support to secure a vote by yeas and nays, and the result was 217 in the affirmative and 100 in the negative.

Mr Bland then introduced his substitute for the repeal bill, providing for free coinage at a rate of 16 to 1 as follows:

"Section 1. That from and after the passage of this act all holders of silver bullion to the amount of $100 or more of standard weight and fineness shall be entitled to have the same coined at the mints of the United States into silver dollars of the weight and fineness provided for in Section 2 of this act.

"Section 2. That the silver dollar provided for in this act shall consist of 412 1-2 grains of standard silver, said dollar to be a legal tender for all debts, dues and demands, both public and private.

"Section 3. That the holders of the silver dollars herein provided for shall be entitled to deposit the same and receive silver certificates in the manner now provided by law for the standard silver dollar.

"Section 4. That so much of the act of July 14, 1890, as requires the monthly purchase of 4,500,000 ounces of silver bullion be, and the same is hereby, repealed."

This started the battle.

Mr. Raynor, of Maryland, was the first champion sent out by the anti-silver cohorts and he fought vigorously and well.

He was re-inforced by Mr. Brown, of Indiana, who in a brief speech, advocated the repeal of the Sherman act conditionally or unconditionally.

Mr. Bland, of Missouri, was put forward to return the fusilade of argument and eloquence and he performed his part without detracting from his reputation as the leader of the silver force on the floor.

He was followed by the Populist member from Colorado, Mr. Pence, who constituted himself as a bulwark for the protection of silver, and by Mr. Wheeler, of Alabama, who demanded a greater volume of currency.

The fight was still on when at 5 o'clock the House adjourned until 11 o'clock today.

A Blast from Reed.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—After the House had voted to adopt without debate the order of Mr. Bland, fixing the procedure for discussion of the silver bill, ex-Speaker Reed said to a reporter for the United Press. "This action of the Democracy shows how little they can be replied on for non-partisan action. On a very important proposition, involving the whole question, all debate was suppressed. Mr. Bland was permitted to formulate his own proposition, and no other was allowed to be even suggested. Mr. Bland was given an opportunity to submit half a dozen propositions, other members could not present even one. If the plain proposition had been on yes or no to the recommendation of their own President, there would have been perfect readiness for a vote at once on our side, but if the whole question was to be open and long debate to be had, the House ought to have had a chance to provide for the increase of national bank currency, for just now the want of the country is currency and the country ought to see a chance to provide for its needs. However, the Democracy has assumed the responsibility, which is something."

The Senate Slow.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—The Democratic caucus committee of the Senate met yesterday morning at 10:30 and was in session all day without coming to any conclusion as to a plan for the work of the Senate. This is borne out by the fact that there has not yet been any call issued for the caucus to which this committee must report.

The brief proceedings in the Senate Thursday coming after the action of the day before indicate that the parties in the Senate are beginning to line up. There is a slight disaffection on the Republican side on the part of a few silver men, but generally they have adopted the policy of annoying their opponents in the majority by insisting upon an immediate disposition of the silver question and therefore resisting every motion to adjourn and calling for the yeas and nays to put the Senators on record.

One of the Republican leaders in financial matters said that they would keep up this line of action until the majority was obliged to proceed to business. He insisted that the Democrats could not charge the Republicans with partisan action, inasmuch as they were simply trying to give immediate effect to the President's suggestions as contained in his message. On the other hand the Democratic Senators resent the attempt of the Republicans to control the business of the Senate and dictate the character of legislation that shall be attempted. They have resolved that they will not permit action until they have themselves agreed upon a line of policy, and the conduct of the Republicans has had the effect to consolidate all of the elements on the Democratic side upon this resolution. Meanwhile the Democratic caucus committee is in almost constant session trying to arrange a plan of action, and the keenest parliamentarians on the Republican side are quietly conferring among themselves to devise means to carry out their ideas so that the situation in the Senate promises to be interesting.

Between now and Monday next, it is hoped by the friends of the Administration in the Senate that some possible plan of action may be agreed upon on the silver question, but there are slender grounds for confidence in the developments that have cropped out thus far. Senator Gorman appears to hold the key to the situation. Not only is he chairman of the Democratic caucus, but he is also chairman of the "Steering" Committee, the committee which he himself appointed under the authority of the caucus. This committee is composed of Senators Gorman, chairman; Blackburn, of Kentucky; Cockrell, of Missouri; Walthall, of Mississippi; Ransom, of North Carolina; Vilas, of Wisconsin; Gray, of Delaware, and White, of Louisiana.

Messrs. Blackburn, Cockrell, Walthall and Ransom are avowed silver men; Messrs. Vilas, Gray and White are avowedly opposed to the free coinage of silver and stand squarely upon the President's platform of unconditional repeal, but where Gorman stands no one but himself can tell, for he has taken no one into his confidence.

KANSAS CYCLONES.

Five Funnel-Shaped Clouds Spread Devastation Along Their Path.

LARNED, Kan., Aug. 12.—5 funnel-shaped cyclone visited this section about 5 o'clock Thursday afternoon and struck the ground nine miles south of this city. At one time five separate clouds, whirling with great velocity, and with the points reaching toward the earth, were seen by the residents of this place, who gathered in the streets. Whenever one of these funnels struck the ground it cleaned up everything as completely as if it had been run over by a giant mower.

The farms of Thomas Barry, Peter Rupe, Amos Reece and John Parton were visited and their residences, barns and outhouses were completely destroyed. Mrs Barby was badly hurt about the head and shoulders. Her son escaped by jumping into the cellar. The cyclone levelled the house and a large portion of it fell into the cellar, but missed young Barby. A party who were threshing for S. T. Garth, escaped the fury of the storm by jumping into the water wagon when they saw the cloud coming and driving out of its track. The losses will be heavy.

GLEAM OF HOPE.

A Marked Increase of Attendance at the World's Fair.

CHICAGO, Aug. 12.—With a record of 419,000 paid admissions to the fair for the first four days of this week the average attendance of paying visitors will no doubt be kept up to the 100,000 mark, not including Sunday of course. The nightly report from the Department of Admissions this week has been a pleasant surprise to the administrative officers of the exposition and they are not slow to assign as the chief reason for the increased attendance, the several night attractions provided by them. The reduction in railroad rates is also given as an important factor in the financial improvement which has come to encourage the officials of the fair at a time when they were somewhat distressed on account of the small attendance. Next week the exposition managers will make the first payment of ten per cent on the bonds as there is a big balance in the bank to the credit of the exposition and nearly all the big bills due contractors have been liquidated.

FOREST FIRES.

Severe Loss to Timber and Crops in Michigan.

ALPENA, Mich., Aug. 12.—No rain has fallen yet and the forest fires are raging worse than ever. Yesterday and last night the air was filled with ashes and cinders and the skies were clouded with smoke and it was impossible to see across the streets. The fires were close to the city all day and at night the fire department was kept in continuous duty and men were sent into the woods to fight the fire back. The wind shifted and the city is safe for the present. Out on the long lake road the fires were severe and farm buildings, growing crops and a large amount of hay were destroyed. Near Ossineke 100,000 feet of logs belonging to Alger, Smith & Co. were destroyed.

A Scheme to Keep Currency.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Aug. 12.—The management of the Consolidated road, in view of the increasing scarcity of currency, have been obliged to resort to unusual methods in order to make up the pay-rolls. Treasurer Squire of the road has arranged with the banks used as the company's depositories so that all currency deposited with them shall be only drawn subject to his and the paymaster's order. All the ticket office receipts are deposited in these banks and the cashiers are under contract to pay out only to the company. By this method Treasurer Squire expects to be able to keep supplied with a sufficient amount of currency for the present at least which is about $350,000 a week.

Scalps Wanted.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—Resignations of examiners in the Patent Office have been requested as follows: Reuben S. Parks of Ohio, first assistant examiner in the division of "Tillage;" Rufus A. Morrison, first assistant in the divisions of "Fire Arms, Marine Propulsion, Ship Building and Signals;" John D. Hyer, of Pennsylvania, principal examiner in the division of "Leather Working," etc.; Thomson Jay Hudson, of Michigan, principal examiner in the division of "Plastics," and David H. Graves, of North Carolina, second assistant examiner in the division of "Mechanical Engineering."

Sub-Treasury Business.

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—The Sub-Treasury yesterday cashed $785,000 in checks with gold. These checks were principally issued by the Assay Office in payment for foreign gold. The amount paid out in exchanges was $200,000, which included $40,000 in silver. Gold to the amount of $1,500,000 which arrived from Europe was turned into the Sub-Treasury to be passed upon for weight.

Tennessee Lawlessness.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 12.—Company D of this city will be ordered to Coal Creek, notice having been received to that effect from Adjutant-General Fife, of Nashville. Matters at Coal Creek among the miners are serious and trouble is expected on account of the lynching of Dick Drummond.

Dr. Rylance Better.

ELBERON, N. J., Aug. 12.—For the first time since the operation was performed on Rev. Dr. Joseph H. Rylance, rector of St. Mark's Church, New York city, he was able to sit up in bed yesterday. Dr. S. H. Smith, the attending physician, hopes to have Dr. Rylance out in a carriage Sunday.

RATES FOR THE FAIR

What the Railroads Will Do for the Exposition.

MORE EXCURSIONS FROM THE EAST

Eight Trains a Week from the Seaboard Cities at One Fare for the Round Trip. No Further Reductions in Rates Will be Made.

CHICAGO, Aug. 12.—Eastern roads are extremely anxious that it should be clearly and universally understood that the action of the General Managers just taken in regard to World's Fair rates and arrangements is final. It is not subject to reconsideration or possible change. The roads have had prepared the following official statement of the rates and arrangements made for the World's Fair business, which will be maintained in force till the end of the fair period:

From all seaboard cities eight trains per week are being run at one fare for the round trip, tickets good for ten days. These are special excursion 30-hour trains, taking passengers from all points east of the Niagara river, Pittsburg and Wheeling. They are participated in by eight roads, each running one train per week on different days as arranged by themselves. The number of these trains will be increased whenever the business warrants so doing. The fares on these trains by the different roads are $17, $18 and $20 for the round trip and it is intended to run them up to the full demands of the traffic. Passengers demanding sleeping car accommodations or tickets with longer limits than ten days are provided for at fares varying from $28 to $32 for the round trip by the different lines.

In the territory west of the Niagara frontier, Pittsburg and Wheeling, all roads run excursion trains at one fare for the round trip and will continue doing so. These excursion trains are put on whenever a load can be obtained from any point including local travel intermediate. They are being run at frequent invals from Detroit, Buffalo, Pittsburg, Cincinnati, Columbus, Cleveland, etc., by all lines.

RELIGIOUS RIOT.

Mahomedans and Hindoos Fight in Bombay.

BOMBAY, Aug. 12.—A riot occurred in this city yesterday and one of the results is that many persons are in the hospitals suffering with more or less dangerous injuries. The heterogeneous population of the city is always at odds in regard to religious questions, and a number of Mahomedans and Hindoos became involved in a dispute which soon led to a general riot.

The Mahomedans were observing one of the festivals commanded by the Koran, while the Hindoos were also taking part in celebrating a day set apart for religious observance. The consequence was that religious feeling was high on both sides, and it took but little to cause the men who were first involved in the dispute to come to blows. The number of rioters grew rapidly and when some of the Mahomedans proposed to capture one of the holy Hindoo temples they found plenty to aid them in the attempt. Howling and yelling "Allah il Allah" the Mahomedans rushed to the temple, but the priests, aided by hundreds of Hindoos, fought desperately against the desecration of the building and finally succeeded in driving the attackers off.

Further murderous assaults have been made on the Hindoos this morning. Troops are massed in the chief native centres, and patrols are constantly on the move with guns trained upon the principal native streets. These streets are now deserted.

CHOLERA CASES.

Last Night's Bulletin from the Quarantine Station at New York.

NEW YORK, Aug. 13—Following is the Health Officer's official bulletin last evening:

QUARANTINE, S. I., Aug. 11.—At 4 p. m., three cases were transferred to Swinburne Island from Hoffman, and at 7:30 p. m. two more were taken to the same place. The first are: Giovani Lauria, aged 33 years, an Italian; Fernandi Troisi, aged 35 years, also a native of Italy, and Georgis Corias, aged 35 years, a Greek. The others are Domenico El Ciccio, aged 17, and Antonio Picrini, aged 2½ years, both Italians. All showed characteristic symptoms of cholera.

The bacteriological examinations of the cases removed to-day have been completed as yet.

The census of hospital shows ten patients, one of whom is convalescing. In three of the ten the diagnosis of cholera has been biologically confirmed.

All are well on the Karamania. Thus far all cases have developed within the incubation after the removal of the passengers from the steamer.

The Masillia was discharged from Quarantine to-day, her passengers having been 19 days out from Naples without the slightest evidence of cholera appearing. Her bills of health were date at Marseilles July 15 and Naples 23d.

W. T. JENKINS, Health Officer.

LEHIGH VALLEY.

How the Road Will be Run Separate from the Reading.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 12.—Speculation is still active regarding the Lehigh Valley railroad. A good deal is heard bearing upon the possibility of a close affiliation with the Pennsylvania railroad. This is positively denied by Lehigh Valley officials who are in position to speak with authority.

One of these said: "The abrogation of the lease with the Reading does not mean a separation of interests. The two roads will continue to work together, and their close intimacy during the past year will make it all the easier for them to agree upon traffic arrangements. As to the Lehigh Valley dividend, due Oct. 15, the directors were earnest in what they said in the circular. The dividend will be reduced—not passed—unless something unforeseen occurrs."

Vice-President Sayre of the Lehigh Valley has issued a notice that Theodore Voorhees (now vice-president of the Reading company) will continue until further notice to exercise supervision over the operations of the Lehigh Valley system, as heretofore during the lease of the Philadelphia & Reading Railroad company, with the title of acting general manager.

FOR A GRAND DEPOT.

A Plan to Utilize the Fair Buildings After the Exposition Closes.

CHICAGO, Aug. 12.—A brilliant scheme to utilize the World's Fair buildings when the exposition is ended, has been put forward by J. G. Pangborn, president of the American Exhibition Association.

His idea is to make Jackson Park the Union depot grounds for all the railroads entering Chicago. The great building now devoted to manufactures and liberal arts would be the central station, the largest and finest in the world. The advantage of the lake frontage for water traffic, the many hotels in the vicinity, the easy communication with elevated and cable lines and the fact that the terminal facilities already provide for every truck railroad are dwelt upon. The park commissioners have been interviewed on the plan. They object decidedly.

Pittsburg Banks.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 12.—The 19 banks in this city, comprising the Clearing House association, yesterday agreed that each bank should take $50,000 clearing house certificates, or $950,000 in all, at 75 per cent. of the face value of the securities offered, bearing interest at 6 per cent., and 6 per cent. commission. The immediate result of this action will be to enable many banks to accommodate manufacturing concerns with large pay rolls who have experienced extraordinary difficulties since the middle of July in obtaining currency to pay their operatives.

To Inspect the Iron and Steel Industry.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Aug. 12.—Robert Lung, engineer in charge of Frederich Crupp's heavy ordnance department at Essen, Germany, left this city yesterday for Hartford, where he will visit the Pratt & Whitney company's works. Engineer Lung is the first of a corps of 30 ordnance and dynamic engineers which Krupp, will send through the United States for the inspection of our iron and steel industry, particularly that in connection with the manufacture of ordnance and armor plates.

To Keep Out Cholera.

ALBANY, Aug. 12.—A meeting of the State Board of Health has been called for next Tuesday in this city. It is expected at the meeting that the request of the city of New York for the appointment of inspectors of health to keep track of cholera which might come over the Canadian line, will be acted upon. The inspectors do police duty and served in the same capacity last year.

Employment in Canada.

MONTREAL, Aug. 12.—Large numbers of Canadians, who gave been thrown out of work in the New England States, are being employed by cotton manufacturers throughout the Dominion.

Hot at Oswego.

OSWEGO, N. Y., Aug. 12.—The heat was intense here yesterday, the thermometer registering 98 degrees in the shade.

ROME, Aug. 12.—The Pope was suffering yesterday from another attack of his old stomach trouble.

CLEVELAND'S HEALTH

He Will Spend Some Time at Buzzard's Bay.

VISITS HIS DOCTOR IN NEW YORK

The President's Trip to Washington Has Retarded His Physical Improvement—An Impression that He is Far From Well.

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—President Cleveland stopped here yesterday on his way from Washington to Buzzard's Bay. After lunch at the Victoria the President and Col. Lamont entered a carriage and were driven to Dr. Bryant's house. There a consultation was held. Dr. Bryant was of the opinion that the President's trip to Washington had the effect of stopping the progress back to health he was making at the seashore. The President complained that his weight had not been reduced materially and he suffered from surplus avoirdupois. Dr. Bryant packed up a portmanteau and entered the carriage with the President. Col. Lamont advised that to all inquiries respecting the President's health the assurance should be given that he never felt better in his life. This programme was carried out to the letter. Col. Lamont entered another carriage and the party drove back to the Victoria.

At 3:30 o'clock they started for the boat. Colonel Lamont did not accompany them. They were driven slowly and did not reach the Fall River Line dock until nearly 5 o'clock. The carriage was driven right out on the dock to the gang plank of the Puritan. Dr. Bryant alighted, followed by the President. His step was not as elastic as when he came from Buzzard's Bay last week. He walked slowly carrying a light overcoat on his arm. His eyes looked heavy. They stood for a moment at the foot of the grand staircase. The purser stepped forward and led the way to the cabin to be occupied by the President. It is known as the "President's Room," being the room occupied by the presidents of the steamboat line. It is situated forward on the hurricane deck under the pilot house. It is the most palatial and coolest room on the Puritan. Capt. Judson dropped in and paid his respects. Dr. Bryant then came out and said:

"Mr. Cleveland is in splendid health. Feels first class; tip top."

"Is it not strange, Doctor, that the President should leave the seat of government while Congress is engaged in wrestling over legislation of a vitally important character?"

Dr. Bryant said he was not prepared to criticize the President.

A colored porter who waited on the President said when he left the stateroom just before the boat's departure that the President was undressing to go to bed. Dr. Bryant when questioned about it was very reticent. He finally said: "The President is only lying down. If he feels better he will get up to dinner at 7:30 o'clock."

The impression prevailed on the Puritan that the President's condition was far from well.

DENVER'S UNEMPLOYED.

An Emphatic Protest Against Foreign Labor on Public Work.

DENVER, Col., Aug. 12.—Five hundred unemployed American citizens held a mass meeting yesterday and resolved that imported foreign labor should not be allowed on the sewers just contracted for in this city. There are three new sewer districts and the contracts were rushed through the City Council in order that the hundreds of resident citizens who are out of work might be given employment. The contractor has imported 500 Italian laborers to do the unskilled labor, which begins next Monday, hence the above action was taken.

A committee of the unemployed visited the newspaper offices and announced the ultimatum of the mass meeting. They said that the meeting was composed of American citizens resident of Denver, the majority of whom had families to support, and that they would prevent the work being done by foreign contract labor if it came to bloodshed. They declared they would as soon die of gunshot wounds as of starvation. It is hoped that arrangements will be made that will give the citizens work and avoid trouble.

Damaging Drought.

FORT PLAIN, N. Y., Aug. 12.—The continued drought is having a damaging effect on crops of all kinds in the Mohawk Valley. Farmers are complaining severely and some are compelled to drive their stock a long distance for water. The river is very low, as well as the feeders that furnish water for the Erie canal. If this drought continues much longer there will be great difficulty in navigating boats. The absence of rain is telling on the yield of hops throughout Schoharie county.

New Orleans Takes No Chances.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 12.—The local health officials have received no advices from Pensacola and are hopeful that no further cases of yellow fever will develop. Until the disease is known to have been completely stamped out a rigid system of inspection will continue. The forty-eight passengers who were detained will be permitted to come into the city Sunday morning. President Oliphant expresses the opinion on behalf of the Board that there is no occasion for alarm.

Rev. Mr. Brown is no Burglar.

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 12.—A dispatch from St. Joseph, Mo., last night stated that Rev. I. J. Brown of Waupon, Wis., had been arrested there in the act of committing a burglary. The Rev. Mr. Brown is chaplain of the Wisconsin State prison, and is in Milwaukee to-day. The man under arrest at St. Joseph is believed to be an ex-convict who has given Mr. Brown's name.

Death of a Well Known New Haven Man.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Aug. 12.—Hardsey Lake, an old time newspaper man, died of consumption last evening, aged 48 years. He had been employed at different times on the Register, Courier and Morning News. During the past few years he was employed in the Town Clerk's office and was one of the best known men in the City Hall.

McNabb Released.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 12.—McNabb, one of Baltimore's pitchers, was released yesterday. He has always been regarded as a good pitcher, but, owing to the state of his health, has rarely be able to last a game.

Paid in Silver.

BALTIMORE Aug. 12.—Owing the scarcity of small notes, the Police Department was paid yesterday in silver dollars.

DROOP AND DIE.

MOTHERS HAVE CAUSE TO FEAR THIS WEATHER.

Interviews With Local Physicians of All Schools—Infant Mortality Credited to Improper Food—Lactated Food—the Purest and Best Diet—Happy Plainfield Mothers Whose Children Live On It.

The extraordinary mortality from various forms of infantile indigestion this summer has led to careful inquiry, and the best authorities on the subject in this city have freely expressed their opinions.

Several of the best known physicians in Plainfield were interviewed yesterday, and the following question asked:

"In view of the large death rate this summer of infants in this city, what do you recommend?"

The general sentiment of the profession was voiced in the following statement from one of the most successful practitioners among children. He said:

"There is nothing equal to lactated food and its use is fast becoming general among the profession. We find that it is retained on the stomach where other things are not retained.

"For cholera infantum I find it most valuable, and I generally give small portions often repeated when called to attend such cases. In almost every case where mothers are unable to nurse their infants, I find that lactated food answers well."

Many happy mothers in Plainfield have used lactated food successfully where everything else failed. They say that this food has kept their children strong and well during the dangerous summer season and many of them have recommended it to friends, who have had the same happy experience.

The principal element of mother's milk is sugar of milk. This is the basis of lactated food. With it is combined the nutritious elements of the great cereals, wheat and barley, and the necessary bone-forming salts. This makes lactated food a perfect and natural substitute for mother's milk.

It must be borne in mind that lactated food is so inexpensive that it is within the reach of every family. 150 meals can be made from a dollar package of the food, and when prepared for the use of infants, it costs less than five cents a quart.

Mothers should remember that cholera infantum can be more easily prevented than cured. Simply feed the baby with pure lactated food, and the child will keep well and strong.

Yellow Fever.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—The Surgeon General of the Marine Hospital Service last night received a telegram from President Inge, of Mobile, Ala., Quarantine Board, stating that the British bark Gelenora arrived at the Fort Morgan Quarantine station with two cases of yellow fever on board. One will probably die. Two died at sea. President of the Board of Health Hargis, at Pensacola, Fla., advised Dr. Wyman by telegraph that no additional cases of yellow fever had been reported in that city nor any of a suspicious character.

The Meredith Case.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Aug. 12.—In the Meredith case yesterday afternoon, a number of witnesses were examined to show that he was insane. Linwood S. Peet, a former counsel of Meredith's, went on the case supposing he was sane, but was subsequently satisfied of his insanity. Dr. Henry E. Allison, Superintendent of the Matteawan Asylum, testified to his experience with Meredith, and the latter's delusions and suspicions. He became suspicious of everyone connected with his case. The case was adjourned until Monday morning.

Horrible Death of an Excursionist.

ELIZABETH, N. J., Aug. 12.—John Kemmler, aged 9 years, attempted to jump from an excursion steamer as it was landing last night. He fell between the boat and dock and was horribly squeezed, then dropped into the water and was drowned before assistance could reach him.

Both Killed.

HAMILTON, Ont., Aug. 12.—While attempting to rescue her two year-old child, who was playing on the railroad, from being killed by an approaching train, Mrs. Hinman and the little one were both struck an instantly killed.

For New Jersey: Local Rains, With Thunder-Storms To-Night; Cooler Northwesterly Winds, and Fair Sunday.

THE BOROUGH SENSATION.

The idlers of the famous Cracker Barrel Club of North Plainfield owe Mayor Saunders a debt of gratitude for stirring up the dull times and affording them an exciting topic of conversation. Even the most rabid among them cannot but feel admiration for the Mayor for having the courage of his convictions and braving their wrath by his open and daring stand.

Mr. Saunders feels that he is fighting a grievous wrong, and that since there is only one way to defeat the scheme that has been concocted that way must be pursued no matter how distasteful it may be to fight unfair plotters with their own weapons. Though in this case the path of duty be an unpleasant one for a man of his tastes and breeding, he is too honorable to avoid its claims or to shrink from the abuse which his determined attitude has precipitated.

Whatever may be said of the parliamentary propriety of the Mayor's action, the fact remains that the councilmanic chair vacated by Mr. Connolly belongs to the Democracy. Mr. Needham himself admitted that, in his conversation with Mayor Saunders as reported in another column.

The Republican members of the Council who are seeking to secure that which belongs to their opponents have only themselves to blame for the method of warfare now being waged. The Democrats have been driven to adopt the tactics that the Republicans inaugurated. There was no other course for the Democrats to pursue. Either they must use the only power left to them, or yield to what they consider a gross outrage.

HEZEKIAH HAND ELECTED.

Fanwood's Town Committee Puts Him in Constable Clark's Place.

Last evening the Town Committee of Fanwood met and transacted routine business. George Miller was in the chair. The only absentee was Mr. Terry.

Mr. Kyte as Chairman of the Committee on Lights and Water reported that the Plainfield Water Supply Company could not at present afford to extend its main from North avenue to Front street, and therefore recommended that the appropriation voted at the last election to pay for hydrant rental be left out of the assessment for taxes. The recommendation was unanimously approved by resolution.

Mr. Miller suggested that when bills for services to the committee were presented, they specify the dates of the services rendered, be sworn to and approved by the proper official ordering such service. This was agreed to unanimously.

Numerous bills were ordered paid. A communication from Justice of the Peace Chas. K. Moore, advising the Committee under what laws they could accept the resignation of Constable Geo. A. Clark and appoint another to fill the vacancy for the unexpired term, was received and placed on file.

The Committee then accepted the resignation of Mr. Clark, and acting on the suggestion of Justice Moore appointed Hezekiah Hand as constable to fill the unexpired term. Mr. Hand accepted the appointment and said he would qualify at once.

FOUR BOLD FISHERMEN.

They Made a Big Haul, and Were Robbed on the Homeward Trip.

Down to the deep blue sea went four of Plainfield's "choicest", yesterday. Under the tutorship of the veteran Dr. F. C. Herbert, Charles Bock, Geo. Voehl and Herman Weber went to Manasquan on a fishing expedition. The result of the catch was about 160 pounds of fish, comprising flukes, Spanish mackerel, weaks and a hammer-headed shark.

The several drawbacks to the excursion included the nervousness and sea illness of Messrs. Bock and Voehl, the former claiming that the boat was overcrowded. Then again, after the train on which they traveled home passed Fanwood, a deficiency was discovered in the quantity of fish caught.

Seventy pounds of fish, including the hammer-headed shark, were missing when the party alighted here, and it is said that a prominent county official, resident of Fanwood, can give the particulars.

The county official acknowledged the corn, and said he had been having five meals a day, entirely on fish, since the great catch.

Sentence has been suspended.

MAYOR SAUNDERS DEFENDS HIMSELF.

FIGHTING FOR WHAT HE BELIEVES IS HONEST.

Disappointed in the Pledges of Councilman Hummer—Clear Definition of the Democracy's Position—What Is Proposed as the Action for Next Friday.

Mayor William L. Saunders stated his position in the North Plainfield imbroglio very clearly to a Daily Press representative.

"It is just this:"—said the Mayor—"we resent and are fighting an outrage. Councilman Connolly's chair was not the chair of Mr. Connolly; it was the chair of a Democrat. The people had so decided it at the polls. And it is flying in the face of the suffrages of the voters to attempt to change the political complexion of the Council, which they have fixed, now in the midst of a term which they have entrusted to the Democracy.

"When I was about to depart for Europe, it was my intention to resign the office of Mayor. I stated that fact to Councilman Needham, and asked him his position in the matter, saying that I did not want to cause a deadlock in the Council and did want a Democrat elected in my place. He told me that while he would not promise to vote for any Democrat who might be proposed he did feel that the place should be filled by a Democrat.

"I was persuaded not to resign, but when informed that Councilman Connolly insisted on resigning I had Mr. Needham's assurance in mind and supposed that as an honorable man he would of course vote to elect a Democratic successor in Mr. Connolly's place, the same as he would in mine, the two cases being parallel. He has since said that had I asked him for the pledge, he would have given it, but since he did not specifically give it he does not feel in honor bound.

"As regards my right to adjourn a meeting,"—continued the Mayor—"I have this to say: The word of a presiding officer is law, unless objected to. I gave sufficient interim between my sentences for anyone to say 'I object', regarding the adjournment.

"There is much behind this scheme of the Republicans. The people have by their ballots dictated that this shall be a Democratic Council. By authority of the office invested in us, we have put men in responsible positions. We have elected a clerk, a marshal, a street commissioner, and others. I understand a part of the Republican scheme to be the appointment of Republicans to succeed these, a complete overturning of the local government from the hands of the party with whom it has been entrusted by the people.

"Should we not, as loyal officers, oppose such an imposition? Is it not something worth fighting for, something we ought to fight? We are obliged to use the only tactics in our power, and shall determinedly resist the unscrupulous effort to take advantage of a position in which one of our members has placed us. We relied on their honor, and in the hour of our betrayal we must use the only weapons at hand."

WHAT OF THE FUTURE?

Sober-minded people will inquire What has been gained by the Democrats except delay? Will they not have to yield in the end?

These questions are fully answered in the policy outlined by both Mayor Saunders and Councilman Neal in conversation with a Daily Press representative.

The plan purposed by them is to attend the session Friday night and assist in the transaction of business. But just as soon as it is proposed to elect a Republican in Mr. Connolly's place they will state their position, insisting that the office rightfully belongs to a Democrat, and declining to be a party to or participant in any legislation which will result in the election of a Republican. As their presence with the Republicans would constitute a quorum, and as they would not consent to aid in any way in the scheme to defraud the Democracy and the people of their right, they will withdraw from the room and leave the session unfinished and the Republicans unable to elect their man for lack of a quorum, which is 4.

This action will be persisted in so long as the Republicans stubbornly refuse to sanction a Democrat's election.

The Democrats will be ready at all times to push public business; and effort to consummate the Republican scheme will alone drive them away and bring matters to a standstill.

A Generation's Worth.

A generation is now estimated to cover a period of twenty-five years; that number of years in any live line of business embodies therefore a generation of experience. That's precisely what you get at Collier's as a surety of reliability in all goods purchased or repaired there.

Drill Engine 200 Settles Down.

Locomotive 200 proved too heavy for the trestle in Rheaume's coal yard this morning, and the trestle sank about a foot under it. The wrecker was summoned, and the wrecking crew hauled the locomotive off. The big iron horse was uninjured.

A Wonderful Machine.

There is no doubt that man is a fine mechanism, but like every other machine he wears out by friction. It is said that he is born again every two or three years. His body is virtually re-made from food. To retard this making over is radically wrong, as a man loses so much vitality in the delayed process that it takes a long time to recuperate. The process of making anew is so accelerated by purging with BRANDETH'S PILLS that a new man, as it were, may be made in two or three months, and the change in the mechanism is such that the worn out part is replaced by the new without the usual running down of the entire machine. You don't have to stop for repairs. Purge away with BRANDETH'S PILLS the old, diseased and worn out body. They are purely vegetable, absolutely harmless, and safe to take at any time.

MERRY WAR IN THE BOROUGH.

REPUBLICAN SCHEMERS FOILED IN THEIR FIRST ATTEMPT.

They Had Everything Primed to Elect Robert Fountain, Whom the Popular Vote Had Repudiated, as Councilman in Place of Mr. Connolly, But Were Frustrated by Mayor Saunders Adjourning the Meeting and Leaving Them Without a Quorum—Thrilling Tale of Plot and Counterplot.

PROLOGUE.

That Republican Borough Councilman, successor to Michael Connolly, has yet to be elected. The politicians of his party had their scheme ready to spring at last night's meeting, but were foiled by the superior sharpness of their opponents.

A review of the situation as already stated exclusively in these columns is necessary for the completeness of the story.

With Michael F. Connolly a member, the Borough Council stood 3 Democratic and 3 Republican. At the regular August meeting Mr. Connolly resigned, and as his fellow-Democrats could not prevail on him to reconsider his determination his resignation was accepted. This left the Republican Councilmen with a majority of 1, which Mayor Saunders, whose deciding vote in case of a tie had hitherto given the Democrats a majority, was powerless to break.

The right to fill a councilmanic vacancy is vested in the Borough Council itself. The 3 Republican members saw their chance to perpetuate the majority that had been thrust on them, and planned to elect a Republican in Mr. Connolly's place. In spite of the argument advanced by the Democrats, that, according to all honorable political custom the vacancy should be filled by a man of the same politics as Mr. Connolly, the schemers went right ahead with their plotting, and how to foil them was the problem of the hour among the Democracy.

To add to the indignity which so aggrieved the Democrats, it became known that the successor of Mr. Connolly decided on by the Republicans was the very man who was recently defeated at the polls, Robert M. Fountain. This the Democrats felt to be the crowning, the supreme injustice.

CHAPTER I.

Spencer's Hall was ablaze with lights. The Cracker Barrel Club had adjourned, and its members were grouped in front of the grocery store, discussing in subdued murmurs the momentous situation. The atmosphere could be felt to quiver with suppressed excitement.

Was it because the Borough Bank had busted and forlorn poverty stared the inhabitants in the face? Were these people assembled to enjoy the spectacle of the electric car whizzing up and down the thoroughfare to convey tired mortals to the fresh-air fount of the mountain?

Nay, Nay, Pauline! This was a time of strife. In the fertile field of politics seed was being sown by one hand, and tares were being strewn by another, and the citizens were speculating and predicting on what would the harvest be.

CHAPTER II.

The clock in the tower of Warren Engine-house clanged 8. The chimes of St. Joseph's rang out on the summer air in sweetest notes, but they brought no comfort or peace to the bosom of the pale-browed man who paced uneasily along the pavement in front of Spencer's Hall. He twitched his whiskers nervously, and muttered in vexation "Will that man never come! Woe upon you, Captain Edwards, if you fail your party in this crisis which only your absence can keep from being an hour of triumph!"

The minutes passed, and the nervous man with the beard could stand the delay no longer. With a piping imprecation he jammed his hat more firmly upon his head, and with an agility and fleetness betokening his anxiety darted off for the house of the delinquent.

Within Spencer's Hall the excitement had not yet penetrated. Before the desks of the Mayor and Councilmen the chairs were vacant. The only sound to disturb the quietude was the romping of the Tax Collector's dog upon the carpet or his noisier frantic efforts to dislodge a flea. Outside the railing were seated two knights of the pencil, waiting for something to drop.

Smiling, serene, and sociable, Captain George F. Edwards ascended the stairs and entered the hall. Having come from his house by another route, he had been missed by the vexed man with the agitated whiskers. That worthy burst upon the scene a moment later, great beads of sweat decorating his forehead. The reaction at seeing the Captain on deck at last, threatened him with collapse, but he bore up well under the shock.

CHAPTER III.

With the arrival of William L. Saunders, Mayor of the borough, and the sundry councilmen, the opposing forces began to concentrate themselves, and confabs and disputations resulted.

Councilmen Needham, Hummer and Edwards held a caucus in one corner, and the Mayor and Councilman Neal consulted elsewhere. The other Democratic member, Mr. Howell, was absent.

Presently Mr. Needham, who had calmed down from his chase after the tardy member, said something in a low tone to the Mayor. A brief conversation followed, conducted in an undertone, and the Mayor terminated it by saying aloud and with much sarcasm: "That's your kindly spirit! It shows what kind of a man you are."

CHAPTER IV.

Having called the meeting to order, Mayor Saunders announced that the minutes of the previous meeting would be dispensed with, and stated that as Tax Assessor Cooley had promised to have his books ready for inspection next Friday night, when the Council adjourned it would be well to adjourn to that date to make up the tax budget.

Councilman Hummer made a short report to the effect that he had investigated the delinquencies of the Edison Electric Lighting Company and that some deduction ought to be made from the bill for the nights the streets were not lighted. Mayor Saunders said he would leave it with his own good judgment to audit the bill for the proper amount.

Mr. Saunders stated that Mr. Howell was out of town, and would not be back until Tuesday. He suggested that the Council adjourn for one week.

"If there is no objection,"—he said—"Council will adjourn till then."

There was a momentary pause. The councilmen all sat still and looked at one another.

"There being no objection,"—continued the Mayor—"Council stands adjourned". He tapped the table decisively, and vacated the chair.

When Mr. Needham saw that the Mayor and Councilman Neal were about to leave, he arose in protest.

"I object"—he said.—"I have resolutions here, and business to transact."

"It's too late now"—responded the Mayor.—"Council is adjourned. You should have objected before."

"You did n't give us a chance"—chorused Messrs. Needham and Edwards, and Mr. Needham said "I order the Clerk to call the roll".

Mayor Saunders and Councilman Neal departed, and there was some angry chattering for a moment.

Clerk Vetterlein busied himself with some papers at his desk, until Mr. Needham sharply queried "Does the Clerk refuse to call the roll?"

"Not if you want it called"—said that official, smiling grimly at the uselessness of such a proceeding. He tallied the answers to the names as he spoke them, and reported no quorum, as only Councilmen Needham, Hummer and Edwards were present.

"There being no quorum,"—said the Republican spokesman—"as the result of the usual Democratic procedure, without a vote being permitted, I move that we do adjourn to Friday night."

Then they all filed solemnly out.

CHAPTER V.

In front of Spencer's grocery store the genial giant John Goodwin was in his element, for at last he had something to kick about. Not since the days of fighting the trolley road had he had such a glorious opportunity. He and his fellow-politicians were loud in their denunciation of the Mayor's action, and the Democratic defenders of the Mayor were straightway involved in violent argument. One vituperative chap poured hot shot after the Mayor himself, as that worthy wended his way homeward. Rome never could have howled more discordantly than did the gang of incipient statesmen there assembled.

Even the Tax Collector's dog became imbued with the spirit of belligerency, and got up a fight with two other dogs bigger than himself. When these combatants were separated, and the only things to say were what had already been repeated, the wranglers began to disperse.

As the last member of the Cracker Barrel Club turned regretfully away from the scene of excitement, and followed in the footsteps of chagrined Republicans and exulting Democrats, a calm as of midnight succeeded the angry quivering with which the air had been pulsating. But from the trolley wire where the uncanny witches ride there flashed forth sparks of fire from their black cats' eyes, and along the wire vibrated the mysterious hum of prophecy, and it told of exciting events that were yet to come.

This Fisherman Appreciated.

The Elizabeth Herald says of a Plainfield Isaak Walton:

SMITH'S GREAT CATCH.

HE MADE A RECORD TO BE PROUD OF AT BENDER'S.

Weakfishing at Bender's is said to be excellent, and the general run of fish caught phenomenal in size and weight.

Among the many fishermen who visited the famous fishing ground yesterday was Charles Smith of Plainfield. When Smith left for home last evening he carried with him twenty-three fish, the smallest of which weighed over a pound and a half and the largest over three pounds.

Raided Mag's Place.

Policeman Kiely raided Mag Bunworth's house in Pruden's alley, yesterday afternoon, and arrested Mag herself, Johanna Haley and Eliza Crippins. They were drunk and fighting, and had stolen $5 pension money from an old man. Mag and Johanna were sent to jail for 20 days, and Eliza got off with a $10 fine.

Mary Is a Bad, Bad Girl.

Mary Robinson, the gay young colored woman who was sent to jail from Plainfield for disporting around the Crescent Avenue church neighborhood in male attire, got a situation in Elizabeth after her release, and is now under arrest for stealing her employer's clothing and the children's savings bank.

His Lawyer Responsible.

John Ammerman, the White House man who was arrested Tuesday for trying to scare his wife into giving him part of her wages to spend for drink, failed to appear in Court last night as promised, and $5 fine was inflicted. His counsel, Walter L. Hetfield, is surety for him.

THE CAPTAIN AND THE COLONEL.

FEARFUL AND WONDERFUL TALES OF LAND AND SEA.

Mariner and Militiaman Vie With One Another in the Invention of Sailors and Soldiers Yarns—How About This Educated Seal That Was Found in the Tropics! Having Heard the Tale the Colonel Had Nothing to Say.

YARN THE FIRST.

"Now then, Colonel,"—said the Captain, as he carefully re-filled and lighted his centenarian pipe—"I can tell you something that will perhaps surprise you, but something that actually occurred to my personal knowledge."

"Hold on a moment till I light up, Captain—ah! now fire away."

"Well, when I was cruising in Southern seas, some years ago, in fact, my boy, before your day, we were looking out sharp for oil, that is, whales.

"I was in command of a full-rigged clipper ship, and when just crossing the equator one of the seamen called my attention to a school of seals. We 'brought up' and captured a large number, among them a young fellow which the seaman desired to have as his own. I allowed his claim, and from the day of its capture it was made a pet on board by all hands.

"Now after that young seal had been in captivity a few days we noticed it flopping over in the lee scuppers in evident distress. 'May it please you, sir,'—said the owner—'I think I'll toss him overboard.' 'All right'—said I.—'Do as you please; you own him.' Overboard went Mister Seal. We were then sailing about twenty knots, the wind being dead astern; and ships then, sir, could outsail any of your new-armored ocean liners. Well, in about two hours we heard a squealing alongside, and looking over the rail there was the seal. We lowered Tom on a rope, and he, grasping the seal by the neck, was hauled up and with his burden landed on deck. After that, if you will believe me, sir, that seal was cast overboard every day, and after his swim and supplying himself with necessary food would overtake the ship and cry pleadingly to be taken on board.

"As we gradually came northward, more discontent was displayed, and finally his lordship on a chilly day gave us the slip, but we could see him for miles, head up, swimming south." Here the Captain paused.

"Is that all?"—queried the Colonel.

"Oh no: we afterwards, about two years later, met the same seal on the coast of Africa in about the same latitude where first captured, and the remarkable part of it was he seemed to know the ship and clamored to be taken on board. It required two men then to bring him up the side, and I brought him home, where he died of old age."

"Good night, Captain."

"Good night, Colonel."

VICTORIOUS CRESCENTS.

Nothing Along the Hudson River Can Beat Them.

Once more the Plainfield base-ball team walloped their opponents, yesterday. The Fishkill team made a valiant defense, but the Crescents were in such fine trim that they might have given the New York Leaguers a mighty sharp tussle. Freddy Jones, who has been practicing at twirling the sphere, showed what he could do, and did so well and was supported so nobly that Fishkill was whipped 12 to 3.

Proof of Merit.

The proof of the merits of a plaster is the cures it effects, and the voluntary testimonials of those who have used ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS during the past thirty years is unimpeachable evidence of their superiority and should convince the most skeptical. EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—The Royal Arcanum will have a ration Monday night.

—The entries for the Lyceum Cyclers' 25-mile road race close this evening.

—Forty more men were laid off at Potter's last night, and fifty at Pond's to-day.

—The Red Men last night adopted one paleface and worked the Hunter's Degree on five.

—White of Plainfield, as always, has something to say of importance in his space to-day.

—Nearly 800 passengers were carried on the Somerset street branch of the street railway yesterday.

—The gang of loafers who loiter about the Somerset street bridge and solicit money, should be broken up.

—Sergeant Kiely picked up a little lost girl this noon, unable to tell her name, and is holding her for her parents.

—The open-air concert at the merry-go-round attracted another big crowd last night, to the profit of the proprietor.

—A woman foolishly jumped from street car No. 3, this morning, and was flung headlong. She was not seriously hurt.

—Howard A. Pope wants to close out his summer stock, and has therefore cut prices on everything. Investigate his bargains.

—Joseph Randall and Alice Robinson, colored, were arrested by Captain Grant and Sergeant Kiely this noon for fighting in Stiger's alley.

—Jane Wyett, the colored woman whose elopement was frustrated as told in these columns yesterday, was fined $10 by Mayor Gilbert.

—Mrs. Julia Murray was fined $5 and costs by Justice Wadsworth, to-day, for threatening Judge Moore who had punished her son Larry Wallace.

—Policeman Frederickson last evening found the office door of L. M. French's carriage factory open. It happened to be a spring lock, and he fastened it.

—The Elizabeth Wheelmen will take a moonlight run to Acker's farm in Washington Valley, Saturday, August 26, and enjoy their annual watermelon feast.

—For just what you bid for them, and on the installment plan at that, you can secure the starting of a home if you attend the auction sale Saturday, August 19.

—A tramp helped himself to eatables from the table, vegetables from the garden, and clothes from the line, at the home of Mrs. Thomas, Netherwood, a day or two ago.

—Here is something easy for you to do, and you will never regret it: Save $5 a month, and put into property. In a short time you will have it paid for. Next Saturday's auction sale will give you lots at your own prices.

—Some excitement was caused last evening by Captain Hand's horse getting frightened at Car No. 3. The wagon was run upon the sidewalk, but the horse was captured by a bystander and no damage was done.

—Policeman Gleee, Eugene Laing and Joseph Stolmak went fishing at Bound Brook yesterday. They brought back a big basket of fish, but a veracious native says they bought them of an angler who was more successful than they.

—Because of the interference of traffic by the stone wagons, Car No. 1, on the Somerset street route, runs only between the Notch terminus and the Front street junction, to-day transferring North avenue station passengers there. The through service on schedule time will be resumed this evening.

—If you are out driving, or riding on your wheel, to-morrow, go up the new Columbia avenue, and see the improvements being made. The Central New Jersey Land Improvement Company is going to extend the avenue to Fanwood Township, and will begin work next week. Lots there will be sold cheap at auction next Saturday afternoon.

Special Features of To-Morrow's Services.

The usual Sunday notices are unavoidably omitted to-day. Special features are as follows:

In Grace M. E. church the Rev. T. L. Hyde will preach.

The Rev. D. Charles Preyer of Newark will occupy the Trinity pulpit.

The Rev. John Rutherford will preach in the First Presbyterian church.

The Rev. George Kainer of Albany will preach in the Congregational church.

The Rev. Mr. MacClymont of Newark will preach in the First Baptist church.

The Rev. A. J. Henry of Brooklyn will preach in Bethel chapel in the evening.

The Rev. M. G. Coker of Newburgh will preach in the Park Avenue Baptist church.

Elder Brown of Newark will preach in the First Church of Christ in the evening.

"Heart Care" will be Dr. Barnes's morning subject, and "Haste and Fear" evening.

Mr. Seader of North Plainfield will preach at 7 p. m., and Jacob Spurling at 7:45, in the East Third Street mission.

S. H. Hadley, Superintendent of the Jerry McAuley Water Street Mission, will conduct the services morning and evening in Hope chapel.

James C. Adams, of Newark, will address the meeting in the Y. M. C. A. rooms, at 4:15 p. m., and preach in the Washingtonville Memorial chapel in the evening.

Picturesque Route to the Fair.

No other line offers the variety of scenic interest between New York and Chicago that is enjoyed by World's Fair tourists via the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad. Passing through Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, the capital of the nation, and by way of Harper's Ferry and the historic Potomac Valley to the Allegheny mountains, which are crossed at an elevation of 3,000 feet above the sea, the traveler sees the arena of the activity of the nation as well as the principal historical features and scenic wonders of the East. The Suicide of Charles E. Eddy.

CHICAGO, Aug. 12.—The suicide at Washington Park of Mr. Charles G. Eddy, former second vice-president of the Reading system, recalls, in the absence of any known reason for the deed, the suicide of Mr. Franklin B. Gowan, president of the same Reading system, which took place a few years ago. Prominent railway men who knew Mr. Eddy for years commented on the strange similarity. The inquest threw no light on the mystery.

Distinguished Patients.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12. — The condition of Col. Oates, of Alabama, who was injured by falling from a cable car, is to-day slightly improved. He is resting quietly and it is thought will be able to attend his Congressional duties again next Monday. Senator Brice, who has been suffering from congestion of the bowels, is reported to be much improved.

Ethan Allen's Sword.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—The sword which Ethan Allen carried at the taking of Fort Ticonderoga during the Revolutionary war, has been offered to the government to be placed with similar relics in the National Museum. The sword is now in the possession of Hannibal A. Hopkins, of Lansing, Mich.

The one chance of a lifetime to secure a charming location for a Summer Home is at

MIZZEN PEAK, WATCHUNG MOUNTAIN,

Twenty minutes' drive from Bound Brook station, and one and one-quarter hours from New York via. Royal Blue Line. Every one who has visited the spot pronounces it without exception the THE MOST DESIRABLE RESORT OF THE WHOLE RANGE; more natural advantages than at any other point. Do not fail to see it; first buyers can procure lots at very reasonable prices.

Also have other mountain property for sale at various points, viz.: near Washington Rock, 35 acres, house and barn; plots back of Plainfield, west of Somerset st., and on Johnston drive.

J. T. VAIL, Real Estate and Insurance Broker, Dealer in Blue Stone Flagging, etc.

49 North Avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

Substantially Agreed.

Prudent Mamma—I do not wish unduly to influence you, Araminta, but in a matter so momentous as the choice of a husband there are many things to be taken into consideration, and I am not entirely satisfied that between you and young Mr. Horace Bizzleby there is that harmony of disposition, that spirit of mutual forbearance and joy of self-sacrifice that must subsist as the foundation of a truly happy union. Pardon me if I seem anxious, but—

Miss Araminta (young but self-possessed)—You needn't worry about me and Hod Bizzleby, mamma. I turned him down a week ago. He can't waltz for shucks.—Chicago Tribune.

A Great Fisherman.

Sykes—Hullo, Brownlow! What luck?

Brownlow—None at all. Been here three hours and haven't caught a thing.

Sykes—That's queer. Lots of fish there. What bait are you using?

Brownlow—By thunder! I expect that's the trouble. Forgot my bait.—Harper's Bazar.

THE HEIGHT OF DEVOTION.

First Chicago Girl—Do you love your husband?

Second Chicago Girl—Indeed I do. I love him more than any man I ever married.—Truth.

Honesty the Best Policy.

"No honest dealer," said the grocer, picking some dark-gray objects out of the scoop and pouring the rest of the contents carefully into his swiftly revolving coffee-mill, "will put stones into his coffee. It's a fraud on the customer. And, besides," he continued, dropping a handful of burnt peanuts into the hopper, "it injures the mill."—Cleveland Press.

A FISH STORY IN THREE TABLEAUX.

—Chicago Mail.

Discount.

Hayrick (after the ceremony)—How much are you going to tax us for this splice?

Parson—The law allows me two dollars.

Hayrick—Suppose we say one fifty, and you needn't kiss the bride?—Truth.

A Piscese Query.

Tommy—Can the fish see to swim right through those big breakers, mamma?

Mamma—Yes, Tommy; why?

Tommy—Why, because I should think the suds would get in their eyes.—Puck.

Something in a Name.

Jack—Would you change your name, Miss Smith?

Jessie—Indeed I would; it's the dearest wish of my heart.

Jack—Well, I won't go any further, then. My name is Smith, too.—Vogue.

Man's Queer Expectations.

Mrs. Strongmind—All this talk about young women not knowing how to cook is perfect nonsense. All the young married women I know are better cooks than their mothers, or grandmothers, either. Take Mrs. De Style, for instance. She has half a dozen medals, awarded by the finest cooking schools in the city.

Old Bachelor—I dined several times with Mr. De Style, and the cooking was wretched.

Mrs. Strongmind—Goodness me! You don't expect a woman with a house full of servants to do the cooking herself, do you?—N. Y. Weekly.

Met with His Approval.

Among Judge E. Rockwood Hoar's dislikes was one for Wendell Phillips. They say that on the day the great orator's remains were borne to the tomb some one met the judge and inquired: "Aren't you going to the funeral?" "No," was the reply, "but I approve of it."—Argonaut.

Heart Failure.

He—Not going to marry Charley? Why, I thought that your love for him was unquenchable. What occasioned the relapse?

She—Well, I'll have to avail myself of the doctor's favorite refuge; it was heart failure.—Detroit Free Press.

Two Hours to Get Started.

"What side is the gentleman on?" asked the stranger who had been listening for two hours to a lawyer arguing a case in the supreme court. "I don't know," replied the gentlemanly doorkeeper; "he hasn't committed himself yet."—Green Bag.

A Good Fit.

Mr. Hayseed—No, I don't want that coat. It is too big for me.

Mr. Baxter Street—Dot makes noddings. So soon as you vash caught in a shower dot coat vill shrink, and den it vill fit you so nice ash dot baber on dot vall.—Texas Siftings.

THE DEBATE ON SILVER

Can the House Maintain Its Vigorous Tactics?

NO CURTAILMENT OF ORATORY.

Some of the New Members May Not Attempt to Test Their Undeveloped Debating Powers, But Rely on the "Leave to Print."

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—The extraordinary vigor with which the silver debate has been carried on in the House already raises a question of physical endurance as to whether the pace can be maintained for the 14 days prescribed by the resolutions adopted, with the existing conditions of rainless, sultry weather.

Many of the new members, who desire to impress upon their constituents the idea that their representatives are taking prominent part in shaping the National policy on this momentous issue, will doubtless take advantage of the opportunity afforded by the general "leave to print." In this manner they will secure the publication of their remarks in the discussion, and an authorization to print a sufficient number of copies to supply to their constituents without taking any chances by testing their undeveloped debating powers on the floor of the House.

It is, therefore, expected that after a day or two the length of the day's sessions will be curtailed, and that the privilege of demanding night sessions will be seldom taken advantage of, if at all.

Nevertheless it must be borne in mind that Congress under more favorable climatic conditions, has indulged in debates on the tariff and other questions far exceeding in length that prescribed for the silver discussion. The Bland resolution provides for about sixty one-hour speeches and about one hundred five-minute speeches—or 160 opportunities of oratory to be distributed in a house of 356 members.

"MORE CURRENCY, NOT LESS."

An Echo of the Recent Silver Convention at Chicago.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—The executive committee appointed at the Chicago Silver Convention have issued "An appeal to the people," signed by A. J. Warner, chairman, and George F. Washburn, secretary. The text of the appeal is as follows:

"Congress has been convened in extra session and the unconditional repeal of the present silver law is urged upon it.

"The repeal of this law will at once stop all increase in the currency, place the country on the single gold standard and at one stroke change all debts to gold debts, with the certainty that gold will thereafter continue to increase in value at an accelerated rate.

"The conspiracy to force this condition upon the people of this country is supported by powerful interests at home and abroad, with unlimited means to carry out their purpose, which they are determined to do, regardless of consequences to others.

"The country is now in the throes of a disastrous panic, caused by a 'currency famine' and the destruction of credit, which has been needlessly brought about to force the repeal of the silver law.

"The situation is altogether the most perilous in the history of the country. Can anyone believe this condition can be improved by shutting off the money supply and still further restricting the volume of currency? It is a time when more money and not less is needed. It is futile to suppose that credit, already over-expanded, can be made to take the place of money. The crops are to be moved and no money to move them. Prices of all products are unprecedently low and must go lower with the single gold standard. Industries are everywhere breaking down. Hundreds of thousands of willing hands are forced into idleness. There is work but no money to pay for it.

"Is this condition to be made to last until the gold conspirators accomplish their unholy purpose? It will unless the people come to the rescue. This is the people's cause, and if they would keep their own and remain freemen, they must arouse and protect their rights and their homes from the grasping hands of the gold conspirators, who would produce European conditions in this country if they could.

"The committee appointed at the Chicago convention to resist the mad purpose to destroy silver as money and establish a single gold standard, calls upon the people everywhere to lay aside, for the time, party differences and to assemble at their accustomed places of meeting, as our fathers did of old, and pass resolutions calling upon their Representatives and Senators in Congress, to resist the repeal of the present silver law, unless coupled with a provision restoring the free coinage of both gold and silver, as it existed under the law prior to the passage of the fraudulent silver act of 1873.

"We recommend also that at all assemblages the resolutions and the address adopted at the Chicago silver convention, Aug. 2, be read; and that voters be urged to send petitions and to write letters or postal cards to their Representatives and Senators and in this manner to earnestly enter their protests against the overthrow of the money of the constitution and the enforcement on them of the single gold standard.

"It is important now that we free ourselves from the financial domination of Europe as it was for our fathers to free themselves from the political domination of a foreign power. Let this movement be the spontaneous action of a free people, conscious that government is yet in their hands, and conscious too, of their rights, and with the will maintain them."

Silver in the Senate.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—The Senate Democratic caucus committee has adjourned over until Monday, when they will meet again and attempt to come together on some common ground. Owing to the agreement that has been reached in the House, the committee feels relieved, and sees no reason for pressing action on its part. The fact that the House will devote two weeks to the discussion of the silver question removes the necessity that existed to formulate a plan immediately, and the probability is that the caucus of Democratic Senators will not act finally upon the policy to be outlined by its committee until towards the close of the debate in the House.

For the same reason, it is said, the finance committee may take more time in the deliberation of the various measures referred to it and not make a report as early as has been anticipated.

AT QUARANTINE.

Fourteen Cholera Patients Now in the Hospital.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—The following bulletin was issued last evening:

QUARANTINE, S. I., Aug. 13.—Two suspects were isolated at Hoffman Island early this morning but owing to the rough weather in the lower bay were not removed to Swinburne Island hospital. If the wind moderates they will be transferred during the night. They are Maria Réno aged 4 years and Pasquale De Padro, aged 15 years.

The bacteriological examination shows that Guisippi Adamo who was removed yesterday is suffering from cholera and that Francisco Cajolo, Paolao Mariani and Georquis have not developed the disease. The census of the hospital to-night shows: cholera patients 14; patients not having cholera 3; convalescent 1; suspects on Hoffman Island 2; total 20. All of the patients are improving. The disease is mild in character. Two more nurses were sent to Swinburne Island to-day.

The steamer Fulda arrived to-day from Genoa. All were well on board. All of the steerage passengers had been detained five days at that port and their baggage was disinfected before embarkation. The cabin passengers were examined and provided by me with passports on which was written a statement of their route of travel for ten days before sailing in order that detention on the railroads may be avoided. The vessel was disinfected and allowed to proceed after the customary inspection of the steerage passengers.

BULLETS AND NOT MONEY.

Warm Reception for a Gang of Express Robbers.

CRAWFORDSVILLE, Ind. Aug. 14.—As the East-bound mail train pulled out of Crawfordsville Junction last night, an attempt was made by half a dozen men to rob the car of the Adams Express Company. The train, owing to the improvement being made on the track, had to move slowly for several hundred feet from the junction. When on the edge of the woods, C. W. Julier, the messenger, noticed several men were hanging on the outside of the car, and evidently attempting to enter. He called to them to get off, but two of the men drew revolvers. Julier quickly opened fire and the men released their hold and fled across the fields. The train moved on out of sight, but the people running from the junction to the scene of the skirmish found a man lying in the ditch with a bullet-hole in his side. He claimed to have no connection with the men who shot at the messenger and ran away. He claims to have been stealing a ride. He gives the name of Ed Brown, of Cleveland. He is in the Crawfordsville jail in a serious condition.

AMERICA'S RIFLEMEN.

Annual Meeting at Sea Girt, N. J., Will be Held This Week.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—The annual meeting of the National Rifle Association of America will be held at Sea Girt, N. J., during the coming week, under the auspices of the New Jersey State Rifle Association. The programme includes the important Wimbledon cup match, the Hilton trophy match and the Inter-State military team match.

Bull's eye targets will be open all the time during the meeting. The first two days will be devoted to continuous pool shooting and individual and team practice. The State of New Jersey will supply tents, cots and blankets to all competitors.

Blanket Mileage Tickets.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 14.—A meeting of the national board of directors of the Traveler's Protective Association was held Saturday. Applications were heard from over 289 new members. The principal action taken was that referring to the Travelers' demand for a 5,000-mile ticket, good on all roads. The chairman of the legislative committee, the Hon. Isador Raynor, of Maryland, and National President John A. Lee, were instructed to introduce a bill at the present special Congress to amend the Interstate Commerce law in such a way as to permit the railroads to issue such tickets with the privilege of carrying 300 pounds excess baggage.

Insane or Crooked.

TACOMA, Wash., Aug. 14.—A Port Townsend special says: Major J. Wham, U. S. A., a paymaster of the Department of Columbia, has been ordered by the Secretary of War to be confined within the limits of the Vancouver Barracks for a period of three months under medical observation. Charges of indebtedness for large amounts of funds intrusted to Major Wham by the Government have been made against him by the Judge Advocate General of the army. He will tried by the general court martial as soon as the official report is made up on his mental condition.

Indian Teachers.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—By direction of Secretary Smith, the Government Industrial Training school at Santa Fe, N. M., will at once be changed into a normal training school for the preparation of Indians to take the place of white teachers in their own schools. It is also stated that the civil service rules will be so amended as to permit the employment as teachers of the graduates of this school, without a civil service examination.

Change in Jersey Central Stations.

PHILLIPSBURG, N. J., Aug. 14.—The Central Railroad of New Jersey which has been using the Lehigh Valley station here for a year, owing to the Reading deal, has issued orders that on and after Monday its tickets would be sold at the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western station. Railroaders say the Lehigh and the Central will break away from each other as quickly as possible.

Coming French Elections.

PARIS, Aug. 14.—The candidates who will present themselves for election to the Chamber of Deputies on August 20th, number over 2,000. The Chamber consists of 584 Deputies. Many of the candidates are "faddists," and their candidature is not serious. The coming elections excite small interest.

Business With Canada.

MONTREAL, Aug. 14.—In view of the present financial situation remittances from Canada to New York are being restricted to the lowest possible limit. In fact business between the two countries is for the time almost suspended.

A MILLION DOLLAR FIRE

Havoc in the Lumber District of Minneapolis.

HUNDREDS OF PEOPLE HOMELESS

The Fire Department Lose Control of the Flames and Wild Devastation Follows. Lumber Piles and Planing Mills Go Up in Smoke.

MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 14.—Two fires, presumably the work of incendiaries, destroyed over a million dollars worth of property yesterday afternoon. One fire broke out in a stable in the rear of the Cedar Lake Ice Company house and soon spread to the ice company's property. From there, fanned by a quick breeze, it spread to Clark's box factory and then destroyed the boiler works of Lintzes, Connell & Co., including a $27,000 riveting machine, the only one west of Chicago; Lehardt's wagon works were totally destroyed, also a quantity of lumber belonging to a number of firms. The Cedar Lake Ice Company loses $5,000; Clark's box factory, $30,000; Lintzes, Connell & Co., $60,000; Union Wagon Works, $15,000. On this there is a total insurance of about half.

While this fire was at its height an alarm was turned in from the lumber district at the other end of the island. Boom Island, as the place is called, was a mass of wood and lumber piles belonging to Nelson, Tenny & Co. and Backus & Co. This was blazing fiercely and fanned by a brisk wind the flames soon spanned the narrow stretch of water and began eating their way among the big sawmills and residences in the vicinity of the river bank. One after another the planing mills of the Wilcox Bompany, the Chatterton mill, the Backus mill, the Hove mill, Smith & Corrigen and Nelson, Tenny & Co., felt the blast of the fire and were either totally destroyed or badly damaged. The flames left a path of blackness through Marshall street and were practically stopped by the big brick structure of the Minneapolis Brewing Company, although their loss is put at $110,000.

All along Marshall street and through that entire section are small frame houses occupied by laboring and saw mill hands. They went like tinder when the flames first struck them, but the residents had ample time to move their belongings. In all, 112 houses were destroyed and hundreds of are homeless.

Although a general alarm was turned in the entire city department proved inadequate to the occasion one aid was asked from St. Paul and that city promptly responded and sent over three steamers and a hose cart that did excellent service. The fire on Boom Island was burning fiercely as a late hour and the only hope seemed to lie in letting it burn itself out. For while it looked as though the entire part of northwest Minneapolis would be destroyed but by the concentration of the department the further progress of the flames was checked.

There were several accidents caused by spectators attempting to run the logs and falling in. Two boys were reported drowned, but the report cannot be verified.

The Northern Pacific bridge and the Plymouth avenue bridge were rendered useless by the fire.

About 6 o'clock the fire jumped the river and for some time the west side saw mill district was in great danger.

At 10 o'clock the east side ruins were still ablaze but the fire was under control.

Hundreds of people were either the recipients of charity last night or slept in the open air.

Many saved only the clothes on their backs.

Late at night it was reported that Mrs. Thomas Salone, an old lady who was bedridden, was burned in her home. The charred remains of a boy were also found in the debris.

Insane Wanderings.

CENTRE HARBOR, N. H., Aug. 14.—A man who was berrying found Mrs. Joseph Gibson yesterday on the north side of Red Mountain, five miles from her home. She had been away 26 days, and during her wanderings had not been near any house, or had anything to eat but berries. She had been out in some of the most severe showers seen in this region for years and had very little clothing about her. When found she was helpless and quite a distance from water. She was taken to the home of Mr. Bragg, from whence Mr. Bisbee brought her home. Dr. L. B. Morrill was called and pronounced her insane and in a very critical condtion. There is but little hope of her recovery.

Religious Riots in India.

BOMBAY, Aug. 14.—The religious riots which broke out in this city a few days ago are extending. Up to the present time more than 50 persons are known to have been killed and fully 1,000 have been arrested. Burial parties yesterday were accompanied by strong pickets, in spite of which they were frequently attacked by religious opponents. Further reinforcements of cavalry and infantry have arrived from Poona and are bivouacking in the streets.

Shortens the Distance.

RICHMOND, Va., Aug. 14.—The Richmond & Danville railroad company announces that about Oct. 15 their new route to Florida will be opened. The new line will shorten the distance between New York and Jacksonville and the company proposes to open the route with the quickest schedules and the best service that can possibly be had.

Commander Booth Returns.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—Commander Ballington Booth, of the Salvation Army, with Mrs. Booth and her two children, returned from England yesterday on the Aurania. They left here July 5 on the Campania, and went directly to London where two big receptions were got up in their honor.

UNIVERSAL PEACE.

What the International Congress Will Do at Chicago.

CHICAGO, Aug. 14.—The International Peace Congress meets here to-day. Josiah Quincy, Assistant Secretary of State, is the chairman of the congress, and among its vice Presidents are Sir Joseph W. Pease, M. P. London; Frederic Passy, Member of the Institute, Paris; Hon. Frederick Bajer, M. P., Copenhagen; the Baroness von Suttner, Vienna; Louis Ruchonnet; Federal Councilor, Berne; Hodgson Pratt, London; the Bishop of Duran, England; Hon. Robert Treat Paine, Boston; Hon. David Dudley Field, New York.

The Universal Peace Union's American Branch Executive Committee have appointed the Rev. Amanda Deyo, William O. McDowell and thirty other delegates to represent the United States in the International Congress. The delegates from New York are Hamilton Wilcox, Mary Frost Ormsby, the Rev. William B. Derrick and Mrs. M. Louis Thomas. The twenty-seventh annual meeting of the American Branch will be held in Memorial Art Palace, outside the exposition grounds, on Aug. 21.

The opening session will include the president's address, by Hon. Josiah Quincy, a poem entitled "The White City by the Lake," by Mr. Hezekiah Butterworth, and responses by delegates from different nations. On the origin, principles and work of peace societies papers will be read by Dr. W. Evans Darby and William C. Braithwaite, of London; "History and Work of Peace Societies in America," by Dr. Benjamin F. Trueblood, Boston; "Peace Congresses, Conferences and International Bureau," by Elie Ducommun, Berne; also a poem by Mary Louise Eve, of Augusta, Ga.; "Economic Aspects of War" will be considered in papers by Angelo Mazzoleni, Milan, Italy; by Dr. Adolf Richter, Pforzheim, Germany; by Frederic Passy, Paris; by Dr. Franz Worth of Frankfort, Germany. The topic, "Woman and War," will be treated by Mrs. Martha D. Lincoln, better known at Washington as "Bessie Beach." Also in papers by Mrs. Ormiston Chant, London; Mrs. Amanda Deyo, Scranton, Pa.; Mrs. Edward Robb, Chicago; "Organization of Women for the Promotion of Peace," Baroness Bertha von Suttner, Vienna.

KILLING OUTLAWS.

A Posse of 300 Begin a War of Extermination in Alabama.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—The Sun's Mobile, Ala., special says: Definite news has been received that Lev James, his brother, Kirk James, and Tooch Belsole, three of the notorious outlaws of Meacham's Beat, Clarke county, have been killed. Babe Burke, Mack Burke and James Jordan, of the gang, were chased into the swamp and a courier just from the scene reports that they have been captured and killed. These six men are the avowed leaders of the Meacham gang of outlaws, illicit distillers and counterfeiters and have terrorized Clarke and neighboring counties for many years. The posse, which is composed of more than 300 men, are from the towns of Jackson, Whatley and Thomasville, and, as they are in the outlaws' stronghold, there is no telling where the killing will end.

The Designer of Our Flag.

BOSTON, Aug. 14.—Barta & Co. of this city have now in press and will shortly publish a pamphlet giving the history of the wonderful battle of the brig-of-war General Armstrong with a British squadron off Fayal, in 1814; a sketch of the life of Capt. Reid, her commander, with the history of the United States flag as designed by him, and many interesting incidents. The design of the pamphlet is to raise a fund by its sale for the patriotic purpose of erecting a monumental statue of Capt. Reid at the city of Washington. The famous gun, "Long Tom," and the figure head of the Armstrong, the portrait of Capt. Reid and his battle sabre, are now among the naval exhibits at the World's Fair exposition, of which the pamphlet gives a full description and will add greatly to the interest of visitors at the Fair.

Back Business at Niagara Falls.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., Aug. 14.—The New York Central Railroad has executed a lease with the Miller & Brundage Coach Company for the privilege of entering the station yards here. When the order was given for the busses and carriages of that company to be admitted to the yard, there was a wild scramble by the outside hackmen to rush into the yards. One of the company's busses blocked the way and would not budge. A fight was imminent and the busses and carriages were ordered out until a conference could be had with the mayor and city attorney as to protecting the railroad's property.

Atlanta Not Afraid.

ATLANTA, Ga., Aug. 14.—There is going to be no trouble this fall about moving the cotton crop. The startling reports sent out by Bradstreets' to the effect that there would likely be a crisis in cotton affairs at the South because of the inability or unwillingness of the bankers to advance sufficient money to move the crop have no application to the situation here. What may be the arrangements from the government, Atlanta and this region of the State need fear nothing. The cotton crop is going to be moved.

CAPT. PEARY DELAYED

A Labrador Steamer Speaks the Falcon.

AN INTENSE VOLCANIC ERUPTION

Cape Harrison a Mountain of Flame—Part of the Cliff Collapses—Showers of Stones and Cinders—An Impressive Scene at Night.

ST. JOHNS, N. F., Aug. 14.—The Labrador mail steamer reports having spoken Peary's steamer Falcon at Davis' Inlet, Northern Labrador, Aug. 2. She had been storm bound two days. Peary had been engaged in visiting the coast settlements for the previous two weeks endeavoring to get dogs, but had not succeeded, and then proposed visiting the Moravian settlements to the North and then going to Disco as he was nearly certain to get dogs there. His plans had been seriously disarranged through the unexpected delay.

The steamer reports also a volcanic eruption at Cape Harrison, Labrador, Wednesday, Aug. 2. Fishermen engaged off the cape heard great noises and saw the whole cliff afire. They landed and found a portion of the hill had collapsed and immense flames, stones and cinders were issuing therefrom. The steamer's officers report having seen a column of fire many miles away. The flames were intense and plainly visible at night.

As there are no woods, forests or buildings near by to cause this it might be of purely volcanic origin. In the opinion of those in St. Johns acquainted with the locality, the affair is the result of the agitation of the earth's internal fires, as Labrador is not north of the sphere of volcanic action.

A LIGHT DAY.

The World's Fair Likely to Be Closed Sundays.

CHICAGO, Aug. 14.—The exposition was opened yesterday but the attendance was light. Visitors were allowed in all the buildings except the Government, but most of the exhibits were closed. The management of the Fair offered no attraction of any kind nor were there any services in Festival Hall to induce the people to come out to the Park and as a result nearly all of the sight-seers spent the day in the Plaisance where the only life in the grounds was apparent.

The hope is strong among exposition officials and employes that this will be the last "open" Sunday and that by next Tuesday the Clingman injunction forbidding the closing of the gates on the first day of the week will have been dissolved.

Collison at Sea.

LONDON, Aug. 14.—The British cruiser Forth rammed the British steamer Kirkby, Capt. Brown, off Start Point in a fog, on Saturday evening. A bad hole was knocke l in the Kirkby's port side amidships, through which the water rushed in immense volumes. The fires under her boilers were soon extinguished and some of her compartments filled with water. The undamaged compartments kept her afloat. The Kirkby was afterwards towed to Plymouth by the Forth. The Kirkby, from Coosaw, S. C., July 12, arrived at Plymouth Aug. 4; and at the time of the collision was proceeding with part of her cargo for Rotterdam. The Forth had just left Tor Bay, where she had been with the blue manœuvering fleet.

Will Resist Cut Wages.

CHICAGO, Aug. 14.—A special from Sioux City, Ia., says: Supt. Beardsley of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul lines centering here, has received orders from General Superintendent Earling of the Milwaukee road to notify engineers, firemen, trainmen and switchmen that the road expects to make a 10 per cent. cut in wages and asks that representatives of the orders be sent to Chicago to talk the matter over. At a meeting of the four brotherhoods last night the sentiment was against a reduction and favorable to a resistance. Railroad men say they will retie up the line if a reduction is ordered and all orders will hold a union meeting here to-day to formally rem onstrate against the proposed reduction.

Crooked Banking.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 14.—C. A. Hawkes, formerly cashier of the Seven Corners bank, was arrested last night on a warrant sworn out by William Banholzer, on a charge of having embezzled $3,000 on the 18th of May. He borrowed $3,000 and put in his note for the amount. No objection was ever made to it. He had other notes in the bank and afterwards gave security for them. It is alleged that other bank officials have borrowed money in the same way upon their individual notes. Hawkes was taken to the county jail and was subsequently released on bail.

A Great Walk.

CHICAGO, Aug. 14.—Geo. Grandin, a French pedestrian, arrived in Chicago Saturday afternoon having walked all the way from New York. He left New York at 4 o'clock on the afternoon of July 15. He came from New York without a cent in his pocket and had to visit the postoffice here and cash a money order before he could obtain a few n ckles. The French people are proud of Grandin and will give him a reception in Chicago.

An Old Strike Off.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 14.—The great labor trouble at the Twenty-ninth and Thirty-third street Carnegie mills which resulted so disastrously more than a year ago has terminated. It is reliably reported that an amicable settlement of differences will be effected this week and many hundred men who joined in the sympathy strike of 1892 will resume their places.

Rev. Dr. Deems Dying.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—The Rev. Dr. Charles F. Deems, of the Church of the Strangers, is lying dangerously ill at the residence of Mr. M. J. Verdery in Seventy-sixth street. Doctors in attendance say he may die at any hour, though it is possible he may live a few days.

Chairman of Ways and Means.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—It is generally believed that Representative Wilson, of West Virginia, will be the chairman of the House Committee on Ways and Means.

Four Sailors Lost.

GLOUCESTER, Mass., Aug. 14.—Schooners Senator Frye and Massala, from the banks, report the loss of two men each, the former by the capsizing of a dory, and the latter by their going astray in a fog.

YELLOW FEVER.

Fire Victim the Man Who Was Sent to Guard Against It.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—The startling news comes by telegraph from Brunswick, Ga., to Surgeon-General Wyman, of the Marine Hospital Service, that yellow fever has appeared in that city, and that its first victim is the man who was sent there to guard against the scourge. All information concerning the matter known to Dr. Wyman is contained in the following telegram received by him last night from Brunswick:

"Surgeon Branham, detailed to enforce quarantine regulations at this port, is very ill in this city at private residence. Local physicians say he has yellow fever. People greatly alarmed.

(Signed) DEVEAUX, Collector."

"Assistant Surgeon L. Branham has yellow fever. Precautions are being taken. Can you send us Carter? People are leaving city.

(Signed) J. A. DUNWOODY, Acting Assistant Surgeon.

City of Pensacola.

PENSACOLA, Fla., Aug. 14.—The State health officers gave official estimates to Mayor Cuipley yesterday that the guard could be released, which was stationed at the residence of Mr. Waite where the family and friends have been confined in the house since the death of Mr. Waite, as, after an investigation, it had been decided that he did not die of yellow fever.

Charleston Establishes Quarantine.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Aug. 14.—The Charleston Board of Health has ordered quarantine against Brunswick, Ga. The step is purely precautionary and little uneasiness is felt either by authorities or the people of the city. The Health Department announces that similar action is to be taken in regard to other cities in which yellow fever may break out.

A PARIS CRANK.

He Attempts to Assassinate a Former Cabinet Minister.

PARIS, Aug. 14.—M. Lockroy, a former Cabinet Minister, was fired at yesterday by a man named Moore, a notorious Socialist. Lockroy at the time of the shooting was ascending a staircase in a house in the Rue Claironne, where his electoral committee was sitting. Moore, who was unknown to the Minister, stopped him and demanded a loan of ten francs. Lockroy refused to give him the money, whereupon the man rushed at him in a fury and fired at his right breast with a revolver.

Upon making a careful examination of the wounded man the surgeons found that his cash had been badly torn, but they could not determine whether the bullet had lodged in his body or not.

Moore, who is a malignant Socialist, had lain in wait for his victim for two hours. Lockroy had refused to identify himself with the cabmen's strike, and Moore shot him in revenge.

CHOLERA IN RUSSIA.

An Alarming Increase of the Disease Throughout the Country.

LONDON, Aug. 14.—Official returns show a great increase of cholera in Russia in the last week. The figures given for the different provinces are as follows:

Podalia—484 cases, 175 deaths.
Orel—327 cases, 110 deaths.
Don Region—354 cases, 147 deaths.
Tcheff—290 cases, 91 deaths.
Kiendno—110 cases, 27 deaths.
Nijnl Novgorod—258 cases, 102 deaths.
Cherson—50 cases, 18 deaths.
Yaroslav—39 cases, 15 deaths.
Samara—31 cases, 8 deaths.
Vladimir—23 cases, 9 deaths.
Nyazan—39 cases, 13 deaths.
Moscow (not including Moscow city)—27 cases, 9 deaths.

In Moscow city there was an average of 30 cases and 15 deaths daily.

To Pay With Bank Orders.

NORTH ADAMS, Mass., Aug. 14.—To relieve the currency stringency which is stopping all mills in town, Cashier Wilkinson, of the Adams National bank, has devised a system of orders of the denominations of $5, $6 and $10, to be used by the companies in making up pay rolls. The orders are like clearing house certificates, and are to be good with merchants for goods, or bitor cash and to be received on deposit by merchants by local banks. These orders will probably be used next week by nearly all mills in town.

Maverick Bank Officers' Trials.

BOSTON, Aug. 14.—The trial of the officials of the defunct Maverick Bank will begun next month. No effort has so far been made to have trial postponed and it is likely that no extension of time will be sought for. Judge Putnam of the United States Circuit Court will hear counsel Aug. 23 upon any motion that they may desire to make. Ex-Cashier Swift will be the first to be tried, the case set being Sept. 5.

Satolli to Visit Corrigan.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—Mgr. Satolli will leave to-day for New York, accompanied by his secretary Dr. Papi, to visit Archbishop Corrigan on invitation of the latter. He will visit various institutions connected with the catholic church in New York. The length of his stay is uncertain.

A Bankrupt County.

O'NEILL, Neb., Aug 14.—It is feared that county is bankrupt. More than a week ago Treasurer Scott left for Sioux City to be absent ostensibly a day. He has not re urned and of $70,000 of county funds that should be on hand only $20,000 can be found, three fourths of that being in a defunct bank.

Fatal Cloudburst.

VIENNA, Aug. 14.—A cloudburst made havoc in the Eperies district in Hungary yesterday. Fifty persons and many head of cattle were drowned. One hundred houses and several railway and other bridges were demolished, and much of the harvested crops was destroyed.

New York's Death List.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—The Bureau of Vital Statistics report that the number of deaths for the past week was 886. There were 829 deaths in the preceding week. The number of deaths from contagious diseases was 60, an increase of 16 over the week before.

Destroyed by Earthquake.

ROME, Aug. 14.—Repeated shocks of earthquake have destroyed one-half of the town of Mattinata, on the Adriatic coast. Several persons were killed and a number injured. The Stromboli volcano is in violent eruption.

The New York Yacht Race.

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 14.—The regatta committee of the New York Yacht Club has awarded the Goelet Schooner Cup to the schooner Lasca, the second boat of the schooners to finish. The Lasca was regularly entered, while the Volunteer was not.

THE DAILY PRESS.

A. L. FORCE, - - Publisher and Proprietor.
WALTER IRVING CLARKE, - - Managing Editor.

WEATHER INDICATIONS.

For New Jersey To-Morrow: Warmer; Easterly Winds, and Light Local Rains at Night.

PUBLISHER'S ANNOUNCEMENT.

As stated in the legal notice printed elsewhere, the partnership of W. L. Force & Bro., publishers and proprietors of this paper, has been dissolved by agreement of Albert L. Force, surviving member of the firm, and Mary L. Force, executrix of William L. Force deceased.

The successor to the firm is Albert L. Force, who in becoming sole publisher and proprietor begs to express to the public his warmest appreciation of the generous patronage which the people have bestowed, and to hope that his continued efforts to serve their best interests may be favored with undiminished confidence, good wishes and support.

—Reporter Elderton was riding a wheel on Somerset street, Saturday night, when he came near running into car No. 1. The car was turning into Somerset street from Front, and Elderton came directly in front it. He jumped off, and the car stopped, in time to escape injury.

—Wanted—At Netherwood, 500 men and women, Saturday, Aug. 19, at 2:30 p. m. If you don't want to buy lots, come and bring your friends with you, and sit in the large tent and hear the music and enjoy the breezes; and when you remember that it only takes $5 down to buy a lot you will surely invest.

The Carriers Disconsolate, for Their Throne Is Gone.

Some miscreant has stolen the two logs which served as a seat for the carriers in Mail row. They will be recognized by the painted inscriptions "Letter Carriers' Rest" and "Ikies 1 & 2". It is believed the purloiner is one who was made the Butt of ridicule as a result of his initiation into the mysteries of the Knights of the Mail Bag.

BETTER TIMES IN THE FALL.

THAT'S WHAT LOCAL EMPLOYERS HOPE FOR.

At Present, Work Is Very Slack, and Money Very Scarce—Scott's Press Works the Only Factory Running on Full Time and with All Hands.

Inquiry among the local manufacturing institutions shows that the financial depression and want of ready money are being felt in Plainfield as well as in other parts of the country. Men are being thrown out of work wherever large numbers of them are employed, and the shops are running with as small forces as possible.

The Scott Printing Machine Works alone are working with their usual force, and expect to keep all their men and find plenty for them to do, but this is because of large advance orders.

The Potter Press Works laid off 20 men last Friday and 20 the Friday before, besides smaller numbers previous to those dates. The discharging of men in the next few weeks will depend on the financial situation and the possibility of getting enough cash from collections due to pay off the hands regularly.

At the works of the Pond Machine Tool Company between 50 and 75 men have been laid off in the past two weeks, and many others are fearful of being deprived of work likewise.

The wholesale department of the clothing manufactory of C. Schepflin & Co. is shut up, but this is usual at this time of year, as the machinery is hauled over and repaired, and account is taken of stock.

The Creston Carpet Works on South avenue have shut down temporarily, and all the operatives are idle.

Unless the situation mends, and that very soon, in town, it will undoubtedly be found necessary to discharge many more operatives, and in such event much distress is bound to follow.

But the employers are hopeful that far better times may be had in the fall, and that all departments may resume work in their full capacity.

The need of ready money is felt by the tradesmen throughout the town. They complain of the people who go away and spend their money at summer resorts, which are as thriving as ever, and let their household bills stand unpaid. This makes it extremely difficult for the tradesmen to meet their obligations. The tradesmen hope for renewed prosperity when the people come back. At present the majority of homes are practically deserted.

Every Word of It Deserved.

The Press News of New York speaks thus kindly of a prominent Plainfielder: "Charles Potter, Jr., it is stated, has retired from active service in the Printing Press Company bearing his name. If such is the case, no man deserves a well earned rest more than this honorable gentleman. Mr. Potter originated the plan of going direct to the printer with his machinery instead of waiting for the printer's visit to the market. He began his printing press career about 1857, and, to his credit be it spoken, he always did his work in a dignified, clean and thorough manner. It is rarely that a press salesman can go through the different States without incurring animosities or calling out vituperation or enmities from competitors. Mr. Potter was a rara avis in this respect; his manners seemed to awe into silence the tongue of scandal, and his bearing always commanded respect. May he enjoy his rest!"

Saved Miller's Farm Buildings.

Alarm of fire was rung out at Scotch Plains yesterday afternoon at 5:15. The Fanwood bell was also rung, and the entire department promptly turned out. The Fanwood company was notified that it would not be needed, but the Scotch Plains companies worked for two hours, and succeeded in extinguishing a fire which was in the woods back of Ed Miller's and near Mr. Ackerman's. A dwelling owned by Mr. Clark and occupied by Charles Perrine was destroyed. The farm buildings of Mr. Miller were saved through the efforts of the firemen, but it was a close call.

Not Mr. Hummer.

The interview with Mayor Saunders, published exclusively in these columns Saturday, in reference to the Borough political fight, referred to Councilman Needham's alleged faithlessness. In the headlines the matter was referred to as Councilman Hummer's broken pledge. The use of Mr. Hummer's name in this connection was unintentional, and an error. Councilman Needham was meant, as the body of the article showed.

Locked Out the Domestic.

A young girl, domestic for a North Plainfield family, was locked out of her home last night, and applied to the police for a place to sleep. She said she had been to the Evona church and was late in returning. Her employer, she added, refused to get out of bed and let her in. The police furnished her with a bed in a hotel.

Didn't Mind Such a Trifle.

Linemen Chas. Barry and Chas. Fielding while engaged inputting up a guard wire on Somerset street and Manning avenue, Saturday afternoon, received a shock from the wire on which they were working getting in contact with the trolley wire. They soon returned to work.

Fall in Corn.

One of P. M. French's wagons, loaded with corn, dumped its contents on Somerset street Saturday afternoon, through the breaking of one of the hind wheels. One side of the street was blocked till the corn could be loaded on another wagon.

One of my children had a very bad discharge from her nose. Two physicians prescribed, but without benefit. We tried Ely's Cream Balm, and much to our surprise, there was a marked improvement. We continued using the Balm and in a short time the discharge was cured.—O. A. Cary, Corning, N. Y.

Ely's Cream Balm is worth its weight in gold as a cure for catarrh. One bottle cured me.—S. A. Lovell, Franklin, Pa.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Miss Booth, of Newburgh, is spending a week with Miss DeForest, of West Second street.

Miss Etta Van Buskirk, of West Second street, returned Saturday from a week at Locust Grove.

The Misses Edith and Emma Naylor will start this week for the Catskills, for a week or two.

Austin Gardner, of Watchung avenue, returned Saturday night from a short visit to the World's Fair.

The Misses Sarah and Katie Carney, of West Third street, will spend the week with friends in Brooklyn.

Miss Barbara Weber has returned home from a week among friends in Bound Brook and Weston.

Miss Mary Ruth, of North avenue, started yesterday for Sag Harbor, where she will spend one month.

Chas. E. Butts, of 201 East Front street, will start for a visit to his father in Toronto, Canada, Wednesday.

Miss Beatrice Craig, of East Fourth street, is visiting her cousin, Mrs. Samuel J. Moore, at Poughkeepsie.

Mrs. Chas. Smith and children returned last night from a ten days visit with relatives in East New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilman and son, of Newark, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Geo. S. McGinnis, Somerset street.

George Bissart, of the Pond Tool Works, has gone to upper New York State for the balance of the summer.

Miss Nellie Smith, formerly of this city, but late of New York, is spending the week with Miss Brian, of West Fourth street.

The Misses Bittenbender, of 402 Watchung avenue, have left the National Capitol and gone to Bethlehem, Pa., for a short stay.

Mrs. Geo. H. Carpenter and son, of Brooklyn, are spending a few days with the family of William Gloak, of East Second street.

Mrs. I. R. Glen and daughters Lilly and Catharyn, of Craig place, go to Asbury Park, August 17. They will register at The Albion.

William Apgar, of Evona, is confined to the house with chills and fever. Mrs. Apgar is also ill. Dr. Gaston is the attending physician.

Herbert Chamberlin, of the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company, will start Tuesday morning for two weeks at the World's Fair.

The Rev. D. Charles Preyer, wife and son, of Newark, were the guests yesterday of Mr. and Mrs. George L. VanEmburgh, East Second street.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Garretson, of Jersey City, arrived home from a trip to the World's Fair, last evening, and are stopping with relatives on East Front street.

The hand of affliction is heavy on Mr. and Mrs. James Valentine, of West Third street. One of their children was buried last Thursday, and another died yesterday.

Henry F. Windham, proprietor of the Arlington Hotel, will have his formal opening this evening. He will give a great spread, and good vocal music will be provided.

William Townley, driver of Alert Hose Company, will start to-day on a two weeks vacation. He will spend most of his time at the Firemen's Convention at Coney Island.

Judge Coddington and party are home again from Budd's Lake. The Judge is looking fine and feeling much improved in health, and the others had just as good a time as he did.

F. Smalley, of East Sixth street, returned Saturday from Whitehall, Pa., where he has been spending three weeks. His aunt, Miss Fritzinger, accompanied him, and will spend three weeks in this city.

Miss Fanny Mattison, of North Plainfield, returned from Saranac Lake, Saturday. Her sister, Miss Nettie, is still at that place, and her many friends will be glad to learn that she is gaining strength and health.

James W. Jackson, of Crescent avenue, who, with his family, including his son-in-law, Clifford Wharton, jr., is at his summer cottage in the Thousand Islands, last Friday bought the fast and elegant steam yacht "Ella", so well-known in the waters of the St. Lawrence.

The Rev. D. Charles Preyer, of Newark, who preached in the Trinity Reformed church yesterday morning and evening, is a very earnest and able young divine, and those who listened to him were spiritually refreshed by the excellent sermons he delivered.

Messrs. C. F. Jeansen and George W. Moreton, two of Plainfield's former residents, spent Sunday with friends in city and borough. They were both formerly in the draughtsman department of the Pond Machine Tool Company of Plainfield. Mr. Jeansen is now at the Watervliet Arsenal, West Troy, N. Y., and Mr. Moreton is with the Betts Machine Tool Company, Wilmington, Delaware. They regretted their inability to make more than a flying visit, as there were many friends they would have liked to see.

A Wonderful Machine.

There is no doubt that man is a fine mechanism, but like every other machine he wears out by friction. It is said that he is born again every two or three years. His body is virtually re-made from food. To retard this making over is radically wrong, as a man loses as much vitality in the delayed process that it takes a long time to recuperate. The process of making anew is so accelerated by purging with BRANDETH'S PILLS that a new man, as it were, may be made in two or three months, and the change in the mechanism is such that the worn out part is replaced by the new without the usual running down of the entire machine. You don't have to stop for repairs. Purge away with BRANDETH'S PILLS the old, diseased and worn out body. They are purely vegetable, absolutely harmless, and safe to take at any time.

SUN-LIGHT and FRESH AIR are THE BEST DISINFECTANTS, of course; but you can't apply them in every situation. What next? Well, that depends. For damp cellars use Quicklime, plenty of it. For vaults and cesspools use COPPERAS; cheap stuff; we sell it by the pound or hundred-weight—instructions thrown in. For kitchen sinks, for water-closets, for house plumbing, for the sick room, to deodorize discharges, to purify the air and to prevent contagion, use REYNOLDS'S ODORLESS DISINFECTANT. Made and sold for fifteen years at POPULARITY UNPRECEDENTED.

Somerset Street Branch Proves as Big a Success as the Main Line.

The Somerset street electric railway did a big business yesterday. About 1,100 people were carried, and it was found necessary to put on an extra car. A large number of the people would ride out to the end of the line and then take a walk out through the mountain, and along Johnston's Drive, while some would find a shady place and commune at peace with Nature.

Car No. 1 made a record by carrying 60 at one time, and 120 on a round trip.

High Wheels, They Never Stop Throwing.

Charles Kalting, while riding along Harrison street, North Plainfield, on a high wheel, came in contact with a stone which threw him into a running stream of water in the gutter. The wheel was bent out of shape. Kind people supplied Charles with clean water to remove the mud.

The Crescents' Namesakes Also Won.

An exciting game of base-ball was played on the Crescents' grounds Saturday afternoon, between two local teams, the Young Crescents and the Richmonds. The Young Crescents won by the score of 16 to 15. It took ten innings to decide the game. The batteries were: Crescents, Townley and Kane; Richmonds, Hewett and McGinley.

Collided with the Trough.

Some excitement was caused on Somerset street, Saturday afternoon, when Andrew Lutkins's horse tried to take the watering trough from in front of Alexander Thorn's away with him. The inmates of the wagon were thrown out, but the only damage done was one trace broken.

PASTOR PETERSON INSTALLED.

HE WILL BE A SHEPHERD FOR THE SEVENTH-DAY FLOCK.

The Old Mother Church at New Market the Scene of a Notable Gathering—Plainfield Baptists Joined in the Doings and Made a Great Day of It.

Since the time when the Rev. L. E. Livermore resigned as pastor of the Seventh-Day Baptist church at New Market, the congregation have been eagerly watching their opportunity to secure a man who would fill the place acceptably. This was finally accomplished, when they extended a call to the Rev. Mr. Peterson, a recent graduate from the Seminary.

Last Saturday was the time set for the examination, and, if that should prove satisfactory, the ordination. There was also to be ordained under the same conditions, a deacon, L E Rogers.

The bright green fields and verdant foliage never looked prettier around the old church, which has stood for nearly fifty years, than on this occasion.

For miles around people flocked to the centre of attraction, all anxious to come up to the house of the Lord and welcome their new pastor that was to be, and all thankful that they were to have a shepherd to guide them. The people came early, and spent the day enjoying the services and the hospitality provided. Under the large shady trees that stand like living monuments of past events, long tables had been placed, on which were loaded good things to eat, which were partaken of at the noon hour.

The morning session began at 10:30, with a praise service conducted by the choir, whose members were Mrs. Isaac Giles, Miss Carrie Davis, Miss Jennie Clowson, Mr. and Mrs. D. Titsworth, Miss Lizzie Bolce, Harry Bolce, W. H. Satterlee, A. H. Burdick, with Mr. Deland as organist.

After this the Church Council organized by electing George J. Crandall, of Ashaway, R. I., as Moderator. The following composed the Council:

Albert S. Babcock, State Senator, of Rockville, R. I.; the Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis, Plainfield; Mr. Deland, Westerly, R. I.; Gideon F. Randolph, Berlin, N. Y., late missionary to China; the Rev. J. G. Burdick, New York; the Rev. L. E. Livermore, Alfred Centre, N. Y.; O. U. Whitford, General Agent Missionary Society, Westerly, R. I.; the Rev. Mr. Luckey, New York, missionary to Austria; G. H. Spicer, Hopkinton, R. I.; A. Clark, Hopkinton, R. I.; E. G. Carpenter, Ashaway, R. I.; C. C. Chipman, New York; H. H. Baker, J. D. Spicer, Dr. T. H. Tomlinson, Nathan H. Randall, of Plainfield, I. D. Titsworth, H. B. Dunham, Lewis C. Dunn, Horace Satterlee, L. T. Titsworth, clerk, of New Market; also the Rev. Frank Fletcher, of the New Market Baptist church.

This Council examined the two candidates. The Rev. Mr. Peterson came out and for about one hour stood before the people while they asked him questions relative to his knowledge in the doctrine he professed. Mr. Peterson showed remarkable knowledge, and never did he lose a point in satisfying the people that he was thoroughly conversant and well founded in the fundamental truths and doctrine which this body so firmly believe in.

After this part was over, C. E. Rogers was called on to make a statement of his religious experience, which he did, and told in a simple and plain way of his conversion and of the high importance that he held the office of deacon to be.

The Council then adjourned to another room. When they returned, the Moderator announced that they had unanimously decided to recommend that both candidates be ordained. It was so ordered, and 2:30 was announced as the hour to begin the afternoon service. The Rev. Mr. Livermore, Dr. T. H. Tomlinson, and the Rev. J. G. Burdick were appointed a committee to arrange the service. After singing the Doxology, the benediction was pronounced, and an adjournment was made till the hour set.

Everyone was then invited to partake of the dinner, which had been prepared on the lawn adjoining the church. Every want was looked after, and all were well entertained.

The afternoon service commenced at 2:30, with an anthem by the choir, after which the Rev. Mr. Martine, pastor of the Dunellen Presbyterian church, read the Scriptures. Another anthem was rendered, and the Rev. Frank Fletcher, pastor of the New Market Baptist church, led in prayer. The sermon was then preached by the Rev. L. E. Livermore, of Alfred Centre, N. Y., who took for his text II Timothy, II: 15—"Study to show thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth." From this Mr. Livermore delivered a powerful discourse, analyzing the verse and setting its truths and teachings forth in such a plain way that all were deeply impressed, and for one hour he held the undivided attention of his hearers.

After the sermon the two candidates came to the platform and knelt with bowed heads. Around them were the Rev. Dr. Lewis, the Rev. Mr. Livermore, Moderator D. J. Crandall, Mr. Deland and the Rev. J. G. Burdick. The Consecration Prayers were made by D. J. Crandall and Mr. Deland. These were earnest petitions for Divine blessings and guidance.

O. U. Whitford then made the charge to the candidates. It was forcible and pointed, and the speaker gave excellent advice as to the duties of each.

The Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis delivered the charge to the people. It was a stirring talk, and was profoundly interesting and instructive. Among other things the Doctor said: "This man you have chosen as your pastor is deserving of your earnest support. He comes to you in the full vigor of manhood, ready for the battle; give him your prayers and sympathy. To-day this man has cut loose from all that is worldly, and has consecrated himself to the Lord and His service. He has forsaken the business world, and can never return. There is nothing for him to depend on now but God and His people."

Again, "When you are inclined to find fault with your pastor, go to him and tell him his faults; don't gossip and tell people outside about it, and if ever you are not satisfied with his preaching, if ever you think he is no longer wanted, tell him so, and do it in the right spirit."

G. F. Randolph then gave Mr. Peterson the right hand of fellowship. The Rev. Mr. Martine made a few remarks, and gave the hand of fellowship on behalf of the Presbyterian church.

It was voted that the minutes of the meeting be printed in The Sabbath Recorder.

A hymn was sung, the benediction pronounced, and the services were closed.

A little bit of history of the New Market church will be interesting. The first congregation was organized in 1707, and the membership grew steadily year after year, till 1836, when the present church was erected. It is the mother church of the Seventh-Day Baptist church of this city.

The hope of the Seventh-Day church is in its young people and their earnestness in the work. There is a large number of them in the church.

The Rev. Mr. Peterson, the new pastor, is a graduate of Milton College, Wisconsin, also of the Union Theological Seminary, Chicago, and took a course of one year in the Chicago University, from which he recently came.

The Eastern District, of which this church is a member, includes the States of Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey and Florida. Seven delegates from the District were sent to the ordination services and two letters of congratulation and good fellowship were received. Members from various distant churches of the denomination were present.

Soldiers Going to the World's Fair.

All the members of the Grand Army, who can go, and their friends, have been invited by Gen. Wadsworth Post, No. 75, of Somerville, to accompany it on a special excursion to the Encampment at Indianapolis, leaving September 4, and going thence to the World's Fair for six days, and home by Niagara Falls. Everything, including board and lodging, can be had for $50, with cheaper rates to the National Encampment alone.

Particulars can be had of Commanders of Posts, or by writing to A V D. Honeyman, Manager of G. A. R. Excursion, Box 765, Plainfield, N. J.

Why Patsy Is Sore To-Day.

Patsy Mellin, a good-humored clerk in Sherwin's shoe store, caused some excitement on Front street at 10:30 last night. He was riding a safety, when Sergeant Lynch's body guard ran out from the curb and barked at him. Mellin was mad, so he went to Pruden's alley, and, procuring a barrel stave, rode back, looking for the harmless canine, which is scarcely larger than a pussy cat. The dog followed him again, and when Mellin tried to strike him he fell from his bicycle into the gutter and was considerably bruised. The dog took refuge on the First National Bank steps.

Lost on the Streets of Plainfield.

An interesting story, and a true one, is told of a German stone-cutter who has been employed at Martinville recently. He came to Plainfield a few days ago, and secured a boarding place, but where is not known. Saturday evening the family where he was boarding went out of town to spend Sunday, leaving the stranger alone in the house. The stranger went out for a walk and got lost. He forgot the name of the landlord, also the street and location. Officer Cooney tried to set the man right but was unsuccessful.

Cheaper to Walk Than Pay Board.

A German shoemaker who works for Cohen, 58 Somerset street, came home from New York late last night, and found the house locked up and the family away from home. He applied for a room at some of the hotels, but when told the cost was 75 cents he decided to walk the streets until morning.

Smoked in the Ladies Car.

Policeman Flanagan and Michael Winn started for the fishing banks, Saturday. They occupied seats in one of the ladies cars, and each puffed a cigar, until the conductor ordered them to another part of the train. The car was vacant when they got in, and they thought it was the smoker.

Devoured 2,000 Clams.

The clam-bake held at Schmetterer Grove, on the mountain, yesterday, was a most enjoyable affair. Henry Haurand was the manager, and Billy Brown was chief cook. Forty persons were present, and nearly 2,000 clams were devoured, besides several chickens, blue-fish, etc.

Proof of Merit.

The proof of the merits of a plaster is the cures it effects, and the voluntary testimonials of those who have used ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS during the past thirty years is unimpeachable evidence of their superiority and should convince the most skeptical. Self praise is no recommendation, but certificates from those who have used them are. Beware of imitations and do not be deceived by misrepresentation. Ask for ALLCOCK'S, and let no solicitation or explanation induce you to accept a substitute.

The Anti-Option Bill.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—The Anti-Options bill, over which there was such a long debate in the Senate last year, will not be introduced by Senator Washburn at this session at a very early date. "I am one of those," said the Senator, "who think we have been summoned to Washington at this time by the President for the performance of a specific duty, and until that duty has been accomplished I do not believe it wise or prudent."

Jack Dempsey Not Insane.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 14.—Jack Dempsey, the "Nonpareil," is here ill in a hospital, but he is not insane as reported in a despatch from Minneapolis. The pugilist has been quite sick since Monday. He was out at White Bear Lake several times last week sailing, rowing and swimming, and it is believed caught cold.

Sanger Seriously Injured.

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 14.—Friends of Sanger, the bicycle rider, say his injuries received at Chicago are more serious than at first supposed. It is feared he is injured internally and that he will never be able to ride again. He has been taken to Waukesha for rest and treatment.

Dry Goods Trade Picking Up.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—The situation in the drygoods trade shows further improvement as regards confidence and the near outlook. Demand was rather better for the latter part of last week than for some weeks past.

BURNED TO DEATH IN A HOTEL.

Five Lives Lost at a Fire in Chicago.

CHICAGO, August 14.—A hotel fire resulting in the death of a number of the guests, occurred this morning. The fire was in the Senate Hotel, a three-story structure on Madison street near Fifth avenue, of which J. Gooche is landlord and J. Ohren manager. One man jumped from a window in the top story and was killed. Four others were suffocated or died from burns.

The fire is said to have started from an overturned stair lamp.

The list of killed and injured is as follows:

Killed—Harry Godfrey, seven years of age, son of J. Godfrey, a hardware merchant of Little Rock, Ark., burned. Edward Short, of Chicago, gambler, burned and jumped from rear window. Unknown woman, five feet six inches in height, burned, removed from bed by firemen. Unknown man, five feet eight inches in height, burned in bed. Unknown man, removed to County Hospital unconscious, died fifteen minutes after arrival.

Injured—Jay Godfrey, hardware merchant, Little Rock, Ark., burned about head and shoulders; removed to Mercy Hospital, will recover; Mrs. Godfrey, wife of above, slight burns of shoulders; wounds dressed in drug store.

BLEW OUT HIS BRAINS.

Business Was Bad, and Zietlow Could n't Stand Depression.

ELIZABETH, Aug. 14—Albert William Zietlow, age 34, blew his brains out this morning at his house, 346 Fay avenue, where he lived with his wife and a child two years old. Zietlow was an advertising agent in New York and since the financial depression has done little business. When he went to bed last night he seemed much dejected and said that life was not worth living. When she awoke this morning his wife heard the muffled report of a pistol, and rushing into a side room she found her husband lying on a sofa with one-half of his head blown away. He had used a forty-eight calibre revolver. He was still alive but unconscious. He died in ten minutes.

GOT TIRED OF SOMERVILLE.

Dentist Goertz Craved a Livelier Place, and Sought It in the Grave.

SOMERVILLE, August 14.—Edward Goertz, a well-known dentist long in this place, killed himself to-day. Being a patriotic Prussian, he took Prussic acid and expired in great agony. He was a bachelor, and had been very lonesome and gloomy of late.

BUCHANAN SENTENCED.

To Die in the Week Beginning Oct. 2.

NEW YORK, August 14.—Dr. Robert W. Buchanan, convicted of wife murder, was brought down to Part I. of the Court of General Sessions this morning and sentenced to die in the week beginning Oct. 2, 1893.

Impossible.

Hostess—I didn't see Mr. Lightlead at the play last night. Was he ill?

Friend of Mr. Fweddy Lighthead—No. He changed his mind about going. That was all.

Hostess—Changed his mind? How queer! Aren't you mistaken, Mr. de Yude?—Chicago Tribune.

Perhaps.

"I wonder," said one of the loungers, "what was the origin of the swallow-tailed coat?"

"It is my idea," said the grizzle-whiskered man from Montana, "that they was cut that way in the first place to make it handy for a man to git his gun."—Indianapolis Journal.

Grinding Poverty.

"I never realized until to-day how terrible poverty must be," said Mrs. Dollargrilt to her husband.

"And how did you realize it?"

"I couldn't find enough change to bribe the hand-organ man to go away."—American Industries.

NO HARM DONE.

Three little maids from school are we,
And we're just as merry as we can be
We smeared the ink on our hands and face
But you can't tell the difference, so it's no disgrace

The American Catarrh Cure

Is the result of twenty-six years' study and treatment of the disease. One bottle convinces the most skeptical. It is always ready for use, needing neither douche nor atomizer. It restores the hearing, cures the hawking cough and expectorating, removes the headache and nose bleeding, increases the appetite, produces sound sleep, invigorates the whole system and increases the vitality. Prepared only by W. B. Jones, M. D., No. 1336 South Eighth street, Philadelphia. For sale by L. W. Randolph, 21 West Front street. Price $1.

THE LOVERS' TIFF.

A Seat That Can Be Tucked Under the Strap of a Valise.

The lovers' tiff is a double canvas chair in which two individuals sit back to back. It should be made with such generous proportions, however, that the two may make up after the quarrel. When one goes to the shore or mountains he dreads to leave behind every comfortable chair, however many hammocks are packed, while it is equally impossible to carry them. But the lovers' tiff anybody can enjoy because it goes everywhere merely tucked under the strap of a satchel. In fact, only the bare canvas is carried. When the camp ground is reached four poles are quickly cut and set up and three short pieces bound to them Indian style by heavy cords. Then the middle of the canvas is secured to the top cross bar, and either end to the bottom pieces. The poles should be a trifle heavier than bean poles, and eight feet long; the cross sticks four feet. Plunged into the sod an inch, the legs of this chair never spread. It may be used on the veranda with comfort, if a light straddle be made to connect the two lower cross bars.—American Agriculturist.

A PORTABLE TIFF.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

ETHER will take out water marks from silk.

A LITTLE paraffine rubbed on screws will make them enter wood more easily.

MADRAS muslin or printed frilled curtains are effective bedroom draperies and are much sought after by reason of their artistic coloring.

NERVOUS headache may be greatly relieved by the application of hot water to the temples and the back of the neck, particularly if a hot foot bath is used at the same time.

BRASS should be cleaned at least once a week. Alcohol, spirits of turpentine, benzine or kerosene will generally remove all ordinary spots on this metal. The final cleansing and polishing should be done with powdered rottenstone, oil and chamois skin.

THERE is only one right way to clean wall paper, and that is with a week-old loaf of bread cut in halves. Begin at the top of the wall and wipe downward with the crumb side of the loaf making the stroke a half yard or so in length. Never rub crosswise or upwards, but always downward. Generally after this operation the paper will look as good as new.

A BIT of delicately tinted cheese cloth in Nile green crumpled up carelessly as a table center, under a glass bowl of cool water lilies, is as pretty a thing as eyes can rest on. If you get an artistic crumple you can "catch" it with a stitch here and there to an underlying square of white cotton crinoline, so that it will be always ready while its freshness lasts.

HOW TO BREATHE.

A Knowledge Possessed by Scarcely One Person in a Hundred.

Comparatively few people pay much if any attention to their breathing. They generally regard this as one of the automatic movements of the body, like the beating of the heart and circulation of the blood, which in a healthy body regulate themselves without taking thought about them. If men and women were each day employed at work in the open air that will exercise the muscles of arms, shoulders and the upper portion of their bodies, this carelessness about breathing may do little harm. The work will compel the person doing it to take full breaths of fresh air, and this of itself is sufficient to give the lungs the natural expansion that they need. But there are millions who do not work in the open air, and a large part of these scarcely exercise the upper parts of their bodies. For all such attention to correct breathing is the very first condition of health, for upon deep, full breathing must depend the healthful beating of the heart that is required to keep up active circulation of the blood.—Good Housekeeping

Pennsylvania Apple Butter.

A good supply of apple butter is a great comfort in winter time. Boil down new cider to half. Pare, cut and core equal quantities of sweet and sour apples. Put the sweet apples in a kettle to soften a little first, as they are the hardest. Add enough boiled cider to cook them. After boiling half an hour, stirring often, put in the sour apples and add more boiled cider, with molasses to sweeten moderately. Boil until tender, stirring to prevent burning. Pack in firkins or stone jars for winter use.

Bedspreads in a New Role.

Country cousins who receive visits from city relations this summer are warned to put their blue and white homespun bedspreads under lock and key. Since these once-despised articles became the fashion for portieres—and very effective they are, too, and respected by artistic taste—country houses are being stripped of them as they were of blue Canton ware and mahogany furniture.

How the Japanese Arrange Flowers.

The Japanese secure the fine poise their flowers have when arranged by putting them in sand instead of water. The beauty of the stems is, however lost by this arrangement, and the flowers fade sooner.

The Feasting Otes.

Little Dot—There comes Mr. Nicefello to see sister. Let's hurry in, so as to get some of the chocolates.

Little Dick—No use. He hasn't any candy with him.

"How do you know?"

"'Cause they got engaged last night."—Good News.

Legal Item.

Mr. Portly Pompous—I am opposed to an income tax. I believe it is unconstitutional.

Mr. Fewsoads—Yes, I have noticed that a law which is not liked by the rich people is very apt to be unconstitutional.—Texas Siftings.

Notice to Contractors

Their Great Grief.

"James, dear," said the young wife, anxiously, as she kissed her husband, "what did you do with that dress suit of yours I did up in paper this morning and left on the hall table?"

"Was that my dress suit?" he hysterically repeated. "Why, I thought that was a bundle of old clothes you wanted me to give away, and I had my office boy take it around to the missionary society."

With a piercing shriek she prostrated herself on the sofa. "You little knew," she sobbed, piteously, as she rocked to and fro in uncontrollable grief, "that there was a piece of silk in that package that I wanted you to match for me."—Judge.

She Would Hasten.

Old Lady—And so you expect to get married when you grow up?

Little Girl—Of course. Everybody gets married. I won't say 'no,' like Aunt Lucy did, and be an old maid—no, indeedy.

"Perhaps you won't like those who ask you?"

"Oh, yes I will, I guess. I feel real sure that when a real nice little boy—I mean man—comes to ask me to get married, I'll be so happy I won't wait to run downstairs to meet him. I'll just slide down the bannisters."—Good News.

Farmer's Son (joyfully)—Cracky, what a place for a ball game!—Texas Siftings.

Healthy Versus Morbid Views.

She—I often wonder whether if I'd been poor you would have fallen in love with me.

He—How morbid you are! What matters it? You are rich and I am your fance.

She—What matters it? Why, a great deal. It's this—will you love me when the money's gone?

He—Nonsense! You know we can't touch the principal.—Judge.

A Groundless Rumor.

Lincoln—I hear that Miss Melpomene Gilbertus has become an actress.

Hamilton—O, no! That's a mistake.

"Why, I was told positively that she had gone on the stage."

"Oh, yes! That part of it is true enough; but the story of her being an actress is absurd."—Brooklyn Eagle.

PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND

Is a positive cure for all those painful

Ailments of Women.

It will entirely cure the worst forms of Female Complaints, all Ovarian troubles, Inflammation and Ulceration, Falling and Displacements, of the Womb, and consequent Spinal Weakness, and is peculiarly adapted to the Change of Life. Every time it will cure

Backache.

It has cured more cases of Leucorrhœa than any remedy the world has ever known. It is almost infallible in such cases. It dissolves and expels Tumors from the Uterus in an early stage of development, and checks any tendency to cancerous humors. That causing pain, weight, and backache, is instantly relieved and permanently cured by its use. Under all circumstances it acts in harmony with the laws that govern the female system, and is as harmless as water. It removes

Irregularity,

Suppressed or Painful Menstruations, Weakness of the Stomach, Indigestion, Bloating, Flooding, Nervous Prostration, Headache, General Debility. Also

Dizziness, Faintness,

Extreme Lassitude, "don't care" and "want to be left alone" feeling, excitability, irritability, nervousness, sleeplessness, flatulency, melancholy, or the "blues," and backache. These are sure indications of Female Weakness, some derangement of the Uterus, or

Womb Troubles.

The whole story, however, is told in an illustrated book entitled "Guide to Health," by Mrs. Pinkham. It contains over 80 pages of most important information, which every woman, married or single, should know about herself. Send 2 two-cent stamps for it. For and Backache of either sex the Vegetable Compound is unequalled.

Kidney Complaints

BILLS TO MAKE MORE CURRENCY

Senator Voorhees Proposes $19,000,000 Additional National Bank Notes and Senator Peffer Wants $500,000,000 of Fiat Money—Work and Talk in the Corridors.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—In the Senate yesterday several important bills were introduced.

Mr. Hill, of New York, offered a very brief bill repealing Federal election laws; the repeal, however, not to affect any proceeding or prosecution now pending under said act.

Senator Butler introduced a bill repealing the State bank tax.

Mr. Peffer, of Kansas, introduced a bill providing further issue of $500,000,000 of fiat money, exchangable for government bonds at par.

Senator Chandler, reintroduced his bill of last Congress, establishing additional regulations concerning immigration to the United States.

Senator Voorhees introduced a bill to increase national bank circulation, which is as follows:

"Be it enacted, etc., that upon any deposit already or hereafter made of any United States bonds bearing interest in the manner required by law, any national banking association which has made or shall hereafter make the same, shall be entitled to receive from the Comptroller of the Currency circulating notes of different denominations in blank, registered and countersigned as provided by law, not exceeding in the whole amount in circulating notes thus issued the par value of the bonds deposited; provided that at no time shall the total amount of such notes issued to any such association exceed the amount at such time actually paid in as its capital stock."

Accompanying the bill was the following letter from Secretary Carlisle:

"TREASURY DEPARTMENT, OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY. WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 11, 1893.

HON. D. W. VOORHEES:

My Dear Sir:—Your favor of the 10th inst., inclosing form of a bill to provide for the issuing of circulating notes to national banks, and asking the views of the Secretary of the Treasury as to the advisability of its passage, is received. The enactment of such a law as proposed would enable the national banks to issue and put in circulation at once, on bonds already deposited with the Treasurer of the United States, about $19,000,000 in currency, in addition to the amount now authorized; and this, in my opinion, would afford a very considerable measure of relief to the country under existing circumstances. I therefore recommend the passage of the bill. Respectfully yours,

J. G. CARLISLE, Secretary.

Senator Hill introduced a resolution, which lies on the table, declaring the sense of the Senate that nothing but financial legislation shall be undertaken during the present special session.

The Senate adjourned at 4:20.

SPEECH-MAKING AND PLANNING.

The Silver Question In and Out of the House.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—In the House yesterday the Speaker announced the following committee appointments, after the reading of the journal:

Enrolled bills—Messrs. Pearson (chairman;) Russell, (Ga.;) Latimer, Hines, Hager, Adams and Gillet, (N. Y.)

Accounts — Messrs. Rusk (chairman;) Paynter, Tate, Mutchler, Ikert, Wells, Post, Wright (Mass.) and Marvin.

Mileage—Messrs. Lynch (chairman;) Strait, Pendleton, (Texas) and Mahon.

The day in the House was devoted to speech-making. The greatest attention was paid to Mr. Warner, of New York, but he seemed scarcely so much at home as he would have been had the tariff been the subject matter of debate. Mr. Patterson, of Tennessee, was also slow in securing an audience, but when he did so, it was an enthusiastic and appreciative one. Mr. Pendleton (Dem., W. Va.) maintained his position in favor of the Wilson bill in good manner and answered the many questions plied to him with ease and courtesy. Mr. Bailey, of Texas, gracefully and quietly presented the reason which impelled him to vote for a coinage bill and the House at 5 o'clock adjourned, while his colleague Hutchinson was still holding the floor on same side of the perplexed question.

It is said that the Republican members of the House expect to take little or no part in the debate now in progress. Said one of them:

"The Democrats have undertaken to control and direct the consideration of the question, and refused to give the Republicans a chance to amend the order regulating the debate. We did not believe that free silver or no silver, which are the only alternatives possible under the Bland order, were the only possible solutions of the situation, and would have been glad of an opportunity to have amended the order so as to secure a vote on a proposition which we believe would go farther than any other to meet and relieve the necessities of the financial situation. But this having been denied us, we do not feel that the Republicans have anything to argue, and my belief is that none of the members on this side will take formal part in the debate."

It may be doubted, however, whether this plan of reticence and reserve will be carried out. It is almost a certainty that as the debate progresses a stage will be reached where the opportunity to score a political point will prove irresistible to such aggressive leaders as Reed, Burrows, Cannon, Hepburn and Henderson There are some of the best speakers in the Democratic ranks still to be heard—Cockran and Fellows of New York, Wilson of West Virginia, Culberson of Texas, Bynum of Indiana, Bryan, the brilliant young orator of Nebraska, and earnest, deep-chested Hatch, of Missouri, whose sonorous voice and striking gestures will enforce attention. It will be strange, indeed, if their remarks, divided as they will be pretty equally on both sides of the question, do not call out some pungent retorts or criticisms.

It is true that ex-Speaker Reed frankly said during the last Congress that he did not know enough on the silver question to be able to enlighten anybody, but he may have studied it since then. As to the exact attitude of Messrs. Burrows, Cannon and other Western men on the broad question of silver coinage there is some doubt which they themselves will probably take fitting opportunity to dispel.

The Prospect of Repeal.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—Representative M. D. Harter, one of the foremost advocates of the repeal of the purchase clause of the Sherman Silver law, contradicts the reports which have been circulated during the past few days to the effect that the free silver men have won to their views congressmen supposed to be favorably disposed towards the President's recommendation. Inquiries of Mr. Harter regarding the situation have been numerous. In reply to these questions he said: "The reports that the friends of the repeal of silver purchase in the House are weakening, or that the cause is waning, are absolutely at variance with facts. The House will vote to stop silver purchases without any condition. The cause is stronger to-day than it has ever been. The majority for unconditional repeal when that question is reached will not be less than 30 and may reach 100. In the Senate there is likely to be from six to ten majority for repeal. The danger there is only one of delay. The House is likely to adjourn three days at a time after the repeal bill is passed until the Senate has got through fighting the people. When that time arrives repeal will follow at that end of the Capitol."

No Interference With Crisp.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—Representative W. M. Springer, of Illinois, saw Secretary Carlisle yesterday in reference to an alleged dispatch from Deer Park which imputed to Mr. Carlisle the statement that Speaker Crisp had yielded to the wishes of the Administration and had promised to appoint Mr. Wilson, of West Virginia, chairman of the Committee on Ways and Means. Mr. Carlisle authorized Mr. Springer to say he had never made any such statement at Deer Park or anywhere else, and further, that it was not true that the President or any member of his Cabinet, so far as he knew, had communicated with the Speaker in any way as to the make-up of the Committee on Ways and Means, or of any other committee of the House. Nor would they in any way seek to interfere in the matter. So far as he, Mr. Carlisle, was concerned he would be satisfied with any committee Mr. Crisp might select.

Silver in the Commons.

LONDON, Aug. 15.—In the House of Commons yesterday Mr. Robert L. Everett (Liberal) member for the Woodbridge division of Suffolk, asked that the House, in view of the fact that a bill for the free coinage of silver at the ratio of 24 to 1 had been introduced in the Senate of the United States, declare that the time was opportune for Great Britain and the United States to establish a durable par basis for gold and silver. Mr. Gladstone replied that the bill referred to by Mr. Everett in no way represented the views of the United States government. Its introduction, therefore, could not form a suitable opportunity for communication with the American government, apart from the question whether the passage of such a bill by the Congress of the United States would justify the opening of communications.

The Queen's Health.

LONDON, Aug. 15.—Inquiries have reached this city as to the state of the Queen's health, it having been reported in certain quarters that she had been stricken with paralysis. The report is entirely without foundation. On Saturday afternoon last, her Majesty, accompanied by the Duchess of York, drove through West Cowes, near which place Osborne House, the Queen's residence on the Isle of Wight, is situated. Her Majesty then looked as though she was enjoying fine health. Sunday she attended divine service at Osborne House, and in the evening she gave a quiet dinner party. Not a whisper is heard in court circles that the Queen is ailing in any way.

Masonic Congress.

CHICAGO, Aug. 15. — Representative members of the Masonic Order throughout the United States and the Canadas began a Masonic congress yesterday in the 20-story temple here. About 250 members of all degrees were present and many more are expected. It is stated that the congress is in the nature of a reunion, but that an organization will probably be perfected. Entertainments and informal meetings have been arranged to occupy six days. The congress is said to be one of the most important non-legislative sessions of Masons ever held in this country.

Celestials at Quarantine.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—There are 21 Chinamen on board the steamer Yucatan which arrived from Havana yesterday. She is only a little over three days out and will be detained at Quarantine until the five-day rule is satisfied. Eleven of the Chinamen are said to be laborers on their way back to their own country, the balance say they are merchants. All the celestials will be detained for examination.

Hydrophobia.

TRENTON, N. J., Aug. 15.—Frank E. Gregory, a landscape painter, of No. 143 Second avenue, New York lies at St. Francis' Hospital, this city, suffering from what appears to be hydrophobia. He says he was bitten by a dog two weeks ago. Gregory is resting comfortably and the doctors think he will recover.

Homed In a Big Fire.

BAY CITY, Mich., Aug. 14.—News from Bentley, in the burning district in the northern part of the county, is to the effect that a little daughter of Andrew Newton, of that place, was burned to death and that thirty men are penned up in a lumber camp and can get no relief.

The Navahoe Gives Up.

LONDON, Aug. 15.—In the yacht race yesterday the Britannia finished first, the Satanita being second. The Columbia ran ashore and lost all chance of winning. The Navahoe gave up the contest some time before the race was finished.

SATOLLI IN NEW YORK

A Social Visit to Archbishop Corrigan.

THE DIGNITARIES DINE TOGETHER

The Delegate Declines to be Interviewed But Father Lavelle Says That the Two Distinguished Gentlemen Have a Thorough Understanding.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—Mgr. Satolli arrived at Jersey City, at 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. With him was his private secretary, Dr. Papi, and Father Killeen, who met the Delegate at Bayonne.

There were at the station to meet Mgr. Satolli, Fathers Connelly and Farranti, secretaries to Archbishop Corrigan, Father Tabias and Father Corrigan.

Archbishop Corrigan attended the funeral of Jeremiah Devlin, the Broadway clothier, at Yonkers in the morning, but returned in time to welcome the Delegate upon his arrival at the Archepiscopal residence on Manison Avenue.

Father Corrigan was the first one to grasp the hand of the Delegate as he stepped from the train. The distinguished visitor was looking well, notwithstanding his long ride on the cars. He seemed in a cheerful mood and chatted with Father Corrigan and others, but always in Latin or Italian.

The Delegate and his secretary were conducted to a carriage which Father Connelly had in waiting, and after crossing the ferry was driven to the Archepiscopal residence.

Through Father Connelly, Mgr. Satolli declined to be interviewed by reporters. He said he preferred to recuperate from the effects of his journey before submitting to be questioned. He intimated, however, that he would have something to make public at an early day.

Father Connelly volunteered the information that the Delegate's visit is a social one to Archbishop Corrigan, and of the nature of visits he has made to Boston, Philadelphia, Baltimore and other cities.

Upon arriving at the Archepiscopal residence Mgr. Satolli was received very cordially by Archbishop Corrigan. After a brief period spent in conversation dinner was served.

During the afternoon Father Lavelle said: "The coming of the Apostolic Delegate is purely an act of courtesy toward Archbishop Corrigan. No matter what is said to the contrary, there is nothing sinister about it. The two illustrious gentlemen understand each other thoroughly, and any report to the contrary is a mistake."

A Pension Order.

WASHINGTON, The President under date of Aug. 10, 1893, has issued an executive order directing that so much of the executive order of May 7, 1877, as provides that pensions due to inmates of the various branches of the National Home for Disabled Volunteer Soldiers, shall be paid at the agency in Washington, D. C., is hereby revoked. It is also directed that after July 1, 1893, all pensions due to inmates of the several branches of said home shall be paid by the pension agency in whose agency district said branch home is located. It is said at the Interior Department that this order is made in consequence of the high rate of exchange between the Western towns where very many of the homes are located, and New York. It is expected that the saving in exchange alone to the several homes will be approximately $25,000 a year.

Twenty Drowned.

BUDAPEST, Aug. 15.—Bad floods are prevailing in Galicia and Northern Hungary. The counties of Saros and Ungh, which border Galicia on the south, have been devastated. The suburbs of Unghvar, the capital of Ungh, are inundated. In many cases houses on lowlands have been completely submerged, dwelling houses have collapsed and many persons have been killed by falling buildings or drowned in the floods. The river Dneister and its affluents, the San and Stry, have overflowed their banks inundating the adjacent country to a considerable depth. Immense damage has been done around Przemysl, an important town of Galicia. The town of Turka, in Galicia, has been partially destroyed and 20 persons there have been drowned. The floods have cut off all railroad communication.

Denver's Unemployed.

DENVER, Aug. 15.—The great disparity between the number of men out of employment and the amount of work to be had was strikingly illustrated yesterday when 2,000 unemployed men gathered at the place where work on the new sewers was to begin. There was work for only 40 men. A crowd of about 500 Italian laborers gathered near the spot, but were not allowed to approach by the crowd, which exhibited considerable feeling, but was quiet and orderly. Only three Italians were given work, and they were known to be old residents of the city. The projected public improvements cannot possibly supply work for all the unemployed.

A Score of Mills Re-open.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Aug. 15.—The score of cotton mills owned and operated by B. B. & R. K. Knight, of this city, and located in Rhode Island and Massachusetts, started up yesterday after having been stopped a week. The firm is one of the largest, if not the largest, in the country engaged in the manufacture of cotton goods. They employ between 7,000 and 9,000 operatives.

Fasting and Prayer.

DENVER, Aug. 15.—At a union meeting of the pastors of Denver yesterday a memorial was adopted to be sent to President Cleveland asking him to appoint a day of fasting and prayer when the people of the nation can meet together in their houses of worship and ask the Almighty to lighten the burdens which are now oppressing the people of this land.

YELLOW FEVER.

Why it is Shown by Investigation of the Cases at Pensacola.

PENSACOLA, Fla., Aug. 15.—The State Health Officer of Florida announces that an investigation in the case of death of the Rev. F. C. Waite and Ellen Wood, who were reported to have died of yellow fever in the city of Pensacola on the 9th of August, has been thoroughly and impartially made, in which no has been assisted by Surgeons W. H. Carter and G. M. Sternberg, of the United States Marine Hospital Service. There is nothing in the clinical history or autopsy of the Rev. Mr. Waite to justify a diagnosis of yellow fever. On the contrary he seems to have died from acute enteritis with marked abdominal symptoms. In the case of the child, Ellen Wood, the opinion is given that while the record of the case clinically and from the autopsy does not give a clear history of yellow fever, yet it contains sufficient evidence to justify the statement that the case was suspicious and demands precautionary surveillance and disinfection of the dwelling and its contents together with the premises, and at this present time there have been no other cases of yellow fever nor suspicious cases reported. A house-to-house inspection which has been made within the last three days and is now completed, discovers no sickness of any suspicious nature among Argentine the residents of the city.

The National Bank Notes received yesterday for redemption amounted to $787,725.

Must Italian Depositors be Paid?

PUEBLO, Col., Aug. 15.—A new complication is about to force itself upon some, or perhaps, all, the closed national banks here. There are about 300 Italians and other foreign laborers who are among the depositors. These people are leaving for their native land as fast as they can settle their business affairs. A large number who are anxious to go have been waiting for the closed banks to reopen, so they can get their money. It was learned that they have communicated with the Italian Minister at Washington, through their counsel at St. Louis, on the subject, and they have been advised that there are treaty and commercial relations existing between the two governments that will compel the banks to pay these foreign depositors as soon as the matter can be brought before the proper authorities and not unnecessarily detain them in this country against their will and to the detriment of their business interests.

The Ring.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—If Steve O'Donnell, the Australian, succeeds in defeating Jack Cattanach, the Providence heavyweight, in their bout at Coney Island Friday night, it is very likely that he will be matched to fight Joe Choynski, the Californian who once gave Champion Corbett the battle of his life.

CHOLERA DISAPPEARING

The Outlook Encouraging at New York.

THE INFECTED SHIP RELEASED.

Precautions Against the Introduction of Disease From Italy—Importation of Lemons Prohibited—The Plague in Russia.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—The steamer Karamania, of the Anchor Line, whose passengers are now isolated on the island in the lower bay, has just been released from Quarantine, there being no signs of sickness among her crew and the ship having been thoroughly disinfected. She steamed up the bay at 9 o'clock, and proceeded to her dock in Brooklyn.

The following is the latest bulletin regarding the cholera situation:

QUARANTINE, S. I., Aug. 14.—Bulletin 9 p. m. There are no cases or deaths to report. All the patients are improving.

The outlook is more encouraging that at any time since the Karamania arrived and everything is under perfect control.

W. T. JENKINS, Health Officer.

Cholera in Italy.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—Dr. Wyman, Surgeon-General of the Marine Hospital Service, cabled Surgeon Young at Naples as follows:

"Wire whether Italian emigration is stopped. If not, wire recent and expected departures from all ports with details."

Surgeon Young replied:

"Companies have suspended for the present. "Weser" sails Sept. 15, Werra from Genoa Aug. 26, Fulda Sept. 3. Palermo—nothing. Some fruiters from near by expected to sail shortly. As near as I can ascertain condition is improving."

The reference to the sailing of fruit vessels caused Dr. Wyman to cable Surgeon Young that the importation of lemons would be prohibited here.

Cholera in Russia.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 15.—The intensity of the heat has caused a sudden increase of the cholera epidemic in the infested Russian cities. In Moscow there were 47 fresh cases and 16 deaths yesterday. The official returns, although understating the mortality from the cholera, show that the epidemic is much severer than in 1892.

A Crowded Cruiser.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—The San Francisco now anchored in the Hudson at 42d street, will take up her cables to-day and stand out for sea. She will have on board 172 officers and men of the Navel Reserves of Philadelphia and Rochester. There will be so many seamen and marines on the San Francisco that the captain of the cruiser will have to get rid of part of his regular crew to make room for the men from Philadelphia and Rochester. The San Francisco will steam out to Sandy Hook to day. The cruise will last for four days. The men will be drilled in the use of guns, great and small. They will have a chance to practice floating casks with rifle balls and to repel boarders with cutlasses. The ship will be in the Delaware river on Tuesday. She will be inspected by the Governor of Pennsylvania and other officials.

Financial Ideas.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—"We are now tabulating the propositions made from all parts of the country as to the solution of the financial difficulty," said Senator R. F. Pettigrew of South Dakota at the Fifth Avenue Hotel.

"The number is large. They come to all the senators at the rate of about 120 each mail. All classes and conditions of men send them. They embrace about all the possibilities.

"The friends of free coinage in the Senate are able to hold their ground against those who favor unqualified repeal of the Sherman act, and they will hold it until some compromise is agreed to."

Canadian Tariff Reform.

MONTREAL, Aug. 15.—A Liberal meeting attended by 8,000 people was held here yesterday and was addressed by leading Liberals, including the party's leader, Wilfred Laurier, who outlined the policy of the party. He announced the protective policy of the Conservative party and declared strongly in favor of tariff reform and freedom of trade with the United States.

For a New Postoffice in Chicago.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—Senator Palmer, (Dem., Ill.), introduced in the Senate a bill to provide for the erection of a government building at Chicago. It directs the erection of a commodious and sufficiently fire-proof building upon the present postoffice site, to be finished and ready for occupancy within eighteen months after the approval of the contract.

An Old Strike Off.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 15.—The strikers of the Union Iron mills of Carnegie, who quit work a year ago last July to aid the Homesteaders, met last night and declared the strike off. The mills have been in operation ever since and not more than 50 men attended the meeting, the others having left the city or accepted non-union places.

Portland Savings Bank.

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 15.—D. P. Thompson, the receiver of the suspended Portland Savings Bank, filed his inventory in the Circuit Court yesterday. This inventory shows total assets, $3,014,000; liabilities, $2,474,000. The receiver states that if the bank is not crowded by creditors it will pay in full in a short time.

The Yacht Race.

COTTAGE CITY, Mass., Aug. 15.—The Vigilant won the run from Newport yesterday. She crossed the line at 4 o'clock, beating the Jubilee and the Colonia two minutes. Among the schooners the Lasca and the Constellation won.

Dr. Graves' Case.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Aug. 15.—County Attorney Stevens and County Commissioner Twombly, of Denver, Col., who have been interviewing the Eastern witnesses in the Graves case, left last night. Mr. Stevens said that there would be a second trial.

Wisconsin Forest Fires.

CHIPPEWA FALLS, Wis., Aug. 15.—The forest fires which were supposed to have been quenched by the recent rains have broken out again and the country north and west of here is threatened with destruction.

Fire at Steubenville, O.

STEUBENVILLE, O., Aug. 14.—This city was visited by the worst fire in its history yesterday, which caused a loss of $200,000. Over half a block of the business center was burned.

WHAT AILS THE BABIES?

HEAT ONLY ONE CAUSE OF THE GREAT MORTALITY.

Use a Life-Saving Food for Infants During Summer Days—Keep Them Healthy by Giving the Purest and Simplest Diet.

Summer lessens a baby's appetite, hinders digestion, and exhausts nervous strength.

Under these debilitating conditions the child's life depends upon securing the purest, most sustaining, and most readily digested food.

Lactated food, which has undoubtedly saved the lives of thousands of babies and kept them well during the hot days of summer, is the best possible diet. Its basis is sugar of milk, and with it is combined pure barley malt, the finest wheat gluten and the nutritious elements of the meat, and then, by thoroughly cooking the mixture by high steam heat, such changes are effected as are sufficient to make the food a new substance, which fulfils every physiological and chemical requirement. No sugar is used but the pure sugar of milk, and this is in proportion to most closely represent mother's milk; it is absolutely pure.

"It is the food upon which hundreds of happy mothers have nourished their little ones; says Mrs. H. E. Chapman of Newton Centre, Mass., whose baby is shown above, in a letter to the makers of this food:

"I wish to tell you about our baby; we tried a food at first that baby did not like, as he always left half in his bottle; finally he was taken very sick and the doctor advised us to use lactated food, which we did at once, and from that time until now he has cried for it every two hours, and although we always give him one and one half cupfuls, he has never left any in his bottle; he is now one year old, and has grown to be such a fat, healthy boy."

Every mother should try lactated food. Any druggist will sell for 25c. a package large enough to make 10 pints of nourishing food, and in large packages it is even less expensive.

NEW POSTMASTERS.

Another List Containing Seventy-nine Names Announced.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—The total number of fourth-class postmasters appointed yesterday was 79, of which 29 were to fill vacancies caused by resignations and death. Among the appointments were the following:

New Hampshire—Campton Village, J. R. Foss; Centre Harbor, John Coe; Deerfield Centre, J. C. Rand; East Tilton, Asa E. Gile; Francetown, P. L. Clark; Fremont, W. H. Gibson; Grafton Centre, Gertrude Hoyt; Lyman, F. A. Fuller.

New York — Churubusco, R. P. Joy; Dresden, C. D. Brundage; Guilderland Centre, William A. Young; Potters Hollow, John Mulberry; Schuylers Falls, B. B. Everest.

Pennsylvania — Aquashicola, W. H. Ziengenfus; Brockwayville, R. A. McElhaney; Freemansburgh, W. B. Fritchman; Hopewell Cotton Works, L. E. Cooper; Jollytown, Jefferson Dye; Mount Bethel, George Raesly; Portland, Ogden Harris; Scalp Level, George Conrad; Waltersburgh, A. C. Brown; Wind Ridge, W. R. Jennings.

Vermont — Marshfield, G. Davis; Walden, C. T. Patch.

Presidential Nominations.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—The President has sent to the Senate, among others, the following nominations:

Edward C. Butler, of Massachusetts, to be secretary of legation to Mexico.

Otto H. Boyeson, of North Dakota, U. S. Consul at Gothenburg, Sweden.

Bradley B. Smalley, collector of customs for the district of Vermont.

Geo. W. Skinner, pension agent at Pittsburg, Pa.

A Daring Robbery.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 15.—Yesterday a daring thief stole a bag containing $5,000 in gold which was lying at the window of the receiving teller of the First National bank. The bag had been sent over to the Clearing House, by the Merchants' National and was lying just inside the receiving teller's window. An unknown man stepped up to the window, seized the bag, made off with it, and escaped before any sort of pursuit could be organized. As yet there is no trace of the robber.

Still Further Reduction.

READING, Pa., Aug. 15.—The shop hands of the Reading company in this city have received notice that on and after to-day they will work nine hours instead of ten hours a day. They were put on five days a week two weeks ago. The latest order reduces the time to four and a-half days a week. Track hands and work train men will also be reduced to nine hours. The order, it is understood, affects the entire system.

Foundered In a Gale.

LONDON, Aug. 15.—The British bark Girvan, Capt. Angus, which sailed from Newcastle, N. S. W., June 5, for San Francisco, foundered during a gale off Howe Isle. Her crew, with the exception of the carpenter, who was drowned, have arrived at Norfolk Island.

WEATHER INDICATIONS.

For New Jersey To-Morrow: Fair; Slightly Warmer; Westerly Winds.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—A two-foot adder was killed in the yard of Jule Stephany, 108 Summit avenue, Sunday.

—Patrick Egan did n't show up for the bicycle race against James Martin yesterday afternoon.

—The Saengerbund members will give their children an ice-cream picnic, Sunday, on the mountain.

—The Lyceum bicycle race, Saturday, begins at 2 p. m., sharp. There are about twenty-five entries.

—A first-class meat market, with prices the lowest in town, will be opened by Frank Koch at 134 North avenue, Thursday.

—A carriage party from upper New York State stopped in Plainfield last night. They were on the return trip from Ocean Grove.

—The Christian Endeavor society of the First Presbyterian church will attend the meeting at the Park Avenue Baptist church Friday evening.

—The Westfield Town Committee meeting will be held this evening, when the ordinances proposed at the last meeting will come to a second reading.

—The Arlington base-ball team will play two games in Metuchen this week. The Arlingtons defeated the Black Diamonds on the Crescent grounds yesterday, 18 to 10.

—The rumor is false that on account of the number of machinists being out of work the Mutual Beneficial Association has decided to abandon its excursion of August 26.

—The fishing schooner, who left late Saturday night for a Sunday's sport at Princess Bay, returned Monday morning with thirty weakfish, two porgies, and one flounder.

—It is reported that an elderly lady living near South Plainfield had one of her legs broken near the ankle yesterday afternoon, by a young girl about 15 years old, who was riding a bicycle.

—Frederick Foster had a narrow escape from being run over on Somerset street yesterday. He was riding a high wheel when he took a header just in front of a team of horses coming the opposite way. Frederick managed to crawl one side just as the wagon missed his foot. The wheel on which he was riding was laid up for repairs.

BASE-BALL BABBLE.

The Crescents will go to Middletown, to-morrow, and once more battle with the team at that place.

On Saturday the team will go to Orange to play the crack nine of the Orange Athletic club. A good contest is sure to result.

Manager Keller has been induced to play his team in this city on Labor Day. The Cuban Giants will be one of the contesting teams.

The Crescents are drawing large crowds wherever they go, and the local people have themselves to blame that Plainfield has no games at home.

At Asbury Park, John McLaughlin will take McIndoe's place in the field, as the latter cannot get away from business for more than one day during the middle of the week.

Turner was in town yesterday to see Manager Keller. He has received another letter from the manager of the Philadelphia League team, but has decided to stay with the Crescents for the balance of the season.

The ball game between the Crescents and Asbury Parks, Thursday, will not be called until 4 p. m., giving all a chance to see the parade of the Jr. O. U. A. M. There will be ample time also after the game to have a good time, as the train does not leave until 9.

Already Won the Highest Esteem.

The Sabbath Recorder says of the new pastor of the New Market church:

The New Market Seventh-Day Baptist parsonage is once more occupied. Pastor Peterson and family are fairly established. Miss Palmberger, sister of Miss Rose Palmberger, who is preparing herself for the China Medical Mission, is with them. Mr. Peterson has come into the field with plenty of courage and enthusiasm and he and his good wife have already won the highest esteem of the people.

After Many Days.

Andrew Heffren was in a fight on Somerset street last March, and ever since then Marshal Pangborn has been carrying a warrant for his arrest. Last night Heffren ventured over the brook to attend the Arlington Hotel opening, and the marshal promptly nabbed him. Magistrate Crosley imposed a fine of $5.

THEY'LL ELECT A COUNCILMAN.

BUT 'TWILL BE A COMPROMISE ON BOTH SIDES.

The Seventh Man Will Be a Mugwump, and He'll Be Chosen Friday Night—No One to Be Turned Out of Office.

Promise is now made that the North Plainfield agony will be ended Friday night. The councilman to be chosen will not be a Democrat, neither will he be a Republican. The man decided on is a Mugwump, whom both parties feel they can trust with the balance of power.

The Republicans have made the concession that they will not try to elect Mr. Fountain, nor any other rabid Republican, provided the Democrats will agree not to block the wheels of public business and will consent to the compromise man whom they have named.

The Republicans also concede that they will make no effort to oust from office the present borough officers whose appointment is vested in the Borough Council. Councilman Edwards for one refused pointblank to consent to such a scheme, and said he would not vote to turn anyone out simply because his appointment had been Democratic.

So unless the present agreement falls through before Friday night the differences of the councilmen are to be harmoniously settled at this week's meeting.

The report that has been current that under the law no business could be transacted by the Council until the vacancy was filled, is idle talk. If that were true, election would have been compulsory immediately after acceptance of Councilman Connolly's resignation.

THE ARLINGTON OPENED.

North Plainfield Borough Has Another Great Night, at Landlord Windham's Expense.

Henry Windham has been showered with congratulations on the successful opening of his Arlington Hotel, last evening. The hotel was freely thrown open, and it is estimated that fully a thousand people partook of the genial host's hospitality. The house and grounds were brilliantly illuminated with colored lights, and supper was served at tables on the lawn. Mayor Saunders and several of the Councilmen occupied one table, and another was provided for reporters. The main table, seating 300, was filled three times. Good things to eat and drink were liberally provided. Excellent music was furnished by the City Band, and by the City Quartette, composed of Messrs. Martin, Roberts, Sutton and Spencer. Mr. Roberts also favored the gathering with piano solos.

Mr. Windham won many new friends by his bounteous hospitality, and cemented more firmly the good-will of a host of old friends.

TWO RAILROAD ACCIDENTS.

Octogenarian Johnstone Walked from a Flying Train, and It's a Mercy He Wasn't Killed.

John Johnstone, age 86, walked from a fast train platform as it was passing through Plainfield last night. He got confused while trying to pass from one car to another. He was picked up and found to be comparatively uninjured. His back was very lame, and his scalp was torn; but Dr. Fritts, who attended him, says he will recover. He is doing as well as can be expected at Muhlenberg Hospital.

Johnstone's son William was accompanying him from central Wisconsin to their old home in England. William is boarding at Mrs. Neighbour's pending the old man's recovery from his injuries.

George Long, brakeman, had an ankle sprained by a slip from his train last night. Dr. Fritts attended him.

WHAT WHEELMEN ARE DOING.

Westfield Planning to Patronize and Encourage Home Racers—Other News.

The seventh race meet of the Union County Roadsters will take place September 4, over the Rahway course.

Carl VonLengerke has resigned the office of chairman of the Racing Board of the Associated Cycling Clubs of New Jersey.

A project is on foot to have Westfield bicycle flyers ride under the auspices of a home club. Mr. Willis, who is undoubtedly the fastest rider in Westfield, rides for the Elizabeth Wheelmen; and Barnett, who is second to him, rides under Rahway colors. There are two strong clubs in Westfield, and it would seem as though the best riders of the town should be in one or the other of them.

The Associated Cycling Clubs of New Jersey held their annual election of officers, at Newark, Saturday night, when the following officers were elected: President, J. S. Holmes, Atalanta Wheelmen; Vice-President, Theodore Merseles, Hudson County Wheelmen; Secretary, L. B. Bennett, Elizabeth Wheelmen; Treasurer, L. H. Clark, Union County Roadsters. The road race of the Association will be held over the Elizabeth-Cranford course September 9. President Holmes will give the Association a watermelon party at his residence in East Orange August 26.

Washed Out at Last.

The Board of Health gave orders to Chief Engineer Doane this morning to have the sewer at Front street and Park avenue flushed out. The Chief had it done, thereby removing the terrible stench that has been so offensive of late. 1,000 gallons a minute were poured in from a hydrant, for 30 minutes.

Success to Him!

Will Buckley, formerly a clerk in Howell's grocery on North avenue, has joined a partner and opened a grocery store in Scotch Plains, under the name of Buckley & Whitenack.

BERING SEA DECISION.

AGAINST THE UNITED STATES ON THE FIVE LEADING POINTS.

Sealing Regulations Established—A Closed Season and a Protected Zone.

PARIS, August 15.—The decision of the Bering Sea Tribunal of Arbitration was handed down at 11:00 o'clock this morning. The five points of Article 6 are decided against the United States.

A close season is established to begin May 1 and to continue until July 21. This season shall be observed both in the North Pacific Ocean and in Bering Sea.

A protected zone is established extending for sixty miles around the islands.

Pelagic sealing is allowed outside the zone in Bering Sea from August 1.

The use of fire-arms in sealing is prohibited.

Baron de Courcel, President of the Tribunal, after the decision was rendered, thanked the arbitrators for the close and intelligent attention they had brought to bear upon the case. Lord Hannen and Senator Morgan, in reply, acknowledged his courtesy and hospitality.

The American Arbitrators have expressed their satisfaction with the text of the decision, and say that the regulations decided on by the tribunal mean practically the end of the pelagic sealing, and that they are better terms than have been heretofore offered to the United States by Great Britain as a settlement of the questions involved.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Mrs. M. J. Coyne is expected home from her outing, Saturday.

Martin Naylor, of North avenue, is home from a Trenton visit.

A. W. Duxbury of East Ninth street is home from Plymouth, Mass.

Miss Butler, of Sandford avenue, sailed to-day by White Star Line for Europe.

Dr. F. C. Ard, of Watchung avenue and Fifth street, is home from his vacation.

Mrs. John J. Kenney is enjoying the hospitality of friends in Elizabeth for ten days.

The Misses Annie and Mollie Perkins are visiting Miss Fanny Rafferty, of Park avenue.

Miss Margaret Schuck, saleswoman in Lederer's, started yesterday on a two weeks vacation trip.

The Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis preached at Bound Brook Sunday and large congregations greeted him.

Miss Lottie Messerschmidt, of Washington street, is visiting Miss Mabel Force, at Bound Brook.

Miss Pansy Herring, of East Front street, left town yesterday to spend the balance of the summer at Bay Shore, L. I.

Miss Kitty Daly, the popular and competent head milliner of White's establishment, returned home yesterday from her vacation at Highland Beach.

Will Cadmus and Warrie Squiers landed five good-sized bass at Tier's Lake yesterday afternoon. They are after them again this afternoon.

The Press composing room is once more graced by the efficient foreman, William M. Buckman, who has been doing some tall fishing up in the Pennsylvania mountains.

Miss Wolfe, of New Haven, who for the past week has been a guest at the home of Mr. Goldman, Madison avenue, starts to-day for Asbury Park, where she will spend two weeks.

John Morton has proved himself the right man in the right place, as superintendent of the Plainfield Ice and Cold Storage Company. He is an energetic, faithful worker, and under his direction the wants of all patrons are promptly and courteously attended to. He has systematized the routes of the numerous wagons so that the delivery of ice is accomplished in a manner most perfect, and it's the best ice in the world.

The Plainfield agents of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, with their wives, gave Agent Ira F. Biker a birthday surprise Saturday, and presented him, through Superintendent Norbury, with a fine gold fountain pen and patent filler. Mr. Norbury made a neat presentation speech. Mr. Biker was greatly surprised. He had thought it strange that his wife kept him freezing so much ice-cream Saturday afternoon, but supposed she was expecting people to Sunday dinner. The surprise callers ate the cream and other good things, and greatly enjoyed them.

THE SERVANT SKIPPED.

And Watch, Jewelry and Other Valuables Are Missing.

The Misses Kline, who live at the corner of Fifth and Liberty streets, went to church last Sunday morning, leaving the house in charge of a servant, a colored woman. When they returned they found things in general disorder, some jewelry, a watch, and other things gone, and the servant also missing.

Chief Grant was sent for, but has been unable to do anything towards finding the guilty one.

Proof of Merit.

The proof of the merits of a plaster is the cures it effects, and the voluntary testimonials of those who have used ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS during the past thirty years is unimpeachable evidence of their superiority and should convince the most skeptical. Self praise is no recommendation, but certificates from those who have used them are. Beware of imitations and do not be deceived by misrepresentation. Ask for ALLCOCK'S, and let no solicitation or explanation induce you to accept a substitute.

SUN-LIGHT and FRESH AIR are THE BEST DISINFECTANTS, of course; but you can't apply them in every situation. What next? Well, that depends. For damp cellars use Quicklime, plenty of it. For vaults and cesspools use COPPERAS; cheap stuff; we sell it by the pound or hundred-weight—instructions thrown in. For kitchen sinks, for water-closets, for house plumbing, for the sick room, to deodorize discharges, to purify the air and to prevent contagion, use REYNOLDS'S ODORLESS DISINFECTANT. Here All May Revel in Deerhurst's Delights.

Dr. Coles of Scotch Plains has presented to the Plainfield Free Public Library a copy of the volume entitled "Abraham Coles: Biographical Sketch, Memorial Tributes, Selection from His Works, (some hitherto unpublished). Edited by his son, Jonathan Ackerman Coles, A. M., M. D."

Of the subject of this volume, The Critic says:

There was no more scholarly man in New Jersey than Dr. Abraham Coles, who was best known by his translations of "Dies Irae". The name of his place, "Deerhurst", was given to it because of its deer park, in which the owner kept a fine herd of those beautiful animals. Dr. Coles's library or study at Deerhurst was an ideal room, not only on account of the scholar's library it contained, but because of its architectural attractions, the plentiful light coming from the top, its inviting fireplace, and its easy chairs.

The volume contains, besides many other views, both interior and exterior, of his beautiful home at Deerhurst, a fine view of the scholar's library. The frontispiece is an excellent steel engraving of Dr. Coles himself, whose face is doubtless a familiar one to many in this locality.

—North avenue tenants were annoyed early this morning by a row between two intoxicated men, who escaped arrest.

DOWN WENT M'GINTY.

Other Climax Shooters Did Nobly, But His Assumed Name Handicapped Him.

The members of the Climax Gun Club turned out in excellent numbers yesterday to participate in their regular monthly shoot. The day, in its weather, was perfect, and some remarkably good shooting was done.

In addition to the regular club event, several sweepstakes men shot with varied results. The individual scores were as follows:

Event No. 1.—10 single blue-rocks, 5 traps, all unknown angles—Brantingham, 9, Craft, 9, Smith, 8, Trust, 8, Apgar, 7, Keller, 7, Manning, 7, Scott Terry, 6, Voehl, 6, D. Terry, 5.

Event No. 2.—Same conditions—Smith, 10, D. Terry, 9, Craft, 8, S. Terry, 8, Apgar, 7, Keller, 6, Voehl, 6, D. Darby, 5, Trust, 5, "McGinty", 2.

Event No. 3.—15 targets—Apgar and Trust, 15, Keller, Smith and D. Terry, 14 each, Brantingham, 13, W. Terry, 12, Manning, Craft and Trust, 11, Voehl, 9, Goodman, 6.

Event No. 4.—10 targets—Trust and D. Terry, 9, Keller, Craft, S. Terry, Smith and J. Darby, 8 each, W. Terry, 7, Apgar, 5, Voehl and "McGinty", 4 each.

The regular club event at 25 targets brought 14 members to the score, the extra birds given the weaker shots as a handicap making the event of interest to all. George Voehl captured the first place with a score of 29 out of a possible 33, having an 8-bird handicap. W. Terry was second with 26 out of 32. A. Trust shot 25 out of a possible 30, J. Goodman 22 out of 35, R. Manning 21 out of 29 shot at, "McGinty" 21 out of a possible 32. D. Darby scored 20 of his 30 shot at, S. Terry 18 out of 32 and J. Darby 16 out of a possible 35. Of the scratch men T. Brantingham was high man with 24. N. Apgar and C. Smith, shot 21, T. Keller 20, and D. Terry 16.

The club is growing rapidly, and has among its members some of the crack marksmen of the State.

THE WATER MONOPOLY.

Won't Grant Sprinkling Unless the Full House Service Is Taken.

At a recent meeting of the Plainfield Water Supply Company it was decided not to permit anyone to use water for street or lawn sprinkling unless they put in the whole system for house service. This news will cause a good deal of dissatisfaction.

Delightful Comedy at the Lyceum.

E. H. Sothern received a royal welcome back to the Lyceum Theatre, New York, the other night, when he revived "Capt. Letterblair", Miss Merrington's comedy, for a three weeks run. All the favorites were made to feel at home, and the newcomers in the cast were received cordially. Miss Grace Kimball, who replaced Miss Harned as the heroine, "Fannie Haddon", won immediate favor. She has beauty and a voice of remarkable sweetness. Moreover, she can act. In the last act, in the scene at the sun dial, Miss Kimball was extremely good, and she managed the famous door scene most artistically.

Miss Kimball seemed somewhat hampered at first by the knowledge that she was filling a role which an actress of wide experience had made peculiarly her own. Miss Kimball need feel nervous no longer. She proved that she was entirely equal to the part.

Rowland Buckstone, as "Jorkins", that most disorderly of orderlies; C. P. Flockton's "Dean Ambrose", Mrs. Selton's "Aunt Hyacinth", Tully Marshall's "Smithers", "shoved, kicked, pushed and otherwise personally injured", have lost none of their charm. Morton Selton's performance of "Merivale", the villain, has improved, and Charles Harbury still makes a delightfully impressive family lawyer.

August 28, "Capt. Letterblair" will be retired on half pay to make way for "Sheridan; or, the Fair Maid of Bath".

Injustice of Plainfield's Social System.

The New York World grows sarcastic over a Plainfield police court case:

There is a cruel and heartless woman in Plainfield. She is Mrs. John Ammerman, and continuously refuses to share her wages with her husband. John lives down in Hunterdon County, at White House, and is said to be laboriously engaged each day in seeking opportunities for what is popularly known as "bending the elbow". Mrs. Ammerman heartlessly deserted him some time ago, and secured employment in Mrs. Apgar's store, in Plainfield. John has lately been in the habit of visiting Plainfield and demanding a share of the wages which his wife earns. Mrs. Ammerman could n't see the logic of his demands, and refused to contribute to his support. Feeling hurt and indignant, John proceeded to drown his emotions in drink. Then Mrs. Ammerman had him arrested, and he is now engaged in contemplating the injustice of a social system which does not force the wife to support the husband.

A Warning to Others.

The New York World says:

John Collins, of Berwick, Me., on August 12 went to his barn to milk. On entering the barn, he hung his coat, containing $1,700 in currency and five bank books, up in a closet. While at work, a tramp slipped in and stole the coat, money and all. Mr. Collins had drawn the money, fearing the bank would fail.

Now the safest thing to do is not to risk carrying your money around, but invest it in some of those fine lots that are to be sold at auction Saturday, August 19, at Netherwood.

FANWOOD'S NEWSY BUDGET.

HERE'S A COLUMN OF LIVE SUBURBAN GOSSIP.

Electric Light Extension Stopped by a Wealthy Resident—Tidings of the Tennis Champions—Charming Women Who Come and Go—Another Washington Headquarters.

FANWOOD, August 15.

Many are asking Why does Fanwood still have a Republican postmaster?

Judge Moore is doing good work in his official capacity in ridding the town of tramps.

Mrs. William E. Gibbs and her charming daughter Margaret are spending a few weeks at Uxbridge, Mass.

The trained kitten owned by F. W. Quereau's son is causing much interest, and now the rage will be kitten-training.

Messrs. Baylor and Spring have taken up the practice of "medicine ball", and their friends think they are training for the coming bowling season.

Mrs. Frank Dale Warren is much missed at the Watchung Club Saturday afternoons. She is making a short visit in the mountains of Pennsylvania.

Frank Dale Warren has developed into a born detective, having traced and captured his stolen umbrella without shedding any blood or arresting his victim.

Mrs. Maresa Schlesinger, mother of Mrs. George C. Miller, is spending a week at Fanwood. While New Rochelle misses one of its brightest lights, Fanwood is a gainer.

L. J. Briggs, Jr., is going to give a peach party soon. The first basket of this fruit arrived last Saturday, and was escorted by a carriage and three gentlemen to Mr. Briggs's residence.

The Scotch Plains fire alarm, Sunday afternoon, got the full fire department out in great shape. Foreman Stevens as usual was at the fire within five minutes after it broke out. He's a hustler.

William E. Gibbs, Fanwood's electrical engineer, who has written many valued books on astronomical and mining engineering topics, is now engaged in writing short stories of fiction. His friends will look forward with interest to their publication.

Governor Urner is to be congratulated on his magnificent residence, the improvements of which are about completed. It is one of the historical old residences of the county, and boasts of once having had as its guest George Washington. The original house was built in 1774.

At the fortnightly reception of the Watchung Club, last Thursday evening, many new faces were noticed. Among the most attractive were Miss Donaldson, a bewitching brunette from New York, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Lightowler, and Miss Keeler of Brooklyn, a charming niece of Walter S. Force.

Will C. Cameron, who was recently mentioned as "the well-known band singer", is stopping at The Homestead. It is too bad the compositor's error should poke fun at so nice a chap as Brooklyn's celebrated basso soloist. His name alone is a herald to the world of celebrated musical talents.

Next Saturday, August 19, there is to be a very interesting tennis game at the Homestead courts. Messrs. Cameron and Miller will be pitted against Miss Ten Broeck and Mr. Stevens. This game is looked forward to with much interest by the Homestead people, as it will settle the standing of the doubles.

As has previously been recorded in these columns, at the meeting of the Township Committee last Friday evening it was decided not to assess for water appropriation on account of the Water Company's refusing to carry out their agreement. To many Fanwooders it seems as though this water monopoly is carrying on matters in a high-handed manner.

John P. Stevens, the champion tennis player of Fanwood, who has been spending his early morning hours practicing on the Homestead courts, was unsuccessful in his play at the Crescent Athletic Club last Friday evening. While Mr. Stevens is a very strong player and under ordinary circumstances should have won, it was observed that he has overtrained himself. A little rest will put him in the field again for tennis honors.

The extension of electric lights from Fanwood to Scotch Plains is again stopped, by the interference of an influential property-owner, who does n't want to see any improvements made. He has caused (through his agent) the poles in front of his property to be taken down. Where is there any justice in the law which permits one man to retard the progressive spirit of every other inhabitant, just because he is the largest property-owner in the district?

QUALITY HILL.

Still One Deacon Short.

There is still a vacancy of one deacon in the New Market Seventh-Day Baptist church. Prof. A. A. Titsworth, of New Brunswick, was elected at the same time as Charles E. Rogers. Prof. Titsworth, however, declined to accept the office on account of living so far away from the church that he could not perform its duties. No other deacon has yet been chosen in his place.

Westfield, Too, Wants Sewers.

A correspondent of The Evening News of Newark says that the time is rapidly approaching when the question of sewerage for Westfield will have to be disposed of. The town officials are watching the workings of the Summit system. To convey sewage matter to tidewater from Westfield is practically out of the question, as in Plainfield's case, on account of the expense.

Read and Reflect.

The great mass of mankind lose their health through inattention to catarrh of the head and throat. This insidious disease was considered incurable until the discovery of the American Catarrh Cure. For sale by L. W. Randolph, 21 West Front street. Price $1.00.

WHAT WESTFIELD TALKS ABOUT.

Chatty Correspondence from the Thrifty Town of Ripleyville.

WESTFIELD, August 14.

The new Methodist parsonage on Union street is nearing completion. The Rev. Mr. Ruth and family will return from their vacation as soon as they can get possession of their new home. The ministers of the place are all nicely housed now. The Baptists and the Presbyterians have recently built new parsonages. The Rev. Cornelius Patton, pastor of the Congregational church, has a pretty home of his own on Berkeley Terrace.

At the last township election an appropriation was voted for electric street lights for the village. The amount, if I mistake not, was $1,000. The Suburban Electric Company, of Elizabeth, now have the poles and wires in position; and before many days the incandescent lamps will be in operation.

Some fine shade trees along the streets have, unfortunately, been destroyed to make room for the electric light poles. A particularly fine maple at the corner of Broad and Prospect streets is now lying low. The man with the axe, in answer to my reproach for his deadly work, said that the tree was not a healthy one and besides it would have been in the way of a coming pole. The latter part of his remark was true. It seems to me that it is hardly the most advantageous thing that we can do to trade shade trees for bare poles.

A Women's Exchange is to be opened by the trustees of the Public Library in their rooms on Broad street. The Exchange will be open Saturday afternoons. A consignor's yearly dues are two dollars; and a commission of ten per cent. is charged on sales made. The managers have an object in view in establishing the Exchange, which they have announced with commendable clearness. The Library has lately occupied new quarters on Broad street, which are neatly furnished and very inviting in appearance. Now the trustees wish to raise money to pay for their new quarters; hence the Women's Exchange. In this village, as elsewhere, are industrious women who are troubled to find a home for their goods. While nothing has yet been said about the interests of this class, it is reasonable to suppose that the Exchange will be made helpful to them. I believe that it will. The managers are most intelligent women.

The Public Library itself is a tangible proof, if one is needed, that its trustees are intelligent, go-ahead women. A few years ago the village had no Public Library. To-day it has one of considerable size, nicely housed and self-sustaining. As may be supposed it took some striving and planning to accomplish this. Libraries do not grow up over night, like mushrooms. There was hard work to be done. The women did it. They are doing it still.

While in the Pocono mountains of Pennsylvania this summer, I heard a snake story that will bear repetition. Its truth is vouched for by the heroine, now grown to a beautiful young lady, and by all the members of her family as well. When a little girl she at one time fell into the habit of disappearing after breakfast every morning with a bowl of bread and milk begged from the cook. The curiosity of the family was aroused; and the child was watched. The little girl on receiving the bowl of bread and milk ran at once down behind the spring house, and crouching in the grass held her bowl quite still and close to the ground. Presently a large blacksnake crawled lazily up and ate the contents. This scene had been repeated several days, the snake evidently being in wait for the child when she arrived with its breakfast. The reptile was killed, and its little charmer warned against forming acquaintances of so dangerous a character.

The English sparrow is a clever fellow, even though he is a foreigner, and eats grain instead of caterpillars. Nothing delights him these hot days so much as a thorough wetting. Yesterday I saw one alight on a lawn and stand composedly in the stream that fell from the gardener's hose. After receiving a thorough wetting he flew off. Presently he returned with three feathered companions; and all four took a shower bath, getting drenched and seeming thoroughly to enjoy it.

FROM THE STREET-CAR TERMINUS

Personal Mention of the Mountaineers, Wafted Over the Trolley Wire.

WASHINGTONVILLE, Aug. 15.

Daniel Acker is confined to his home by severe indisposition.

John R. Taylor, of New York, is on a visit to friends at Highland Farm.

Miss Louisa Simmonds is spending two weeks at Valley Cottage, on the Hudson.

Miss Rosie Bartell has returned home after a pleasant visit to her brother at Reading, Pa.

Mrs. Upson and Miss Elwood, of Brooklyn, are the guests of Mrs. Geo. Winans, of Somerset street.

Because of the dry weather remaining so long unbroken, vegetation is at a standstill. Corn and late vegetables especially suffer. Over in Passaic Valley the corn is all curled up, and only a half-crop is expected.

The seating capacity of the Mary E. Wilson Memorial chapel was again taxed to accommodate the congregation that came to hear J. C. Adams, Sunday night. Many came up on the cars, it being only a short and an agreeable walk from the terminus to the chapel.

About seventy-five members of the Saengerbund of Newark, with their wives and friends, came up to Union Village Saturday afternoon, and pitched camp along the Passaic river. They were accompanied by a band of music and a four-horse load of provisions, some of which were put up in kegs.

MR. NEEDHAM FREES HIS MIND.

HE WRITES A VERY EVEN-TEMPERED LETTER.

As He Recollects His Language to Mayor Saunders, It Differs from that Reported—His Path of Duty Clear on What Is to Be Done Next.

To The Plainfield Daily Press:

As Mayor Saunders's recollection of conversation with myself as given in your paper of last Saturday does not entirely accord with mine, opportunity to make a brief statement in your columns is respectfully asked.

The obstructions to borough business that would have resulted had there been a deadlock in the Council, supplied reason for carefully considering the Mayor's proposition, that if he resigned a Democrat should be chosen in his place.

Circumstances inclined me to favor such a course, but before fully reaching a decision, information was received that the resignation would not be offered. There was therefore no necessity to give (as I had intended to do) a definite answer to the above request, or to consider the subject further.

In regard to selecting a successor to the councilman who recently resigned, I am represented as saying that I would have given a pledge to vote for a Democrat to fill that vacancy, had I been asked to do so before the resignation was offered.

I am quite certain that my reply to the question whether I would not have given such a promise was not stronger than that possibly I might.

The question being purely a conjectural one, what might, would, could or should have been done in the supposed case, was of less importance than the consideration of what is the right thing to do now.

On this latter point the path of duty is for me quite clear.

Other matters referred to in the Mayor's defense, as the article is appropriately headlined, would perhaps be better noticed in Council meeting.

Respectfully,
H. E. NEEDHAM,
Borough Councilman.

DORÉ'S BRONZE VASE.

The Wonder and Admiration of All Visitors to the Fair.

When one speaks of a vase the reference is that a table ornament is meant. This vase, however, is 12 feet high, 7 feet in diameter and weighs nearly three tons, while its cash value in France is $20,000. If sold to remain in this country this will be increased by the amount of the duty.

Large as is the vase, its lines are of such grace that its size is never clearly apparent at a distance. The vase is to be seen in the French section in the Liberal Arts building. It has been given fine position, the location being just south of the display of Gobelin tapestries and Sevres wares, in the central court of the exhibit.

The vase has been named "The Poem of the Vine," its decorations being symbolical of its title. On a broad base rests the body of the vase, which is globular, receding with a gentle curve to the narrow neck [illegible] dreds of figures showing joyous beings surround the base, body and lips of the vase, while the vine twines in and out, its persistency being marked while not obtrusive. The illustration shows what is generally considered the front view. On either side the vine is wreathed to form a chaplet. At the left Bacchus, with each arm around a Cupid, holds aloft a cup. To the right Venus is teaching a Cupid the use of the bow and arrow. Elsewhere are to be seen satyrs and bacchantes.

But Cupids are everywhere. Baby faces peer from the vine leaves and frolic in the depths of the vase. A lizard causes consternation among some frolicsome youngsters. Others are playing with beetles, flies, bees and butterflies. A snake has attractions for some of the infants, while others content themselves with watching the efforts of their companions.

With all this wealth of detail the work is not overcrowded. At a distance the effect is of simplicity. It is only when close inspection is made that the wonderful imaginative powers of the artist are made apparent.

As with all others of his greater creations, Doré's style is indelibly stamped on this work. No other artist of his time could have achieved it.

The American Catarrh Cure

Is the result of twenty-six years' study and treatment of the disease. One bottle convinces the most skeptical. It is always ready for use, needing neither douche nor atomizer. It restores the hearing, cures the hawking cough and expectorating, removes the headache and nose bleeding, increases the appetite, produces sound sleep, invigorates the whole system and increases the vitality. Prepared only by W. F. Jones, M. D., No. 1336 South Eighth street, Philadelphia. For sale by L. W. Randolph, 21 West Front street. Price $1.

One of my children had a very bad discharge from her nose. Two physicians prescribed, but without benefit. We tried Ely's Cream Balm and much to our surprise, there was a marked improvement. We continued using the Balm and in a short time the discharge was cured.—O. A. Cary, Corning, N. Y.

NOTES FROM THE Columbian Exposition

NEW MEXICO day at the fair will be celebrated September 27.

SECRETARY CARLISLE has decided that exhibitors may sell goods at the fair for delivery at the close of the exposition.

WRITING of names on the walls of the state buildings has become a nuisance in many of the structures at Jackson park.

COLUMBIA college has sent eighteen students to make a practice study of the exhibits and appliances in Mining building.

THE South American republic of Uruguay dedicated its pavilion in Agricultural building with sacred rites and speeches.

BUFFALO, N. Y., is arranging for a Buffalo day at the world's fair, and Wednesday, August 23, has been agreed upon as the date for this celebration.

A HANDSOME bronze bearing a bas-relief reproduction of Mrs. Potter Palmer's head will be hung in the Woman's building. Mrs. Ellen Rankin Copp is the sculptress.

THE national commissioners will draw six dollars a day for the rest of the summer. The commissioners decided to adjourn as a commission but to keep the committees in session.

ONE German linguist, who is not strong on English idioms, marked certain boxes of exhibits, in big sprawling letters, "Open on High," in several places. He undoubtedly meant "open on top."

COMPLAINT has been made in the health department that the lemonade sold at certain places in the world's fair grounds is made of acid and is making people sick. An investigation is asked.

THE national commission has acquiesced in the action of the local directory in closing the gates Sunday and adopted resolutions appealing to the people, now that all discussion is ended, to visit the fair.

THE executive committee of the Michigan State Fair association, with which was left the question of holding a fair this fall, has announced that in view of the attractions of the Columbian exposition it will not attempt an exhibition at Lansing this year.

His Natural Character.

A celebrated actor who had been driven to his theater in a hansom paid only the legal fare. Cabby, looking gloomily at the money, said:

"Are you the gentleman wot plays Shylock, the Jew, at that 'ere theayter?"

"Yes, I am," was the reply.

"Ah, I thought so," retorted the cabby, "and you does it first-rate; it's quite natural to you."—London Tid-Bits.

New Name for Insomnia.

"Are you ever troubled with insomnia—sleeplessness?"

"I should say I am. Some nights I don't sleep three hours."

"That so? I've got it awfully bad. I've been afflicted now about two years. The doctor calls it neuris insomnis paralaxitis."

"I've had it about eighteen months, and we call it Ethel."—Chicago Sunday Post.

TABLE DECORATIONS.

Novel Ideas Carried Out at Home and Abroad.

A Luncheon Where All the Decorative Effect Was Produced by Filmy Paper —Table Ornamentations for a Dinner.

Have you ever thought of giving a luncheon where the decorations were solely of filmy paper? It's an excellent idea if carried out successfully.

Not many days ago six New York girls were guests at a country house up the Hudson. Just before coming back to town, the hostess gave in their honor what she called a paper-luncheon. Fortunately, it was more substantial than its name implied.

In the center of the polished mahogany table was a large, square mat of pale pink crinkled paper, with a border shading from white to green. Upon this rested the jardiniere, a deep green bowl of crepe paper, filled with ferns and sprigs of apple blossoms. The doily at each plate matched the one in the center. Single candlesticks were placed at the corners of the table, and the light shed a rosy glow around the pink shades, where apple blossoms seemed to be growing.

At each plate was a large paper spoon. The deep bowl was of pink rope paper. This was filled with bonbons. Twisted about the handle were miniature apple blossoms, and caught in among the leaves was the name card, printed in silver. The menus were placed in paper frames of pink, white or green, with a little spray of apple blossoms trailing over the top. They made the best of souvenirs, for the girls used them for photograph frames afterwards. When the chicken patties appeared they were also encased in paper, being served in a little parchment cup which rested in another cup of pink paper almost smothered in apple blossoms.

As for the ices, they could not have looked better. They came on the table in deep heart-shaped baskets made of pink and green rope paper, with tiny apple blossoms twisted about the handle; but of course they were put in glass before the paper baskets received them.

Another evidence of the paper decoration was a deep freize which surrounded the dining-room wall, with long vines of apple blossoms trailing over it. They were made of paper, the petals being hand-painted.

For a rather more formal luncheon the archway center piece is novel and effective. The arches are of green colored glass, overspreading vases which are filled with flowers.

When an elaborate dinner is being planned, the table decorations should be studied with great care. An idea for a center piece, which is borrowed from the Russians, is shown in the illustration. Over the glossy cloth of damask is laid a mirror mat. Then a number of Dresden china figures are placed here and there, and each one holds in its china hands a bowl or vase filled with ferns. Tiny, low jardinieres, overflowing with ferns, fill in all the open spaces till the whole mirror is converted into a fernery. Rising from the center of this mass of green is a Dresden china lamp, with a shade of some soft tint of silk.

For the everyday home dinner ferns may be used effectively as a center piece. If possible, have them growing. Plant a few fine ferns in a good-sized flower-pot, and then place it within a miniature kiosk, made of celluloid or gilded willow. This makes as well a pretty decoration to stand on the table in your piazza corner.—N. Y. World.

The Latest in Stationery.

Among the novelties in stationery are thin satin-finished cards, illustrated according to the character of the entertainment to which a guest is invited. The edges of these cards are gold beveled. The illustrations are often hand-done by the hostess, or according to her order, in colors. A table set with a service of china typifies a dinner or luncheon. Dancing nymphs and cupids mean a prospective ball. A Japanese damsel in her quaint robe serving the amber decoction denotes an afternoon tea. Diminutive kings, clubs, diamonds or jacks are emblematical of a card party. The insignia of a wedding is a ring in one corner over which a cupid hovers. Other designs are used, and the hostess may show considerable artistic skill and taste in original ideas by making her invitations chastely significant or amusing.

An Incongruous Mixture.

Among the newest gowns is seen the queer combination of Holland liner and black satin, a plain coat of Holland having deep revers and a lining throughout of the satin.

An Estrangement.

We were friends quite awhile,
But he borrowed a "V;"
I thought he lacked guile,
We were friends quite awhile,
Now he keeps a good mile
Between him and me,
We were friends quite awhile,
—Town Topics.

The Way They Tell.

Mrs. Trimfoot—These shoes don't fit me at all.

Mr. Trimfoot—Why, they look all right.

Mrs. Trimfoot—Well, they don't fit, anyway. I've had them on over an hour and they haven't hurt in the least.—Puck.

THE SENATORIAL SNAG

A Tie on Silver in the Finance Committee.

LITTLE PROSPECT OF EARLY ACTION

Another Day of Debate in Congress and Gossip Outside—A Proposition to Have the Government Guarantee National Bank Depositors.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—The Committee on Finance of the Senate held a meeting yesterday at which for an hour and a half the silver question in its various phases was discussed. The only result of the meeting was that foreshadowed, authorizing Mr. Voorhees to favorably report the bill increasing the circulating notes of National banks to the par value of the bonds deposited. In the committee room there was some very persistent opposition to the reporting of this measure by Messrs. Vance, Jones of Arkansas, and Harris of Tennessee. The discussion only tended to show that the Finance Committee was far removed from common ground on the question of general legislation on the financial situation and the repeal of the purchasing clause of the Sherman law in particular. It was decided that with the long time between the meetings of the committee the members could never come to an understanding, and it was agreed that the committee should therefore, beginning with to-morrow, hold daily sessions. The members of the committee are as firm and as unyielding as the day they first met. The anti-silver men on the committee are Senators Sherman, McPherson, Morrill, Allison and Aldrich. The silver men are Senators Harris, Vance, Vest, Jones of Arkansas, and Jones of Nevada, with Mr. Voorhees, the chairman, holding the balance of power. How he will vote may decide the action of the committee. He has said that he is in favor of the repeal of the Sherman law, either with conditions or without, that he will vote for it without conditions, but by so doing does not give up his allegiance to silver as a money metal. He has said that the vote on the repeal will not indicate the standing of the Senate on the question of bimetallism at all, and for that reason is willing to go on record in that way. On the other hand should the ultra-silver men agree upon some measure, not too radical in its character, it is said that possibly Mr. Voorhees might go with them. So far the committee is divided on lines that show the extremes of the proposition. The silver men insist that they will submit to nothing but free coinage at the present ratio, and the other side with equal emphasis assert that the only thing they will endorse will be the unconditional repeal of the purchasing clause.

Senatorial Speeches.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—There were three noteworthy speeches delivered in the Senate yesterday. One was by the new Senator from Massachusetts, Mr. Lodge, making an earnest appeal to the Senate for prompt action on a bill to repeal the purchasing clause of the Sherman act. Another was by the junior Senator from Colorado, Mr. Wolcott, who contended that although the Sherman act was vicious and illogical, it had nothing to do with the financial crisis, and its repeal would do no good and might do harm. The third was by the senior Senator from Massachusetts, Mr. Hoar, and was a temperate discussion of the whole financial question, with a decided leaning toward bimetallism. A fourth speech—first of all in time of delivery—was made by Mr. Gordon, of Georgia, in advocacy of a bill introduced by him to suspend for six months the ten per cent. tax on the notes of State banks.

No action was taken on any of the pending resolutions and, at 5:10, the Senate adjourned.

Debate in the House.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—The debate in the House yesterday was not especially important. It merely gave an opportunity for four members, Messrs. Hutchinson (Dem., Texas), Blanchard, (Dem., Louisiana) Grosvenor (Rep., Ohio), and Snodgrass (Dem., Tennessee), to give expression to their views. The most interesting speech—because it was really the first Republican protest against free coinage—was delivered by Mr. Grosvenor, of Ohio, and which was lacking neither in sarcasm nor satire.

Mr. Snodgrass, a Democrat, from Tennessee, made a bitter assault on his colleague, Patterson, on account of the position taken by that gentleman against free coinage.

At 5 o'clock the House adjourned.

To Protect Depositors.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—A new proposition called out by the financial stringency is that the United States shall guarantee depositors in national banks under certain conditions. A bill has been prepared and will probably be introduced in the Senate by Mr. Hunton, of Virginia, which enacts as follows:

Sec. 1. Every national bank existing and doing business at the date of the passage of this act, shall, as soon as practicable, thereafter report in writing its true financial condition to the Secretary of the Treasury, and if found by said Secretary to be in a solvent condition, deposits thereafter made in such bank in good faith, in the due course of business, by persons not officers of the bank, nor stockholders in the corporation doing the banking business, shall be and they are hereby guaranteed by the United States to be paid to the depositors or their lawful assigns, or transferees when drawn on by draft or check, but no person shall be allowed to overdraw his account in any manner.

Sec. 2. To indemnify the United States from loss by reason of the guarantee given and made in the first section of this act, an annual tax is hereby levied on all deposits hereafter made in the banks described in this act, equal to one-fourth of one per cent. of said deposits; the said tax shall be paid to the Secretary of the Treasury on the last day of each month of the year on the deposits of that month.

Grady Won't Act Again.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—Police Justice Grady has written to the counsel of the complainant, E. A. Balch, against the officers of the National Cordage Company, that he will entertain no further complaints in the matter, unless by express direction of the District Attorney.

Shipping Commissioner Power.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—Ex-Police Justices Maurice J. Power, appointed Shipping Commissioner by President Cleveland, took the oath of office before United States Commissioner Shields yesterday. He will take charge of the office immediately.

UNION STEAMBOAT COMPANY.

The Erie's Lake Line in the Hands of Receivers.

BUFFALO, Aug. 16.—The Union Steamboat Company, after a successful existence of a quarter of a century, has passed into the hands of receivers. The company was organized in 1868 by Jay Gould and James Fisk, who were at that time the owners of the Erie railway system. Gould and Fisk had long cast longing eyes at the lake traffic and were fully alive to the immense profits of that method of transportation. The Erie railway line was turning a large volume of Chicago and Milwaukee business over to the Western Transportation Company at Buffalo, and the big men who controlled the Erie felt that this business could be conducted by themselves and to their profit. In 1867 negotiations were begun which ended a year later in the organization of the Union Steamboat Company.

The company has always been one of the greatest earners among the transportation lines on the lakes. The present fleet compares favorably with any line of steamboats in the world. Appointment of receivers will probably have little, if any, effect upon the conduct of the line. The Erie Railway company must have a lake connection and as long as the Erie exists the Union Steamboat company must also exist. Receivers for the steamboat line were appointed as a natural consequence of the financial troubles of the whole system.

CROP REPORTS.

Serious Drought in New York, New England and New Jersey.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—The weekly telegraphic crop report of the weather Bureau says:

Drought conditions continue over portions of Northern New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Southern and Western New York, West Virginia, Central and Southern Ohio, Northern Michigan and portions of Illinois and Wisconsin. Drought has been partially relieved in Indiana, Southern Michigan, Kentucky, Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska and the Dakotas, and has been effectually broken in portions of Iowa, although more rain is still needed in many sections of that State.

In Georgia, Alabama and Louisiana there has been too much rain for cotton, and the crop has also suffered from excessive rains in portions of South Carolina and Mississippi.

Special telegraphic reports:

New England—Drought very serious and most crops suffering; grain harvest going on and good yield promised; corn growing fast.

New York—Pastures, potatoes and corn withering; farmers feeding stock; grasshoppers in western counties doing much damage; grain fair yield.

New Jersey—Injury from drought greatly intensified in northern and portions of central sections.

Lemons and Cholera.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—A meeting of Italian fruit dealers, including importers, was held yesterday at the auction-rooms of Bernard & Sachs. About 100 dealers were in attendance, and G. M. Brown presided. The meeting was called to protest against the action of Surgeon General Wyman in prohibiting the importation of lemons from Italy. The order was ridiculed, and declarations read from physicians saying that cholera germs could not live on lemon skins. It was voted to appoint a committee to confer with Mr. Wyman as to his authority to prohibit the importation of lemons. The Karamania, which was relieved from quarantine, had 18,000 boxes of lemons on board worth $40,000. They will be sold by auction.

Bucket Shops Fail.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—Adolph Bierck, Jr., has been appointed receiver for S. Gregor Doran, of Wall street fame, in supplementary proceedings brought by Frank L. Lovelace. The appointment of a receiver was made in a hurry, as efforts to serve papers on Mr. Doran in the past few days had proved fruitless. He has been, it was claimed, a partner in the firm of Monroe, Miller & Co., brokers at No. 16 Broad street, but it was said there that Mr. Doran was not in the city, but in Canada. Mr. Doran was regarded as the manager of Monroe, Miller & Co., who have branch offices in Toronto and Montreal. He has carried on "bucket shops" for many years in Wall street.

Riotous Politics.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 16.—A special to the Globe Democrat from Mont Clova, Mexico, says that the trouble over State politics in the State of Chaulia, is very serious, but both native and foreign enterprises will be thoroughly protected by federal authority even should a general conflict between the two political factions occur. The rivalry between the candidates for governor is very bitter and their partisans have several times exchanged shots.

A Just Commendation.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—The local marine board of Liverpool, Eng., on the receipt of a copy of the annual report of the life-saving service, has written a letter to the Treasury Department highly commending that service, which it characterizes as one of the brightest ornaments of your country."

To Examine Reading's Books.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—It has been learned that permission has been given for an expert examination of the books of the Reading Company in the interest of the holders of the two kinds of bonds. Stephen Little was named by the committee and will begin his work at once.

Treasury Clerks Busy.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—The silver debate in Congress makes busy times in the mint bureau of the Treasury. The force of clerks there have practically stopped their work and are engaged in preparing financial tables, etc., for Senators and Congressmen on the silver question.

Weather Report.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—For New England and Eastern New York: Warmer, westerly winds; fair weather. For Eastern Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, the District of Columbia, Virginia and North Carolina: Warmer; westerly winds; fair weather.

Seventeen Drowned.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 16.—A fishing fleet was overwhelmed by a storm yesterday in the Baltic, off Hapsal, a seaport about 90 miles southwest of Revel. Many boats foundered. Seventeen persons are known to have been drowned and many others are missing.

The Remingtons Reduce.

ILION, N. Y., Aug. 16.—Sixty employes of the Remington typewriter works have been laid off, and those remaining will work only five hours a day until further notice.

MURDER OR MISCHIEF?

A Pennsylvania Boy Kills Three Companions.

FIRES A CAN OF BLASTING POWDER

The Fatal Blast With Lighted Fuse Placed Where the Three Unfortunate Lads Were Sure to Go—No Motive Known for the Crime.

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., Aug. 16.—A fiendish act was perpetrated yesterday afternoon near Homewood, which resulted in the death of three boys. Frank Graham of Homewood, 17 years old, knew that three other boys were hunting ground-hogs about a mile below the village. He got a can of blasting powder, attached a fuse, placed it in a little pile of rocks and waited until the young hunters neared the spot. Then he lit the fuse and crept off to a safe distance.

Burgess Reed, 16 years old, and James Reed, aged 14, sons of Smith Reed, a well-known farmer, with James Carner, aged 17, approached the spot entirely unconscious of danger.

The can exploded all being maimed and burned terribly. Carney was knocked insensible and his clothing was burned off. One of the Reed boys was also disabled. The other Reed boy was able to crawl away and gave an alarm.

Doctors McAleer and Coffin of Beaver Falls answered the call for physicians and willing hands in the neighborhood of the crime did everything possible for the sufferers but unavailingly, as they died.

Graham made his escape and is still at large.

FARMERS AT THE FAIR.

Two Thousand Head of Stock Ready for Inspection.

CHICAGO, Aug. 16—The farmers will begin coming to the Fair in large numbers next week. The inquiries received by Chief Buchanan of the Agricultural Department indicate that they are anxious to know something of the live stock exhibit, which begins next Monday and lasts until Friday, September 8th. The exhibit will be very fine. Seventeen states will send horses and nearly as many more will show cattle. The provinces of Ontario and Quebec, Canada, have 55 head of Cleveland bay, Clydesdale, Shires and other breeds of horses and 250 head of cattle. Russia, Germany and France will have a fine lot of representative stock and the band of sacred cattle from Trinidad will be regarded as a feature. Twenty-six stables capable of accommodating the 2,000 head of stock are now in readiness. This exhibit is to be confined to roadsters and thoroughbred cattle. The show of thoroughbred horses and trotters has been postponed until October 6. The saddle horsemen also asked for a postponement from September 5 until sometime in October but it is understood their request will not be granted.

Ragged and Starved.

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., Aug. 16.—John Tredwell, 12 years old, who started last spring to walk from Nebraska to Higganum, Conn., 2,000 miles, arrived at Higganum last night, completely exhausted, ragged and half starved. His father, John Tredwell, formerly lived there, but died in the spring of 1887, and the mother moved to Nebraska and died in the spring of 1893. The boy, who was left destitute, started off without a cent. He had two uncles living a mile out of Higganum village, but was too weak and died before reaching them.

Lots of Cranberries.

MIDDLEBORO, Mass., Aug. 16.—The present indications are that the cranberry crop in Plymouth county will be the largest ever harvested. With few exceptions the Middleboro and Carver bogs are loaded with berries in fine condition, and the same report comes from the rest of the county and the cape district. Growers express the fear that the crop will be so large that prices will be very low. The efforts of the Cape Cod Cranberry Growers' Association may, however, open up the foreign market.

Pennsylvania Day at the Fair.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Aug. 16.—Gov. Pattison has issued a proclamation appointing Thursday, Sep. 7 next, "Pennsylvania Day" at the Columbian Exposition.

A Cowboy War.

DENVER, Aug 16.—It is reported from Rifle, Col., that war has broken out between cattlemen and sheepmen and three cattlemen were killed.

Still Fishing.

BUZZARDS BAY, Mass., Aug. 16.—The President enjoyed another day's fishing down the bay yesterday with Dr. Bryant.

Super-Abundant and Exciting Foods

Produce a morbid bodily condition.

H-O Hornby's Oatmeal

Restores vitality, brightens the eyes, and sweetens the temper.

New Postmasters.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—The total number of fourth-class postmasters appointed yesterday was 75, of which 31 were to fill vacancies caused by resignation and death. Among the appointments were the following:

Massachusetts—Montague, S. C. Lincoln; Nantasket, James McCuin; North Chelmsford, D. A. Policy.

New Hampshire—North Hampton, Jonathan Rollins.

New York—Ohioville, Dewaitt L. Cross; Three Mile Bay, Charles Parker.

Pennsylvania—Clinton, C. P. Bigham; Cornhill, Henry McCall; Entriken, J. H. Hess; Gladwyne, I. B. Corsman; Loysville, Jacob Wolf; South Whitehall, E. A. Jacoby; Taylorstown, J. M. Noble.

Vermont—Danville, C. H. Wilson; Waits River, William Standlick; West Fairlee, J. M. Eastman.

The Vigilant Ahead.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Aug. 16.—The cup defender Vigilant was a winner again yesterday, not in a race, however, but in the run of the New York Yacht Club fleet from Vineyard Haven to Clarke's Point. The bronze sloop had no intention of sailing across Buzzard's Bay, but expected to hold her course down Vineyard Sound for Newport in company with the Jubilee and Colonia. The fresh westerly breeze and brilliant sunshine was to much for her sailor blood, however, and in fifteen minutes after the others had been started she shook out her big jib topsail, and walked right through the fleet. The wind blew steady and strong, and the weather was such as good yachtsmen pray for but seldom enjoy.

A Conservative Gain.

LONDON, Aug. 16.—An election was held in the Hereford Parliamentary district yesterday to fill the seat made vacant by the retirement of William H. Grenfell, Gladstonian. Mr. Grenfell retired because he disapproved of the Government's attitude towards silver and of the admission of Irishmen to Imperial Parliament, as contemplated by the Home Rule bill. The seat was won by Radcliffe Cocke, a conservative, who received 1,504 votes against 1,460 cast for Sir Joseph Pulley, Gladstonian. The Gladstonian majority at the last general election was 127. In 1886 the Conservatives won the seat by 268 majority. In 1885 the Gladstonians had 64 majority.

Sub-Treasury Trade.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—A telegraph transfer of $200,000 was made through the sub-Treasury from San Francisco to New York yesterday. The sub-Treasury cashed checks for $1,400,000 of which $700,000 were issued by the Assay office in payment for foreign gold. There was paid out over the counter in exchanges $104,000 in silver dollars and $50,000 in subsidiary silver. The sub-Treasury has counted and weighed in the past eight business days $4,400,000 in American gold returned from Europe.

Minister Blount Returns.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 16.—Minister Blount on his arrival here would talk but little about Hawaiian affairs which, he took occasion to say, were quiet, or he would not be here. He refused to answer questions as to the nature of his report to President Cleveland, and also declined to express an opinion as to the stability of the Provisional government, if it should be decided to allow Hawaii to conduct its own government.

No New Cholera Cases.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—The following bulletin was issued last evening:

QUARANTINE, S. I., Aug. 15.—9:30 p. m. There are no new developments at Quarantine. All of the patients are convalescent. We are waiting for the period of detention to expire, and there is every hope that no new cases will develop.

WM. T. JENKINS, Health Officer.

Robbers Get $7.25.

COFFEYVILLE, Kan., Aug. 16.—Two unmasked men entered the Missouri Pacific depot here last night and covered night clerk Hedges with a Winchester. The day's remittances had just been placed in a safe of which the clerk did not have the combination and the robbers secured only $7.25. One of them was a member of the Starr gang. A posse is after them.

Edgar Thomson Works.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 16.—A dispatch from Braddock, Pa., says: It is given out as almost a certainty that the Edgar Thomson Steel Works will close down about Sept. 1, on account of the depressed condition of the steel trade. During the suspension extensive improvements will be made.

Oates a Little Better.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—There is a slight improvement in the condition of Representative Oates of Alabama. Last night he was restless and feverish, but passed a comfortable day and there was a slight relation in the pains in his head. Mrs. Oates is expected here to-day.

Yellow Fever Disappearing.

PENSACOLA, Fla., Aug. 16.—Yesterday was the eighth day since the death of little Ellen Wood and last night at 6 o'clock the usual report of no new cases was posted by the Board.

Stone Quarries Close.

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., Aug. 16.—All the Portland brown-stone quarries closed last night indefinitely, probably till April 1.

Mrs. Beecher Ill.

BROOKLYN, Aug. 16.—Mrs. Henry Ward Beecher is seriously ill. She is 81 years old.

California's Midwinter Fair.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 16.—The finance committee of the Midwinter Fair has about $400,000 in sight and proposes to begin active work this week upon the site in the park. "Work will begin about Wednesday," said Col. Andrews, one of the executive committee, "and as soon as the ground is broken we will have no trouble in getting the balance of the half million needed to carry out our plans to perfection."

IT PROTECTS THE SEALS

The Main Point of the Behring Sea Decision.

NO EXCLUSIVE RIGHTS FOR US

A Close Season Established and Various Safeguards Provided—The Result Generally Satisfactory to Both the United States and Great Britain.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—The Behring Sea decision, handed down yesterday by the Tribunal of Arbitration at Paris, is generally satisfactory. Telegrams from Paris and London report the concensus of opinion among the American agents and counsel to be that, though technical success rests with Great Britain on legal points, on practical grounds the victory is to the United States, as the arbitration was entered upon to preserve the seals and the decision achieves that result. The herd of seals is to be protected from the sealers while breeding by the establishment of a close season from May 1 to July 31.

This close season shall be observed in the Northern Pacific as well as in the Behring Sea. This protects the seals in their passage from the winter quarters across the ocean to their breeding grounds, the Pribyloff Islands. This decision is against the earnest contention of Sir Charles Russell, the counsel for Great Britain, who held that the Northern Pacific must be free grounds at all seasons for these sealers.

Poaching in the deep sea must cease, as the use of firearms in sealing is prohibited. It is impracticable to engage in sealing except in a small way, without the use of buckshot.

The finding of the tribunal on the five points of Article VI. of the treaty of 1825 is against the United States. This article covered the claims to exclusive rights in the Behring Sea as obtained by the United States in its Russian purchase. The sealing restrictions established by the tribunal are sufficiently severe to more than compensate for this point.

The treaty under which the Tribunal of Arbitration was appointed recites that the governments of the United States and Great Britain, being desirous to provide for an amicable settlement of the questions which had arisen between them concerning the jurisdictional rights of the United States in the waters of Behring Sea and concerning also the preservation of the fur seal in or habitually resorting to the said sea and the rights of the citizens and subjects of either country as regards the taking of fur seals, agreed to submit the questions to a tribunal of arbitration to be composed of seven arbitrators, two named by Great Britain, two by the United States, one by France, one by Italy, and one by Sweden and Norway.

The arbitrators selected were:—

By the United States, Justice John M. Harlan and Senator John T. Morgan.

By Great Britain, Lord Hannen and Sir S. D. Thompson.

By France, Baron de Courcel, who was subsequently chosen President of the tribunal.

By Italy, Marquis Bailio Visconti-Venosta.

By Sweden and Norway, Judge Gram.

Articles II, III, IV, and V, of the treaty provided for the meeting place of the arbitrators, and for other matters in regard to procedure, etc.

Article VI was worded as follows:—

"In deciding the matters submitted to the arbitrators, it is agreed that the following five points shall be submitted to them in order that their award shall embrace a distinct decision upon each of said five points, to wit:

"1. What exclusive jurisdiction in the sea known now as the Behring Sea, and what exclusive rights in the seal fisheries therein, did Russia assert and exercise prior and up to the time of the cession of Alaska to the United States?

"2. How far were those claims of jurisdiction as to the seal fisheries recognized and conceded by Great Britain?

"3. Was the body of water now known as the Behring Sea included in the phrase 'Pacific ocean,' as used in the Treaty of 1825 between Great Britain and Russia, and what rights, if any, in the Behring Sea, were held and exclusively exercised by Russia by said Treaty?

"4. Did not all the rights of Russia as to jurisdiction and as to the seal fisheries in Behring Sea east of the water boundary, in the Treaty between the United States and Russia of March 30, 1867, pass unimpaired to the United States in that Treaty?

"5. Has the United States any rights, and, if so, what right, of protection or property in the fur-seals frequenting the islands of the United States in Behring Sea when such seals are found outside the ordinary three-mile limit?"

Article 6 referred to the liability of each government for the injuries alleged to have been sustained by the other, or its citizens in connection with the claims presented and urged by it.

Article IX provides for the appointment of four commissioners, two American and two British, to examine into and report on the question of damages.

Article X, XI, XII, XIII, relate to the payment of the expenses of the tribunal and to the time in which a decision shall be rendered.

Article XIV reads as follows: "The high contracting parties engage to consider the result of the proceedings of the Tribunal of Arbitration as a full, perfect and final settlement of all questions referred to the arbitrators."

Article XV relates to the ratification of the treaty.

Three Receivers for Northern Pacific.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—Thomas F. Oakes of New York; H. C. Payne, of Milwaukee, and Henry C. Rouse, President of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas Railway Company, were yesterday appointed receivers of the Northern Pacific Railroad in the United States Court of this city.

Elmira Reformatory.

ALBANY, Aug. 16.—Hon. Oscar F. Craig, president of the State Board of Charities, is in the city. Mr. Craig said that in a few days he would appoint a special committee to conduct an investigation of the administration of affairs at the State Reformatory at Elmira.

Reducing Wages.

SCRANTON, Pa., Aug. 16.—The Dickson Manufacturing Company, employing 1,200 persons in the manufacture of locomotives and mining machinery, has posted notices of a ten per cent. reduction in wages in all of the departments.

Cholera in Berlin.

BERLIN, Aug. 16.—Three Polish laborers died of cholera in the eastern part of this city yesterday.

A GREAT DAY AT ST. PATRICK'S.

Mgr. Satolli Celebrates Mass and Archbishop Corrigan Delivers an Address.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—The celebration of mass at St. Patrick's Cathedral yesterday by Mgr. Satolli was a remarkable event in the history of the Roman Catholic Diocese of New York.

The great edifice was thronged to the doors. The Apostolic Delegate occupied the Episcopal throne on the Gospel side of the sanctuary. This was the first time that any one had been seated there other than the Archbishop of the diocese of New York. The giving up of the throne was an act of courtesy on the part of Archbishop Corrigan.

During the celebration of the mass Archbishop Corrigan occupied a new throne, erected on the Epistle side of the sanctuary.

Archbishop Corrigan's address called attention to the dangerous theories that had lately come to the surface in which the power of the Pope was called in question, and said it was necessary to brand those pernicious errors and that the Pontiff had supreme power that none are allowed to doubt. In the Bishop's oath of allegiance is a clause that he shall treat a legate of the Pope with honor and give him any necessary aid. The Archbishop said: "Whatever may have been said in public or private against our guest we put aside as not to be countenanced for a minute, and we indorse everything that has been said in his favor. I will not praise him in his presence, for as Cardinal Newman has said, 'It is not becoming to panegyrize those whom we must obey.'"

REPUBLICAN NATIONAL COMMITTEE.

Chairman Carter Will Call a Meeting Early in October.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—Chairman Carter of the Republican National Committee, is a guest at the Hotel Imperial.

To a reporter he said: "After corresponding with all the members of the National Committee I have decided to call the committee together early in October. I have not yet settled upon the exact date.

"The meeting will be either in Washington or this city, probably here. The question of the establishment of the national headquarters will be fully discussed. It will probably be established, but whether here or in Washington has not been decided. I have no opinion to express as to which city would be preferable.

"The desirability of opening a national headquarters is borne out by the excellent work done by the former committee, under the chairmanship of Senator Quay, which had a headquarters at Washington."

Mr. Carter will probably remain in the city two or three days.

YESTERDAY'S LEAGUE GAMES.

At Chicago—Chicago, 11; Louisville, 4.

Other Games.

At Providence—Providence, 11; Wilkesbarre, 2.

At Albany, 9; Buffalo, 6.

At Troy—Troy, 0; Erie, 6.

A Silver Suggestion.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—Mr. Simon Stevens, of New York, has submitted to some of his friends in Congress suggestions that upon the repeal of the purchasing clause of the Sherman act silver bullion produced from mines in the United State may be deposited by the owners with the Secretary of the Treasury, who shall deliver therefor storage receipts on a parity basis of 18 to 1, or the Secretary of the Treasury may purchase such bullion and pay for it in standard silver dollars. The storage receipts, if issued, would immediately become articles of of traffic, merchandise or exchange with individual bullion dealers, instead of the United States government, to the extent of many hundreds of millions of dollars annually.

Uncle Sam's Business Dull.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—The continued business depression is felt nowhere more sensibly than by the government. Its revenues rise and fall in touch with business. So far this month its receipts are 3,000,000 dollars less than last month, and during the past three days the falling off has been very heavy. Business men are taking out of bonded warehouses as few goods as possible, while importers have not only curtailed their imports but are taking advantage of all the delay possible in paying custom duties. At the present rate the Treasury receipts will not be over $27,000,000 for the month instead of $35,000,000 as estimated.

A Blaze at the Fair.

CHICAGO, Aug. 16.—Fire started in the Art Gallery at the World's Fair yesterday afternoon but was extinguished before much damage had been done. The blaze was discovered by a Columbian guard, who with the aid of some bystanders, stamped it out. An alarm was turned in and the fire department hastened to the scene. The building was crowded with visitors and when the engines came clanging up to the door a grand rush was made for the exits. Every one got out safely and order was quickly restored.

Against Chinese Labor.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 16.—A crusade against Chinese labor has been started in Fresno and other places in the San Joaquin valley and seems to be spreading over the State. Owing to the financial troubles large numbers of white men are out of work, while many Chinese are employed steadily on ranches and vineyards. It looks as if the Chinese will be displaced. Thus far violence has been narrowly averted.

Checks Refused.

BOSTON, Aug. 16.—Internal Revenue Collector Orcutt has promulgated this order: "In consequence of the refusal of the Government depositary to receive checks on deposit, no more checks or certificates of deposit will be received in payment for stamps or taxes." All taxes must be paid in coin or bills.

A Prize Fight Off.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—The international prize fight for $20,000 between Jack Dempsey, of Portland, Ore., and Dick Burge, of Newcastle, Eng., is off. Burge will claim the first deposit of $1,000.

Yellow Fever in Havana.

HAVANA, Aug. 16.—The vital statistics of Havana for July show 125 deaths from yellow fever. The total number of deaths was 01.

WEATHER INDICATIONS.

For New Jersey To-Morrow: Cloudy and Showery; Stationary Temperature; Winds Becoming Easterly.

Assessor Hubbard's man Frisbie found only 640 dogs in town to tax. Some veracious citizens would testify that so small a canine census is inadequate to produce the midnight bedlam heard on a single block in some sleepless portions of the town. But then maybe that 's a case like little Johnny's story of a thousand dogs simmered down: "Well, there was our dog and another one, anyhow".

Boroughites of both parties are asking What's the matter with making Charles P. Sebring the new North Plainfield councilman? He has been a councilman before, on the Republican ticket, but is known to be independent of partisanship, and as a compromise between the warring elements he would doubtless be a success. He's an honest-minded man.

The Star, the estimable newspaper of Washington, Warren county, is a more than ever welcome comer in its handsome new style. Charles L. Stryker, its progressive editor and proprietor, keeps abreast of the times by making it an eight-page paper, with all the improvements which such a change conveys. The Star is just such a newsy and enterprising journal as should be expected from the live man at its head. May its light and magnitude never wane!

When a man feels too poor to go to the circus, times must be pretty hard. Usually he will forego any necessity rather than that pleasure. The fact that the greatest Barnum show lost $1,800 in one day last week, in Paterson, which is noted as the best circus town in the United States, is conclusive evidence of the extent and seriousness of the financial depression. Hitherto when Barnum has visited Paterson the day has been made a general holiday, all the mills and factories closing in celebration. But this year most of the mills were closed from another cause, and the lack of patronage in the tents appalled the managers.

In the Flying Post, a newspaper to be issued for the first time early in September, New Jersey is promised a representative State paper. No journal to-day fully covers that field, which is a difficult one, owing to the lack of direct centralization of all sections. But the Flying Post is building for a permanency, and its abundant capital and ingenuity will doubtless achieve signal triumph. The publishers will be a stock corporation, and the editor the accomplished and experienced A. B. Houghton. The paper will be run on metropolitan lines, set entirely by Linotype machines, with no "patent plate" matter, and will have reliable correspondents everywhere in the State. Aggressiveness will characterize the enterprise, and the Flying Post will make itself a power in and for New Jersey. Its office of publication will be Paterson, but the paper trains will convey it broadcast before daylight, ready for breakfast-table perusal everywhere. The Daily Press extends heartiest welcome to its venturesome contemporary.

The Press staff were discussing Arthur Grissom's remarks about telepathy in last week's Journalist wherein he maintained that on frequent occasions thoughts which he had conceived and intended to put on paper were written down and printed by someone else before he had even spoken of them to anybody. It was telepathy, mental telegraphy, thought transmission, whichever you please.

"This so-called telepathy,"—said George Taggart who happened to be in the office—"while it is undeniably queer, is nine times in ten nothing more than simple coincidence. I do not feel that my mind is heavy enough to weigh upon that of any one else, and yet let me tell you a true story. More than a year ago I wrote for use by the Four-Leaf Clover in one of their farces seven or eight verses parodying the venerable utterances of Mother Goose. For some reason not relevant to the story they were not used in the play, neither printed nor circulated, and were laid away in my writing-desk, where they are today. Imagine my surprise on attending the first New York performance of "1492", last May, when Ed Rice's clever girls came out as the "Six Daily Hints From Paris" and sang two of my unused verses almost word for word. It seemed hard to believe, but it was so, and there was a sort of funereal satisfaction in the applause that greeted the words. Of course, neither Rice nor his librettist had ever seen my copy any more than I had theirs; and there you are. Was it telepathy? No: it was just a simple, every-day coincidence, but it was queer, nevertheless."

DROPPED DEAD IN HIS DOORYARD.

AARON BERKAW STRICKEN BY HEART DISEASE.

He Was Walking About in Seemingly Perfect Health, and Sank Suddenly to the Ground—Though Picked Up Instantly, Life Was Extinct.

With one swift blow the hand of death smote lifeless a vigorous Plainfield citizen, this morning.

Aaron Berkaw was walking about the yard of the home of his son John, 143 East Second street, at 9:40.

He was in vigorous manhood, and in spite of his three score and ten of years seemed as hale and hearty as the most robust stripling.

Suddenly he was seen to drop to his knees as if shot, and then to fall prostrate upon the ground.

His son, who was near at hand, sprang to assist him, and called for help. Chief Engineer T. O. Doane and Contractor D. W. Littell were at work on the new Fire Department Headquarters adjoining the Berkaw residence, and they hastened to aid in carrying the old man into the house.

Every sign of life had departed from the body.

Dr. J. H. Carman came quickly in answer to summons, and pronounced the old man dead from valvular heart trouble.

Deceased was a carpenter by trade. John V. Berkaw, the afflicted son, is a prominent shoe dealer at 119 West Front street. There is a daughter, the wife of Grocer J. A. Smith.

BASE-BALL BABBLE.

How to See To-Morrow's Game Without Leaving Home Till Afternoon.

Bergen Point is anxious to arrange a Jersey Central series, with two games each against Elizabeth, Plainfield and Somerville. Mr. Keller, manager of the Crescents, wrote to the Bergen Point manager asking for his open time for the week beginning August 20. In a telephone message to The Press today the manager of the Bergen Points states that he can play only Saturday games. It is hoped that arrangements can be made to have the crack New Jersey amateurs come here, as pitted against the Crescents they would make a lively contest, and the victory would be involved in exciting uncertainty.

The great game between the Crescents and Asbury Park, tomorrow, should attract every lover of good sport. As before stated, the game does not begin until 4, giving all Plainfielders a chance to get there. After the game an evening on the beach may be enjoyed. The last train from the Park does not leave till 9:05, and anyone desiring to go down any time during the day can for 55 cents buy an excursion ticket to Elizabeth and for $1.85 an excursion ticket over the Pennsylvania Railroad between Elizabeth and the Park, and return by that last train, which runs over the Pennsylvania road. The ticket between Elizabeth and the Park is good over either Pennsylvania or Central, going or returning. You can leave Plainfield at 2:07, reach the North Asbury Park station, which is right by the Athletic grounds, at 4:04, going by the Jersey Central all the way, and have until 9:05 to see the game, enjoy the sea breeze, and leave for home on a regular train not crowded with excursionists.

THEY'LL CALL AT EVERY HOUSE.

And You Have to Answer Their Questions or Incur the State's Displeasure.

Plainfield is already preparing for the next election. At last night's meeting of the City Council a Board of Registry to tabulate the names and residences of voters was appointed as follows:

DEMOCRATIC.	REPUBLICAN.
First Ward.
1. John J. Kenney, Michael DeCourcy.	George W. Moore, Richard E. Coriell.
2. Sylvester Sharkey, Emil Dreyer.	G. Thorn, Adolph Kahrman.
Second Ward.
1. Louis M. Stover, Lewis G. Timpson.	John H. Doane, Wm. Messerschmidt.
2. James B. Guttridge, Alfred Cocks.	David Hand, Edward Willis, Jr.
Third Ward.
1. F. M. Bacon, Wm. L. Wright.	B. Frank Coriell, M. M. Dunham.
Fourth Ward.
1. M. R. Flynn, James H. Searing.	Enos W. Titsworth, Amos P. Gray.
2. Jacob Kriney, T. A. McCarthy.	James B. Higgins, John W. Dixon.

GOT 'EM ON THE LIST.

These Taxpayers Owe Plainfield City Something Like $16,000, Overdue.

Taxes for the year 1891 are pretty well collected. Only $2,527 remains outstanding. Of taxes for '92 the amount unpaid is a trifle over $13,000. The special committee appointed by the Common Council to make out a list of the delinquents has prepared a schedule of city debtors to August 1, and last night presented it to the Council for that body's distinguished consideration.

Will He Be Eligible After That?

Wm. M. Sandford has notified the Common Council that he will be out of town until October, and unable to attend the organization meeting of the Madison Avenue Commissioners. Corporation Counsel Marsh will be asked to decide if that makes him eligible to serve on the Board after his return.

All Verdure Burning.

(Official Crop Bulletin.)

PLAINFIELD—The deficiency of rainfall is hurting all crops. There is a deficiency from the corresponding week of last year of 1.92 inch, and for the month so far 1.59 inch. All crops are burning from the intense heat. Some farmers have not yet set out their late cabbage. Average temperature for the week, 76 deg.; rainfall, including the 12th, 0.05 inch.

JOHN NEAGLE.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Miss Irene Hope of East Second street is visiting friends at Cranford.

Miss Pitt of Brooklyn is the guest of Mrs. Richard Boyce of Somerset street.

Miss Emma Angleman of Madison avenue is spending three week in Newark.

Mrs. Geo. H. Rockafellow and daughter Cecil Helen have gone to Brooklyn for three weeks.

Thomas Kane of Raritan, spent yesterday with his sister, Mrs. Howard Cooper of Arlington avenue.

Charles Roberts started this morning for a week with friends at Mount Pocono, Scranton and Wyoming Valley.

Miss Lillie M. Haberle, of Chatham street, is visiting relatives at Orange, where she will remain two weeks.

Joseph A. Haynes and Clarence Teel will spend a few days enticing piscatorial beauties from the waters of Warwick, N. Y.

Miss A. E. Lincoln, the Park avenue florist, with her mother, Mrs. H. P. Denius, left today for the Riverview House, Delaware Water Gap.

Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Marcley, of New street, left town today for Buffalo, where they will spend a month with Mr. Marcley's son, Dr. Marcley.

The marriage of J. Walter Mundy of 183 Somerset street and Mrs. Ella E. Allen of Rahway took place last Sunday, at the home of the bride.

The board walk and social gatherings of Asbury Park will soon be graced by Miss Emma Kitchen, of the staff of saleswomen at White's, who is about to enjoy a vacation.

The next afternoon tea of the Hillside Tennis Club will be held Sept. 2. The tea scheduled for this week Saturday will not take place, as many friends of the club are out of town.

After a useful life of 50 years, Thomas Olsson died yesterday. He was a brother-in-law of Peter Stram, of 51 Wilson avenue, where the funeral will be held Thursday afternoon at 3.

Edward C. Searing, a valued compositor of The Daily Press, is the recipient of many happy greetings. His cozy home is brighter than ever since last evening. Mrs. Searing and daughter are making gratifying progress.

Churchgoers will be glad to know that next Sunday they are to have an opportunity of hearing an old favorite preach, the Rev. Dr. K. P. Ketcham. He will occupy the pulpit of Trinity Reformed church, morning and evening.

Among the latest arrivals recorded by the Asbury Park Daily Journal yesterday are the following Plainfielders: At The Brunswick, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas S. Wheeler, Mrs. Gilford Mayer; Westminster, Albert A. Holly; Spray View, Thomas B. King, Jr., Blanchard E. Randolph.

A delightful birthday celebration was that given last night to Benjamin F. Allen, of Richmond street. The Independent Fife and Drum Corps gave good music and were largely responsible for the great success. Many handsome gifts were bestowed on the host, and the candles in his cake numbered 47. Dancing and refreshments helped to make the hours pass joyously. The guests included Mr. and Mrs. J. Newman, Miss Gussie Newman, Miss Belle Newman, Miss Tillie Terry, Samuel Terry, Sr., Miss Jennie Brokaw, Miss Mills of Somerset county, Mr. Fowler and Mrs. Everington of Lakewood, George H. Beebe of New York, Adam Leals of White House; Mr. and Mrs. Watson, Miss Lillie Watson, Miss Ray Watson, of New York; Joseph Angerbauer, Wm. Hewett. Officer S. R. Hope was right in it when the refreshments and cigars were passed.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—Sylvester Sharkey's horse ran away from fright at a pile of timbers and wrecked the wagon, on Richmond street, yesterday.

—White's sale of ladies' oxford ties at 68 cents and 78 cents is the wonder of the town. Customers can't see how such handsome shoes can be sold so cheap.

—Hotel Netherwood waiters afforded entertainment last night by singing and dancing to banjo accompaniment, while waiting for a train at the North avenue station.

—East Third street needs a lamp midway between Church and Washington streets. Property-owners so petitioned the Council, and the matter was referred to the Committee on Lights.

—Henry Moore, colored, helplessly drunk, was arrested by Marshal Pangborn yesterday afternoon, and taken to jail in an express wagon. Judge Crosley sent him to jail for 5 days.

—Mrs. Barry of Bull Frog City denounces as a malicious invention the statement that a meeting of the Bull Frog Society was to be held at her son's home. She resents the false accusation.

—Constable Amos Moffett yesterday served a summons in a case of tenant and landlord on Cottage place. The parties at war are Jones and Day, and the summons is returnable before Justice Nash, August 21.

—The councilmanic Committee on Fire and Buildings has been given power to grant A. D. Mallinson's petition for permission to erect a corrugated-iron structure in the rear of his home, 206 Watchung avenue.

—The delivery horse of the estate of D. I. Smalley, of Somerset street, yesterday afternoon slipped on the street car rails and fell down. The horse scraped its front legs, but was otherwise uninjured.

—The third annual gathering of the Tingley family will take place at the farm of David Blackford, New Market, Wednesday, August 30. The Friendship Council Band will be in attendance. The friends of the family are invited without further notice by J. T. Tingley, manager.

The great mass of mankind lose their health through inattention to catarrh of the head and throat. This insidious disease was considered incurable until the discovery of the American Catarrh Cure. For sale by L. W. Randolph, 21 West Front street. Price $1.00.

SUN-LIGHT and FRESH AIR are THE BEST DISINFECTANTS, of course; but you can't apply them in every situation. What next? Well, that depends. For damp cellars use Quicklime, plenty of it. For vaults and cesspools use COPPERAS; cheap stuff; we sell it by the pound or hundred-weight—instructions thrown in. For kitchen sinks, for water-closets, for house plumbing, for the sick room, to deodorize discharges, to purify the air and to prevent contagion, use REYNOLDS'S ODORLESS DISINFECTANT. DEATHS.

OLLSON—In North Plainfield August 15, 1893, Thomas Olsson, aged 50 years. Funeral services Thursday, Aug. 17, at 3 p. m., from the residence of his brother-in-law, Peter Stram, No. 51 Wilson avenue.

BERKAW—Suddenly, in this city, Aug. 16, 1893, Aaron Berkaw, in his 69th year. Notice of funeral to-morrow.

Corporation Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the Common Council have fixed the thirty-first day of August, A. D. 1893, at 8 o'clock p. m., and the Council Chamber, No. 339 Park avenue, in the city of Plainfield, as the time and place for J. Frederick MacDonald, William M. Sandford and Edward C. Mulford, the commissioners appointed by the Common Council pursuant to the ordinance entitled "An ordinance to widen Madison avenue from the southeasterly side line of West Front street to the northwesterly line of the right of way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey," approved June 5, 1893, to meet. The street proposed to be widened and laid out is Madison avenue from the southeasterly side line of West Front st. to the northwesterly line of the right of way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey. The alterations proposed to be made are to widen said Madison so that the same shall be of the uniform width of twenty-five feet on each side of the centre line thereof, which centre line is described in said ordinance, and shown on map on file in the office of the City Clerk entitled "Assessment map for the widening of Madison avenue from West Front street to the Central Railroad of New Jersey, city of Plainfield, N. J., dated 1893," made by F. A. Dunham, civil engineer."

The lands and real estate intended to be taken for such purpose are all that come within twenty-five feet of either side of said centre line between the southeasterly side line of West Front street, and the northwesterly line of the right of way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey, as shown by said map and said ordinance, to which reference is hereby made for more detailed description.

By order of the Common Council.
F. W. RUNYON, City Clerk.

WHO STOLE THE PAPER?

That's What the Park Club Is Wondering, and The Press Would Like to Know, Too.

They pretend to keep that most excellent newspaper magazine, The Illustrated American, on file over at the Park Club, and the youngsmen and maidens who frequent the cosy little club-house take just pleasure in perusing the successive issues of the picture paper, and learning of strange lands and wonderful people from its fascinating pages. A while ago Clement Scott of London began writing for The American a series of articles which he called "Unjapanned Japan", and one of these, two or three weeks back, was exceedingly frank and ingenuous in the treatment of certain matters generally left largely to the imagination. Now, it is whispered, the members of the club want to know what has become of that particular number! It is no longer in the file, and, of course, there are but two explanations of its flight: It has been either suppressed or stolen—and there comes the rub. If suppressed, who has the authority, and why was it exercised? If stolen, by whom and what for? One of the club members openly avows that he will demand at the next meeting that he (or she) who stole that paper return it at once under penalty of forfeiture of dividends.

It seems odd to hear so much talk about this business from the Park Club when any members who yearn to preserve Mr. Scott's treatise may obtain a new copy for the nominal outlay of ten cents. But maybe it is the principle that interests them.

THAT OBNOXIOUS WATER RULE.

The Company Says It's an Old One, and A Citizen Protests That It's New.

Some talk and no little dissatisfaction among the consumers of the city water have been the result of the recent enforcement of a rule of the Water Company in regard to the use of a lawn sprinkler in cases where the service is not used throughout the house of the consumer. Theodore F. French, at the Water Company's office, said this morning that it has always been the rule of the company not to permit persons to use a lawn sprinkler alone but if they put in the entire service they were allowed a sprinkler—for the usual consideration.

In spite of this statement, a citizen who desired to use the sprinkling service for his lawn put in his application to have the connection made and says he was told that the rule had been passed only two weeks ago that connection for sprinkling alone would not be allowed.

This seems a great pity, as Plainfield lawns where sprinklers have been used have never looked as well as they have this year, notwithstanding the lack of rain, and many would like the sprinkling privilege alone, without using the full house service. The company surely cannot expect to force consumers to use the city water in their houses where they have in many cases wells driven to great depth, from which they obtain water of exceptional purity for household uses.

CAN LOOK BUT NOT RACE.

Hard Luck for John J. Lynch of the Lyceum Wheelmen.

A serious accident happened last night to John J. Lynch, a member of the Lyceum Wheelmen. He was riding over the course of the bicycle race to be held next Saturday by his club, and in which he had entered, in order to become familiar with the track. When he arrived at a point near Scotch Plains the post of his saddle broke suddenly, and he was thrown off. He and the wheel went in a heap, and when he pulled himself together he found that his right leg was badly cut just above the knee and his right arm had a similar wound above the elbow. Dr. Simpson dressed his wounds, and says that while they are not dangerous it is likely that they will keep him in the house for some time. Mr. Lynch has the poor satisfaction of knowing that if things go well with him he may be fortunate enough to watch the race, in which he intended to ride, from the soft seat of a carriage.

TAX RATE REMAINS THE SAME.

$2.20 ASSESSED ON EACH $100 OF TAXABLE VALUATION.

Assessor Hubbard Found More Than Seven Millions of Property in Plainfield City—That's a Quarter-Million More Than Last Year, Which Shows How the Town Is Growing.

The old adage that nothing is certain in this world but death and taxes was brought to mind by last night's session of the Plainfield Common Council. Tax Assessor J. A. Hubbard was on hand with his big stack of big books, in which are recorded the valuations of all the property in town, and it was all figured out just what proportion each citizen would have to pay.

That Mr. Hubbard has done his arduous and important work with his usual careful thoroughness was testified by Councilman Fisk, who reported having spent considerable time in going over the books. He had found the assessments accurately and satisfactorily made throughout the city.

The Council studied the books in Committee of the Whole, for fifteen minutes, at the end of which time the assessments were unanimously approved on motion of Councilman Marsh.

The many bulky pages of assessment record as concentrated in the total show an increase of about $250,000 over last year, in the property valuation. The aggregate is as follows:

Real estate	$5,947,196,00
Personal property	1,143,236,00
	$7,090,432,00
Deduction for firemen, soldiers, notes, etc.	230,581.00
Total amount taxable	$6,859,851.00

The calculation of the tax rate, made on this basis, shows that the same rate as last year, $2.20 on each $100 of assessed valuation, will produce the full appropriations estimated by the Council for the various municipal purposes. The rate is made up as follows:

County	.56
State school	.28
Fire department	.24
Free library	.04½
City	.50
Poor	.03½
School bonds	.54
	2.20

The number of voters reported for poll tax is 2,578. The dogs registered as victims of the special tax of $3 number 640.

NORTH PLAINFIELD SOLONS.

Tedious Routine Enlivened by 'Lias Allen's Funny Stories.

The regular meeting of the North Plainfield Township Committee was held last evening in Spencer's Hall. Those present were A. P. Voorhees, chairman; Horace J. Martin, clerk; William C. Smith and Elias Allen.

Mr. Voorhees called the meeting to order, and Mr. Martin read the minutes of the last meeting, which were approved.

The clerk stated that he had interviewed Warren Ackerman, of Glenside Park, in regard to a larger assessment, and had received little satisfaction, Mr. Ackerman merely stating that he would consider the matter.

The report from School Districts Nos. 36 and 68 were read and ordered filed.

Various bills were presented and warrants ordered drawn in payment.

At this point good-natured Elias Allen happened to think of a funny story which he told to enliven the proceedings. He had been saying that there was a man who sold crushed stone that was full of dirt, and the stone when put on the road would settle, while the mud came to the top; and it was this that reminded him of the yarn. But the tale was told so low that it could not be heard by the reporters. The committeemen, however, laughed heartily, and Mr. Allen the heartiest of all.

Mr. Allen also stated that on Monday night some one, unintentionally, he thought, had taken some chickens from his poultry yard, and he thought the Committee might help him find them. Though it was powerless in that respect, the Committee poured balm on his troubled soul and granted him 100 tons of fine stone dressing to be used in his district.

It was found that there was about $700 left of the appropriation for road use.

Assessor J. H. Cooley was present, and the Committee examined his book of assessments and approved it all. The amount to be raised by taxes for the ensuing year is $9,000.

Drape Their Charter for 30 Days.

At a regular meeting of Queen City Lodge, No. 226, I. O. O. F., held August 14, 1893, the following resolutions were adopted by the Lodge:

WHEREAS, It has pleased our Heavenly Father to remove from us by death our esteemed and respected brother, Hiram K. Voorhees, therefore be it

Resolved, That in the death of our late brother we do sincerely mourn for one who was in every way worthy of our esteem and respect.

Resolved, That we extend to the family of our deceased brother our sympathy in this the hour of their bereavement, and that these resolutions be recorded in the book of minutes and a copy be presented to the family of our deceased brother and published in the Plainfield daily papers. And be it further

Resolved, That as a token of respect to our late brother we drape our charter for a period of thirty days.

Every Lot Will Be Sold.

In real-estate hustling J. Fred MacDonald is in his element. He's bound to let people know about the great Netherwood auction sale of next Saturday, and as if newspaper advertising was n't sufficient got a man with a cornet and a banner-laden wagon to parade the streets last night.

One of my children had a very bad discharge from her nose. Two physicians prescribed, but without benefit. We tried Ely's Cream Balm, and much to our surprise, there was a marked improvement. We continued using the Balm, and in a short time the discharge was cured.—O. A. Cary, Corning, N. Y.

OLD ENGINE-HOUSE, GOOD-BYE!

THEY'RE GOING TO CAST YOU OFF FROM FIRE DUTY.

That Elegant New Headquarters Has Thrown You in the Shade, and You're to Be Knocked Down to the Highest Bidder—But Improved Suburban Service Will Be a Consolation.

Fire-department extension into the suburbs is to be secured at the sacrifice of the old Gazelle engine-house on West Second street. At last night's meeting of the City Fathers, Councilman Erickson of the Committee on Fire and Buildings reported that this old relic of the early and eventful days of Plainfield's hardy volunteers would not be needed after the completion of the new headquarters building. Most of the present apparatus is to be housed in the new structure, and provision must be made for the use of the rest in the suburbs.

Mr. Erickson moved, and it was so ordered, that the Committee on Fire and Buildings be authorized to advertise for bids for the disposal of the West Second street property, and the proceeds of the sale will be applied in extending fire protection into the outskirts.

A PLAINFIELD MISS WRITES HOME.

Eager that Other Children May Know of Her Vacation Delights.

Dear Editor:

I am boarding in Sheffield, Mass., which is a beautiful country place. It has one very wide street with two rows of elms on each side. I am boarding on this street. Sheffield contains a very large elm which is the largest in Massachusetts; it takes a minute to walk around it. We take a great many long walks and drives which are delightful. Yesterday we all drove over to the Twin Lakes and it was a lovely drive, the cool breeze fanning us as the sun poured down its hot rays. When we arrived there it was nearly time for dinner, and you can imagine how hungry I was. The Lakes were beautiful to look at, and to see the little waves come in made you feel as if you wanted to go in bathing. The Twin Lakes are so-called because there are two lakes nearly the same shape connected by a narrow neck of water. After dinner a few of us went in the water, which was very warm and nice. We returned at 4:30, having enjoyed a pleasant day. About two weeks ago we all went over to Lake Buel; we had a splendid time there, too; went out boat rowing several times; the water was very pretty, being very clear; and the pavilions are very pretty also, being decorated with lovely flowers, and chairs being arranged to accommodate the many visitors. Several parties went fishing in the afternoon, but came back much disappointed, as they had caught but a few small ones, none worth taking home.

When I first came here there was a lady and gentleman here, that was n't going to stay long, and as they wanted to see everything of interest they went to some place every day, and one day they took me to White's Hill, which is quite a way from here, but when you reach the top and look down, oh, such a lovely view of everything! We could see with the naked eye into four different States, Vermont, Massachusetts, Connecticut and New York. We could see the Green Mountains in Vermont, the Catskills in New York, and even the Mountain House in the Catskills, and the Hudson river. When we came down we went to call on a gentleman; he showed us a stone shaped with a hole in the top, not very deep, and an iron rod in it; he said that was what the Indians used to crush their corn with. I hope all Plainfield children are having a pleasant vacation, as well as myself.

Sacred Cattle at the Fair.

There is a genuine sacred bull and cow on the exposition grounds, and they are not in a side show. They are brought here for exhibition in the live stock department and will compete for prizes and medals. This sacred pair of zebu cattle come from pure Hissar breed in India. The bull is white, with the exception of the hump, which is black. The cow is of light gray color. Harry Vincent, world's fair commissioner from Trinidad, received the cattle the other night, and they are stalled in the southeastern portion of the grounds. Gosein Maharaje, an East Indian, accompanied them as an attendant.

Some Poor Statuary.

While there is a great deal of clever work in the statuary of the world's fair grounds, there is some that is absurd. The panthers near the Machinery hall are wonderfully and fearfully made, and adorned with big pump-handle tails, and a cowboy, just added, is an Occidental freak that would drive Buffalo Bill's camp into convulsions.

What He Wanted.

"I am going to the world's fair next week," said Mr. Weston to his son; "what shall I buy you?"

"Well," replied Warren, after a moment's thought, "you can buy a ticket and take me with you."—Harper's Young People.

FREIGHT WRECK ON THE CENTRAL.

All Traffic Blocked Eight Hours—A Train Parted and Its Two Sections Crashed Together—Nitric Acid Set the Wreck Afire—A Tramp Injured.

SOMERVILLE August 16.—A bad freight wreck occurred on the C. R. R. of N. J. near North Branch early this morning, by which the tracks were blocked for eight hours. About 12:30, engine 358, in charge of Peter Garey, was coming down the steep grade west of North Branch, when the train broke into two sections, which crashed together a moment later, derailed one car, and piled five others on top of it. The train was a heavy one. The wrecked cars were loaded with iron ore, coal, empty powder drums, and one of the cars contained nitric acid. A carboy of this was shattered, and running over the wrecked cars set fire to them at once.

The wreck occurred in a deep cut, and the fire burned fiercely for six hours. A tramp who was stealing a ride on a coal train coming in the opposite direction leaped off and started to cross the tracks at the wreck. He was warned of the acid, but answered by a curse. He walked directly into a pool of the fluid, and when he found his shoes burned off and his feet beginning to smart he yelled for help. He was assisted to North Branch. Dr. Conover said he was frightfully burned about the feet and legs.

Two workmen also were slightly burned.

It was fully 6 this morning before the trackmen could get to work. The tracks then for nearly a quarter of a mile were covered with a foot or two of red hot ore and coal. The work at first was slow, but as the debris cooled the men hastened, and by 9 one track was clear for trains. All of the early passengers were transferred around the wreck. The tracks for a mile on each side were filled with stalled coal trains.

No blame is attached to any one. All of the C. R. R. officers were present, and fully five hundred persons gathered before 8. Both tracks are clear now.

RELIGOUS MASSACRE.

Troops Powerless Against the Rioters in Bombay.

LONDON, Aug. 16.—Government despatches say that Bombay is in possession of the mob. Troops are powerless. Every mosque has been destroyed. Many persons have been massacred. Europeans are panic stricken.

Troops are only protecting the public buildings. The Governor has appealed for help, asking for instructions.

The troubles in Bombay began August 12, when a number of encounters took place between Hindoos and Mahometans in the streets.

CRADLE OF WARSHIPS.

Head of the Firm Which Builds Our Fastest Cruisers.

Since the United States has begun to make pretensions as a naval power the American people have acquired a lively interest in naval architecture and can give you off-hand an elucidation of all the points of difference between a cruiser and a line battleship and an accurate comparison of the naval strength of the great nations of the earth. To these nautical amateurs a most interesting institution is the great shipbuilding yards of William Cramp & Sons at Philadelphia, where many of our latest, largest and fastest cruisers were built.

William Cramp, the founder of the firm, commenced business in a modest way in 1830, building wooden and steam sailing vessels. Two sons, Charles H. and William M. Cramp, were admitted into partnership in 1857, and in 1863 three younger Cramps became members of the firm. Charles H. Cramp stands at the head of the firm as at present organized. He looks after the social interests of the firm—a very important department when it is considered that the concern has constantly a number of important contracts with the government involving many millions of dollars. Mr. Cramp has traveled extensively in foreign lands and has a large circle of friends, with whom he is very popular. He dresses in conventional business style and usually wears a high hat.

Since the downfall of John Roach's firm at Chester, Pa., the Cramps are known as the largest shipbuilders in the country. The firm has been eminently successful in its enterprises, and not only built the fastest cruiser in our navy, but has turned out many private yachts celebrated for their elegance and speed, including Jay Gould's Atlanta, Astor's Nourmahal, Vanderbilt's Alva and Bennett's Noumania.

W. H. Cramp, one of the junior members of the firm, looks after the yards and has charge of the fifteen hundred men employed there. The yards occupy about three hundred and fifty acres and are entirely covered by shipways, machine shops, foundries and sheds.

VERY fashionable for dressy occasions are cream-white silk gloves stitched very delicately in black.

THE newest belts are those of several rows of beads held together by bands of finely chased imitation gold.

A NEW variation of the standard navy-blue costume is one trimmed with black satin and white lace insertion.

PALE blue is a favorite shade with Princess May, which accounts for its being just now one of the most popular colors.

FASHIONABLE blazers and reefers are of duck, pique and linen sacking and have all the fit and finish of a tailor-made garment.

NEVER was lace more popular than it is at the present time. From thirty to forty yards are used on a single silk-muslin costume.

IT is neck and neck this season between lightweight, delicately colored wools and silks. Indeed, at the present moment the former are considered not only more youthful but more chic than the latter.

AN easy way to freshen up an old waist is to add a flounce of lace, falling from the neckband in straight folds nearly to the waist line in front, forming epaulets on the shoulders and a collar in the back, but kept all in one piece.

AMONG the very handsome thin dresses are those of gauze brocaded in flowers. The skirts of these dresses are trimmed with valenciennes lace ruches, and the waist is formed of lengthwise puffs of the gauze separated by valenciennes insertion.

AMONG the pretty midsummer dresses are those of pale ecru batiste in princess form, fastened at the back. They are made over slips of pale-yellow and are shaped to the figure by narrow lengthwise tucks and trimmed with drooping bretelles of guipure lace.

THE newest thing in summer-weight hop sacking is in admiral blue, cherry red and silvery cadet blue. These are made with a simple Eton jacket and a bell skirt, somewhat less flaring than those skirts have been, with several shirt waists of plain China silk in white and any colors desired.

BOTH cotton and linen batistes are in great favor for midsummer dresses. They are trimmed with bands of insertion, either of guipure lace or of embroidery. Some batistes come in dress patterns, provided with drawn-work trimmings in rows and bands, for waist, sleeves, collar and belt, and with the skirt breadths finished with a wide hem headed with drawn work.

THE ITALIAN EXHIBIT.

Wonderful Things to Be Seen in Manufactures Building.

Unfortunately the Government at Rome Applied Too Late for Space; Else Italy's Display Would Be a Great One Indeed.

[Special World's Fair Letter.]

There is just one thing that Italy lacks at the world's fair to call its exhibit a truly great one, and that one thing is space. As a matter of fact, the priceless objects which she has sent over here would require at least double the space that could be accorded them, in order to make the showing and produce the effect which they otherwise would. Instead of barely 100,000 square feet, Italy ought to have 200,000. As it is, her wonderful artistic products are crowded into so insignificant a space, are so entirely devoid of that outward setting, have such a poor background, and are wedged in so tightly that the effect is more than half lost. In Manufactures building, where, of course, the main exhibit is made, the Italian section is almost wholly in the dark. Light filters through so sparingly that in places one can barely distinguish the colors and outlines of the objects on view. This regrettable state of things is, however, easily explained. Italy came too late. For a long time it looked as if she would make no display at all at our exposition, especially since her government had given it out that no appropriation would be made. Meanwhile France, Germany and England had been here, had chosen the best sites, and picked out all the space they needed, and Italy had to be contented with the leavings when she finally had made up her mind to join in.

The exposition management has done as well by Italy as circumstances permitted, and they have increased the originally allotted space several times since. But the additionally granted space is not the best imaginable, and it is cut off from the main Italian section in Manufactures building, so that many visitors do not even know of the various Italian annexes. The Milanese silk exhibit, a magnificent one, is located in one of these annexes. So is the splendid exhibit made by Gargiulo, of Sorrento, in wood mosaics, the piano exhibit, etc. Up in the galleries in the liberal arts department, some 5,000 square feet are given up to a display of books, artistic furniture and other industries.

The main features of the Italian exhibit are furniture, especially inlaid and sculptured; jewelry, especially filigree and coral; marble and wooden statuary; hammered iron work; damasks and other heavy silk goods; hats, felt and straw; musical instruments; chemicals, drugs and medicines; books, photographs, engravings and wines. There is not enough space at my disposal to speak fully of all the treasures for mind and eye shown by Italy. To speak generally it may be said that Italy's glory has not departed—that is very evident. Her art is still alive and vigorous, and seeks constantly new domains in which to shine. Her wood sculpturing, for instance, is quite novel and original. Toso, of Venice (a great artist, by the way, who died suddenly from asphyxiation one night, while sleeping in a hotel near the world's fair grounds) shows some remarkable samples of his skill—as the double statuette of Marguerite and Mephisto, the rear part being a carved representation of the latter, while the front portion shows the pretty maiden of Goethe's poem. This statuette has been sold, at the price of $1,200, to Potter Palmer.

Nelli, of Florence, has fine bronzes, and Andreoni both marble and bronze statuettes. An unusually fine exhibit is a heavy ebony table, made by Mariani, of Milan, elaborately inlaid with ivory, the picture thus formed being that of a battle scene, full of life and motion. The Venice laces are stored in a large pavilion erected by a big firm that employs 5,000 lacemakers. There you will see laces of every kind, from two cents the yard up to a single piece—a dress front—that costs $1,000. Polychrome laces, in different shades, are a specialty of this firm and were invented, a few years ago, by one of its members. A fine plate of silver, about three feet in diameter and valued at $20,000, is an exhibit by a Milan firm. The chasing is most elaborate and intricate, and the tales told by it, chosen from the mythological lore of the ancients, number by the score. The man who made this remarkably fine piece, Franzosi, was engaged upon it for ten years. An enameled silver coffee set, valued at $12,000, is also a curious creation of the artisan's fancy, for on its pieces is portrayed the history of the world, i. e., of the leading events since the earliest period. In books, too, Italy is very strong, especially in editions de luxe.

In Horticultural building is a fine and extensive exhibit of Italian wines—such as Marsala, Chianti, Ruffino, Barolo, Aetna wines, Lachrymae Christi, sparkling Muscats—120 exhibitors in all. But as the Italian commissioner in charge of this department, the Cavaliere T. Silombra, resignedly remarked: "California beats Italy in wines." He had just sent a report to his government that it was no use for Italy to try and compete with us in wines—they were both cheaper and better here. In Agricultural building there are olive oil and hemp, preserves and dried fruit, seeds and grains, liquors and cordials, caramels and honey, soap, etc., but no very large nor good display.

The Columbian caravels (made in reduced size after the original) sent as a loan exhibit by the city of Genoa, are to be seen in Transportation building, and so are models of merchant marine vessels, both steamers and sailing craft. In Electricity building a Milan firm shows electric lighting apparatus, and as globes, insulators, dynamos, etc. In Mining building there is marble of every kind, rough and hewn, also sulphur and quite an assortment of cement, such as used in Milan and Treviso for colored mosaic work. At the Woman's building there are art treasures due to the deft fingers of the Italian ladies—miniature paintings and embroideries, tapestries and dainty wood carving, laces and sculpturing. But what attracts by far the greatest attention is the priceless collection of laces sent as a loan by Queen Margherita, embracing perfect specimens from the first beginnings to the latest. Our government gave bond in the sum of $300,000 for the safe return of these precious laces, which in their aggregate are unique.

Lastly must be mentioned the Italian section in the Fine Arts palace, where eight rooms are occupied by a fairly representative collection of the works of Italian artists of the present day. There are some 300 statues and busts, fashioned out of marble and clay, terra cotta and alabaster, bronze and silver and copper and brass. Apolloni, of Rome, has a $10,000 statue of Carrara marble on view, and Ferrari has also some fine sculptures there. In paintings I may cite a fine portrait of Mancini by Bistolfi, of Milan; some good marine pictures by Ciardi, of Venice; the genre paintings (of all themes from everyday life in the city of lagoons) of Novo; some fine canvases by Prof. Corrodi, of Rome; a large number of landscapes by Carcano, of Milan, and some conscientious work by Lanceotto, Milesi and Fragiacomo. On the whole, though, the Italian fine arts section is not of as fine grade as the German or French, barely on a par with the British. Italian art, in fact, is strongest in Manufacturers building, where it is applied, and most skillfully, too.

HOUSE NUMBERING.
A postal card to me in that relation will insure your receiving the correct street number.
It is a thing is worth doing at all it is worth doing well. Do not, therefore, use the rust-inviting tin and sheet iron indicators, but try the bright, enduring, attractive nickel numbers, varieties of which, at 10, 15 and 20c. per number, I offer for your selection. Also white enameled letters for glass doors and windows. Orders respectfully solicited.

A DAY OF DEBATE IN BOTH HOUSES

Senator Peffer Introduces Two Novel Schemes—Postal Savings Banks Again—A Chance to Warm Over Old Silver—State Bank Circulation.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—The Senate spent only three hours in session yesterday, but that time was well filled up. Mr. Vest's bill appropriating $300,000 for a site and building in Washington to be known as the "Hall of Records" was passed. Then the bill to increase the circulation of National banks was taken up and postponed till to-day, for the reason that several Senators had informed Mr. Voorhees that they desired more time to prepare to discuss it. But before it was so laid aside an important amendment was proposed to it by Mr. Cockrell, to authorize the redemption (at par and accrued interest) of such 2 per cent bonds (over $25,000,000 in all) as may be offered, and to authorize the issue of new Treasury legal tender notes in payment therefor. This amendment produced considerable discussion, Mr. Sherman condemning it as an unbusinesslike proposition, and Mr. Cockrell expressing his amazement and mortification that the friend and patron of the National banks, the great gold monometallist from Ohio, should object to an amendment that would increase the amount of currency in circulation. Another amendment to the bill was offered later by Mr. Allen of Nebraska, for the cessation of interest on bonds on which the increased National bank circulation should be based. After that there were two speeches delivered, one by Mr. Berry in favor of bi-metallism and one by Mr. Gallinger against tariff legislation before 1898.

Dull Day in the House.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—The debate in the House yesterday was characterized by the ebb and flow of eloquence and by the presence and absence of interest. It was started by McCall (Rep., Mass.) in favor of the repeal of the purchasing clause of the Sherman bill and was closed by Moses (Dem., Ga.) in opposition thereto. Sandwiched between these two speeches were made by Coombs (Dem., N. Y.), Bryan (Dem. Neb.) and Henderson (Rep., Iowa). The first named made an address from a business standpoint in favor of the repeal of the Sherman law. Bryan made the speech of the day and although he occupied more than two hours in its delivery, he commanded the earnest attention of his colleagues throughout. He was one of the apostles of bi-metallism and his sympathizers regarded his arguments as unanswerable. But the same thing was said of the speech of Henderson by the opponents of free coinage and, taken altogether, the day's debate might be put down in the category of a drawn battle.

Millions in It.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—Senator Peffer introduced in the Senate yesterday (by request) two financial bills, one of which provides for the issue of six hundred million dollars of legal tender money on sheets of aluminum or silk threaded paper, as the people may prefer. The amount is to be converted into the Treasury as "surplus money" and a call for all the outstanding interest bearing bonds is to be made and they are to be redeemed at par and paid for from the surplus fund.

The second measure is headed "The new silver bill," and directs the Secretary of the Treasury to purchase all gold and silver bullion and subsidiary coins offered at any price, less the cost of transportation and mintage, without regard to the price in any foreign country. The bullion purchased is to be coined into standard coins at a ratio of 16 to 1. No reserve is to be held, except a sufficiency to meet the general indebtedness of the Government. For every dollar of gold and silver coined the Government is to issue two dollars in greenbacks to supply the place of national bank notes. No special amount of bullion is to be purchased monthly but the purchase is to be made so as to keep the mints running at their full capacity. In payments all three kinds of currency are to be used, and discrimination against any special class of it is prohibited.

Old Silver.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—The net balance in the Treasury in addition to the $100,000,000 gold reserve is only $11,500,000. There are large fixed expenditures which cannot be curtailed to meet the falling off in receipts. In this situation Treasury officials have been looking about them to see if something cannot be done to improve matters. There is in the Treasury about $12,000,000 in subsidiary coin. It has been there for ten years or more, useless, as far as paying obligations go. Many efforts have been made by Secretaries Windom, Foster, Carlisle and their predecessors to put this subsidiary coin out among the people. It would always come back again in a short time, there being already in circulation all the subsidiary coin that business would absorb. The suggestion is now made to coin these half and quarter dollar silver pieces into silver dollars and put them in circulation. It is believed they would remain in the channels of trade. The cost of this coinage would be, it is stated, about $300,000. This, however, could only be done by authority of Congress.

Postal Savings Banks.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—Mr. Kyle, the Populist Senator from South Dakota, has laid before the Senate a postal savings bank plan, which not only embodies the features of previous post savings bank bills but includes some additional features on the lines of the Third party's theories.

Under this bill the Postmaster General is authorized to designate certain postoffices, one in each county, to receive small deposits for remittance to sub-treasuries. He is to issue postal saving stamps from 10 cents to $1.

State Banks.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—The bill introduced by Mr. Gordon, of Georgia for a six months' suspension of the ten per cent. tax on State bank circulation, and in support of which he stated his reasons so plainly and forcibly, cannot be reported back until Friday, even if the Finance Committee should be inclined to report it at all, inasmuch as there will be no meeting of that committe until this evening.

For Governor of Iowa.

DES MOINES, Aug. 17.—The Republican State convention here yesterday nominated F. J. Jackson for Governor.

MORE RIOTING IN BOMBAY

A Hindoo Holiday Celebrated by Wholesale Slaughter.

BOMBAY, Aug. 17.—The religious race rioting was resumed in this city yesterday and for several hours the streets were the scenes of desperate conflicts. The fighting was of the most sanguinary nature and a large number of persons were killed and wounded. The day being a Hindoo holiday, the authorities anticipated a renewal of the recent disturbances and were in a measure prepared to suppress an outbreak, but the police and the force of troops in the garrison were inadequate to cover the whole city, and before quiet had been restored in one district fresh outbreaks would occur in other parts of the city.

The rage of the mob was directed especially against the mosques, several of which were sacked and burned. All the public buildings are now guarded by troops and the gunboats in the harbor have been cleared for action and brought into position to cover the native quarters. The local authorities are confident of being able to quell the rising.

The troubles in Bombay began on Aug. 12, when a number of encounters took place between Hindoos and Mohametans in the streets.

The day was one of religious observance of both bodies of these religious and race enemies, and both were allowed to celebrate simultaneously.

The Mohametans made the first attack and were routed by the Hindoos.

Troops were hastily called for from outlying posts and were massed in the chief native centres.

Guns were trained upon the principal native streets, the inhabitants being ordered to stay within their dwellings.

At first they obeyed, but soon the fighting began again. More troops were called in, but they found it impossible to cope with the native factions.

A despatch was sent to the Governor-General of India from Queen Victoria a few days ago, expressing severe displeasure at the negligence of the local authorities in not using adequate means to put down the disturbance.

THREE LIVE HUSBANDS.

Yet She is Only Twenty-three and Claims Nineteen.

SARATOGA, N. Y., Aug. 17.—Mrs. Helen Clough, of this village, was held yesterday to the grand jury on a charge of bigamy preferred by Charles Duclow, of Long Branch, who claims to be her first husband. She is the daughter of James H. Myers, a respectable citizen of this village, who says she is in her 23d year. She acknowledges to only 19 years.

The evidence disclosed that she was married to Duclow at Ballston Spa, Sept. 18, 1890, by the Rev. Joseph Zweifel, a Methodist pastor, and went with her husband to Long Branch and lived with him until she tired of working at his art of Indian basket making, and eloped from him.

On Feb. 12, 1893, she was married in this village by Rev. D. W. Gates, a Methodist pastor, to William Lawlor, of Albany, whom she soon deserted, and on July 4, 1893, she was again married in this village to Arthur B. Clough, by the Rev. Edgar P. Hiscox, a Baptist pastor. She was living with Clough until her arrest after the arrival of Duclow in town a few days ago.

All the husbands were in court, but she appeared totally unconcerned. Hon. Lewis Varney, her counsel, argued that she was a subject to a monomania in matrimony that renders her unconscious of committing crime.

She was bailed in $500. Her father and brother-in-law signed the bond.

A War of Tariffs.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—According to Consul General Mason, at Frankfort, Germany, who has just made a report to the State Department concerning the high tariff decreed by Germany and Russia against each other, the commerce between the two countries in some lines of merchandise is practically suspended, and he thinks that American producers have an opportunity that should be critically improved. Mr. Mason says that not only will Germany cease to draw from Russia the supplies of rye and petroleum, every year amounting to many millions of dollars, but owing to the drought, will have a serious deficit this year in her own home crop of grain, which will call for a very large importation of breadstuffs from the United States. The tariff went into effect Aug. 1. It makes a horizontal increase of 50 per cent.

A Yachting Wrong Righted.

LONDON, Aug. 17.—After the race for the Albert Cup in the regatta of the Royal Albert Yacht Club on Monday, the owner of the Satanita lodged a protest against the cup being awarded to the Britannia, which was first to cross the line. The protest was based on the ground that the Britannia had forced the Satanita to put about on wrong tack, thus causing her to fall behind. The managers of the club gave a decision in favor of the Satanita, which accordingly becomes winner of the cup. The Britannia was disqualified.

Poll of the House on Silver.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—The executive committee of the anti-silver forces in the House, appointed at the conference Tuesday night, held a meeting at 10 a. m. for consultation. A poll of the House has been practically completed by the canvassers in the interest of the anti-silver faction, which is said by one of the leaders to show an impregnable majority of 27 in favor of unconditional repeal of the purchasing clause as provided in the Wilson bill.

The Hop Crop.

CANAJOHARIE, N. Y., Aug. 17.—The earlier variety of hops in this State will be picked next week. The yield is about one-half the average. The quality is excellent, the vermin having done little or no damage. The present price for good hops is around 21 cents per pound. Buyers admit that if money was easier the offering would be 15 per cent. higher.

Creditors Extend Time.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—The creditors of Messrs. Harter, architects and builders of 191 Broadway, have arrived at a satisfactory understanding. The total amount of the firm's indebtedness is $26,000. The creditors agreed to extend the time one year.

DULL ABOUT PITTSBURG

A Sweeping Cut at the Carnegie Steel Works.

PAY CUT FROM 10 TO 30 PER CENT.

General Reductions Throughout the District—Twenty-Six Firms Decide to Economize—Eight Thousand Mechanics and Laborers Affected—Talk of a Strike.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 17.—Under date of August 10 the following circular was sent to the heads of all departments of the Carnegie Steel Company:

"PITTSBURG, Aug. 10, 1893.—Taking effect Sept. 1, 1893, and applying to every officer and employe of this association, excepting those working under wage scales, the following reduction in salaries is ordered:

"On salaries exceeding $500 per month, 30 per cent.; on salaries $400 and less than $500 per month, 25 per cent.; on salaries 200 and less than $400 per month, 20 per cent.; on salaries $60 and less than $200 per month, 15 per cent.; less than $60 per month, 10 per cent.

"This action has been deferred as long as possible in the hope that some improvement in the existing trade depression might occur, but as the situation is daily becoming worse this reduction is found absolutely necessary.

"By order of board of managers.

H. C. FRICK, Chairman."

Between 800 and 1,000 employes are affected.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 17.—Eight thousand machinists, pattern makers, molders, roll turners and laborers in the Pittsburg district have been notified of a reduction of 10 per cent. in their wages, dating from next Monday.

The cut is vigorously objected to and a strike is openly talked of. The proposed reduction affects the employes of 26 firms in Pittsburg.

A special meeting of the various trades interested will be held immediately and a course of action determined. The workmen claim that the proposed reduction is not justifiable; that the cut in wages is made to make up for a reduction in selling prices which is announced simultaneously with the cut in wages.

CORN IS KING.

President Hill of the Great Northern Defies Hard Times.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—Speaking to a reporter for the Evening Post, James J. Hill, President of the Great Northern Railway Company, said that the reductions in salaries and wages announced on the road went into effect on the 5th inst. They were not the result, he said, of the present financial and business troubles, but had been arranged long ago, and were simply the fulfillment of a long contemplated plan. The road has been put in first class condition and now economies were to be observed.

The reductions would average about $175,000 a month in the summer time and from $60,000 to $70,000 a month in the winter time, making a total saving of about $1,250,000 per annum.

Mr. Hill said he did not think his road would feel the hard times so severely as some of the roads serving sections of the country that had been settled longer. "We have no iron works or manufactories, for instance," he continued, "to carry along. We simply plough and plant and produce corn. It is that corn which is bringing the gold to this country."

A String on Dorsey's Gift.

DENVER, Aug. 17.—A Denver music house has secured a judgment against ex-United States Senator Stephen W. Dorsey for $450 for a piano. The piano has a history. At the close of the famous Star Route trial Dorsey, to show his gratitude to Col. Ingersoll, his attorney, presented the great lawyer with a beautiful log villa in Malpi Canon, New Mexico. It was a charming house, lavishly furnished. The piano was among its adornments. The instrument, however, was never paid for. Later Dorsey and Ingersoll fell out and of late years the Arkansas ex-Senator has met reverses so rapidly that he is now penniless. There are a number of judgments against him in Denver.

Fatal Railway Accident.

RICHMOND, Va., Aug. 17.—A special to the Dispatch from Milton, N. C., says the Atlantic & Danville train No. 4 fell through a bridge yesterday and two day coaches and a Pullman car were complety demolished. Conductor Morris, George B. Elam, of Durham, N. C.; J. T. Davies, of Caskerville, Va.; W. R. Ellason, of Alton, and Thomas Lee, colored, of Winston, were killed and seven others injured.

The Sunday Closing Case.

CHICAGO, Aug. 17.—The hearing of arguments on the motion to dismiss the Clingman injunction, restraining the World's Columbian Exposition from closing the World's Fair gates on Sunday, were resumed yesterday before Judges Dunne, Goggin and Brentano. The day was taken up in argument by the counsel. It is thought that the case will go to the judges to-day.

YELLOW FEVER NEAREER

A Schooner From Charleston Quarantined at Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 17.—The schooner Betty M. Lister, from Charleston, S. C., was detained at the local quarantine station Tuesday evening with three suspected cases of yellow fever on board.

The sick seamen were taken to the hospital at the Lazaretto, where one of them was found to be suffering from a developed case of the dreadful disease, while the others are suspects, and show symptoms of the early stages of the fever.

The schooner sailed from Charleston, S. C., a week ago. On the second day out one of the crew of eight men became ill with fever. He passed through the various stages and was reported this morning convalescent. The man was a foreigner and unable to tell Dr. Boenning where he had been prior to shipping from Charleston. The doctor said that the disease has not developed far enough in the other two men to enable him to say positively that it is yellow fever.

The fumigation of the vessel was performed yesterday. It is loaded with lumber which made the work of disinfecting easy. Dr. Boenning has caused the other men in the crew to be taken ashore, and they will be detained until the period for the development of the fever shall have passed. It takes at least ten days for the disease to develop.

How the vessel passed the Government quarantine is not stated, but it is claimed that the presence of the disease on board should have been detected there.

Funds to Move Wheat.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 17.—The question of moving the 100,000,000 bushels of wheat now being harvested by the farmers of Minnesota and the Dakotas is one of paramount importance, and yesterday the leading bankers of St. Paul and Minneapolis held a conference to discuss ways and means of meeting the emergency. A proposition was discussed that the banks of St. Paul and Minneapolis should create a local currency by issuing, on the lines of the plan of New York banks, Clearing House certificates, in denominations of $5, $10, $20 and $50, which could be loaned to the buyers to be used in payment for wheat to farmers and of freights and charges to railroads, and thus carry the wheat to market, when the proceeds would be returned to the banks, thus putting them in funds with which to redeem the local currency.

Scoring Cleveland and Carlisle.

TOPEKA, Kan., Aug. 17.—The Topeka Advocate, the official State paper, in an editorial demands the impeachment of Secretary Carlisle for having failed to purchase 4,500,000 ounces of silver under the Sherman law, during the month of July. It says that Secretary Carlisle grossly violated his oath of office and that President Cleveland is equally guilty and should be impeached at the same time, provided that he is responsible for Mr. Carlisle's conduct. Resolutions embodying the Advocate's editorial will be introduced in the Populist bi-metallic mass meetings to be held in each county of the State between now and August 21.

New Postmasters.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—The total number of fourth-class postmasters appointed yesterday was 68, of which 29 were to fill vacancies caused by resignation and death. Among the appointments were the following:

Maine—Vancebore, John Sweeney.

New Jersey—Iona, T. N. Atchison; Mahwah, John Petry.

Pennsylvania—Armah, J. J. Tinckon; Blythedale, Henry Rhodes; Finleyville, W. L. Caston; Helen Furnace, N. H. Thomison; La Jose, Isaac Markle; Rogersville, James Burroughs; Roulette, H. E. Fauscher; Woodland, James Agnew.

Making the Chinese Go.

TULARE, Cal., Aug. 17.—Last night a mob of white men went to Chinatown, broke into houses and marched about 50 Chinese to the railroad depot. Shots were fired to intimidate the Chinese, but none of them were injured. All the Chinese captured in the raid were sent North on a train. A dispatch from Fresno says that Chinese laborers are gradually being replaced by white men.

Forest Fires in Pennsylvania.

ALTOONA, Pa., Aug. 17.—Forest fires have been raging and spreading rapidly on the Allegheny mountains around this city for the past few days, destroying a large amount of valuable timber. The flames have also burned a number of cabins and a number of families are homeless.

Awaiting Distribution.

BOSTON, Aug. 17.—There is over $3,000,000 lying in the State Treasury awaiting distribution among the certificate holders of the defunct endowment orders. The receivers have found no end of trouble in settling up the affairs of the orders owing to intricate legal difficulties and the wretched condition of the books of most of the orders.

A Shut Down Extended.

WALTHAM, Mass., Aug. 17.—The Boston Manufacturing Co. have extended the time of the shut down at the Waltham mills to Sept. 16. The mills were to have started up next Monday, but only the bleachery will resume at that time. Inability to make collections is the cause of the continued vacation.

AN EXPENSIVE VICTORY

What Behring Sea May Cost the United States.

CABINET OFFICERS DISSATISFIED

Secretary Gresham Said to be Displeased Even With the Regulations—A Permanent Naval Squadron Necessary to Keep Off Poachers.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—Opinion in Washington over the decision of the Behring Sea tribunal differs materially as to the measure of the benefits, if any, derived by the United States from the regulations established. Naval officers and others whose duties have brought them in contact with the points in controversy, seem to think that the United States are the real victors so far as the practical effects of the decision go, but this view is not shared by prominent members of the diplomatic branch of the Government.

Secretary Gresham is said to be anything but satisfied with the findings of the court, and it is asserted that this dissatisfaction extends to the regulations. It is understood that his views are shared by other cabinet officers. As for the regulations they are that the United States will have entailed on them the cost and worry of patrolling Behring Sea without benefit to the sealers, while Russia, Japan and perhaps other nations reap a harvest, the regulations being binding only to Great Britain and this country.

During the pendency of the arbitration British and American warships patrolled the sea to prevent sealing, and the question whether the vessels of this country shall be withdrawn, is being given consideration. According to the decision of the tribunal the second sealing season shall begin Aug. 1. Information to this effect cannot reach the sealers for some weeks yet and it is not likely that any definite policy respecting the guardianship of the sea will be outlined until the opening of the season next year, because bad weather will put an end to the operations of the sealers in about two weeks, compelling them to return south.

Secretary Herbert is authority for the statement that the decision will hardly cause a reduction in the number of naval vessels to be maintained in Behring Sea and the likelihood of this is shown by a perusal of the regulations. The restrictions placed on sealers with reference to firearms, nets, explosives and steam vessels will have the effect it is believed of causing Canadian sealers to resort to desperate methods to secure good catches and much poaching is feared.

In the close season during the months of May, June and July, both Great Britain and the United States will be obliged to maintain a fleet of naval vessels to keep poachers from the sealing waters and it is believed at the Navy Department that this will result in the establishment of a permanent Behring Sea squadron for duty during the three months named.

The United States will also be obliged to maintain a watch on the waters within the 60 mile zone around the Pribyloff Islands during the entire mild season from the first of April to the first of September and it is probable that this duty will be discharged by vessels of the revenue marine service.

RENEWING THE BATTLE.

Dr. Parkhurst Tells the New York Police Where to Work.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—The long letter which Rev. Dr. Parkhurst sent to the newspapers and to the police authorities complaining that there were too many gambling places and disorderly houses in full blast in Capt. Devery's precinct, came up for consideration before the Police Board yesterday and was disposed of in very short order. Commissioners Martin, McClave and McLean were present. The chief clerk started to read the communication. He got as far as "to the Police Board of this city," when Commissioner McClave broke in, "I presume we have seen that in the newspapers."

President Martin: "Yes, I think it was intended for the newspapers more than us. It is dated June and was received here August 11."

Commissioner McClave: "Well, I don't think it worth while wasting time to read it. I move that it be referred to the Superintendent, with instructions to investigate and report back to us."

It was so ordered.

Reading Pay Car.

EASTON, Pa., Aug. 17.—An order was received yesterday afternoon for the Lehigh Valley pay car to be taken to Mauch Chunk immediately. It will be used by the Reading company to pay July wages. This will be good news throughout this section, as it was feared the Reading would not pay in the Lehigh valley for some time.

Yellow Fever at Brunswick.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—Surgeon General Wyman of the Marine Hospital service received a telegram from Surgeon Carter at Brunswick, Ga., stating that a further examination of Braham's case had been made and he is sure that it is yellow fever. The condition of the patient, he adds, is more favorable.

New York Yacht Club Race.

NEWPORT, Aug. 17.—The Vigilant arrived here under sail at 12:30 yesterday. Following was the Pilgrim, which went out in the morning to try her sails. The Jubilee, which struck the sand, has been examined and has received no injuries. She will be in the Astor Cup race to-day.

Against Whisky.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—The board of managers of the National Temperance Society has sent a protest to the Senate and House of Representatives against the passage of Senator Voorhees' joint resolution to extend the bonded whisky period to six months.

A Noted Murderer Captured.

LONG BRANCH, N. J., Aug. 17.—Information reached here late last night that "Pete" Dowling, the murderer of Robert Hamilton, the trusted agent of the late Anthony J. Drexel, has been captured at Camden, N. J., after a lapse of nearly six years.

Quarantine at Providence.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Aug. 17.—The Board of Health has orderded all vessels from Brunswick, Ga., and Pensacola, Fla., quarantined on account of the yellow fever there.

Twenty-five Useful Years.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 17.—Twenty-five years ago yesterday Cardinal Gibbons elevated to a bishopric in the Roman Catholic Church.

PARADE OF POVERTY.

New York's Unemployed March Through the Streets.

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—New York witnessed an unusual sight yesterday, a parade of the unemployed through the streets, their rally on Washington Square and their mass meeting in an East Side hall.

For the last few weeks a crowd of unemployed cloak makers, clothing cutters and other mechanics have congregated daily at the corners of Third and Greene and Third and Mercer streets, to seek employment. Yesterday afternoon these men started off, some 200 in number, for a parade of poverty.

By the time Washington Square was reached the paraders, numbering fully 1,000, seemed undecided what to do next. Somebody shouted: "Let's hire a hall," and the procession reforming, marched eastward.

On their way to Golden Rule Hall, on Rivington street, the paraders met Joseph Barondess, leader of the Cloakmakers, Union. He was recognized amid cheers. The crowd rushed into Golden Rule Hall, the proprietor of which donated its use for a meeting.

Barondess made a characteristic speech. He said he sympathized with the unemployed in their efforts to find work and that working people, whether organized or not, would never get their rights till they organized. Other speeches were made.

Then some one proposed resolutions, which were unanimously adopted as follows:

Whereas, We, the American workmen of different trades, are assembled in a hunger demonstration in consequence of present conditions, and

Whereas, The fact is that the monopolists of New York, London and Paris are responsible for the present misery and condition of the working masses, therefore, be it

Resolved, That we ask every hungry man, woman and child to assemble in a mass meeting and appeal to the public for bread.

Resolved, We call upon all hungry workingmen not to pay any rent until the present conditions are improved.

ROCKS AND WATER.

Weapons Used at Railway Crossing Fight in Massachusetts.

NORTH ABINGTON, Mass., Aug. 17.—The crossing trouble between the Consolidated railroad and the local electric line reached a climax yesterday when a gang of Italians attempted to tear up the latter's tracks. As the Italians, under the direction of Supt. Sanborn of the Consolidated road, began work, an attempt was made by the authorities to arrest them. This the men resented, and the Italians rushed in force upon the officers and citizens. Shovels and pickaxes were used freely and the Italians drove the citizens down North avenue. The fire alarm was rung, and No. 2 Hose turned out, and putting two streams on, drove the Italians back. As they got to the crossing they pulled the gate tender's house into the middle of the road, using it as a barricade. The fire boys made it so lively for the Consolidated men that they rallied and charged, and the rocks flew in every direction.

Among those knocked down was Supt. Sanborn. The Italians got the best of the fire boys and cut the hose in pieces and broke the nozzlets. A truce was then declared, Supt. Sanborn calling off his men. The Selectment sent to Boston to Chief Wade, and he and a large posse of State police officers came out on the afternoon train. There also came President Reed of the electric road and Judge Kelley. They brought with them the injunction which had been granted by Judge Barker, of the Supreme Court. The papers were served on Supt. Sanborn, and he sent his men to their trains and gave up the fight. About 20 persons were more or less injured in the fight, two receiving bullet wounds, but no fatal results are feared.

A Matrimonial Swindler.

PASSAIC, N. J., Aug. 17.—Mrs. Charles Van Dausen, a young widow, was swindled out of $500 by Charles C. Munson, who recently called on her in answer to a matrimonial advertisement. He boarded at the St. Cloud hotel in New York city, dressed well and wore much jewelry. A week after they met he told her of a speculation which would enable him to make $1,000 in a very short time. She drew $500 from a bank and lent it to him. He gave her his note for the amount and went to New York promising to return in a few days. Mrs. Van Dausen has not heard from him since and has not succeeded in tracing him, although she has employed several detectives.

Paying in Gold.

CHICAGO, Aug. 17.—Fifty thousand dollars in gold was paid to postal employes here yesterday on salary account. United States Sub-Treasurer Tanner was questioned about the matter. "We've changed our policy," he said, "under instructions just received from Secretary Carlisle. Gold will be paid out in the future to meet the obligations of the Government. For some time past we have been holding on to gold bills and Treasury notes but now it's the silver certificates and Treasury notes of July, 1890, that we will store up. The gold reserve is intact and there is a big surplus and that's why we are paying out the yellow metal."

Persian Display at the Fair.

CHICAGO, Aug. 17.—The imperial Persian section in the Agricultural Building was opened to the public yesterday by the commissioners without ceremoney. The subjects of the Shah have brought together a magnificent display of Persian tapestry, rugs, carpets, art wares in brass and other metals, ancient and modern weapons, jewelled and cased and inlaid with blades of finely tempered steel.

Connecticut Day.

HARTFORD, Conn., Aug. 17.—It has been decided to celebrate Connecticut Day at the World's Fair Oct. 11. Governor Morris and staff and the State World's Fair commissioners will leave New York in a special car on Oct. 8. At Chicago the delegation will be received by the Sons of Connecticut and Gov. Morris will respond to the speech of welcome.

Weather Report.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—For New England and Eastern New York: Warmer; easterly winds; fair weather; followed by light local rains to-night. For Eastern Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, the District of Columbia, Virginia and North Carolina: Warmer; easterly winds; fair, followed by light rains.

Car Building Dull.

ALBANY, Aug. 17.—Before Judge Mayham yesterday William Shaw, of Troy, was appointed receiver of the Gilbert Car Works, Green Island, N. Y., and William Kemp and James Keenan, of Troy, were appointed receivers of the Troy Iron and Steel Company.

WALTER IRVING CLARKE, - Managing Editor.

WEATHER INDICATIONS.

For New Jersey, Fair, Slightly Cooler on Friday, Southerly Changing to Northwesterly Winds.

Editor Evans of the Elizabeth Herald must be suffering from the harrassing persistency of a landlord, for he says:

It is noticeable that amid all this talk of financial flurry and hard times, the fall in the value of silver and the like, there is one thing that does not fall, and that is a man's rent.

Self-respecting wheelmen are warned against visiting Rahway, if the Elizabeth Journal's story is true. That always truthful paper says that cyclists are stopped in lonely places by men showing firemen's badges and pretending to be policemen, who demand tribute. The wheelmen get off by paying a dollar to the bogus officers.

The Town Committee of Westfield, realizing the value of local franchise for lighting monopoly, is inclined to squeeze tribute from capital's pocket into the people's treasury. Rival gas concerns want the exclusive right to operate in the town, and with customary corporation greed they are opposed to paying anything for the franchise. But Westfield has a sense of what is right, and the companies declining to pay anything for the privilege of constructing and operating a gas plant find their applications for a free franchise very speedily returned with unanimous refusal of the petitions.

Westfield's sound business sense is further shown in its recent good-roads legislation. This was the passage of one ordinance granting a tax rebate of fifty cents a wheel for all wagons with a tire over four inches wide, and of another to regulate the opening of the streets for connection with water, gas or sewer mains, prescribing a penalty for making an opening without a permit from the town clerk, and requiring a guarantee of $5 to be put into his hands to insure placing the street in good condition again. The town counsel gave as his opinion that the committee could not stop the Union Water Company laying their mains in the streets, but that they could compel them by ordinance to lay them in a proper manner and preserve the excellence of the highways.

Roselle believes in doing things up in style. She recently established a public drinking fountain for man and beast, at the intersection of Westfield and Chestnut avenues, opposite the railroad station. Now, not content with supplying pure water simply, she is planning to have the fountain brilliantly illuminated by electric light at night and having the water kept at a delightful temperature in the torrid season by means of a refrigerating tank. The natives say that one beauty of the fountain is that the supply is from the uncontaminated source at Netherwood, and therefore he who stops to drink need not have his enjoyment marred by speculation as to whether he is the regulation distance from Farmer Jones's cowyard. When will Plainfield follow her small but thrifty sister's good example?

Nowhere is industrial life insurance more prolific than in Plainfield, and in a town where nearly everyone has a policy it will be interesting to know that all New Jersey is shown by the figures to be a paradise for the life-insurance agent. New Jersey is one of the leading life-insurance States of the Union, both as to the amount of business in force and the amount written annually. This is true of industrial insurance as well as of ordinary life. At the beginning of the year 1892 there were 703,042 life-insurance policies in force in this State. During the year 301,212 new policies were issued, and 180,431 terminated, leaving the number of policies in force December 31, 1892, at 823,823.

The majority of these policies were written by industrial companies, and the report shows that out of the total number of policies in force 784,098, representing $87,056,872 of insurance, were written by the industrial companies, and 39,730 policies, representing $98,463,111, were written by the regular life companies.

And He Lives in Plainfield.

[From The New York Commercial Advertiser.]

The champion orator on 'Change is L. V. DeForeest (not Forest), and he can discourse on politics, stocks, religion, the tariff, bimetallism, hypnotism and fatalism with the eloquence and erudication of an Evarts, Choate or Depew. All the members concede his oratorical ability and on all occasions he is the man expected to say something. While many fluent talkers are visionary and soar in verbal ecstacy beyond the empyrean, though in practical matters they can do nothing, he combines the practical with the imaginative. He originated various methods of trading now in operation on the Exchange. He is a red-hot Republican and resides in Plainfield, N. J.

MAYOR SAUNDERS DISAPPROVES.

THAT ELECTRIC-LIGHT ROW NOT A BIT TO HIS LIKING.

He Holds that the Borough Council's Business is to Encourage Competition, Not Foster Monopoly—The Contract and Resolution on Which the Belligerent Councilmen Pinned Their Faith Are Missing.

Mayor W. L. Saunders of North Plainfield protests quite vigorously against the action of the Republican majority in his absence, in involving the borough in a row with the Plainfield Gas and Electric Light Company. He holds that the duty of the people's chosen representatives is to encourage competition, not seek to establish monopolies. He never would have consented to ordering the Plainfield company to clear out, had he been here.

In this connection, it is interesting to know that the borough officers are having a hard time seeking to find the resolution of years ago in which they thought they reserved the right to eject the Plainfield company. The contract that was believed to exist cannot be found, and the minutes of the Council give no clue to relieve them from their embarrassement. So far nothing official has come to light to show that the Council of years ago reserved the right of ejection which the present Council believed it reserved.

BEATEN BY THE ASYLUMS.

But the Crescents May Turn the Tables on Their Own Grounds.

The Asylum nine at Middletown, N. Y., yesterday defeated the Crescents of Plainfield by the aid of a rocky field and a stiff rocker umpire. The score:

The Middletowns will come to Plainfield for a return game in a short time.

The Orange team which plays here Saturday, recently defeated the Middletowns.

A number of Plainfield kranks went to Asbury Park today to see their favorites tussle with the crack team of the shore.

Binghampton is anxious to secure Jack Martin, the Crescents' dandy third-baseman, for the balance of the season, but he'll stay with the Plainfield team.

Young Keeler, the Crescent graduate, and Brooklyn's pet, is being dubbed Silent Billy. He seldom says a word, and is the quietest man playing in the League.

Poughkeepsie will play here Sept. 2, and the Englewood Field Club Sept. 9. The Cuban Giants boast that they will wallop Plainfield Labor Day. They have greatly strengthened their team. The Crescents will probably play at Far Rockaway August 26.

JOHNSTON'S DRIVE IN BAD SHAPE.

This Roadway Needs Immediate Attention.

Much complaint is made of the wretched condition into which Johnston's Drive is being permitted to lapse. The storms have washed great stones loose, and the roadway is rough and dangerous. Dr. O. L. Jenkins, of East Front street, had a $350 horse injured by stumbling and falling in a bad spot a few days ago. The residents of the mountain, notably Charles Willis, Louis Walz and John Willis, have spent considerable labor and money on the road out of their own pocket, and they feel that the township should attend to it and put it in shape. All who go driving there in its present condition risk not only their horses' necks but their own.

Lulu Wants Damages.

The complaint of Lulu Henderson against Annie Fisher, both colored, for violating the city ordinance in respect to using abusive language, was withdrawn from the City Court this morning by Geo. DeMeza, Lulu's counsel. The complaint will be replaced by a suit for slander.

—Two cases for alleged violation of contract were before Justice Nash yesterday afternoon. The were Homan against Barton and Burnet against Van Winkle and both were adjourned for one week.

The Best in the World.

Senator Henry C. Nelson, of New York, writes:

"On the 27th of February, 1883, I was taken with a violent pain in the region of the kidneys; I suffered such agony that I could hardly stand up; as soon as possible I applied two ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS, one over each kidney, and laid down; in an hour, to my surprise and delight, the pain had vanished and I was well. I wore the plasters for a day or two as a precaution, and then removed them. I have been using ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS in my family for the last 10 years, and have always found them the quickest and best remedy for colds, strain and rheumatic affections. From my experience I believe they are the best plasters in the world."

PARTICULAR MENTION.

William A. Schorb has the sympathy of his many friends in the death of his young wife Lizzie.

Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Timpson leave town today to visit Lewis G. Morris, Morris Heights, New York.

John W. Murray and family arrived home last night from the World's Fair, where they spent two weeks.

A message from Asbury Park states that Cashier Gardner of the City National Bank is resting somewhat easier.

Mrs. E. B. Harris and son, of Cranford, are visiting at the home of Mrs. Harris's father, S. B. Hope, Richmond street.

Frank Raymond of Madison avenue, who had a relapse of his long illness with typhoid, is slowly improving again.

Mr. and Mrs. Garret Q. Packer and daughter and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jones are expected home from Chicago Saturday or Monday.

Mrs. John Savage and family returned to their home in Brooklyn after a pleasant visit to her friend, Miss Carrie Spencer, Washingtonville.

Almira, wife of Lewis C. J. Randolph, died at her home in Evona this morning, aged 57. She had lived a life ripe in good deeds, and will be sadly missed.

Mr. and Mrs. James H. Potter have been sadly bereaved in the loss of their son James H., Jr., who died at Fair Haven, Monmouth county, Aug. 11.

A. E. Bushnell was in town today signing papers with J. H. McVey, who has leased Maple Cottage, 221 East Second street, for one year from next April.

Mrs. Martin, of 28 Linden avenue, is visiting relatives at Bonhamtown and Metuchen. Her daughter, Miss Ida, has gone to Cayuga Lake for two weeks.

Westfield lost a good and honored citizen in Henry F. Alpers, who died at Danaville, N. Y., August 15, aged 43 years. The funeral was held this afternoon at 4:30 from his late residence in Westfield.

The funeral of Aaron Berkaw, whose lamentable death occurred yesterday, will be held from the residence of his son-in-law, J. A. Smith, 315 Central avenue, tomorrow at 12:30 noon. Interment will be in Flemington.

Henry M Goodwin, a popular resident of Westfield township, died yesterday in his thirty-ninth year. The funeral will be from the Scotch Plains Methodist church, to-morrow afternoon at 3, and Goodwill Lodge, K. of P., will attend in a body.

L. E. Barkalew is always trying to make some one happy. This time the beneficiaries are the residents of Duer street. Mr. Barkalew is about to begin the erection of another cosy house on the long vacant lot at 75 Duer street, and all the neighbors are delighted.

John Rafferty is about to improve the vacant land facing on Second street, in the rear of his Park avenue place, which has so long served as storage ground for G. Q. Packer and other merchants. He will transform it into a lawn and turn it over to his children as a playground.

Two prominent Plainfielders are today on the briny deep enjoying the complete rest that a sea voyage brings. They are the famous artist George Wharton Edwards and the skilful physician Dr. J. B. Probasco. Mr. Edwards sailed yesterday by the steamship Rhynland, for Antwerp. He is utterly fagged out from his intense application to the multifarious demands on his art. He will spend his time abroad sketching leisurely and recruiting his forces for the preparation of a superb work on Spain which he is to write and illustrate. Dr. Probasco sailed on the City of Paris of the American Line, yesterday, and will make a tour of the British Isles during the balance of August.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—That old dead elm will encumber the ground no more in front of the First Presbyterian church.

—The most catching signboard in town is the big fist on Park avenue that points to the piano warerooms of Vanderbeek & Sattels.

—Summons was issued this morning by Justice Mosher in the case of French vs. Keely, on contract. The papers are returnable August 23.

—The case of the city against Chas. Sauracher on the charge of fighting with and abusing his wife was adjourned this morning for two weeks.

—You won't miss $5 a month expended on those elegant building lots at Netherwood. Don't fail to attend the auction sale in the big tent Saturday.

—Bain or sunshine, Auctioneer Taylor sells lots. He has a tent that will hold a thousand people, and it 'll be in place on that Netherwood land Saturday.

—The Directors of the Plainfield Building and Loan Association will hold their regular monthly meeting this evening in the office of Wm. R. Codington.

—The local postal service has been improved by the closing of the New York afternoon mails at 2 and 5:15, instead of 12:30 and 5:20. The Somerville early afternoon mail now arrives at 2:30 instead of 1:30.

—Charles T. Nightingale will have an important establishment in his new bottle-stopper manufactory at Fourth and Washington streets. It will be 30x80 feet, and three stories high. B. Fosgate is the architect.

—The peach business is going to be very heavy on the Central Railroad this season; the company is turning about 200 large box cars into peach cars, with the usual shelving. A car will hold about 600 baskets.

—The second annual picnic of St. Francis church will be held in Cedar Grove, Saturday, August 19. There will be music by O'Reilly, of Plainfield, also by a celebrated Irish piper, with dancing afternoon and evening and athletic sports.

—At last Plainfield has a restaurant where one may eat in comfort and be served in style. Miller Bros.' Grenada Cafe grows daily in popularity. It is quiet, cool, free from flies and disorder, and just the place for fastidious man or woman to get a well cooked and generous breakfast, dinner or supper, either table d' hote or a la carte.

SUN-LIGHT and FRESH AIR are THE BEST DISINFECTANTS, of course; but you can't apply them in every situation. What next? Well, that depends. For damp cellars use Quicklime, plenty of it. For vaults and cesspools use COPPERAS; cheap stuff; we sell it by the pound or hundred-weight—instructions thrown in. For kitchen sinks, for water-closets, for house plumbing, for the sick room, to deodorize discharges, to purify the air and to prevent contagion, use REYNOLDS'S ODORLESS DISINFECTANT. Made and sold for fifteen years at

Reynolds's Pharmacy, Corner Park and North Avenues.

Corporation Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the Common Council have fixed the thirty-first day of August, A. D. 1893, at 8 o'clock p. m., and the Council Chamber, No. 109 Park avenue, in the city of Plainfield, as the time and place for J. Frederick MacDonald, William M. Sandford and Edward C. Mulford, the commissioners appointed by the Common Council pursuant to the ordinance entitled, "An ordinance to widen Madison avenue from the southeasterly side line of West Front street to the northwesterly line of the right of way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey," approved June 5, 1893, to meet. The street proposed to be widened and laid out is Madison avenue from the southeasterly side line of West Front st. to the northwesterly line of the right of way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey. The alterations proposed to be made are to widen said Madison so that the same shall be of the uniform width of twenty-five feet on each side of the centre line thereof, which centre line is described in said ordinance, and shown on map filed in the office of the City Clerk entitled "Assessment map for the widening of Madison avenue from West Front street to the Central Railroad of New Jersey, city of Plainfield, N. J., dated 1893, made by F. A. Dunham, civil engineer."
The lands and real estate intended to be taken for such purpose are all that come within twenty-five feet of either side of said centre line between the southeasterly side line of West Front street, and the northwesterly line of the right of way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey, as shown by said map and said ordinance, to which reference is hereby made for more detailed description.
By order of the Common Council.
F. W. RUNYON, City Clerk.

TRIPLE AFFLICTION.

Sad Bereavement of Lawrence Collins, Whose Sister Grieved to Death Over the Loss of Nephew and Niece.

Heavier blow could not be borne by man than the affliction which weighs down the heart of Lawrence Collins of Scotch Plains.

Within the year Mr. Collins lost two children, a boy and a girl, and now he has lost his sister, Miss Joanna Theresia Collins.

Miss Collins was an estimable woman of 43 years. She had been in excellent health, but the loss of her niece and nephew was a heavy blow, and the grief developed heart disease from which she died.

Mr. Collins is a highly esteemed citizen. He has for 35 years been a resident of Scotch Plains, and for eight years has been the faithful engineer at Scott's Printing Machine Works. Everyone will sympathize deeply with the man of misfortune.

The funeral of Miss Collins will be from her late residence at Scotch Plains tomorrow morning at 9, and from St. Mary's church in Plainfield at 10.

World's Fair Prize Winners in New York City.

The public of this vicinity who are unable to attend the World's Fair in Chicago, are to be given an opportunity to see the best exhibits, those which have taken the prizes, through the efforts of the Manhattan Industrial Exhibition Company, who propose to hold an exhibition in the Grand Central Palace, New York, in January next.

The object of this exposition is to reproduce, as far as practicable, the prominent and most attractive exhibits at the World's Fair. The Grand Central Palace, with its 400,000 square feet of floor space, has been secured for the purpose. Here an opportunity is offered those firms in New York, who for one reason or another did not participate in the World's Fair, to make an exhibit and display their goods, to perhaps as great as if not greater advantage than at Chicago.

As a strong effort is being made to interest the principal exhibitors at the World's Fair in the undertaking, it is to be hoped that the merchants will be alive to the possibilities of the situation and will not let others crowd them out on their own stamping-ground.

It is proposed to fix the price of admission at the popular figure of twenty-five cents, which alone ought to be sufficient inducement to attract many thousands of people. Further information in regard to the Exposition can be obtained by addressing the office, 122 West 23d street, New York.

Excellent Diversity.

Worthington's Illustrated Magazine for September shows great diversity of material and an excellent list of contributors. The interest and value of its leading articles, and the fine literary quality of its stories, poems and department matter, are admirably supplemented by fine press work and specially prepared illustrations which make this number as attractive as it is readable. Worthington's Magazine for September, is, like its predecessors, especially adapted to the varied tastes and needs of the American family, and as such may safely be recommended to all who desire bright, wholesome and instructive reading.

Mountains of Coal at Junction.

The Jersey Central is now dumping coal at Junction, and has eight large mountains of coal which look like huge piles of black diamonds, when you are away from them about a mile. There are four floors, each of which holds forty thousand tons of coal, and there are about one hundred and twenty thousand tons now dumped. It costs two and one-half cents to load it, or about thirty cents a car to dump and load. It is done automatically, being carried up by a shute and re-loaded by a re-loader, which works into the heap at the bottom.

Wants Dogs with Padlocks on Their Jaws.

Editor Pearsall of the Westfield Standard gives a graphic picture of the condition of canine affairs:

Six dogs in full cry, chasing vehicles as they left the station Tuesday evening, was the interesting circumstance, that testified to new comers and visitors that Westfield was a truly desirable place in which to reside. In these dog days, apart from the noise nuisance, dogs wearing padlocks on their jaws are the most desirable kind, next to dead dogs.

Sober Reflection.

Rent-payer, put this in your pipe and smoke it. You can buy property of Taylor & MacDonald at your own price, pay for it on very easy terms, build yourself a nice home, and altogether spend not more than $1,500. $1,500 at 6 per cent. would be $90; taxes, $15; insurance, $5; total, $110; or about $2 a week. Don't you pay more than this to someone else for rent and have nothing to show for it but receipts? Why not pay it on your own home?

The Chance of a Lifetime.

You can get a carriage, set of harness, robes, whips, etc., at your own figure, Saturday morning at 10, when the entire stock of the Plainfield Carriage Company will be disposed of at public auction, preparatory to dissolution. There will be rare bargains. The building also will be sold, at 688 South Second street, adjoining Potter Press Works.

—The live real-estate men of the town just now are VanBuren & Timpson, who are hustling in spite of summer dulness for a big fall trade. If you want your property rented sure by good tenants, go to them. They have constituted themselves Commissioners of Select Immigration and are going to bring lots of New York and Brooklyn people to town.

One of my children had a very bad discharge from her nose. Two physicians prescribed, but without benefit. We tried Ely's Cream Balm, and much to our surprise, there was a marked improvement. We continued using the Balm and in a short time the discharge was cured.—O. A. Carr, Corning, N. Y.

MUCH MARRIED MR. BULLOCK.

SUCH TROUBLE AS HIS THREE WIVES HAVE GIVEN HIM!

No. 1 Proved Troublesome After She Had Been Divorced—This Resulted in No. 2's Leaving Him—No. 3 Also Left Him After Getting a Lot of His Property, and, It Is Said, Married Someone Else—He Has Lost a Fortune in the Litigation.

Thomas O. Bullock, a retired rice importer, who is from time to time a familiar figure on the streets of Plainfield, and whose second and favorite wife was a Plainfield Miss Sutton, has a large estate at Succasunna, near Dover, and is called in that place the much-married master of Arbor Vitæ Lodge. This title is bestowed on account of his having been married three times and having had trouble with all three wives, and he apparently caught a genuine tartar in his third matrimonial venture.

Two weeks ago he made a complaint to Police Justice Brown of Dover that Gertrude Bullock, his latest wife, had threatened to kill him with a hatchet, and to shoot him. He also made complaint that at divers times between June 29 and July 14 she maliciously destroyed sundry pictures, clocks, glassware, and other articles of value. Mrs. Bullock, when arraigned, waived examination and gave bonds to appear at the quarter sessions at Morristown, Oct. 24.

Mr. Bullock is a man stockily built, about 55 years of age, of genial disposition and pleasant manners. According to the story which he authorized a friend to tell, from being a wealthy man when he retired from business some years ago, he is now a comparatively poor man, through litigation incident to the trouble with his wives.

He got a divorce in Utah from his first wife, whom he married many years ago, after which he again married. Two years ago, and thirteen years after the Utah divorce was granted, his first wife brought suit against him on the ground that the Utah divorce was not legal. The courts held that the Utah divorce was illegal, and wife No. 2, being released, left him, although she had lived with him thirteen years.

When wife No. 1 began suit against him he transferred his property to wife No. 2. After wife No. 2 had left him wife No. 1 obtained a divorce with alimony, which decision Bullock has carried to a higher court, and the case is now hanging.

Wife No. 2 (the Plainfield woman) made some trouble before she gave up the property, but a settlement was made that was satisfactory to both parties, and Bullock has always said since that he and wife No. 2 would have lived together again if it had not been for the lawyers.

Bullock about a year ago became acquainted with and on Aug. 23, 1892, married a woman who gave him her name as Gertrude Saunders of Brooklyn, but whose real name is said to be Margaret Saunders. Miss Saunders is a handsome, well-built woman about 35 years of age, and when Bullock paid court to her and during the first few months of married life displayed the sweetest disposition. Her pleasing manners and apparent sterling qualities impressed Bullock to such a degree that he deeded his property over to her. Shortly after that she developed a strong liking for visits to New York, where she remained a week or ten days at a time.

When Bullock remonstrated with her for staying away so long, she would say that she was tired of living with him.

Four months after her marriage to Bullock she married Henry Prescott, a saloon keeper in New York. Bullock did not know she was married until about a week ago, when he became suspicious, and, visiting New York, found the certificate of marriage on record.

When he informed her that he knew she was married, she coolly answered that the property was in her name, and that as she had married him under a false name the marriage was void, and that she would keep the property and throw him over.

Shortly before the time Bullock made his complaint she broke all the looking-glasses and china in the parlor. The next day she said to Bullock, before one of his men, that she would take $2,000 and give him opportunity to secure evidence for a divorce.

This proposition not being accepted, she smashed all the china, crockery, glassware, etc., within reach, and after trying to get at Bullock to harm him, left the house. Bullock then made his complaint.

Mrs. Bullock went to Succasunna last Friday with her lawyer, who had written in advance that they were coming, and that they wanted to stay at the house over Sunday. Mr. Bullock met them at the station, and said they could not go to the house, for which, he says, he was cursed violently by his wife.

Mrs. Bullock and her lawyer went to the hotel and, hearing that Bullock was going to sue her for bigamy as well as for assault, she left town.

The constable of Succasunna is looking for her now, and if she comes there she will be served with papers. Bullock will endeavor to have the Grand Jury indict her, at any rate.

Bullock bought the estate in Dover five years ago, and, after paying a handsome price for the 150 acres of land, spent a fortune in laying it out as a model farm. He keeps seven horses, five of which were at the disposal of his wife. The property is now mortgaged,—reports the New York Sun—and the taxes have not been paid for some time, which is attributed to the litigation with his wives. He has a child, now a young woman, by his first wife, who lives in New York.

Dunellen's Catcher Caught.

The engagement of Monroe Read, of West Dunellen, to Miss Lillian Aub, of New York city, is announced by the Dunellen Call, which says that Miss Aub is a cultured and prepossessing young lady and at present is the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Mitchell, who is summering at Trust's.

PEERLESS ROUTE TO BOSTON.

Delightful Journey of a Plainfield Party by the Palatial Sound Steamer Connecticut.

It was the pleasant privilege of a party of Plainfielders a short time ago to journey from New York to Boston and back again, by the matchless line of the Providence and Stonington Steamship Company. The steamers Massachusetts and Connecticut in commission on this route are the peers of any steamers in the world for the beauty and convenience of their appointments, the excellence of their service, and their arrangements for the safety and comfort of passengers.

They are steered by steam, lighted by electricity, with electric bells from every stateroom, and have all the most modern appliances that science and art can suggest to render them absolutely safe, comfortable and luxurious.

It was by the elegant steamer Connecticut that the Plainfielders journeyed. This vessel is captained by the sterling veteran George Williams of Brooklyn. Like its counterpart, the Massachusetts, it is a mammoth, magnificent steamboat. The staterooms are the perfection of coolness and cleanliness. The soft spring mattresses are restful, and the subdued throb of the giant engines lulls the traveler to sleep. There is very little jar from the machinery, and all the party had a good night's rest and a delightful trip throughout. A superior orchestra gives concerts every evening in the grand saloon. The music is carefully selected, and the concerts will compete in artistic excellence with any similar class of entertainment on shore. The cuisine is the best. Meals are served a la carte, and you order what you want and pay only for what you get. The main deck dining room of the Massachusetts, and the cafe dining room of the Connecticut on the main deck, are features of the Providence Line.

The steamers leave New York from Pier 29, North River, foot of Warren street, at 5:30 p. m., daily except Sunday, arriving at Providence about 6 a. m., connecting with express train leaving steamer's wharf at 6 a. m.; arriving at Boston at 7:15 a. m.; also connecting at Providence with express train leaving steamer's wharf at 6:10 a. m., arriving at Worcester at 8 a. m. Connections are made at Boston and Worcester with all railroads and steamship lines to all points in New England, the White Mountains and the Maritime Provinces.

Stepping from the boat to the cars, right at the dock at Providence, you have a charming ride of an hour and a quarter (42 miles) over the Old Colony Railroad to Boston. The train lands you in the heart of the city, at the Park Square station, the most elegant, commodious and convenient passenger station in New England. It is a magnificent structure.

The trip in both directions was to the delighted Plainfielders an event never to be forgotten, and they came home firmly impressed that no pleasanter route of travel is open to the American public than by the Sound steamers of the Providence and Stonington Line.

Plainfield Boilers Help Run the Fair.

The Sabbath Recorder in its description of the great Machinery Hall at the World's Fair gives some space to a Plainfield enterprise:

In the boiler-house plant of this Hall are ten large patent water-tube steam boilers, furnished by the Babcock & Wilcox Company, 30 Cortlandt street, New York city. The president of this company is George H. Babcock, Plainfield, N. J. These boilers are placed here with forty-two others to drive the machinery in this Hall, and to perform work elsewhere in the buildings and on the grounds. They have the capacity of 3,000 horse power, are fed by crude oil from wells in Indiana, and have been in use for nearly a year without any repairs, as cannot be said of nearly all the other boilers. In the Russian exhibit of this Hall is a model of this boiler, and various parts of the large boiler constructed of wrought iron in St Petersburg. These boilers of Babcock & Wilcox are used in the driving house of the Intramural Railway of the Fair, propelled by electricity generated here. This house is located in the southeastern quarters of the grounds.

Veterans' Reunion.

The third annual reunion of the Thirtieth Regiment, Veteran Volunteer Association, will be held in Flemington, Wednesday, Sept. 6. The members of the association are requested to meet at the station of the South Branch Railroad in Flemington at 10:45 a. m. The committee of arrangements take great pleasure in stating to the members that they were very generously received by a deputation of the G. A. R. Post, who have taken on themselves the order of exercises, and a most enjoyable time may be expected. All living on the line of the Jersey Central Railroad should take the C. R. R. train arriving in Somerville at 10 a. m., connecting with the South Branch train leaving Somerville at 10:10 a. m.

The Frazee Estate.

Whitfield Frazee wants The Press to deny that the children of Gus Frazee are quarreling over his property. Whit says the old man can have it all and welcome. Another son states that Gus is welcome to his home there, but that he needs someone to look after the place for him. It is said that the original transfer of the property to Gus's wife was made through Gus's father and was done to protect it from being involved in a brother's failure in business.

To Wash Soiled Hands.

[From The Westfield Leader.]

The Plainfield Press thinks that the location of the Cooper drinking fountain in front of our office will be a handy thing for the thirsty compositors. Well, yes; but we propose to use it to wash our hands in when we lay hold of the dear delinquents.

This Chicken Was Born Blind.

Frank Weston, one of the Daily Press newsboys, is the owner of a chicken hatched a few days ago without any eyes. The chicken is fed regularly every day by Frank himself, who has to take it in his hand and place food in its bill.

FIRE PANIC IN ATLANTIC CITY.

HOTEL GUESTS AND COTTAGERS FRIGHTENED INTO THE STREETS.

Opera House, City Hall and Police Headquarters Destroyed—The Blaze Thought to Be Incendiary.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 17.—About 4 this morning fire broke out in the Grand Opera House, situated in the most prominent part of the city. The flames spread rapidly, and although the firemen got to work as speedily as possible, they were unable to save the building or prevent the flames from communicating to surrounding property.

The City Hall and Police Headquarters were destroyed and will have to be rebuilt. By hard work the firemen succeeded in saving the railroad station of the West Jersey & Camden Railroad Company and Kuehnicle's Hotel on the other side of the street.

The people in the neighboring hotels and cottages became panic stricken, as it was feared at one time that the fire would sweep over the whole neighborhood. The guests of the nearest hotels to the scene of the fire, who were aroused from their sleep, ran about in an excited manner and removed their personal effects to places of safety.

The Grand Opera House, which was burned to the ground, was erected three years ago at a cost of $200,000. It is said to have been owned by a stock company. There was no insurance on the building. The loss on the City Hall and Police headquarters buildings is estimated at $15,000. This is partly covered by insurance.

The origin of the fire is a mystery, and it is believed by many that the flames were started by an incendiary. An investigation will be made.

MUCH ADO ABOUT LITTLE.

Russian Jews Squabble Over a Railroad Ticket.

A fight occurred this afternoon in a shoemaker's shop, corner of Fourth and Washington streets, between two Russian Jews of unpronounceable and unwritable names. The row was the outcome of a dispute as to the ownership of a return ticket to New York. It seems that one of the Jews, the proprietor of a shoemaking shop on Second street, had employed the other, and had brought him out from New York. The employe became dissatisfied, and left the shop to go into the employment of another man in the same trade, in whose shop the row occurred. Employer No. 1 came to claim the return ticket, and then the row started. Police interference was found necessary, and the pugnacious employe was locked up to await the action of the City Court.

TWO NEW PATIENTS.

One of them a Railroad Victim Who Was Badly Crushed.

Stephen Van Deski, of Belle Mead, was severely injured yesterday on the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad near Harlingen. He was brought to Plainfield and taken to the Muhlenberg Hospital, where his injuries were examined and his wounds dressed. His shoulder was found to be crushed, and one arm broken. He sustained severe internal injuries also. Today he is reported as doing as well as can be expected, although his recovery is uncertain.

Bertha Bordahon was taken to the hospital yesterday afternoon suffering from an ulcer on her foot. An operation was performed to remove the growth, and she is doing well.

Improvements at the Boys Club.

The Boys Club rooms at North and Park avenues are now situated on the second floor of the Taylor building, having been removed from the third floor. Superintendent Bond has his office on the North avenue side, and adjoining this are rooms for games, the library, and a room for manual training. Directly back is another room, which can be used as a reading room. It is to be the "quiet" room. Two rooms can be thrown into one, giving large space when necessary. The arrangement of the rooms is much better than before. The club will re-open about September 1.

Shower Bath and Telephone.

The two improvements that were voted in at the last meeting of the Hillside Tennis Club are now completed, and the club is in possession of a fine shower-bath in the dressing room on the second floor and a long-distance telephone which will prove a great convenience to the members.

Special Meeting Tonight.

Mayor Saunders of North Plainfield has called a special meeting of the Borough Council to be held tonight. The Mayor says it is for the sole purpose of considering the annual tax budget, and that nothing else can be considered except that one specified object.

PROVIDENCE LINE.
(MAY TO NOVEMBER.)
The Summer Route to all eastern points. The steamers Connecticut and Massachusetts are among the finest vessels of their class in the world. Among the advantages of this line are the long water route and the short rail ride between Providence and Boston. The sail through Narragansett Bay and the Providence River in the early morning or evening is a delightful feature. A first-class orchestra on each steamer. During the season through parlor cars run between steamer's wharf, Providence, and the White Mountains Without Change.
STONINGTON LINE,
(THROUGHOUT THE YEAR.)
This is the Inside Route, and especially safe and comfortable in winter. Connects at Stonington with express trains for Boston, Providence, Worcester and all points north and east. The new Steamers Maine and New Hampshire are in commission on the Stonington Line. These boats are built of steel, with seven watertight compartments, insuring safety, and are completely fitted up with the most modern appliances. Very popular with the traveling public. The Stonington Line is the only direct Sound route in summer to Narragansett Pier and Watch Hill.
All information will be cheerfully given on application by letter or otherwise to General Passenger Agent, Providence and Stonington Steamship Company, new pier 36, North River, New York, or Providence, R. I. Illustrated bulletin furnished free, containing musical programmes, official time tables and other information.

No More Roof Promenades.

Visitors to the fair will no longer be able to promenade on the roofs of Manufactures and Transportation buildings. The counsel of Administration has issued an order stopping the elevators which run to the roofs of the two buildings mentioned and the balconies and galleries of administration building will also be closed to the public. This order was made upon a written report from Director of Works Burnham, who informed the council that he thought it unsafe to permit visitors to visit those places as they have done heretofore.

Fat Family from Kansas.

Kansas will exhibit at the world's fair a family of five persons, the aggregate weight of the father, two sons and a daughter being 1,500 pounds. The father and mother, John Clarry and wife, were in Topeka the other day arranging for the trip to Chicago. Mr. Clarry weighs 360 pounds, and the remainder of the family are proportionately large. He is a farmer, residing near Pleasant Run, Pottawatomie county. He says the exhibit of his family ought to establish the fact that Kansas prairies can grow big people as well as big crops.

PUBLIC SALE OF REAL ESTATE.

CITY OF PLAINFIELD.

Notice is hereby given that by virtue of a warrant issued by William A. Coddington, Esq., City Judge of the City of Plainfield, in the County of Union, to make the unpaid taxes assessed on lands, tenements, hereditaments and real estate in the said city of Plainfield in the year eighteen hundred and ninety-one the subscriber, the officer nominated and appointed by the Common Council for that purpose, will on Thursday, the twenty-fourth day of August next, at the hour of two o'clock in the afternoon, at his office, 311 Park avenue, in the city of Plainfield, sell the lands, tenements, hereditaments and real estate hereunder described, at public vendue, for the shortest time for which any person or persons will agree to take the same and pay such taxes, together with the interests thereon, and costs, fees, charges and expenses.

Corporation Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the following ordinance has been introduced before the common council, passed the second time and ordered engrossed and advertised preparatory to its third reading, and that it is the intention of the common council to adopt the same.

Plainfield, N. J., Aug. 7, 1893.

F. W. RUNYON, City Clerk.

AN ORDINANCE

To amend an ordinance entitled "An Ordinance Regulating Sewage and Drainage on Peace street, North avenue and Adjacent Territory," approved August 10, 1881.

The inhabitants of the City of Plainfield by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

Section 1. That section 4 of the ordinance whose title is set forth in the title to this ordinance, be and the same is hereby repealed.

Fees $2.70.—aug 12-17

AN ORDINANCE

For the repairing and permanent improvement of North avenue from Richmond street to Berckman street.

The inhabitants of the city of Plainfield, by their common council, do enact as follows:

Sec. 1. That the roadbed of North avenue extending from Richmond street to Berckman street be repaired and spread with broken stone for a width of twenty feet on each side of the centre line of said street, and for a depth of six inches, at the general expense of the city, to be paid for, after first applying the direct contributions of property owners, out of the money raised by tax for the improvement of the streets, as provided by the act of the Legislature entitled, "An act to authorize cities to make permanent improvements in the roadbeds of the street at the general expense," approved May 13, 1884.

Sec. 2. That before any work shall be done under this ordinance, the property owners along the line of the proposed improvements shall deposit with the City Treasurer a sum equal to one dollar per linear foot for the entire distance along North avenue covered by this ordinance.

Adopted by the common council, August 7, 1893.

Approved by the Mayor August 8, 1893.

A. GILBERT, Mayor.

Fees $3.60.—aug 12-17

HUNGER DEFIES LAW

Serious Riot of New York's Unemployed.

SEVERAL CONFLICTS WITH POLICE

An Excited Crowd Take Forcible Possession of a Hall and Hold a Meeting. Grievances Expressed in Speeches and Resolutions—The Government Appealed to for Work.

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—The first of the riots which labor leaders and others have been predicting for some time as a result of the large number of men out of employment occurred yesterday.

A crowd of more than five thousand men attacked Walhalla Hall on Orchard street, because admittance was denied them.

They smashed the plate-glass windows into atoms, forced in the door, which had been turned against them, and forcibly took possession of the place.

Several persons were cut by the flying glass. All sorts of missiles were used, and finally the police were ordered to the scene and succeeded in partly dislodging the crowd. Three arrests were made.

Those forming the crowd were mostly Hebrews, and represented principally the clothing trades. There were cutters, garment makers, hat makers and cloak makers.

After partial order had been secured the meeting was allowed to proceed and several inflammatory speeches were made.

The leader of the unemployed foreigners seemed to be W. Belkowits. He made a speech in his own tongue which stirred up his audience to the highest pitch of excitement and the howls and yells could be heard outside in the street. He afterwards told a reporter that the object of the meeting was to discuss some means of finding employment, as the families of these men were all starving.

Belkowits explained that in his speech he told the crowd that there ought to be no discrimination against Russian workingmen, and that they ought to be able to apply for work on equal terms with Americans or those of any other nationality. What he advocated was an appeal to the United States Government to furnish them work. If there was no work to be done, the Government ought to make work for them.

Several other speeches were made denouncing the Government for not giving the poor people work.

Joseph Barondess arrived at the hall at 12:15 o'clock. Barondess had a short conference with the proprietor of the hall in which Fliegman stated his side of the case and told of the damage done to his place.

Barondess then entered the hall and addressed the meeting. After introducing himself, he urged the crowd to leave the hall. The proposition created a storm of opposition, and the men almost unanimously cried out that they would not leave the hall until the three men taken prisoners were released.

Barondess argued with the crowd for some time, but to no purpose, and finally he asked if they would leave if he secured another and larger room for them. This proposition was assented to, and Barondess left to see if he could secure Clarendon Hall.

Besides the excited men who thronged Walhalla Hall, were 1,000 others at Covenant Hall, only a few doors away. A speech was made from the curbstone by one of the unemployed men, in which he said that unless the three men were liberated from jail the Essex Market Police Court would be stormed.

At Walhalla Hall a series of resolutions were passed condemning the police for their conduct.

The resolutions set forth that the men are peaceably disposed; that they want work and must have it, and workingmen are warned to prepare themselves in future for a repetition of such conduct on the part of the police.

The three prisoners were arraigned before Justice Voorhees, in the Essex Market Court at 2:15 o'clock. Manager Fliegman refused to make a complaint.

"I was excited when the men broke in, your Honor," he said, "and I can't be certain that they are the men who did any damage or led the crowd."

Fliegman said that the men would boycott him if he pressed the complaint, and he preferred standing the damage to losing their custom. Fliegman was also afraid that a prosecution of the charge would involve a serious injury or death to himself.

There was nothing else for Justice Voorhees to do but discharge the prisoners. He took occasion, however, to denounce the manager for his cowardice.

While this scene was being enacted in Essex Market Court the police were moving. The reserves, in two parties, swept down upon Covenant and Walhalla halls at about the same moment. Many a bruised and lumpy head resulted from the encounter. Those driven from the two halls, which are but forty or fifty feet apart, gathered about the policemen, and the more enthusiastic set up cries of "Stone them!" "Dynamite!"

There was another rush and the men were tumbled into the street gutters and an all-round rough-and-tumble fight took place. The enraged men struck right and left, sometimes inflicting injuries on their fellows in their blind rage. The policemen again used the club freely, scattering the men in all directions. Without a leader and with policemen's billies waving in every direction, the crowd when driven into the street knew not which way to turn. Inch by inch they were forced away.

Subsequently the men who wrecked Walhalla Hall became more bold and defiant to the police after three of their number had been discharged by Justice Voorhees in the Essex Market Police Court. The mob wouldn't budge an inch and clubs had to be used to drive them away. Almost on all of the east side street corners stood a group of unemployed men with angry looks and determined faces. They said that hunger had made them desperate.

"We have hearts," said one man, "and when we hear our children crying for food we feel it. We love our children as well as the rich man likes his."

The police found it a difficult task to drive the mob away, and were compelled to arrest eleven more of the disorderly crowd. The prisoners were arraigned before Justice Voorhees in the Essex Market Police Court and were remanded until to-day.

There was great excitement attending the arrests of the prisoners, and word was quickly sent to their families that they were in the hands of the police. Men, women and children followed them from the station house to the court and the greatest excitement prevailed while the prisoners were being led through the streets.

HOT SHOT FOR VILLARD.

The Head of the Northern Pacific Charged With Malfeasance.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 18.—A stockholder of the Northern Pacific Railway, whose name is withheld, has employed attorneys Read & Pettit to bring suit against Henry Villard, Edwin H. Abbott, Chas. T. Colby and Colgate Hoyt on the general charge of malfeasance in office and mismanagement of the affairs of the company in their capacity of directors thereof. It is alleged that they bought for the Northern Pacific properties in which they were personally interested.

In this manner they profited largely as individuals, whereas the road lost heavily. Ten millions of dollars is the sum named as the amount of the profits of these four directors.

Ex-United States District Attorney John R. Read, of the firm of Read & Pettit, addressed a formal communication to the directors of the Northern Pacific company requesting permission to bring suit in the name of the company against the alleged mismanaging directors.

Mr. Read informs the directors that the suit will not cost them a cent, that their client is willing to bear all expenses. The step is taken because of the law's requirement that aggrieved stockholders must first seek to have their representatives in control of a property apply for a remedy.

It is expected that the directors will decline to bring the suit, and, in this event, proceedings will be immediately commenced by the individual who is employing the attorneys. It is said that Bray to Ives, Henry Clews and Jay Cooke, jr., the committee who investigated the affairs of the road last year, are back of the suit.

RICH INDIANS.

The Usages the Wealthiest People on the Globe.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Aug. 18.—Hon. Warren G. Sayre of Wabash, Ind., Chairman of the Cherokee Commission, will go to Washington next week to make the final report of the committee. He said the commission was appointed three years ago, and in that period had purchased for the Government 16,000,000 acres of Indian land. The land purchased comprises more than half of the Indian Territory and nearly all lies west of the ninety-sixth parallel.

The tribes which refused to sell their lands were the Osages, Kaws, Otoes, Missouris and Poncas. Mr. Sayre states that the Osages are the richest people on the globe. They number 1,614, have 900 acres of land for every man, woman and child, and also between $6,000 and $7,000 for every member in cash in the United States Treasury, upon which sum each one receives $239 interest annually.

THE MINNIE BURCH INQUEST.

The Coroner Finds That the Adopted Girl Died From Poisoning.

JAMESTOWN, N. Y., Aug. 18.—The coroner's jury investigating the death of Minnie Burch, the 15 year old girl, which occurred about two months ago under suspicious circumstances, rendered a verdict yesterday that death resulted from arsenical poisoning. The girl had been adopted from the Randolph Orphan's Home by Mrs. George Burch, in whose favor her life was insured for a small amount. The coroner has not yet acted on the verdict.

Rain Making.

HARTFORD, Conn., Aug. 18.—The continued dry weather in this section, which is shriveling up the tobacco crop on the plains between North Bloomfield and Tariffville, has stimulated the farmers to an attempt at rain making after the Western methods. A rain makers' association has been formed and a farmer of North Bloomfield has decided to conduct the experiment. He has bought in this city 55 balloons, each 30 inches in circumference. A half pound dynamite cartridge will be attached to each balloon and exploded by a five minute fuse at an altitude of about one half mile. The balloons are to be sent up in succession. The experiment is to be tried to-day, unless the light showers which fell during last evening should develop into a heavy rainfall.

A Great Telescope.

BOSTON, Aug. 18.—The Bruce photographic telescope, made by Alvin G. Clark & Son, of Cambridge, after designs made by Prof. Edward C. Pickering of Harvard University, was tested Wednesday night on the grounds at Mr. Clark's workshop. A photograph of the North Star was successfully taken, and within the short space of an hour the work of more than one year and a half was tested and pronounced good. The negative was made on a glass 12 by 15, and that little, insignificant looking glass plate represents a triumph in astronomical observation. Photographic telescopes, with 8-inch lenses, have been used before, one of these now being in the Harvard University, but nothing in the astronomical world thus far has ever approached this big 24-inch lens.

A Pass Fiend Gone.

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—Geo. F. Hayne, who represented himself as a reporter and was formerly secretary to Whitelaw Reid, was sent to Elmira Reformatory by Judge Fitzgerald in the General Sessions yesterday on his plea of guilty to the charge of attempted forgery in the third degree. He was charged with having obtained railroad passes by false pretences from the Baltimore & Ohio railroad company. His method was to procure letter-heads from a newspaper and write to railroad officials for passes.

More Recess Appointments.

WASHINTON, Aug. 18.—The second list of nominations of recess appointments reached the Senate yesterday in the shape of a list of 91 names, 76 of which were United States Consuls. There were 11 Treasury officials, beginning with Assistant Secretary Scott Wike of Illinois, and including comptrollers and auditors and four collectors of customs in the South and West.

Assets $750,000; Liabilities a Little Less.

TROY, N. Y., Aug. 18.—C. F. Patterson, attorney for members of the Gilbert family who are creditors of the Gilbert Car Manufacturing Co., for which a receiver was appointed Wednesday, states that the assets of the company will be about $750,000 and the liabilities from $5,000 to 15,000 less than the assets.

The International Peace Congress Congratulates President Cleveland and Queen Victoria on the Happy Result of the Venezuelan Dispute—Dynamite as an Army Destroyer.

CHICAGO, Aug. 18.—The leading feature of yesterday's session of the Peace Congress was a telegram concerning the outcome of the international conference at Paris, which was sent to Queen Victoria and to President Cleveland. The text of the message was read to the congress by William Penn Nixon and the motion to send it at once was passed unanimously and with much enthusiasm by all those in the hall. The joint message read as follows:

"To Her Majesty the Queen of Great Britain and Ireland and to Grover Cleveland, President of the United States:

"The World's Peace Congress of Chicago sends equal congratulations to Great Britain and America on the triumph of arbitration as a substitute for war, exemplified in the recent Behring Sea decision, cementing the friendship of both nations and full of happiest augury for mankind.

"Robert Treat Paine, W. Evans Darby and Alfred H. Love."

In his introductory remarks Chairman Nixon said it was not so long ago that this great question could never have been settled in any other way than with the point of the sword. It was to be noted as a significant fact that an old an tantalizing dispute between the two greatest nations in the world should be decided by arbitration. The most important aspect of the decision was the effect which it will have upon other countries that will certainly have the good sense to follow the example set by these two powerful nations. All these encouraging symptoms were evidence that the work of the peace maker was being felt and stood as an invitation toward its continuance.

Gen. C. H. Howard was announced for a paper on "A Military Man's Opinion of Arbitration." The General unqualifiedly indorsed the method of settling international disputes by means of arbitration. He suggested that an international tribunal would serve a grand purpose. To submit all quarrels and misunderstandings between nations to a settlemen by means of war was not to be thought of. With the present ingenious and scientific methods of warfare one need not go very far to imagine both armies literally wiped from the face of the earth with dynamite. The grandeur of history only serves to make matters worse, for the historian has little to say about the tears of the widow and the wants of the orphan.

A favorable report was made by the committee on the organization of an international court of arbitration.

Another interesting matter was a paper by Sir Edmund Hornby on the advantages of a permanent court.

The Deacon Paying Up.

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—Some of "Deacon" S. V. White's creditors received checks yesterday for the amount due them. Mr. White says: "I had some creditors about the streets who were not secured by any lien on the value of my seat in the Exchange. I thought some of them needed the money, and as I made something in wheat the other day, I have been paying them off. That is all there is to it."

The Niagara Falls Hack War.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., Aug. 18.—M. Donohue, the agent of the New York Central railroad here, was fined $5 for assaulting one of the men interested in the outside hackmen's fight to enter the railroad company's yards at the depot during the fracas last Saturday afternoon. There are four charges pending against him.

THE MEREDITH CASE.

Judge Barnard Sends the Prisoner Back to the Asylum.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Aug. 18.—Judge Barnard yesterday filed his decision in the case of Edward Meredith, who desires to be transferred as a convict from the Insane asylum at Matteawan to Sing Sing prison. After an exhaustive review of the entire case the judge concludes as follows: "It will be seen from a consideration of the whole body of the testimony that the mind of Meredith is always convinced of evil and all who come into his life. Not evil in the ordinary meaning of the word, but in beliefs of crime, poisonings, assassinations, violent assaults, defalcation, violation of official duty and all this against the best and most exemplary of men. While the convict is usually the foundation of the delusion, it is not entirely so. He charges medical men with causing insanity in sane people and in discharging improperly insane people. Evil suspicion and denunciatory accusations based upon them, are manifest everywhere. It includes all who touch his daily life, and the motive for the several crimes in particular individuals is always furnished by his diseased brain. He poisoned a bottle of wine himself to convict the physicians of poisoning him. I therefore find that the alleged discovery was as much delusion as the entire superstructure which he has built upon it. I find that Meredith is a dangerous lunatic, that he is afflicted with delusions which impel him to crime and that he is not a safe person to be at large among sane people. He should therefore be remanded to the asylum at Matteawan and there held until he be discharged by due course of law."

THE VIGILANT WINS.

She Sailed Like a Witch and Stood Up Like a House.

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 18.—The cup is safe. The defender is as good as chosen. Such was the unanimous verdict of every expert yachtsman that witnessed yesterday's race off Brenton Reef. It was the first fair test of the merits of the respective boats and the Vigilant sailed like a witch and stood up like a house. No more superb burst of speed has ever been witnessed in this or any other country than that made by the Vigilant as she gybed around the outer mark, passed her sheets and ran for the finish. It was not only a great victory for the Vigilant, but the triumph of American ideas for the ordinary every day centerboard, the type of boat that has so ably defended the cup, thoroughly and effectively outsailed fins, fin-keel and every other device that could be attached to the bottom of racing craft.

In the run home the Vigilant held her lead and would probably have increased it had not the weather been so thick that she mistook another vessel for the lightship, and stood too far to the eastward. This necessitated her taking in the spinnaker and balloon jib-topsail gybing over on the port tack, and losing probably three or four minutes.

The Jubilee and Colonia held each other to the finish, but the Pilgrim, carrying away the jaws of her gaff, gave up the race. The Jubilee, after crossing the finish, also carried away hers.

Not Hamilton's Murderer.

CAMDEN, N. J., Aug. 18.—The two Long Branch police officers who came here last night to identify the negro in the Camden jail as "Pete" Dowling, the murderer of Robert Hamilton, on seeing the prisoner declared at once that he was not the man wanted and they have returned to Long Branch. The prisoner, who gives his name as Charlie Smith, was held on a charge of disorderly conduct until the arrival of the Long Branch officers, the Camden authorities believing they had Dowling in their custody.

Workingmen's Meetings.

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—Joseph Barondess called at the Mayor's office yesterday and asked for a permit to hold meetings of workingmen in Union Square. The Mayor sent for Secretary Burns of the Park Board, and after a consultation he told Barondess that he might, on application to the Park Department, have permit for meetings twice a week. Mr. Barondess was also told to notify the police so that a full force might be present to preserve order.

Pittsburg Wants a Better Show.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 18.—Mayor McKenna proposes to have a Pittsburg and Allegheny Day at the World's Fair on Saturday. His honor claims that Pittsburg has been discriminated against by the Pennsylvania World's Fair commissioners and says the only way to properly advertise Pittsburg is to have a day of their own. He is backed up by the leading citizens and a Pittsburg and Allegheny Day will be given.

A Crusade Against Monmouth.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., Aug. 18.—The executive committee of the Monmouth County Citizens' League, organized last fall for the purpose of closing the race tracks, has issued an appeal to the Christian people of Monmouth county to warn the young and thoughtless against attendance.

The President Kept In.

BUZZARD'S BAY, Aug. 18.—The President remained closely at Gray Gables all day. The weather looked so threatening at noon that he gave up a fishing trip down the bay.

Counterfeit Silver.

ORANGE, N. J., Aug. 18.—The police here are bothered by the flooding of the city with counterfeit silver. An Italian named Periara Ginedano was arrested.

A Plea for Commutation.

ALBANY, Aug. 18.—Application has been made to Gov. Flower for the commutation of the sentence of Martin Foy from electrocution to imprisonment for life.

Nothing New at Quarantine.

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—Dr. Jenkins' bulletin from Quarantine last night reports no new developments.

WEARILY DRAGS ALONG

Such is the Progress of Debate in Congress.

DAY OF MOURNING IN THE HOUSE

Democratic Senators Afraid of Further Delay on the Silver Question—An Attempt to Rig Up Some Sort of Bill—Voorhees Still an Unknown Quantity.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—Contrary to general expectation neither the bill to allow National banks to issue notes to the par value of their bonds deposited to secure circulation, nor any other financial measure, came up in the Senate yesterday. The only new proposition in that direction was an amendment offered by Mr. Gorman (Dem., Md.), to the bank circulation bill, prohibiting National banks from withdrawing circulation without a previous 60 days' notice to the Comptroller of the Currency, and without the approval of the Secretary of the Treasury; and limiting the aggregate amount of such withdrawals to $8,000,000 within any calendar month. Some two hours' time was consumed in a dreary discussion of the case of Mr. Mantle, claiming a seat in the Senate under an appointment from the Governor of Montana, and by unanimous consent the vote on that question was fixed for 5 p. m. next Monday. Just before the adjournment, which took place at 3 p. m., on account of the death of Representative Chipman of Michigan, the joint resolution for the payment of mileage for the present session came up and was passed, after an energetic protest against it by Mr. Vest of Missouri.

Mourning in the House.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—The session of the House yesterday was an interesting one. No member was more personally liked and politically respected than Judge Chipman, of Michigan, and when the news of his decease became known, interest in the silver question was in a measure submerged in sorrow for his taking off. But three speeches were made, the first, which was delivered by Daniel, of New York, was addressed to rather empty benches though the views presented in favor of unconditional repeal were well expressed. Then came Cooper, a Democrat from Florida, and he immediately took rank in the first batallion of the young orators of the House. His speech was witty and well put together, but he rather surprised his Southern colleagues by placing himself squarely in opposition to the free coinage of silver and in favor of the repeal of the Sherman law. Goldzier, Democrat, of Illinois, closed the debate in the same line and then, at 1:50, the House adjourned out of respect to the memory of the late J. Logan Chipman, of Michigan.

Eloquence by Hours.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—When the discussion of the silver question was resumed in the House yesterday morning, the advocates of the free coinage of silver had talked four hours more of the twenty-two hours so far occupied in the discussion than their opponents. There have been a few occasions in the course of the debate when Speaker Crisp stated that he would give the floor to an advocate of the Wilson bill, but no one was ready to speak on that side. There never has been any loss of time on the part of the advocates of free coinage so far as noticed. The eloquent and recent elaborate effort of Mr. Bryan, it is said will be answered for the repealers next Tuesday by Representative Fellows of New York. There are indications that ex-Speaker Reed will accede to the request of the anti-silver Democrats and make a speech in favor of the repeal of the purchase clause of the Sherman law.

Afraid of Further Delay.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—It is said that the anti-silver Senators on the Democratic side have determined to take the bill of the House and prepare a bill providing for the repeal of the Sherman act.

It is reported that Senators McPherson, Palmer and some other repeal Senators have decided that it is absolutely necessary, to save the reputation of the Democratic party, to take action at once.

Mr. McPherson is a member of the Finance Committee and the programme is said to be for him to prepare a bill and have it acted upon favorably by the Finance Committee. This is a very promising programme, the only difficulty being the fact that the silver and anti-silver Democrats on the committee are so evenly divided that it is an open question whether any such bill as the one proposed could be agreed upon.

Senator Voorhees, the Chairman of the Committee, has the deciding note, as, besides him, there are five silver and five anti-silver Senators on the committee. The Indiana Senator, however, is an unknown quantity in the financial fight. His exact attitude is said to be "in favor of repeal on conditions."

Treasury Changes.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—Official changes were announced last evening in the Treasury as follows:

Appointed—Frederick Hess, New York, Special Inspector of Customs, and Edmund Cussen, Massachusetts, Immigrant Inspector.

Resigned—Henry T. Bingham, Massachusetts, Immigrant Inspector.

No Use for the East.

TOPEKA, Kan., Aug. 18.—A petition signed by all the State officers and State House employes of Kansas has been sent to Gov. Scone, of Missouri, asking him to call a Western and Southern convention to consider moves for the mutual relief of the people, for the cultivation of commercial relations and for securing freedom from the East in business affairs.

For Extension of Gulf Telegraph.

QUEBEC, Aug. 18.—Owing to the frequent occurrence of marine disasters in the Straits of Belle Isiand, the Quebec Board of Trade has decided to ask the Federal Government to complete the system of gulf telegraph by constructing a cable between Anticosti and Belle Isle.

Cutting Salaries Already.

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—The receivers of the Northern Pacific railroad have ordered the following economies: Salaries from $1,200 to $5,000 to be reduced 10 per cent.; salaries from $5,000 to $10,000 to be reduced 15 per cent. and salaries above $10,000 to be reduced 15 per cent.

Seventy-five Knots in Five Hours.

BATH, Me., Aug. 18.—In a preliminary trial of the gunboat Castine the vessel made 75 knots in five hours.

BEST FOOD FOR BABIES.

Urgent Necessity at This Time of the Year of Putting Them Upon the Safest Diet.

Take care at all times, but especially now of baby's food.

Upon the purity and strength-giving quality of the food, and especially upon its fitness for a hot weather diet, depend the baby's life.

When the little one's flesh is flabby, blood thin and poor, color white, and temper uneven, if not irritable, there is an urgent necessity for a change; it is time to put the baby at once upon lactated food, which contains all the essentials of perfect diet; it furnishes abundant material for rapid growth and development. When the mother's milk is insufficient in quality and quantity for baby's healthy growth, any one who stops to think must know that the infant food which most closely resembles mother's milk must be used; this is undoubtedly lactated food; it is used and recommended by the best physicians in every community in the country; it has received more testimonials within the past month from happy mothers than could be printed in a score of such columns as these, and the fact that it is not expensive, but is within everybody's reach and can be obtained at any drug store, makes it even more a boon; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Soutar, who live on Campbell street, Sandusky, Ohio, owe their happiness to lactated food; they write:

"When our baby, Ruth, was sick there was nothing that would stay on her stomach; the doctor advised the use of lactate food, and very thankful we are, for in a short time it worked wonders; she is now a large, healthy child; her age is one year and four months; we are convinced that if it had not been for the timely use of lactated food our baby would have died; we now have another little one that we are raising on lactated food, we have such faith in it, and we also recommend it to all our friends."

Hundreds of such testimonials have been published; hundreds of little ones in this state owe their lives to lactated food.

A GIGANTIC FAILURE.

The Oliver Iron and Steel Company in the Hands of Receivers.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 18.—The Oliver Iron and Steel Company, one of the largest concerns in the country has just gone into the hands of receivers.

The application was made before Judge Acheson, of the United States Circuit Court, by the National Tube Works Company, of New Jersey, and E. E. Converse, of New York and Pittsburg, and H. W. Oliver, senior member of the firm, were appointed.

In the bill it was alleged that the capital stock of the company was $1,600,000, and that the indebtedness was $700,000. Of this amount $400,000 is payable within 90 days. About $300,000 more is in collateral bills, payable by pledge of pig iron and stock and bonds in coke and natural gas companies.

The bonded indebtedness is $585,000.

The company, through J. B. Oliver, admitted the allegations and attributed the embarrassment to the stringency of the money market and the depression in business.

If reasonable time was given all liabilities could be satisfied without sacrificing the assets or destroying the value of the company's property.

The company has extensive plants in Pittsburg and Allegheny and employes about 4,000 men. They are also largely interested in the coke and natural gas business.

When in full operation the sales of the company will aggregate $5,500,000 per annum.

MAKING MONSTROSITIES.

Children Horribly Mutilated and Sold for Beggars.

VIENNA, Aug. 18.—A gang of men have been arrested in Biskupitz, Croatia, because they have mutilated young children. The men have for years made a trade of crippling children and sending them out to beg or selling them to others for the same purpose. Children were stolen or were misled with promises to visit the house kept by the gang on the outskirts of the town. Once there they were bound and tortured. When the police forced their way into the house yesterday they found two girls, of 12 or 14 years, with their legs broken. Another girl of about the same age lay bound on a bed with her right arm broken and both eyes gouged out. Two other children hardly less horribly mutilated were found on cots in the cellar. Many instruments which had been used in producing physical deformities were uncovered in the cellar and were seized for evidence.

New Postmasters.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—The total number of fourth-class postmasters appointed yesterday was 65, of which 28 were to fill vacancies caused by resignations and death. Among the appointments, were the following:

New York—Charles Lehmann, Canarsie; E. B. Mathewson, Griswold; Orra Beebe, North Clymer; R. L. Garretson, Oakes; J. F. Babcock, Unadilla Forks.

Pennsylvania—T. F. Fitzsimmons, Avoca; T. F. Ohl, Clintondale; S. E. Tiffany, Kingsley; Timothy F. Good, Oswayo.

WEATHER INDICATIONS.

For New Jersey, Tomorrow: Fair, Slightly Cooler, Northwesterly Winds.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—William B. Emmons of 76 Willow avenue lost a valuable team horse last evening of colic.

—Grand officers will attend the meeting of Easter Lodge, No. 3542, K. of H., next Monday evening.

—The Crescents play the East Orange team tomorrow. The grounds are near the Grove Street station.

—Stanslaw Levendaski, who was mangled by the cars at Harlingen, died in Muhlenberg Hospital last night.

—A consecration meeting will be held in the First Baptist church this evening by the Christian Endeavor Society.

—The Letter Carriers' Rest has been restored to its accustomed place in Mall Lane, and the graycoats are happy again.

—The landlord and tenant case of E. A. Daley & Co. against Richard Lee is returnable before Squire Mosher, August 23.

—In Justice Mosher's court today the case of Anna Miller against Joseph C. Allen was adjourned to Oct. 20, for want of a witness who is out of the State.

—Two bags of imported bread, which is a novelty in Plainfield, were received from Russia by H. Fluck. They came through the Custom House at Philadelphia.

—A meeting of the committee to arrange for a lawn sociable under the auspices of the Women's Relief Corps, will be held at the home of Mrs. Cox, tomorrow afternoon.

—The Somerset street car jumped the track at the Front street junction this noon, and twisted itself around sidewise. It was run back by hand power. No damage was done.

—Free stages will start for the great auction sale of lots at Netherwood tomorrow, rain or shine, at 1:30 and 2:15. Be sure to be on hand, but if you miss the stage take the 2:30 train.

—Remember the auction sale of carriages, robes, harness, etc., tomorrow morning at 10, at the warerooms of the Plainfield Carriage Company, South Second street, adjoining Potter Press Works.

—Ground was broken today for the cozy new church of the German Lutherans, on Grove street. Pearson & Gayle are the contractors, and will push the work rapidly. The corner-stone will be laid August 27.

—The case of the Hebrew shoemakers came up in the City Court this morning, and was dismissed, as the evidence was so meagre and what there was so contrary that the Judge did not deem it advisable to go on with the case.

—The Young Stars and the Young Cuban Giants of this city will play a game of base-ball tomorrow on the Park avenue grounds. The battery for the Stars will be Heffern and Winn; for the Cuban Giants, Coffin and Ganzall.

—One more delightful excursion is yet to come. The date is August 24, when Plainfield Lodge, No. 44, I. O. O. F., will run a special train at the low fare of $1.25 to Lake Hopatcong, leaving Plainfield at 8 in the morning and returning after a charming day at the lovely resort.

DONE UP BY HIS TOUGH FRIENDS.

Sam Allen Finds the Row of the Bruiser a Hard One to Hoe.

Sam Allen, of Allen's farm, is feeling very sore this morning, both literally and figuratively, on account of the treatment he received at Westfield last night. Sam got into a discussion with a man named Kelly, and Kelly, becoming angry, struck Sam, whereupon a lively mill took place and Sam came forth victorious. The victim and the bystanders started for a saloon to refresh themselves after their labors, when the local pride of the crowd got the better of their sense of fair play, and they "jumped" Sam, and that is what makes him feel so sore. The crowd did not stop pummeling him until they were tired and he was tired too, but this morning he vows vengeance for the dirty way they treated him.

Lantern Slides at the Farm.

J. Hervey Doane, of Park avenue, gave a lantern-slide exhibition of 100 views at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. T. Barrett, Rockview Farm, last evening. The exhibition was a fine one. A feature of the evening was the entertainment provided by Mr. Copeland, of Brooklyn, who was dressed as a waitress and gave an exact production of the skirt dance, which all enjoyed immensely. The rest of the evening was given up to dancing, and refreshments were liberally served.

One of my children had a very bad discharge from her nose. Two physicians prescribed, but without benefit. We tried Ely's Cream Balm, and much to our surprise, there was a marked improvement. We continued using the Balm and in a short time the discharge was cured.—D. A. Cary, Corning, N. Y.

FOUNTAINS ON THE SIDEWALKS.

This Feature of the Lawn Sprinkler Business a Nuisance.

Since the almost universal introduction of the city water into private houses in Plainfield, consumers have naturally taken advantage of the plentiful supply to keep their lawns in fine condition by constant watering. Never have the grass plots looked as well as this year, and besides the sprinklers look very attractive in themselves and impart an air of prosperity and coolness to the scene. All these advantages are appreciated, but at the same time users should be a little careful where they place their sprinklers. Yesterday afternoon within a space of three blocks on one of the best streets in the city no less than three sprinklers played directly across the sidewalk, making it impossible to pass without going quite into the road to avoid a wetting. This sort of thing is done constantly, and a miniature rain storm every few blocks is the lot of every pedestrian. Cannot those who use the sprinklers be a little more careful and water the edges of their lawns with a hose if necessary and abate the nuisance?

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Miss F. Bliss, of Short Hills, is the guest of Mrs. Baldwin of Grant avenue.

Mrs. Phillip Hapeny, of East Third street, is spending a week with friends at East Orange.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Combs of Trenton are the guests of W. H. Combs of Linden avenue.

Miss Helen Wagner, of Watchung avenue, is having a very enjoyable visit with friends in Philadelphia.

The Misses Sarah and Katie Carney, of West Third street, have returned from their vacation in Brooklyn.

Miss Lottie Billet and Mrs. Charlotte Smith, of West Fifth street, have gone to Asbury Park for two weeks.

F. F. Westphal, of West Fourth and Liberty streets, has gone to Poughkeepsie, where he will spend his vacation.

Mrs. Dayton and daughter, of New Haven, are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Potter, of Mount Pleasant.

Mrs. Jack Force and Miss Mabel Force, of Bound Brook, are visiting the Misses Carrie and Addie Dunn, of West Philadelphia.

F. LaTourette has begun the erection of a very pretty cottage on the lot at South Plainfield recently purchased of W. E. Smith.

Cyrus Moore, of New street, has gone to Red Bank, having been drawn thither by the charms of a young lady by the name of Smith.

Arthur B. Matthews, of West Third street, has returned from Asbury Park, where he has been enjoying a vacation for the past ten days.

The Rev. A. B. Jennings, rector of St. Paul's church in Sing Sing, will officiate in the Church of the Heavenly Rest next Sunday morning and evening.

Letter Carrier Edward T. VanWinkle is on a vacation, which he will spend, with his family, and his sister Miss Susan VanWinkle, at Rector, Lewis county, N. Y.

The Rev. G. Kennedy Newell, pastor of Hope chapel, returns from his vacation today, and his congregation will give him a reception this evening in the chapel.

Mrs. Preston Goodfellow of Park avenue and her grandson, Preston Elliott, will start tomorrow for Montreal, Canada, where they will remain until Christmas.

Miss Mabel Woodruff, of East Second street, is at Paskel, one of Philadelphia's pretty suburban summer resorts, where she is visiting Miss Evie Taylor, of Philadelphia.

Miss Florence Morgan has been delightfully entertained for the past two weeks by her friend, Miss Lillie E. Miller. She will return to her home at Lebanon next Tuesday.

Mrs. Charles Dencklau, of East Second street, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Beek, will leave Saturday for Boston, where they will spend a few weeks visiting relatives.

J. W. Price and Miss Lizzie, of Evona, have returned from a very enjoyable trip to the White City. Among the German exhibitors were acquaintances of Miss Price whom she had met during her stay in Germany, where she has been studying.

Plainfielders may expect to hear some great fish stories when Israel C. Pierson comes home. The Manitoulin Expositor, a queer little newspaper published at the queer little town of Little Current, Ont., says that Mr. Pierson is enjoying the pleasures to be had among the islands there, and that the number of black bass of excellent weight he can catch in a short time is astonishing.

A handsome Episcopal church which was built and paid for through the devoted industry and successful ministry of the Rev. C. G. Bristol, son-in-law of Dr. H. H. Lowrie of Park avenue, was consecrated yesterday in Danielsonville, Conn., where Mr. Bristol has been laboring for the past four years. Mr. Bristol has accepted an unanimous call to the rectorship of the Church of the Good Shepherd, Hartford, Conn. He is a brilliant divine.

'Twasn't in the Papers, So Many Got Left.

A considerable number of people got left yesterday, by the Jr. O. U. A. M. excursion, which left at the unusually early hour of 7:45. In their pennywise policy, the committee saw no need of advertising. They made a great mistake in not making any announcement of the hour of starting, in the local newspapers.

Shot in the Hand.

Constable George Rockafellow was cleaning a revolver last night when it discharged a bullet into his right hand. The ball emerged at the wrist and continued on past where Mr. Rockafellow's boy Fred had been standing a moment before. Dr. Field dressed the wound.

The time to stop advertising is—
When you do not wish to make any more money;
When you wish to go out of business; or,
When you are dead.

THE TIN BANKS IN DANGER.

The Merry-Go-Round, Having Exhausted North Plainfield, Finds Westfield Fruitful.

WESTFIELD, August 18.

Westfield has a merry-go-round. Some folks express it differently, and say the merry-go-round has possession of Westfield. It is an itinerant concern, and consists of a worn and weather-stained tent, twenty-four fierce-looking wooden horses upon a revolving platform, a steam organ that plays "After the Ball is Over" and another tune, and a stationary engine. The fact that the merry-go-round was coming had been heralded among the youngsters far and wide, and they watched for it as only a healthy youngster can watch for a circus or a merry-go-round.

On Monday morning some mysterious-looking baggage was set down in the vacant lot on Prospect and Broad streets, back of the Union County Standard building. The youngsters soon discovered the horses in among the baggage; word was passed around that the merry-go-round was in town; and soon all the boys, big and little, were on the scene. They are there still, and intend to stay as long as does the merry-go-round. On Tuesday the concern was ready for business, and has been running merrily ever since to the tune of falling nickels.

Even the children of a large growth have caught the fever. They go to look and laugh; but they stay to laugh and ride. Authorities on financial matters here are of the opinion that most of the tin savings banks of the village will be forced to suspend if the pressure on them is not lessened.

REESE.

WESTFIELD WARBLINGS.

Little Paragraphs of Current Happenings Among Ripleyvillians.

Miss Edith Hildebran, a teacher in the Lincoln school, is in Adrian, Mich.

Professor Clarence L. Hewitt, of the Lincoln school, has resigned his position, which the school trustees had again tendered him for the coming year.

Henry F. Alpers died Tuesday of typhoid fever in the Danville Sanatorium, where he had stopped to visit his sick wife on his return trip from Chicago.

The newly elected President of the Presbyterian Christian Endeavor Society is Miss Grace M. Gilby. The society is supporting a Japanese student in Moody's Northfield school, besides giving money frequently for church improvements.

This is the first summer for many years that the Westfield Town Committee has failed to pass a dog ordinance. As a consequence the village is literally going to the bow-wows. Dogs big and little, hungry and well-fed, yaller and spotted, are here, there and everywhere. Editor Pearsall, of The Standard, is righteously indignant at this, and frees his mind on the subject in spirited language which The Press has already quoted.

Rev. N. W. Cadwell left Wednesday for Northern New York State where he will spend three weeks on the paternal farm. "The Dominie" is a great hunter and fisher, with a genuine love in his heart for fields and brooks and blue sky. He is also a great friend of the Rev. Dr. Lewis, of Plainfield; hence it is more than probable that the Doctor will preach here within the next three weeks. Dr. Lewis's sermons are a delight to Westfielders.

When Will Plainfield Reach That Stage?

(From The Firemen's Herald.)

Our friend of the Montclair, N. J., Herald, has mixed things up in trying to get away from the fact that he advocated the use of the fire horses for street sprinkling purposes. The Herald does not believe that the livery work the horses are engaged in is preferable. There was nothing said in the article about any other work. We have always maintained that fire horses should be kept in readiness to haul the apparatus, and that it is poor policy to use them for anything else.

Head and Reflect.

The great mass of mankind lose their health through inattention to catarrh of the head and throat. This insidious disease was considered incurable until the discovery of the American Catarrh Cure. For sale by L. W. Randolph, 21 West Front street. Price $1.00.

SUN-LIGHT and FRESH AIR are THE BEST DISINFECTANTS, of course; but you can't apply them in every situation. What next? Well, that depends. For damp cellars use Quicklime, plenty of it. For vaults and cesspools use COPPERAS; cheap stuff; we sell it by the pound or hundred-weight—instructions thrown in. For kitchen sinks, for water-closets, for house plumbing, for the sick room, to deodorize discharges, to purify the air and to prevent contagion, use REYNOLDS'S ODORLESS DISINFECTANT. Made and sold for fifteen years at

Reynolds's Pharmacy, Corner Park and North Avenues.

Fell Twenty-Five Feet to the Ground.

Thomas Welch, of West Third street, is confined to the house as the result of injuries received in a fall from a new building in Newark, where he was working. Welch was engaged in putting up a gas pipe in the front of the building when he slipped and fell 25 feet to the ground. He is covered with bruises, and very lame, but hopes to be about his work again before long.

Corporation Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the Common Council have fixed the thirty-first day of August, A. D. 1893, at 8 o'clock p. m., and the Council Chamber, No. 109 Park avenue, in the city of Plainfield, as the time and place for J. Frederick MacDonald, William M. Sandford and Edward C. Mulford, the commissioners appointed by the Common Council pursuant to the ordinance entitled, "An ordinance to widen Madison avenue from the southeasterly side line of West Front street to the northwesterly line of the right of way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey," approved June 5, 1893, to meet. The street proposed to be widened and laid out is Madison avenue from the southeasterly side line of West Front st. to the northwesterly line of the right of way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey. The alterations proposed to be made are to widen said Madison av. at the same shall be of the uniform width of twenty-five feet on each side of the centre line thereof, which centre line is described in said ordinance, and shown on map on file in the office of the City Clerk entitled "Assessment map for the widening of Madison avenue from West Front street to the Central Railroad of New Jersey, city of Plainfield, N. J., dated 1893, made by F. A. Dunham, civil engineer."

The lands and real estate intended to be taken for such purpose are all that come within twenty-five feet of either side of said centre line between the southeasterly side line of West Front street, and the northwesterly line of the right of way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey, as shown by said map and said ordinance, to which reference is hereby made for more detailed description.

By order of the Common Council.

F. W. RUNYON, City Clerk.

PAULSEN'S HAZARDOUS TRIP.

He Starts on His Risky Voyage Across the Atlantic in a Skiff.

"Chris" Paulsen, the contractor and builder of Rahway, who has built a sixteen-foot Norwegian skiff, in which he intends to cross the Atlantic, completed his arrangements to sail yesterday.

The boat is a novel one in many respects. It is sixteen feet in length; beam, five feet; depth, three feet six inches; length of keel, ten feet. It has a free-board rudder and is sharp at both ends. She will spread 252 feet of canvas. There are two water-tight compartments—one in either end. Large rubber tubes are stretched along the gunwales to add buoyancy. Two tanks holding 100 gallons of water will be taken along. Hardtack will be his only solid food. Enough for two weeks only will be taken, as he will depend on falling in with transatlantic steamships to add to his larder.

Captain Paulsen will take the northern course. His objective point is Stockholm, Sweden, where his parents reside. He expects to make the Shetland Islands in twenty-eight days. His only companion will be his faithful Newfoundland dog Wreck, who has made several sea voyages with him.

The Money Distress Doesn't Reach the Church.

(From The Trenton True American.)

The many friends of Ocean Grove throughout the country, and they may be found in almost if not in every State in the Union, are to be congratulated that notwithstanding the panic times and the general money stringency, their friends stand by them nobly in support of an expensive enterprise. The quarterly-centennial of the institution occurs next year, and it had been for some time determined by the board of managers to signalize the event by the building of an auditorium better adapted to the necessities of the day and to the greatly increased attendance. The plans called for an expenditure of $50,000, which there was no doubt, at the time the enterprise was conceived, could be easily raised. When the monetary crisis arrived it threw much doubt in the minds of many as to the success of it, but nothing daunted the managers resolved to go on, and at the first effort, on a single Sunday, over forty thousand dollars was received in good, reliable subscriptions, and the success of the enterprise is assured beyond any peradventure. The result is of course very gratifying to Methodists everywhere, and especially so to those directly interested in the management of the institution.

Anarchism in the Suburbs.

[From The Dunellen Call.]

On Monday evening as the editor was leaving the editorial office, someone hurled a stone about the size of a good-sized bean over against the door. Aiming a little high, the stone struck the glass in the door, causing it to sound much like the noise of a small pistol. The editor is a brave man, but having heard of assaults, etc., on editors, was startled, the blood fled from his face, and with a frightened face he turned toward his associate who sat protected by his desk and exclaimed in sepulchral tones, "Je Whittaker, what's that?" and then disappeared in the darkness, leaving those in the office to look out for themselves.

Just Such as Needed Everywhere.

In its report of the installation of Pastor Peterson at New Market, the Dunellen Call refers to the Plainfield pastor participating as follows:

The charge to the people as given by the Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis, of Plainfield, was just such a charge as is needed everywhere, urging upon them the acceptance of their new pastor as a leader as well as a teacher, as one who comes to them as the servant of God. He charged them to avoid fault finding, if they had anything to complain of concerning their minister go at once to him and tell him. He urged them to hold up the pastor's hands with words of encouragement and prayer. The address was listened to attentively by the entire congregation.

For the Hillside Tennis Cup.

The second annual championship tournament of the Hillside Tennis Club, for the club cup, will be held Monday, Sept. 4, Labor Day, beginning at 9 a. m. Entries may be made to any member of the Committee, and will positively close Friday, Sept. 1. The entrance fee will be 50 cents. James P. Murray, E. D. Ryder, H. D. West and F. W. Walz are the committee.

The Masonic Picnic.

The members of the two lodges of the Masonic order of this city will leave this city for Boynton Beach next Thursday morning on the 8:15 train. Special rates have been made for all such as go on that train. The fare for the round trip will be but 85 cents, and tickets may be had at the North Avenue station on the morning of the excursion.

I have been a sufferer from catarrh for twenty years. I found immediate relief in the use of Ely's Cream Balm. Since using it I have not suffered a moment from headache, sore throat or loss of sleep, from which I previously suffered, caused by catarrh. I consider your Balm a valuable remedy. B. G. SEVEN PERSONS HURT.

Children Leaped from the Blazing Windows of Their Homes.

BROOKLYN, August 18.—An early morning fire burned out an entire block of ramshackle frame houses on Cooper street in the Eastern District of Brooklyn last night. Thirty-one families were rendered homeless and seven persons were injured by jumping from windows, a number fatally.

Seven houses were burned to the ground with all the furniture of the tenants, and nine others were so badly damaged that it is doubtful if anything the greedy flames left behind will be of any value to the owners. The aggregate loss is estimated at $40,000. All the houses were tinder boxes, and a high wind fanned the blazing embers, carrying the sparks all over the neighborhood.

The fire department, which responded to the three alarms sent out, were grievously handicapped by the inability to secure water from the city's supply. This rendered more than half of the engines that responded utterly useless to cope with the conflagration. Water was finally secured from a well two blocks away in Schaffenberg's fireworks factory.

The fire broke out from some unknown cause at 3 in the morning, when all the people were in their soundest sleep.

The injured are Frank Liebler, Lizzie Liebler, Maggie Liebler, Frank Liebler, Jr., Josie Liebler, Maggie Schlang and Katie Schlang.

WOULDN'T MIND THE DOCTOR.

Plucky Congressman Dunn Refused to Shirk His Country's Call.

Congressman Dunn, who was taken suddenly ill at the outing of the George B. Fielder Association of Jersey City Wednesday, had so far recovered from his indisposition yesterday as to leave Taylor's Hotel, whither he had been removed. He took a train for Washington, where he was booked to speak on the silver question. Mr. Dunn's wife and family were at Lake Hopatcong. His son Frank hastened to Jersey City to attend his sick father only to find that the Congressman, despite the advice of his physicians, had pluckily insisted on going to Washington and had already departed.

The Borough Tax Rate Not Determined.

A special meeting of the North Plainfield Borough Council was held last night to consider the tax budget. Mayor Saunders and the councilmen spent some time in looking over the books of Assessor Cooley, and found everything satisfactory. They did not get through with the examination, however, so the budget was not formally accepted. Dr. Cooley has not yet determined the tax rate for the ensuing year, nor has he figured the total assessed valuation of the borough property, but these figures will be given to the public as soon as they can be determined. No other business was transacted by the Council, which is to meet again tonight to decide the vexed question of electing a new councilman—provided a quorum attends.

Plainfield, Send Yours Along!

To the Bicycle Clubs of Union county:

According to the conditions under which the cup, known as the Saltonstall Cup, for the two-mile track championship of Union county is held, and because a club other than the present holder has expressed a desire to compete for the cup this year, it becomes necessary to take some steps for having a race.

I therefore hereby ask each and every bicycle club in Union county, whether privately notified or not, to send one representative to a meeting to be held for this purpose, Monday evening, Aug. 21, at 8:30, at the club-house of the Elizabeth Athletic Club.

FOR THE LITTLE FOLKS.

Headgear Which Is Both Pretty and Economical.

Three Patterns of More Than Ordinary Neatness—A Pretty Bonnet for a Little Girl, Cap for a Boy and Hood for Baby.

Any mother who has a little time and taste may save considerable by making bonnets for the children, and beside the saving in the first cost the homemade ones will wear longer and come out of the laundry in better shape. Cheap purchased ones are useless after one wash, and the nice ones are very expensive, considering the materials and work required.

Pretty embroidery is not costly, and odds and ends left from dresses may be used on bonnets. The old-time sunbonnets are once more in vogue and will be welcomed by many mothers who are watchful of their little tots' complexions. No. 1 shows this style suitably worn by any girl from two to six years old. Measure the child's head from under the chin where the string should come up over the top around to the other string. Make a strip of three puffs this length and wide enough to reach to the crown of the head. The frill in front is twice the width at the top that it is at the strings. The crown is cut the shape of a pear and large enough to allow for gathering the upper part as shown. Another frill around the bottom is put on with a heading, and hemstitched strings complete the bonnet.

No. 2 is a cap for a little boy from one to three years old. To make it, first measure around the child's head, and cut a strip of stiff linen this length for the cap band. The crown in the illustration is made of all-over embroidery and is cut perfectly round, the fullness laid in plaits into the band. A lace ruching is sewed into the band, and a large rosette of lace is used to tack the crown up a little on one side.

No. 3 is for the baby and can be made of fine embroidery or white silk and hand-embroidered with white, delicate blue or pink. The crown is a little round piece and the other part is cut the height of the head from string to string, and drawn down into the crown at the top by a few gathers, there being none at the lower part. Instead of the top ruching of lace, a large rosette of muslin bows—if the cap is of muslin, or of narrow ribbon if it is of silk—will look well.—Country Gentleman.

ABOUT NIGHT GROWTH.

Why Children and Invalids Need So Much Rest and Sleep.

It is a curious fact that night is the time which nature utilizes for growth. Plants grow much more in the night than in the daytime, as can be proved any time by measurement. Measure a vine at night, then measure it again in the morning and the next night, and it will be found that the night growth is two or three times that accomplished during the day. During the day the plant is very busy gathering nourishment from various sources; and during the night this raw material is assimilated into the plant life.

The same fact is true of the animal creation. Children grow more rapidly during the night. In the daytime, while the child is awake and active, the system is kept busy disposing of the wastes consequent on this activity; but during sleep the system is free to extend its operations beyond the mere replacing of worn-out particles; hence the rapid growth.

This is why so many invalids need so much rest and sleep. The system has been taxed for years beyond its ability to repair the tissues, and hence the organism has become worn and disabled from the accumulation of waste products, and disease has resulted. With the proper conditions restored, and a season of perfect rest, nature will reassert herself, clearing up the clogged and dirty tissues, and restoring the organs to their normal condition.—Good Health.

Their Ball Team a Fake.

A disgusted lot of people saw a travesty on base-ball in Asbury Park yesterday. The local manager had assured Manager Keller of the Crescents a great team, but shoved a lot of scrub players on him and had to borrow Crescent players to make out a nine. Mr. Keller insisted on having the people's money refunded, and gave the local manager a great dressing down for his deception. That worthy said he might have had a better team but he was learning to be a dentist and had n't time to look for players. He said he didn't pay any salaries. The crowd of Plainfielders who went to the Park purposely to see a good contest were sadly disappoint. If the Asbury Park manager does n't yank teeth any better than he runs a ball team, he 'll make a sorry success.

Bargains in Peaches Tomorrow.

Those enterprising grocers, Neuman Bros., have drawn a tremendous patronage of careful buyers to their store, corner Watchung avenue and Fifth street. These live merchants are always up to the times. Just now they call special attention to a large arrival of peaches for tomorrow. Prices will be reduced to suit everybody.

—Here is something of great importance to you, if you are going to the auction at Netherwood, tomorrow: The 2:30 p. m. train from Plainfield will stop for the special accommodation of those wishing to attend the sale. Call at J. F. MacDonald's and get a map and catalogue.

EXPOSITION FINANCES.

What the Great Fair Will Cost the People of Chicago.

In an article on the world's fair balance sheet in the Forum Mr. Franklin H. Head gives some estimates aiming to forecast the probable receipts and expenses of the exposition. The principal source of income for the fair will, of course, be gate receipts, which are estimated at $10,000,000. Outside of gate receipts the principal sources of revenue will be percentages charged on the receipts of the various concessionaires. The revenue from this source is estimated at $4,000,000. Finally there is the salvage on the property, which is estimated at $1,000,000. This makes a total of $15,000,000. The items of disbursements are $4,500,000 for the payment of debenture bonds, $2,000,000 for floating indebtedness and cost of completing buildings now grounds, $500,000 for possible repairs and new constructions during the continuance of the fair, $2,500,000 for the expenses of administration for six months, and $2,500,000 to be refunded to the United States government for 4,000,000 souvenir silver half-dollars, a total of $11,500,000. On the basis of these estimates, there would, it will be seen, remain a sum of $3,500,000 after paying the liabilities outside of the amount due to stockholders and the city of Chicago. The last-mentioned liabilities amount in round numbers to $5,000,000 on capital stock and $5,000,000 on city bonds, a total of $10,000,000, so that if the figures should come out as indicated the stockholders and the city of Chicago would receive back about one-third of their contributions.

From the estimates given Mr. Head concludes that it would seem to be more than probable that the stockholders of the exposition and the city of Chicago, from the simple standpoint of dollars and cents, will be losers to the amount of six or seven millions of dollars as a result of the exposition direct, to which should doubtless be added at least as much more for losses and depreciation of property in the enterprises indirectly connected with the exposition. He adds that it is likewise probable that, should the attendance at the fair be what is reasonably anticipated, an equal amount of money may be gained by the citizens, although not by the same people, as a rule, who are the subscribers to the stock. The gains will be largely by the proprietors of hotels, boarding houses, restaurants, saloons, newspapers and places of amusement, and by the various people and corporations engaged in the business of transportation.—Bradstreet's.

Johore's Exhibit Opened.

The exhibit of Johore was opened a few days ago and the bust of the sultan was unveiled. The veil was removed from the face of the sultan's bust by Dato Sri Amar d'Raja and the Johore pavilion was thrown open to the public. The pavilion is a pretty place and worth going to see if only for the knowledge one may get there of Johore and its resources. It had been the intention of the sultan to erect a palace in the Midway Plaisance, but this falling his royal highness had to be content with such part of the Agricultural building as could be spared him. The exhibit is one full of interest in its agricultural, mineralogical, ethnological and biological features, to say nothing of the manufactures, which show fairly well. The health of every ruler on earth was drunk by those who assembled to see the opening, and the Johore exhibit is now ready for business.

THE NEXT MORNING I FEEL BRIGHT AND NEW AND MY COMPLEXION IS BETTER.

OVER LAND AND SEA.

A Magnificent Illustration of Transportation Methods.

A Building in Which a Thinking Person Can Spend Days Without Weariness—Antiquated and Modern Models of Locomotives, Ships, Etc.

[Special World's Fair Letter.]

It is very easy for the average visitor to the world's fair to overlook the Transportation department, and no doubt thousands do pass by the great red building that has for its sole redeeming architectural feature the magnificent golden arched gateway. "What is in that ugly building?" asks the visitor. "Oh, old engines, and wagons and things," is the thoughtless reply, and the department is ignored.

How many people know, or, if they have been told, stop to think, of the influence transportation has had on civilization? The builders of the world's fair did wisely when they concluded, for the first time in the history of world's fairs, to give the science of transportation in its widest meaning the attention due its importance. For the purpose of comparison every method of transportation is shown, from the primitive bull-cart of the East Indian to the most modern of wagons; from the first engine that dragged its tiny tender over the first American railway at the snail-like pace of five miles an hour to the monster flyer that rushes with the speed of a hurricane, with heavy trains attached, hour after hour. No other department of the fair surpasses that of transportation in utility or equals it as a power in the progress of civilization. Considered from the standpoint of capital invested it overshadows every other. It is estimated that one-tenth of the total wealth of civilized nations is invested in railroads alone, and if to the railroads be added transportation by water and all means of conveyance on common roads the magnitude of the interests represented in this department of the exposition may be fairly estimated.

The Transportation building is a good deal like the burr of a chestnut—its hideous and irritating exterior must not be taken as evidence of the fruit within. It is 960 feet long, 256 feet in width with an annex covering 8 acres, and cost $370,000. The design is simple, but the structural details and simplicity of design have been sacrificed to the bad taste of ornate color effects, the body of the building being of a box-car red elaborated with green, yellow and gold and silver friezes and spandrels. The contrast between these combinations of color and the ivory whiteness of other exhibition buildings is startling if not pleasant.

There are six general classes of exhibits—railways, intramural transit, marine transportation, pneumatic machines, bicycles, carriages and other vehicles for common roads. Of these the railways are naturally given the most space, over 8 acres being devoted to this interest. In this department, as in every other, there is harmony in the general details, the exhibits being so arranged that in most instances a direct comparison can be made between American and foreign methods and machines. And not alone are the machinery and appliances of the present to be seen, for the specimen vehicles, craft and trappings of semi-civilized and barbarous tribes are shown, and past history is illustrated by wonderfully interesting relics. The development of water craft from the earliest form of the modern steamship; of wheeled vehicles from the first inception of the idea of the wheel to their present perfection, and of the development of the railway are here fully illustrated by means of relics, models, drawings, plans and designs. By keeping these historical features clearly in view the wonderful achievements of more recent years bear speaking testimony to the genius of the present age.

It is a source of much pride and gratification to see that the American exhibit in the railway section outranks in perfection and finish the displays of all other nations. England, with her wonderful machines that for speed so long led the world, has at last taken a step to the rear. The English engines are clumsy-looking machines, as ungainly as their predecessors of a generation since. The compact, trim, massive American engine is not a thing of beauty at best, but compared with the rambling, clumsy-looking British flyer it is as different as a thoroughbred from a cart horse. England, too, has sent some of her palace cars, such as the queen rides in, and which are so grand that the average Englishman thinks they are too expensive to patronize. But, bless you, they are shoddy and ill-arranged compared with the splendid vestibuled trains exhibited on a companion track by an American builder. Then, too, there are the thousand and one devices that are essential to rapid and safe railway travel, from the air brake to buffers and couplers, which one is pleased to notice are American inventions. In fact the English exhibit shows its strongest attractions in the old engines—some genuine, some models—of historic machines. For instance there is one of the original Stephenson engines, the Rocket, and the Trevithick locomotive, the first that ever drew cars. Then there is the Sampson, and the Lord of the Isles, both historic locomotives, the latter the original seven-foot guage machine, built in 1851 for exhibition at the first world's fair.

There are some curious old machines in the American exhibit also, one, the Pioneer, being the first locomotive ever brought to Chicago. In all there are more than fifty locomotives shown in the American section. Two of them are monsters, and are mounted on pedestals, one from the Baldwin works weighing 195,000 pounds, and the other from the Brooks works, 180,000 pounds. The Pennsylvania company and the Vanderbilt lines present some splendid specimens of railway trains and engines, the exhibits including cars and engines that were in use before the present generation were born, and quite as odd looking and having as generally a useless appearance as some of the relics in the British section. Canada, Australia, France and Germany are also represented in this department.

But Uncle Sam's eagle droops his tail and ceases to scream when he hears marine transportation mentioned. There's where the foreigner excels, particularly England and France. Every vessel of size and note in the naval or merchant marine of Great Britain is represented by a model or designs and drawings at the world's fair. If you have a friend on board one of the great Atlantic, or Pacific or southern Pacific steamships, and wish to know the whereabouts and the latest tidings of the vessel, go to the Transportation building and examine the big chart with its hundreds of tiny models clinging to its surface. There you will find your friend's vessel, its location, and a chart giving the date and hour when last heard from. An inspection of this chart, and an hour spent in listening to the inquiries made daily by thousands concerning the movements of England's passenger fleet, will convince the most skeptical that Great Britain does indeed rule the wave.

A melancholy interest attaches to the splendid model of the ill-fated warship Victoria which went down in the Mediterranean not long ago, carrying 400 brave seamen who will never again be heard from. The flag on the model now flies at half-mast, and black bunting flies in place of the pennant. The model, like the vessel, came from the works of Sir William Armstrong, and is 30 feet long and the most complete specimen ever turned out of a model factory.

The French have splendid models of steamships, and the Red Star Line company, which comes pretty near being an American enterprise, has constructed a huge section of one of its vessels reaching from the main floor far above the balcony, showing each deck of the vessel, seamen's quarters, mess rooms, first and second cabins, state rooms, library, smoking room, officers' quarters, all full size, giving the observer a very good idea of the accommodations to be had on a first-class ocean steamer. There are small boats of every description, from the birch bark canoe and kyak of the Indian and Esquimau to the modern silk and rubber canoes and steam launches of the present day. There are some wonderfully curious dugouts from Africa and the South Sea Islands in the relic department that must be seen to be appreciated.

The display of road vehicles, from the magnificent Russian sleighs to the diminutive child's phaeton, is the most extensive and rich in finish and design ever gathered together. And as for bicycles, columns would be needed to tell of the varieties and merits of the exhibits.

Not the least interesting feature of the entire department is the photographic displays. Some of the most magnificent scenery in the world has been reproduced on sensitized paper as advertisements for the railways, and some of the marine views displayed by the steamship companies would make a splendid addition to the picture galleries of the greatest art centers. VOORHEES' SILVER BILL

The Senator Finally Shows Where He Stands.

REPEAL WITH A BI-METALLIC STRING

The Minority of the Senate Finance Committee Presents a Substitute—Yesterday's Debate in Both Houses—Schemes for Financial Relief.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—The Finance Committee of the Senate presented yesterday through its chairman, Mr. Voorhees, a bill to repeal the purchasing clause of the Sherman bill, and containing a declaration that it is the policy of the Government to maintain the parity between gold and silver coins. The bill declares that the efforts of the Government should be steadily directed to the establishment of such a safe system of bi-metallism as will maintain at all times the equal power of every dollar coined or issued by the United States in the markets and in the payment of debts in exchangeable value, such equality to be secured through international agreement, or by such safeguards of legislation as will insure the maintenance of the parity in value of the coins of the two metals, and the equal power of every dollar at all times in the markets and in the payment of debts.

The minority of the committee, through its spokesman, Mr. Vest, presented a substitute fixing the number of grains of silver to be contained in the dollars, half-dollars, quarters and dimes, on a 20 to 1 ratio.

The bill and substitute went to the calendar, and their consideration is to begin on Tuesday next, after the morning hour.

The bill to allow National banks to increase their circulation up to the par value of their bonds on deposit occupied the attention of the Senate for most of the day. There was a long discussion on the amendment offered by Mr. Allen (Pop., Neb.) for the cessation of interest on the bonds on which the increase is to be based and on the amendment offered by Mr. Cockrell (Dem., Mo.), for the remption in greenbacks of such two per cent bonds as may be offered.

Mr. Allen's amendment was defeated, 39 to 11, and Mr. Cockrell's had not been acted upon when the Senate adjourned at 4:30 p. m. until Monday.

Yesterday in the House.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—The new members of the House continue to come to the front. The star speech of yesterday was delivered by Mr. Sibley, of Pennsylvania, the only member of the Keystone State who is opposed to placing the United States upon a single gold standard and who is a firm advocate of bimetallism. He is about 53 years of age, gifted with a fine voice, a vast fund of wit and a great flow of language. He immediately took his place among the orators, the logicans and the humorists of the House.

On the other side of the question there appeared another new champion. Mr. Everett, of Massachusetts, who succeeds Mr. Lodge, is a fine speaker and attracted the attention of his colleagues. He, besides having a good delivery, has a keen appreciation of humor and commanded an interested audience.

Messrs. Haines, of N. Y., and English, of N. J., both Democrats spoke in favor of repealing the silver purchasing clause.

At a night session the discussion was continued.

Concerning Treasury Notes.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—Secretary Carlisle sent to the Senate the following communication in reply to a resolution passed by the Senate on Wednesday, requesting certain information of Treasury notes issued under the Sherman act:

"In response thereto, I have the honor to say that during the present month Treasury notes issued under the act of July 14, 1890, amounting to $714,636, have been redeemed by the government in silver dollars. While I do not pretend to have knowledge of the degree of information possessed by the holders of notes so redeemed, I am of the opinion that they were fully advised at the time of such redemption that they could have gold instead of silver if they so desired. I base this opinion upon the general publicity which has been given to the terms of the act, no less than upon the instructions of this department to the Treasurer and Assistant Treasurers of the United States, which has been to the effect that such notes were redeemable in silver dollars, at the option of the holders. I am also supported in my belief by the fact that in the circular of this department issued to the public for their guidance in their dealings with the Treasury and containing the regulations which govern the issue, redemption and exchange of the paper currency, and the gold and silver and minor coins of the United states, there is a paragraph which reads as follows:

"'Gold coin is issued in redemption of United States notes, in sums less than $50, by the assistant Treasurers in New York and San Francisco, and in redemption of Treasury notes of 1890, in like sums, by the Treasurer and all Assistant Treasurers.'

"In further response to the resolution, I have to say that recently gold coin has been presented at an office of this department, and silver dollars asked in exchange therefor and that the exchange was not made, for the reason that all the silver dollars in the Treasury at the time were required under the provisions of the laws relating to the currency to be held in the Treasury to cover outstanding silver certificates and Treasury notes, issued under the act of July 14, 1890. At present the department would not and could not exchange silver dollars for gold coin if requested to do so by holders of gold, for the same reason; but if the conditions of the funds of the Treasury were such as to afford a margin of silver dollars in excess of silver certificates and Treasury notes outstanding, such exchange would be made."

Too Much Time for Talk.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—It begins to appear that both sides in the House now regret that so long a period of time as two weeks was set apart for debate on the silver repeal bill. Now and then a brilliant speech by one of the leaders and orators serves to lift the discussion above the dead level of mediocrity to which it has fallen, but relapses are certain. In truth, nearly everything has been said that can be said about the question, and while the debaters may use new forms of expression and clothe their ideas in pretty rhetoric, the ideas themselves are lacking in novelty and have been exploited in every phase. So when Mr. Bryan finished his speech the other day the cries of "Vote," "Vote," while mainly intended as a compliment to the brilliant young orator, had also an undercurrent of impatient remonstrance against the shackles which the House has imposed upon itself in the limitation of the debate to two weeks.

Inspired on the Spot.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—There have been some curious features of the silver debate. One of the veteran official reporters remarked that in his long experience he had never before known a Congress wherein so many new members expressed their views, and especially upon a question of such importance, as in the present one. This discussion he continued is peculiar also for the fact that almost every speech has been practically extemporaneous. We have had but one on manuscript of any length so far which we could use in the Record—that of Mr. Morse, of Massachusetts. Mr. Brown, of Indiana, who briefly expressed his views, also read from manuscript, but everybody else we had to report and write out in full. Several of the speakers had prepared manuscripts, notably Messrs. Coombs, of New York, and Snodgrass and Patterson, of Tennessee, but they departed in their remarks so radically from the text that the copy was useless for our purpose.

A Very Simple Scheme.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—Of the many financial schemes proposed to speedily relieve the stringency in money, the one regarded by Treasury officials as the most practicable is the one to authorize the Secretary of the Treasury to issue currency against the seignorage or profit upon the coinage of the silver bullion in the Treasury. There are now 130,000,000 ounces of silver bought under the act of 1890, and notes issued against the seignorage on that amount would add nearly $50,000,000 to the circulating medium. A large proportion of the notes are already printed, and could be put into circulation, it is said, the date after Congress authorized the Secretary to act.

LABOR RIOTS IN FRANCE.

Fatal Feud Between French and Italian Workmen.

PARIS, Aug. 19.—The riot at Aigues, Mortes, in the Department of Gard, in which ten men were killed and 26 severely wounded, had its origin in a dispute between workingmen regarding wages. Considerable salt is produced in Aigues Mortes and the works employed many men, some of whom were Italians. These Italians were working for wages considerably lower than those demanded by and paid to the Frenchmen employed at the works. The latter feared that it would be only a question of time when they would be replaced by Italians, and much bad feeling was engendered between the two nationalities.

Some of the men, Frenchmen and Italians, became involved in a fight over the wages question, and in a very short time a general riot was precipitated by the action of the other salt workers who hastened to the assistance of their respective countrymen.

There is no apprehension of further trouble, the mayor of the town having announced that henceforth no Italians will be employed in the salt works.

FRAIL INSURANCE.

The Ontario Mutual Accident Association Has a Receiver.

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—Harry H. Beadle has been appointed receiver of the Ontario Mutual Accident Association of 234 Broadway in proceedings brought by a majority of the directors to dissolve the corporation. Their petition declared that the business cannot be conducted further without a loss, that there are no funds to pay current expenses and that the company is insolvent. All lawful claims have been paid. There is an alleged suit against the company for $2,000, but the recovery, should it be successful, would be limited to $200. There are no creditors and there is about $70 in the benefit fund. There are now about 500 members in various parts of the United States. It once had a membership of 2,200. The association was incorporated in 1886, started at Geneva, N. Y., and removed to this city three years ago.

Sugar Business Dull.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Aug. 19.—Owing to the dullness in the sugar market all the large refineries in Brooklyn, with the exception of two, those of Matthiessen and Mollenhauer, have closed down temporarily. The Havemeyers, it is expected, will remain inactive for a week, at least, until the surplus of refined sugar on hand is disposed of. This is one of the periodical shut downs ordered by the trust. It is said that the two Brooklyn refineries, together with those in Philadelphia, are able to supply all the demand that exists at present.

Hurricane at Cape Breton.

HALIFAX, N. S., Aug. 19.—A terrific hurricane swept over Cape Breton Thursday, the wind being easterly. Many vessels dragged their anchors and went ashore, some being total wrecks. Three are ashore at Gabarus, one of them being an entire loss. Mail steamer St. Pierre, which sailed in the morning had to return to North Sydney and reached there just in time to escape probable destruction. All telephone and telegraph wires are down and details of wrecks and disasters are not yet obtainable.

Brained With a Pitchfork.

KINGSTON, N. Y., Aug. 19.—While Jonathan Todd and his son-in-law, Alfred Ganoung, were drawing hay at Delhi, Ganoung accidentally ran a pitchfork into his father-in-law's leg. This enraged Todd, who seized a pitchfork and hammered his son-in-law over the head, crushing his skull and rendering him senseless. The attending doctors say Ganoung cannot live.

Treasury Appointments.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—Secretary Carlisle has appointed Benjamin Harrah of Illinois, chief of division Third Auditor's office, Treasury Department, and Whitney Wall of Minnesota, a special inspector of customs. Mr. Harrah had previously declined the position, but reconsidered the declination.

A New World's Fair Attraction.

CHICAGO, Aug. 18.—A brutal prize-fight was surreptitiously held in the stock pavilion at the World's Fair last night. Eleven rounds were fought. One man was knocked senseless. The fight was for a purse of $500.

Light Fines Imposed on the Participants in the Recent Outbreak—Mass Meetings of the Unemployed to be Held Under the Supervision of the Police.

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—The thirteen men arrested by the police of the Eldridge street station for breaking into Walhalla Hall Thursday appeared before Justice Voorhis in the Essex Market Police Court yesterday. The charge against them was disorderly conduct, in refusing to "move on" when ordered to do so. The prisoners were punished by fines varying from $3 to $10, and one or two of the men held for trial for malicious assault. Much of money to pay the fines was collected from friends.

The unemployed Hebrew workingmen will hold mass meetings to-night in Union Square and on Monday. Secretary Burns of the Park Board said that permits had already been granted. A big force of police will be on hand to prevent a repetition of recent rioting and disorder.

All day yesterday there was a continuous meeting of the unemployed workingmen at Golden Rule Hall on Rivington street, near Norfolk.

In the afternoon the meeting was addressed by Emma Goldman, the wife of the man who tried to kill Henry C. Frick, of Pittsburg. Her speech was of a highly inflammatory character.

She told the men that if they wanted bread to go and get it, meaning that they should loot baker shops or wherever they thought necessary.

A committee was appointed to arrange for a monster parade of the workingmen through the city. Another committee was also appointed to procure bread for idle men. One of the principal speakers at this meeting was an Anarchist of the name of Blanck, who was rabid in his utterances and inspires his hearers to a remarkable state of excitement.

Meetings were held in two halls, one on Allen street and the Golden Rule Hall last evening.

Emma Goldman and others addressed the meetings. The speakers were generally mild and told the men to go about their mission peaceably. Some of the speakers were bitter, however, and these were wildly cheered.

The hungry men kept three bartenders busy in Golden Rule Hall, and the bartender in the other hall had all she could do. Emma Goldman distributed peaches to those in the Allen street hall. One wild looking man spoke in part as follows:

"Remember Chicago, where they hanged men. Why? Because they were hungry. Yesterday the dirty police arrested men. Why? Because they were hungry. But be calm.

"If you are not, and attempt to get what you want, the police will come here and turn the hose on you, they say.

"Let us parade up Fifth avenue and show those rich people how hungry we are. They have money for their luxuries; my wife and child have had no breakfast for three days."

"Do not fly the next time," exclaimed an excited Pole. "But when the dirty police come at you the next time resist them with all your might; stand firm and meet them and do not fly, but after them."

There was no trouble.

LITTLE LOCOMOTIVE BUILDING.

The Big Baldwin Works Forced to Reduce Expenses.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 19.—Between 300 and 400 men employed in the machine shops of the Baldwin Locomotive Works were laid off last night because of the money stringency and lack of orders.

The manager of the works says this is the beginning of a reduction in force which will result in 2,000 of their employes being thrown out of work, as far as Baldwins' is concerned, for an indefinite period. On August 5 the concern had 5,008 men on its pay roll.

The men in the iron and brass foundries and the pattern department will be allowed only five days work in each week beginning next Monday.

IS EMIN PASHA ALIVE?

Dr. Peters Thinks He Is, Notwithstanding Stanley's Theories.

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—Dr. Carl Peters, the great African explorer, arrived yesterday on the Fuerst Bismarck, and is now at the Waldorf Hotel, where a reporter saw him.

Dr. Peters said that he did not believe that Emin Pasha was dead.

"He has gone," he said, "right straight along. He is a man of great energy. He believes in pushing right along, not stopping for anything.

"I had information of him not more than three weeks ago. I heard that he had gone to the Upper Congo district. He has not been seen, as far as we can learn, for a year and a half.

"Stanley believes him dead. He probably wishes him dead, for his relief expedition was not a success. Stanley says he has not energy.

"That is nonsense, for a man could not do what Emin Pasha has done had he not energy. Emin Pasha is a wise and very scientific man.

"His sister lives in Neisse, in Germany, and she does not believe him dead, for when he left her he said that even though he did not hear from him not to be worried, since he would push on and go into places away from which it would be difficult to send reports of his progress."

"ALL ROT."

A Northern Pacific Director Thus Characterizes the Sensational Suit.

BOSTON, Aug. 19.—The story of the sensational suit brought in Philadelphia against four of the directors of the Northern Pacific road for malfeasance in office, was shown to one of them, Mr. Edwin H. Abbott.

"This is all rot," said Mr. Abbott emphatically, when he read the story. "It is merely an attempt to influence proxies at the coming election in October. The whole thing was threshed over last winter."

Mr. Abbott said this was all the work of Braxton Ives, and that his charges were all completely answered eight months ago.

As to the charge that the directors bought for the Northern Pacific properties in which they were personally interested, Mr. Abbott said that when the Wisconsin Central lines, in which he is connected, were leased, he was not a member of the Northern Pacific board and did not become so for some months afterwards. When he did go in it was for the reason that an interest representing about a thousand miles of road ought to have some one on the board to look after its interests.

SOMETHING BESIDES FISHING.

The President Getting in Some Official Work at Gray Gables.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—President Cleveland is devoting some attention to public affairs at Gray Gables. Evidence of this is given in the bundle of papers that arrives at the White House nearly every day, postmarked "Buzzard's Bay." Mr. Cleveland is not working very hard, but he does not let a day pass without doing something.

Many of the recess nominations sent to the Senate were signed at Gray Gables, together with the commissions of those whose nominations have been confirmed. While at his summer home the President will give some attention to filling offices and a few nominations may be expected.

He will return to Washington about September 1.

Brakeman Knocks Out Pugilist.

PASSAIC, N. J., Aug. 19.—Brakeman John Giblin of Port Jervis scored a knockout on Austin Gibbons, the pugilist, on Thursday night. Gibbons boarded an Erie express train at Jersey City. He wanted to smoke on the rear platform of the last car, and Giblin tried to make him take a seat inside. Austin struck at Giblin but the blow fell short. Before the lightweight could recover himself Giblin hit him on the ear and knocked him senseless. In a minute Gibbons came to and after shaking hands with Giblin he left the train in good humor.

Appealing to Washington.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 19.—Beginning to-day committees of the unemployed of the various labor associations will take up their station at the Union Depot and the freight yards of the various roads running into St. Louis from the West, meet all persons looking for work, explain the situation and ask the traveller to proceed to Washington, D. C., to make a demonstration before Congress. Leaders in every large city in the country have agreed to the plan. It is expected to gather about 5,000 men in Washington.

New York People's Party.

SYLVAN BEACH, N. Y., Aug. 19.—The convention of the People's party of the State of New York was called to order at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The convention was held in a tent on the grounds of the Farmers' Encampment. Less than 100 delegates are present. Gen. James B. Weaver and Mary K. Lease made addresses. Committees on platform and on nominations of candidates to be voted for at the State election in November were appointed. The nominations will be made to-morrow.

Rounding Up Outlaws.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Aug. 19.—The five remaining members of the Meachan gang of outlaws who were surrounded by the sheriff's posse in a swamp near Jackson, escaped the vigilance of the posse and crossed the line into Mississippi. They will be lynched if they attempt to return. Since the Clark county war began fully 20 members of the gang have been killed. Three more were tied to trees and shot this week.

For Eastern Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, the District of Columbia, Virginia and North Carolina: Warmer; fair, except occasional light local rains in Eastern New York, Eastern Pennsylvania and New Jersey; westerly winds.

SAILORS LEFT TO STARVE.

Strange Story of Desertion on a Coral Reef.

GRAVE CHARGE AGAINST A COMPANY

Two Men Said to Have Been Left in Charge of Guano Deposits Near the Equator and No Attempt Made to Get Them.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 19.—The schooner Viking will sail to-day to rescue two sailors who have been left on Clipperton Island for over three months. Clipperton is a tiny coral reef near the equator and is covered with rich deposits of guano. The Oceanic Phosphate company sent a schooner to the island last spring, and in order to hold it, left two sailors, Carl Jensen and William Hall, in charge of the island.

This was May 1st and as the islands are entirely barren, the men were given provisions for 90 days with a promise that before that time expired another schooner would be sent to their relief. The men left on the island evidently had some fears that they would be left there to starve for Jensen sent a letter to a friend in this city when the schooner sailed from Clipperton, telling him of the circumstances and asking him to make the letter public in case no relief expedition was sent out within a specified time.

It is claimed that the phosphate company made no move towards relieving the deserted sailors, and Jensen's friend published his letter. Now the phosphate company has fitted out the Viking to go to the relief of the men, but it is feared by some that their provisions have given out and that they have starved. It will take 30 days for the Viking to reach Clipperton Island.

A GRADUATED INCOME TAX.

Lieut.-Gov. Daniels, of Kansas, Submits a Bill to Equalize Wealth.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 19.—Lieut. Gov. Daniels, of Kansas, has sent to Washington for introduction in Congress his graduated income tax bill. It provides for a tax of one per cent. on estates of less than $2,000,000; of three per cent. on estates between $2,000,000 and $5,000,000, and 18 per cent. on all estates of over that amount.

The tax is to be used for pensions and for equalizing the pay of soldiers of the war; for internal improvements and for equipping the national guard. Adult male immigrants are to be taxed $200 and immigrant children, over 12 years of age, $100.

Inheritances and legacies are also to be taxed.

An address goes with the bill charging all the ills of the country to legislation in favor of the rich, and appeals to Congress to enact just laws.

TO DISCUSS THEIR MISERIES.

A Conference of Trades Unions to be Held August 20.

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—The American Federation of Labor has sent the following call to the trade and labor organizations in the city, which was signed by Chairman Samuel Gompers, Secretary Chris Evans and others:

DEAR SIRS AND BROTHERS:—At a conference held by a number of active men in the Trades Union movement of our city, the industrial, commercial and financial condition of the country was discussed, as well as the question of organizing a demonstration of the unemployed of New York, and further to devise means for the relief of our fellow workers. The conference appointed the undersigned committee to issue this address to the Trades Unions of New York City.

"Your union is, therefore, kindly requested to discuss the question of organizing such a demonstration as is above referred to and to select three representatives of your union to a conference to be held with the representives of all trades unions of the city of New York at the International Labor Exchange, 256 East Tenth street, at 8 p. m., on August 20, 1893.

"Whatever decision your union may arrive at as to the advisability or non-advisability of such demonstration, the discussion of means of relief for our fellow workers should be sufficient to warrant you to select your representatives and have them in attendance at the conference.

"We are in a maelstrom of an industrial depression which requires earnest and prompt action by the trades unions of New York. We sincerely hope you will comply with the above request and furnish your representatives with credentials."

CLEVELAND'S CHUM.

A Rumor That E. C. Benedict Will Leave Wall Street.

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—E. C. Benedict, President Cleveland's great friend from Wall street, would not deny the rumor that he might retire from the banking and brokerage business in December, in order to accept a high political office the President might offer him.

"Business itself has recently retired from Wall street," said Mr. Benedict, "but I will not say whether I intend to follow it or not. The public does not care, does it, whether I get out or not? I will not affirm or deny the rumor."

It was said down town that perhaps Mr. Benedict might go into training for a gubernatorial nomination in Connecticut after he left the street.

New Postmasters.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—The total number of fourth-class postmasters appointed yesterday was 103, of which 40 were to fill vacancies caused by resignations and death. Among the appointments, were the following:

Maine—Meader A. Finkham, Lincoln.

New York—Henry J. Poucher, Bushnell's Basin; Gilbert N. Harding, Laconia; Joseph W. Brown, Moira; Charles Tighe, Rockton.

Pennsylvania—Abraham Hair, Dunsfort; Henry T. Johnson, Gregory; W. W. McCreary, Newberrytown; George A. Kohler, Yoe.

Vermont—Fred W. Abbott, Fairlee.

Paying in Coal.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 19.—The Reading Railroad company has arranged to pay its debt of $978,000 to the Lehigh Valley company by transferring coal of that value. It was because of the inability of the Reading to pay this debt that the Lehigh company annulled its lease. The Reading company has a large stock of coal on hand and this method of cancelling the indebtedness is regarded as being highly satisfactory by all the parties concerned.

There is no sectional feeling about Paine's celery compound; it is found in thousands of homes in the north, the east, the south and the west; it is above party and politics.

The strong and truthful statement made a short time ago by an old physician in New York that "Paine's celery compound is life and health to thousands of sickly and suffering women," is fully and amply born out by results obtained in the Ladies' Benevolent Society's home, Montreal.

People in every section of the world have heard of the charitable and christian work done by wealthy and philanthropic ladies of Montreal, in the noble institution just referred to, which has been in existence nearly 65 years.

A year ago it was deemed advisable to introduce Paine's celery compound into the home, as so much had been said by the physicians in favor of the great remedy; indeed, many friends, contributors and workers for the home had themselves used Paine's celery compound and obtained astonishing benefits.

"Never in the history of this long-established institution," reads the report, "was anything received with greater demonstration of joy and thankfulness.

"Fully a score of worthy old ladies, suffering from rheumatism, nervous complaints, and other grave troubles, soon found a new life, energy, vim, and a freedom from pain that other medicines had failed to accomplish; the old ladies rest better, sleep better, eat better and are freer from pain than they have been for years."

The officials of the Montreal Ladies' Benevolent Society have not been slow to recognize the fact that the old ladies under their care derived great good; the lady directresses have officially written to the proprietors of Paine's celery compound, expressing their hearty thanks for the good done.

Above is a photograph of a group of the women benefited—as "happy a group as can be imagined," says the letter that accompanies it, "made happy by that life invigorator, Paine's celery compound."

It is because old age to most people means debility, loss of powers of mind and body, and a growing weariness and weakness, that it is dreaded.

But there's another kind of old age now possible; one cannot defy death, but he can disease.

Nature meant old age to be hale and sound, and by attending closely to means of repair of the body, one may live according to nature, to a grand old age in the best sense; Paine's celery compound makes a good old age possible to many; Paine's celery compound is a true source of nourishment to the nervous system and through the nerves to the entire body.

WEATHER INDICATIONS.

For New Jersey, Tomorrow: Northerly Winds, Stationary Temperature, and Fair Weather.

In his stirring philippic before the Borough Council last night, Mayor Saunders was the incarnation of dignity, courage, stalwart manhood and unselfish citizenship.

Compositors of The Daily Press have a standing joke that the man who has his name in the paper most times in a year wins a free trip to Asbury Park. That prize is apt to be Borough Councilman Needham's if he keeps on in the prominence he has acquired.

The shabby appearance of the letter boxes about town is a subject of general disapproval, and some one has truly said that if the good-hearted old man who used to have the Washington Rock annually kalsomined were only here now he would feel like buying a pot of vermillion and sending an artist around to make the boxes presentable. The tint of most of our letter receptacles is now something of a cross between decomposed salmon and over-cooked lobster, and is calculated to breed a nausea in one chronically color-blind.

If the borough Republicans really wanted a good example to follow, they had but to look to Plainfield. Five years ago, Wilton F. Randolph, a Democratic Councilman, resigned from that body. Though the Council was Republican by a large majority, good politics and good custom were followed, and B. O. Bowers was unanimously chosen to succeed him, though Mr. Bowers was a prominent member and active worker in the Cleveland Democratic Club. How's that for a precedent, ye fair-minded, non-partisan Republicans of the Borough Council!

Now that the partisans are in power in North Plainfield who involved the borough in the electric light muddle, it will be in order for all strictly Republican corporations desiring exclusive territory to apply to the monopoly-makers for franchises. For instance, why may not our good friend Mr. Smalley say to the councilmen, Here, I've got a stone crusher, and I want all other owners of stone crushers to take their section of the mountain over to the Plainfield side of that Chinese wall along Green brook! They shan't sell stone on my side of the brook.

Mr. Smalley is a good Republican; in fact, a leader of the Republicans of the borough; and as partisan Republicans whose necks are under the yoke of their dominant leaders the councilmen could not very well refuse a request so in harmony with what was asked of them and what they granted in the case of the electric light monopoly.

On with the merry war! It's a lively pace those Republican thoroughbreds have taken, now that the reins are free.

The electric light question, by the way, is likely to bob up most serenely in another form, ere long, and some people are very suspicious that it is largely responsible for the Republican determination to secure control.

For the Edison company of the borough has been giving miserable service, and Mayor Saunders and the other Democrats of the Council have been hot on its trail. The present contract for street lighting expires in December, and there was danger of the opposition Plainfield company winning the franchise on a lower bid. That would never do, for the North Plainfield company is a financial investment of the good borough Republicans. Hence, at the first opportunity, the Republicans, being left with a majority by the absence of two Democrats, ordered the Plainfield company to take up its poles and walk. That the poles have not been taken up is because the Plainfield company has as its counsel one of the shrewdest corporation awyers in the country, namely Frank Bergen, and because that counsel is confident he can through the courts maintain his company's right to remain a competitor of the Edison company in the borough. But the Republicans have made not only their first but their second move towards establishing a monopoly for the Edison company. They have succeeded in wresting the majority from the Democrats, and unless all signs fail they will not hesitate to use that majority if necessary in perpetuating the foothold that the Edison company has secured.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—The Somerset street car got off the track at the school-house turnout this morning. No damage was done.

—The silver dollar that Congress is now jumping on and does n't know what to do with, does n't bother Plainfielders a little bit. They are out after all they can get of them. If you don't believe it just read White's advertisement and see how far a silver dollar will go; 'twill buy more now than ever.

Cargo of Gold In Plainfield.

In the midst of hard times, The Jersey Central Railroad is prosperous because it has a tremendous patronage from the people whom it serves preeminently to please. Its prosperity is indicated in the fact that to-day its employes here, as all along the line, were all paid off in hard and shining gold.

The American Catarrh Cure

Is the result of twenty-six years' study and treatment of the disease. One bottle convinces the most skeptical. It is always ready for use, needing neither douche nor atomizer. It restores the hearing, cures the hawking cough and expectorating, removes the headache and nose bleeding, increases the appetite, produces sound sleep, invigorates the whole system and increases the vitality. Prepared only by W. B. Jones, M. D. No. 1396 South Eighth street, Philadelphia. For sale by L. W. Randolph, 21 West Front street. Price $1.00.

CLINT CRANE WINS THE RACE.

THE LYCEUM'S FIRST GOLD MEDAL STAYS IN PLAINFIELD.

The Time Prize a Tie Between Willis of Westfield and George Coffin of Orange.

The great 25-mile road race of the Catholic Young Men's Lyceum Cyclers took place this afternoon.

A great crowd attended, including many wheelmen from out of town.

The start was at Scott's Press Works, and the course through Fanwood and Scotch Plains.

The men finshed in the following order:

Crane, No. 11, actual time, 1:20:32.
Line, No. 12, actual time, 1:20:51.
Flack, No. 15, actual time, 1:20:43.

Coffin, No. 23, actual time, 1:17.
Willis, No. 24, actual time, 1:17.
Thiers, No. 1, actual time, 1:27:18.
Shurts, No. 17, actual time, 1:23:32.
Totten, No. 14, actual time, 1:24.

No others finished. Israel Jones broke his pedal. George Coffin ran into a little girl, hurt her so that she had to be taken home in a carriage, and cut his own head.

THE CRESCENTS LOSE TURNER.

Another of Keller's Graduates Gets on a League Team.

"Tuck" Turner, a popular member of the Crescent base-ball team, has accepted a very excellent offer made by the Philadelphia League Club, and played there yesterday. He will be liked in the League, for he is a quiet unassuming fellow, and a fast enough player to keep up with the League procession. He has the stuff in him for a most capable player, and the veteran Harry Wright, manager of the Phillies, is just the chap to develop his talent, for he gives young blood a good showing.

Turner might have gone in another League team next year, but showed his good sense in going where he would get the best of training.

Of his first game yesterday the Philadelphia papers say:

Times—Turner, who was signed yesterday by Manager Wright, made his first appearance on the team, and, while he did not have a chance in the field or make any hits, he created a favorable impression. He is left-handed.

Record—Harry Wright's latest acquisition, Turner, formerly of the Staten Island Club, played centre field, and, while he had nothing to do in fielding, and made no hits, he displayed considerable capability and was well received.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

E. L. Walz has returned from his vacation trip.

The family of J. Evarts Tracy have returned home.

Mrs. Jos. Neal, of East Second street, sailed today for Ireland.

Mrs. C. A. Haynes has returned from her visit in New York State.

Josiah Browne, of 313 Webster place, is at Asbury Park for a few weeks.

Mrs. Philip Foster, of Somerset street, will leave Monday for Asbury Park.

Mrs. Josiah Brown, of Webster place, left today for a two weeks visit to Asbury Park.

Matthew Cashin, of Wm. Sebring's clothing store, has returned from his vacation.

The family of G. H. Goddard, of East Ninth street, are home again from New York State.

Philip Swain has been sadly afflicted in the loss of his father, James Swain, who died in Brooklyn August 15, aged 76.

Borough Magistrate T. R. Crosley and family left today to enjoy the religious influences and quiet rest of Mt. Tabor.

Mrs. Charles S. Greer, of Grandview avenue, is expected to start the first of the week for Asbury Park, where she will spend two weeks.

The Rev. Dr. K. P. Ketcham returned today from a delightful three days cruise on the yacht of the Rev. William Moore, father of Mrs. Cruikshank of Netherwood Heights.

Charles DeGraw, a handsome and efficient salesman at Edsall's, and a popular member of Gazelle Engine company, went today in company with William T. Newman of West Second street, the accomplished foreman of Gazelle, to spend a week at the Brady House, Atlantic City, and Philadelphia.

THREE FUNERALS IN ONE AFTERNOON.

AFFLICTED MOURNERS GATHER IN DWELLING-HOUSE AND CHURCH.

Death Claimed Its Own in Youth, Middle-Aged and Ripe of Years—Last Sad Obsequies Over the Remains.

Aaron Berkaw.

The funeral of Aaron Berkaw, who passed away so suddenly last Wednesday, took place from the residence of his son-in-law, J. A. Smith, 315 Central avenue, yesterday afternoon at 12:30. Mr. Berkaw had a very large circle of friends, who had known him for many years past, and was universally esteemed for his sterling qualities and Christian character.

He was born in Readington, N. J., 1824, and came to Plainfield about 27 years ago. He learned the carpenter trade when a young man, and worked at it until about 10 years ago. Since then he lived somewhat in retirement, and took life easy, doing little odd jobs occasionally around the house for his son John.

The Rev. C. E. Herring had charge of the service yesterday, and spoke very highly of the deceased, telling of his life, and how, though not identified with any church, he lived a life that was full of good works, and his influence would be felt for years.

Very quiet in his manner, he always made friends wherever he went, and his even disposition was the admiration of all.

Last Tuesday he took his last ramble with Alexander Shotwell, of whom he was a great friend. They went to Wetumpka Falls, as was often their custom, and greatly enjoyed their communion with Nature.

The death of Mr. Berkaw leaves a place hard to fill. There are three children left: Mrs. J. A. Smith, Miss Mary Berkaw and J. V. Berkaw. The pall-bearers at the funeral were John Chandler, Theodore Pruden, Ramsey Blair and Abram L. Cadmus. Interment was made at Flemington, where the body was laid to rest beside that of the beloved wife who had gone before.

Mrs. William A. Schorb.

The funeral of Lizzie A., wife of William A Schorb, took place yesterday afternoon at 2, from Warren chapel, North Plainfield.

The Rev. G. Kennedy Newell officiated, and gave a strong and impressive talk to the large number of relatives and friends present. The pastor remarked that in this busy world everyone seemed to be grasping for things that appeared real. There was doubt in the minds of some people that the "things seen were only temporal while those unseen were eternal", but nevertheless it was true. He hoped that all would live for something higher than the temporal things to be found here, and would labor more for those things essential to a happy life hereafter in Eternity.

Mr. Newell, continuing, drew a few very effective pictures from the life of a child, in the way in which it would run after flowers, and sunshine; and applied it by saying that we who were older were apt to follow ideas and fancies in life that were just as fleeting.

Members of the Foresters, of which the husband of the deceased is a member, attended, and the pall-bearers also were members of Court Pride, namely Peter Blimm, Rudolph Speigel, Lewis Fiering and Adam Seals.

Henry M. Goodwin.

The ceremonies over the remains of the late Henry M. Goodwin were held yesterday afternoon in the Scotch Plains Methodist church, of which the deceased was a member. The Rev. William H. Maroney, the pastor, conducted the services.

Members of Goodwill Lodge, K. of P. attended in a body. There was also a large gathering of relatives and friends.

Mr. Maroney read the fourteenth chapter of the Gospel of St. John, which he said was the favorite chapter of Mr. Goodwin. He afterwards took his text from the fourteenth chapter of Revelation, part of the thirteenth verse: "And I heard a voice from Heaven saying unto me, Write, Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord from henceforth: Yea, saith the Spirit; that they may rest from their labors."

Continuing, the pastor said: "There are two things which make it easy for me to stand here to-day and speak. First, because the one who has passed away was a God-fearing man. He lived as a Christian, and those around him were able to tell by his life that he was sincere and earnest in his belief. Second, because the family and relatives left all put their trust in God, and, do not look to me for comfort, for they know that it comes from a Higher Power." Mr. Goodwin, he said, had been a great sufferer, yet through it all his faith and trust were firm and it should prove a great example to all present to live right for they could not tell how soon they might be called.

After the service, interment was made in the cemetery near the church.

The Crack Paraders Were from Plainfield.

[From The Asbury Park Daily Journal.]

Notable in the Jr. O. U. A. M. parade was Master Tom Schaeffer, the lightning flash drum major, who accompanied the Independent Fife and Drum Corps, of Plainfield. This corps, twenty in number, is one of the best organizations of its kind in the State. Master Schaeffer handles the baton with amazing dexterity and skill.

The Kickers Were All on Aboard.

[From The Bound Brook Chronicle.]

The first electric railroad in Somerset county has been opened to the public. It runs through North Plainfield, up to the Notch. As is usually the case, those who were most outspoken in their objections to this great improvement were the first to try to get a ride.

SUN-LIGHT and FRESH AIR are THE BEST DISINFECTANTS, of course; but you can't apply them in every situation. What next? Well, that depends. For damp cellars use Quicklime, plenty of it. For vaults and cesspools use COPPERAS; cheap stuff; we sell it by the pound or hundred-weight—instructions thrown in. For kitchen sinks, for water-closets, for house plumbing, for the sick room, to deodorize discharges, to purify the air and to prevent contagion, use REYNOLDS'S ODORLESS DISINFECTANT. Made and sold for fifteen years at

Reynolds's Pharmacy, Corner Park and North Avenues.

Corporation Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the Common Council have fixed the thirty-first day of August, A. D. 1893, at 8 o'clock, p. m., and the Council Chamber, No. 109 Park avenue, in the city of Plainfield, as the time and place for J. Frederick MacDonald, William M. Sandford and Edward C. Mulford, the commissioners appointed by the Common Council pursuant to the ordinance entitled, "An ordinance to widen Madison avenue from the southeasterly side line of West Front street to the northwesterly line of the right of way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey," approved June 5, 1893, to meet. The streets proposed to be widened and laid out is Madison avenue from the southeasterly side line of West Front st. to the northwesterly line of the right of way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey. The alterations proposed to be made are to widen said Madison so that the same shall be of the uniform width of twenty-five feet on each side of the centre line thereof, which centre line is described in said ordinance, and shown on map on file in the office of the City Clerk entitled "Assessment map for the widening of Madison avenue from West Front street to the Central Railroad of New Jersey, city of Plainfield, N. J., dated 1893," made by F. A. Dunham, civil engineer."

The lands and real estate intended to be taken for such purpose are all that come within twenty-five feet of either side of said centre line between the southeasterly side line of West Front street, and the northwesterly line of the right of way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey, as shown by said map and said ordinance, to which reference is hereby made for more detailed description.

By order of the Common Council.

COUNCILMAN NEEDHAM RULES THE ROOST.

North Plainfield Borough Council Turned Over to the Partisan Republicans.

Councilman Neal Withdraws in Indignation, But Mayor Saunders Stays and Gives the Republicans the Severest Kind of a Drubbing—He Exacts a Pledge that They Will Not Oust Any Salaried Officers—Robert Fountain, Whom the People Rejected at the Polls, Put Into Michael Connolly's Democratic Chair—What Are You After? Demands the Mayor—He Scores Them on Their Electric Light Monopoly Muddle, and Gives Them a Lashing on Public Matters in General—Pointing with Pride to Democracy's Local Record. He Yields the Fight to His Opponents So as to Save the Tax Assessor's Books.

Liveliest session in North Plainfield's history was that of the Borough Council last night.

Mayor Saunders called it to order at 8. The only absentee of the councilmen was Mr. Howell, but Clerk Vetterlein also failed to appear, and his friend Mr. Bodine sat in his chair as a substitute.

Councilman Needham opened the ball by moving that Newton B. Smalley be made clerk pro tem.

Mr. Neal asked what was the matter with Mr. Bodine. Mr. Needham said he urged Mr. Smalley's election not for personal but for political reasons.

By a strict party vote Mr. Smalley was elected.

Then Mr. Needham moved that the Council proceed to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Councilman M. Connolly.

Mr. Neal sprang to his feet.

"I see"—said Mr. Neal—"that there is a determination to force this issue. As for me, I am perfectly prepared to meet it. I shall go into no lengthy argument, for I am sure that my position will receive the endorsement of every fair-minded man. My claim is that the Democratic party alone has the right to fill the vacancy left by Mr. Connolly. I venture to say that were the members of this Council left to obey the dictates of their own conscience, to follow their own sense of right, they would not do this thing. The majority seems bent on assuming the rights of a helpless minority, and I decline to be a party even by presence to any such usurpation of power."

When Mr. Neal had paused, the Mayor asked if there were any further remarks.

"That motion, Mr. Mayor,"—said Mr. Neal, emphatically—"can mean but one thing. If the Mayor will decide not to entertain it, I shall be glad to remain to assist in the transaction of public business. If the motion is entertained, I shall be forced to withdraw, and in such course I am sure the people will justify me."

As Mayor Saunders put the motion, Mr. Neal took his hat and hastened away.

Only three councilmen were left to vote, and they were the three Republicans, Messrs. Edwards, Hummer and Needham, who of course voted for the motion, and the Mayor declared it carried.

Immediately Mr. Needham was on his feet with a resolution that Robert M. Fountain be elected to fill the councilmanic vacancy.

This being seconded, Mr. Needham stated that it was with great reluctance that Mr. Fountain had consented to permit his name to be used for the office.

"I am satisfied"—added Mr. Needham—"that Mr. Fountain's election is the desire not only of the Republican party but of the majority of the citizens of the election district. The Republican members of the Council unanimously urge it, and at the last election he received more votes than any other nominee on the ticket. At the sacrifice of his own inclination and time he has consented to face the slurs that have been made against him in connection with the possibility of his filling the office."

Referring to the objections made to filling a Democratic vacancy with a Republican, Mr. Needham said he wondered if when Grover Cleveland, "our respected President", had occasion to appoint a Chief Justice he asked if the predecessor had been a Democrat or a Republican, or if a Republican Senate was called on to fill a vacancy it asked the politics of the former incumbent.

"The vacancy caused by Mr. Connolly's resignation"—continued the Republican leader—"I regret. The Council has worked harmoniously together, and I have no criticism to make of the way the retiring member filled his place."

But he held that he would not be fulfilling his duty unless he voted to put in a man in whom he had the utmost confidence, and in voting for Mr. Fountain the Republican members would be simply enforcing a right, perhaps, which their Democratic friends could not take exception to.

At the request of Mayor Saunders, Councilman Hummer took the chair; and the Mayor took the floor to make a speech.

"Permit me to ask,"—he said—"as courteously as I can, if the gentlemen of the new majority have any intention of changing any of the salaried officers."

As the Mayor paused for a reply, Mr. Needham said he had seen it stated that the Mayor had understood that it was the intention of the Republicans to oust the clerk, marshal and other appointees. He challenged the Mayor, courteously and respectfully, for his authority for any such assumption. He himself would decidedly be opposed to any such dishonorable act. Until an officer gave real cause for dissatisfaction in the performance of his duties, he would be the last man in the world to vote to remove him.

Mayor Saunders said that he should regard such an expression of feeling as a promise that no officer should be removed without cause, and asked what the other Republican members had to say.

The sentiments of Mr. Edwards coincided with those of Mr. Needham. He said he would rather cut off his right hand than do any act which he should feel to be dishonorable. He would not be a party to anything underhanded or small. To remove any salaried officer except for cause he felt would be radically wrong.

Mr. Hummer's views were the same as that of his two colleagues, and he brought his knuckles with emphatic sharpness upon the table in saying so.

"By the suffages of the people"—said Mr. Saunders, resuming his speech—"a Democratic majority was put in power. The Council was made Democratic by the election last March. Having been placed in power, the Democratic party put officers in, because the people at the polls had decided what the political complexion of the local government should be, and so that the officers might be in harmony with the members of the Council. These appointees have faithfully served the people, and it is my duty to defend them.

"Having received this expression of opinion, that these officers are not to suffer, I am constrained to ask What is the cause of it all? What have the Democrats done to deserve this treatment in this little borough? They have neglected their pleasures and interests for the prosecution of public business. And they can't see why advantage should be taken when one member of the party in power steps out to make room for a man who is not so hampered by private duties as he from attending to the important duties of his office.

"I took the entire responsibility of permitting Mr. Connolly to resign. It would have been easy for me or some other member to withhold the resignation or hold it over for some future meeting till some arrangement had been agreed on. But we let it go through, and for a reason.

"When I found it necessary to take a trip abroad, I decided to resign the office of Mayor. I so stated to Councilman Needham, to have him give expression to his opinion on the matter of choosing my successor. I suggested to him the name of Mr. Blank, and as I remember he stated that he would not promise to vote for that particular individual, but did feel that a Democrat should be elected.

"If I am wrong,"—said Mr. Saunders—"I trust Mr. Needham will correct me."

"That"—commented Mr. Needham—"was about the position I took."

"Knowing"—resumed the Mayor—"that one vote would settle the matter, I thought it not worth while to ask further among the Councilmen. Mr. Needham's acknowledgment of Democratic rights, I had confidence in, and I failed to see any difference in principle between my proposed resignation and that of Mr. Connolly. Therefore I permitted the resignation of Mr. Connolly to go through, trusting to the good faith and fairness of the members of the Council of the opposite party."

In telling how he had gone to Mr. Needham just before the meeting of the previous Friday night, to ask him to consent to a postponement of the election of a successor to Mr. Connolly, Mr. Saunders spoke of Mr. Needham as the leader of the Republicans. Mr. Needham disclaimed such leadership.

"You are such to my mind,"—retorted Mr. Saunders—"and recognizing you as the leader of the minority I asked if you would agree to adjournment for one week until Mr. Howell who was absent could be consulted as to his views, and, as was his due, have a chance to express his opinions. You consulted with the other members, and just as I was about to call the meeting you declined to sanction postponement. You said that of course I and the other Democrat present could go away and leave you without a quorum, which suggestion I resented, as I felt competent to manage my own affairs and did n't care to receive instructions from you.

"The arbitrary course you adopted led me to determine to adjourn the meeting, which I did; and that same action I would repeat under the same circumstances. In that act I take the entire responsibility for doing what everyone experienced in parliamentary law knows can be done. You could have obstructed it by giving objection when I paused between saying 'If there is no objection we will adjourn for one week' and 'There being none, the meeting stands adjourned', but you seemed taken by surprise, and failed to object. I went through the same formula I had always used, and Cushing's or Matthias's Manual will tell you that the president of a body may presume the consent of a council and not hearing objection declare a motion carried or a meeting adjourned. I venture to say that not one Congress in 25 is adjourned by regular vote on a motion, and it is the same with all legislative bodies.

"My object in asking the gentleman to consent to adjourn was simply because I wanted to look into the situation and ascertain what it all meant and what was proper to do. What were you after? Was it the offices? This seemed to me to be the only tangible, moneyed thing capable of producing such a disturbance where all had been in harmony.

"I accepted Mr. Needham's conversation Friday night as representing the other Republicans of the Council. But I have reason to say that had I consulted Mr. Hummer, whom I regard as a fair and honest man, I believe that instead of the sentiments of Mr. Needham he would have expressed a willingness to consent to postponement of the election of Mr. Connolly's successor.

"To-night you have stated here that it is not your intention to change the salaried officers. What then do you want? Is it to take the load off the Democratic shoulders? If so, take it. But if I thought for one moment that in electing a councilman you intended to deprive of office those men who are depending on the income for support I should put on my hat and walk out. That I should do if I could bring myself to a realization of the fact that you were striving for anything but mere political advantage, which I don't care anything about. No man shall say that I was afraid to stand up before a body of opponents and battle against any attack which I felt was being made against the interests of the people.

"The gentleman has asked, Does Grover Cleveland or does the Senate ask for the politics of the predecessor when an office is being filled? No: the gentleman is perfectly right. But it is a wrong comparison. In this country we have a system of government which thank God is better than any other on the face of the globe—government by the people. What the President says or what the Senate does has nothing to do with the voice of the people. Right now, when the country is suffering, the Senate is obstructing popular will. The Senate is like the House of Lords in England. It is Congress which would be fit comparison with this Council.

"I repeat, What object have you in all this scheme? And I am reminded of the advantage taken during my absence of passing a resolution to create what I consider a monopoly. No one would be quicker to support home industry than I; no one has a greater regard for the men in the Edison Electric Light Company than have I. They are personal friends and good public citizens. But we should legislate on the basis of what we are here for. Our duty is to encourage competition. The Edison company's street lighting contract with the borough is soon to come up for renewal. That company has not been giving first-class service. For one week there was scarcely a light burning. I believe that the company has been passing through an experience that will be valuable. I believe it is earnestly trying to perfect a system and in the future give good service. But it is principle that we should work on. We should not put a stone wall up at the brook! I don't believe in that brook being made either a stone wall or a sewer. The Plainfield company should be held up as a bugbear to the North Plainfield company. Its presence should be felt so that we could say 'Edison company, look out; if you don't give good service we shall put in your competitor'. The possibility of such opposition would make the North Plainfield company more zealous and more earnest to give the best possible service. I mention that line of thought because I am looking for some explanation of the anxiety you have for filling the vacancy with a Republican.

"For the mere political advanage, I don't care. You have now a majority. You have started in tonight by appointing in partisanship a temporary clerk who, though a man I esteem highly, is of your own party. You have set aside the regular order so that you may elect a successor to Mr. Connolly before proceeding with the urgent public business in hand. You have shown very clearly that you will either throw on the Democratic party the odium of not passing the Assessor's books in the time prescribed, or gain your partisan point. The Assessor's books must be passed tonight, under the law, or the tax bills will not be legal. A man who was taxed might then take exception to his bill and oppose its payment, causing the borough a great deal of trouble, litigation and uncertainty.

"The people of this borough have twice honored me with the election of the office of Mayor. I place the people's interests ahead of everything political. I would stay here all night rather than adjourn before the Assessor's books are passed.

"But you have taken it upon yourself to prevent the introduction and passage of a resolution for the approval of the books until you have a chance to elect your man. You have shown that you are disposed to take the political management of the borough's affairs for the remaining seven months of the term—to take it away from the party which has been chosen by the people.

"It is a pretty good time for the Democrats to throw the load on your shoulders. I am glad that I cannot lay my hand on any ulterior motive which might prompt you. I am glad to let you take the reins just now, and I assume to speak for the Democratic party. For the Democratic party, representing the people who placed it in power, can point to many good deeds done for the borough. Just now the trolley road is running through the street, and the only other time I ever took the floor to speak was to argue against the opposition that was being made to the introduction of that railway by the councilmen of the opposition. Across the way is a new hose tower erected through the assistance of Mr. Connolly; it overlooks a beautiful room for the fire department, fitted up through the act of this Council and so through the act of the Democratic party. We have paved a great many streets, put in hydrants, and expended a great deal of money very carefully on work connected with fire and lamps. We are therefore naturally satisfied to leave our record as it is, and present ourselves to the people for their approval or disapproval at the next election.

"In thus pointing out certain things that we have done, the Democratic party shows that it has always fulfilled its duty. And so I propose to let you go ahead and manage affairs, and place the matter before the people at the polls.

"You have said that my previous action has been arbitrary. I only fought for a principle. The retiring member was elected for a certain term, not because he was Mr. Connolly, but because he was a respectable Democrat. He was elected on a substantial majority on a ticket that went through. And in his place you assume to put a certain man of your party in spite of the fact that that man was defeated at the polls. You take partisan advantage of the position in which Mr. Connolly has voluntarily placed his chair, and you can go ahead. We shall rest content, submitting it to the people to decide."

Having concluded his speech, the Mayor resumed his seat.

Councilman Needham spoke briefly in reply to the Mayor. He said that it would be a violent assumption to think that any Democrat would vote to put a Republican in a vacancy. He grew vividly sensational on the subject of "Democratic gerrymanders up in York State", and predicted that the rifle and the musket would yet have to be shouldered to fight against voting in that State being made a mockery.

"We, too,"—he said—"will go before the people on the electric light question"—and he scorned the suggestions that the Republicans were being actuated by some sinister motive. He said that while the Mayor was in Europe the Republicans made not the faintest effort to pass anything from mere partisanship.

When Mr. Needham sat down, the Mayor put the question, and the resolution to elect Mr. Fountain was adopted by the unanimous trio of Republican votes.

The main object of the Republicans having been accomplished, Mr. Needham moved that the rules of former Councils be adopted as the rules of this. They had not been re-adopted at the opening of the year. Mr. Needham's motion was carried.

A crosswalk was ordered laid on Grandview avenue at Westervelt.

The hose tower was reported completed, and the balance of $200 on the $300 cost was ordered paid.

The assessment book of Tax Assessor Cooley was carefully examined, and some assessments were increased by the Councilmen. The book was then approved as corrected.

The appropriations for the year's tax budget were fixed at $2,500 for fire department and hydrants and $5,000 for lights.

The Assessor was authorized to put sidewalk charges in the tax bills of those whose walks had been repaired at the expense of the borough.

The electric light bill for July was cut down from $387 to $362, as a penalty for bad service, and ordered paid as amended.

Councilmen Hummer and Edwards were appointed a special committee to report at the next meeting the securing of a place to impound dogs.

Adjournment was then made. It was nearly 11 o'clock.

HIT BY A FALLING BRICK.

But Hard-Headed Peter Nolan Doesn't Mind Such Trifles.

Peter Nolan, a mason's helper who was working on the North Plainfield public school extension, was climbing a ladder this morning when a brick from an upper story fell, striking him on the head and inflicting several severe cuts.

He was immediately taken to Dr. Mattison's drug store across the street, where he had the wounds sewed up. He will be able to return to work in a short time.

THE MAN ON THE CARS.

HE DISCUSSES THE INWARDNESS OF THE STRINGENCY.

Commuters Are Told His Theory of Tight Money, and They Find His Argument Beyond Reproach.

"All this talk about the present financial stringency being due to the silver question, the frightened depositors or the new administration,"—said the Man on the Cars—"is utter rot. The Chicago Fair is at the bottom of the whole business, and when it is over we may look for freer money. This may sound absurd, but I know whereof I speak."

"Do you mean to say"—I ventured—"that the World's Fair is to be held responsible for tight money?"

"Exactly"—he replied.

"How do you establish the fact?"

"Well, I'll tell you. Do a little figuring for yourself"—and he pointed to the margin of my newspaper and handed me a pencil.—"Take New York city and its environs—Brooklyn, Jersey City, Newark and the other big towns all around. You won't have much trouble in scaring up 2,000,000 people, although that is a conservative estimate. Suppose five per cent. of these made up their minds last Spring to see the Chicago Fair. Five per cent. of two million is 100,000 people; and we are conservative again, for probably twice as many who thought of going have gone or will go. Now, it is very modest to suppose that each visitor to Chicago will take $100 with him. The better part will have at least double that sum in their respective purses, but figure only that our 100,000 people set out last Spring to save $100 apiece. By this time, you will see, there is just $10,000,000 removed from circulation, and that makes a big difference when the most of it is floating tender of the smaller denominations. Then let us see what becomes of it. Such as has been already dissipated is at Chicago, where the rest is to go, and the various money-making devices in the Windy City and on the fair grounds are operated mainly by men who keep their earnings in their own safes or in Chicago banks. Do you catch the idea?"

"It does look as though there might be something in it"—I admitted.

"You bet there is"—he answered—"and there 'll be more in it long before Congress drops to the real trouble." Then the brakeman opened the door and shouted "Plainfield!"—and the man on the cars folded up his paper and said Good-Night.

THE COLONEL AND THE CAPTAIN.

This Is a Great Tale of Mammoth Mosquitoes in the Good Old Days That Are Gone.

YARN NO. 2.

"Well, Captain, as I was about to remark the other night"—commenced the Colonel.

"Hold on, sir, one moment: the cigars were on you."

"Beg pardon! I had forgotten; have one of my new importation!"

After lights were made, and the gentle puffing of the Captain indicated his appreciation and contentment, the Colonel proceeded.

"You remember I told you of my being in the railroad riots of 1877. I was a private, then, but saw some tough work. The Third New Jersey, to which I belonged, was ordered to different parts of the State to protect the property of the railroad companies. My company, C, under command of Capt. W. H. DeHart, was ordered at first to what is known as the 'Fish House', a signal tower on the meadows east of Newark on the line of the Pennsylvania Railroad. We arrived at night, and of course were fully armed and had each twenty rounds of ball cartridges. I was on the first guard, and, walking constantly and rapidly to keep awake, noticed nothing unusual, but heard frequent shouts and groans from the signal tower, where the relief guard were supposed to be at ease.

"On my relief by the corporal of the guard, I thought to myself 'Ah! a good four-hour snooze'; and without delay secured a resting-place inside the building, but close to the levers which throw the switches. No sooner was I asleep than I awoke with a start at the cry of 'Help! help! They will wreck the express!'

"Grasping my rifle, and jumping to my feet, I saw instantly the cause of the alarm. Four ordinary-sized mosquitoes had alighted on the arm of the lever which controlled the main line, and by their weight had thrown open the switch, connecting with the Centre Street branch, just as the Washington limited was within ten feet of it."

"Was the train wrecked?"—yawned the Captain.

"Of course not. Seeing the danger, I at once fired ball after ball at the miscreants, and though four rounds of ammunition were thus used, lightened the weight on the lever just in time to see the switch swing back into place and the express pass safely over."

Puff-puff-puff, and the Captain quietly asked the Colonel if he was sure they were Jersey mosquitos. "I was born and raised in this State, sir;"—said the Colonel—"and I have never seen one here before nor since. They must have been immigrants from Staten Island."

"Good-Night, Colonel."

"Good-Night, Captain."

—Warren Engine, No. 1, had a wash at a Willow avenue hydrant last night, and was found to work satisfactorily.

The Best in the World.

Senator Henry C. Nelson, of New York, writes:

"On the 27th of February, 1883, I was taken with a violent pain in the region of the kidneys; I suffered such agony that I could hardly stand up; as soon as possible I applied two ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS, one over each kidney, and laid down; in an hour, to my surprise and delight, the pain had vanished and I was well. I wore the plasters for a day or two as a precaution, and then removed them. I have been using ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS in my family for the last 10 years, and have always found them the quickest and best remedy for colds, strain and rheumatic affections. From my experience I believe they are the best plasters in the world."

TWO ACCEPTABLE GIFTS.

Communion Set and Platform Carpet Bestowed on Hope Chapel by Its Societies.

After the prayer meeting at Hope chapel, last evening, a reception was given to the pastor, the Rev. G. Kennedy Newell. All were glad to welcome him on his return from an enjoyable vacation, and joyousness and good fellowship prevailed.

Mr. Newell was very happily surprised when the Christian Endeavor and Ladies' Aid societies, through H. G. Squires, presented a handsome silver Communion set for the use of the chapel worshipers. They also gave a very pretty carpet for the platform.

Ice-cream and cake served as a finish to a most enjoyable evening.

Don't Experiment.

Experiments are well enough in all channels of scientific research, but when you want to have a valuable watch or costly piece of jewelry repaired you don't want to experiment. At Collier's you can get that assurance of satisfactory work which twenty-five years of experience guarantees.

Whelan Got a Whalin'.

James Whelan, age 16, called names to William Apgar, ice-wagon driver. Apgar got mad and lashed him with the horse-whip. As a result Borough Magistrate Crosley fined Apgar $2 today.

—The borough has about 200 dogs on record to tax.

—An important regular meeting of the Exempt Firemen's Association will be held tonight.

ODDITIES OF CONGRESS.

Out of the Way Facts That Recall the First Extra Session.

Quaint Traits of Present Members—The Daintiest Man in Congress, Also the Haughtiest, the Merriest, the Queerest and Richest.

[COPYRIGHT, 1893.]

The persons entitled to serve as members of the Fifty-third congress, to quote President Cleveland, and whom he has "required to take notice" that they must assemble in special session on August 7, form collectively a body of men that possesses some eminently curious statistical features.

To begin with, each member of the house of representatives is theoretically the mouthpiece of just 173,901 persons—a decided increase over the thirty thousand that a representative stood for in the First congress. The smaller number was provided for by the constitution, the larger is based on the last census. Every member of the present congress may reasonably be presumed to have read the proclamation calling the extra session within twenty-four hours after it was issued. When the first extra session of congress ever held was called by President John Adams in March, 1797, many a member did not even learn the fact for six weeks. Small as the country then was—some sixteen states mostly along the Atlantic seaboard—it would have been impossible for congress to assemble in the single month allowed by President Cleveland for the legislative branch of the government to come together, although scattered over a territory nearly as large as all Europe. Indeed, one gentleman who raced across the country on horseback to attend the special session of 1797 did not reach Philadelphia—then the nation's capital—until after congress had adjourned. In that year the senate and house assembled in a little brick building with a few rooms in it. The white house was just a block away and likewise of brick and very modest. The reason for the special session was that war with France was imminent. It never came, no thanks to the Fifth congress. The government at that time paid no salary to the president's private secretary nor to the executive clerks, pages, or other more or less useful functionaries. When congress opened President Adams appeared before the senate and house and made a speech to the members. When he had done everybody stood up respectfully as he passed out. No such scene will be witnessed on the 7th of August next. President Cleveland will not enter the halls of congress. The cabinet in 1797 contained five members—Timothy Pickering, secretary of state; Oliver Wolcott, secretary of the treasury; James McHenry, secretary of war; Joseph Habersham, postmaster general, and Charles Lee, attorney general. There was no secretary of the interior, no secretary of the navy, and no secretary of agriculture. In fact the postmaster general was not a member of the cabinet in 1797 and the presidential advisers were therefore but four in number when congress first met in special session. The states were sixteen all told—the thirteen original colonies and Vermont, Kentucky and Tennessee. The senate numbered thirty-two members instead of eighty-eight. There were no territories. The city of Washington did not exist. The white house of 1797 has disappeared from the face of the earth. Its site in Philadelphia is unmarked by anything but a hideous brick structure that is leased for a shirt factory and a photograph gallery. The old Independence hall still stands, but so changed in many respects that the members of the Fifth congress would not recognize it could they see the structure.

The congress summoned by President Cleveland contains four hundred and forty-four members, not counting the four territorial delegates. Of the eighty-eight senators forty-five are pretty sure to vote solidly democratic, thirty-eight republican, three people's and two doubtful. The youngest of them is Edward O. Wolcott, of Denver, Col. He was born in 1848 in Massachusetts and is a lawyer by profession. The oldest is Justin S. Morrill, of Strafford, Vt., who was born in 1810, and is a merchant. Moreover he is the Nestor of congress, having served thirty-nine years. The rest of the senate is made up of sixty-one lawyers, four capitalists, two journalists, two lumbermen, two manufacturers, one merchant, one railroad official, one miner, one stock raiser, one car builder, one doctor, two bankers, one planter and six quarrymen. The rest put themselves down as "retired." Twenty of the senators served in the confederate army during the war and sixteen in the union army. The man with the longest time to serve is Edward C. Walthall, of Grenada, Miss., who has been reelected by the legislature of his state for the term ending in 1901. The most cultured senator is Henry Cabot Lodge, of Massachusetts, who is an author, artist, linguist, scholar and society man. The handsomest is Charles H. Gibson, of Maryland. The most senatorial is Alfred H. Colquitt, of Georgia, whose father and grandfather sat in the senate before him. The haughtiest is J. Donald Cameron, of Pennsylvania, whose unique distinction it is never to say a word in the senate unless he moves to adjourn. The richest, now that Stanford is dead, would seem to be John P. Jones, of Nevada, who bestows gold dollars on the beggars of Washington. The one most celebrated outside of his own country is John Sherman. The most abused is Matthew Stanley Quay, of Pennsylvania. The most punctilious is Calvin S. Brice, of Ohio, who changes his shirt three times every day. The most temperate is David B. Hill, of New York, who neither drinks, smokes, swears, gambles nor eats dainties.

In the house are two hundred and four members who served in the last congress besides sixteen others not in the last congress but members of congress previous to it. The father of the house is Charles O'Neill, of Philadelphia, Pa., who if he outlives his present term will have broken the record by having served thirty consecutive years in the lower branch of congress. The house will contain two hundred and six lawyers, forty-seven farmers and agriculturists, fourteen journalists, fourteen manufacturers, thirteen merchants, five bankers, three teachers, one publisher, two doctors, two clergymen, two college professors, two painters, six gentlemen of leisure, two society men and thirty odd whose pursuits are too indefinitely reported for classification. Of the lot two hundred and twenty-one are certain to go into the democratic caucus, one hundred and twenty-six will be solidly republican and call themselves populists. That leaves two undetermined. The most eloquent of all is W. Bourke Cochran, of New York. The one with the most solid constituency is Thomas J. Geary, of Santa Rosa, Cal., whose motto is "The Chinese must go!" The most unpopular outside of his own district is William S. Holman of Aurora, Ind., who, should O'Neill die, would become father of the house. He is serving his fifteenth term. The thinnest is a member from Medicine Lodge, Kan., who wears no socks, if current report be trustworthy. The most literary is Thomas Dunn English, of Newark, N. J., once the boon companion of Edgar Allen Poe, and who has written verses which the prince of Wales greatly admires. The most interesting is Daniel Edgar Sickles, of New York, who has been on trial for his life charged with murder, who lost a leg at Gettysburg and who once saved the lives of three men at the risk of his own. The best educated is William L. Wilson, of Charlestown, W. Va., who knows Virgil by heart, can read Hebrew with ease and conjugate a Greek verb as readily as he hustles about the polls on election day, not to mention essays he has written on the integral calculus and equations of the second degree. The most unique is William McAleer, of Philadelphia, Pa., who is the first out and out democrat and supporter of Grover Cleveland and tariff for revenue only to be elected on the republican ticket after his own party refused him a renomination. The one who bobs up serenely is Joseph A. Scranton, of Scranton, Pa., who is elected and defeated with much regularity at every other congressional election. The most puzzled is Charles F. Crisp, of Americus, Ga., who has never been able to decide whether he is eligible to the presidency of the United States or not, having been born abroad of American parents.

DAVID WECHSLER.

THE fancy for round belted waists in all sorts of elaborate designs is carried out in various fabrics. Those of chiffon are just now very popular. Black chiffon is generally becoming and may be worn with a skirt of almost any color. The waists are either plain or are trimmed with ecru guipure insertion. When the insertion is used the chiffon is arranged in perpendicular puffs with the insertion bands between them.

NEW SAFETY BAG.

The Clever Invention of Lady Isabella Margesson, of London.

Pockets are to be counted among the many troubles of womankind, and any alleviation of the difficulties entailed by a desire to carry all that is necessary with safety will be hailed with delight by our sex, says the London Queen. There is hardly any feminine pocket that can be honestly said to be safe for carrying money. Lady Isabella Margesson has, however, come to the rescue of her sex and has invented one of the most convenient bags which we have yet seen. It is, indeed, multum in parvo. It is intended to hang at the side and is divided in half, one portion being devoted to the watch and a small bag for gold, the other to the purse, while the pocket for cards and pencils is at the back. But by a clever contrivance the purse cannot be reached from the outside. By means of a spring the mouth of the bag opens wide and on unclasping the upper pocket first the purse is available. The bag is of a very moderate size, made in different kinds of leather, being ornamental as well as useful.

Both Lounges and Wardrobes.

Some wise women are having box lounges made for them. They are the shape of a Turkish couch in all respects, except that they have no curving "arm" at either end. The top is raised by hinges and is covered with a mattress and with chintz which falls in a valance around the sides. This forms the very thing to hold in its recesses madame's best gowns, which can be spread out to their full length without fear of rumpling or crushing them. No housewife ever had closet room enough, but this addition to the furniture of a cramped "apartment" would be exceedingly acceptable

ANTI-SILVER ARGUMENT

Recoinage at 20 to 1 Ratio Would Cost $112,866,321.

SO SAYS SECRETARY CARLISLE

It is Argued That if a Higher Ratio Were Established All the Cheap Silver Would be Thrown Back Upon the Government and Have to be Recoined at a Ruinous Loss.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—In an article on "The present situation," which the Washington Post makes the most prominent feature in yesterday's issue, it says:

The free coinage of silver at a ratio of 20 to 1, or at any increased ratio, is practically impossible.

This is the trump card which Senator Voorhees is to play in the Senate on Tuesday. It is behind this barrier that he is to entrench himself. This is to be his explanation for abandoning the convictions of a lifetime; this is to be his answer to those who will quote against him his memorable speeches of the past. This trump card has been placed in Senator Voorhees' hands by the Administration. Secretary Carlisle, who, despite all assertions to the contrary, is loyal to the President in the last degree, first gave to Senator Voorhees verbally the data to make good this assertion that free coinage is impracticable. He has gone further than this, and has prepared an elaborate letter which the Senator will read in the Senate to-morrow. In this letter the statement is made that it will cost the country between $112,000,000 and $113,000,000 to carry out the provisions of Senator Vest's free coinage bill.

It is true, that there is nothing in Senator Vest's bill about recoinage. But it does not need a prophet's vision to know that dollars below par, which only the Government is compelled to take, will drift with alarming rapidity into the Treasury in payment of customs dues and taxes and there will remain, adding to the congestion of the currency. Unless they can be recoined they will be useless as money, and if there is to be free coinage at an increased ratio some of the silver financiers in the Senate must provide the Secretary of the Treasury with over $100,000,000 to execute the law.

Altogether, it would seem as if the silver men were involved in a situation from which it will be difficult for them to extricate themselves.

The letter of Secretary Carlisle referred to in the foregoing is as follows:

TREASURY DEPARTMENT,
OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 19, 1893.

Hon. DANIEL W. VOORHEES, United States Senate.

SIR—Referring to our conversation relative to the probable cost incident to the change from the present coining ratio (gold and silver (1 to 16 for the standard silver dollars and 1 to 14.95 for subsidiary silver) to a ratio of 1 to 20, you are respectfully informed that the number of silver dollars coined since 1878 aggregates 419,332,450.

Without any allowance for abrasion, and loss incident to melting the same, the coining value of these dollars at a ratio of 1 to 20 would be $333,222,162, or $84,110,288 less than their present face value.

To recoin these dollars at a ratio of 1 to 20 would require the addition of 81,378,700 ounces of new bullion, which at the average price paid for silver, under the act of July 14, 1890 ($0.93 1-4), would cost $75,883,700.

In addition to this I estimate that there would be a loss from abrasion, and in the melting of these dollars, of at lest $3,000,000, which amount, together with the difference in the face value of the coins ($84,110,288), would have to be reimbursed to the Treasury by an appropriation for that purpose.

From the fact that silver dollars are distributed throughout the country it would be necessary as they are redeemed at the several sub-treasuries to transport them to the mints; and the expense of transportation for $45,000,000, the amount outside of the stock on hand at the sub-treasuries and mints at Philadelphia, San Francisco and New Orleans, would average at least one and a half per cent., or $4,500,000.

I, therefore, estimate the cost of recoining the silver dollars already coined as follows:

New bullion to be added, $75,883,700; loss by abrasion and melting, $3,000,000; cost of coinage (labor, materials, etc.) $6,290,000; copper for alloy, $68,200; transportation of dollars to mints, $4,500,000. Total, $89,741,900.

The stock of subsidiary silver coin in the country is estimated at $77,000,000 which at full weight would contain 55,699,875 ounces of fine silver. This amount at a ratio of 1 to 20 would coin $55,843,802 or $21,156,197 less than the present face value.

To recoin $77,000,000 of subsidiary silver into an equal amount of fractional coin, at a ratio of 1 to 20 would require the addition of 18,797,625 fine ounces which at $0.93 1-4 per fine ounce, the average price paid for silver under the act of July 14, 1890, would cost $17,528,785.

There would be a loss of about two and a half per cent by abrasion from the face value, or about $1,925,000.

I would, therefore, estimate the cost of recoining the subsidiary silver in the country at a ratio of 1 to 20 as follows: New bullion, $17,528,785; loss by abrasion, $1,925 009; cost of coinage (labor, materials, etc.,) $2,500,000; copper for alloy, $15,636; cost of transportation, $1,155,000; total, $23,124,421.

Recapitulation—Estimated cost of recoining silver dollars $89,741,900; estimated cost of recoining subsidiary silver $23,124,421; total $112,866,321.

Very respectfully,
J. G. CARLISLE, Secretary.

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—Dispatches to the Herald from Valparaiso announce that there is no prospect for a restoration of peace and order in Argentina.

ON TO WASHINGTON.

A Systematic Pilgrimage of the Nation's Unemployed.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—The man who originated the scheme of inviting to the National Capital an army of the unemployed to make such a demonstration as would compel Congress to heed their demands for relief, is A. E. Redstone, editor of a weekly paper called the Tocsin, published at Washington. It is devoted to dissemination of the principles of socialism and he claims for it a circulation of several thousand. Mr. Redstone says the idea first found a place in one of his editorials two or three weeks ago and immediately attracted attention. Mr. Redstone says:

"The work of organization of these bodies of the destitute is going on in all the large cities. No, I will not name the men who are doing the active work, but they are good men and they are not having much trouble. The homeless ones are coming into the cities from the country roads, where they have been tramping, and the cities will soon be swarming with them. But they think they will do better in the cities than outside, for there they have the strong hand of the authorities to cope with them and the danger of their robbing and committing crimes on the highway is diminished.

"But I do not believe that we will have any trouble with them when they come to Washington. They are not coming for the purpose of making trouble, but to tell their wants to the National Legislature and let the lawmakers see that something must be done, and you may depend upon it the lawmakers will do it."

DEEP IN POLITICS.

A Woman to Receive a Regular Party Nomination in Southern New York.

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—A special to the World from Binghamton, N. Y., says: By a law enacted at the last session of the Legislature women are allowed to vote for school commissioners in the city and county. For the first time in the history of Broome county a woman will be placed on the State ticket and voted for at the coming fall election.

The law provides that women shall register in the same manner as men, and the ballots cast for school commissioners shall be kept in separate box.

Broome county is strongly Republican and there are plenty of male candidates. The Democrats, however, will place in nomination Miss Roxie Eldredge, principal of the New street school.

Miss Eldredge is prominent in educational matters, and the straight Democratic vote, combined with the ballots cast by the women, cannot fail, the Democrats think, to place her in office.

ONE WAY TO BANK.

Probability That the Madison Square Bank Will Remain Closed.

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—The Madison Square Bank has now been in the hands of Bank Examiner Judson nearly two weeks, but as yet no official statement of the condition of its affairs has been made public. This long silence is considered ominous by the stockholders and depositors of the defunct institution, and their fears are in no way allayed by the reports of favoritism to certain large depositors who were given the tip in time to withdraw their deposits, and of general mismanagement of business by the president and board of directors.

It is now alleged that Bank Examiner Judson is withholding his report in order to allow of payment or arrangement being made of several transactions which would not reflect credit on the management of the bank.

Peoples' Party Nominations.

SYLVAN BEACH, N. Y., Aug. 21.—The following were chosen to represent the People's part on the State ticket at the convention here Saturday: Secretary of State, Jamet Wright of Elmira; Comptroller, D. M. S. Fero of Glens Falls; Treasurer, F. H. Purdy of Bluff Point, Yates county; Attorney-General, Thaddeus B. Wakeman of New York; Engineer and Surveyor, J. Averit Webster of New York; Judge of Court of Appeals, Lawrence J. Parlan of Buffalo; delegates-at-large to the convention for the revision of the State constitution, Patrick S. O'Leary, Edward O. Ball, George Clark, Dr. Robert Boocock, John Taafe, Dr. E. B. Foote, John J. Junio, Charles Conneliey, George Gifford, Thomas W. Beecher, John J. Lippert, Andrew Murray, Henry A. Hicks, A. J. Day and J. Evans Scudder.

Mexican Financiering.

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—A special to the World from City of Mexico says: It seems to be a fact that the government has determined to make no new loan in Europe, but to pay out of its own funds coupons falling due in October and January on the foreign debt. There has been a powerful influence brought to bear on the government not to pay the interest, the argument of many bankers being that a suspension of payment would keep the money in the country, where it is badly needed at present. The President and his Minister of Finance think, however, that their first object should be to maintain the credit of the nation abroad.

Over Niagara Falls.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., Aug. 21.—Edward Brennan, whose home is at 1780 Washington avenue, New York city, went out on the river in a sailboat at noon yesterday. While off Grass Island he attempted to fasten his craft to a steam yacht, In so doing his boat was overturned and he was thrown into the water. The crew on the yacht tried to save him and followed him down as far as they dared towards the "death-line," but finally had to give up as Brennan disappeared just before reaching the white line of breakers. His body has gone over the American falls.

Fiendish Jealousy.

HOLLIDAYSBURG, Pa., Aug. 21.—Walter Geiser, a young Altoona druggist, paid a social call upon a daughter of James Reed, of this city, Saturday night. As he was departing from the house he was struck in the breast by a pistol bullet fired by a person in the outer darkness. The would-be murderer, who is supposed to be some discarded lover of the girl, escaped. Geiser's wound may prove fatal.

Conference of Trades Unions to Help the Unemployed.

APPEAL FOR PUBLIC IMPROVEMENTS

"A Strange Civilization Which Finds Work for Criminals in Prison While Honest Men Walk the Streets in Idleness" Resolutions Adopted, but Anarchists Suppressed.

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—The first conference of the delegates from the various trades unions of New York to take action on the existing condition of affairs in the labor world and to devise means of assisting the unemployed and to formulate plans for a great labor demonstration, was held at No. 227 East 10th street yesterday afternoon. After four hours of discussion, some of it lively, resolutions were passed and a committee appointed with a view of improving the condition of affairs.

About 100 delegates were present and a good share of them had something to say. The meeting was lively at times, but good order prevailed, as a general thing. One or two persons present advanced anarchistic ideas, but they were promptly set upon. The general tone of the remarks made were on the line of coolness and prudence. The large majority of the speakers counseled obedience to the laws and confidence in the government.

President Gompers, of the Federation of Labor, acted as temporary chairman, and opened the meeting by remarking on the situation. Then Robert M. Campbell, of Typographical Union, No. 6, was elected permanent chairman, and Thomas C. Welsh, of the Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, English secretary, and J. Burns, of Union No. 90, as German secretary. The first resolution passed was as follows:

Resolved, That a committee be appointed to ask all labor organizations and sympathizers to co-operate with the conference and assist in devising means to help the unemployed.

The next resolution was as follows:

Resolved, That a committee be appointed to wait upon the mayor and other officials of this city and this State with the view of starting and opening up work to the end that new employment be furnished the unemployed. And be it furthermore resolved that the committee be delegated to call upon the civil justices and ask that evictions of unemployed workmen for non-payment of rent be postponed during the crisis.

The other resolution passed was to the effect that a committee be appointed to draw up an address to the public explaining the position of the conference and its reasons for its actions in the matter.

In his opening address President Gompers, of the Federation of Labor, spoke of the situation as lamentable and said a crisis had been reached. But one thing, he said, could remedy the evil, and that was the voice and action of organized labor. One cause of the trouble was said to be over production, caused by the introduction of machinery and the use of steam and electricity in manufacturing. The labor unions have endeavored to keep pace with this state of affairs by trying to reduce the hours of labor, but have not been very successful.

The speaker said the blame rested with the wealthy classes. "The main thing to do," said he, "is to devise means to force these people to provide means by which the manhood and womanhood of this country may be maintained." The speaker counseled prudence. "Have we anything to gain by breaking the laws?" he asked, and there were loud cries of "No, No."

It was explained that the conference was called because there was a general lack of cohesion among the workingmen of the city.

"I refrain from denouncing any one," said Mr. Gompers, "but the city and State and National Government must come to the aid of the workingmen of this country. The inauguration of public improvements as a means of furnishing work for the unemployed was advocated. It was suggested that this city inaugurate the building of a system of rapid transit, improve its streets, sewers, docks, etc. "It is a fine commentary on our civilization," said the speaker, "when criminals can be sent to prison and work found for them, while honest men walk the streets in idleness."

After further speaking an adjournment was taken until this afternoon.

Morris Klinterstein, a wealthy German, furnished meals free to a thousand unemployed people yesterday. Circulars had been sent out notifying all unemployed persons to call at his place between the hours of eleven and one o'clock and get "a good square meal." Most of the men, women and children who accepted the invitation gave evidence of their need by eating ravenously. Mr. Klinterstein will continue the charity daily for the present.

TO BIG TO HOARD.

That is Why Carter Harrison Would Put Silver Dollars in Circulation.

CHICAGO, Aug. 21.—"If I were President for 30 days I would give confidence to the business community and give work to the unemployed," said Mayor Carter H. Harrison. "I would put the 143,000,000 silver dollars now lying useless in the Treasury vaults in circulation. What is the trouble now? Scarcity of currency. And yet the Government keeps on issuing Treasury notes that can be locked up in safety deposit vaults by timid people. I would not issue single notes, but I would pay all national debts in silver and in that way bring the stringency to a sudden termination.

Silver cannot be hoarded. It is too bulky. Gold and notes can, and if the $143,000,000 in silver were turned into the markets money would soon be plentiful. They talk of silver being an undesirable money, yet who to-day refuses to take silver dollars? Let the national Government pay all its debts in silver now stored away. A man who received $500 in 'cartwheel' coins would not put them in a safety vault and he would not lug them about on his person. He would pay his debts and bank the rest. The banker having currency, would accommodate his customers and then the wheels of commerce would revolve again."

ITALIAN REVENGE.

A Mob Attack a French Seminary in Rome.

ROME, Aug. 21.—The anti-French agitation, started in consequence of the massacre of Italians at Aigues Mortes, has gained ground rapidly. Saturday evening a mob attacked the Santa Chiara Seminary of French priests, smashed the windows and tried to force the doors. Further damage was prevented by the police, who are guarding the seminary as well as the French Embassy, as the anti-French agitators have threatened to sack it. In both Milan and Turin incendiary French manifestoes have been issued.

BERLIN, Aug. 21.—The relations between France and Italy are regarded here with considerable anxiety. In view of the popular demonstrations against the French in Italian cities since the massacre of Aigues-Mortes. The hostility displayed by the Italian agitators is believed to threaten very grave consequences, as it will irritate the French government just at the time when Italy is making her demands for reparation. Even the possibility of a Franco-Italian war and Germany's obligations under the Triple Alliance treaty in such an event are generally discussed.

SAME OLD STORY.

The Cashier Speculated and the Bank's Money Disappeared.

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 21.—The money of the South Side Savings Bank, which John B. Koetting squandered while cashier, went into deals of the Board of Trade. Receiver Barth says $189,000 disappeared in that way. Mr. Koetting dealt through Jacob Wurster, a commission man, and the latter in case of losses drew on the bank, his checks being honored by Koetting. On the books it looked as if Mr. Wurster had overdrawn his account, whereas the transaction was simply a means of collecting Koetting's indebtedness.

Court Commissioner Roser, John H. Koponeir, a brother-in-law of Koetting, and John Graf have gone to Denver to see Koetting. The latter are on his bond as executor of the Richardson estate, and as the estate has been squandered they are supposed to be desirous of having him deed over his Milwaukee property to them as an indemnity.

An Embezzler's Travels.

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—A dispatch to the Times from Panama says: Francis H. Weeks, the embezzler, whose presence is desired by so many victims in New York, did not leave this city in July. The Times' correspondent was informed when he first instituted his inquiries that Weeks took his departure last month. Further investigation shows that Weeks embarked under his own name June 29 on the steamer Costa Rica for Puntas Arenas. It is unlikely that he stopped long in that seaport. During this season of the year the climate on the coast of the Gulf of Nicoya is unpleasant to one not accustomed to it. So Weeks probably started at once for San Jose, the capital of the Republic. This city is at a sufficient elevation in the mountains to be at least more habitable.

Five People Instantly Killed.

LEROY, N. Y., Aug. 21.—An accident occurred here yesterday morning on the Leh gh Valley railroad crossing on Lake street, in which five people were instantly killed. Their names are L. J. Bovee, Mrs. L. J. Bovee, and their daughter Miss Ola Bovee, all of Leroy; Miss Nancy Wycks of the same place, and Miss Emma Bowden, daughter of the Rev. Samuel Bowden of 323 West 32d street, New York. Miss Bowden was visiting the Bovees, one of the most prominent families in Genesee county.

French Elections.

PARIS, Aug. 21.—The general parliamentary election in France yesterday was unexpectedly free from disorder and even excitement. All of the Cabinet Ministers have been re-elected, none meeting with serious opposition. M. Wilson, son-in-law of the late President Grevy, and who was implicated in the Legion of Honor scandal, is elected by a large majority. The returns show the lection of 102 Republicans, a gain of five seats, 12 royalists, 3 "Rallied" and 3 Revisionists. Sixty-eight reballots are necessary.

A Rich Widow Dead.

ST. PAUL, Aug. 21.—Mrs. Frank Rheinhardt, a widow of this city, has been apprised that she is an heir, if not the only heir, to an estate in India, valued at $25,000,000. The property was left by Philip Rheinhardt, a brother of Frank, who left his home in Saxony many years ago, went to India, amassed a fortune and died intestate. Carl Rheinhardt, a brother of Frank, is said to be living at Buffalo, N. Y.

THE BIG GUNS READY TO SPEAK

The Senate Will Incidentally Decide Contested Seat Cases—Fight Over National Bank Circulation and State Bank Tax. Early Announcement of House Committees.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—It is expected that this week will be a lively one in the House. A number of very prominent members are booked for speeches, among them Bourke Cockran, the two Breckinridges, Reed, Burrows, Fellows, Peel, Tracy, Sickles, Lockwood and probably others. It is hardly probable that many, if any, of the Republicans will make long speeches. The plan is for them to reserve their fire until the five-minute rule takes effect, which will be on Thursday. From that time on there will be hot cross-firing, and it is expected that it will be a three-cornered fight in which the most expert of the sharpshooters will participate, though the Republicans will have the advantage of seeing the Democrats firing at each other, while they will put in an occasional shot where it will be most effective.

The Senate's Programme.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—It is improbable that anything will be done in the Senate save, perhaps, to dispose of the two election cases. There were three of these, but one—that concerning Mr. Beckwith's title to his seat, by virtue of appointment of the Governor of Wyoming—has been removed from the calendar because of the resignation of the appointee.

Senator Morrill has given notice that he will address the Senate to-day on the silver repeal bill, and it was the understanding Friday, when the Senate adjourned, that a vote should be taken on the election caseses at 5 o'clock. The final vote, however, is subject to postponement should appear that the time is not sufficient to enable Senator Vance, chairman of the Committee on Privileges and Elections, to finish his speech.

Mr. Voorhees is down for a speech this day on the silver repeal bill which bears his name, and it is hardly to be expected that he will fail to bring forth interruptions and interruptions which will make the speech interesting, aside from its intrinsic merits. After Tuesday, the programme of the Senate can scarcely be defined.

The bill to increase national bank circulation is the regular order, and while there was some expectation last week that it could be disposed of in a day or two at most, it appears now that it may provoke a debate which will consume the entire week.

The Butler amendment which is pending to repeal the State Bank tax, is one of the planks of the Chicago platform, and is a subject of much greater and more far reaching importance than the mere proposition to extend the national bank circulation contained in the bill.

Senators take strong grounds on this subject, and it is fair to presume that it cannot be disposed of without a severe and prolonged struggle.

The House Committees.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—Some time early in the week, probably to-day, Speaker Crisp will announce the committees of the House.

THE SHANN MURDER CASE.

A Belief That the Jury Will be Unable to Agree.

TRENTON, Aug. 21.—The jury in the Shann murder case will, it is believed, disagree. When last heard from they stood three for acquittal and nine for murder in the second degree.

Cots have been furnished for them to sleep on and their meals come from the hotel. They were balloting all day yesterday.

The general expectation is that they will come into court to-day and ask to be discharged on the ground of inability to agree.

Anti-Chinese Uprising.

PASADENA, Cal., Aug. 21.—Governor Markham, who is at his home here said in regard to the request for troops to quell the expected anti-Chinese uprising at Bakersfield, that he had wired for information to Judge Conklin at Bakersfield, and had been informed by him there was no immediate necesity for troops. He has notified Judge Conklin that the local company of National Guard at Bakersfield can be called out if necessary, but that the step must be taken with discretion.

The Chinese Will Wait.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—It transpires that some days ago the State Department received a message from Li Hung Chang, the Chinese Viceroy, addressed to the President, to the effect that for the present no retaliatory measures will be initiated as regards the citizens of the United States residing in China; and further, that every effort will be made to protect them and their interests in peace and safety till the assembling of Congress in regular session.

Alabama's Quarantine Raised.

PENSACOLA, Fla., Aug. 21.—At an early hour yesterday Mayor Chipley received an official communication from Gov. Jones, of Alabama, that Alabam's quarantine proclamation had been revoked. The railroad schedules were immediately placed in force and both night and day trains are now running just as they were before the yellow fever scare upset matters.

A Real Wild West Fight.

CHICAGO, Aug. 21.—As a result of a furious fight in the Wild West show in closure in Midway Plaisance yesterday four Bedouins are more or less severely hurt and three of the sons of the desert languish in Woodlawn police station.

Meeting of Unemployed.

NEW YORK, Aug. 21. — Unemployed workingmen of the East Side marched in procession to Union square Saturday night, where they listened to speeches from their leaders and Emma Goldman, the woman anarchist.

A Great Scheme Collapsed.

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 21.—The scheme for a great electric road, running from Chicago to Indianapolis, with branches to various cities of the gas belt, has collapsed.

GRAND ARMY.

Attractions of the Coming Encampment at Indianapolis.

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 21.—Arrangements are complete for the National encampment of the Grand Army to begin here Sept. 4. The principal features of the programme are as follows:

Monday—reception of officers and delegates of the National encampment at which a chorus of 300 voices and an orchestra of forty pieces will furnish the music. There will also be singing by a glee club and addresses. Ex-President Harrison will deliver the address of welcome and Commander-in-Chief Weissert the response.

Tuesday—Parade of Grand Army veterans. The parade will pass in review by the national commander and his staff with distinguished guests occupying the grand stand on the Court House square. In the evening fireworks display on the grounds south of the institute for the deaf and dumb. Natural gas display.

Wednesday—Sessions of the National Encampment at Tomlinson Hall, of the National Woman's Relief Corps at Roberts Park Church, of the ladies of the G. A. R. at Y. M. C. A. Hall; of the Daughters of Veterans at the Second Presbyterian Church. In the evening, reception of the ladies' corps given to the delegates and lady visitors of the Woman's Relief Corps, ladies of the G. A. R. and Daughters of Veterans.

Thursday—Meetings continued. In the evening war pageant, illustrating the principal wars in which the United States has been engaged.

Friday, Sept. 1, the National Naval veterans will arrive. Their parade will occur on Saturday, and on Monday their convention is to begin its sessions.

FATAL STORM.

Six People Killed by the Hurricane Saturday Night.

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—All outdoors within a radius of at least 100 miles from New York city got a thorough soaking from the storm that prevailed Saturday night and the greater part of yesterday. It was a singular fact that scarcely any wind accompanied the rain in the city, yet in Westchester county, Long Island and New Jersey it blew hard enough to do a great deal of damage. Miles of telegraph and telephone wires came down, outhouses were blown to smithereens, and many trees were uprooted.

In Brooklyn a man who slept in a cellar was drowned by the flood that poured in upon him. Three unknown people who were in a yacht off Bullock's Point were drowned. Michael Mack was killed by lightning near Somerville, N. J. Thomas Peters, Jr., was drowned by tippling over of a yacht at the same place.

No Cholera from Canada.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—Surgeon-General Wyman, of the Marine Hospital Service, when shown the dispatch from Buffalo stating that immigrants from cholera infected ports of Europe were coming into the United States by way of Suspension Bridge, said: "Every immigrant coming in through Canada passes through Quebec, where he is inspected and his baggage disinfected by steam, whether he comes from a healthy or infected port, and he is not allowed to pass through unless his baggage is tagged and he has a certificate signed by inspection physicians. There is no danger whatever from these immigrants."

Poverty Parade.

NEWARK, N. J., Aug. 21.—A novel sight was witnessed here Sunday afternoon. The Polish Jews of the city turned out in numbers and paraded through certain sections of the city. They marched barefooted over the cobbles with tattered clothes. These Poles and Russians, who live in the thickly settled tenement districts of Prince street, gathered in groups of two or three after the parade and discussed the proposed demonstration that is to be held this week.

Reading Employes Happy.

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Aug. 21.—In accordance with circulars sent out to national banks of this region President Joseph S. Harris, of the Reading railroad, met officials representing banks of Shamokin, Mt. Carmel, Ashland, Girardville, Mahanoy City and Tamaqua, and one of Pottsville. After a conference of three hours satisfactory arrangements were made whereby the Reading company will be enabled hereafter during the financial troubles to pay its coal and iron employes.

Warner's Yacht Brings $4,000.

CLAYTON, N. Y., Aug. 21.—The steamer Siesta, the beautiful steam yacht, belonging to H. H. Warner, the ex-millionaire of Rochester, was sold at auction sale at Alexandria on Saturday afternoon and only brought $4,000, the exact amount of claims against it. The yacht was built at Bristol, R. I., in 1882 at a cost of $35,000. John A. Davis, of Alexandria Bay was the purchaser. Mr. Warner's family are at his summer home at the Islands. He is in Europe at present.

Closing Day of Four Congresses.

CHICAGO, Aug. 21.—Saturday was the closing day of four congresses. The dental surgeons awarded the prize medal for the best essay to George Cunningham, of Cambridge, England. The pharmacists decided to meet next year at Ashville, N. C. In the peace congress Robert Treat Pain spoke on the contest of labor and capital and papers were read by John Eaton, ex-commissioner of education, and Prof. Woodworth, of Mississipi.

Navy Gun Forgings.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—The Bethlehem Iron Company last week shipped 100 tons of navy-gun forgings to the gun factory at Washington. A shipment was made yesterday to Cramp's shipyards of rods and shafts for the cruiser Brooklyn and the battleship Iowa.

The Dry Goods Trade Improving.

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—Some improvement was to be noted in the drygoods trade last week, partly in the way of a better feeling and partly through an increase of transactions, including several of some importance.

Fifty Miners Killed.

BERLIN, Aug. 21.—The Kaiserstuhl coal pit at Dortmund, in Westphalia, was the scene of a terrible mining accident Saturday. An explosion of firedamp occurred in the pit, killing fifty persons and injuring many others.

Sunday at Gray Gables.

BUZZARD'S BAY, Mass., Aug. 21.—The President spent a quiet Sunday with his family indoors. Mrs. Cleveland drove over for the mail on Saturday as usual.

A Cholera Patient Dies.

QUARANTINE, S. I., Aug. 21.—Antonio Carlove, aged 50 years, who was convalescing from cholera on Swinburne Island, died last night.

WEATHER INDICATIONS.

For New Jersey, Tomorrow: Cooler and Fair.

The generosity of James A. Bradley, sovereign of Asbury Park, is cosmopolitan. He has won the hearts of the Hebrews by giving to Judaism $500 and a plot of land, on which a synagogue is to be erected.

The thirsty streets of Plainfield gorged themselves on the deluges of Saturday and Sunday, and today the choking dust arises from them as plentifully as ever. What is wanted is a steady week of rain, before the earth will consent to stay damp for a day or two.

The true self of the North Plainfield Republican councilmen was apparent at Friday night's meeting. When Mayor Saunders asked them if they intended to turn any of the salaried officers out for partisan reasons, they pledged themselves against so dishonorable a proceeding. That was because the pointblank question was a surprise to them, and their party bosses were not at their backs to prod them into saying, against their own better judgment, Do n't you promise! The councilmen would have carried the day without binding themselves by such a pledge, for Mayor Saunders assured them that he should not imperil the Tax Assessor's books by withdrawal merely to gain the point of leaving them without a quorum. The councilmen are naturally men of conscience and honor, and The Press believes that had they been left by their political leaders to the dictates of their own better nature they would never have committed the wrong of usurpation in the case of Councilman Connolly.

One of the bright young men of the New York Sun grows very facetious in writing of the storm of Saturday, and says:

Man is prone to lie about the size of fish and the size of hailstones. Ordinarily man calls hail the size of a pea "stones as big as walnuts". A man with a perverted mind might say that the hailstones that landed in Somerville were as big as chickens, and he would n't be lying any harder than the walnut liar. The Sun reporter did n't take any chances. He brought a pail of the stones to New York as evidence. Some of them actually were as large as walnuts. He was scoffed at and asked where he'd found the ice house, until corroborative evidence came in the shape of a citizen of Brooklyn, who had spent the day in Somerville. He brought with him a four-pound hunk of hail taken from the same pile that the reporter got his from. The sample stones brought to New York had been gathered 24 hours after they fell. Naturally they had half melted. When they fell some of them must have been larger than walnuts. A Somerville man made an affidavit that one he picked up could not be put into a tumbler. Every northwest corner in town had its pile of hailstones. The largest pile was at the schoolhouse. At 8 o'clock it was three feet high.

As a sample of the humors of journalism, this is a brilliant and well written invention.

Delightful Comedy in a Handsome Theatre.

The preliminary season of the Empire Theatre, New York city, opens tonight, with B. C. Carton's domestic comedy, "Liberty Hall". This is the second production at the Empire Theatre, and from present indications it will prove as successful as "The Girl I Left Behind Me", the first play produced at this handsome house. Henry Miller and Viola Allen, who head the Empire Theatre stock company, the coming season, play the lovers in "Liberty Hall"; and Cyril Scott, W. H. Crompton, Agnes Miller and May Robson, who will also be in the Empire stock, are in the cast of the comedy. The play ran for over a year at the St. James Theatre, London. "Liberty Hall" is as exquisite as one of Thomas Bailey Aldrich's poems. It is full of delicate touches and pretty daintinesses, and the author has chosen this charming method of dealing with the soul dreams of two lovely women and a modern knight whose chivalry is as perfect as anything in Edmund Spenser's "Faerie Queene". The story of the comedy will at the same time reveal its method of treatment. A nobleman dies and leaves his daughters penniless. One is haughty and highminded, the other's fancies turn to poetry and romance. Blanche is the beautiful, dignified creature, and in her hands the girls' destinies are when the play opens. The former refuses to remain in Chilworth Castle which has been her home, even though a friend of the young lord who has fallen heir to the property bears a letter authorizing them to occupy the castle as long as they like. She kindly thanks this friend, a Mr. Owens, and leaves the castle, accepting the hospitality of a worthy old fellow, George Todman, who has a second-hand bookshop in Bloomsbury. Curiously Mr. Owens goes there too, hiring out with Mr. Todman to look after the old books. Owens has fallen in love with Blanche, and presses his suit quietly but determinedly. He makes his way with the girl favorably, and at the moment when a Mr. Bringinshaw, a draper, who has been refused by Blanche, is about to sell out poor old Todman's shop for a debt, Mr. Owens goes forward and pays the obligation. In doing so he writes his check, and a short while afterwards his identity is revealed. Mr. Mr. Owens, the accepted lover of Blanche, is no other than the young lord who owns Chilworth Castle. He has won his bride like the Lord of Burleigh, without fortune or title. The other sister, Amy, whose vicissitudes are not made so prominent as Blanche's, marries the Harringay, and before the comedy ends tears have been dried forever and joy wreathes the hearts of the lovers whose romances have been unfolded in the dingy back parlor of the Bloomsbury bookshop.

Missionary Talks and Song.

Mr. and Mrs. Bond, returned missionaries from Macedonia, will conduct the services at the meeting of the Christian Endeavor Society at Warren chapel tomorrow evening. The song service will be in charge of M. M. Dunham, beginning at 7:45.

ANOTHER GOOD MAN DROPS DEAD.

JOHN MANCHESTER FALLS LIFELESS JUST AFTER REACHING HOME.

The Devoted Husband Had Just Concluded His Saturday Night Marketing for His Family, When He Was Stricken With Apoplexy.

Grim and sudden death has without warning claimed another of Plainfield's citizens. Last Saturday evening, about 9:15, John C. Manchester passed away without a moment's premonition, apoplexy being the cause.

In the afternoon he attended an auction sale at Netherwood, returning home about 6. He then felt as well as usual, and asked his wife if supper was about ready.

After supper he said he would take a walk down town, going first to the store of Councilman Herman Weber, where he sat down and had a talk with Mr. Weber.

Leaving there, he went to Henry Liefke's bakery, purchased some eatables for Sunday, and proceeded to the barber shop of P. J. Kreitling, and was shaved.

This was the last place he stopped at before reaching home.

Mrs. Manchester, his wife, had retired early, and was asleep. Her son Frank had also retired. Frank's wife was getting ready to go up stairs.

Unseen, Mr. Manchester came in, and, going to the kitchen, put his purchases on the table. When he came into the dining room, his wife heard a strange noise, which startled her. She immediately went to this room, and found her husband lying at full length on the floor. She called her son Frank, who went for Dr. Sarah Keeney, who lives close by. The doctor came with all speed, but life was extinct, and all hope gone.

John Manchester was born in Rhode Island 52 years ago, but lived in Massachusetts for 25 years, when he removed to New Jersey. He had lived in Plainfield about 22 years, 16 of which had been spent in the house where he died.

He learned the carpenter trade when a young man, and had worked at it ever since. He was known as an excellent workman, and people had perfect confidence in him. He taught his son Frank the trade, and took the contract alone to build a house in this city, that his son might know how the work was done.

Mr. Manchester leaves a wife, Patience Manchester, and one son, Frank.

During the 34 years of her married life Mrs. Manchester has been away from home but once to stay all night, showing how faithful she has been to her beloved husband and home. Mr. Manchester was a stanch Republican. He always worked zealously for the success of his party's candidates.

The funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon at 3, from his late residence, 313 Arlington avenue. The Rev. Dr. C. B. Barnes, of the Methodist church, and the Rev. G. Kennedy Newell, of Hope chapel, will officiate, Central Lodge, A. O. U. W., of which he was a member, will attend.

PLAINFIELD'S END OF THE STORM.

Wind and Lightning Play a Few Freaks, and the Water Makes an Awful Muss.

Plainfield was deluged by rain both Saturday night and Sunday forenoon. The streets under the railroad bridges were for a time impassable, and a number of small washouts of roadway occurred, notably at New and Second streets, New and Fifth, and Charlotte road. It rained so hard during Sunday morning service that some of the preachers had to strain their voices to be heard above the hammering of the elements without.

The most serious result of the storm was the temporary grounding of the fire-alarm system and the breaking of the Somerset street railway main trolley wire. The wire was joined together as quickly as possible, so as not to interfere with traffic over Sunday, and was firmly repaired this morning.

The rainfall in Plainfield was 2¼ inches.

Lightning struck a tree in Councilman George F. Edwards's yard on Duer street, ran along a clothes line from the tree, shattering the top and intervening post, and ripped the bark of a tree at the other end of the line. The freak was witnessed by Mrs. Carmon Parse and Dr. Adams's family.

A Plainfield electric light convertor on Washington avenue, opposite the Jacques residence, burned out last night during the thunder storm.

The telephone company suffered from the lightning Saturday and Sunday, but Manager Runyon speedily had everything all right again.

Good Work by Turner Children.

The annual picnic of the children of the members of the Plainfield Gesang and Turn Verein was held in Turner Hall, yesterday, the rain preventing out-of-door exercises.

The children of the turning school gave exhibitions in calisthenics, long jumping and rope climbing. Chas. Meyer is their teacher. Each child present received a gift. In the jumping Chas. Meyer was first, 13 feet, Fred Hansen second, 12½ feet, Chas. Belter third 12 feet and Albert Gaub fourth, 11½ feet.

Electricity on Tap.

Linden avenue was brilliantly illuminated last night by the contact of a bared electric light wire with a wet tree. One could draw sparks and get a severe shock by putting his hand within an inch of the trunk.

A trolley pole in front of Dr. Mattison's drug store on Somerset street became charged with electricity yesterday afternoon, and drew a large crowd. Superintendent Adleman repaired the break that caused it.

LOST HIS LIFE IN THE STORM.

EDWARD N. HARNED OF PLAINFIELD CRUSHED TO DEATH.

He Had Taken Refuge in a Bathing Pavilion, Which Collapsed Before the Wind—His Academy on Park Avenue to Continue in the Fall.

Through the storm of yesterday, Plainfield is unfortunate in having lost one of its most esteemed citizens, and the loving family and warm friends of Edward N. Harned are plunged in the deepest gloom.

Last night Mrs. Harned received a telegram from Atlantic Highlands stating that a body taken from the wreck of Bently & Leslie's bathing pavilion had been identified as that of her husband.

Mr. Harned was the proprietor of Harned's Academy on Park avenue.

He left Plainfield Saturday morning to go to Keyport, and intended meeting his lawyer there to attend to the transfer of some real estate in which he was interested. It is supposed that Mr. Harned transacted his business at Keyport, as he had said before leaving home that he would probably go up the coast before coming home, and would take the boat for New York. He went to Keyport via the Lehigh Valley Railroad from South Plainfield, and it was by a return ticket to that station that his residence was discovered.

Saturday night, Mr. Harned arrived at Atlantic Highlands, and on Sunday while he was reading his paper on the pier, the sudden storm came up and he sought protection under the bathing pavilion, where he was killed. The pavilion collapsed when the tremendous wind began to blow, and when the debris was removed Mr. Harned's body was found among the fallen timbers.

Undertaker Runyon sent for the body this morning, and it will probably arrive tonight.

Mr. Harned leaves a widow and four children. His school, which he started here about four years ago, has recently been enlarged and he had just completed his arrangements for the coming year. He had intended to retire from the actual school work of teaching, and had intrusted the management to Prof. Harris, whom he had appointed head master. The school will continue as usual, in every respect the same as if Mr. Harned had been alive.

Edward N. Harned was born in Plainfield, February 2, 1856. His early education was received at home, where he studied for some time with a private tutor. In 1879 he entered Buchtel College, Ohio, where he took his baccalaureate degree.

He married shortly after leaving college, and accepted a position as instructor of mathematics in Chappaqua Institute, where he remained for two years. From there he went to Newton Square Boarding School, where he officiated as principal. He resigned from there in order to start his school in Plainfield, which has been extremely successful. He first rented the property on Park avenue, then bought it, and finally, this year, enlarged it to over twice its original capacity, and had made all arrangements for the coming year, intending to attend to the business end of the institute himself. His sudden and grievous death will not alter the plans of the school, which will continue as before. The funeral will take place at the Friends' meeting-house on Peace street, Wednesday morning at 11.

Corporation Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the Common Council have fixed the thirty-first day of August, A. D. 1893, at 8 o'clock p. m., and the Council Chamber, No. 109 Park avenue, in the city of Plainfield, as the time and place for J. Frederick MacDonald, William M. Sandford and Edward C. Mulford, the commissioners appointed by the Common Council pursuant to the ordinance entitled "An ordinance to widen Madison avenue from the southeasterly side line of West Front street to the northwesterly line of the right of way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey," approved June 5, 1893, to meet. The street proposed to be widened and laid out is Madison avenue from the southeasterly side line of West Front st. to the northwesterly line of the right of way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey. The alterations proposed to be made are to widen said Madison so that the same shall be of the uniform width of twenty-five feet on each side of the centre line thereof, which centre line is described in said ordinance, and shown on map on file in the office of the City Clerk entitled "Assessment map for the widening of Madison avenue from West Front street to the Central Railroad of New Jersey, city of Plainfield, N. J., dated 1893, made by F. A. Dunham, civil engineer."

The lands and real estate intended to be taken for such purpose are all that come within twenty-five feet of either side of said centre line between the southeasterly side line of West Front street, and the northwesterly line of the right of way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey, as shown by said map and said ordinance, to which reference is hereby made for more detailed description.

By order of the Common Council.

MIDWINTER IN SOMERVILLE.

THE INHABITANTS SHOVEL ICE OFF THEIR SIDEWALKS.

Wholesale Destruction by a Terrific Storm—Much Damage to Property, and Some Loss of Life.—Birds Killed By Basketfuls.

Somerville people will never again pray for rain. For weeks they had been imploring Providence to moisten their parched real estate, and Saturday evening came the accumulated answers to their prayers.

The reason of the petitions was that the farmers' corn has been burning up, their grain has been dying, their cabbage and their potatoes and their turnips have been near to ruin. The earth was hot and parched. Rain was needed and it was needed badly.

It happened Saturday—reports the veracious New York Sun—that a wave of high pressure meandering up from the south met a wave of low pressure meandering down from the east in the neighborhood of Albany.

Now a high pressure wave and a low pressure wave, when apart, are peaceful enough, but once they get together there's a row. Each of those waves that met near Albany was strong and healthy, and after shaking hands over the parched country around about they joined forces and started for the southwest. It may or it may not be that they had heard about the prayers of the people of Somerville, but it's a demonstrable fact that Somerville is to the southwest, and they headed straight for it. On the way down several winds saw them and went along, too, as motive power, so that after a while the two waves were traveling thirty-five miles an hour.

Trenton, as the crow flies, is a shy 200 miles from Albany. Just a little while after the two pressures met in Albany two other pressures met at Trenton. They were strong and healthy, too, and they also joined hands. It may or may not be that they heard about the needs of the good people of Somerville. At all events, they started off toward the northeast, with no more motive, apparently, than the Albany waves had for heading southwest. The Albany waves traveled faster than the Trenton pair, and though the distance was greater than from Trenton, all four came in sight of Somerville at about the same time, and in sight of each other, too. That seems to have caused the trouble. Their approach is described by a citizen of Somerville, thus:

"It began to get dark and then over the top of the mountains in the southwest there appeared a heavy black cloud. Its head was cone-shaped and appeared to twist and whirl around under a snow-white cap. Its body was long and black as night. Its tail was jagged and irregular and seemed to sweep the mountain as it crossed. It got lower and lower as it traveled along, and it seemed to gather speed, and I should think it was coming at the rate of forty miles an hour. The big whirling cone-shaped head had just cleared the mountain top when off in the northeast another cloud appeared. It was white and looked like a great snow bank, and traveled like an express train. Its head was like a mountain, its body was long. It had a tail that seemed to wriggle. While it was almost snow white its edges were black."

The citizens of Somerville rejoiced when they saw the Trenton monster coming. They were still rejoicing when they saw the Albany monster. When they saw the velocity with which these two monsters approached they became frightened. It was pretty generally agreed yesterday that five minutes after the monsters were first seen they appeared to be within ten feet of each other, and it was very dark. Suddenly a fierce gust of wind came from the west, and Somerville people do n't remember very clearly what happened in the next ten minutes.

They saw the monsters smash together. They saw fierce streaks of lightning shoot out from each cloud and then heard deafening crashes of thunder, as if the whole heavens were falling. Then came a deluge of rain.

"Before anybody realized it,"—says the Somerville man who described the sighting of the storm—"it grew light again, and the rain poured down. Then it became dark again, and the lightning came in blinding flashes, while the thunder rattled and rolled. The good Lord knows we had wanted rain, but the women dropped on their knees and prayed for a deliverence from it.

"There came another streak of daylight. The clouds seemed to back off and come together again with a fearful crash. This was followed by a downfall of hail such as nobody in Somerville ever saw before. It fell on the roofs with a deafening rattle. It smashed the windows. With it came a fearful wind from the west. The hail instead of coming straight down seemed to be driven through the air at about the height of an average man.

"The wind tore off stoops and shutters, and whirled them about and twisted and broke them. It tore up huge trees by the roots and threw them down. It lifted the roofs of houses and barns and tossed them about. It tore down chimneys and hurled the bricks through windows. It carried away fences, and every moment it seemed to grow fiercer, while the hailstones, at first the size of peas, grew to the size of hazelnuts and then to walnuts, and they banged and crashed through everything they struck. In fifteen minutes they had reached a depth of several inches.

"Suddenly they stopped, and rain came down again in torrents for a few minutes. Then the hail came again. I tell you, sir, it was simply hell, and if two-thirds of the people in Somerville were not on their knees praying to God to stop it, then I do n't know Somerville."

The fury of the mighty combatants was spent in half an hour, and they settled down to a steady downpour of rain. That lasted until after midnight, and the people had no chance to see what damage had been done until yesterday morning. They found then that the path of the storm had been half a mile wide. Just in the edge of the path was what was supposed to be the strongest building in that part of the State, the wholesale grocery warehouse of Tunison & Losier. It was a three-story brick building. The roof had been cut off clean, and was lying, a mass of wreckage, fifty feet away.

In the whole town there were not more than half a dozen windows with a northwesterly exposure that had not been smashed. Stories of wrecks and loss of life and injuries began coming with the daylight and continued all day. The first fatality reported was the death of Michael Mack. Mack was a fireman on the Central Railroad. He was coupling cars when the clouds came together. The first flash of lightning seemed to strike him, and he fell dead between the cars.

The next was reported to Chief Manning Crow of the police by Jacob Reef, a milkman, who has a dairy farm at North Branch. He said that he was driving home, and when within sight of Bullock's Point in the Raritan River he saw a catboat, with three persons aboard, being driven before the wind. A moment after he saw it was capsized and apparently sank. He saw none of the three occupants again.

"It would have been suicide," he said, for me to have tried to get out to aid them."

From South Branch came a story that Mary McGlove, Thomas Peterson, and John McGlove, Jr., had gone out in a sailboat which had been capsized. John McGlove had succeeded in swimming ashore with his sister, but Peterson had been drowned. DeWitt Brokaw, the night watchman at the Central Railroad station, told this story:

He was on his way to the station when the storm broke. He was struggling to keep his feet, when opposite the Commercial Hotel a big tree was uprooted and fell toward him. He tried to escape, but one of the branches struck him and knocked him senseless. He did not recover for some minutes.

Owen German, a gravedigger, said he went after his cow when it looked like rain. He caught her in a field next to the graveyard. Just at that moment it began to thunder and the lightning began to play. The cow became frightened. The rope he had around her horns got tangled about his neck, and the cow raced around the graveyard, dragging him after her. His life was saved by Albert Franklin, who slashed the rope.

George Bergen, a fish dealer, was walking from Raritan to his home in Somerville, when the storm overtook him. He is an invalid and could not run. The hail cut his clothing in shreds and cut his flesh. He reached the station finally, bleeding from his wounds. Mrs. Ellen Murray was driving in a livery rig owned by C. R. Prall. She was going from Somerville to her home on the old Frelinghuysen estate. The wind blew her carriage over. She struck on her head and Mr. Prall says she was seriously injured.

The people of Lotterytown, the colored section of Somerville, sent word that they were treed in Jacob Vandervort's house. Lotterytown is on Peter's Brook. Peter's Brook has a habit of rising a foot every time the Raritan river rises an inch. The citizens of the town are Frank Schenck, DeWitt McCoy, John Kline, Charles and William Hall, Richard Fields, Prince Rogers and Jacob Vandervoort. They all have families, some of them large ones. They work in TenEyck's brickyard close by. When the storm broke the water in the brook rose with great rapidity. There was no time to think of household goods. The men grabbed the children and the women followed to Vandervoort's house, which is on a little mound. They say that fifteen minutes later their own houses were standing in four feet of water. There was two feet there when they sent the message.

An attempt to enumerate the damage that was done in other ways than those told of would fill a large book. Everywhere the storm hit it hurt. Big fields of corn were torn up; one of thirty acres belonged to Frederick Loeser, the Brooklyn dry goods merchant. Orchards were destroyed. The rain and hail beat into the ground and destroyed vegetables. George W. Bronson, the town glazier, said when asked to estimate the damage to glass:

"It would be an easier job to tell who has n't suffered from broken glass than who has."

He was asked for the names of some of the prominent citizens who had been to him.

"Take the directory," he said, "and copy from a to z. I've got orders already that require two car loads of glass and I've sent for it."

Every one of the churches in the village, the public school house, and all the other public buildings, lost all of their northwest windows. There were many instances reported where the hail often driving through the glass had smashed things inside the houses.

A curious feature of the storm was its fatality to the birds. The Court House square is filled with tall trees. Sparrows and all manner of birds seemed to have taken refuge in the trees. When The Sun reporter visited the square yesterday the ground was covered with dead birds. It was not possible to step in any direction without stepping on them. In that square alone, there seemed to be thousands. The hail had killed them. Dead birds could be seen everywhere in the town, but nowhere as many as there were in the square.

The foliage suffered everywhere. The town rested under a bed of leaves. Some trees were literally stripped of leaves, though the branches seemed uninjured. The northwest side of seven out of ten of the houses were spotted with leaves. They seemed to have been driven into the paint, and they could only be scraped off. On some houses the paint was scraped off in streaks as if a sharp stone had been run down their sides.

Ex-Sheriff Coddington says that by actual count he saw 1,400 dead sparrows gathered up in the Somerset Court yard, and the men had not yet finished the work. He adds that at one house a hailstone shattered a shutter slat and made an inch hole like a bullet hole in the glass. Numerous shutters had the slats split, and on one house all of the shutters on the exposed side were broken.

The engineer on the New York train due at Somerville at 6:10 Saturday evening had to bring his train to a halt after leaving Finderne. The large hailstones crashed through the windows of the cab and passenger cars, and the engineer had to crawl over to the fireman's side for safety.

THE ALBION CHANGES HANDS.

ALBERT H. KING TO ASSUME CONTROL WEDNESDAY.

He Is a Brooklyn Man, of Experience in Commissary Matters—Various Improvements Contemplated in the Hotel Property—Mr. Miller Stays at Netherwood.

Negotiations have been on foot for some time between The Albion Hotel Company and Albert H. King, of Brooklyn, in regard to the latter renting the hotel for a term of years and relieving the company from all further responsibility as to its management. As many of the readers of The Press know, the hotel real estate belongs to the Stelle and VanDeventer estates, and The Albion Hotel Company holds the lease of the property. The company owns all the furniture and other fittings. Mr. King has decided to take the hotel on a sub-lease from the company, and has signed the lease, which gives him the property until February 15, 1896. Frank E. Miller who has managed The Albion so satisfactorily for the past two years, will hereafter spend his time in making The Netherwood more popular than ever. Mr. King has had considerable experience in business which would fit him in one way to manage a hotel, namely, handling the supplies for the commissary department for numbers of men engaged in railroad construction. He also managed the Victoria Hotel, Nassau, for a short time. The new management comes in power Wednesday, and some of the numerous improvements which it promises will be looked forward to with interest.

While welcoming Mr. King, who, by the way, has many personal friends in Plainfield already, The Press wishes to extend its good wishes to Mr. Miller, and is glad to know that he goes no further from Plainfield that the great hotel on the hill.

NOTES OF THE LYCEUM RACE.

Time-Prize Tie to Be Decided by Another Race Between Coffin and Willis.

As was to be expected, this paper was the only one to give any satisfactory news, Saturday, of the great 25-mile road race of the Catholic Young Men's Lyceum Wheelmen. Of the two other papers in town, one gave not a line of the result, and the second only stated that Crane won the time prize, which was of course an egregious error.

These columns alone gave the order of the racers at the finish, and their official time, and told how Clint Crane had won first prize for being first to cross the winning line, and how Coffin and Willis were tied for best-time medal.

Willis and Coffin met at the Lyceum club-house after the race, and agreed to decide the tie by riding the 25 miles over again, under the auspices of the same club. The race will take place just as soon as Mr. Coffin recovers from his soreness and bruises, which he received at the finish, Saturday, by running into a little girl. Dr. H. H. Lowrie dressed his wounds, and said he would be all right in a few days. Mr. Coffin will then notify the club officials in this city, who will immediately arrange the race. It will be for blood.

S. Clinton Crane, the winner of the first prize, rode a remarkable race. Very few had thought of him as first-place man, but he surprised them all. Previously he had no remarkable record, and eight minutes handicap advantage was given him. Next time the handicapper will probably not be as generous.

Crane is the same speedy lad who won the beautiful gold medal offered by The Daily Press last year as the schoolboy prize in a 20-mile race. He also won first prize in the bicycle race at Dunellen. Young Crane is a graduate of the Plainfield High School, and will enter Columbia College in October.

The following will be of interest, as showing how the leading three men rode the laps. It will be noticed that in each lap the actual time varied but little, showing a steadiness that is very essential to a cyclist who rides to win:

	1st Lap.	2d Lap.	3d Lap.	4th Lap.
Crane.....	17 min.	16:40	17:05	17:35
Coffin.....	16:30	16	16:35	16:55
Willis.....	16:40	16:25	16:10	16:05

After the fourth lap each rider rode to the Fanwood bridge and back over South avenue, to complete the 25 miles.

W. J. Mooney, No. 16, came in eighth instead of G. M. B. Shurts as stated Saturday; and W. E. Rink and Otto Neher finished tenth and eleventh, each receiving a prize.

William Kiely made an excellent starter.

The timers, Caleb Dickinson, Benjamin LaVere and Charles Vail, were the acme of accuracy.

Dick Stevens was an interested spectator, and hugely enjoyed the race. Whenever good local sport is on hand, there you 'll see Dick.

One of the racers made life miserable for a dog by running over him.

Israel Jones broke one of his pedals and dropped out after the first lap.

Ed. Martin said he got tired before he reached the Netherwood hill, and stopped there.

The prizes were distributed at the club-house after the race, and everyone was well satisfied.

The race between Coffin and Willis will be an exciting one.

A great many people would have liked to see John Lynch in the race. He might have been a winner.

Great credit is due A. S. Fritts, E. W. French and W. J. Kiely, who did the satisfactory handicapping for the race.

Abused His Employer's Horse.

The coachman of George Watson of 107 Crescent avenue was arrested at 2:30 this afternoon for being intoxicated and abusing his employer's $800 horse, which he had been driving fast since 7 this morning. The coachman was locked up, and the horse put in the tender care of Hedden's livery stable. Mr. Watson was telegraphed for.

NOTES.

Manager Keller will secure a good man in Turner's place this week.

The New Jersey Athletics will play on Crescent Oval Saturday, Sept. 2.

On Labor Day the Cuban Giants play here in the morning. In the afternoon the Crescents play the Elizabeths at Elizabeth.

Manager Keller being unable to secure a strong team to play here Saturday, has accepted a date at Hackensack with the Orltanis.

The Crescents had a great right fielder in last Saturday's game at Orange. Manager Keller played the position, and was loudly applauded.

Turner is maintaining the Crescents' reputation. In Saturday's game, for Philadelphia, he made one run, one hit, three put-outs and no errors.

A large number of people are asking for Saturday games at home. They should have shown their appreciation sooner. Manager Keller has no trouble drawing good crowds away from home.

The Philadelphia Times says of a Crescent graduate:

In Turner Manager Wright has secured a good man who not only promises well, but also has all the qualifications of a ball player. He is a sure fielder, a hard batter, a fast runner and uses good judgment. It was noticed in his batting that, instead of hitting the ball into the air as several of the Philadelphia players do, he drives it on the ground, thus rendering the chances of reaching first base either on a hit or on an error much more certain. It is not the player who invariably tries to knock the ball over the fence who is the most valuable to his team in these days of scientific ball playing.

The Book of the Fair.

Of all the literature that has been published concerning the stupendous Chicago Fair, none is more exquisite or complete than "The Book of the Fair" issued by the Bancroft Company, Auditorium Building, Chicago. This is a sumptuous work portraying not only the beauties of the Columbian Exposition but comparing it by picture and letter text with all other of the world's great shows. The story is charmingly told by that ever-graceful writer, Hubert Howe Bancroft, and the best of artistic work has been expended on the magnificent illustrations. The book is in reality an historical and descriptive presentation of the world's science, art and industry, as viewed through the Columbian Exposition, and sets forth the display made by the great congress of nations, of human achievement in material form, so as the more effectually to illustrate the progress of mankind in all the departments of civilized life. It is a bewildering array of delights, and a wonderful education. Everyone desiring a faithful story of the Fair, with every detail accurately pictured, is recommended to write to the publishers about subscribing. "The Book of the Fair" is published in the highest style of art.

Qualifications for a Museum Freak.

(From the New York World.)

If John Johnstone, of Wisconsin, does n't speedily secure a lucrative position in some dime museum it will not be for lack of the necessary qualifications. Mr. Johnstone is eighty-six years of age. He left his home in Wisconsin a few days ago for New York, on his way to England, taking one of the flyers on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad. While the train was cutting a streak through Plainfield Mr. Johnstone, who had been asleep, arose, from his seat, mechanically walked out on the platform and stepped off the train. The train was stopped and the porters and brakemen began to search for the fragments of Mr. Johnstone's body. The fragments were not visible, however, and Mr. Johnstone was found alongside the track apparently sleeping as soundly as he had been five minutes before in the car. There was a cut in his head, and his clothes were torn from contact with the gravel, but beyond that Mr. Johnstone sustained no serious damage. It is said he has since been enjoying the sights of New York with only a strip of court-plaster across his cranium to remind him of his exploit.

MRS. SHANN ACQUITTED.

A Verdict Reached on Saturday After a Few Ballots.

TRENTON, August 21.—The jury in the case of Mrs. Shann, charged with the murder of her son by poison in order to get his life insurance, came into court at 9:30 this morning with a verdict of "not guilty." The court room was crowded with spectators and Mrs. Shann was surrounded by her family. When the verdict was rendered she showed much emotion. The audience sat silent, and in a few minutes the formalities were over and Mrs. Shann was discharged from custody. As she left the court room a few of her acquaintances shook hands with her. It is said that the jury decided to acquit after a few ballots had been taken on Saturday.

QUEER PARTNERS.

A Man and a Cat, Both Deaf, Who Work for Uncle Sam.

The existence of a singular bond of sympathy between a human being and a dumb animal, both similarly affected, is conspicuous in the New York general post office. It is between a man and a cat, both stone deaf. Gustav Fersenheim is the man's name. He is sixty years old and has been in the service nearly a quarter of a century. The cat's name is Dummy. The department where the afflicted friends are in daily communion is the third division.

Dummy is one of the thirty felines that Uncle Sam maintains in the big granite pile to keep out rats and mice.

How Fersenheim's attention was first attracted to her is not evident, for Dummy is an undersized black cat, lame in the right hind leg and stub-tailed. About six months ago, however, Fersenheim began to buy her delicacies at the risk of incurring Uncle Sam's displeasure by injuring her usefulness as a mouser.

Every day at noon Fersenheim feeds Dummy, after eating his own luncheon. She manifests her gratitude by a faint purring and an arching of her back. Her twenty-eight furry companions crowd enviously around, and in the dimly-lighted corner of the basement their green eyes sufficiently attest their jealousy. The other cats try all their persuasive powers on Fersenheim, but he is true to his pet.

The little black cat is so bright-eyed and sprightly in her movements that it is hard to convince strangers that she is really deaf. Fersenheim's abnormally quick eye detects the look of incredulity that flits over the onlooker's face, and he points first to the cat's ears, then his own and gives a reassuring look and a convincing nod.

If a doubt still remain, some obliging clerk will leap high in the air and alight on the floor with a noisy stamp a few inches to the rear of Dummy's tail as the cat sits on the floor. She will not move a muscle. If after this the ghost of a doubt haunts the viitor's mind, other obliging clerks will cease a great truck and run it thundering past the cat, all but over her funny tail. She does not stir. Then they will run the truck close in front of her and she will jump aside to avoid all possible danger.

DUMMY, THE DEAF CAT.

A few weeks ago Dummy gave birth to three kittens. Fersenheim adopted them at once, and when they get old enough they will undoubtedly share the tidbits dispensed at luncheon time.

HANGING BASKET.

A Pretty and Inexpensive Ornament for the Piazza.

In summer, it is not enough that the house should be decorated, the piazza must be made beautiful also. A charming little ornament for holding growing vines can be made from a long tin box, such as ginger-snaps come in. Put on the cover and hammer it down securely all around; with a can-opener cut a square opening in the top. Punch holes in the bottom for drainage, and in the top for wires by which to suspend it. Cover with bark glued or sewed on, fill with earth and plant with nasturtium seeds, and you will be soon repaid for your slight trouble. They are equally pretty for hanging in the house in a sunny window in winter. Larger logs for standing on the piazza steps or about the grounds may be made by taking two rounds sawed from a log for the ends. On this have a tinsmith tack the tin. The bark also may be nailed on.—American Agriculturist.

He Left Early.

"You didn't stay late to-night," said Trivvet to Dicer, as his room-mate returned early from a call on Miss Fosdick.

"No," replied Dicer, gloomily.

"What was the trouble?"

"I casually asked where Mr. Fosdick was, and she said he was down in the cellar watching the gas meter."—Brooklyn Life.

Woman's Danger.

No man can ever know the devoted martyrdom of many women.

Unselfishly a woman works and suffers that home and loved ones may be happy.

When it seems as though her back would break, when she grows irregular, faint, irritable, loses all interest in society, gets the "blues," is crushed with that indescribable feeling of "bearing-down," she "drags along," day after day, suffering agonies that would appal a man.

The cause of all her trouble is some derangement of the uterus or womb, perhaps the development of a tumor, or cancerous humor, — anyway, give it instant attention.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the sure cure. It is recommended by thousands of women. Its cures are unparallelled.

All druggists sell it. Address in confidence, LYDIA E. PINKHAM MED. CO., LYNN, MASS. Liver Pills, 25 cents.

HOUSE NUMBERING.

A postal card to me in that relation will insure your receiving your correct street number.

If a thing is worth doing at all it is worth doing well. Do not, therefore, use the rust-inviting tin and sheet-iron indicators, but try the bright, enduring, attractive nickel numbers, varieties of which, as 10, 15 and 20c. per number, I offer for your selection. Also white enameled letters for glass doors and windows. Orders respectfully solicited.

THE HOUSE COMMITTEES

Speaker Crisp Makes a General Shake-Up.

SPRINGER'S HEAD IN THE BASKET

Wilson of West Virginia Heads the Committee on Ways and Means—Bland Again Chairman of the Coinage Committee—Holman Dropped From Appropriations.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—The principal changes made by Speaker Crisp in the chairmanship of committees announced by him yesterday had been discounted in the public mind by the publications previously made concerning their composition. The chief surprise was therefore occasioned by the assignment given Mr. Springer. He had generally been accorded a place at the head of the Committee on Foreign Affairs in case of a transfer from the Committee on Ways and Means. No one had suggested him for membership on Banking and Currency. The announcement of the list as it was read from the Clerk's desk was the first intimation that members had of the Speaker's determination in the matter.

An intimate friend of Mr. Crisp said that he had consulted no one in arranging the list. The explanation of this action was, the gentleman said, that there was so much friction occasioned two years ago that the Speaker preferred to make the selection without advice or assistance and assume the entire responsibility for the work. In addition to the changes of the chairmen the rank and file of the committees have undergone an unusually radical change, former membership being, in many cases, no indication of continuance in service on that particular committee.

The Coinage, Weights and Measures gets Mr. Bland again as chairman, and the committee is for free coinage by one. This, however, will not have much effect, as the silver bill will be out of the House before they can get to work. The Banking and Currency Committee is anti-silver.

The chairmen of the various committees are as follows:

Ways and Means—Mr. Wilson (W. Va.).
Appropriations—Mr. Sayers (Tex.).
The Judiciary—Mr. Culberson (Tex.).
Coinage, Weights and Measures — Mr. Bland (Mo.).
Banking and Currency—Mr Springer (Ill.).
Foreign Affairs—Mr. McCreary (Ky.).
Elections—Mr. O'Ferrall (Va.).
Agriculture—Mr. Hatch (Mo.).
Military Affairs—Mr. Outhwaite (Ohio.).
Naval Affairs—Mr. Cummings (N. Y.).
Postoffices and Postroads—Mr. Henderson (N. C.).
Indian Affairs—Mr. Holman (Ind.).
Railways and Canals—Mr. Catchings (Miss.).
Private Land Claims—Mr. Pendleton (W. Va.).
Manufactures—Mr. Page (R. I.).
Pacific Railroads—Mr. Reilly (Pa.).
Labor—Mr. McGann (Ill.).
Patents—Mr. Covert (N. Y.).
Invalid Pensions—Mr. Martin (Ind.).
Pensions—Mr. Martin (Ind.).
Pensions (Mr. Moses (Ga.).
Claims—Mr. Bunn (N. C.).
War Claims—Mr. Beltzhoover (Pa.).
Expenditures in Department of Justice—Mr. Dunphy (N. Y.).
Expenditures in Department of Agriculture—Mr. Edmunds (Va.).
Public Buildings—Mr. Crain (Tex.).
Library—Mr. Fellows (N. Y.).
Printing—Mr. Richardson (Tenn.).
Civil Service—Mr. De Forest (Conn.).
Election of President and Vice President—Mr. Fitch (N. Y.).
Alcoholic Liquor Traffic—Mr. English (N. J.).
Immigration and Naturalization—Mr. Geissenhainer (N. J.).

The principal committees are made up as follows:

Ways and Means—Wilson, West Virginia; McMillin, Tennessee; Turner, Georgia; Montgomery, Kentucky; Whiting, Michigan; Cockran, New York; Stevens, Massachusetts; Bryan, Nebraska; C. R. Breckinridge, Arkansas; Bynum, Nebraska, Tarsney, Missouri; Reed, Maine; Burrows, Michigan; Payne, New York; Dalzell, Pennsylvania; Hopkins, Illinois; Gear, Iowa.

Appropriations—Sayers, Texas; Breckinridge, Kentucky; Dockery, Missouri; Compton, Maryland; O'Neil, Massachusetts; Livingston, Georgia; Washington, Tennessee; Robertson, Indiana; Williams, Illinois; Coombs, New York; Henderson, Iowa; Bingham, Pennsylvania; Dingley, Maine; Grout, Vermont; Cannon, Illinois.

Coinage, Weights and Measures—Bland, Missouri; Tracey, New York; Kilgore, Texas; J. Epes, Virginia; Stone, Kentucky; Allen, Mississippi; Bankhead, Alabama; Rayner, Maryland; Harte, Ohio. H. A. Coffeen, Wyoming; McKeighan, Nebraska; Stone, Pennsylvania; Johnson, North Dakota; Dingley, Maine; Sweet, Idaho; Aldrich, Illinois; and Rawlins, Utah.

Banking and Currency—Springer, Illinois; Sperry, Connecticut; Cox, Tennessee; Cobb, Missouri; Culberson, Texas; Ellis, Kentucky; Cobb, Alabama; Warner, New York; Johnson, Ohio; Black, Georgia; Hall, Missouri; Walker, Massachusetts; Brosius, Pennsylvania; Henderson, Illinois; Russell, Connecticut; Haugen, Wisconsin; Johnson, Indiana.

Interstate and Foreign Commerce—Wise, Virginia; Price, Louisiana; Buckner, Wisconsin; Geary, California; Houk, Ohio; Patterson, Tennessee; Caruth, Kentucky; Durborow, Illinois; Brawley, South Carolina; Bartlett, New York; O'Neill, Pennsylvania; Randall, Massachusetts; Storer, Ohio; Belden, New York; Hepburn, Iowa, and Fletcher, Minnesota.

Springer Disagreeably Surprised.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—When asked for a statement as to the reasons which impelled the Speaker to depose him from the chairmanship of the Ways and Means committee, Mr. Springer said: "Not to say that I am surprised at my deposition from the chairmanship of the Ways and Means committee and appointment as chairman of the committee on banking and currency is only a feeble expression of the truth. I have had no intimation from the Speaker whatever as to his failure to reappoint or as to his intention to make me chairman of the other committee.

"I go from the work to which I have given the best study of my life to a committee to the business of which I have given but little attention heretofore. I know nothing of the motives of the Speaker or of the object he had in view. He has assured me that he desired to do that which he thought was best for the country and the Democratic party. I hope he is not mistaken but opinions may differ. I do not care to make a further statement at this time."

PETERS SCORES STANLEY.

An Emphatic Charge That He Misused His Companions.

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—Dr. Carl Peters, the African explorer, said that he wished to correct a statement which had been attributed to him in the interview published on his arrival from Europe on Friday. "Some papers have quoted me as saying that Stanley traveled like a gentleman, and I did not say so. From all that I could learn traveling through the same country that he did, I would say that he did not travel like a gentleman for he did not treat his European companions like gentlemen.

Stanley lived on good food himself and allowed his men to live as the negroes did. The French missionaries told me that they visited Stanley's camp at Usambiri and saw Stanley sitting at the head of the table eating European diet and drinking claret, while Emin Pasha, Mr. Mackay and the members of Stanley's party ate negro diet and drank water. I was told that some of the white men of Stanley's party had to abandon their tents and sleep in the open air, so that Stanley's boxes of wine could be taken along.

I was also told by one of the missionaries that when one of Stanley's companions had the fever and was not able to go on, Stanley took a horsewhip and flogged him, saying, "If my white men fall down what will my negroes do?" That was on Stanley's first trip, and I was told that he had a white man flogged on his last trip.

Another thing, Stanley in his books and lectures excites the pity of his readers by stories of his men starving. Now I never lost a man from starvation. I always drove cattle when I was in doubts as to the country ahead of me. When men suffer for want of food it is due to carelessness. The rivers of Africa contain plenty of fish and there is plenty of game if other supplies fail. Stanley got plenty of glory and fame out of his travels and I admire him for it, but I do not admire the way he treated his men.

"Is there any trouble between Stanley and you?"

"No, none at all. I stood up for Emin Pasha when Stanley was against him, but that is all. I have no feeling against Stanley, but think the truth should be told."

"I wish you would say that it is impossible for me to answer all the letters that are sent to me. People write to ask if I know positively that Emin Pasha is alive, and to ask for my autograph and offer to go with me on my next trip to Africa. I have news of Emin Pasha since the report of his death, but do not know if he is still alive, but I think that he is."

ENCOURAGING OUTLOOK.

A Number of Large Mills Resume Operations at Pittsburg.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 22.—There was plenty of smoke issuing from countless chimneys of many iron mills yesterday in the vicinity of Pittsburg. The aligo works of Phillips, Nimick & Co., went into operation. Three thousand men are at Jones & Laughlin's and every department is at work except four mills and the sheet iron rolls. The United States Iron and Tinplate Company's works is in partial operation as is also the Lockhart Iron & Steel Company at Chartiers. The Black Diamond Steel Works started in full giving employment to 4,000 people. Outside of the city there was a partial resumption at reduced wages at the National Tube Works at McKeesport. Three open-hearth furnaces were placed in operation at the Carnegie Homestead plant. The Oliver Coke Furnace Company fired 100 ovens at Uniontown employing 300 men. Before the end of the week it is expected that other large plants will be placed in operation.

The Treacherous Cable Line.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—The cable line here claimed its third victim from among the members of Congress last night. A few months ago Representative Hooker of Mississippi was thrown from a cable car and injured so seriously that he was confined to a hospital for many weeks. About ten days ago Representative Oates of Alabama was similarly injured, and is still suffering from concussion of the brain. Last night Representative George W. Snell of South Carolina was knocked down and trundled along the fender of a cable car for some distance. He was badly cut about the head and bruised as, well, and the exact extent of his idjuries are as yet unkown. He was removed to his rooms at the Metropolitan.

A Thrifty Young Man.

CHICAGO, Aug. 22.—Chairman Thatcher of the Executive Committee on Awards is investigating a report that serious irregularities exist in the Austrian judging. The charge is made that Alfred Taussig, son of the Vienna perfumer, has been judging perfumery in place of his father, who was appointed a juror in the Department of Manufactures on the nomination of the Imperial Austrian Commission. Alfred Taussig, jr., is also accused of opening negotiations for the sale of a medal to A. Welmer of Vienna, who exhibits enameled ware.

Mary Not Remembered.

LOUISVILLE, Aug. 22.—The will of the late Dr. Hamilton Griffin, the step-father of Mary Anderson, was admitted to probate yesterday in the county court. Dr. Griffin left all his property, consisting of several houses and lots in different parts of the city, to his wife, and at her death to his four children. It is noticeable that no bequest whatever is made to his step-daughter, Mary Anderson-Navarre.

Butchers Strike.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 22.—Forty-five machinists in the packing house owned by Armour & Company, and the 165 butchers employed by Swift & Company and all put 65 of the butchers in the employ of Swartzchild and Sulzberger, who will close work when they have killed the cattle for export on hand, are on a strike against a reduction of ten per cent. in wages.

Discreet Silence.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Aug. 22.—Vice-President Tuttle, when seen in reference to the rumor printed in the State papers this morning in regard to having been offered the Presidency of the Boston & Maine road, refused to have anything to say on the subject and would not either deny or affirm the story.

Education at a Discount.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Aug. 22.—Only one candidate, Miss Robbins of Branford, appeared yesterday at the High School to take the examinations for entrance to the new State Normal school at New Haven.

A Daring Deserter.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 22.—John Albert, a United States army deserter, escaped last night by jumping through the window of a westbound Missouri Pacific train while it was running through the city limits.

VAN LEUVEN'S PENSION MACHINE

All He Wanted Was Big Fees—He Made Up the Necessary Evidence and Affidavits Himself—The Pension Bureau Say He Put Through Hundreds of Fraudulent Claims.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—The following statement is given out for publication by Pension Commissioner Lochren:

"So much apprehension concerning the attitude of the Pension Bureau toward the "old soldiers" is current that it seems proper to make a public statement concerning matters growing out of the recent and now pending Van Leuven investigations.

"Mr. Van Leuven has for many years done a large pension business, having his office at Lime Springs, Ia. His clientage has been by no means confined to his immediate locality, but has been drawn from all over the States of Iowa and Minnesota, and even from more remote parts of the country. In June last, as a result of a preliminary investigation into his methods he was suspended by the Secretary of the Interior from practice before the Department. While it would be injudicious to enter into detail at this time as to the facts brought to light in the preliminary investigation, I will say that it was clearly shown that for years he has supported the claims which he has prosecuted by a highly developed and successful system of dishonest practices. At the time of his suspension evidence was before the Bureau showing beyond question instances of the purchase of testimony, fraudulent preparation of affidavits, bribing of sworn officials of the government, and wholesale deception of the applicants for pensions, by means of which they were induced to show their gratitude by the payment of fees and gratuities beyond the amounts allowed by law.

"It was apparent that all claims allowed upon ex parte evidence furnished by Van Leuven must be investigated. In the few cases inquired into at the time of the preliminary investigation, evidences of fraud were so plain and so numerous that every claim filed and prosecuted by him became inevitably an object of suspicion. Accordingly all his cases which could be at once identified in the files of the bureau were drawn and examined, and nearly 500 of these have been sent to Special Examiner Waite, at Minneapolis, for investigation. In such as seemed to rest wholly upon evidence prepared by Van Leuven—somewhat more than 200 in all—suspension of payment was ordered, pending the necessary inquiry. This was in accordance with the uniform practice of the bureau for many years and is singular in this instance only by reason of the fact that the majority of the suspended pensions were drawn in a few adjacent counties.

"Special Examiner Waite has been for several weeks engaged exclusively upon these cases. In some instances it has been found practicable to rescind the order of suspension in advance of thorough investigation. In such cases there has been but a brief withholding of the pension. But in most of the cases the evidence upon which the original action of the bureau was based is now known to be so worthless that it would be a breach of official trust to continue payments before the facts have been thoroughly sifted. Doubtless there are some cases in which the temporary loss of the pension works hardship to worthy men, but no pains will be spared to ascertain such cases and make the period of suspension as brief as possible. It is not charged or believed that in each suspended case the pensioner himself has been guilty of misconduct. It was Van Leuven's practice to take the prosecution of his cases quite out of the hands of the applicant, and thus it often happened that honest claims in his charge were supported by dishonest means.

"Four special examiners, experienced employes of the bureau, are now engaged upon the Van Leuven cases in Iowa and Minnesota, and the work will be carried forward with the greatest possible diligence and dispatch. The ex parte evidence upon which each case is allowed will be fairly tested and if found honest and reliable payment will be at once resumed.

Robbed Pullman.

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—Thieves Sunday night broke open the safe in the office of the Pullman Palace Car company in Jersey City and stole $900 in cash and many valuable papers.

YESTERDAY IN CONGRESS.

Both Houses Still Discussing the Silver Question.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—The veteran Senator from Vermont, Mr. Morrill, occupied the attention of the Senate yesterday with an argument in support of the bill discontinuing the purchase of silver bullion. The speech, which was at the same time witty and serious, was read from printed slips, and occupied a little over an hour in its delivery. The bill was then laid aside, and the case of the Senatorship from Montana was taken up. Two speeches were made against the claim of Mr. Lee Mantle, and against the constitutional right of a State governor to appoint to the Senate, save only in cases of vacancy happening on account of the resignation or otherwise during the recess of the Legislature. The first was made by Mr. Vance, (Dem., N. C.) Chairman of the Committee on Privileges and Elections, but who wrote the minority report, and the other by Mr. George, (Dem. Miss.) who joined in the minority report. The vote on the resolution to seat Mr. Mantle was postponed until Wednesday at 5 p. m. The bill to aid the mid-winter International Exposition at San Francisco was passed. The Senate adjourned at 4:10 p. m.

In the House the silver debate was dull and the large audience which had assembled to listen to Mr. Breckinridge, of Kentucky, was disappointed. Mr. Powers, (Rep. Vt.) spoke for the Wilson bill, and Mr. Hooker, (Dem. Conn.) against it. Mr. Cooper, (Dem. Ind.) thought it inexpedient to adopt free coinage at this time, and Mr. Sperry, (Dem. Conn.) took the opposite view. Mr. Cox, (Dem. Tenn.) advocated free coinage and Mr. Settle, (Rep. N. C.) spoke in opposition. Other speeches were made at the evening session.

QUIET IN WALES.

Postponement or Abandonment of Threatened Labor Troubles.

LONDON, Aug. 22.—The threatened invasion of Ebbw Vale, Wales, by an army of 30,000 striking coal miners from the Rhondda Valley, whose intention it was to force the non-union miners to quit work, has not yet occurred, though the original intention was to begin the march Sunday. The weather was threatening during the day and toward evening it began to rain in torrents. This had a deterrent effect upon the strikers, but it is more than likely that the measures taken by the police and military to protect the mines and the working miners had more to do with the postponement, if not the actual abandonment, of the programme than the weather. Every preparation had been made to receive the strikers and at the slightest attempt at rioting they would have found themselves under the guns of the military. Considering all the circumstances, the strike leaders thought discretion the better part of valor and the invasion for the present at least, is off. Many non-union men are working in the Ebbw Valley district now. They are under police and military protection, which will not be withdrawn until the danger of attack is past.

DIPHTHERIA IN KISSES.

A Bride Gives the Dread Disease to a Score of Her Friends.

JAMESTOWN, N. Y., Aug. 22.—Last Wednesday evening in the town of Klantone, a few miles south of this city, the marriage of Miss Aiken to Mr. Amsell took place. The bride was a very popular young woman and many friends were at her wedding. She had a slight sore throat, but thought nothing of it and made complaint to no one. Since the wedding the case has developed into one of diphtheria and nearly a score of her friends who were at the wedding and kissed the bride when offering their good wishes have been attacked with the same disease.

No deaths have occurred yet, but many of the cases are very serious, and the worst results are feared in some of them.

Released at Last.

QUARANTINE, S. I., Aug. 22.—Dr. Jenkins announces that this morning early, a transfer boat will go to Hoffman Island and take on board the detained passengers of the Karamania and transfer them to Ellis Island. All of their baggage has been disinfected, repacked and tagged with the certification of disinfection and placed on board of a covered barge which will be towed to the immigration depot. Each passenger has been supplied with a card giving his name, nativity, destination, the steamer name, the time of his detention and a certification that he has been inspected and that his baggage has been disinfected.

Paying Out Gold.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—Orders have been issued by the Treasury Department to all sub-Treasurers to pay out gold over the counters, the same as other classes of money. The effect of this is to practically place the gold reserve among the available Treasury cash assets. As a result the gold balance has been somewhat reduced, being slightly below $100,000,000. The net Treasury balance is $11,750,000. Receipts continue light and expenditures heavy, so that before the month of August expires the Treasury balance and the gold balance will both be probably lower than now.

At Work Again.

TROY, N. Y., Aug. 22.—Justice Fursman has granted an order allowing receivers Kemp and Keenan of the Troy Steel and Iron Company to resume work at the Albany Iron Works and on the merchant train at the Rensselaer Iron Works, to complete the orders on hand, and also allowing them to sell merchant steel and iron at market rates. These departments of the company's plant will probably start to-day.

A Fortunate Fury.

HARTFORD, Aug. 22.—A tour of this city shows that the unemployed are proportionately less than in other cities. So many specialties and necessities in the nature of iron and steel manufacture are made here that the pinch of hard times has not been felt so severely as in other places.

FIRM APPEAL FOR WORK

Labor Men Demand Employment as a Right.

THE INDUSTRIAL SYSTEM DECRIED

Those Who Control the Industries and Finance of the United States Held Responsible for the Employment of Labor—Call Upon the Authorities.

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—Yesterday was a busy day for the several committees appointed at the meeting of the Organized Labor Conference for the relief of the unemployed. Three proclamations were issued. An address to the people of the United States was formulated by the committee appointed for that purpose, calling attention to the unequal distribution of the enormous wealth of the country, and graphically describing the condition of the unemployed. The address continues:

"We believe that in times of great distress, whether caused by the upheavals of nature, by earthquakes, floods or cyclones, or when caused by man's ignorance or avarice, as in the case of pestilence, fire, financial panics, and periods of industrial stagnation, it is the duty of all men to give relief to the suffering, to care for the sick, feed the hungry, cloth the naked, and shelter the houseless. We therefore call upon all to contribute funds for the unemployed who seek for work in vain and whose wives and little ones are starving on our streets.

"That as a city is a co-operative corporation, in which all citizens are shareholders, no one has the right to live in extravagant luxury while others want for the needs of life. We therefore call upon the Mayor and Board of Aldermen of the city of New York to convene inspecial session and devise ways and means in the same manner and to the same extent as they would in case of pestilence.

"That as food obtained by work is more enjoyable than food obtained, even as a right, without work, we ask the authorities to provide ways and means for the construction and maintenance of public works, and the employment of the unemployed directly and not by contract.

"That the same reasons prompt us to call upon the Governor of the State and the President of the United States to call attention by proclamation and by legislative action to the same end and in such manner as the fundamental law will permit.

"In the immortal document that sounded the death-knell of King craft the signers thereto set forth a challenge and defiance to the social and industrial system that rests upon the same foundation that upholds the true theory of the divine right of kings. In this declaration that all men are born possessed of certain alienable rights, among which are the right of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness," will be found the keynote to a new and grand declaration of labor's independence from the monarchical control of the industrial system.

"The administrative, executive and legislative acts herein called for are in line with precedents established. From its earliest days to these closing years of the century, all the functions of the Government have been used not only for the security of property but for the increase of capital. Bonuses have been made for the establishment of new industries. These bonuses have been granted under the plea that such bonuses, credits, appropriations and tariffs were granted and loaned for the good of all the people.

"The confidence of the people in the peaceful methods of education, organization and action is worth more to the life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness of the people and for the protection of property than the confidence of bankers in any financial system.

"As humane men and women we entreat you to listen to the cry of labor for work and bread. As patriotic citizens we proclaim that those who control the industries, the finance of the United States are responsible for the employment of labor, and we demand of them immediate relief for the victims of a system inherited from the ages of wrong with which the poor have been oppressed."

The foregoing appeal is signed by Samuel Gompers, Chris Evans, Andrew J. Smith, Thomas C. Walsh, Jos. Barondess, Henry Weismann and Henry White.

Another proclamation emanated from the headquarters of the Organized Labor Conference for the relief of the unemployed, at the International Labor Exchange, 257 East Tenth street. It is addressed to the trades unions of the city, and in view of the fact that 75 per cent. of workers are unemployed, calls for three delegates from each union to attend a meeting to be held next Sunday at the Exchange to discuss the situation.

The other proclamation was as follows: "Organized labor, employed, and fellow-citizens: A fearful crisis is upon us. Thousands of our fellow men are suffering the pangs of hunger. The present indications are that the poverty and misery of our people will not be diminished, but, on the contrary, intensified. We cannot allow, by our indifference hundreds of thousands to die of starvation, while large masses are suffering from insufficient food.

"We appeal to all in this hour of need to contribute generously and freely to alleviate the suffering, the misery and the possible death from starvation. We assure all that every dollar will be honestly distributed. The wants of the needy must be supplied. All who can contribute to the relief fund should do so at once.

"Send all contributions to George W. Middleton, 385 West 125th street, or notify him to call, and also communicate with the Secretary, C. N. Adler, 200 Worth street, stating the amount contributed."

Another meeting was held last evening in Union Square, but nothing of importance was done. Several fiery speeches were made, but there was no disturbance.

German Navy.

BERLIN, Aug. 22.—Vice-Admiral Hollman, Secretary of State for Naval Affairs, is said to have obtained the approval of Dr. Miquel and several other ministers for his plan of spending 40,000,000 marks on new warships in order that Germany may not fall too far behind France and Russia in naval armament.

Church Incendiaries.

take Paine's celery compound; Alfred H. Chandler, Esq., of Bellefonte, Pa., writes to the proprietors of this great remedy:

"My daughter is today as well as she ever was in her life, but I believe that if we had not got Paine's celery compound for her that she would not be here with us today; she was attending school, but got 'run down' and her illness developed into what the doctors said was rheumatism and rheumatic fever; every one said she could not live; I employed three doctors, but they gave her no relief; I read about Paine's celery compound in a paper one day; I believed it would help her, so I went down town and got a bottle of the compound and hurried home and commenced giving it to her according to directions.

"By the time she had taken half of the bottle she was able to sit up in bed, and by the time she had used four bottles she was free from pain; we continued to use the compound; when we began she was nothing but a shadow; today she is as strong as she ever was, and we have not any one to thank for it only Paine's celery compound."

WHEN WILL CONGRESS ADJOURN?

The Question Discussed by All Parties at Washington.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—An impression is growing about the capitol that the present extraordinary session of Congress may come to an end about the middle of September. This appears to be based upon confidence in the possibilities of a compromise being entered into within that period upon the financial question. Nearly all important legislation accomplished in recent years has been the result of compromise and the outcome of conference committees.

These persons who hold to the opinion that adjournment is possible next month say that Mr. Vest's proposition to provide for the free coinage of silver at a ratio of 20 to 1 will be passed by the Senate, and ultimately will become a part of the bill for unconditional repeal, which, it is expected, will be passed by the House. The liklihood of a veto by President Cleveland of such a measure has been discounted by the believers in the reported early adjournment. They argue that it would be impossible to rally a two-thirds vote in either House to pass it over his veto, and, that nothing could be accomplished so far as the financial situation is concerned by Congress remaining in session after such a veto was received. The more experienced watchers of political events place no confidence in these early adjournment theories.

Senator Hill Sick.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—Senator D. B. Hill, of New York, who has been quite ill at his hotel here, the Normandie, for several days, is considerably better. On Saturday he was feverish and was unable to leave his bed. His ailment is an outgrowth of stomach trouble, which was made worse by the failure of the Senator to properly diet himself. He is now able to be up and about, but the physicians forbid his leaving the house for several days yet.

The Actor's Fund.

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—A meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Actor's Fund Society of America was held yesterday at which a circular was drawn up to be sent to every person connected with the theatrical profession in the United States. Every actor and manager is to be asked to refuse to take part in any benefit performance, unless 25 per cent of the proceeds be devoted to the Actor's Fund.

Pennsylvania Day at the Fair.

HARRISBURG, Aug. 22.—Gov. Pattison and staff and accompanied by Major General Snowden and Brig. Generals Gobin, Dechert and Wiley will leave for the World's Fair on the fourth of September, to participate in the ceremonies of Pennsylvania day.

Statue of Lincoln.

EDINBURGH, Aug. 22.—The statue of Abraham Lincoln, the "Martyr President" of the United States, erected as a memorial to the Scottish-American soldiers of the American civil war, was unveiled here yesterday.

—William Kelly, of Oak Tree, has transferred to Mrs. William Sutton the house and lot on Elm place, occupied by the Suttons. The house was recently moved from North Front street.

—Mr. and Mrs. Robert Clark of Washingtonville were stormbound with a pleasure party and band of musicians in the Papiac pavilion, Saturday night, and kept there by the pelting rain and flooded roads till daylight Sunday.

—At the last regular meeting of the A. O. F. ten dollars was affectionately subscribed as a testimonial towards paying for the flowers at the funeral of the late Mrs. William Schorb. This was in addition to the regular death benefit of $40.

—The North Plainfield route of the Plainfield railway company is becoming more popular every day, thanks to the excellent management. Jesse Hetfield, who collected the first nickel taken in by the company for Somerset street car fare, is growing in favor on the run, and neither he nor his motorman have had any serious accident since the road opened.

He's a Full-Fledged Whang Whang.

The members of the Letter Carriers Wang Whang Club, whose headquarters are in Mail Row, this afternoon forwarded to Charles E. Butt at Toronto, Canada, the following certificate of membership:

PLAINFIELD, N. J., August 21, '93.

This is to certify that Charles E. Butt is a regular member in good standing on the rest of the Whang Whang Club, and is therefore entitled to be received and Whanged by all other clubs.

W. A. DEMAREST, President.
R. R. LAUGHLIN, Secretary.

The certificate was handsomely decorated by Artist S. E. Flower, with a design including an American eagle and the motto "Rest!"

The Best in the World.

Senator Henry C. Nelson, of New York, writes:

"On the 27th of February, 1883, I was taken with a violent pain in the region of the kidneys; I suffered such agony that I could hardly stand up; as soon as possible I applied two ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS, one over each kidney, and laid down; in an hour to my surprise and delight, the pain had vanished and I was well. I wore the plasters for a day or two as a precaution, and then removed them. I have been using ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS in my family for the last 10 years, and have always found them the quickest and best remedy for colds, strain and rheumatic affections. From my experience I believe they are the best plasters in the world."

DISTRESSING CASE OF AN OLD PLAINFIELD RESIDENT.

Clark Hammeal Could n't Stand Business Reverses and Family Troubles, and Took His Own Life to End It All—Leaned Against a Tree in a Chicago Park and Fired a Bullet into His Mouth.

Clarkson Hammeal, who during his long career as a market man has served meat to every man, woman and child in Plainfield, is dead by his own hand. He committed suicide in Lincoln Park, Chicago, yesterday morning at 8, by shooting himself through the head. People in the park near Menominee street saw him stand under a tree and shove the barrel of a revolver in his mouth. Before anybody could interfere he had fired and fallen dead. The body was taken to the Morgue at 192 West Chicago avenue.

A paper found in his pocket contained this notice to the police:

Please notify my relatives.

Clark M. Hammeal, Plainfield, Union county, N. J.

An express receipt showed that he had sent all his personal effects home before taking his life.

Among the letters in his pockets was one from Hammeal's daughter Carrie urging him to come home. Another, bearing the signature of Attorney Walter L. Hetfield, of this city, contained the following:

There has been nothing in the papers about your going away, and any one asking questions is told that you are attending the World's Fair. Now don't be foolish and stay away, but come home and brace up and take a position.

The letter also spoke of Hammeal's children, and stated that his son Garret was looking after his business in his absence. Other papers in his pockets indicated that he was a member of the Odd Fellows. He wore a button of the order in his coat, and from the general tone of the letters and papers in his possession the Chicago police were led to believe that he had some trouble with the organization which led to his leaving Plainfield.

The police telegraphed to Garret Hammeal and to the Plainfield lodge of Odd Fellows to which Clark belonged.

By some mistake Garret judged from the despatch that the suicide had been committed in New York, and he spent considerable time in the metropolis trying to trace the matter up. Later the error was discovered, and word was sent to Chicago to have the body forwarded to Plainfield for burial.

When Clarkson left home August 10, it was without saying anything to his family or friends about it. A few days later it was reported that he was in Chicago, and considerable idle gossip was afloat as to his cause for leaving home. It was currently reported that he had had trouble with his partner, Henry Ruppert.

He and Ruppert started in business about three months ago, at 114 North avenue. There did not seem to be enough in the business for the two men, and unpaid bills of customers accumulated so that very soon all their capital was on the books. Hammeal had to recourse to his friends, from whom he borrowed various sums, and the aggregate of his debts staggered him. He worried so much both over this and because of domestic troubles that his mind seemed to be affected, and he talked vehemently and as if insane, against some of his best friends.

A letter sent from Chicago August 14 was the first news direct from him after his disappearance. In it he said that the worry and disgrace he had been suffering had driven him from home and that he was tired of life. It was to cheer him up from his despondency and brace him up for a fresh start that Lawyer Hetfield wrote his excellent advice about coming home and going to work.

Hammeal reached Chicago Aug. 13 and went immediately to the Dearborn Station Hotel, 438 Dearborn street. The appearance of the man there attracted considerable attention. He had traveled so far that the hotel employes were surprised at his having no baggage. He did not have even a collar at the hotel when Coroner McHale sent a man after his effects.

The last communication Mr. Hammeal wrote seems to have been to his son Garrett. In it he said that by the time Garrett got the letter he himself would be in another world. He recounted his afflictions and said he was determined to end it all. "Kiss the children good-bye for me"—he wrote.

Hammeal was a veteran butcher. He learned the trade with James A. Gilman, familiarly known as Gus Gilman, at Perth Amboy. He worked for years at the wholesale and retail stock yard of the Gardners, on East Front street. This was a large establishment, sending big wagon loads of meat to marketmen and consumers throughout the surrounding country. When the Gardners went out of business, Hammeal ran a wagon of his own for awhile. He saved some money, and rested from his labor. Then he began to work for other dealers, and was for some time with Wallace Coriell. His last place of employment was at Chas. M. Ulrich's. It was after leaving there that he made arrangements to go in partnership with Ruppert.

Hammeal was a skillful butcher, and faithful to his friends and employers. His distressing end is a shock to a large portion of the townspeople, among whom he was a familiar figure.

The relatives today telephoned to the undertakers in Chicago who had charge of the body, and asked to have the remains sent to Plainfield. Later a money order to cover the Chicago undertakers' expenses was telegraphed. The body will reach here tomorrow night, and the funeral will take place from the late residence of the deceased, Friday afternoon at 2. The Odd Fellows will attend.

Mr. Hammeal was a member of Plainfield Lodge, No. 44, of the Odd Fellows, the officers of which desire The Press to deny emphatically all rumors that Hammeal was in trouble with the order. He had no control whatever of any of the funds, and his only difficulty was that he had lapsed in his payments so that he was not any longer a beneficiary under the rules. But that was his misfortune, not his wrong-doing.

Clark Hammeal had a warm heart and a generous hand, and his wide circle of acquaintances and friends deeply regret the lamentable affair.

Walter L. Hetfield received two letters from Hammeal since Clark left town. The first was written the early part of last week, and the last one came to hand this morning. In both of these letters Mr Hammeal stated that he was feeling very much depressed on account of financial and home troubles. In his first letter he told how he felt that his end was very near, that he could not stand the strain much longer.

In reply, Mr. Hetfield told him to take courage and come home as everything would be all right. In his last letter to Mr. Hetfield, he said that he had lost all his money, his friends and business, and there was nothing more to live for. Continuing, he said: "When you get this letter I will be in another world. The proprietor of the hotel knows nothing about it, but it's the only thing left to do."

Mr. Hammeal's last gift to his loved ones was of some dress goods and toys which he sent home from Chicago for his son's children.

Hammeal had a large note fall due in the bank yesterday.

U. B. CRANE KNOCKED SENSELESS.

He Was Speeding on His Bicycle in the Dark, and Collided With Another Wheelman.

While S. Clint Crane is in luck, in winning the Lyceum Wheelmen race, his father, U. B. Crane, is in pretty tough luck, in getting done up a bicycle collision.

Mr. Crane rode his wheel to Somerville yesterday afternoon. He took no lantern, as he expected to be home before dark. But he punctured his tire and was laid up at Somerville for repairs, so that he was delayed till after sunset.

Speeding along the highway to catch a train at Bound Brook, he noticed another wheelman approaching, and kept on the right side of the roadway to pass him. Suddenly a third wheel and rider loomed up in the blackness directly before him, likewise riding at a high rate of speed. The wheel was lanternless.

The two cyclists came together with terrific force, and both were knocked insensible. The wheels were twisted out of shape. Mr. Crane struck on his nose and bled profusely. He was still bleeding vigorously when he gathered himself together, shouldered his wrecked wheel, and trudged painfully but pluckily to the railroad station. The other unfortunate, who proved to be Mr. Reed of the Bound Brook Chronicle, groaned considerably with intense pain. His hands were severely cut. The third wheelman looked after him.

Mr. Crane is very sore today. He will never again ride at night without a light. He says it's a great mercy he was n't killed.

THIS IS HARD TIMES INDEED.

Pond Machinists Give Up Their Excursion on Account of Slack Work.

The Pond Machine Tool excursion has been abandoned. Men from the machine shop and men from the foundry met last night and decided that times were too hard to run a pleasure trip. One hundred more of the Pond workmen are to be laid off Saturday night.

Some dissatisfaction exists among the workmen over the decision, and it is claimed that the representation at last night's session was very unequal between foundry and machine shop. The prediction is made that there will be wholesale withdrawal from the Beneficial Association and that the machine shop and foundry will each have its own association as a result of the split. Those who objected to cancellation of the excursion claim that already enough tickets had been sold to cover expenses fully.

After Saturday night, only 289 men will be left working in Pond's. This is out of a force of about 500.

HIS FORETHOUGHT SAVED HIS LIFE.

One Little Safety Rope Checked Harry Watson's Fall from the Crescent Avenue Steeple.

Harry Watson sat in a boatswain's chair, a single board suspended by a rope, ten feet from the top of the Crescent Avenue church spire, yesterday. The rope broke, and he shot swiftly downward.

Luckily he had had the forethought to fasten a safety rope to the steeple and to himself for just such an emergency, and this checked his flight and saved his life. When the safety rope stopped his descent he grabbed a ladder and sat down awhile to get his nerve back.

Happy Birthday Party.

Last evening was pleasantly spent at the residence of Master Harry Bumbaugh, Prescott place, Pondville. The occasion was the celebration of the fifteenth birthday of young Harry. Many other friends, along with his schoolmates, were there, and enjoyed themselves well. The evening passed quickly in the playing of games and various other pastimes, and singing. Refreshments were served in abundance, and all did them justice. Exactly at 12 the young people left for their homes, wishing Harry many happy returns of his birthday.

And That's Only One Building.

Edgar Sheppard, of this city, works in the Jersey Central storehouse in Somerville. He counted the panes of glass, yesterday, in the exposed side of the building, and of the 1,475 panes 9x12, the big hailstones had smashed 1,141.

SUN-LIGHT and FRESH AIR are THE BEST DISINFECTANTS, of course; but you can't apply them in every situation. What next? Well, that depends. For damp cellars use Quicklime, plenty of it. For vaults and cesspools use COPPERAS; cheap stuff; we sell it by the pound or hundred-weight—instructions thrown in. For kitchen sinks, for water closets, for house plumbing, for the sick room, to deodorize discharges, to purify the air and to prevent contagion, use REYNOLDS'S ODORLESS DISINFECTANT. Corporation Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the Common Council have fixed the thirty-first day of August, A. D. 1893, at 8 o'clock P. m., and the Council Chamber, No. 109 Park avenue, in the city of Plainfield, as the time and place for J. Frederick MacDonald, William M. Sandford and Edward C. Mulford, the commissioners appointed by the Common Council pursuant to the ordinance entitled, "An ordinance to widen Madison avenue from the southeasterly side line of West Front street to the northwesterly line of the right of way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey," approved June 5, 1893, to meet. The street proposed to be widened and laid out is Madison avenue from the southeasterly side line of West Front st. to the northwesterly line of the right of way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey. The alterations proposed to be made are to widen said Madison so that the same shall be of the uniform width of twenty-five feet on each side of the centre line thereof, which centre line is described in said ordinance, and shown on map on file in the office of the City Clerk entitled "Assessment map for the widening of Madison avenue from West Front street to the Central Railroad of New Jersey, city of Plainfield, N. J., dated 1893, made by F. A. Dunham, civil engineer."

The lands and real estate intended to be taken for such purpose are all that come within twenty-five feet of either side of said centre line between the southeasterly side line of West Front street, and the northwesterly line of the right of way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey, as shown by said map and said ordinance, to which reference is hereby made for more detailed description.

By order of the Common Council.
F. W. RUNYON, City Clerk.
Dated August 15, 1893. 8 16 td

TOOK TEN INNINGS FOR THIS.

Great Excitement Between North Plainfield and Richmond Street Rivals.

An exciting game of ball was played on the Crescent grounds yesterday between the North Plainfields and the Richmonds. It resulted in the Richmonds defeating the North Plainfields by the score of 6 to 5. The battery for the North Plainfield club consisted of L. Townley and C. Sutphen; for the Richmonds, Winn and Moran. The score was 3 to 3 till the tenth inning, when the North Plainfields spurted and made two more runs. Then the Richmonds made three by noble effort, and won the game amid loud cheering. Wren Townley, the Westfield player, made three errors for the North Plainfields, and did not knock the ball outside the diamond. The Richmonds declare themselves ready to play any club in the town whose members are under 21 years of age. All challenges sent to the Richmonds will be received by Patrick Melvin, 435 Cottage place.

PREMATURE PUTNAM'S FRIGID ZONE

Trees of That Avenue Are Shedding Their Foliage, as Though Winter Were Close at Hand.

Anyone walking down Putnam avenue would think from the appearance of the lawns and sidewalks that it was late fall instead of August, especially with the temperature so abnormally cool as now. The trees that add so much to the beauty of this thoroughfare are losing their foliage prematurely and covering everything with a pall of brown and withered leaves. The other streets in the immediate vicinity, singular to say, are not affected in like manner at all, and still have a seasonable appearance, while but a block away from them everything makes one feel that summer has really gone.

Special Attention to Suburbanites.

When the Eden Musee, New York, begins its regular season, the first week in September, it will offer to its patrons one of the greatest entertainments ever presented by any place of amusement in the world. All during the summer months its representatives have been on the alert both in this country and abroad for the best of talent, and the management now announce to the public that their efforts have been successful, and for the next six months the patrons of this famous and refined educational resort will be astounded at the novelties which have been secured in the way of stage entertainment. It will be the home of music, for Danko Gabor and his famous Hungarian Orchestra have been busy rehearsing a large repertoire of classical selections, and to the admirers of music the Eden Musee will be a happy rendezvouz. New wax groups are added every week to those now exhibited, and thousands of school children stroll through the palatial halls every week studying them for the education to be gained thereby. The Musee is open from 11 a. m. to 11 p. m., and the entire entertainment, including the stage performance, costs only 50 cents.

An excellent buffet is situated in the Concert Hall, conducted by Carl Biringer, a well-known caterer, where lunch and refreshments can be had at any time of the day at very reasonable prices. A smoking room is fitted up with oriental splendor, where gentlemen may lounge and enjoy a smoke while their fair companions indulge in ice-cream and other refreshments. The Musee is a very popular resort for excursion parties from surrounding cities, and the management have a corps of attendants on hand at all times to look after the comfort of ladies and young people while they are at the Musee.

$26 in Fines.

In the City Court this morning Judge Coddington disposed of the following cases:

William Thompson, for being drunk, and for fast driving, was given $10 fine or 30 days in jail.

Peter McGinnis and Philip Zitter for fighting on South Second street, were fined $8 each.

FROZE OUT THE DEPOSITORS.

HOW AN OLD-TIME PLAINFIELD BANK CHECKED A RUN.

One of the Men Anxious About His Big Account Was Kept Counting Small Change in an Icy Blast All Day—But the Bank Finally Burst.

Many Plainfield people reading the New York Herald Sunday smiled incredulously over the fanciful tale of an old-time run on a Plainfield bank. The story was sandwiched in among several others of a similar nature, and was as follows:

"Coming down to a more modern instance of a similar nature," he added, "there is a well authenticated case of a bank in Plainfield, N. J., which played with great success a very neat game on its depositors at the time of a run.

"It was a bitter cold day in winter. The bank building was peculiarly constructed. A hallway led from front to rear. On one side was the counting room, with the pigeon holes of the cashier, letters and bookkeepers; on the other a blank wall. A partition rising to the ceiling, formed of sliding sashes and glass panes, formed the counting room side of the passageway.

"The bank officials got wind of the prospective run early in the day and made preparations for it of a unique character. They closed the movable sashes and then threw both doors wide open. Near the rear door they fastened a fierce bulldog attached to a chain ten feet long.

"The thermometer without registered below zero, and the temperature of the passageway soon fell to the same point. Inside the counting room a cheerful fire burned in the open fire-places. The anxious depositors crowded in the cold passageway could see the blaze, but felt no warmth.

A GAME OF FREEZE OUT.

"They attempted to close the doors, but so great was the crowd that this was impossible in the front of the building, and the bulldog near the rear door tugged and strained at his chain and growled ominously at anyone who dared to approach him.

"Meanwhile the tellers worked slowly. The bank had laid in a vast supply of subsidiary coins—half cents and cents and silver three and five cent pieces. Each depositor was made to take a proportion of these, which were counted slowly and deliberately, while the poor victims shivered without.

"To further tantalize the depositors, the bank officers, directors and clerks had a fine dinner spread at the noon hour in full sight of the cold and famished men. The men inside laughed and chatted merrily over their meal. The freezing, chattering, frightened depositors standing in the bitter cold stamped their feet and swore fearful oaths, but without avail.

"At last many of them chose rather to risk their money than their lives. They gave up the waiting in the piteous cold and returned to their homes to thaw. This, to my mind, is the most satisfactory way of stopping a run on a bank of which I have ever heard—it was, in fact, a regular freeze out."

William C. Ayres, whose memory is as clear as the summer sunshine on all matters of local history for nearly his entire life of more than 80 years, was asked about the story by a representative of The Daily Press.

"Yes:"—he said—"that's pretty nearly so. The bank was a private one, virtually owned by Moses Y. Beach, founder of the New York Sun, though it had a Plainfield Board of Directors, who have since passed away. The incident was way back in '47 or '48.

"The building was on Front street, at the corner of the lane which was named Bank place because the bank stood there. The site is the old Latimer property, and a portion of the old bank building still stands in the rear of W. C. Butler's residence.

"One of the heaviest depositors in the bank was a stout and wealthy German from Philadelphia. The bank learned that he was about to withdraw his funds, and prepared for him by stocking up with small coins as started. But the German fortified himself by putting on a warm suit of buckskin underneath his clothing, and in spite of the icy blast that blew he stayed right at the window and counted the bits of coin steadily. It took him nearly the whole day, but he stood it out.

"The bank didn't last long, though, for, by an act of the Legislature Joel Dunn was appointed receiver, and wound up its affairs."

Why She Jumps the Track.

The reason given for Car No. 1 of the Somerset street railway leaving the track on the curve at the corner of Front and Somerset streets is that the motor being at one end of the car raises the other end in making the turn.

Half Rate Excursions to the World's Fair via Washington and the B. & O. R. R.

The Baltimore and Ohio R. R. will run a series of special excursions from New York to the World's Fair at rate of $17 00 for the round trip. The trains will consist of first-class Day Coaches, equipped with lavatories and toilet conveniences. The trains will start from station, foot of Liberty street, at 8:30 a. m., August 21, September 2, 6 and 12, and will reach Chicago at 4:30 p. m. the following day. Tickets will be valid for outward journey only on the special trains, but will be good returning from Chicago in Day Coaches on any regular train within ten days, including day of sale. Stops will be made for meals at the dining stations on the line. A Tourist Agent and a Train Porter will accompany each train to look after the comfort of passengers. For more detailed information as to rates, etc., apply to C. P. Craig, General Eastern Passenger Agent, 415 Broadway, New York.

I suffered from a severe cold in my head for months and could get no relief. Was advised to use Ely's Cream Balm. It has worked like magic in its cure. I am free from my cold after using the Balm one week, and I believe it is the best remedy known.—Samuel J. Harris, wholesale grocer, 119 Front st., New York.

I was a sufferer from catarrh for fifteen years with distressing pain over my eyes. I used Ely's Cream Balm with gratifying results. Am apparently cured. Z. C. Warner, Rutland, Vt.

I have been a sufferer from catarrh for twenty years. I found immediate relief in the use of Ely's Cream Balm. Since using it I have not suffered a moment from headache, sore throat or loss of sleep, from which I previously suffered, caused by catarrh. I consider your Balm a valuable remedy. R. G. Vassar, 56 Warren st., New York.

One of my children had a very bad discharge from her nose. Two physicians prescribed, but without benefit. We tried Ely's Cream Balm, and much to our surprise, there was a marked improvement. We continued using the Balm and in a short time the discharge was cured.—O. A. Cary, Corning, N. Y.

A JOLLY SET AT FANWOOD.

WHAT PLAINFIELD'S SWELL RURAL NEIGHBORS ARE DOING.

Tennis Tourney Affords Much Sport—George C. Miller a Pooh-Bah—A. D. Beeken and His Pruning Knife—The Peach Party Declared Off—F. D. Warren the Rain-Maker—Sociability by Telegraph.

Thursday evening, August 24, will be the Fortnightly evening at the Watchung Club.

The Fortnightlies of the Fanwood Club are looked forward to with much interest by the dancing set.

Edward A. Urner, treasurer of the Watchung Club, has gone to Buzzard's Bay for a week or two.

Mr. Force's ponies are in splendid trim this season, and attract much notice on the neighboring roads.

The Fanwood Whist Club will lose one of its strongest players in the removal of George Bates to Brooklyn.

W. N. Lawrence met with a painful accident recently, his hand being badly cut with glass by the explosion of a bottle.

The swell thing among Fanwood residents is to make up parties to go to the Crescent Athletic Club to dinner and in the evening visit Manhattan Beach.

The Saturday afternoons at the Watchung Club have been poorly attended lately on account of the threatening weather and the absence from Fanwood society of some of its leaders.

The Homestead people are overjoyous at the prospect of another tennis tournament next Saturday, and it is in the air that should Cameron and Miller win, as is expected, they will be royally entertained at a later day.

Will C. Cameron is still delighting his friends with wonderful music. His latest triumph, "He Shot an Arrow Through the Air", has been made so enchanting that it is hummed by all his friends whenever they see him coming.

The peach party which Mr. Briggs was to have given, has fallen through, on account of the mysterious disappearance of the three baskets, before the invitations were issued. Besides L. Briggs thinks it more pleasure to play whist.

A. D. Beeken has made a study of tree and shrub pruning, and his pruning knife is in constant use on his own and his neighbors' bushes. Everything he does is with a will, and a determination to conquer or give it up. So far his place is considered to have the handsomest kept grounds in Fanwood.

Mr. Baylor is away for two weeks on his yearly visit to his family in Hunterdon county. His inseparable friend, Geo. W. Spring, is consoling himself during his absence by writing an account of their summer experiences behind Mr. Baylor's pony, which work will be elaborately illustrated by the pen of a local artist.

The first of the much talked of tennis doubles was played last Saturday on the Homestead courts, in the presence of an appreciative audience. Miss Ten Broeck and Mr. Stevens were the victors, defeating Messrs. Cameron and Miller. The second game will be played this week Saturday, by which time the weak points of the defeated team will no doubt be greatly strengthened.

Mrs. Frank D. Warren has returned to Fanwood from her visit up in Pennsylvania. Mr. Warren was seen last Saturday during all that thunder storm standing in his yard, garden hose in hand, playing on the dried up vegetables. He was heard to murmur "This storm won't last long!" and at last accounts he was still there, afraid the rain would stop and he not be on hand.

During the thunder storm, Saturday night, the telegraph instruments in the various private residences played lively music to the lightning. Most all the houses on Martine avenue have private telegraph lines, which are operated by their occupants, so that on rainy evenings they can converse without going out. This is a novelty of sociability which Fanwood claims as distinctively her own.

George C. Miller was recently elected secretary of the Fanwood Fire Company. Some people think he should not expect to hold all the good offices of the small village. He is already chairman of the Township Committee, chairman of the Board of Health, secretary of the Watchung Club, and now secretary of the Fire Company. What will he be looking for next? Has he his eye on the vacancy to occur of Freeholder or Assembly?

ONLY BOY IN THE CITY.

Fielding Follows Him Four Blocks and Renews His Own Youth.

How Some Other Boys Neglect a Golden Opportunity Which Wouldn't Have Gone Begging When the Writer Was Young—A Boy to Like.

[COPYRIGHT, 1893.]

There is a small piece of open ground in sight from my window in the midst of the city. A gaunt, despondent, crooked tree stands there trembling, sometimes at the breeze and again, I fancy, with malaria. It reminds me of an old farmer I used to know who always had a pain in his back.

Near this unlovely oasis is a school, and the boys come out upon the open ground to play. A limb, which seems even sadder than its parent stem, projects from this tree at a height corresponding to a fracture of one leg, maybe of both. I am too old to make a trustworthy estimate. But if that tree had grown near the school where I learned to read and to take a licking without making a fuss about it, I would have solved that problem of broken bones within ten minutes after it came to my mind, unless some other boy got there first and brought the whole limb down with him.

And what surprises me about the city boy is that he doesn't seem to take any interest in the matter. I have seen some desultory efforts to shin the tree; one boy even got up where he could reach the branches, but he saw a policeman on the next block, and slid down again without even carving his initials. Meanwhile the dead limb, provided by a beneficent Providence, waits there for a boy who knows what real fun is.

This observation has given me a low idea of the city boy, and I hold him even cheaper for his games in that vacant lot. He plays ball fairly well, but without a proper spirit of rivalry; he fights quite skillfully but not so often as would be good for him; he plays marbles for keeps and is a "bad loser." There is no romance in anything that he does. I haven't seen a tomahawk or scalping knife on the lot. Perhaps the red Indian is played out, but certainly the possibilities of savagery are not exhausted. Why don't the big boys play policemen and club the heads off all the little boys? There's a game I missed when I was young, because there was no model. In my time it was considered disgraceful to fight with the constable, and to get the worst of such an encounter was a thing unheard of. It was an office for disabled soldiers in New England then.

But what the city boy seems to lack most lamentably is a sense of humor. I have not seen a good trick played in that lot. It is not for want of opportunity. There is a policeman who invariably stands in a certain spot under that tree in the hot noons. I remember a schoolmaster in the early sixties who was addicted to a similar habit. This being noted by the brethren of the Lonely Tomb, we constructed an elephant pit under Edward's favorite tree in the most approved style of the art as practiced in India. We dug a hole about six feet deep one night, roofed it with slender sticks, and sodded it over. It got about two-thirds full of yellow water in the course of the night. We played a very interesting game of round ball in the early part of the following afternoon, while old Edwards went home to change his pantaloons. But the city boys have no fun at all with the policeman.

I should have made these criticisms long ago, but I wished to have something with which to temper their severity. I have it now. There is one real boy hereabouts, for I have seen him. I detected him last evening in Williamsburgh, which is a very populous section of Brooklyn. Having completed the business which took me to that region I was endeavoring to find my way by a new route to another part of the city. Brooklyn is like Boston in one respect. No matter how many times you go from one place to another in it, you always feel certain that there must be an undiscovered short cut that is not more than nine times the air-line distance, but there isn't. I was waiting on Broadway (Williamsburgh) for my car. The Greenwood cemetery car had just passed. Then came cars for Elwood, Norwood, Oakwood and Beechwood cemeteries and Fresh Pond crematory. Following there was the trolley for Highwood cemetery. This line is increasing the demand for itself at the rate of about five grassy mounds per day. As none of these places was my immediate destination, I still waited. Then came the boy.

He was about thirteen, which I notice is an unlucky number for anybody who has to take care of the boy. This one was all alone. After watching him awhile I did not wonder at it. All the other boys like him have grown up, these twenty years. The boy's features were molded into an expression of studied stupidity. Apparently he didn't know anything; he couldn't see anything. I recognized him by that for the most alert of his species. He was standing at the mouth of a cellar. The double iron trap doors were open. A man was groping down cellar in the dark. Suddenly the boy kicked one of the iron doors, and it fell with a resounding bang. The man raged, mounted the steps and looked over the closed door, naturally expecting to see the boy running up the street. But the boy had calmly moved around to other side. In this favorable position he kicked the other door, and it fell on the man's head and knocked him down the stairs. When the man finally got out of the cellar, my boy was boarding a horse car from the ferry, which had stopped for him. Two other boys had approached the cellar doors and were standing open-mouthed to hear the man swear. Whereupon he cuffed them both and went into the cellar again.

My boy, having no use for the horse car, asked the conductor: "Does this car go to the ferry?"

"Naw!" yelled the conductor, angrily.

"Betcher a dollar it does," said the boy, "when it comes back."

The ingenuous youth then returned to the sidewalk whistling a merry tune. I followed him. There was an enormous crowd out shopping that evening, and no end of youths and maidens on promenade. The slightest obstruction upon the sidewalk instantly resulted in unspeakable confusion. This the boy was quick to perceive.

In front of a carpet store two great strips of carpet were suspended, extending from the second story windows to posts by the curb. My boy leaned against one of these posts. Nobody noticed him. Then he climbed up a little way, still unobserved except by me. Presently one of those strips of carpet suddenly descended. A dozen women, loaded with bundles, were tangled up in it instantly. They dropped their bundles and screamed. The sidewalk was littered with packages in brown paper. Then the women began to pick them up, regardless of ownership, and there was a gala night in Bedlam. At this juncture the proprietor of the store came out in wrath and drew up the strip of carpet into its proper place. As he did so the boy let loose the other end and then fled.

It was easy enough to avoid capture in that crowd. The boy ran only a block and then suddenly turned around and walked calmly back, passing a clerk who was pursuing him blindly and jostling women and children right and left.

HE KICKED THE OTHER DOOR.

He performed fifty tricks in the next four blocks, but the last revealed him to me in his most agreeable light. He saw a girl about his own age carrying a bundle. She looked at this bundle with aversion, mortification and rebellion. The boy read her expression at a glance.

"Got the wrong thing, didn't ye?" he said. "Carrying it back, ain't ye? You're always doing foolishness like that."

This was good, considering that unquestionably he had never seen her before. The little girl simply couldn't stand it. She had been on the verge of tears before, but she had hoped that nobody would see what a stupid little girl she was. She burst into tears.

The spectacle of her grief immediately filled the chivalrous breast of the boy with remorse. He looked about for means of reparation. "Dot leedle German band" had just drawn up on the side of the street, and was preparing to play.

"Don't you care," said the boy. "Just listen to the music."

He jumped in front of the trombone player and began to perform upon an imaginary instrument so cleverly that there was a general laugh in which the little girl joined. But the trombone artist didn't like it. He took his instrument from his lips, and bent over to smite the boy. He was a very tall man and he had to stoop over to do it. The boy crouched down and made the man stoop still more. The trombone and the boy's right hand were very close together as the musician at last attained his object and administered a hearty slap where it would do the most good.

Then, having vindicated the honor of Fatherland, the German straightened himself up and began to toot upon the trombone. The sound which resulted was even more terrible than usual, for the boy, just as the spank descended upon him, had stuffed a long stick and a wad of paper into the trombone.

I like that sort of a boy. He takes an interest in affairs. He will grow up to be a business man. For after all what is modern business success but a measure of a man's facility in the concoction of schemes for getting other people into trouble?

A FINANCIAL PARADISE

Voorhees Pictures What His Policy Would Bring.

ESSENTIALS OF SOUND CURRENCY

A Graded Income Tax Also Advocated—The Sherman Law Has Friends as Well as Enemies—Chairman Wilson Believes the Ways and Means Committee Will Go to Work Promptly at Tariff Revision.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—Yesterday there was gathered within the walls of the Senate Chamber a larger attendance of Senators on the floor and of spectators in the galleries than has been seen for many a day. The occasion was the announcement that the Senate was to be addressed by Mr. Voorhees, chairman of the Finance committee, in support of the bill reported by him discontinuing the purchase of silver bullion.

The speech began at 12:25 and closed at 2 p. m., and was listened to from beginning to end with close and eager attention. Both on the floor and in the galleries there was but one attempt made to divert Mr. Voorhees from the current of his speech, but he declined, absolutely, to yield to any interruption. There was also but one manifestation of approval from the galleries, and that was promptly suppressed, and its repetition forbidden by the Vice-President.

In conclusion Mr. Voorhees named the following five essentials of a sound currency, which, he believed, would follow the adoption of the policy he advocated:

First—A sufficient volume of currency at all times, State and national, on practically a specie basis, guaranteed also by public honor, with which to transact the growing and expanding business developments of the country.

Second—The absolute denial and destruction of all power in the hands of individuals, corporations or syndicates to cause fluctuations in amount of the different currencies in circulation, thus rendering panics and business distress impossible for the future.

Third—Every dollar in circulation, whether gold or silver, State bank paper or United States notes, on a strict parity and interchangeable with every other dollar, thus securing to the people the benefits and advantages of both State currency and a national currency, circulating in harmony and uniformity, and performing all the functions of money at home and abroad.

Fourth—The settlement of the vexed question of silver money at once and forever by authorizing it to form its portion of the specie basis required by the Constitution for every chartered bank in the Union; by recognizing it when defining the powers of the States to make legal tender money, thus making the use of silver coined into money as imperative as it will be useful to the great body of the people.

Fifth.—The total and complete overthrow of the dangerous centralization of the money power now existing at a few money centers and in the hands of a few individuals by giving to the people of the States the right of home rule on the subject of money and thereby securing to them a reliable non-fluctuating home circulation.

To these five propositions Mr. Voorhees added that one more—a carefully adjusted and graded income tax—a most equitable and upright measure, in providing government revenue and demanded by old-fashioned eternal justice.

The speech was followed by an argument from Mr. Dubois, (Rep. Idaho) in opposition to the bill as a measure to establish gold monometallism; and by one from Mr. Palmer, (Dem. Ill.) in support of the bill, and suggesting the difficulty, if not impossibility of bi-metallism according to the Chicago platform.

The last hour or two of the day's session passed in a discussion of Mr. Cockrell's amendment to the bill for the increase of national bank circulation, but no action was taken upon it, and at 5:10 the Senate adjourned.

THE DAY IN THE HOUSE.

Hepburn Declares Emphatically in Favor of the Sherman Law.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—The interest in the silver debate was yesterday transferred from the House to the Senate, but the audience in the former parliamentary body was not entirely disappointed, although Mr. Breckinridge of Kentucky, who was expected to open the debate, did not appear. Mallory (Dem., Fla.,) was the first speaker against the unconditional repeal of the Sherman law. Hopkins (Rep., Ill.,) took the other side, incidentally charging the Democrats with partisanship. The new Populist from Nevada (Newlands) made a good impression in his maiden speech, which was a vigorous one in favor the free coinage af silver. Bynum (Dem., Ind.,) made a short but incisive argument in favor of the Wilson bill. The surprise of the day was the speech of Hepburn (Rep., Ia.,) who was the Comptroller of the Treasury under the Harrison administration. He disagreed with his party colleagues and emphatically declared against the repeal of the Sherman law. That law, he contened, had been beneficial in its effects, and it shouldn't be repealed. Jones (Dem., Va.,) closed the day's debate with an argument in favor of bi-metallism. At the evening session other speeches pro and con were delivered.

CHEROKEE LANDS.

The President Proclaims September 16 as the Time of Entry.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—President Cleveland has issued a proclamation opening to settlement and homestead entry on Saturday, Sept. 16, at 12 o'clock noon, central standard time, all the lands, except those specifically reserved, recently acquired from the Cherokee Indian Nation and the Tonkawa and Pawnee tribes, in the Indian Territory, known as the Cherokee Outlet.

The lands now open to settlement are divided into seven counties.

TARIFF REVISION.

The Ways and Means Committee May Tackle the Job Promptly.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—Mr. W. L. Wilson, of West Virginia, the new chairman of the Ways and Means committee, says that without consultation with the committee he cannot undertake to outline any policy for it, but he believes they will go to work promptly at revision of the tariff. This, he says, does not necessarily mean that a bill would be reported very soon, for the reason that the work is one that will take considerable time and the rapidity with which the bill is completed will depend upon the mode of procedure. If the committee should decide to give hearing to interested parties that would prolong the matter a great deal. He would not undertake to predict what the committee would do, but he said he thought the party was in a situation now to perfect a broad and general revision of the tariff in accordance with their pledges to the people.

Representative Wilson has called a meeting of the committee for this morning for organization.

PURCHASE OF SILVER.

Since 1890 Its Amounts to 161,121,000 Ounces, Costing $150,669,459.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—In response to a resolution of inquiry on the subject of silver purchases under the act of 1890, Secretary Carlisle has sent to the House of Representatives a letter setting forth the following:

From August 18, 1890, to August 16, 1893, the department purchased 161,321,000 fine ounces, costing $150,669,459. The highest price paid was $1.20 1-4 an ounce, on August 20, 1890; the lowest 0975 cents an ounce on July 24, 1893.

Treasury notes to the amount of $150,115,988 have been issued in payment of silver bullion, of which $714,636 have been redeemed in standard silver dollars and retired since August 3, 1893. Up to August 1, 1893, $49,184,160 treasury notes have been redeemed in gold.

Thirty-six million eighty-seven thousand one hundred and eighty-five standard dollars have been coined from bullion purchased under the act of 1890. On the 13th instant the government owned of silver purchased under the act of 1890 123,161,375 ounces, costing $121,217,627.

NEW POSTMASTERS.

CROP REPORTS.

The Drought Broken in New England and Middle States.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—The weekly crop report of the Weather Bureau, says that the drought has been completely broken in New England and over a considerable portion of the Middle Atlantic States, but continues in Virginia and portions of Maryland. Special reports are as follows:

New England—Weather favorable for grass, roots and seeding; corn outlook unfavorable in some sections.

New York—Grain and potatoes generally light yield, but fine quality; pastures slightly improved, damage by grasshoppers continues.

New Jersey—Heavy thunder storms in northern and southern portions have effectually broken the drought.

Pennsylvania—Rain too late to materially benefit corn, potatoes and tobacco, late garden crops and pastures greatly benefitted.

Gresham and Blount Both Silent.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—The conference between Secretary Gresham and Minister Blount did not begin for more than an hour after Mr. Blount arrived at the State Department, owing to the non-appearance of the Secretary. It was held in the diplomatic room and lasted nearly three hours. Secretary Gresham sent for Mr. Blount's report on the Hawaiian situation and the two considered them at length. Mr. Gresham refused to be interrupted by some callers of prominence who sent in their cards and Secretary Lamont was fortunate enough to get only a few minutes with him. When the conference was over Secretary Gresham declined to make any statement whatever or to give even an idea of the result of his talk with the Minister. Mr. Blount was quite as reticent and referred all who inquired to Secretary Gresham.

The Pollock Case.

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—The undertaking on repeal given by Alexander Pollock, who was sued in the Court of Common Pleas by his daughter-in-law to recover $50,000 damages for the alienation of the affections of her husband, Edward E. Pollock, and against whom a jury gave a verdict for $37,500 after trial before Judge Pryor, was approved yesterday by Judge Gegerich, of the Court of Common Pleas. Alexander Thain the counsel for Father-in-law Pollock, appeared in court with his two sureties, Andrew Fletcher and Charles Robinson, who justified to the sum of $80,000.

Dr. Myers' Child Dead.

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—The child of Dr. Meyers, the alleged wholesale poisoner for the purpose of defrauding insurance companies, which was born at Detroit a few weeks ago while its mother was under arrest charged with being an accessory to her husband's crimes, died yesterday at St. Bernard's Home on Mulberry street. Since the child arrived in this city some days ago it had been gradually growing weaker until death came to its relief.

A Large Foreclosure.

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—The Farmer's Loan and Trust Company has begun an action in foreclosure of a mortgage of $3,200,000 held on the property of the New York & Northern railroad from 155th street to Brewsters. The mortgage was given on Oct. 1, 1887.

Plimmer Out-Boxes Dixon.

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—In the four-round boxing contest at Madison Square Garden last night between Dixon and Plimmer the dicison was given to the latter who did the best work throughout the entire bout.

Currency Still Scarce.

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—The currency famine has led several banks to discriminate in writing up their accounts and making payments thereon, between deposts of cash and deposits of checks.

NON-UNION MINERS STILL AT WORK

Hundreds of Cases of Cholera Officially Reported in Russia—Latest from the French Elections—Dunraven's Yacht Coming to America.

LONDON, Aug. 23.—The march of the striking miners from Rhondda valley to Ebbw Vale, Wales, proved a complete fizzle. The object of the strikers was to force the miners in the Ebbw Vale district, who are still at work, to leave the mines and join the strikers. About 4,000 men were in line when the march began. Shortly after the start was made the more faint-hearted, having in mind the preparations that the police and military had made to repress any attempt to create disorder, quietly fell out of the lines under cover of darkness, and made their way back to their homes. Not many miles had been traversed before there was a more rapid dwindling in the number of the marchers, the men now openly deserting their comrades. When those who had continued the march reached Merthyr Tydvil they were met by a strong force of police, who announced that they would march the rest of the distance with them. This further dampened the ardor of the strikers, and a majority of them quietly wended their way back to the place from which they started. Only 200 of the 4,000 men who had started persisted in their determination to proceed. The police did not think it necessary to accompany this small number, and consequently they were allowed to go ahead without a police escort. It is evident that they did not go far, however, for up to late last evening they had not arrived at their alleged destination. The non-union miners are still at work.

In the city of Moscow the daily averages for the week were 90 new cases and 38 deaths.

TROUBLE AVERTED.

Italy Satisfied With France's Action in the Aigues-Mortes Affair.

ROME, Aug. 22.—According to a semi-official announcement, "Admiral Brin, Minister of Foreign Affairs, has instructed Signor Ressman, Italian Ambassador to France, to inform the French government that in view of its spontaneous dismissal of the Mayor of Aigues-Mortes, the Italian government, appreciating the friendly disposition thus shown and placing complete confidence in the efficient and impartial action of the French magistracy for the punishment of the guilty parties, is happy to be able to consider the incident satisfactorily closed."

Two Connecticut Churches Claim a Chapel by the Sea.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Aug. 23.—Bishop Williams has been asked to decide a controversy between St. John's Episcopal Church of Bridgeport and St. Paul's Church of Fairfield, over the possession of St. Mary's-by-the-Sea., a new chapel being built at Black Rock, the fashionable resort which is the home of T. W. Pearsall. Jonathan Thorn and other wealthy New Yorkers. The chapel is being built by subscription. Mr. Pearsall gave the promoters land for a site and General T. L. Watson and others made subscriptions ranging from $100 down. Ex-President Harrison sent $10 for the fund and $50 has been offered for his letter, which is to be sold to the highest bidder. Rev. W. Strother Jones of St. Paul's claims the chapel is in his parish and Rev. W. H. Lewis of Bridgeport holds that it is in the jurisdiction of his church.

FARMERS' ALLIANCE.

A Large Attendance at the National Encampment.

MOUNT GRETNA, Pa., Aug. 23.—The morning trains to the National Encampment of the Farmers' Alliance brought crowds of people yesterday while a steady stream of visitors flowed in to the grounds by every footpath and driving road. Gov. Robert E. Pattison, of Pennsylvania, who came here to inspect the National Guard Rifle practice, mingled with the farmers and visited the various exhibits. Hon. Benjamin Ferrell, National Lecturer of the Farmers' Alliance, made his first address in this State. A large meeting was held in the main auditorium. The principal speaker was Captain C. A. Bowers, of Indiana, who is a leader in the Populist movement.

W. M. Benninger, of Lenhartpar, an Alliance leader in Eastern Pennsylvania, will deliver an address in Pennsylvania Dutch on the free coinage of silver.

UNION FOREVER.

Western Governors Decry Commercial Separation from the East.

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—The World prints to-day opinions from a number of Western Governors upon the proposition of a commercial division of the United States.

The World telegraphed to each of the governors of the Western States these questions: "First—What do you think of the petition of the Kansas officials for a commercial division between the West and East?

"Second—What would be the result of the proposed convention of governors to consider this?"

Governor Stone, of Missouri; Lewelling, of Kansas, and Pennoyer, of Oregon, boldly favor the convention. The others heard from oppose it.

Gov. Lewelling suggests that if free coinage fails the Mexican silver dollar be made a full legal tender.

Gov. McGraw of Washington says any man who proposes a secession of States is as much a traitor to the flag to-day as he was in 1861. Gov. Knute Nelson of Minnesota expresses the same sentiment. The Governor of Nebraska has no sympathy or confidence in the scheme. Gov. Horace Boies of Iowa says it is unwise and does not think any considerable number of Governors will attend the convention.

BOTH ASTOR CUPS NOW.

The Vigilant Again Successful in Yesterday's Race.

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 23.—After considerable delay the New York Yacht Club's regatta committee started the resail for the second Astor cup yesterday. The Morgan-Iselin syndicate wonder of Herreshoff design, the Vigilant, the nearest to the American type of the four new 85-footers, won the first cup and yesterday won the second one easily. The only other entry in yesterday's race was the Pilgrim, the Boston syndicate boat.

The Vigilant's victory by 24 minutes and 33 seconds, over a thirty mile course, indicates which of the four big cup defenders is likely to be selected by the committee to represent American yachtsmen in the Valkyrie races this fall.

World's Fair Booming.

CHICAGO, Aug. 23.—The railroads from all directions are bringing train loads of people to the city. The hotels in the vicinity of Jackson Park are filling up rapidly and the restauranteurs are reaping the long-waited for harvest. From 120,000 to 150,000 visitors can be counted on now on ordinary days just as 20,000 or 30,000 could be counted on in the discouraging times of a month ago. Consequently things are loosening up all around. The concessionaires are offering extraordinary attractions. The management is spending money liberally on special amusements.

An Unjust Verdict.

LONDON, Aug. 23.—The Paris correspondent of the Times comments at some length this morning on the injustice of the verdict obtained by a French ex-Minister to Hayti against Bretton, the Anglo-American publisher. Bretton merely sold a paper containing a libel on the ex-Minister, and on that account is been ordered by the court to pay £20 damages and costs.

The Valkyrie Cruising.

ANARCHISTIC DISORDER

The Reds Capture a Peaceable Meeting of Unemployed.

FIERY SPEECHES AND DIRE THREATS

The Police Squelch Them With an Iron Hand—No More Labor Meetings to be Permitted Unless Their Character is Known by the Authorities.

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—Police Captain Devery, in whose precinct most of the trouble created by the unemployed has occurred, announced yesterday that no meetings could be held without their character being first inquired into by the police authorities.

The Anarchists, however, tried to hoodwink the police and hold a meeting at 97 Stanton street. They had given out that the meeting would take place at 2 o'clock, and instead of that they decided to hold it at noon.

Everything went swimmingly along until 1 o'clock, when suddenly Police Captain Devery himself, with two roundsmen and 20 policemen in full uniform, moved down upon the Reds.

The greatest excitement ensued. Fully 2,000 persons blocked the street and the sidewalk as soon as the police appeared. Clubs were drawn and the mob scattered in every direction.

Some of the Anarchists made futile attempts to fight, but a vigorous use of the clubs soon dispelled them. Finally the mob was driven away and order restored.

The majority of the officers went back to the station house with the Captain and only half a dozen were left to guard the place.

The Anarchists decided to hold the meeting in Stanton street after they had been refused admission to Covenant Hall. They posted a notice on the hall building for every one to proceed at once to the Stanton street building.

The notice had been seen by one of Captain Devery's men and the raid followed. Before the raid several speeches were made.

Despairing of holding meetings to incite the unemployed to riot because of Captain Devery's stand, the Anarchists laid a plot to capture a peaceable mass meeting of 3,000 members of the United Hebrew Trades at Pythagoras Hall.

When it became generally known that no more meetings would be allowed the more judicial of the Socialists and Anarchists met in secret session and discussed the situation. It is said that Emma Goldman was present and delivered one of her fiery speeches. Captain Devery was roundly abused for closing their principal avenue of reaching the masses. They decided to speak in spite of the police and plans were made for capturing the mass meeting to be held in Pythagoras Hall.

The United Hebrew Trades is composed of 23 different unions. There are about 30,000 men in the entire organization. The object of the meeting was to try to find measures of relief for the unemployed. As the members of the union are for the most part of a quiet, peaceful temperament no trouble was expected. As a precaution Capt. Devery was present in uniform with a dozen men in citizen's clothes and four in uniform.

At 2 o'clock Canal street east of the Bowery to Pythagoras Hall was packed with the members of the United Trades. The crowd was fairly well dressed and orderly. Chairman Jacob Milch called the meeting to order. He explained the object of the meeting to be to provide ways and means for the unemployed.

Alexander Jonas, a well-known German leader on the East side, noted for his leanings to socialism, and at one time as editor of a German newspaper, was introduced as the principal speaker. Mr. Jonas was received with applause and started in to tell how if the workmen would vote the Socialists' ticket their condition would be ameliorated. From all over the hall shouts went up for speakers that were unknown to the officers of the United Hebrew Trades. Gradually the rough element present began to assert itself.

There were repeated cries for bread and epitheta were hurled at the capitalists. Chairman Milch arose and pounded his gavel for order. Capt. Devery instructed his men to eject the disturbers, several of whom he recognized as Anarchists. The crowd was so dense that the policemen were unable to reach them. The Anarchists kept closing in around the rostrum. Among them was a surly looking man with a red flag partly hidden under his coat, who was gradually forcing his way to the steps lead to the platform.

When the speaker finished several of the Anarchists sprang forward and mounted the platform. They commenced to harangue the meeting. Captain Devery started to force his way to the platform shouting "stop," "stop." Chairman Milch pulled one of the Anarchists away from the front and demanded what he meant. The fellow broke away and disappeared in the crowd. The Anarchists seeing they did not receive any support plunged back into the crowd again. The police were so few in number that they were powerless to reach and arrest them.

Alexander Jonas intensified the excitement by shouting out "What right have the police to interfere?" Captain Devery shouted back that he could not discriminate between the peaceable speakers and the Anarchists, and that the meeting would have to come to an abrupt end. Jonas instead of obeying the captain's injunction, said: "You can disperse the meeting but I'll remain." Chairman Milch stepped forward and asked all present to depart, "before blood is spilled," he added.

The meeting broke up in the greatest disorder. Excited knots of men gathered outside and denounced the Anarchists. Captain Devery has men out looking for the Anarchists who created the disorder.

Col. Robinson's Affairs.

ELMIRA, N. Y., Aug. 23.—The schedule of assets and liabilities of Mayor D. C. Robinson, who made a general assignment to Hubert C. Mandeville May 24, was filed yesterday. The document shows the assets to be actually worth $3,545,909.77, and the liabilities, exclusive of contingent and undisputed liabilities, $2,759,304.54.

Jack Dempsey All Right.

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—Arthur T. Lumley has received a letter from Frank White, dated Chicago, saying that Jack Dempsey is well, in lungs and brain, notwithstanding all stories to the contrary.

Navy Yard Reductions.

BROOKLYN, Aug. 23.—Admiral Gherardi sent word to the heads of all Brooklyn Navy Yard departments yesterday to discharge all employes whose services could be dispensed with.

MAY SAVE ACTOR CURTIS.

Evidence That Another Person Shot Policeman Grant.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 23.—Counsel for M. B. Curtis, on trial for the murder of Policeman Grant, say they will introduce as a witness G. W. Rumble, inventor, of Syracuse, N. Y. Rumble, it is stated, was in San Francisco on the night of the murder and saw Grant shot. Rumble, who knew Curtis, says he saw the actor and another man in charge of a policeman, that the third man commenced to resist and finally shot Grant. The man then shot at Curtis and missed and then fired a third shot at Rumble, going through his coat. The man then ran in one direction and Curtis in another, leaving Rumble standing by the dead body of the officer. Rumble says he was afraid he would be accused of the murder, so he scaled a fence into a vacant lot and hid under a wagon for two hours. Next day he met Judge Treadwell of this city and told the story to him. Treadwell corroborates Rumble's statements. After learning of Curtis' arrest Rumble says he determined to keep out of the case until the actor should be convicted. He changed his mind, however, and has written to Curtis' attorney offering to come here and testify.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 23.—M. B. Curtis, the actor on trial for the murder of Policeman Grant, testified in his own behalf yesterday. He told how he had left the theatre with over $200 in his pocket. On Fifth street an unknown man struck him on the head and robbed him, when Officer Grant came along and arrested them both. Curtis said he did not shoot Grant, and that he never carried a pistol except when traveling.

THE FAMOUS CROUSE CASE.

Steps Toward a Compromise of the Various Claims.

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—An order has been signed by Judge Van Brunt of the Supreme Court giving the New York Security and Trust company, as general guardian of Dorothea Edgarita Crouse, the alleged child of Daniel Edgar Crouse, the Syracuse millionaire, power to compromise the action brought by Crouse's cousins for an accounting under his will and an adjudication that the cousins alone are entitled to the residuary estate of the millionaire.

The judge has also confirmed a compromise which the general guardian has entered into in behalf of the infant daughter with Henry C. White and Susan Jane White, of Lewis county, Mo., two of the cousin plaintiffs.

Under the compromise, the two plaintiffs each agreed to share equally with the infant defendant whatever they may receive from the Crouse estate, and the infant defendant covenants to share in the same way what she may get from the millionaire's estate.

It is hoped by the general guardian, who petitioned for the leave to compromise, that a similar agreement may be entered into with the other plaintiffs, and that the suit now pending in the Supreme Court may be discontinued by all the plaintiffs.

STRING PULLED.

Arrested for Haunting George Gould for a Job.

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—Harry L. String, who said he was in the real estate business in Chicago, and was 29 years of age, was arraigned before Police Justice Martin at the Tombs yesterday to answer a charge of disorderly conduct.

It was said that for several days he had persistently haunted George Gould's office at 71 Broadway, and insisted that that gentleman should give him a remunerative position.

At last Mr. Gould's patience gave out, and he telephoned to police headquarters and told Inspector McLaughlin of the annoyance to which String had subjected him.

Detective Sergeants Hanley and Crowley went down to Mr. Gould's office, where they arrested String.

The prisoner told the police justice that he became acquainted with Edward and George Gould in Chicago, and on coming here thought he would apply to them for a position. He promised not to go near them again and was discharged.

BOSTON & MAINE.

Lucius Tuttle of the Consolidated Road Chosen President.

BOSTON, Aug. 23.—At a meeting of the Boston & Maine directors yesterday all were present except Charles A. Sinclair, William C. Whitney, George G. Haven and W. Seward Webb. The committee of the Boston & Maine directors which was directed to bring in the name of a president for the ensuing year, reported unanimously in favor of Lucius Tuttle, vice-president of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, who has signified his willingness to accept the position at the beginning of the new year, Oct. 11, 1893. The board unanimously adopted the recommendation of the committee. Hon. Wm. C. Whitney's resignation as a member of the board was accepted, and Mr. Tuttle was thereupon elected to the vacancy and took his seat with the board.

The Late Bishop McMahon.

HARTFORD, Conn., Aug. 23.—The body of Bishop McMahon was brought to this city from Lakeville yesterday afternoon, and will lie in state to day. The funeral arrangements are not completed but it is expected that it will be held on Friday. The bishop was conscious to the last and passed away peacefully after the sacrament of the church had been administered to him. Miss Rose McMahon, his sister, the Rev. W. J. Stanley, the Rev. T. P. Bannon and Dr. Welch of Norfolk, were at his bedside. The body was buried in the crypt in the Cathedral where the former bishops of the diocese repose.

Rev. Dr. Dales Dead.

CHAUTAUQUA, N. Y., Aug. 23.—Dr. J. B. Dales, pastor of the Second United Presbyterian Church of Philadelphia, died at the Hotel Atheneum yesterday. He had been attending the conference of the U. P. Synod. He was 73 years old and eminent in his church.

Rescued from Drowning.

UNEQUAL REPRESENTATION.

Nevada, a silver mining camp and sage brush desert, with a total population numbering less than the legal ratio of a single Congressional District, has a vote in the United States Senate equal to New York's six millions inhabitants.

Six other hastily admitted States—Colorado, Montana, Idaho, Wyoming, North Dakota and South Dakota, possessing altogether a population of little over one million, equal in the Senate the aggregate vote of Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, Ohio, Illinois, Michigan and New Jersey, with their eighteen millions people.

It is not for us to criticise here the political ends sought to be attained by the admission of such a batch of flimsy commonwealths; but to denounce the national legislation that gave most of them birth, as untimely and unsound, is merely uttering the truth.

And now, when the effort to establish and preserve currency stability for the good of the whole country is predominant, the Senators from those States are found to be determined obstructionists, mercenary personal interests evidently influencing some far more than patriotic statesmanship.

HONEST REPUBLICAN COMPLIMENT.

As a follower of fair methods and an expounder of honest views, the Elizabeth Journal is a shining example to other partisan Republican organs, and it speaks straight from the heart when it praises a great New Jersey Democratic leader in the following terms:

Senator McPherson has done the people of New Jersey a good turn, by contradicting the story that he was "weary of life in the Senate and would not be a candidate again, his intention being to spend a few years in foreign travel". The Senator has not directly and in so many words said that this was not true; but he has permitted papers, which usually speak his authorized sentiments, to announce that he is a candidate for re-election. This is really doing New Jersey a good turn. Not but there are men in New Jersey who would quite as well represent the State in the Senate; but there are so many men anxious and ambitious to get in his shoes, who are inferior to Senator McPherson in character, in ability, in principle and in practice, that it is a relief to know that Senator McPherson prefers to succeed himself rather than let any of these succeed him. He has been an able and rather safe representative.

And The Journal is again sincere in its admiration of the home representative in Congress:

Hon. John T. Dunn has not received a very liberal recognition from Speaker Crisp in the appointment of standing committees; but it was hardly to be expected that very important places would be allotted to him. He is a new member from an entirely new district, and his statesman's spurs, to use a mixed metaphor, have not yet been won in the Congressional lists. However, Mr. Dunn is on the Labor Committee, where he can do good work, and also on the Committee on Expenses for Public Buildings, where his services may be valuable, but of no particular interest to his constituents. He will, no doubt, attend zealously to his duties on these committees, exactly as he told Speaker Crisp he would, wherever placed.

A QUESTIONABLE POLICY.

To all Plainfield business men The Press recommends the thoughtful reading of the following hard sense and excellent advice, from the columns of The National Advertiser:

The money panic of the past two months has prompted quite a number of the leading advertisers of the country to a course which, in our opinion, they will regret in the end. We allude to the discontinuance of advertising contracts on account of threatened hard times. The experience of the past furnishes plenty of examples to show that such a policy is invariably costly in its results, and although the temptation to seek relief from responsibility for advertising bills is great, yet in the end the sum total of the effect of such a course is a shrinkage in business and the loss of ground which had already been gained in the competition for public favor.

The successful advertisers are those who have kept at it. The human memory is short. The law of competition admits of no armistice. There can be no permanent vacancy in the grand army which is moving forward to the assault of public favor. As soon as one steps out of the ranks for any cause whatever, another quickly takes his place.

Human wants are substantially invariable, and the quantity of things purchased for the needs of existence cannot be permanently lessened. No matter how hard the times, just so many pills will be taken in a year, so many pair of shoes worn, and so many bottles of tonic will be drunk. There may be a temporary falling off in the demand for such things, but it can only be temporary. The question is mainly as to who shall supply the demand. If one manufacturer fails to do it another will supplant him. Patronage is easier held than gained.

The advertising world is familiar with many trade marks that in times past have been household words with the masses, but which today are little more than reminiscences. This has not been the result of a change in the category of human wants, much less a diminution of consumption of articles of this kind. The decline has almost invariably been the result of mistaken judgment or loss of confidence on the part of the proprietor whose goods had been advertised into popular favor. Some of the most successful advertisers have in the past been impressed with the idea that their place was certain, that their trade was established, and that the battle with competitors might be suspended without loss to themselves. The result has never been different. It has always culminated in disaster if persisted in long enough.

We call attention to this truism because just at this time, as stated in the heading, there are a number of the best known advertisers who seem to be flinching from the strain imposed upon active business, and to soothe their better judgment with the idea that they can afford for the time at least to withdraw from the columns of the public prints. We do not believe they can do it. No matter how long they have been before the public as advertisers, no matter how much they have spent in the past to keep their goods on the market, the day they withdraw their advertising marks the beginning of lost ground, which must be reconquered if they ever hope again to occupy the field enjoyed before.

We believe that in times like these sacrifices if necessary should be made, and expedients resorted to until every effort shall have been exhausted, leaving only as a last resort the withdrawal of their advertising business.

There is little question but that we have passed the crisis of our troubles. Everything points to a resumption of confidence in the near future, and with confidence will come better times. Present conditions have been brought about by the diseased epidemic of fancy rather than of fact. The most astute financiers of the country are unable to point to any adequate cause for the late disaster. Our people have not been prostrated by an expensive war; famine has not devastated our fields or cities; no great conflagration has swept up millions; but on the other hand we have just passed a year of bountiful crops, fruitful mines, beneficent weather and intensely active factories. Every trade has been busy, every barn has been full. The whole thing is a financial nightmare, and the cool heads that direct our business in its well-known channels need have no cause for apprehension.

It is rather a time for increased action than for relaxation, and our advice to experienced advertisers, whose business is based upon articles of fixed value, is to keep right on, and not yield to the temptation to check their course and surrender the hold they have upon popular favor by the suspension of their advertising business in the columns of the newspaper press of the country.

M'VEY'S CHANGES HANDS.

E. S. Brewster of York State to Take Charge Sept. 1.

E. S. Brewster has bought out the entire restaurant business of John H. McVey, 123 North avenue, and will take possession September 1. Mr. Brewster is a gentleman whom Plainfielders will be glad to welcome as a fellow-townsman and associate. He and his brother were for years among the best commercial travelers on the road, and in their travels found so many bad hotels that in the goodness and public-spiritedness of their hearts they determined to devote their remaining years to furnishing really first-class hospitality to the American public. As proof of how well they succeed in what they undertake, the St. James Hotel at Oxford, Shenango county, N. Y., is a towering monument. E. S. has sold his share in that flourishing business to his brother, and decided to make New Jersey his home because of his conclusion that that 's the best State to live in.

Mr. Brewster is charmed with Plainfield, and Plainfield will be proud of its new citizen. He and his wife, whom he married at Hopewell, just beyond Bound Brook, are expert cyclists, and will astonish the natives with their skill at hill climbing. They have had abundant practice on the York State mountains.

Mr. Brewster will retain the name McVey Restaurant for his institution; and under his management the immense business Mr. McVey has built up will doubtless prosper more than ever.

Mr. McVey, who has almost as many warm friends and appreciative patrons as the town has inhabitants, will take a well earned rest.

"I'm going to sleep for three months"—he says.

Among the improvements proposed by Mr. Brewster is a cashier's desk by the front entrance, and the metropolitan system of checks. He will strive to improve the service in every possible way.

McVey's has the reputation at home and abroad of giving a larger variety of better food at less money than any other dining room in the country. Its reputation among the wheeling fraternity is great, and visiting cyclists almost invariably stop there.

SIMMONDS OF PLAINFIELD.

He's Playing in Great Form in the Newport Tournament.

Albert P. Simmonds, who is in Newport playing in the All-Comers tennis tournament, won his first match yesterday afternoon. His opponent was Sydney L. Smith, of Bergen Point, with whom he has played many times, both at Bergen Point and on the Hillside courts. The score was 11-9, 7-5, 6 4. Tennis enthusiasts in Plainfield will watch Simmonds's progress with interest to see how he acquits himself if he is so fortunate as to work his way to a game with one of the crack players in the later rounds of the tournament.

He Followed the Car.

Some farmer from Union Village, up in the quiet precincts of Washington Valley, started for town with a load of peaches, yesterday morning. His team got frightened at a street car. The farmer then said he would "follow the car down", so the horses would get used to it. After the first crossing the farmer was out of sight, and the car arrived at its destination on time.

BACK FROM THE JAWS OF DEATH.

TIMELY RESCUE OF A LINEMAN FROM AN ELECTRIC WIRE.

Blue Flames Shot from Eder's Hands—His Limbs Were Rigid, and His Tongue Was Paized By the Destroying Current—He Describes the Sensations Attending Electrocution—Painted Twice After the Rescue.

Joseph M. Eder, who during his recent residence in this city fractured an arm by falling from a Postal Telegraph pole at Front and Somerset streets, lives to describe the sensations of electrocution. He was rescued yesterday by fellow-workmen before a current from an electric light wire, which had begun its work upon him, could cause death.

Eder is now foreman of the linemen employed by the Postal Telegraph Company in Newark, and he was repairing one of the company's district messenger circuits when his life was imperilled. He had climbed nearly to the top of a thirty-foot pole on Mulberry street, just north of Elm, and was splicing two pieces of wire when he carelessly threw his right arm over an electric light wire which was fastened to the pole. The wire passed under his armpit. The insulation was rotten, and the current was discharged into his body. The shock was a terrible one, and made Eder's arms and legs rigid.

Eder was standing on the lowest of three cross pieces, and when he received the shock his body lurched forward, but his feet remained on the wood. As he fell one hand grasped a telegraph wire and the other the same electric light wire which had given him the shock. Eder was supported by these wires in a stooping position.

By grasping both wires a complete circuit was formed. The insulation on the wire was old and worn out, and the electricity flashed through Eder. When his hands grasped the wires the small blue flames began to shoot out, and Eder says he thought it was all up with him. He could not utter a sound, and was powerless to move his hands. The electricity affected even his eyesight, and, he says, it seemed as if he was looking through a bright piece of blue paper. The sensation which was caused by the knowledge that he had to stand there and be killed gradually without being able to move, he said, was an awful one.

There were several electric light linemen working on the ground at the pole, but it was several minutes before they noticed Eder's plight.

"You'll be burned up if you stand that way"—one man shouted, not noticing that the flames were already eating the poor fellow's hands. A second look, however, showed that Eder was in the grip of the current, and two of the men at once climbed the pole. They carried a rope with them, and with it they lashed Eder to the pole. Then they removed his hands from the wires and made preparations for lowering him to the street.

A crowd had collected and words of encouragement were shouted to the willing workers. A rope was passed under Eder's arms and he was slowly lowered to the ground. Up to that time he had succeeded in keeping his senses, but the reaction at being saved from his perilous position was too much for him and he fell in a faint. When he was brought to Eder got on his feet, but he fainted again, and restoratives had to be administered. He was carried into a neighboring drug store, when it was found that the electricity had burned great gashes in his fingers and thumbs. Salve was applied to the wounds and the wounded man was taken to his home, 42 South Orange avenue.

Electricians say the accident could not have happened if the wire had been properly insulated. The wires which are strung through the streets and have been up for some time exposed to the weather have had most of the insulating material washed away, only a small coating of tar remaining. This will not keep the electricity from passing out.

MORE NEWS FROM KYTEVILLE.

Little Notes About Fanwood People and Their Doings.

The new and beautiful residence of George H. Renaud is nearly completed.

W. Edwards Pentz's turnout is attracting much admiration for the beautiful white collars worn by his horses.

Paul and Louis Tuzo are preparing for their annual cruise with the New York Naval Reserve, Saturday, August 26.

Harry P. Robinson and family will return to Fanwood permanently, in a few days. Their old friends will welcome them back with much heartfelt feeling.

The family of Harry Robinson have been spending several months in the Catskills. When they return they will occupy their new house, which is nearly finished.

The Misses Boucher are having an overflowing house at The Homestead, this summer, and everyone who is fortunate enough to secure rooms is made one of the happy family.

You see that man with a gun? He is n't on the warpath against tramps or trespassers. Instead he hunts the puny mole. This troublesome creature is playing sad havoc with the lawns.

Judge Moore's good work in keeping tramps away in the evenings, should now be extended so as to cover the daytime. He has made a splendid record, and the residents look forward to the complete annihilation of the tramps before long.

A Few Honest Suggestions Which Should Be Appreciated.
All tooth powders practically contain the same ingredients, namely, chalk, castile soap, etc., with some flavoring. We use in the manufacture of Royal Tooth Powder the best English prepared chalk, the finest English Castile soap, delicately flavored. Your dentist will tell you these substances are perfectly harmless and accomplish all that is to be expected from a tooth powder. A full 2-ounce package of this unexcelled article (same as is usually sold for 25c. under other names, but which we retail for 10c.) will be given with each $1 purchase and upwards. People of correct ideas will appreciate this offer, but some will say, "We never use tooth powder." Those who do use it, however, can be distinguished from those who don't, as the rose can be distinguished from the dandelion. This will seem cruel to some, but duty compels us to speak plainly. The "Royal" is being received everywhere, and jobbers compliment us with their duplicate orders. A trial of Royal Tooth Powder will delight you. J. C. ALLEN, Plainfield, N. J. 4-12 tf

"BE YE ALSO READY."

This Admonition Taught by the Death of John Manchester.

The lesson taught by the suddenness of his death was the theme of the sermon at the funeral of John C. Manchester, at his late home, 313 Arlington avenue, yesterday afternoon at 3.

Besides the relatives, a large number of friends attended the services; also brethren of the Ancient Order of United Workmen, of which the deceased was a member.

The Rev. Dr. C. R. Barnes was the officiating clergyman. In an impressive talk he said:

"Once more we are called to the house of mourning. During the past few days we have stood by the side of the young, the middle aged, and those older in life, who have passed away from earth forever. Today we stand at the coffin of one who was called away suddenly, without a moment's warning. What does this man's death teach us? There is a lesson in it, and as we come from the store, the shop, and the factory, it would be well for us to stop and consider the importance of it. We often ask the question was a certain man fit to die? If a man is not fit to die, he is not fit to live. But no matter how fit he is to live, the time draws near when he must go up yonder. The time will come, we cannot tell how soon, when we too will be laid in the coffin, when our faces will be pale and our hands helpless. The lesson of this day is, Be ready for it."

The Rev. G. Kennedy Newell gave words of comfort to the bereaved ones, and also dwelt on the lesson of the death. "There is a thought"—he said—"that comes to me at this time, and that is that God's ways are mysterious; his messages are swift, and it behooves each one to be prepared for the great last call. It should impress itself on each one that we may be summoned in a moment. If we have any idea of giving our heart to the Saviour, an event like this should convince us to do so. I had heard of Mr. Manchester, but did not know him personally. I do n't know that I ever shook his hand. But we all mourn the loss because he was a good citizen. He lived an upright life, and was always doing good for those about him.

"By his death, this home is made desolate; his sudden removal is hard to bear, and we long to give comfort to those who are left behind. It is the Lord who has taken him away, but He will grant His Spirit as consolation, and let us ask Him for it today."

The service was concluded with prayer by Dr. Barnes, and all proceeded to Hillside Cemetery, where the body was laid in its final resting-place by Pall-bearers Thomas Randolph, Charles Randolph, T. J. Carey, David N. Force, David A. Ryno and Thomas B. Gray, all of whom are members of the A. O. U. W.

The ritual of the United Workmen order was read impressively at the grave. The society gave a floral tribute of a pillow, and Mrs. Anna Johns Cox sent beautiful cut flowers.

BRIGHT FAIRYLAND IN A TENT.

DUNELLEN BOROUGH HAS A CHURCH BEAUTY SHOW.

Epworth Leaguers Conduct a Midsummer Festival—Glowing Success of the Opening Night—What a Press Reporter Found There to Delight Him.

All the good people of Dunellen turned out last night to attend the entertainment provided by the Epworth League on the lawn adjoining the M. E. church.

For weeks past this society, through its pastor, the Rev. W. C. Kinsie, has been planning and arranging the affair.

The church is being cleaned, and the young people are desirous of furnishing it anew; hence this special effort.

Early in the evening a free magic lantern exhibition was given on the lawn. This was witnessed by a large crowd, and hugely enjoyed.

After the pictures were shown, the people were all invited to go into a large tent, where everything was provided for their comfort and entertainment.

It was a beautiful sight. The decorations were of a highly artistic order. There were large streamers running from the centre of the tent to the sides, while the various flags of the nations were arranged to form a very pretty picture.

Around the sides of the tent were booths arranged in the most attractive style, and presided over by charming young ladies of the church, who were very attentive to every expressed need or wish.

There was a Japanese booth where one could be served with a delicious cup of tea or coffee, and if one wished he could purchase the cup and saucer as a souvenir. From there one passed to a booth where fancy articles of every description were to be had.

Continuing on the circuit of the tent, one found happy Charles Apgar in charge of a telescope. A peep here, and fair Luna's smiles rewarded one, or the planets beamed down with their wonders, and Mr. Apgar would explain all about them in his own pleasing way.

As if this was enough to drive one to drink, pretty young ladies were close by to serve the thirsty with lemonade.

Chris Huff proved a great attraction in one corner of the tent, where he was making fresh candies every few minutes. He found ready buyers for his sweets.

To the right of this, tables were placed, where one could be seated and order anything he wanted, from a plate of cream to a regular meal, all served in irresistible style.

During the fore part of the evening the Junior League gave a pleasing drill. This was in charge of the Rev. W. C. Kinsie, who had trained them. A fascinating scene was presented as these young boys and girls went through the graceful evolutions. It was a brilliant and showy success.

The New Market Cornet Band and the Dunellen Drum Corps were there, and each took pleasure in giving the audience their best selections at intervals.

As was before mentioned Mr. Kinsie had charge of the affair, and was assisted by the following:

Mrs. Harry Vail,	Miss Jennie Stevens,
Mrs. W. C. Kinsie,	Miss Grace Vail,
Mrs. John Kinney,	Miss Millie Vail,
Mrs. Todd,	Miss Edna Giles,
Mrs. Richardson,	Miss Emma Apgar,
Mrs. Gise,	Miss May Gise,
Mrs. Kennedy,	Miss Minnie VanMiddlesworth.

The festival will continue tonight and Thursday night, with new attractions each evening.

A handsome desk on exhibition is being voted for; that contest closes tonight.

If the weather proves favorable, these young people will be eminently successful in their endeavor to help their church.

FRIEND HARNED AT REST.

Simple and Impressive Services at the Watchung Avenue Meeting-House.

Funeral ceremonies over the remains of the late Edward N. Harned were held this morning at 11, at the Friends' meeting-house on Watchung avenue.

Aaron M. Powell spoke as follows:

"We are assembled here today to pay a last token of respect to our friend, who has so suddenly been taken away. Those that knew him all learned to love him. He was a man who impressed all by his uprightness and sterling qualities. He was a teacher, and that means a good deal. One who has the training of young minds has an important position to fill. Our numbers are small, and we shall miss our friend. This place was his spiritual home, and it was his custom each First-day to bring his students to this house of worship, thus teaching them to regard and revere things spiritual. I believe that when the summons came to our friend he was ready and fully prepared to go.

"It has been said that he who makes two blades of grass grow where formerly there was one, is a benefactor. Such is the case of our friend and teacher. He was prepared to meet that greater harmony with God, which he enjoyed to a large extent here upon earth, and we can all have that same harmony if we are living as we should.

"Today we are here, but we cannot tell of the morrow."

At the conclusion of Mr. Powell's impressive talk, Friend Elizabeth Thistlethwaite, a beloved member of the society who has passed her ninetieth year of a noble life, made a homily, which was exceedingly appropriate and full of excellent truth, giving special emphasis to the good of submitting ourselves to God and letting Him direct our paths and shape our destinies.

An opportunity was given for those present to view the remains, and burial was made in the cemetery back of the meeting-house.

Prepared only by W. B. Jones, M. D., No. 1336 South Eighth street, Philadelphia. For sale by I. W. Randolph, 21 West Front street. Price $1.

MARY VAN RIPER'S DIAMOND RING.

NOVEL FEATURES OF THE LAWSUIT IT PRECIPITATES.

Joe Pike Borrowed It to Wear and Hocked It in a Pawnshop—Joe's Father Noah Sent Mary the Ticket, But Did n't Reimburse Her—So, at Least, Says Mary.

Suit was begun in Justice Mosher's Court today by Mary VanRiper to recover the value of a diamond ring from Noah W. Pike.

Mary complains that Noah's son Joseph borrowed her diamond ring, as young men sometimes do of foolish maidens, to wear it.

By and by Mary asked repeatedly to have the ring returned, and then complained to the father. Instead of the ring, she says she received a letter from Noah stating that Joe had pawned it. Noah sent her the ticket and it is alleged promised to reimburse her.

Because that promise has not been kept, she sues.

The papers are returnable Sept. 6.

BY THE WAY.

—Allen tells you all about it, in his new ad today.

—In Justice Mosher's Court, R. J. Dean & Co. have sued John Beerbower, on contract. The case is returnable Aug. 28.

—Justice Nodyne has issued exaution against Jacob Conde for $35 damages, for throwing scalding water on Mary H. Cullen's dog.

—Tomorrow's excursion is the last of the season from Plainfield. It 's to the great and glorious Lake Hopatcong and the Odd Fellows are managing to Go and spend the day if only for the steam-launch ride all over the lake.

—Superintendent Norbury, of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, has paid the $200 death-claim on Patrick Hageny, who was killed on the Lehigh Valley Railroad at Bound Brook. This was a profit of $153.75 over Hageny's payments.

—Sigmund Frucht was once more called to account this morning, on complaint of Wm. Price, for striking him and calling him indecent names. Judge Coddington set his trial down for this afternoon at 2. At that hour the Judge convicted him and suspended sentence with a warning.

—John J. Kenney has been very anxious to race five miles on his wheel against James A. Sangston. Last evening the two met, and a friendly race was agreed on. They started out all right, but at the first opportunity Mr. Sangston disappeared around a convenient corner toward home.

—Miss May Gise, of Dunellen, drove to this city yesterday afternoon about 5, stopping in front of Judge Coddington's office on Front street. A man from the other direction drove his horse very fast and the two wagons collided, when a bystander grasped the man's horse by the head, averting serious damage.

Abused By the Lawyer.

Judge Mosher decided his first case today, and gave Fosher a verdict of $73 against Seguine. Thereupon Seguine's lawyer promptly berated him, and insinuated that opposing counsel had bought him. The irate lawyer may be brought to book for contempt of court.

Providence and Stonington STEAMSHIP COMPANY

PROVIDENCE LINE,

(MAY TO NOVEMBER.)

The Summer Route to all eastern points. The steamers Connecticut and Massachusetts are among the finest vessels of their class in the world. Among the advantages of this line are the long water route and the short rail ride between Providence and Boston. The sail through Narragansett Bay and the Providence River in the early morning or evening is a delightful feature. A first-class orchestra on each steamer. During the season through parlor cars run between steamer's wharf, Providence, and the White Mountains Without Change.

STONINGTON LINE,

(THROUGHOUT THE YEAR.)

This is the Inside Route, and especially safe and comfortable in winter. Connects at Stonington with express trains for Boston, Providence, Worcester and all points north and east. The new Steamers Maine and New Hampshire are in commission on the Stonington Line. These boats are built of steel, with seven water-tight compartments, insuring safety, and are completely fitted up with the most modern appliances. Very popular with the traveling public. The Stonington Line is the only direct Sound route in summer to Narragansett Pier and Watch Hill.

All information will be cheerfully given on application by letter or otherwise to General Passenger Agent, Providence and Stonington Steamship Company, new pier 36, North river, New York, or Providence, R. I. Illustrated bulletin furnished free, containing musical programmes, official time tables and other information.

Corporation Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the Common Council have fixed the thirty-first day of August, A. D. 1893, at 8 o'clock P. M., and the Council Chamber, No. 133 Park avenue, in the city of Plainfield, as the time and place for J. Frederick MacDonald, William M. Sandford and Edward C. Mulford, the commissioners appointed by the Common Council pursuant to the ordinance entitled "An ordinance to widen Madison avenue from the southeasterly side line of West Front street to the northwesterly line of the right of way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey," approved June 5, 1893, to meet. The street proposed to be widened and laid out is Madison avenue from the southeasterly side line of West Front st. to the northwesterly line of the right of way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey. The alterations proposed to be made are to widen said Madison so that the same shall be of the uniform width of twenty-five feet on each side of the centre line thereof, which centre line is described in said ordinance and shown on map on file in the office of said City Clerk entitled "Assessment map for the widening of Madison avenue from West Front street to the Central Railroad of New Jersey, city of Plainfield, N. J., dated 1893, made by [illegible] Dunham, civil engineer."

The lands and real estate intended to be taken for such purpose are all that come within twenty-five feet of either side of said centre line between the southeasterly side line of West Front street, and the northwesterly line of the right of way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey, as shown by said map and said ordinance, to which reference is hereby made for more detailed description.

By order of the Common Council.

F. W. RUNYON, City Clerk.

SUMMER FOOTWEAR.

Russet Leather in the Van of Light-Colored Shoes.

The Most Comfortable Walking Boot for Women—The New Ubiquitous Tip Soon to Make Its Exit—The Latest in Buckles.

This year, our Columbian year, has given fresh impetus, if any were needed, to tan or russet leather for footwear. It was a happy thought which brought this serviceable color into use, and it needed no raison d'etre better than its great practicability and perfect adaptability for both country and town. It was introduced, however, like many another most excellent and sensible thing has been, as a fad, and one that it was almost expected would pass away with the heat and dust of a summer or two. But it seems destined to a place all the year round as a comfortable walking boot suitable for seaside and mountain wear, and none the less appropriate for young ladies who enjoy a brisk walk through the park and over the country roads when the brown leaves rustle and the air is keen with frost.

Just now, I am told, every girl who orders a pair of "Bluchers" wants them made a little easy so that they shall be perfectly comfortable for the Chicago fair, for who goes to the fair must do a good deal of walking and standing under any circumstances. From observation it is foretold that a Chicago crowd will be a russet-footed crowd, and the few who are improvident enough to forget the task of keeping black leather in any appearance of neatness will learn a thing or two.

While in the making of russet boots every point of nicety is considered that obtains in dress boots there is one point of difference that must not be overlooked—your russet boots must lace up the front, and may not button at the side, as do your patent leathers or your French calf walking boots. Russia leather is the correct article, and it is so soft and pliable, taking the finish and keeping it so well, even improving in color as it is worn, that it takes immediate precedence over other leathers for russet boots and shoes.

The "Blucher" is a recent and comfortable cut for a boot and calls for rather a low heel with sole adapted to the needs of a pedestrian of more or less ambition. A little more dressy, perhaps, is the regular walking boot, cut with a straight foxing. With neat tips and Piccadilly toes they are about as natty as anything in shoe leather could be.

Here is a tip, by the way, on shoe tips. Women are just the least bit weary of choosing between a pointed tip and straight tip on their boots and shoes, and the next thing we know there will be no tips at all. We shall probably see evidence of this as the summer grows old.

White shoes for country and seaside are more in favor than ever this season, and with the pretty, thin stuffs composing many of the summer gowns they certainly are a dainty innovation, bringing with them a necessity for snowy white hosiery. White canvas, such a favorite material for these shoes last year, is still much in use and makes a very neat and pretty shoe; white suede is the newest thing, and is pointed off in white patent leather, the white suede itself, or the favorite tan. Red morocco for house and piazza wear has lost none of its former prestige, and in its destined places will be more worn than ever with white dresses.

A very pretty slipper, quite the newest cut I have, is called the "Csarina." It is made in Russia leather and a gray glace kid for summer use, and is specially pretty for carriage dress. It has a double strap over the instep, which adds both to its appearance and its comfort. The glace kid in all colors is finding much favor for evening wear, and the gray glace for afternoon and carriage wear is the last thought for the summer season.

CORRECT BUCKLES.

As for low shoes and ties, it goes almost without saying that the russet are the things for general summer wear, and they may no longer be considered as an after thought or mere accessories to one's stock of shoes. They belong to the important necessities, both for style and comfort, and to mark the fact that they have come to stay one can now buy brown rubbers to match one's brown shoes or boots. They are just out.—N. Y. Herald.

Chief Clerk—Here's an order for a bill of goods from a western man whose name I can't find in the books, but I guess he's all right. He says he'll pay for them next "round up."

Head of Firm—Huh! These cattle men are just as likely to lose money as to make it.

Chief Clerk—This isn't a cattle man. He's an undertaker.—N. Y. Weekly.

Might Both Have to Wait.

"I am determined not to marry until I can find a lady who, as my wife, will make a good impression in society."

"That's all very well, but supposing the lady whom you select is equally determined not to marry until she finds a man who possesses the same qualifications?"—Boston Globe.

And They Don't Think It's Absurd.

He (the bridegroom at the world's fair)—Do you want to go to the Art building, dear?

She (the bride)—Do you?

He—I do, if you do.

She—If you do I do, dear.

He—Just as you say.

She—Do, dear, take your choice.

He—Well, I don't want to unless you want to.

She—I don't want to unless you want to. (With solicitude.) Do you want to?

He—If you want to, dearest.

She (timidly)—Well, let's go.

He—Are you sure you want to go?

She—If you are.

He (timidly)—Well, let's go.

[Exeunt absent-mindedly toward the stock pavilion.]—Chicago Record.

Tit for Tat.

"What have we here?" asked the czar, as his private chamberlain wheeled into the room a barrow-load of documents.

"Your imperial majesty," replied the chamberlain, "these are petitions from America protesting against the expulsion of the Jews from your dominions."

"Indeed? Are they written on one side or on both?"

"On one side, sire."

"Good! We can utilize the other side by getting up Russian petitions against the deportation of the Chinese from America."—Harper's Bazar.

A Fractious Fluid.

Small Son—It run right out all by its own self, quick as the bottle upset. —Good News.

Ailments of Women.

It will entirely cure the worst forms of Female Complaints, all Ovarian troubles, Inflammation and Ulceration, Falling and Displacements, of the Womb, and consequent Spinal Weakness, and is peculiarly adapted to the Change of Life. Every time it will cure

Backache.

It has cured more cases of Leucorrhœa than any remedy the world has ever known. It is almost infallible in such cases. It dissolves and expels Tumors from the Uterus in an early stage of development, and checks any tendency to cancerous humors. That causing pain, weight, and backache, is instantly relieved and permanently cured by its use. Under all circumstances it acts in harmony with the laws that govern the female system, and is as harmless as water. It removes

Irregularity,

Suppressed or Painful Menstruations, Weakness of the Stomach, Indigestion, Bloating, Flooding, Nervous Prostration, Headache, General Debility. Also

Dizziness, Faintness,

Extreme Lassitude, "don't care" and "want to be left alone" feeling, excitability, irritability, nervousness, sleeplessness, flatulency, melancholy, or the "blues," and backache. These are sure indications of Female Weakness, some derangement of the Uterus, or

Womb Troubles.

The whole story, however, is told in an illustrated book entitled "Guide to Health," by Mrs. Pinkham. It contains over 90 pages of most important information, which every woman, married or single, should know about herself. Send 2 two-cent stamps for it. For

NO USE FOR THE REDS

An Anarchist Meeting Raided by the Police.

ALL SORTS OF WILD SPEECHES

Frenzied Orators Urge Defiance to the Police and Run at the Appearance of Ten Officers—Disorderly Meetings Will be Rigidly Suppressed.

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—Capt. Jacob Seibert of the Union Market Station took a hand in the labor troubles on the East side yesterday.

It was at a meeting in the synagogue at 12 Clinton street. The meeting had been in progress for an hour or more, and Emma Goldman was expected to make one of her most fiery speeches.

Her friend, Lena Zeiger, had been on the platform. She had advised the 200 men in the room to take bread if they wanted it and destroy everything that stood in their way, so that they could enjoy themselves.

The crowd was composed of the same mob that made the trouble at Walhalla and Covenant halls. It was the crowd that had been making all the trouble from the first, and under the guise of being peaceful workingmen they had secured permission from the trustees of the synagogue to hold a meeting there.

Capt. Seibert was informed of the meeting and also of its character. He sent a man to the meeting who could understand what the speakers were saying and on his report ordered out ten policeman with roundsman Furdung at their head. The captain preceded to the synagogue, where the policemen interpreted to him what was being said.

A man named Bodansky mounted a platform. He began as usual by denouncing the newspapers. He worked himself into a frenzy, and denounced everything and everybody from the President down to the most humble officeholder. He shrieked that the men before him should resist the police and should not allow them to interfere with them. He said the police would not dare attack them if they acted as they should.

"The police dare not come in here," he shouted. "If they show themselves in here the scenes at Walhalla Hall will be repeated."

It was just as he said that much that a Roundsman appeared with ten men. The Captain told them to clear the hall. They marched to the front and began operations. It was the liviliest incident that has occurred since the trouble on the East Side began. The men tore through the doorways, leaped through the windows and tore the clothes from each other in their efforts to get out. The police plied their clubs vigorously. One man got stuck in a furnace and another got stuck back of it endeavoring to reach the street, and broke several chairs. Others leaped over benches and fell between them. They shrieked and howled and the man who had been denouncing the police tried to find a way into the cellar. In less than two minutes there was no one left in the room with the exception of the reporters and a policeman.

A secret meeting of Anarchists was held at 11 Pike street last night. An excited crowd filled the hall and the steps in front of the building, but there was no disturbance.

At 91 Delancy street the relief committee of the United Hebrew Trades was held. Resolutions to appeal for assistance to the press and the merchants were passed.

A movement of saloonkeepers is on foot to give free lunches and beer to the unemployed.

Farmer's Alliance.

MOUNT GRETNA, Pa., Aug. 24.—The largest crowd since the opening of the National Encampment of the Farmers' Alliance assembled at Mount Gretna Park yesterday. Among the prominent arrivals were General James B. Weaver, of Iowa, late Populist candidate for President, and Col. D. P. Duncan, of Columbia, S. C., Secretary of the National Farmers' Alliance. Three thousand people, mostly farmers, and their wives, assembled in the main auditorium to hear W. M. Benninger, of Walnutport, Pa., advocate the free coinage of silver, in the Pennsylvania Dutch language. He was followed by J. M. Thompson, of Indiana county, Pa., State Lecturer of the Pennsylvania Farmers' Alliance.

An Indiana Outrage.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Aug. 24.—A special from Columbus, Ind., says: Twelve miles back on the hills, near Waymansville, Monday night, eight men with faces blackened, went to the residence of Andy Schrader and covered him with revolvers, then part held him and whipped him with hickory switces, while others pulled his wife out doors and whipped her in a horrible manner, leaving her bleeding from head to foot. She claims to have recognized three of the parties as her neighbors. Schrader and his wife are respectable but their domestic relations are not very pleasant.

Overrun With Tramps.

FORT PLAIN, N. Y., Aug. 24.—The country is overrun with tramps and they are committing all manner of depredations. They steal from the farmers and the latter are afraid to refuse them food, fearing that they might burn their buildings. Many of the tramps say they are enroute for the hay fields. Sheriff Liddell of Montgomery county has just set the prisoners at the jail at work breaking stone and now the tramps steer clear of the county seat at Fonda.

Killed by a Buzz-Saw.

DUNCANNON, Pa., Aug. 24.—While Nathaniel Fromm was working near a circular saw yesterday he fell on to the rapidly revolving piece of machinery which ploughed into his brain. He lived almost two hours after the accident. He was a well known timber man.

Why He Disappeared.

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—The doubt surrounding the cause of the disappearance of William P. Wentworth, the Victoria Hotel's bookkeeper, was dispelled yesterday by his arrest on a charge of stealing $28,750 of funds belonging to the hotel.

Yellow Fever at Brunswick.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—Surgeon General Wyman, of the Marine Hospital Service yerterday received a telegram from Surgeon Hatton, at Brunswick, Ga., stating that a third case of yellow fever had developed there.

Corinthian Race Postponed.

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 24.—The Pilgrim was towed out of the harbor yesterday morning. The Corinthian race is off until later this month.

UNCLE SAM AS A BANKER.

People Deposit Money by Purchasing Money Orders.

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—Now that the savings banks are requiring 30 and 60 days' notice and the national banks hesitate to answer the call for currency, a great many persons are using the postoffice as the depository of their moneys. They get money orders for anything up to $100, payable to themselves. Their money is safe in Uncle Sam's hands as long as they may choose to leave it and they can draw it out in cash.

Superintendent Elliot, of the Money Order Division of the General Postoffice, said to-day that business in the Money Order Department for the month of July had been lighter than for the same month of 1892, a fact readily traceable to hard times. But business this month has picked up amazingly and August of 1893 will probably show an increase over the same month last year. This is accounted for by the fact that hundreds of persons who have their savings out of the banks and who have no safe in which to keep the money have put it in the hands of the Government for safe keeping.

HEAVY STORM.

Serious Damage at Long Branch and Along the Coast.

LONG BRANCH, N. J., Aug. 24.—The rain, wind and the high surf along the coast last night will cause damage to property.

The surf is very high, the waves washing over the board walk and bulkheads into the driveway.

Guards are stationed along the entire coast on the lookout for wrecks.

The sea is the highest since last winter. There are many sightseers gathered along the beach.

PARKHURST DEFEATED.

The Charges Against Police Captain Devery Dismissed.

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—The report on Dr Parkhurst's arraignment of Captain Devery, of the Eleventh Precinct, was received yesterday from Inspectors Williams and McEvoy and Acting Superintendent Conlin.

They find the charges are unfounded and that the precinct is under proper surveillance.

The report was filed and a copy was ordered to be sent to Dr. Parkhurst's society.

Karamania Passengers at Buffalo.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 24.—Twenty-eight Italians arrived here yesterday over the New York Central. They were all immigrants who had come over from Italy on the steamship Karamania, whose passengers have been kept in quarantine at New York on account of some deaths from cholera on the boat. When the train came in, the cars carrying the Italians were switched and one door was locked on each, so that egress could be had from one end only. One person was let out at a time. Then both he and his bill of health was inspected. Their physical condition was good and as all of them have places to live in this city none of them was detained.

An Engaging Young Man.

LONG ISLAND CITY, L. I., Aug. 24.—Miss Margaret Burns, of 346 West Fifty-second street, caused the arrest last night of John Cahill, 23 years old, of 73 Borden avenue, charging him with grand larceny. She alleges that they were to be married August 18th, and that she gave him $40 for a suit of wedding clothes, for himself, and a wedding ring. She claims that instead of keeping his promise, he married Mrs. Collins, a young widow, with the ring she bought for her own marriage, and in the clothes purchased with the money she furnished. Cahill denies having promised to marry Miss Burns.

No Wheat to Spare.

TOPEKA, Kan., Aug. 24.—Last week the Railroad Commissioners sent out a general appeal to the farmers of the State asking for loans of seed wheat for destitute farmers of western counties. Only two responses have been received, one from Dickinson and the other from Cawley. Both declined to give any wheat, the former because the crops were poor, and the latter because the Cherokee strip settlers will need all the spare wheat.

Chicago's Unemployed.

CHICAGO, Aug. 24.—About 450 unemployed men marched to the City hall yesterday and lined up in an orderly manner on the west side of the city building. A delegation waited upon the mayor's private secretary and presented a petition for work. They asked to see the mayor but when told his honor was not in retired in an orderly manner.

The Cotton Crop!

GALVESTON, Tex., Aug. 24.—Reports from every cotton-producing country in the United States have been received. It is evident that the present crop will fall fully 20 per cent. below that of last year. The long drought has injured both late and early cotton.

McLeod Not in B. & O.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 24.—A Baltimore & Ohio official said that the statement published in a New York paper that A. A. McLeod would be elected president of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad to succeed President Mayer was the veriest nonsense.

Is the Sarnia Lost?

MONTREAL, Aug. 24.—The Dominion liner Sarnia has been out 26 days. She sailed for Liverpool 26 days ago, but no news has been received from her. It is feared that something serious has happened the vessel.

Gamblers Indicted.

CHICAGO, Aug. 24.—A sensation was caused yesterday by a sudden wholesale indictment of gamblers. At the instance of State's Attorney Kern 87 indictments were found.

Comic Opera.

BOSTON, Aug. 24.—Fay Templeton has signed a contract with Geo. B. McLellan, manager of the Pauline Hall Opera company, to star in comic opera the coming season.

LEE MANTLE DENIED A SENATE SEAT

The Treasury Reports an Improved Financial Outlook—Bissell and the Letter Carriers—No Present Danger of Chinese Retaliation—Unnecessary Anxiety About the President's Health.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—The resolution offered by Mr. Peffer calling for information as to the violation of law by the National banks of Boston, New York and Philadelphia, in refusing to pay promptly and in currency the checks of depositors, came up early in yesterday's session and gave rise to an important and interesting discussion, which lasted until 2 p. m. At that time the morning hour expired and the resolution went on the calendar, where it cannot be reached again except in the regular order of business. After an argument by Mr. Hoar against the amendment offered by Mr. Butler to the National Bank Currency bill—for the repeal of the 10 per cent. tax on State bank notes—the report and resolution of the Committee on Privileges and Elections in favor of the right of Mr. Lee Mantle to a seat in the Senate under the appointment of the Governor of Montana was taken up, debated and decided in the negative. The vote was taken on the minority resolution declaring Mr. Mantle not entitled, and it was carried, 35 to 30. As Mr. Manderson had changed his vote in order to move to reconsider, the vote had really stood 34 to 31. The motion to reconsider was made and was pending when the Senate at 5:45 adjourned.

GETTING TIRED.

Members of the House Beginning to Feel the Effect of Long Hours.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—The session of the House yesterday was not without interest, but the members are beginning to feel the effect of long hours of labor and their attention to the speakers was rather listless. Indeed the only speech which roused them from their lethargy was that delivered by Mr. Cummings, of New York. He spoke for less than 20 minutes, but within that time he concentrated a defense of New York Democracy against the Democrats of the South. The other star speaker was Mr. Cannon, of Illinois, who made his re-debut in legislative halls. Against the opinions of a large majority of his Republican colleagues, he held, and held forcibly, that the repeal of the purchasing clause of the Sherman bill would be a mistake. He believed in standing by the Republican platform.

The debate was opened by Mr. C. W. Stone, of Pennsylvania, in favor of repeal, and his remarks were ably seconded by his colleague, Mr. Dalzell. Messrs. Ryan, Fitch and Covert, of New York, also spoke against free coinage.

Mr. Hatch, of Missouri, argued against the Wilson bill. Mr. Turner, of Georgia, favored the free coinage of silver, but at the highest ratio which had been proposed.

Mr. Coffee, of Wyoming, and Mr. Taylor, of Tennessee, both upheld the cause of silver and were reinforced by Mr. Maguire, of Colorado, and Mr. Bell, of Texas. Mr. Hicks, of Pennsylvania, closed the day's debate in favor of the repeal bill.

At the evening session other speeches were made.

HAWAIIAN AFFAIRS.

A Special Message Expected From the President to Congress.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—Secretary Gresham and Minister Blount had another long conference over Hawaiian affairs yesterday at the State Department. They entered into a practical dissection of Mr. Blount's several reports, Secretary Gresham asking fuller explanation of the various topics treated and Mr. Blount giving his views in a manner plainer than he was allowed by his instructions to assume in the preparation of his official documents. It is learned that at the conference Monday Mr. Blount was told by the Secretary, or that the two agreed, that there was no necessity for the Minister to go to Gray Gables for consultation with the President. The situation will be considered by Mr. Gresham and Mr. Blount until the return of Mr. Cleveland, with a view to facilitating a decision as to the recommendations of the Administration. From the speedy manner in which the matter was taken up after the return of Mr. Blount it is believed that the President will send to Congress a special message, giving his views on the subject of the relation the United States should bear to Hawaii before the present session comes to an end. It is said that the Administration has come to no conclusion with regard to the policy it will recommend.

BETTER TIMES.

The Financial Situation Throughout the Country Shows Improvement.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—Viewed from a Treasury standpoint, the general financial situation of the country shows improvement, slight perhaps, but it is believed permanent.

Bank failures have almost entirely ceased, banks that have suspended under the financial stringency are resuming business, gold which poured out of the country is returning, and a general feeling of confidence is being restored.

This changed condition was felt last week and has day by day increased.

Money is still scarce, but not so much so as it was.

During the time gold was being shipped to Europe the United States sustained a net loss of $63,000,000. This gold is now coming back, and it is estimated that already $25,000,000 have returned. This specie has found its way into the interior of the United States, much of it to Chicago, some of it now figures in the bank balances, but much of it was absorbed by American securities. To this is attributed to some extent the improvement in the general stock market.

Government revenues continue light, which shows that less money than usual is being sent abroad for foreign goods, which is also considered in the circumstances a good sign.

NEW POSTMASTERS.

Appointments in New York, Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—The total number of fourth-class postmasters appointed yesterday was 58, of which 23 were to fill vacancies caused by resignations and death.

Among the appointments were the following:

New Jersey—G. N. Harris, Baleville; W. W. Tunison, North Branon; Peter Zimmerman, Boston.

New York—S. P. Mason, Gilbert Mills; Elam Williams, Knox; Ezra Canfield, Lockwood; F. H. Smith, Milton; Mrs. P. D. Schmeck, Pekin; A. McGinnies, Ripley; Wm. Hinchliffe, Sinclairville.

Pennsylvania—Andrew Harter, Coburn; P. A. Barton, Delta; Thomas Brubaker, Etters; J. H. Richel, Farmers Mills; B. F. Leathers, Fleming; J. S. Venus, Glen Rock; Mrs. Emma Scotta, Hepburn; J. F. Morris, Latimore; P. S. Benford, Lavansville; C. McDermott, McDermott; Mrs. Ella R. Leathers, Mountain Eagle; W. C. Bailey, New Freedom; J. C. Smull, Rebersburgh; G. S. Bollinger, Spring Forge; John Irrgang, Wellsville; John Cole, Zion.

CLEVELAND'S HEALTH.

The President Needs Rest But Has No Organic Disease.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—Private Secretary Thurber when asked yesterday regarding the alarming report that the President was suffering from Bright's disease, unhesitatingly stated that there was absolutely no truth in the report and when asked as to his general health stated that there was nothing organic the matter with the President. When he left Washington it was under the advice of those who take a personal interest in his welfare, simply because he wanted the recuperation which his arduous duties of the past six months had made necessary, and to fit him to again assume the exacting care of his official position.

Mr. Thurber added that the rest the President needs is simply what any man, however vigorous, must require when overtaxed. Mr. Thurber received a letter only yesterday from the President in which he stated that he was rapidly gaining strength and vigor.

Polling the House.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—At a meeting yesterday of the executive committee of the anti-silver men the House the final figures were presented of the poll of the members upon the questions contained in the bills now pending. One of the members stated that if the friends of free coinage could concentrate their whole strength upon any one of the ratios the majority against it would be 3. But as this is concededly impracticable, there being some who will vote in favor of retaining the present ratio of 16 to 1, who will not support a change to 20 to 1, and some who will oppose 16 to 1 in a majority against either one will be upwards of 50. When it comes to the naked question of repeal or no repeal, as presented in the Wilson bill, the member stated that the majority in favor of its passage will be at least 75

His Place Wanted.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—H. C. Rogers, Pennsylvania, chief clerk of the Internal Revenue Bureau, Treasury Department, has been requested to resign. He is one of the oldest officials of the department and was deputy commissioner of Internal Revenue up to the last Democratic administration, when he was removed. In the succeeding Republican administration he was appointed to the position he now holds.

LETTER CARRIERS.

Postmaster-General Bissell on the Subject of Removals.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—The Postmaster General has been invited to attend the fourth annual convention of the National Association of Letter Carriers to be held at Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 19 to 22. Mr. Bissell will accept if his official duties will permit and if not will be represented by either the first assistant, Mr. Jones, or the newly appointed superintendent of free delivery, Mr. Meacher.

John F. Victory, of New York, the secretary of the organization, in tendering the invitation learned from the Postmaster General the fact that he is greatly displeased with the action of several postmasters who are striving to shift the responsibility for removals of letter carriers in their respective offices on his shoulders when in truth recommendations for dismissal were made based on serious charges in each instance. Mr. Bissell expressed himself in favor of a hearing being accorded to every carrier whose removal is recommended.

MAN OF IRON TO THE LAST

Bismarck Boldly Criticises the German Government.

DEATH OF DUKE OF SAXE-COBURG

The Coal Miners' Strike in England Believed to be Nearing Settlement—Naples Cab Drivers Strike and Serious Rioting Follows.

BERLIN, Aug. 24.—Prince Bismarck is still taking the waters at Kissingen. On Sunday last a party of seven hundred of his admirers from the Thuringia district in central Germany arrived at Kissingen for the purpose of paying their respects to the aged ex-Chancellor.

This party upon their arrival were joined by eight hundred of the people visiting Kissingen, and together they proceeded to the villa occupied by Prince Bismarck and presented an address to him.

In reply to this address Prince Bismarck dwelt strongly upon the subject of German unity. He said:

"Since 1871 we have been comparatively undisturbed by our French neighbors, whom Providence placed where they are for the purpose of keeping us awake. The days have long gone by when France regarded a campaign in Germany as a sort of pleasure excursion. France knows well enough now what we are made of. We must give up carping and cavilling at the present state of things, with the object of making new arrangements. I refer to the semi-official utterances directed toward the attainment of a 'Greater Prussia.' The National Liberals in 1848 had a cut and dried plan of this sort.

"In creating the unity of the Empire, I sought to preserve everything that was in any way compatible therewith. The enthusiastic demonstrations I have received in the German States, outside of Prussia, have proved that my policy was right."

COAL MINERS' STRIKE.

Indications that the Long Contest is Nearing a Settlement.

LONDON, Aug. 24.—There was an indication yesterday that the great strike of the coal miners that has now been on for nearly a month may be brought to an end. It will be recalled that at a conference between representatives of the Miners' Federation and the Mine Owners' Association, held in London in the latter part of July, the federation representatives declined to accept the reduction of 25 per cent. in their wages, notice of which had been given by the coal mine owners, and refused to arbitrate. Yesterday at a conference of delegates of the miners held in this city a resolution was adopted declaring that if the mine owners would withdraw the notice of reduction the striking miners would pledge themselves to return to work forthwith. The resolution further declared that the miners would ask for no advance in their wages until the selling prices of coal reach the level of those prevailing in 1890.

DUKE OF SAXE-COBURG DEAD.

The Duke of Edinburg Now Becomes a Reigning German Prince.

BERLIN, Aug. 24.—Duke Ernst, of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha, died yesterday at his castle at Reinhardsbrunn in Coburg. He was born June 21, 1818 and was the son of Duke Ernst I, of Saxe-Coburg-Saalfeld and of the Duchess Dorothea Louise, Princess Louise of Gotha-Altenburg. He married on May 3, 1842, Princess Alexandrine, daughter of the late Grand Duke Leopold of Baden, and succeeded to the throne of the Duchy on the death of his father, January 29, 1844. The Duke being childless the throne now falls to the Duke of Edinburgh, the second son of Queen Victoria and her late consort Prince Albert, who was the brother of Duke Ernst. The Duke of Edinburg thus becomes a reigning German Prince.

Naples Must Walk.

NAPLES, Aug. 24.—The cab-drivers of this city went on strike yesterday and tried to induce the drivers of other vehicles to join them. In their efforts to stop the running of trains and omnibuses they set fire to a kiosk and five cars near La Torretta. In the Piazza Depretis the strikers met and attacked a body of police. Five strikers and four officers were injured in the fight. On account of the rioting many shops were closed and the train and omnibus service was suspended. A detachment of cavalry now guards the company's yard.

Cholera in Europe.

VIENNA, Aug. 24.—In accordance with the regulations adopted by the Dresden Cholera Conference the Hungarian government has declared the cantons of Dombrad and Kisvarda, in the Szaboles district, virulently infected. The epidemic is spreading to new districts in Galicia. The mortality is over 80 per cent.

BERLIN, Aug. 24.—One man died of cholera in a hospital at Duisburg yesterday.

LONDON, Aug. 24.—Cholera continues to prevail in a mild form in Italy.

Said to be Illegal.

GUTHRIE, O. T., Aug. 24.—Leading land lawyers here say that Secretary Smith's registration requirements for strip settlers is illegal and advise settlers to pay no attention to it, but enter on the strip on the opening day and settle upon land in the usual way. The adding of booth registration to a settler's other qualifications is virtually changing the homestead law, something which neither the President nor the Secretary has the power to do.

A Mysterious Bottle.

CONEY ISLAND, N. Y., Aug. 24.—Last evening William Denning found a corked and sealed brandy bottle on Gravesend road. In the bottle was an envelope with the following written upon it: "Wm. Doty fishing club of Newark, N. J., disbanded with all on board, Aug. 7th, '93." The bottle was turned over to the police.

Poor Crops in Manitoba.

MONTREAL, Aug. 23.—Late reports from Manitoba are to the effect that the crops have been badly damaged by recent rains and two nights' severe frost. It is now said the yield will not be nearly as heavy as predicted.

Silver Mass Meeting.

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—Representatives Bland, Missouri; Bryan, Nebraska; Bailey, Texas; Davis, Kansas; Senator Daniel, Virginia, and others will address the silver mass meeting at Cooper Institute to-night.

Bishop McMahon's Funeral.

HARTFORD, Conn., Aug. 24.—The funeral of the late Bishop McMahon will be held to-day.

A BOLD THIEF.

He Tries to Sell Stolen Money on Wall Street.

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—Shortly after 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon a man walked into the office of Zimmerman & Forshay, the money brokers at 11 Wall street, and offered a lot of Cuban bank notes for sale. An hour before he appeared Zimmerman & Forshay had been asked by Cardenas & Coe, of 58 William street, to look out for such a party and if he appeared to hold him and notify the police.

Mr. Zimmerman at once recognized in his customer the man wanted by Cardenas & Coe, so he haggled over purchasing the bank notes until he could notify Police Sergeant Dunn in the Stock Exchange. Sergeant Dunn questioned the man a little and then took him to police headquarters.

It was stated that he had stolen a large amount of money in Cuban notes from J. Vallire, a Spaniard, now stopping at the Hotel Victoria.

'LONGSHOREMEN'S STRIKE.

A Row in Which Three Italians Are Injured.

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—Shortly after noon yesterday as a party of six Italians were leaving the wharf of the Clyde Line, pier 26, East river, where they had been working, they were attacked by a number of 'longshoremen who had congregated opposite the dock at an early hour and repeatedly threatened the gangs at work. In the general melee that followed several were wounded by the paving stones and clubs that flew through the air. Knives were freely used and three Italians were so badly hurt that an ambulance was sent for and they were taken to the Fourth Precinct Station where their wounds were dressed.

Flim-Flammed.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 24.—Edward Rider, farmer, living near Sherwood, Md., has just discovered that he was flim-flammed out of $3,000 two weeks ago. A well-dressed stranger negotiating for a piece of property took a drive with Rider and they were soon accosted by the inevitable "pal" of the would-be purchaser. First the stranger and Rider won $5,000 from the "pal." For the purpose of making a swell bet Rider drove to Towson and drew $3,000 from his bank. This money, along with what he had won ($10,000) was placed in a box. It was agreed that Rider should keep the box until evening while the first stranger held the key. Rider waited two weeks for the reappearance of his friends and then broke the lock. Instead of $14,000 he found a piece of wood nicely wrapped in paper.

Local Option in New York.

BUFFALO, N. Y. Aug. 24.—Justice Ward of the Supreme Court has handed down a decision sustaining the validity of the local option law of 1892. The proprietor of the Watkins House at Warsaw was refused a license by the Excise Commissioners, a majority of whom claimed they had been elected as no license commissioners and maintained they were carrying out the will of the people in refusing licenses. The applicant then appealed to the Supreme Court for an order to compel the commissioners to grant him a license. The application is denied, the court holding that the commissioners acted in good faith according to the law and not in any sense arbitrarily.

Sister Catherine Dead.

GALENA, Ill., Aug. 24.—Sister M. Catherine, 99 years old, died yesterday at the Dominican Convent at Sinsinawa Mound. With Mother Emily, present mother-general of the order, she founded the first Dominican community in this country at Sinsinawa forty years ago.

Half Fare for Pennsylvanians.

CHICAGO, Aug. 24.—The Pennsylvania railroad has secured the consent of all or nearly all competing lines to the making of half fare rates on all trains from Pennsylvania on September 7, the State day of Pennsylvania at the World's Fair.

To Shut Down Three Months.

DETROIT, Aug. 24.—The Michigan Peninsular car shops will by Saturday night be shut down for a period not exceeding three months.

Suspended Bank Soon to Resume.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 24.—The American National Bank, which suspended Aug. 10, will resume business in a short time.

Hamlin in Washington.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—Assistant Secretary Hamlin, who has been on a visit to President Cleveland, has returned to Washington.

CHINESE EXCLUSION.

The Celestial Government Shows No Disposition to Retaliate.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—Reports that the Chinese government has sent an ultimatum to the United States in regard to the Chinese Exclusion law are pronounced at the State Department to be without foundation. The Chinese government has made representations to the State Department through proper diplomatic channels as to what it considers should be done in the matter of the exclusion law, but no disposition to retaliate has been shown. In fact, the State Department has been informed that action by China will be held in abeyance until Congress has had a chance to take up the matter for consideration.

Lamont in New York.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—Secretary Lamont left the city yesterday for New York and will not be back before the middle of next week. While away it is probable that he will make a visit to Buzzard's Bay for the purpose of conferring with the President.

The Deadly Cigarette.

BETHLEHEM, Pa., Aug. 24.—After most excruciating suffering Thomas C. O'Brien, aged 19, an inveterate cigarette smoker, died yesterday. For ten years he had smoked two packages of cigarettes daily.

WEATHER INDICATIONS.

For New Jersey: Fair, Slightly Warmer; High Southwesterly Winds on Friday.

Many people will coincide with the following views, expressed by the New Brunswick Home News:

Somebody asks what is the need of putting "beloved husband" or "beloved wife" on tombstones and in funeral notes, and we join in the question. The beloved past ought to be one of the things that go without saying. And, by the way, what is the need of advertising one's grief by the use of mourning?

An interesting case of disinterested charity is noted by the Trenton True American. It is that of a woman in New York, whose landlord ejected her from his premises for non-payment of rent. A passer-by inquired the cause and upon being told said that he would not see a woman turned out of her home and that he would pay the rent. He tendered the landlord a $100 bill, and he took four months rent out of it and gave the philanthropist $52 in change and a receipt to the woman. A few minutes later the landlord discovered that the bill was a counterfeit, but the good Samaritan had made good his retreat.

THE SMITH PICNIC.

All the Smiths of creation have been invited to gather at Peapack farm next week Wednesday, for the annual gorgeous Smith picnic. Isaiah, James, Abraham and Oscar, officers of the Family, give assurance of the usual happy time. The usual freedom will be accorded to guests, and those attending will be permitted to bring their own provisions or go hungry, as they choose. At 2 in the afternoon speech-making will be begun. The Rev. Frank M. Kerr of Chester will be chief orator. A brass band from the metropolis will astonish the natives and send the colts on the farm scampering across lots. The Smiths are great people, and their picnic is a wonderful institution. As Shakespeare has it:

When I was young I heard a myth
That once there was a man called Smith,
And kings and princes flocked to see
This new and startling novelty.

But straightway rival Smiths arose
And started opposition shows,
Until the world is now too small
To comfortably hold them all.

Young Schermerhorn Ill.

Manager Charles Schermerhorn, of the Western Union Telegraph office, received word last night from Colonel Delafield, of New York, that his son Charles was very sick at Newberne, North Carolina, with malarial fever. Word was sent to the Colonel from Newberne saying that Charlie's parents should send for him at once.

Mr. Schermerhorn was able to secure George Tobin, who kindly consented to go after him. He left Jersey City last night at 6, on the Pennsylvania road, and will reach Newberne tonight at 6.

Charles has been superintendent of construction of the water-works which is being put in the Southern city. Col. Delafield is his chief.

The sick man and his escort are expected home by Saturday.

Robert Gotthell Ill.

Robert Gotthell, of West Front street, an employe at the Pond Machine Tool Works, has been on his vacation, for a short time past, which has been spent in New York State. He was taken suddenly ill, and it was thought best to take him to New York city, to his cousin's, Dr. Gotthell, on Fifty-third street, where he is now under treatment. Mr. Gotthell has been unwell for a long time, and went away thinking the change would do him good.

Excursion Postponed.

Because of the stormy weather, the excursion of the Odd Fellows to Lake Hopatcong was today postponed to Wednesday, Aug. 30, when it will be run under the same excellent conditions as were planned for today.

This is the first Plainfield excursion postponed this season.

—A man under the influence of liquor was seen on Front street yesterday afternoon with a sign on his back which read "The Ikies are the 400".

Things Worth Remembering.

When you feel a kind of goneness about the stomach it is a sign that your food does not sit well and that you are about to have a fit of indigestion.

When you begin to feel nervous and are unable to sit still comfortably; when your clothes suddenly seem to lose their fit and become too tight in places the fit of indigestion is surely upon you.

When this fit of indigestion is recreated from day to day it finally resolves itself into dyspepsia.

Remember that three to ten of BRANDRETH PILLS will cure the worst case of indigestion or dyspepsia, or both, and that a regular course of them, say two every night for a week or ten days, will act as a preventive of either complaint.

FOUND HIS LUCK IN PLAINFIELD.

THROUGH A VISIT HERE, J. S. HUFF ACQUIRES A MILLION.

At a Methodist Revival, He Met a Wealthy Invalid Whom He Nursed So Faithfully as to Inherit All of the Grateful Man's Estate—Wants to Divide with a Plainfield Friend.

The story of the luck of John S. Huff of Rahway sounds like a fairy tale, but it is apparently founded on fact. Huff is a bachelor, 43 years old, and all his life has been a good Methodist. Two years ago he attended a religious meeting in Plainfield with his friend, William Stewart.

Charles Easthoff, a young California millionaire who was traveling around the country, met him here, and took quite a fancy to him. When Easthoff became ill some time afterwards, Huff nursed him until he got well again. Easthoff developed a strong friendship for Huff and told him he would leave him all his money when he died.

The young millionaire died eighteen months ago, and the other day Huff, so the story goes, was informed that he had fallen heir to his fortune, which is variously estimated at between $800,000 and $1,000,000. Huff has been exceedingly reticent about his windfall, and at first did not even tell his sister, with whom he lives.

Recently Huff has declared his intention of dividing the windfall with his friend Stewart. Huff was formerly a doctor's clerk. The fortune left by Easthoff is said to consist of real estate in New York, Philadelphia and San Francisco, and stocks and bonds. Huff expects to go to California shortly to wind up the estate.

AN ATTACK OF HYSTERIA.

Extreme Nervousness Causes These Shrieks of Murder at Midnight.

People on North avenue were startled last night an hour or so before midnight by cries coming from McVey's restaurant. A number of people were in the restaurant at that time, and more came in from the street attracted by the unusual noise. The disturbance was caused by one of the waitresses, who had an attack of hysteria caused by nervous strain.

Mr. McVey said this morning that the girl came with her sister a short time ago from Oneida, N. Y. The girls had lost their mother shortly before they left for Plainfield, which made them orphans. They obtained positions in the restaurant soon after coming here. It was through fear of losing her position on account of the recent transfer of the establishment, and her low state of mind caused by her mother's death, that caused the hysterical attack.

Dr. Rushmore was summoned, and worked over the girl for a long time before he could quiet her, but succeeded in getting her to sleep in early morning.

The unfortunate girl had another attack this forenoon, and later was taken in a carriage to the home of her brother-in-law, 136 South Second street.

AT WAR WITH THE BOYS.

Old Mr. VanArsdale Says They Are a Howling Nuisance, But the Neighbors Say the Old Man's Worse.

P. P. VanArsdale, of Front street and Elm place, is having much trouble with the boys of his neighborhood. He says they torment him and his wife, trespass on his yard, and steal tomatoes from his garden.

Yesterday the lads accidentally threw their base-ball into his yard. He captured it and would not give it up, in spite of their pleadings. Then they gathered about his gate and sang "After the ball is over the fence!" to their own snickering delight and to the old man's great indignation. He threatened them all with arrest, and they howled derisively, so he says he will take the law on them certain sure. The parents of the boys are full of fight, and claim their innocent sons are being persecuted by an "offensive and fussy codger". So one of them expresses it.

The parents of the alleged offenders are much incensed against Mr. VanArsdale, and say they will turn the tables by prosecuting him for striking and choking the boys, and for throwing shovels, clubs and hot water at them.

STRUCK BY A RUNAWAY PLANK.

Singular Accident to a Workman in Rheaume's Saw Mill.

Lewis Miller, of Short Hills, an employe of L. A. Rheaume, lumber dealer, on Watchung avenue, was working in the saw mill this forenoon, putting 16-foot planks in the gang saw, when one of the boards caught fast and was thrown backwards, striking Mr. Miller on the left arm and hip. The plank then shot across Fourth street, striking the curb stone on the opposite side. A woman happened to be walking along the street at that point was much frightened, and fell over on the embankment in trying to get out of the way. Mr. Miller was taken to his home in a carriage.

Sewed Up a Gash in His Face.

John Voehl, a young son of Jacob Voehl, has been visiting friends at Bayonne for a few days. Tuesday afternoon, with some other boys, he went out rowing. They were throwing their oars rather lively, when one of them struck Johnny in the face, making an ugly gash. He came home yesterday, and the attending physician was obliged to take three stitches in the cut.

The American Catarrh Cure

Is the result of twenty-six years' study and treatment of the disease. One bottle convinces the most skeptical. It is always ready for use, needing neither douche nor atomizer. It restores the hearing, cures the hawking cough and expectorating, removes the headache and nose bleeding, increases the appetite, produces sound sleep, invigorates the whole system and increases the vitality. Prepared only by W. B. Jones, M. D., No. 1336 South Eighth street, Philadelphia. For sale by I. W. Randolph, 21 West Front street. Price $1.

BIG WIND IN TOWN.

A Hurricane Knocks Over Trees and Alarms Inhabitants.

Plainfield people did n't sleep well last night, for everything was rocking violently in a big wind.

In fact, a regular hurricane kept blowing all night, and shade trees suffered all over town.

A huge tree on the sidewalk at the line of Charles Janson's and Samuel Wilbur's property was completely torn out by the roots.

Branches were torn off all along Putnam avenue and Broadway.

Chimneys on North avenue near Berckman street were blown over.

The Plainfield avenue billboard, 50 feet long, was wrecked, and trees were blown down thereabouts.

The big shade tree that the Seventh-Day Baptists worked so hard to save during the building improvements was ruined, and two trees below it fell before the blast.

The top of a tree in front of the City Hotel was blown off.

Alex. Mallinson mourns the loss of a grape arbor.

A tree was spoiled at Park avenue and Fifth street.

The roof of the base-ball grand-stand was blown off.

A large tree in front of the Dreier property at the corner of Front and New streets was blown over.

The fire-alarm circuit was broken by a tree blowing down and breaking the wire at Netherwood avenue midway between the railroad and Front street. It was repaired after a weary search, and later another break occurred.

French's millrace overflowed its banks, and the cellar of the tenement house back of the mill was flooded.

The wind is still howling heavily this afternoon.

The storm did great damage all along the coast and through the State.

Rahway was in a most deplorable state this morning. The loss to crops and buildings will easily reach $15,000. In the height of the storm the old Second Methodist church was set on fire and completely gutted, causing an additional loss of $5,000.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Mrs. Elmore D. Moffett is home again from a delightful visit to Ocean Grove.

Mrs. B. O. Bowers and family are expected home tomorrow from Asbury Park.

Miss Fanny Lorton, of Philadelphia, is visiting Miss Ida Lorton, of West Fifth street.

Misses Cora and Nellie King, of Newark, are visiting friends and relatives in Plainfield and the borough.

A. H. King acquired control of The Albion yesterday, as first exclusively announced in these columns.

Misses Edith and Ursula Syers, of New York, are visiting their sister, Mrs. C. S. Meyers, of Kensington avenue.

The Misses Ella and Kittie Mullen, of West Fifth street, have returned from a two weeks visit to Asbury Park.

Because of delay in the arrival of Clarkson M. Hammeal's body, the funeral is postponed to Sunday afternoon at 2:30.

It is Milkman Dayton Mellick, of Mt. Pleasant, who has the new customer, instead of George Mellick as misreported.

T. S. Thorn is now President of the Carpenters and Joiners Local Union, No. 155, of Plainfield; and P. J. Bogert is Secretary.

Julia Seymour, wife of E. Jaffray Phillips, died this morning at her home in Netherwood. The funeral will be private, with interment in Greenville.

Mr. and Mrs. William O'Connor, who have been spending their honeymoon at Worcester, Mass., have returned to Plainfield, and will take up their residence on Liberty street, near Fifth.

Charles H. Hall, one of H. P. Reynolds's valued staff, has returned from his two weeks vacation trip. He spent one week at his old home, Fishkill on the Hudson, and one week at the great White City.

Sarah F., widow of the late Phineas F. Randolph, died yesterday in her eighty-third year. The funeral will be from the home of her son-in-law, David S Pope, 417 East Sixth street, Sunday afternoon at 3.

Mrs. Carrie Merritt, of Newark, formerly Miss Carrie Sutton of Plainfield, was re-married in New York city, August 21, by the Rev. McKendree Shaw, and is now Mrs. Harry Wilson of New York. The bride was a sister of the late Levi Sutton of Plainfield.

In Memory of Their Late Brother John C. Manchester.

At a regular meeting of Howell Division, No. 97, Sons of Temperance, held August 22, the following resolution was adopted:

WHEREAS, Though recently called to mourn the loss of a worthy Brother, John C. Manchester, by death, our hearts are again made sad, in the fact that our worthy associate, Sister P. Manchester is called upon to mourn the loss of her husband and companion.

Resolved, That we hereby extend to our worthy officer and sister, and her family, our heartfelt sympathies in this sad affliction and bereavement.

Resolved, That these resolutions be spread upon the minutes and that a copy be sent to the family of the deceased.

The Choicest Cafe in Town.

Patrons of Hotel Grenada welcomed back H. D. VanLiew yesterday. Mr. VanLiew has for eighteen years, with but slight recent interruption, worked for the Miller family, first at the City Hotel, then at Laing's, then at the Grenada opening. Mr. VanLiew is a most careful and capable worker, and is just the man to have charge of the Grenada Cafe, which is his new position. Under his direction, meals are served in most excellent style, the dishes are dainty and tempting, and a choice assortment and plenteous abundance are found on the bill of fare. The Grenada Cafe and Restaurant today leads all others in Plainfield.

SUN-LIGHT and FRESH AIR are THE BEST DISINFECTANTS, of course; but you can't apply them in every situation. What next? Well, that depends. For damp cellars use Quicklime, plenty of it. For vaults and cesspools use COPPERAS; cheap stuff; we sell it by the pound or hundred-weight—instructions thrown in. For kitchen sinks, for water-closets, for house plumbing, for the sick room, to deodorize discharges, to purify the air and to prevent contagion, use REYNOLDS'S ODORLESS DISINFECTANT. Made and sold for fifteen years at

Reynolds's Pharmacy, Corner Park and North Avenues.

A Few Honest Suggestions Which Should Be Appreciated,
All tooth powders practically contain the same ingredients, namely, chalk, castile soap, etc., with some flavoring. We use in the manufacture of Royal Tooth Powder the best English prepared chalk, the finest English Castile soap, delicately flavored. Your dentist will tell you these substances are perfectly harmless and accomplish all that is to be expected from a tooth powder. A full 2-ounce package of this unexcelled article (same as is usually sold for 25c. under other names, but which we retail for 10c) will be given with each $1 purchase and upwards. People of correct ideas will appreciate this offer, but some will say, "We never use tooth powder." Those who do use it, however, can be distinguished from those who don't, as the rose can be distinguished from the dandelion. This will seem cruel to some, but duty compels us to speak plainly. The "Royal" is being received everywhere, and jobbers compliment us with their duplicate orders. A trial of Royal Tooth Powder will delight you. J. C. ALLEN, Plainfield, N. J. 4-12 tf

"BETTER BE WISE THAN WEALTHY"

COUNTY ROADS TO BE EXTENDED.

CONTRACTORS BID FOR THE PROPOSED NEW WORK.

One Bidder Asks That the County Pay in Gold Coin—The Proposals Received and the Awarding of Contracts Deferred—This Is for Those Highways Designed to Develop Real Estate Speculation at the Expense of the Taxpayers.

The meeting of the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders Tuesday afternoon was for the purpose of receiving the proposals for the construction of four new county roads, and the space outside the circle of desks was filled with contractors and their representatives, among them ex-Mayor Chamberlain of Rahway and John F. Shandley.

Several proposals for each of the proposed improvements were received and held by Director Sauer until the resolutions of the Board called for the Clerk to open them.

The roads to be improved are as follows:

Springfield avenue, from Morris avenue in the township of Springfield to the Essex county line.

Newark avenue, from the easterly curb line of Broad street Elizabeth to the Essex county line.

Morris avenue, from the Essex county line at Hobart's Gap, through Summit township, to the Passaic River.

Edgar road, from Grove street in Elizabeth to Stiles street in Linden.

The opening of these bids was the only matter which engaged the Board's attention, excepting one or two matters of a routine character.

The committee appointed to examine the Central avenue bridge in Rahway, reported that the bridge was in a dangerous condition, and recommended that it be repaired at a cost not to exceed $800. The recommendation was adopted.

The bids were referred to the Committee of the Whole, and they were considered in executive session. When the Board reconvened no contracts were awarded, but a resolution was adopted deferring action until the next meeting.

One of the incidents of the reading of the proposals was some amusement over the statement of Messrs. Wright & Lindsay of Orange in their bids. They were evidently determined to be on the safe side in these times of financial depression. Their rates were higher than most of their competitors', and their condition for payment demanded that it be in gold coin or its equivalent.

The total amounts of the several bids, as figured by County Engineer Quien, are as follows:

Morris avenue—Hillpott & Ayers, $15,007.20; Rendlinger & Neary, $16,317.40; Wright & Lindsay, $18,682; T. McManus, $27,098; H. Lighthipe, $21,576.50; James Carroll, $16,264.40

Springfield avenue—Hillpott & Ayers, $15,749.20; Rendlinger & Neary, $17,929.40; Wright & Lindsay, $20,371.80; Wm. Chamberlain, $15,449.67; T. McManus, $29,399; H. Lighthipe, $19,562.30; James Carroll, $17,137.20.

SIMMONDS KNOCKED OUT.

He Hasn't Even a Chance Left for a Consolation Prize.

Albert Simmonds suffered defeat in the All Comers tennis tournament at Newport, yesterday, at the hands of C. R. Budlong, in the second round. Budlong won the match easily by the score of 6–2, 6–0, 6–2. While Budlong is recognized as a very good player, he is by no means one of the cracks, and the ease with which he defeated Simmonds shows the difference between what is considered a fine game among the local clubs and the game that wins at Newport. On account of his reaching the second round, Simmonds is deprived of competing for the consolation prize, and he will spend the rest of his time at Newport as an interested spectator.

Japanese Concert, Labor Day.

A Japanese promenade concert will be given in T. A. B. Hall, West Fourth street, Monday evening, Labor Day, Sept. 4, for the benefit of the Emmanuel Baptist church, to aid them in erecting a chapel on their new grounds. Celestial costumes will be worn. Good music, ice-cream, fruit and other refreshments will be among the attractions. The committee, as heretofore, will spare no pains to make the entertainment enjoyable to all. The committee of arrangements is composed of: Miss Lulu Henderson, Miss Eleanor Oliver, Miss Hattie Bailey, Miss Marcella Weaver, Mrs. E. B. Maynard, Mrs. J. W. Mitchell, Mrs. Mary Thomas, Mrs. Jennie Bushrod, Mrs. George Wilson, E. B. Maynard, Fred Dunham, R. Connett, Wm. Dempson, A. Wyckoff, Chas. Barber, Jas. Connett, I. Van Pelt, and J. W. Mitchell, pastor.

The Prettiest Baby in Plainfield.

There is a chance for some one of the many pretty babies in this city to have a present of $50, as that sum is offered for the first prize, with smaller yet liberal amounts for other prizes, to the prettiest babies who have used lactated food; full particulars forwarded free by Wells, Richardson & Co., Burlington, Vt., sole proprietors of lactated food, known in hundreds of homes as "the food that saves babies' lives." This food should be used by every baby during the dangerous summer months.

Crescent Graduates.

Turner accepted six fielding chances for Philadelphia, without an error, yesterday, and made a hit. Keeler made his reappearance on the Brooklyns, but did n't get a single fielding chance. He made two sacrifice hits, however, which helped materially in winning the game.

I suffered from a severe cold in my head for months and could get no relief. Was advised to use Ely's Cream Balm. It has worked like magic in its cure. I am free from my cold after using the Balm one week, and I believe it is the best remedy known.—Samuel J. Harris, wholesale grocer, 119 Front st., New York.

OFFERED $50 DAMAGES.

But Frank Vail Insists It Will Take $200 to Recompense Him.

About two months ago Frank W. Vail, a hostler at the Metropolitan Stables on North avenue, was driving a rig home from New Brunswick. It was late in the evening, and when near the residence of the Rev. J. B. Cleaver, at Bound Brook, the horse and wagon came in contact with a live telephone wire, which was hanging across the street.

Mr. Vail claims that he received a shock, the wire striking him in the neck, and that the horse also felt the current. Mr. Vail placed the matter in the hands of Lawyer George DeMeza, who demanded damages for his client. Last Friday a letter was received from the company stating that they would settle for $50. Mr. Vail wants $200 as a recompense for damages, and has notified the company to that effect. He has heard nothing from them since.

Wm. McCready, of North Plainfield, accompanied Mr. Vail, and also claims damages.

WESTFIELD WARBLINGS.

Damage by Rain, and Cattle in the Corn.

The fire-alarm bell will arrive at Westfield this week. A tower is to be erected to hold it back of the fire department buildings on North avenue.

It took four men pumping all day with the fire engine to clear the cellar under the Schmitts Building, on Broad street, of the water that ran into it from a single rainstorm.

Considerable damage was done by the rain to the roads about Westfield that had lately repaired. Altogether about 1,000 feet of surfacing was washed off and will have to be renewed.

Suit has been begun before Judge Collins wherein John Conly, of Springfield, seeks damages of Lewis Keller, of the same place, for mischief done to corn by cattle belonging to the latter and for personal injury done to Conly by a vicious bull when he went to drive the cattle from the corn. The damage is set at $200.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—The elegant new signboards at Charles Smith's saloon are the largest and showiest in town.

—Fred S. Dunn has invented a cute contrivance in an electric cigar lighter. There's a fortune in it.

—Terrill & Cole have received word from Chicago that the body of Clark Hammeal was sent last night at 6.

Resolutions of Respect to the Late Hiram K. Voorhees.

At a regular meeting of Howell, Division, Sons of Temperance, held August 22, the following resolutions were adopted:

WHEREAS, It has pleased our Heavenly Father to remove from us by death our esteemed and respected brother, Hiram K. Voorhees, be it therefore

Resolved, That in the death of our late brother we do sincerely mourn for one who was in every way worthy of our esteem and respect, and may his Christian deportment urge us to do more for the cause which we represent, and may his zeal for the good of mankind be written on our hearts that we may learn to emulate them.

Resolved, That we extend to the family of our deceased brother our sympathy in this sad bereavement, also that these resolutions be spread upon our minutes, and that a copy of the same be sent to the family.

Resolved, That in token of our esteem we drape our charter for a period of thirty days.

TOOK PLAINFIELD FOR HEAVEN.

"NO SODA ON SUNDAY" DISTRESSES CYCLING VISITORS.

Chatty Story of Their Trip Over the County Roads—How Sad They Felt Over Their Unsatisfied Thirst, Can Be Judged from the Distressing Quality of Their Verse.

(From The Outlook, Monthly Bulletin of the Jersey City Athletic Club.)

It is to be regretted that our members do not ride together more, so that our strength can be more apparent. But, as has been said so often before, runs are unpopular, the riders who enter the sport with the idea of getting the most pleasure from it preferring to ride in parties of from two to four. Club runs of short distances grow monotonous to the rambling disposition so surely acquired by older riders, and longer trips are preferred. Good roads, of course, are preferable to poor ones, but much of the pleasure of wheeling is lost by confining ourselves too closely to them. A lover of Nature will sacrifice a little of the comfort of smooth riding to the more exhilarating experiences of discovery and novelty. The celebrated roads of Union county are familiar to most riders; but there are hundreds who are entirely unfamiliar with the beautiful country surrounding the beaten highways. By leaving the prescribed routes occasionally and taking a trip over a road which perhaps is not so smooth and more hilly, and riding at random over the sections through which they wind, a rider will often open his eyes in astonishment at some quaint or beautiful spot which until that minute was unknown to him, although probably within easy riding distance of his own home. It will be found so in almost any section. Some wheelmen tire of their steeds because they have never indulged in this exploration. Of course, there are few places within a radius of fifty or one hundred miles that are not perfectly familiar to some riders, but it is not generally so, and we advocate this practice as a means of adding still more to the never-ending enjoyment that falls to the lot of bicyclists. We recall with delight a little trip which we, a party of six, took a few weeks since. It was Sunday morning, and, having met with no definite plan as to direction or distance, fell into the rute and were soon speeding toward Plainfield over the usual course, more familiar to us all than the streets of our own town. After dinner we started to run home, when one of the party, noted for his hatred of beaten paths, and, we are sorry to say, with a reputation of being able to find the worst roads in existence, suggested our varying the monotony of a return trip over the same course we had pursued from home, by returning by the way of the old "deserted village" of Feltville. It was not entirely new to all of us, but we readily fell in with the suggestion, and started for Scotch Plains and the country beyond. As we turned toward Feltville (that was), a very steep hill was encountered, which, of course, we could all ride easily enough, but preferred to walk. We mastered that and found ourselves at the foot of the next one, steeper and more of it. We climbed number three, and still went on. We passed over some rough road; we had to climb more hills; the day was hot, and the hills tired us, but we venture to say that there is no one in the party who would not thoroughly enjoy a repetition of the trip. The hills were more than paid for by the "coasts" afforded by the roads again leading to the level. The country through which we passed was simply grand; the "deserted village" is no more deserted, and furnishes one of the prettiest little summer resorts to be found within many hours, railroad ride, Feltville, New Providence, Summit, Millburn, Irvington, Newark and home. The way was a little longer, we worked a little harder and covered the ground more slowly; but we were amply repaid for changing our course. We mention this merely as a sample of what may be found almost anywhere. Riding over ordinary country roads, where we have to walk a short distance occasionally, where one has the time, is often more enjoyable than sticking to macadam.

We have the highest respect for the City which endeavors to look religious on Sundays. We admire the spirit which actuates the City Fathers to enforce the observance of the law prohibiting the sale of intoxicating liquors on that day. We can even stand a law which will try to close the saloons at all times. But when a community gets so awfully good that it is impossible for a tired, thirsty wheelman to get a drink of soda water in a drug store as he passes through the town on Sunday, then we say, "Oh My!" It may seem strange, but we have experienced that—where do you suppose it was? Why, in the City of Plainfield! To say that the discovery on our part, that such was the existing condition of things, and that the most persuasive eloquence could not change it, was conducive to moral improvement, would be saying what was not true. It is bad enough to refuse a drink of soda water to a man. When the dear girls are denied that innocent pleasure, it is positively cruel. The atmosphere above the heads of the men took on an azure hue. The effect on the ladies was poetry.

Here is one of the results:

HEAVEN VERSUS PLAINFIELD.

By Julia Harvey Carrington.

St. Peter was in a talkative mood,
When I met him the other day,
"We thought we had things about perfect,"
He said, "but we've been making improvements up our way."

We've had to build an annex to Heaven—
An improvement on the part that is old;
For some folks were not satisfied with milk and honey,
And streets paved only with Gold.

Old Heaven was good enough until lately,
When some spirits came up and would n't stay;
They said it was n't equal to their Home on Earth—
They'd come from "PLAINFIELD, N. J."

WRECK AT ASBURY PARK.

Four Members of a Schooner's Crew Drowned.

ASBURY PARK, Aug. 24.—The two-masted fishing schooner Mary F. Kelly of New York, Capt. Chris Grattin of Brooklyn, was wrecked here at 5 this morning.

Four of the crew of eleven men were drowned. The others were rescued by Capt. Edwards of the United States Life Saving Station at Deal Beach and a volunteer crew of hotel guests.

The drowned men were the Captain, the mate, the cook and a fisherman.

Everything Best, in Lippincott's.

The complete novel in the September number of Lippincott's is "A Bachelor's Bridal", by Mrs. H. Lovett Cameron. It tells of an unconventional and ill-starred marriage and its tragic consequences.

The seventh in the series of Lippincott's Notable Stories is "The Cross-Roads Ghost", by Matt Crim. It is illustrated, as are two other brief tales, "Ishmael", by Richard Malcolm Johnston, and "The Carthusian", from the French of Alsedee Pigeon.

Captain Charles King, in "Uncle Sam at the Fair", describes the Government Exhibit at Chicago, and tells how that part of it which relates to the army is thronged by visitors, while those which display the arts of peace are comparatively neglected.

"In the Plaza de Toros", by Marrion Wilcox, is an illustrated article describing an Easter bull-fight at Seville, "the cradle of the sport". The writer, like a good American, observed the spectacle closely, but with little admiration.

Mrs. Elizabeth Wormeley Latimer gives "A Girl's Recollections of Dickens" on his first visit to America in 1841.

A short study of "Forest Fires", by Felix L. Oswald, is accompanied by his portrait. Judson Daland, M. D., writes of "Hypnotism: its Use and Abuse". Commander C. H. Rockwell, of the U. S. Navy, narrates "A Sea-Episode" on a fever-stricken ship.

Under the heading "Don't", F. L. B. offers some advice to young contributors. M. Crofton, under "Men of the Day", discusses Kossuth, James Whitcomb Riley, and the Earl of Aberdeen.

The poetry of the number is by Stella Cocke, Margaret B. Harvey, Edgar Fawcett, and James K. Phillips.

Half Rate Excursions to the World's Fair via Washington and the B. & O. R. R.

The Baltimore and Ohio R. R. will run a series of special excursions from New York to the World's Fair at rate of $17.00 for the round trip. The trains will consist of first-class Day Coaches, equipped with lavatories and toilet conveniences. The trains will start from station, foot of Liberty street, at 8:30 a. m., August 21, September 2, 6 and 12, and will reach Chicago at 4:30 p. m. the following day. Tickets will be valid for outward journey only on the special trains, but will be good returning from Chicago in Day Coaches on any regular train within ten days, including day of sale. Stops will be made for meals at the dining stations on the line. A Tourist Agent and a Train Porter will accompany each train to look after the comfort of passengers. For more detailed information as to rates, etc., apply to C. P. Craig, General Eastern Passenger Agent, 415 Broadway, New York.

Corporation Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the Common Council have fixed the thirty-first day of August, A. D. 1893, at 8 o'clock p. m., and the Council Chamber, No. 109 Park avenue, in the city of Plainfield, as the time and place for J. Frederick MacDonald, William M. Sandford and Edward C. Mulford, the commissioners appointed by the Common Council pursuant to the ordinance entitled, "An ordinance to widen Madison avenue from the southeasterly side line of West Front street to the northwesterly line of the right of way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey," approved June 5, 1893, to meet. The street proposed to be widened and laid out is Madison avenue from the southeasterly side line of West Front street to the northwesterly line of the right of way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey. The alterations proposed to be made are to widen said Madison so that the same shall be of the uniform width of twenty-five feet on each side of the centre line thereof, which centre line is described in said ordinance, and shown on map on file in the office of the City Clerk entitled "Assessment map for the widening of Madison avenue from West Front street to the Central Railroad of New Jersey, city of Plainfield, N. J., dated 1893, made by J. A. Dunham, civil engineer."

The lands and real estate intended to be taken for such purpose are all that come within twenty-five feet of either side of said centre line between the southeasterly side line of West Front street, and the northwesterly line of the right of way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey, as shown by said map and said ordinance, to which reference is hereby made for more detailed description.

By order of the Common Council.

" Golden Gloss (small) 10c., worth 25c.
" " " (large) 33c., worth 50c.

In order to reduce stock before moving to the new Babcock building, we will offer at greatly reduced prices about 250 articles of Footwear, all good reliable goods on which we give the same guarantee as if you paid full value for them.

Most of these goods we have marked down to the cost of manufacture, or below. This is the first opportunity ever offered in Plainfield to buy good reliable goods at such prices, but we take this method of reducing stock, as we prefer the cash to moving the goods.

INTELLIGENT COMPARISON

Always brings the business to us. We don't care whether you come here first or last, all we want you to do is to COMPARE, PRICE, EXAMINE.

When you come here we will tell you enough about Piano construction to make you intelligent on the subject. We want you to see the inside of the new style

17 VOSE PIANO.

A fine watch isn't prettier. You can see the action that makes the wonderful mellow, resonant tones of this truly great instrument.

Cash, Installments or Rented.

BRIDEMAID'S COSTUME.

Charming Outfit Worn by a Little Lady of Three Years.

A certain Louis Thirteenth costume for a bridemaid about three years old, and somewhat under a yard high, is of cream colored satin with pale yellow brocade sleeves and collar covered with Venetian embroidered lace. There are also panels of the pale yellow down the front of the skirt and the queer little blouse. The vest panel is crossed by ribbons tied in just such stiff bows as are on men's straw hats. A wide belt is fastened under a large satin rosette, and the puffs of the sleeves are strapped tightly into place by ribbons ending in rosettes. The same design would be pretty carried out in blue silk with white brocade.

He Is Older, Too.

Bertha—What do you find lovable about that little girl?

Lillian—Nothing; absolutely nothing.

Bertha—Then why did you kiss her so affectionately?

Lillian—Sh! You ought to see her handsome brother!—Chicago Record.

PUBLIC SALE OF REAL ESTATE.

DEATH IN THE STORM

Two Fishing Schooners Go Down in the Gale With All on Board.

TWENTY DIE TOGETHER.

A Steamer and Barge from Philadelphia Wrecked Off Long Island.

EIGHTEEN MEN DROWNED.

THE CAPTAIN AND MATE OF ANOTHER VESSEL SWEPT OVERBOARD BY THE WAVES.

Sad Fate of the Schooners Empire State and Ella M. Johnson—The Chocorua With the Ill-Fated Crafts, but Unable to Render Assistance—A Sailor's Sad Story of the Sea.—The Steamer Panther and Barge Lykens Valley Wrecked Off Southampton, L. I.—Extensive Damage All Along the Coast.

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—The fishing schooners Empire State, with a crew of ten men, and Ella M. Johnson, with a crew of eight men, went down Wednesday night off Manasquan on the Jersey coast, and all on board were lost.

These two vessels were in company with the Chocorua at midnight when the storm struck them, and after beating around all night in some of the worse weather ever known off the coast, and with a loss of her captain and first mate, the Chocorua tied up yesterday at 4:30 o'clock, the only survivor of the three.

The storm struck the three vessels about midnight, and at 1 o'clock the Johnson disappeared. About half-past one, as near as can be calculated, Captain Perry and First Mate Joseph Francis, of the Chocorua, were swept overboard by a gigantic wave. The lights of the Empire State disappeared immediately afterwards, and yesterday morning at daybreak her masts were seen projecting out of the water about three feet.

The crew of the Chocorua say that no small boat could possibly live in the sea that was running at the time and the dories on board could have been of no possible use to the crews of the two vessels.

The captain of the Johnson was John Connors, and of the Empire State, Captain Ericson.

All of the boats were from New London and were owned by their respective captains.

The three boats had only been out seven days when they were overtaken by the calamity, and were to have been out for two weeks longer.

The news of the accident was first brought to the city by the Chocorua, which is tied up at present at the foot of Fulton street, in East river.

Sailor Dick Kelly, who is in charge of the Chocorua, thinks they were lucky to come out alive.

EIGHTEEN MEN DROWNED.

Fatal Wreck of a Steamer and Barge Off Southampton, L. I.

SOUTHAMPTON, L. I., Aug. 25.—About 9 o'clock yesterday morning two vessels, a coal barge and a towing vessel were wrecked off the coast at this point, follow in the wake of the severe storm. Up to the present writing six men from the wrecked vessels have been washed ashore out of total crew of 21 men on both vessels.

The barge was seen off the Southampton Life Saving station in a disabled condition. A short time afterward she drifted on the bar and commenced at one to go pieces. No sign of life was visible about the vessel and it is supposed the crew of five men were washed overboard and drowned. The name of the barge is Lykens Valley, of Philadelphia, Capt. Scott. Six men from the towing steamer reached shore, three alive and three beyond resuscitation. The fifteen other men of the crews are believed to have been drowned, thus making a total loss of life of 18 persons.

Havoc Around New York.

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—The storm of Wednesday night and yesterday morning was the severest known in years and did great damage for hundreds of miles around New York, especially along the New Jersey coast and on Long and Staten islands.

New York bay all yesterday morning presented an unusual appearance. The strong southwest wind prevailing produced a sea that small craft were unable to weather. Along the shores of the bay great clouds of spray dashed high in the air, and at vantage points of view, crowds of spectators congregated to watch the magnificent spectacle.

Reports by incoming steamboats, from the surrounding localities and resorts, show that the storm has played havoc with the small sailing craft, and that the shores are strewn with wrecks of schooners, yachts and tugs.

The railway bridge over the tidal streams between Averne and Far Rockaway was washed out. Communication between the two places was cut off and it became necessary to send all trains to Long Island City around by way of Valley Stream and Jamaica.

At Rockaway Beach the storm raised havoc with the frame hotels and cottages. Many of them were partially or wholly wrecked, but no loss of life has been reported. Over 300 feet of the iron pier was swept away and many roofs and chimneys blown off. The loss is estimated at between $10,000 and $15,000.

The marine railroad running to Manhattan Beach is totally washed out, shutting off this section of the island from communications with the West End, the Brighton Beach hotel grounds are wrecked and the lawn and walk completely gone. An idea of the height of the tide can be gained when it is shown that it swept up to the Electric railway tracks on Sea Breeze avenue, nearly an eighth of a mile from low water mark.

At West Brighton which is a veritable nest of houses, the damage is more marked. Palmer's mammoth bathing pavilion, the largest building in the world devoted to such a purpose, is a wreck, the sides having been beaten in by the heavy winds. Rows of bathing houses were torn from their foundations and distributed along the beach and carried out to sea. Small buildings were overturned and there was a general wreckage of shanties, sheds, merry-go-rounds and other apparatus used to amuse the holiday crowds that visit the island.

At Babylon, L. I., the storm was the worse known in 15 years, $2,000 damage being done to trees alone. The tide was the highest ever known. A large amount of damage was done to sailing crafts. The yacht of Ira Udall, valued at $500, collided with Col. H. A. V. Post's sloop and was completely wrecked. The sloop yacht South Side was carried up near the horse car track. There was hardly a boat at anchor in the harbor that did not sustain some damage.

Superintendent Humstone of the Western Union Telegraph says that the wires to the east and south have been torn down by the storm, and that the telegraph service is crippled to a greater extent than it has been in years before. He said at 11 o'clock that it was impossible to state the exact amount of the damage. He said that his impression was that the damage was mostly done within a radius of fifty miles of this city.

New Jersey.

The storm did thousands of dollars damage to farm crops in Central New Jersey. All the peach trees in the Hon. Wm. H. Grant's orchard at Middletown were blown down. Mr. Grant expected to pick over 5,000 baskets of peaches. The roads in some townships are impassable on account of the trees that lie across them and people are compelled to drive across the fields. A number of planted fields are badly damaged by washouts.

Several washouts on the Long Branch railroad necessitated the suspension of travel. Repairs will be made immediately and travel resumed in a day or two.

At Long Branch the famous old ocean iron pier is a thing of the past. The storm carried away fully four-fifths of it, and all that now remains is about 25 feet from the shore out. A large portion of the pier was cast upon the beach just south of North Broadway and directly into Coroner Van Dyke's fish pond.

Scarcely eight feet of the main roadway is left in front of the Grand View house, just north of Sea View avenue. Before the storm there were 18 feet of roadway. There is no bulkhead at this point and the sea had a clean sweep into the bluff.

At Passaic, N. J., several scores of shade trees, some of them measuring two or three feet in diameter, were torn up and blown down during the storm. The fine old elms and hemlocks in City Hall Park have suffered especially. The McLean engine house was unroofed by the wind and the upper story, which was furnished as a meeting hall, was completely gutted. The Passaic river rose nearly three feet during the night. The sewer and catch basins became choked up with mud, and some streets were flooded.

The two-masted fishing schooner Mary F. Kelly, of New York, Captain Charles Grattin, of Brooklyn, was wrecked at Asbury Park. Four of the crew of eleven men were drowned. The others were rescued by Captain Edwards, of the United States Life Saving Station at Deal Beach, and a volunteer crew of hotel guests.

At Asbury Park the greatest destruction is recorded. There Founder Bradley's famous board walk is almost a complete wreck. Every one of the large and small pavilions is more or less damaged, some of them being so completely demolished as to require entire rebuilding.

Around Flemington, N. J., the storm was very severe, and hundreds of baskets of peaches were blown off the trees. Fences were blown down, large trees torn out of the ground and a vast amount of damage done to growing crops.

At Perth Amboy, N. J., the streets were literally filled with limbs of shade trees. The bulkheads along the water front were undermined and much of Front street was washed away. One hundred oyster skiffs and small boats were wrecked by the heavy sea. The sloop yacht Idle was driven ashore and will prove a total loss. James Wallace, who started across the bay just before the storm, has not been heard from and it is believed that he has been lost.

At Atlantic City, N. J., the lucky shifting of the wind to the northwest and consequent blowing out of the tide was all that saved the boardwalk structures from harm. The roof of the Casino building at the head of Baltic avenue was blown off while all around town trees were uprooted or broken off. Over at Brigantine the electric railway was washed away while at Chelsea telegraph poles fell victims to the highwater pressure.

At Cape May, N. J., the lower deck of the ocean pier was washed away and much damage was done to the fishing fleet at Sewell's Point. Many trees were blown down and great damage was done to growing corn and fruit in the outlying country.

A Wilmington, Del., telegram says the loss to Delaware fruit growers was enormous. Thousands of baskets of peaches and bushels of pears and apples were blown down. The money loss to the farmers will be heavy.

New England.

New Haven's stately elms seemed to be a special mark for the storm. More than 300 were wrested from their places and toppled over and broken. The streets of the city in general resembled a forest. Street cars failed to run until 9:30, when the efforts of a large gang of street cleaners proved effectual. Two horses were killed by stepping on a live wire which the storm had torn down. The damage to the harbor is the greatest known in years. The oyster beds have especially suffered. They are thought to be completely banked in mud by the action of wind and wave and may prove a total loss. If the beds are a total loss the money damage will be many hundreds of thousands of dollars.

At Hartford, Conn., the wind blew over fifty miles an hour. The various drills at camp were given up and the men flocked down to the shore. All the small boats in the bay dragged anchors and came ashore. The Morton House pier was destroyed by the battering of a sloop against it. One large schooner was seen drifting and looked as if she had been deserted.

A Providence, R. I., report says that four pontoons and a schooner that were in tow of a Merritt Wrecking Co's steamer, went ashore about two miles north of Narragansett pier. All five vessels are a total loss and the diver Wm. Coolan of Staten Island was entangled in the wreckage and drowned. The loss was coming for that city to raise a sunken barge. There were nine men on the crafts eight of whom succeeded in getting ashore much cut and bruised. The storm was one of the wildest the Rhode Island coast has experienced in several years.

At New Bedford, Mass., four cat-boats which were driven ashore at cove, are completely wrecked, one being a valuable one. Much anxiety is felt concerning the little whaling schooner Francis Allen which sailed Wednesday on a voyage to the Atlantic ocean after which the gale struck the hurricane only a short distance off the coast.

A Bridgeport, Conn., telegram says the yachts Hazel, owned by J. C. Wolcott of Jersey City, Stella, owned by Roland Pettitt of New York, Oneita, owned by S. H. Crossley, a Yale man, and the schooner yacht Neta, belonging to John M. Masury of New York were blown ashore at Black Rock. They crashed into the George Hotel pier, carrying it away and then went to pieces upon one another. Gen. T. L. Watson and other Black Rock residents rescued the party from the Hazel and the Neta's party, which included the owner, Miss Edith Feltham, Miss H. F. Feltham, Miss Grace Platt, and the crew. The yacht White Wings, owned by Malcolm Graham was also in peril and Miss Graham and another lady were taken off in a skiff.

DASTARDLY PLOT.

Scheme to Blow Up Detroit's Water Works and Burn the City.

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 25.—Early last Monday morning Superintendent of Police Starkweather was informed by one of the members of his detective force that a plot had been concocted by certain persons in the city to destroy the water works pumping station with dynamite. Then with the water supply cut off fires in several parts of the city were to be started. The fire department useless, a fearful catastrophe would result. The superintendent satisfied himself of the correctness of the story and a hurried consultation with the secretary of the water board resulted in a call for a special session of the water board. Monday night was the time set to do the job and all that night the works were guarded by police.

THE CHINESE QUESTION.

Nothing Will be Done Until Congress Has Opportunity to Act.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—Representative Geary, of California, the author of the Chinese Exclusion act, called on Secretary Gresham and urged him to enforce the law with the small amount of money on hand for that purpose. Assistant Secretary Quincy was called in and the three discussed the matter at length. It is understood that Mr. Geary received very little satisfaction, as Secretary Gresham adhered in his views to the policy of the Administration in the matter which contemplates non-action with regard to carrying out the requirements of the law until Congress shall have another opportunity of expressing itself on the subject or of making sufficient appropriations to put the law thoroughly into effect.

REALISTIC DRAMA.

"Happy Bob" Robinson Draws a Revolver on His Audience.

GREENSBURG, Pa., Aug. 25.—A free entertainment was given by "Happy Bob Robinson" at Pleasant Unity last evening. Among those present were a number of New York fresh air children. Some boys disturbed the performance, whereupon "Happy Bob" drew a revolver, threatening to shoot into the crowd from the platform. The audience stampeded, in which a number of women and children fainted and were trampled under foot. None were seriously injured. "Happy Bob" was driven out of town.

Farmers' Alliance.

MOUNT GRETNA, Pa., Aug. 25.—Despite the heavy rain of yesterday there was an outpouring of people to the National Encampment of the Farmers' Alliance. When the clouds rolled away conservative estimate placed the attendance at over 30,000. In the afternoon 2,000 people assembled in the auditorium of the Pennsylvania Chautauqua to hear Mrs. Mary E. Lease, of Kansas, make her first address to a Pennsylvania audience. Col. J. H. McDowell, of Tennessee, followed with a short address and announced the inability of Dr. McGlynn to be present.

Wallace's New Book.

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—An unusual event in the publishing world is the issuance yesterday of a first edition numbering sixty thousand copies. The book thus honored is General Wallace's novel "The Prince of India," published by the Harpers. It is a much larger book than "Ben Hur" and deals with the period of the Turkish invasion of Europe.

SOUTH CHICAGO IN BLAZE

Seven Thousand Frantic People Homeless.

OVER $A MILLION DOLLARS LOSS

Two Hundred and Fifty Buildings in Ashes—A Disaster Which Recalls the Great Conflagration of 1871—Destruction Along the Lake Front.

CHICAGO, Aug. 25.—A fire which in the extent of territory covered almost rivals Chicago's historic conflagration, began in that part of the city known as South Chicago about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. From a three-story brick building at the corner of Ninety-first street and Superior avenue, flames, which rapidly grew in volume under a gale at work from the west, ate their way over block after block of small frame residences until they they reached the lake. Within two hours the flames had consumed at least 200 buildings and five blocks of the greatest industrial suburb of Chicago.

The 50,000 residents of the town were precipitated into a panic second only in this city to that which characterized the conflagration of 1871. As the pine structures in which lived the workingmen employed in the large steel mills of the Illinois Steel company and in the smaller merchants of the place made their homes, were levelled by the roaring flames, those whose homes had not yet fallen, fled with their goods and household effects to the other portions of the city. Streets were blockaded with wagons containing the effects of the frightened and fleeing residents and men and women assisted by the calamity, fled in every direction.

From the brick building in which the fire had its origin and before the new fire engines of the district could make the slightest impression upon it, the flames bounded eastward between 91st and 90th streets in the direction of the lake. House after house rapidly fell before the sweep of fire which buried blazing brands far in advance.

Among the first buildings to fall was the First Methodist church at 91st and Superior avenue, and before its spire had toppled to the ground the new and commodious German Lutheran church on the opposite corner was blazing in a dozen places. Hardly had these more pretentious buildings been leveled to the ground than the fire was detected blazing in a dozen places further east.

The Central Fire Alarm office sent to the fire every engine that could be spared in the south side of the city. The Yosemite, the giant fire-boat, lying at the foot of Lasalle street, was hurried from its dock, but before it had reached the harbor at South Chicago the terrific force of the fire had eaten away the five blocks between Superior avenue and the lake and the Yosemite turned its attention to the immense lumber yards on the river front.

Every effort was made to keep the flames from the docks, but before the scores of engines had made the least appreciable effect upon the progress of the flames the immense docks of the Sunday Creek Coal Company were in ruins. Over 1,000,000 of coal were stored in the immense bins, which extend for 500 feet along the river front. The earliest estimate ventured was that the loss at this place alone would easily reach $500,000. When the fire began in the coal yards every engine that could be spared and the powerful steamer Yosemite, as soon as it reached the harbor, were brought to fight the conflagration.

At the same moment the A. R. Beck lumber yards, with dock frontages as long as those of the Sunday Creek Company, were found to be burning, and here the first great battle of the fire with the flames was begun. The fire department had only by this time succeeded in getting together a sufficient number of engines to give it any chance at all against the roaring mass of flames.

The fire burned 250 houses, and 1,000 people are homeless. The damage is over a million dollars.

NEW POSTMASTERS.

Appointments in New York, Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—The total number of fourth-class postmasters appointed yesterday was 82, of which 40 were to fill vacancies caused by resignations and death. Among the appointments, were the following:

Maine—P. B. Jones, Alma; S. N. Dow, Centre; Mary E. Clark, Greenvale; Mrs. M. H. Daggett, Medford; W. A. Waterman, North Appleton; A. W. Jordan, North Windham; Mrs. S. C. Fowler, Oak Point; P. L. Smith, Pretty Marsh; C. D. W. Shaw, Sebago Lake.

New York—David Lyons, Peru; Mary E. Highland, South Livonia; M. Inzalls, Springfield.

New Jersey—J. W. Demaris, Clarksville.

Ditman, St. Petersburg; J. W. Asher, Shippensville; C. C. Fulton, Strattonville; R. L. Haslet, Tionesta; J. V. Baynham, Turkey City; P. A. McDonald, Ulysses; R. L. Logan, West Monterey; C. C. Grasser, West Freedom.

A Noted Jersey Doctor Dead.

PRINCETON, N. J., Aug. 25.—Dr. O. H. Bartine, of this city, died yesterday at his residence after a brief illness, from paralysis, aged 78 years. Dr. Bartine was one of the leading physicians of the State and resided in Princeton for 46 years.

Roman Anarchists.

ROME, Aug. 25.—Learning that renewed disorders would be fomented by the anarchists, the police arrested twelve of them and surrounded the French embassy and other buildings with troops. These precautions sufficed, and no serious disturbances were attempted.

BYRNE'S IRON HAND.

New York's Police Superintendent Will Squelch Incendiary Speakers.

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—Superintendent of Police Byrnes returned to the city yesterday from his summer home in Red Bank, N. J. His annual vacation does not expire until to-night. The Superintendent said that he returned ahead of time on account of the meetings of the Anarchists and Hebrews on the East side. The Superintendent said:

"I have been reading in the newspapers the reports of the speeches said to have been delivered at the meetings and if those reports are true nearly every one of the speakers violated the law.

"I have sent out an order to the inspectors and captains of police to be vigilant in watching these meetings, to have officers at all of them and to have everything said by the speakers reported accurately.

"I also instructed them to get the names and addresses of all speakers, to take a note of time and place of meeting and speakers.

"I shall take such action under the law as will effectually stop any violation of the law by the speakers at these meetings."

Reports of speeches made at the Union Square meetings were submitted to the Superintendent, and he is going over them very carefully. The impression prevails that he may order a number of arrests.

DANGER OF SECTIONALISM.

The Proposed Convention of Western and Southern States.

DENVER, Col., Aug. 25.—Gov. William J. Stone of Missouri, left last night for home. In speaking of the proposed convention of Western and Southern States Gov. Stone said: "The idea is in accord with the opinions I have long entertained. There ought to be efforts made to bring the South and the West into closer acquaintance. The producing States ought to get together and work for one common interest, not on the plane of sectionalism, however, and there is the danger I see in a convention as outlined in the call. Irresponsible men often manage to obtain appointment as delegates, and sometimes action is had that is not in accord with the best business opinions of the people they are supposed to represent. I did not go to the silver convention in Chicago for fear something radical might be done. However, on that occasion the resolutions were well prepared and such as I could endorse. After I get home I shall take up the matter by correspondence with the Governors of the States named in these petitions, and if I find these Governors are in accord with the movement I shall take pleasure in issuing a call. I do not wish to be hasty about this, and shall only do so if the sentiment of the best men is in accord with the plan."

HISTORIC MOUNT M'GREGOR.

Who is to Pay for Maintaining the Grant Cottage?

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 25.—The Grant cottage on Mount McGregor ceases to be cared for at the expense of the national government of the Grand Army of the Republic in April last, without any explanation being given. The expenses of maintenance, of about $1,000 a year, have since been born by the New York State Department of the Grand Army.

With a view of having the question of maintaining the property finally settled, Department Commander Cleary has appointed Past Commander-in-Chief John Palmer as the member of the executive committee of the National Council of Administration of the Grand Army from this State in place of Mr. Theodore Feldstein, who has resigned on account of ill health. The question will come up at the National Encampment to be held in Indianapolis in September, when Gen. Palmer will endeavor to convince the National Council that it is its duty to care for and preserve the property, and that such action would be the most fitting illustration of the reverence in which the comrades hold the dead general.

BETTER BUSINESS.

Decided Improvement in the Financial Situation at Cleveland.

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 25.—While the past few days there has been a marked improvement in the financial situation in this city. The bankers all report a large increase in deposits while the withdrawals are decidedly less numerous. Money is much easier to obtain and is no longer at a premium except where very large amounts are called for. At the savings banks many persons are calling daily and stating that they wish to withdraw 60 days notices previously given. There is now talk among savings banks officials of abolishing the 60-day rule entirely and a meeting will probably be held shortly to take such action.

It is reported that the Otis steel works, one of the largest of its kind in the country, would resume work next Monday in all departments, with a reduced force.

New York Good Templars.

ONEONTA, N. Y., Aug. 25.—The following officers were elected at yesterday's session of the Grand Lodge of Good Templars of this State: Grand Chief Templar, D. W. Hooker, Syracuse; Grand Counselor, H. C. Ford, Hornellsville; Grand Vice Templar, Mrs. Eugene Underhill, New York; Grand Secretary, L. C. Andrews, Ithaca; Grand Treasurer, H. C. Delong, Ballston Spa; Grand Superintendent of Juvenile Templars, Mrs. Emma Deitrich, Lockport.

Brilliant Wedding.

AUBURN, N. Y., Aug. 25.—One of the most brilliant and elaborate society events in the social annals of the town took place last evening at St. Peter's Episcopal Church. It was the wedding of William Henry Seward, jr., son of General Seward and grandson of the illustrious premier of Lincoln's Cabinet, and Miss Anna Dennis Meyers, daughter of Gorton W. Allen, one of the eight commissioners-at-large of the Columbian Exposition.

Canadian Cattle.

LONDON, Aug. 25.—The government has refused the Canadian government's invitation for two British experts to visit Canada and investigate the truth of the allegation that herds are affected with pleuro-pneumonia. The refusal is severely criticised here.

Money Increasing.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—The national bank note circulation yesterday passed the $200,000,000 mark. The increase during the month has been more than $12,000,000 and since January 1st last more than $30,000,000.

An Adirondack Storm.

PLATTSBURG, N. Y., Aug. 25.—A severe rain and wing storm is raging throughout the Adirondacks. Telegraphic communication is interrupted and washouts on the railroads are reported in several localities.

TALKS LONG AND SHORT.

Both Houses of Congress Still Struggling With Silver.

THE CONVERTIBLE BOND BILL

Banking and Currency Committee Consider the New Scheme at Length—Fears That the Plan Would Increase the Demand for Gold—Great Speeches Expected To-day and Saturday.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—A rather amusing scene took place in the Senate chamber yesterday on the question as to whether Mr. Pfeffer (Pop., Kan.) or Mr. Stewart (Rep., Nev.) should have the privilege of addressing the Senate. Each had given notice of his intention to speak the previous day, but both had been crowded out by the discussion of Mr. Pfeffer's resolution as to National banks. The Kansas Senator claimed precedence because he had been the first to give the notice, while the Nevada Senator insisted that that had nothing to do with the question, and that, as he had already been recognized by the Chair, he was entitled to the floor. The Vice-President took that view of the situation and recognized Mr. Stewart's right. As the latter then offered to yield to Mr. Pfeffer, the Vice-President treated that offer as an abandonment of the floor and immediately recognized Mr. Pfeffer, who thereupon began a three hours' speech on the silver question. He was followed by another Populist Senator, Mr. Allen of Nebraska, who spoke for an hour and a half in support of his amendment, proposing to add to the Voorhees bill a provision for the free and unlimited coinage of silver at a ratio of 16 to 1. At 2 o'clock Mr. Pfeffer's speech was interrupted to allow the regular order of business to be presented. That was the motion to lay on the table the motion to reconsider the vote whereby the Senate declared Mr. Lee Mantle not entitled to a seat as Senator from Montana. Notice was given by Mr Vance (Dem., N. C.) that he would call the question at 1 p. m. to-day.

THE FIVE MINUTE RULE.

The Expected Pithy Speeches in the House Failed to Materialize.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—Yesterday was the first set apart for the discussion of the Silver bill under the five-minute rule and the House met at ten o'clock. Although it was expected there would be from the start a number of short, pithy speeches, there were less than fifty members present when the Speaker's gavel fell and but few spectators in the gallery. Mr. Peirce, the Populist member from Colorado, spoke and strengthened his position as one of the rising men of the House. A quiet, dignified speech by Mr. Dingley was the feature of the day but his poor delivery detracted materially from the able presentation of his case. Mr. Dingley advocated the repeal of the purchasing clause. He had voted for the Sherman Bill only because it contained restrictions that would postpone the evil day.

Would Holders Want Gold?

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—For two and a quarter hours the House Committee on Banking and Currency discussed Representative Johnson's bill providing for the exchange of Treasury notes for Government bonds. At the request of the latter, the committee then adjourned until next Tuesday when the author of the bill hopes that decisive action may be taken upon it. The bill encountered the opposition of Messrs. Sperry of Connecticut and Warner of New York, who argued that the scheme opened a new channel for the depletion of the gold holdings of the Treasury. They said that if the bill became a law, holders of the bonds would exchange them for Treasury notes and then demand gold for the notes. Mr. Johnson replied that notes are much more convenient, safe, and economical to handle, and serving every desired purpose better than gold, it was a far-fetched objection that gold would be demanded for them.

Greatest Speeches Last.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—The proceedings in both houses of Congress which have been accumulating in interest all the week will reach a climax to-day and Saturday. On the last named day the ablest speakers in the House will close the silver debate. Bourke Cockran, Wilson of West Virginia, Thomas B. Reed and Mr. Bland, the sponsor of the silver dollar, would any one of them prove a great attraction; but all of them in combination with others of almost equal force present an array of forensic ability such as has seldom been displayed on any one day in Congress.

SLOW BUT SURE.

The Dry Goods Trade Shows a Slight But Certain Gain.

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—A little increase in the demand for dry goods was again perceptible yesterday, but not in anticipation of wants. The somewhat larger business doing simply reflects the new growing trade of jobbers and relates principally to staple cotton goods. There is some light duplicating all round and on the basis of actual wants will show some increase from week to week. Large buyers are doing very much the same way as the smaller ones, taking little at a time as often as required. There was nothing new in detail unless that bleached cotton shared better in the request than of late. The outlook is felt to be improving and there is increasing confidence.

One Job Enough.

LONDON, Aug. 25.—The Berlin correspondent of the Central News telegraphs that the Duke of Edinburg, who has succeeded to the title and dignity of the late Duke Ernst of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha, has resigned his position as Admiral of the fleet of the British navy, retaining the honorary title.

Gone to Stanford.

GREENPORT, N. Y., Aug. 25.—Professor Stewart Woodford Young, of Orient, L. I., who has been appointed to the Chair of Professor of Chemistry in the Leland Stanford University at Palo Alto, Cal., started for California yesterday.

A Murderer Caught.

BUFFALO, Aug. 25.—The man who murdered Detective Harvey of Syracuse on July 31 last was captured here yesterday afternoon after a short resistance. He gives his name as George Calhoun.

German Navy.

BERLIN, Aug. 25.—The report that Herr Miquel asked for 40,000,000 of marks for the navy is semi-officially denied.

WEATHER INDICATIONS.

For New Jersey: Possibly Light Showers Saturday Night; Cooler; Southwesterly Shifting to Northwesterly Winds.

Iowa Republicans have repudiated Prohibition.

It is a gratifying and reassuring fact that not one of New Jersey's 102 National banks has failed.

The Ohio Democratic Convention displayed equal accuracy and charity in speaking of the financial trouble as the "unfortunate legacy of the Republican rule".

The "hard times" have driven thousands of the unemployed into the U. S. Army, and that body is nearer its maximum limit of 25,000 than at any other time since the war.

Among Plainfield commuters The Evening Post of New York is a favorite paper, and yesterday that estimable journal materially increased its reputation among them by its accurate and complete report of the damage by the storm in all sections. The fullness of the facts as gathered by Post correspondents in so short a time was one of the journalistic feats to be proud of. Almost as soon as the cyclone ceased, its doings were faithfully chronicled in those columns. The Post has made for itself a reputation for covering the city and suburban fields more promptly and thoroughly than any other metropolitan journal. Its reliability is maintained by each day's record. All good citizens admire and read it.

MAKE THE LIFE GUARD PERMANENT.

The sad experience of the shipwreck at Asbury Park, at daybreak yesterday, emphasizes the need and importance of having the life-saving stations fully equipped for their noble work not only in winter but throughout the year. The life-saving stations are put in sole charge of the captain of the crew at the beginning of every spring, and no one is left to patrol the beach during the summer months. If the life savers had been on duty it is probable that every one on the illfated schooner Mary Kelly would have been saved.

Uncle Sam can well afford to keep a full crew at each station all the year round. Too many lives have been sacrificed through the existing pennywise policy. The summer-resorts of the Jersey coast are placid enough at most times, but the Atlantic is treacherous, and overwhelming when its fury is aroused, and its sudden violent storms are becoming more and more frequent. The Life-Saving Service should never sleep.

A NEW PRESS CENSORSHIP.

And now the Medical and Surgical Staff of Muhlenberg Hospital has set itself up as a censor of the press.

The good doctors met in monthly session yesterday, and as a result of their deliberations they dictated to the matron that henceforth no more information should be given from the Hospital to any reporters. They gave as the reason of this action the indefinite statement that some newspaper at some time had made some misreport of some Hospital case.

So in order to help the reporters get things straight they are going to have official information suppressed. This is a mistaken policy. Every one of the newspapers of Plainfield is after the facts—wants nothing else. The best place to get facts is at headquarters. To seek to choke reporters off there, is to stimulate the reporters to more earnest search in other directions; less reliable sources will have to be depended on. If under the new policy of the Hospital Staff the facts of Hospital cases are not obtainable, and if, therefore, reporters, who are human and not infallible, make mistakes: the members of the Hospital Staff have only themselves to blame.

The course they propose is to bring hardship to all papers to punish the chance error of one.

The Daily Press sincerely trusts that the sensible gentlemen of the Staff will repeal the misguided action.

In any event, the attempt at muzzling is sure to fail, for The Daily Press will continue to give the news.

Sold the Sergeant.

It is not very often a person gets the best of Police Sergeant Kiely, but such was the case this morning. A woman in a wagon had stopped her horses on the crosswalk in front of the First National Bank, and the ever-watchful officer hastened to tell her to move to the other side. He did considerable talking, to which he received no reply. He finally discovered that the woman was deaf and dumb, and he was obliged to lead the horses himself.

NO WONDER THE DOG GOT MAD.

He Was Tied in the Hot Sun with a Collar That Chafed Him.

An unfortunate canine tied in the sun in the rear of VanBuren & Timpson's real estate office on North avenue caused no little excitement this morning. The poor beast was tied with a very tight collar and a very short chain, and had fretted himself nearly into a fit when someone seeing his antics gave the cry of mad dog. This attracted to the spot the entire police force and all the reporters that were on the street at the time. One policeman, bolder than the rest, succeeded in throwing a pail of water on the dog, and when the animal resented this treatment and growled the gathered company fled precipitately, and his dogship was left to nurse his woes in a mud puddle as best he might.

Later Policeman Kiely shot the dog. A man who insulted and cursed the Sergeant for the shooting will be arrested.

MORE PARTISANSHIP.

Another Democratic Vacancy Filled with a Republican.

The North Plainfield Township Committee held a meeting last night in Spencer's Hall on Somerset street, for the purpose of electing an Overseer of the Poor to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of John Mackey. Mr. Mackey is a Democrat, and resigned his position because he is about to move to Brooklyn. He was elected to his position at the last Spring election by a large majority.

The committee, composed of J. P. Voorhees, Wm. C. Smith and Elias Allen, all Republicans, appointed John W. VanHorn, another Republican, to fill Mr. Mackey's position until the next town meeting, which takes place in March, and which will give the people a chance to show whom they desire to fill the position. Until then they must put up with the committee's partisan choice.

OBITUARY.

Elizabeth Winckler.

Elizabeth Winckler, who died yesterday in Dunellen, was a young maiden of most lovable disposition, and had won the hearts of all her acquaintances. She was brought to Dunellen by her parents from the west. Though they had lived in Dunellen but a short time, they had won a warm place in the esteem of the people. Elizabeth was in her sixteenth year, and seemed too fair a flower for dread consumption to cut down. The funeral will be from the home of the afflicted parents, Church street, Dunellen, tomorrow morning at 8:30, and from St. Mary's church in this city at 9:30.

The Children of Mary, a charming society of girls, of St. Mary's church, will attend the funeral in their pure white robes. Elizabeth was a member of the society, and six of her white-robed sisters will serve as pall-bearers.

A Plainfield Preacher on Hogs and Men.

The Elizabeth Journal reports a sermon preached by the Rev. A. V. D. Henry of Plainfield at the camp meeting of Mt. Teman A. M. E. church, now being held in Fay's Woods. His sermon was about the unclean spirit of him of the tombs, whose name was Legion, Mark v: "Jesus commanded the unclean spirits to come out of the man." The preacher said: "Mark the plural. And all the devils besought him saying, send us into the swine. And as they entered the swine, the whole herd ran violently down the hillside, and was choked in the sea.

"The hog in this case showed more sense than many men. The hog could not stand the disgrace, but immediately rushed into the sea and was choked. But some men would go all their lives with the devil in their hearts right to the very gates of hell." The preacher wanted his hearers to stick a pin there, and note the difference between the hog and some men in this case.

Shipwreck in Green Brook.

Malcolm, ten-year-old son of B. T. Barnes, proved himself an ingenious youth by building a handsome and speedy canoe. He proceeded to launch it yesterday, where Green brook runs swift and deep. Not having his sea legs on, however, he toppled overboard, and went down among the fishes. When he rose, the canoe was whirling down steam, but Malcolm went after it and dragged it back. He had prepared himself for a wetting by putting on old clothes, and enjoyed the fun immensely.

Bad Boys Despoil a Church.

Janitor Mundy, of Trinity Reformed church, is justly incensed at the disgraceful conduct of several boys who are in the habit of playing in Exchange Alley, adjoining the church. Last night they threw grape or raspberry juice all over the door of the pastor's study, and otherwise disfigured the steps of the study, besides breaking two panes of glass in the basement. The police have been notified.

Punctured the Boiler.

As one of the fast east-bound passenger trains was passing through Graceland Tuesday evening, a driving rod broke, and was driven into the boiler. The fireman was badly scalded by the escaping steam, and though the brakes were put on it was impossible to stop the train until it reached Garwood.

Oh, Please Tell Her Name!

The Westfield Leader says: "There is a girl, (Oh, never mind her name!) who is collecting the half-burnt cigarettes from her men friends, one from each man".

The American Catarrh Cure

Is the result of twenty-six years' study and treatment of the disease. One bottle convinces the most skeptical. It is always ready for use, needing neither douche nor atomizer. It restores the hearing, cures the hawking cough and expectorating, removes the headache and nose bleeding, increases the appetite, produces sound sleep, invigorates the whole system and increases the vitality. Prepared only by W. B. Jones, M. D., No. 1336 South Eighth street, Philadelphia. For sale by I. W. Randolph, 21 West Front street. Price $1.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

William Flanders, of Greenville, North Carolina, is in town visiting relatives.

Dr. T. S. Davis and family are now at The New Sagamore, Long Lake, N. Y.

Frank Milligan, of West Fourth street, is visiting relatives in Lebanon for a few days.

The Rev. W. P. Elsden of Waterbury will preach in the Park Avenue church, Sunday.

Miss J. N. Pessinger, of 64 Jackson avenue, is at Little Falls, Passaic county, this week.

The Rev. J. P. Taylor and family have changed their address to The Curlew, Asbury Park.

Miss Lillie Carmichael of Dunellen is spending a few days with her friend, Miss Thorn, of this city.

The Misses Peck will open the Rockview Home and Day School at 313 East Front street, Sept. 18.

F. J. Horr, of Westervelt avenue, is still dangerously ill with brain fever, and his recovery is doubtful.

Miss Lawrence, of Hillside avenue, has returned to Plainfield after a visit of one month with friends on Long Island.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry VanName, of Elmwood place, will enjoy the next few days in the vicinity of Lake Hopatcong.

Mrs. Clara Welch and May Crosby have returned to Westfield from a visit of two weeks with the Misses Gardner of this city.

Halstead C. Compton returned from Ocean Grove this morning for a short time. His family will remain there for a while longer.

John W. King, of Newark, started today for the World's Fair after a visit with the Misses Della and Kittie Connors, of Harrison street, North Plainfield.

Miss Barbara Eder and Miss Emma Wennas, of North Plainfield, are enjoying the beautiful scenery at Chimney Rock and Buttermilk Falls for two weeks.

Frank T. Clawson, of East Sixth street, started yesterday on his vacation, which will be spent visiting various places of interest through the eastern States.

Miss Lizzie J. Miner, sister of Choirmaster Miner of the Church of the Holy Cross, has been appointed as one of the new teachers in the North Plainfield school.

Mrs. K. Brantingham of South Plainfield returned yesterday from this city, where she has been in charge of her aunt's house while the family were at the seashore.

The Somerville papers record that Miss Phebe Mills, of Trinity Reformed church choir, Plainfield, has sung in the Basking Ridge Presbyterian church on one or two occasions with much success.

W. H. Miner, who has been on a bicycle trip through New England, will return to the city this week, and will preside at the organ at the Church of the Holy Cross next Sunday. The full choir will also be in attendance after having had a short vacation.

John S. VanDeCarr, the high-salaried salesman of the Bartholomay Brewing Company of Rochester, is about town today calling on friends and customers. Mr. VanDeCarr is an agreeable and courteous gentleman, and is always a welcome visitor to this city.

A reception will be given this evening to Mr. and Mrs. Monroe R. Brewster, by Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., and the Women's Relief Corps, No. 10, in the Post rooms on Front street. Mr. and Mrs. Brewster will make their future home in Washington.

Father Walsh, the much-beloved assistant pastor of the Church of Our Lady of the Good Counsel, Ninetieth street, New York, was in North Plainfield the other day calling on some of his parishioners who were stopping with Mrs. A. L. Carney of Emily street.

To Play for Plainfield's Championship

The Crescent Juniors are very anxious to play some strong teams whose members are under 21 years of age. They say they are tired of beating such teams in Plainfield, and would like to hear from any out-of-town teams, including the Bound Brook and Cranford teams. They will also play one of the strongest teams in Plainfield, outside of the Crescent team, next Saturday at 3:30. This team is the Richmonds, who have been putting up some good games this season. The game that is to be played Saturday is for the amateur championship of Plainfield, which is an elegant American flag. Each one of these teams have won one game apiece, and the tie game is expected to be very interesting. T. Lyons is captain and manager of the Crescent Juniors, and Wyckoff and Kane are the battery.

Excursion from Plainfield, Labor Day.

H. P. Baldwin, General Passenger Agent of the Jersey Central, is always thinking up some plan of delighting the people, and feeling that many Plainfielders would like to go to Mauch Chunk, Labor Day, provided the cost were slight, he has arranged for a cut-rate excursion, and all Plainfielders who want to have a glorious day of it are recommended to be on hand at the North Avenue station at 9:18 a. m.

Jolly Time at Rockview Farm.

The guests at Rockview Farm whiled away the time very pleasantly last evening by an impromptu entertainment that took the place of a formal card party that had been arranged for last night, but was postponed. Cards, dancing and old-fashioned games were indulged in until a late hour. One of the features of the evening was a moonlight stroll that was enjoyed by all. All declared that they had enjoyed themselves thoroughly.

A Few Honest Suggestions Which Should Be Appreciated,
All tooth powders practically contain the same ingredients, namely, chalk, castile soap, etc., with some flavoring. We use in the manufacture of Royal Tooth Powder the best English prepared chalk, the finest English Castile soap, delicately flavored. Your dentist will tell you these substances are perfectly harmless and accomplish all that is to be expected from a tooth powder. A full 2-ounce package of this unexcelled article (same as is usually sold for 25c. under other names, but which we retail for 10c.) will be given with each $1 purchase and upwards. People of correct ideas will appreciate this offer, but some will say, "We never use tooth powder." Those who do use it, however, can be distinguished from those who don't, as the rose can be distinguished from the dandelion. This will seem cruel to some, but duty compels us to speak plainly. The "Royal" is being received everywhere, and jobbers compliment us with their duplicate orders. A trial of Royal Tooth Powder will delight you. J. C. ALLEN, Plainfield, N. J. 4-12 tf

THE QUEEN ON THE RAMPAGE.

She Did Some Pretty Frescoing on the Face of One of Her Subjects.

James Barry is a laboring man living at 519 West Third street. He is said to be of a quiet turn of mind and his friends claim that he would not intentionally create a disturbance; but he got in a row yesterday afternoon which may cause him no little trouble.

Mrs. Newman, who rejoices in the title "Queen of the Boulevard", lives but a few doors from gentle James. Mrs. Newman is a lover of fun, and went into Jamesey's yard to tease him. James ordered her out, but she refused to go.

Then the fight began. In a few minutes Mrs. Newman made everything look like the national colors, red, white and blue. By this time the neighbors were attracted to the place. Blows still fell thick and fast, and the blood flowed freely. The woman seemed determined to "do up" her antagonist. The police then appeared on the spot, and arrested both combatants.

This morning before Judge Coddington they had a hearing. James was released, but a complaint will be made against the woman, and the case will come up again later on.

THEIR PASTOR FOUND GUILTY.

THE REV. NAPOLEON BONAPARTE THOMPSON EXCOMMUNICATED.

This Lively Clergyman Cut a Great Dash in Plainfield and Netherwood, and Has Now Rounded Up His Career in Staid Old Plymouth County—Henceforth He Is "As a Heathen,' to His Church.

During the time when the Netherwood chapel now the Church of Our Saviour was conducted by a union congregation representing different denominations, it had for a pastor the Rev. Napoleon Bonaparte Thompson.

Plainfield people will remember that ere the Rev. Napoleon Banaparte Thompson had been long in town he began to be known as an erratic kind of man, and they will not be surprised to learn that he has at last been excommunicated.

Since leaving Plainfield and his questionable record behind him, the Rev. Napoleon Bonaparte Thompson has been pastor of the South Congregational church at Campello, Mass.

That church was thronged a few evenings ago with members and others, gathered to witness the final scene of the prolonged hearing upon the charges of un-Christian and immoral conduct against the Rev. Thompson.

Warren T. Copeland of the committee of five opened the argument in behalf of the prosecution.

"I am not"—said Mr. Copeland—"a persecutor, nor is the committee I represent a persecuting committee. This church shrank like a timid girl from the ordeal of investigating the conduct of its pastor until compelled by the stern mandate of duty to do so."

Proceeding in review of the evidence on the first charge, that of overfrequent and improper visits to the rooms of Mrs. Swift by the Rev. Mr. Thompson, he cited the evidence bearing on it, and held that frequent visits to a young, attractive widow were very different in their appearance, even if made by a clergyman, than visits to the sick or aged, or in the presence of others. From the evidence and the admissions of Mrs. Swift and Mr. Thompson, he held that the charge was sustained.

The second charge, that after the dinner of Fast day the Rev. N. B. Thompson took a stateroom on the Portland boat with Mrs. L. M. Swift, and that on the night of April 7 he occupied a room with her at the Preble House, in Portland, was then considered, and extensive argument was given, connected with a review of the evidence, showing that the charge had been proved.

On the third charge, that of untruthfulness, Mr. Copeland cited conclusive evidence.

It was an impressive moment when they reached a vote upon the charges.

The ballot was taken on the question of sustaining each charge, and the members of the church passed to the front of the pulpit platform and deposited their ballots.

An exception was made in favor of Dea. Pratt, 92 years old, to whom a hat was passed for his ballot.

On sustaining the first charge of improper visits to Mrs. Swift's rooms, there were 130 "yes" votes, 62 "no", and five with both "yes" and "no", the printed ballots not having been torn apart.

On sustaining the charge of occupying a stateroom on the boat and a room at the Preble house with Mrs. Swift there were 116 "yes", and 70 "no" and six which counted nothing.

On sustaining the third charge of repeated untruthfulness there were 127 "yes", 60 "no" and five double votes.

G. E. Tabor introduced the following resolution immediately after the result of the ballot on the first charge was announced:

Resolved, That this church hereby withdraws fellowships from Rev. N. B. Thompson and declares that he is no longer recognized as one of its members.

Upon motion it was ordered that the vote on this resolution be by yeas and nays.

Mr. Thompson arose to ask whether the church desired an execution or to promote repentance.

Horace Baker said that as the pastor had asked a question he would like to know if he desired to make a confession.

"I am not your pastor"—said Mr. Thompson.—"You have no pastor."

The venerable Deacon Pratt protested against hasty action in so important a matter.

John Reed thought it was not proper to act upon a matter of excommunication in the presence of persons not members of the church. He moved that the reporters be requested to withdraw.

Mr. Thompson said he hoped the motion would not prevail. The papers would surely get the news and it would be in print in the morning. It was better to let them have the facts in an accurate manner.

The motion was lost by a strong majority.

Mr. Copeland deprecated hasty action in this important matter. If Mr. Thompson desired time to consider, he ought to have it. He moved to lay the resolution on the table, and the motion prevailed on a count vote, 78 to 16.

Mr. Thompson asked for five minutes' time, and it was granted. He then called for the reading of the charges, and to each he said: "I plead not guilty, excepting the statement relative to the Fast day dinner in the second charge.

"I stand before you"—he said—"for judgment. I have had three months for consideration and I ask for judgment now."

Upon motion, the pending resolution was taken from the table, and it was voted to proceed at once to ballot by yeas and nays.

There was an air of grim determination to end the whole matter, as the members of the church again filed up the aisles and deposited their ballots in the hat which Deacon Morse held for the purpose.

The tellers reported the result of the ballot on the pending resolution as follows: Yes, 116; no, 59; double ballots, 5; total, 180; and Napoleon Bonaparte Thompson, late the pastor of the South Congregational Church, was an excommunicated man, and, in the language of the church manual, had become to the church "as a heathen man".

Throughout the voting Mrs. Swift and her friends were seated in the gallery, earnest observers of the proceedings. Mrs. Swift looked quite pale, but did not once show the intense interest she had in the result of the vote.

The close of this remarkable trial was most dramatic. At the close of the voting B. L. Boomer arose and, stepping in front of the house, severely censured P. B. Keith for not bringing before the church the advisability of putting off the balloting till another evening, claiming that the church should have had a few hours in which to pray and think over the evidence, as was given after Mr. Thompson had made his defence.

Mr. Boomer claimed that this was unjust to Mr. Thompson. He then dramatically defined the word liar, and quoted from Scriptures: "He who loves the Lord and hates his brother is a liar" pointing out several members of the church. Singling out certain persons, he said: "Are you a liar?"

This created much excitement and many arose, asking for recognition from the chair.

Charles Cole made a few remarks which created much laughter.

It was then voted to adjourn, and the church members separated into groups and excitedly discussed the events of the night.

After adjournment Mr. Thompson expressed no surprise at the result, as he expected the verdict rendered. He will probably make a statement in a few days, and he intimated that this would not be the end of the case, but he should at once bring suit against the church.

Hoss & Hoss Next Thursday Night.

It is a pleasure to note the coming of an attraction which is always up to the times, brimful of original humor, and containing people who are fully posted as to their duties and competent to perform them. Such a performance is "Hoss & Hoss", which is announced to appear in Music Hall next week Thursday, August 31, with Willie Collier and his clever company in the cast.

There is probably no comedian of the present day who has made such a rapid rise in the profession as Collier. Five years ago he was call-boy in Daly's Theatre in New York, a position as low as it is possible to fill in a theatre. Today he is one of the foremost comedians on the American stage, and has won his laurels by the use of original and legitimate methods. Manager John Russel, of "City Directory" fame, was the man who discovered the young comedian's ability and promptly gave him an important position with his company. This place he filled so well that Russell's managerial eye at once detected the making of a star performer, and he immediately cast him to fill the leading roll in what was at that time an organization of noted comedians, that of the stage manager. Collier saw his opportunity, and at once grasped it. Departing from the well-trodden paths of other farceurs, he conceived the idea of burlesquing his former manager at Daly's, and on the night of his first performance made a terrific hit. Since that time his advance has been both rapid and permanent. This season he has surrounded himself with a company of sterling performers, has re-written and rejuvenated "Hoss & Hoss", and is giving a performance of farcical entertainment equaled by nothing now on the road.

Little People's Birthday Party.

Miss Corinne Mulford, of 425 East Fifth street, gave a party to twenty charming little girls and boys, Wednesday evening. It was her sixth birthday. She received many pretty presents. Several games were indulged in, among them a donkey party, in which Master Harold Fenno and little Miss Edna Moore won the prizes. Refreshments were served in abundance, and after singing and music the little folks left for home.

Those present included Joe Vandale, Cora Vandale, Loyd Decker, Carrie Mulford, Freddie Cronk, Ella Atcherson, Harold Fenno, Florrie Waters, J. C. Paul, Jr., Bell Rice, Lillie Clarkson, Willie Clarkson and Eddie Clarkson.

To Reach Home Sunday.

George Tobin who went to Newberne, North Carolina, Wednesday night, to bring Charles Schermerhorn home, who is sick at that place, arrived at Newberne safely last night. He at once sent a telegram to Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Schermerhorn, in this city, stating that their son's illness was malarial fever. They will probably be home by Sunday morning, as a start will be made Saturday.

Editor Morse Craves Cream.

(From The Westfield Leader.)

Here is a little chemical experiment that may be of interest to try. Make a weak solution of sulphuric acid in water. Into this throw a handful of glauber's salts. An intense degree of cold results, so that if a preparation desired to be frozen be immersed in the fluid, it will solidify at once. Try it on ice-cream and bring us in three plates of it.

COFFIN'S HURTS NOT HEALED.

He Has Not Yet Recovered from the Injuries Received at the Scotch Plains Race.

George W. Coffin, of the Orange Athletic Club, was so disabled in the twenty-five mile race of the Plainfield Lyceum Cyclers over the Scotch Plains course last Saturday, that he will be unable to ride at the Riverside meet at Waverly on Saturday next.

In the race he and Willis, of the Union County Roadsters, were a tie for fifth place and the time prize and were coming down the home stretch neck and neck, at a terrific speed, when two young women stepped out of the crowd into the track to see if any of the cyclers were coming. Willis narrowly escaped striking one of them, while Coffin rode right over the other and was thrown off his wheel and sent flying several feet into the air. He was unconscious when picked up and was badly skinned and bruised on one side of his face and body. A physician dressed his wounds and he took the next train home. The young woman who was struck was also unconscious for a time.

Coffin had a handicap of one minute and Willis a handicap of thirty seconds. They will decide who is entitled to the $50 time prize as soon as Coffin is able to ride, which will be in a week or two. Charles H. Coffin was the scratch man, but had difficulty in starting, and so did not finish.

Neither the Orange Athletic Club nor Newark Wheelmen will now be represented in the team race of the Riverside Athletic Club. Blauvelt will ride for the Elizabeth Athletic Club.

Crops Damaged by the Storm.

Freeholder George W. Bullman states that the damage to the crops in Washington Valley from the late storm was extensive. Corn especially suffered from the tremendous wind and rain, and it is estimated that fully 25 per cent of the entire corn crop has been ruined. The damage is very apparent to any one driving through the valley, as the corn throughout whole fields has been blown flat on its side and many stalks are completely uprooted. Much fruit also was spoiled.

Burst the Dam.

The gristmill dam at Bonhamtown, beyond New Market, burst this morning, ruined truck farms, and let all the stock of black bass out on the meadows.

HARD TIMES
force many alleged business men to hide their faces and bemoan their ill luck. They also force many, through inaction, to fail.

It is, however, the golden opportunity of the bright, plucky man who has the nerve to advertise and push his goods. He talks to buyers through his advertisements, making the ads larger and inserting them oftener, so that his goods are continually moving.

He thus has a clear field, and, knowing how to utilize it, gets the public's money.

Plainfield people buy what they need at all times. They are influenced in their purchases by what they read in their newspapers. Advertisements in local papers sell goods.

Corporation Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the Common Council have fixed the thirty-first day of August, A. D. 1893, at 8 o'clock p. m. and the Council Chamber, No. 109 Park avenue, in the city of Plainfield, as the time and place for J. Frederick MacDonald, William M. Sandford and Edward C. Mulford, the commissioners appointed by the Common Council pursuant to the ordinance entitled, "An ordinance to widen Madison avenue from the southeasterly side line of West Front street to the northwesterly line of the right of way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey," approved June 5, 1893, to meet. The street proposed to be widened and laid out is Madison avenue from the southeasterly side line of West Front st. to the northwesterly line of the right of way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey. The alterations proposed to be made are to widen said Madison so that the same shall be of the uniform width of twenty-five feet on each side of the centre line thereof, which centre line is described in said ordinance, and shown on map on file in the office of the City Clerk entitled "Assessment map for the widening of Madison avenue from West Front street to the Central Railroad of New Jersey, city of Plainfield, N. J., dated 1893, made by F. A. Dunham, civil engineer."

The lands and real estate intended to be taken for such purpose are all that come within twenty-five feet of either side of said centre line between the southeasterly side line of West Front street, and the northwesterly line of the right of way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey, as shown by said map and said ordinance, to which reference is hereby made for more detailed description.

By order of the Common Council.
F. W. RUNYON, City Clerk.

IT IS NOT AN ACCIDENT

That our business has grown to its present proportions. Everything that a complete knowledge of the Piano and Organ business can do for a customer is done here. There is no mystery here—all that we know, you may know if you'll listen. Our years of experience has taught us that the Steinway, Gabler, Vose, Sterling and Braumeller Pianos are the best to be had; each has its own peculiar features stamping it distinct from the others. Which one is best for you is a question. Any time you'll come in we will help you solve it.

FASHION AT THE PIER.

An Ominous Rumor of Paniers and Overskirts Impending.

Secrets of Autumn—A Skirt with Fifty-Two Ruffles—Casino Gowns—The Rule of Tall Women Unconstitutional in a Republic.

[COPYRIGHT, 1893.]

For mortal man to know the future isn't altogether an advantage? Mortal woman, lookin ahead in fear and trembling, shudders with apprehension.

For in the near future, plainly discernable from the present she sees the overkirt, the panier and the ruffle. For that matter, the overskirt is here, the panier is already being "built" in the shops for actual sale in the fall. And as for ruffles—

I have just received a letter from one of the leading men milliners, not of Europe but of our own land, and therein he says that he has recently finished a dress with fifty-two narrow ruffles falling over each other's heels

all the way from the belt to the hem, lapping over each other like the tiny shingles on some of those curious Swiss chalets in the Valais. Think of that, oh ye women with sewing machines whose honest pride it is to make your own dresses! Fifty-two ruffles! To have eighteen is common enough, ten is scant, six not to be thought of. Taste seemed at one time to have the dressmakers conquered, but the irrepressible conflict has broken out afresh, and taste has fled until the storm blows over—and its feelings are no longer ruffles.

Really tasteful and artistic modes can be followed by the amateur fashioner of gowns because their keynote is simplicity. That is why the heart of the dressmaker yearns for the fifty-two ruffles and all that they represent.

But, gentle ladies all, a truce to melancholy! No style, not even the worst and most debased, can long survive the constant movement for change. And is not the air fresh and balmy, and the sun bright, and the sky blue, and do not great banks of wild roses bloom all the way from the queer eagle-decorated water tower to Watch Hill? And does not the smiling sea beat itself to foam against the finest of curving beaches, and just there where the breakers chase each other up the sloping sand are not the belles from the cottages and the "transients" from the hotels disporting themselves in the surf? And are not there baby wagons trundled by white-capped bonnes? And isn't the ocean itself a sea-green robe trimmed with ruffles along the edges?

The beach is one great fact at Narragansett. The other is the Casino, and the chief use of the Casino, with its brown rock underpinning and quaint turreted roof and broad piazzas, is, of course, the display of the Casino gown. The Casino gown is in the shades considered most trying. It is in ruffles and in ribands and in bretelles and shoulder puffs. The ribbon, thrown about the skirt by way of excusing the lack of ruffles, is a pretty compromise for those who are holding out against the ruffle as best they can. A lady whom I saw a few days ago, a lady who is rather plump, but has no idea of letting her gown confess it, had a cleverly designed gown. Four rows of wide satin ribbon the skirt bore, the rows running about the back of the skirt and across the side nearly to the front, but not quite. Just where each row stops a bow of the same ribbon furnishes the needed "finial," as an architect would say. And between these big bows the front of the skirt flowed plain and unbroken from belt to hem, giving the impression of length, which the stout woman so desires. The material blue serge and perfectly plain, except for the ribbon trimming; the bodice with wide lapels and two small ruffles just at the waist, with knife plaiting down the front, the sleeves of moderate fullness, the collar high and uncomfortable. But no woman minds discomfort when her gown fits. The idea!

Serge is the universal material by the sounding sea, but gayer fabrics and gayer patterns are often more combined in the Casino gown. One less admirable but more admired than the blue serge was a spot crepon of pale green and white, the colors magically blending in a fantastical effect. Each of the triple skirts is plain and the two upper ones run downward to a slight point in front, are cut higher at the sides and plaited full behind. There are no ruffles or trimming, but at the waist a wide belt of rich dark green satin furnishes a heavy dash of what artists call "color" when they mean merely emphasis. This darker satin edges the double angle of the wide lapels or revers of opal shot moire and a touch of jet. From the comfortably low neck falls a wealth of fine soft old lace, disappearing beneath the revers at the bottom. The sleeves were formed by two full flounces or frills of the crepon the arms thrusting out from among these folds, tightly clad from the elbow down. From the satin belt depended two long, full streamers of the same material.

But the prettiest gown I have seen to-day—it was not in the Casino—consisted of a serge skirt and Eton jacket, worn above a light silk waist, the whole from a bargain counter at eight dollars and ninety-nine cents. She who wore it was fresh and wholesome looking, a teacher down for a day's outing with her family, I should say; and her vivacious way and pretty face showed charmingly beneath it illustrating once again the old saying—which isn't true—that some women look well in anything and others in nothing.

The whole jacket tribe—Eton, boleroy or what not—are for the chic woman. The statuesque creature, whose walk proclaims her a goddess, has no use for jackets. She it is, divinely tall if not always divinely fair, who is bringing upon us the ruffle and the panier and the overskirt.

Shall we never be freed from the tyranny of the tall, slender woman? She is in a minority. She is but one in ten at the most. In a republic is not her rule unconstitutional?

The ruffle on skirt and the ruffle on waist combine most peculiarly for the plump woman. She sat in front of me at a Casino concert this morning and I studied her most carefully. She wore a blue and white lawn frock that was all wings. There were wings at the bottom of it, plaited ruffles that blew up and fluttered and displayed their tendency to soar whenever a breath of air struck them. There were wings at the waist—ruffles that escaped from under the belt and wavered and wondered as if they were waiting their cue to rise. There were wings on the shoulders of it—ruffles that floated about the shoulders capewise and had other ruffles, underneath feathers—perking themselves and making all sorts of rebellious lifts below them about the arms.

TWO CASINO GOWNS.

The plump woman rippled all over like the petals of an immense double peony. And she wasn't so very big either. I mean it literally when I call her "plump." She didn't belong in the category of fat women; but ruffles, airy as they may seem, add to one's apparent weight, and so, of course, to one's really effective weight, terribly.

But to turn to pleasanter themes. The simplest frocks on the beach, and so very likely the prettiest, are of plain white drill with navy blue trimmings. Take one of these with a broad white drilling hat covered with corn flowers, and the summer girl looks, as she probably feels, in vacation mood, bedight for the midsummer holidays. Brown drill is pretty when it is pretty; that sounds enigmatical, but it's a simple question of complexion; girls who are pretty in brown drill are and those who aren't aren't, and that's the end of it. The brown drill frocks have blue and pink and scarlet trimmings, and the handsomest woman who wore one to-day had an enormous bunch of field lilies at her belt. I could cry when I see the orange and black beauties, for they make me think of the drowsy hum of the berry pastures at home and the smell of the sweet fern and a half grown girl's strange midsummer dreams."

"That or some other derangement of the organ, causing irregularity and other troubles.

A FINANCIAL RAINBOW

Business a Little Better All Over the Country.

BRADSTREETS' CHEERFUL REPORT

Collections Still Bad But More Merchandise Sold—Banks Extending Discounts in a Moderate Degree—Less Hoarding of Currency and Increased Deposits.

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—Bradstreet's to-day says that the indication of a slight increase in the volume of general trade and of a better feeling in business circles reported last week are not only confirmed, but there is reason to believe the tendency toward improvement has extended from the west and northwest south.

Notwithstanding mercantile collections generally are as difficult to make as heretofore, in spite of the fact that at many important cities there is practically no money market beyond necessary renewals of loans already made, and in the face of the fact that at a number of the larger financial centers there is practically no demand for commercial paper, yet there are actual increases in sales of staple articles of merchandise reported from New York and Boston at the east, from Chicago, Louisville, St. Louis and Milwaukee at the west, and from Richmond, Memphis and New Orleans at the south.

Still more significant is the information that banks at Cincinnati, Cleveland, Louisville, Chicago and St. Louis in the West are manifesting a disposition to extend lines of discount somewhat, while the like is true in a moderate degree at Little Rock, Dallas and Galveston in the Southwest.

Bearing in the same direction are statements from Buffalo and Duluth that less hoarding of currency is manifested; in some instances funds which had been withheld from circulation have been deposited in banks within the week. The stock and loan markets at New York are both more cheerful in tone, on the belief that the repeal of the Sherman act is assured.

The list of business failures for the past seven days is long, numbering 456, which, although not equal to the largest weekly total previously presented, is in excess of last week's aggregate (409), and contrasts with 169 in the week one year ago, 186 two years ago, 234 three and 176 four years ago.

VANDERBILT'S YACHT.

The Valiant Said to be the Finest Private Craft Afloat.

NEW YORK, 26.—W. K. Vanderbilt's new twin-screw yacht, Valiant, passed Sandy Hook, bound in, at 1:25 o'clock yesterday afternoon. She is the finest private yacht afloat. She was launched on May 8 from the yards of the Laird Bros., at Birkenhead, and her chief dimensions are about 332 feet over all, 310 feet between perpendiculars, 39 feet and 2 inches extreme beam, depth moulded 25 feet 6 inches. Tonnage, yacht measurement, nearly 2,400 tons. The yacht has a double bottom—subdivided into ten tanks, which hold full 200 tons of water ballast. She is fitted with twin screws of bronze and steel, driven by two sets of triple expansion engines, the cylinders being 28 inches, 36 inches and 60 inches in diameter, and 36 inches stroke, with enormous boiler power.

RICE NO PAUPER.

The Noted Reading Objector Represents $10,000,000 of Bonds.

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—Isaac L. Rice, who has arrayed himself against the bondholders' committee of the Philadelphia and Reading railroad, is said to hold in his own name $800,000 in the various securities of the company. He is also the representative of the Hetty Green interest. Altogether he is estimated to speak for $10,000,000 of stocks and bonds. The bondholders' committee are authorized up to this time to act for the holders of about $30,000,000 of bonds.

A Second Calamity.

CHICAGO, Aug. 26.—Following closely in the track of the disastrous fire at South Chicago comes the news that the Illinois Steel Company, which employed a great number of those who lost their all in the conflagration, will close down its South Chicago plant next month. A great number of South Chicago residents are dependent upon labor in the great rolling mills of the Illinois Steel Company.

Anxiety About Pilot Boats.

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—On account of the storm considerable anxiety is manifested as to the probable fate of the pilot boats out. While some of them are not due for several days yet the knowledge that they were 300 or 400 miles out, right in the track of the storm, leads many to fear that some have foundered. None of them, of course, has been heard from.

Ten Millions in Transit.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 26.—Ten million dollars in gold packed in canvas bags came into Kansas City this morning on the Santa Fe train from San Francisco. The money was guarded by ten U. S. deputy marshals armed with ominous looking Winchester rifles. The gold is for the sub-Treasury in New York city.

Cholera Among Pilgrims.

TRIPOLI, Aug. 26.—Several cases of suspected cholera have been found among the Mecca pilgrims, and the patients have been taken to the hospital. A triple cordon of guards surround the building. Most of the pilgrims with whom the stricken persons were making the journey have been quarantined.

A National Accommodation.

PARIS, Aug. 26.—M. Develle, Minister of Foreign Affairs, has promised Signor Ressman, Italian Ambassador, to withdraw from circulation in France as many small Italians silver coins as possible and send them to Italy so as to relieve the scarcity of currency in that country.

LIBERTY BELL.

It Will Leave Jersey City for Chicago Monday Morning.

NEWARK, N. J., Aug. 26.—The Columbian Liberty Bell Committee, who have headquarters here, announce that the Columbian Liberty and Peace Bell will be taken to Chicago by way of Newark, Trenton, Philadelphia, Wilmington, Baltimore, Washington, Harrisburg, Columbus and Indianapolis. The Pennsylvania Railroad Company have placed their services at the disposal of the committee. On Saturday morning the bell will arrive in New York by the Citizens' line from Troy. It will be brought down Broadway Monday morning and will arrive in Jersey City at 11 a. m., leaving that city at 115 Monday afternoon.

The committee will welcome contributors of flowers from patriotic societies and individuals all along the line, and these flowers will be carefully saved and pressed and sent to liberty lovers throughout the world as mementoes of the trip.

The committee request that members of the Grand Army of the Republic, Sons of Veterans, and other uniformed patriotic organizations will without further notice arrange to act as a guard of honor each at their railroad station, arranging the children and other contributors of flowers so that as little time as possible shall be taken with each stop.

FATAL WAVES.

Five of a Fishing Smack's Crew Washed Overboard and Drowned.

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—Charles Kletsberger, of the fishing smack Melinda Wood, which has been towed to her berth at Fulton Market, reports that on Wednesday night while the vessel was anchored about fourteen miles from Barnegat Lighthouse, she was struck by the hurricane, the vessel driven on her beam ends, the foremast carried away and five of the crew swept overboard and drowned.

The vessel had a crew of eight in all. Two of the survivors were so badly injured that they had to be removed to the hospital upon the arrival of the vessel at its pier.

Kletsberger is the only member of the crew that came through unscathed.

Those who lost their lives were:

JOHN VOGAN, first officer.
JOHN HENDERSON, able seaman.
HUGO HENDERSON, able seaman.
ARTHUR JOHNSON, able seaman.
OSCAR SUSTOSON, able seaman.

The only persons on board who were saved were Captain P. A. Peterson, Charles Crisper, the cook, and Charles Kletsberger, seamen, and all three of them were more or less injured.

An Old Lady Arranges for a New Husband, Who Fails to Appear.

CHICAGO, Aug. 26.—Mrs. Mary Schacklett, 72 years old, whose home is in Philadelphia, came to Chicago on Wednesday to meet and marry a California man with whom she was corresponding. He failed to appear, and she went to a police station for safety and the protection of her $90 cash and $2,000 worth of diamonds. Mrs. Schacklett comes of one of Virginia's best families and her ancestry extends back to the Revolutionary period. Her husband, who died six years ago, was a nephew of Edwin M. Stanton, Secretary of War under President Lincoln, and was also a relative of Wade Hampton, of South Carolina. The name of her intended husband, Mrs Schacklett said, is J. K. Landers, a travelling man, who lives in San Francisco and whom she met last spring at New Orleans.

STEP TOWARD HOME RULE.

Exciting Scenes Last Night in the House of Commons.

LONDON, Aug. 26.—The strangers' galleries of the House of Commons were crowded early last evening to suffocation by persons eager to witness the last scenes in the report stage of the Home Rule Bill. The peers' gallery was notably empty. The members' benches were fairly well filled.

Timothy Healy, anti-Parnellite for North Louth, got the floor about 10 o'clock and talked until 11, merely to prevent Mr. Balfour, the Unionist leader, from winding up the debate. William Johnston, an Ulster Loyalist, tried to shut Mr. Healy short, but without success.

The House became restless shortly before 11 o'clock and declined to listen longer to talk against time. Cries of "Divide!" drowned Mr. Healy's voice, so it was impossible to hear a sentence during the last five minutes of his speech.

At 11 o'clock the Speaker began to put the 18 government amendments standing in the name of John Morley, Chief Secretary for Ireland. On two of the votes were challenged by the opposition. In each division the Government majority was 38.

When the last amendment was pronounced carried, the Liberals and Irish, who had shown only slight enthusiasm during the previous proceedings, burst out with loud and repeated cheers. The opposition remained silent.

The Speaker announced the third reading of the Home Rule Bill for next Wednesday, and without further demonstration the House adjourned.

REPORTS OF WRECKS.

Information of Disasters Sent to the Life Saving Bureau.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—Reports of wrecks and loss of life as a result of the great storm on the Atlantic coast on Wednesday night are reaching the Life Saving Bureau here. It is recalled that just 20 years ago to the day, Aug. 26, 1873, more than 1,000 vessels were wrecked and many lives lost on the Atlantic coast. Reports thus far received as to Thursday's storm show: Schooner Rapidan and nine pontoons driven ashore off Narragansett Pier, R. I., crew of nine, eight saved, one lost. Yacht Pleasure sunk off Ottawa Beach, Michigan, four occupants, two lost. Schooner John Baker ashore off Portland, Me., crew saved, vessel probably will be. Steamer Panther and barge Lykens Valley blown ashore at Southampton, L. I., and gone to pieces, wrecked Wednesday night. Of the crew three saved, three dead and 14 missing.

A POSTER WIDELY READ.

The Recent Advertisement in Canada for United States Recruits.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—The War Department has called on Second Lieutenant Archer W. Yates, Ninth Infantry, recruiting officer at Ogdensburg, N. Y., for an explanation as to how a poster inviting recruits to join the United States infantry and cavalry, came to be displayed in a store window at Ottawa, Canada. Canadian newspapers unfriendly to the annexation idea, characterize the posting of the notice as "A brazen piece of effrontery," and one Conservative journal contended that it was "An indication that the United States Army is so unpopular on the other side of the line that enough recruits can not be obtained there."

No reply has yet been received.

FRAUDULENT CANVASSERS.

New York's Postmaster Warns People Against False Magazine Agents.

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—The postmaster at New York desires to caution the public against the operations of swindlers in the West and elsewhere, who falsely pretend to be agents of Fashion and other periodicals published in New York, and who have defrauded many dressmakers, milliners and others in this manner.

The latest reports indicate that such a person is by false pretences obtaining subscriptions for a magazine called La Journal Mode, said to be published by Curtis & Co., Union square, New York. There is no such magazine published and no such firm in Union square or elsewhere in New York city.

Paying Out Gold.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—The Treasury Department here has begun paying out gold for all checks presented. Redemption of paper money is made in the same class of money. Gold payments have been made at all sub-Treasuries for some days under orders from here, as noted at the time. The reason for the gold payments here is that the Treasury, because of small receipts and large expenditures, has exhausted its paper money. The Treasury books show $97,000,000 gold reserve and a net balance of $100,000,000. The balance is composed almost entirely of subsidiary coin. The reserve is being used in paying the obligations of the Government.

Weavers Laid Off.

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Aug. 26.—Forty spinners and weavers employed in the Somerville Woolen Mills here were laid off last Saturday. James Brown, jr., treasurer of the mills, said that the reason of the close was because they desired to allow the cutting department to catch up with other departments. The mills make their cloth into clothing and at the present time they do not care to keep a big stock of uncut goods on hand. They will probably start on full time early in September. The merchants here feel very much concerned over the reduction in the Raritan mills.

Contract Laborers Returned.

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—Seventy-two contract laborers will be returned to Italy and Austria to-day on the steamships La Touraine, Ems and Wesel. All these men have been landed at Ellis island since Tuesday last. Most of them were miners bound for various Pennsylvania points. This is the largest deportation of contract laborers ever carried out at this point.

ROMANCE OF THE STORM

A New Haven Bather Robbed and Taken to Sea.

KNOCKED SENSELESS WITH AN OAR

The Prisoner Subsequently Captures the Boat and Braves the Ocean Alone—Wrecked in the Storm, He Floats on a Plank for Eighteen Hours and is Finally Washed Ashore at Atlantic City.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 26.—Louis Norton, of New Haven, Conn., who was washed ashore here, says that on the afternoon of Aug. 12, he went in bathing near New Haven, having gone out in a boat and leaving his clothes and valuables there. While he was swimming about, a boat in which there were two swarthy appearing men, was rowed up to his and the occupants began rifling his clothes of their contents, among which were $200 in money, a gold watch and other valuables. He objected to this proceeding, when one of the men hit him over the head with an oar, knocking him unconscious.

When he recovered his senses he was lying in the cabin of the boat belonging to the men. He stayed at that place all night and in the morning the boat set sail continuing through the day until night, when anchor was again cast at what Norton thinks was the upper end of Long Island Sound.

The two navigators went ashore here and their prisoner managed to loose himself of his bonds and getting a knife cut the boat adrift from the anchor. Through the night it kept up its course out to sea and when morning broke no land was in sight. He passed several vessels during his trip. He lost all idea of time and never saw land. Last Wednesday evening he was struck by a storm and his boat dismasted. Thursday morning the vessel capsized and he grasped a plank as a last resort. For 18 hours he drifted about on this plank, clinging for his life and was about giving up hope when he struck the end of Young and McShea's pier here.

He worked his way in from piling to piling until his cries attracted the attention of J. H. Brode, a bath house keeper, who with the assistance of Chief of Police Eldridge, and two patrolmen brought him ashore in an unconscious condition. He was soon relieved, however, and told the story of his adventure.

Norton's Parents Happy.

NEW HAVEN, Aug. 26.—Great excitement was created here yesterday by the announcement that Louis Norton, the young business man who disappeared so suddenly a fortnight ago and was supposed to be drowned, had turned up at Atlantic City. The tidings were brought in a telegram to A. O. Norton, the young man's father. The message read: "Louis Norton was washed ashore here to-night. He is alive and well. No money. He wishes me to notify you at once. H. E. Eldridge, chief of police."

Both parents of the young man are completely prostrated by the unexpected though joyful news. They thought their son drowned, but will go at once to Atlantic City to verify the statement of his safety. The story that the young man was taken by pirates while in bathing here and kept a prisoner until Saturday, when he made his escape and got ashore in the storm, appears incredible, but the details of the escapade are awaited here with inter

TWISTED HIS EAR.

A Member of Parliament Attacks an Artist of Punch.

LONDON, Aug. 26.—This week's Punch contains an extravagant caricature of J. G. Swift MacNeill, Nationalist Member of Parliament for South Donegal. In the caricature Mr. MacNeill's protruding front teeth are represented as startling deformities. The initials in the corner of the picture indicate that Harry Furniss is the author of it. Ever since Punch appeared Mr. MacNeill has been threatening to punch Mr. Furniss the moment they should meet. This evening the men came together in the lobby. Mr. MacNeill immediately shoved his fist under Mr. Furniss' nose and shouted:

"Your conduct has been blackguardly. If you were not such a little man I would kick you. As it is I will merely pull your ear."

Mr. MacNeill then grasped Mr. Furniss' ear, twisted it and shook it, at the same time shaking Mr. Furniss. A group of excited members gathered at once around the two men, as a fight was supposed to be threatening. Mr. Furniss, however, did not strike a blow. As soon as he got his ear free he hastened to the Sergeant-at-Arms with his complaint. No step has been taken as yet to discipline Mr. MacNeill.

Ships in Distress.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Aug. 26.—The steamer DAXON arrived from Philadelphia, yesterday. The officers report a tempestuous passage. They saw two light barges at anchor off Barnegat with a tug near them. They probably rode out the gale. Soon after they saw a four-master with her foretopmast carried away. Ten miles north was the schooner James Baird in distress with main and mizzen masts down. She declined assistance. A three-master was also seen to capsize, probably the Narraganset, which went down with six of her crew off Highland Light.

Treasury Department Changes.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—Official changes in the Treasury Department:

Appointed—Lyman Howard, New York, assistant inspector of boilers of steam vessels at New York city, and Morgan T. Cotter, clerk to local board of steamboat inspectors, Pittsburg.

Removed—Joseph Rudisell, assistant inspector of boilers of steam vessels at New York, and Samuel R. Campbell, clerk to board of steamboat inspectors, Pittsburg.

Riots in Naples.

ROME, Aug. 26.—The striking cab-drivers still riot in Naples. They have been fighting the police in several quarters of the city. Four regiments were taken by special trains to the city. The military and rioters had three encounters yesterday afternoon. More than 1,000 persons were arrested. Many of the men who led in the anti-French agitation started after the Aigues-Mortes massacre are said to have joined the rioters.

Cholera in Europe.

VIENNA, Aug. 26.—Four fresh cases of cholera and six deaths were reported in Szaboles yesterday. Isolated cases were found in Szathmar, a county in East Hungary, and Bereg, a county westward from the Theiss.

A Father Dead.

SANDY HOOK, N. J., Aug. 26.—Captain Edwards, of Life-saving Station No. 9, reports finding the body of an unknown man on the beach about a mile north of the station. The body was dressed in a bathing suit.

LET THE BABIES LIVE.

The Ignorance of Mothers Causes a Fearful Number of Deaths.

The fearful number of infant deaths this month, especially from cholera infantum, is due to the ignorance of well-meaning mothers.

Improper food is the cause of nine-tenths of all the infant mortality.

Mother's milk, when healthy and sufficient, is the ideal infant food, and it will never be surpassed.

But when in the first year of the baby's life recourse must be had to other food, or when the time comes for weaning the child, lactated food should be given in preference to anything else; it has saved the lives of hundreds of babies; there is no mother in the land but can read the following letter with profit; it is from Mrs. C. M. Childs, Elton, Md., mother of the three children whose pictures appear above; it is written to the manufacturers of lactated food in Burlington, Vt.

"This is a photograph of my three little ones, who are all subjects of the use of lactated food.

"Lactated food was recommended to me by Dr. Geo. Gillespie of Conowingo, Md., six years ago, when the eldest was a baby; my present baby was born May 10, 1892; at the end of six weeks my physician advised me to use sterilized milk; I did so for a few weeks, but she did not seem to thrive.

"She continued to grow thin and became very much emaciated; at the end of six months she weighed the same as at her birth, which was eight pounds; the doctor thought it doubtful if she survived. Without consulting him further, I resorted to the use of lactated food, as I had done before with the others, procuring it from H. R. Mitchell of this town.

"In one week the improvement was very perceptible; at the end of 2 months the doctor, neighbors and friends were amazed at the great change in her condition; the doctor said: 'what has caused this change?'

"My reply was: 'lactated food.'

"He remarked: 'It is evidently the right food,' although at times he had recommended another, not being familiar with this one; as you see her in the picture, I attribute her healthy appearance to the use of lactated food."

Mothers who have used lactated food agree that it best supplies the materials for baby's rapid growth and development.

Lactated food is prepared with a regard for purity, cleanness and freedom from possibility of contagion that merits all the praise that has been so lavishly bestowed upon it by physicians and grateful mothers.

The nutritious parts of barley, wheat and oats are so prepared as to be easily assimilated; to these are added sugar of milk and the salts, which are the basis of mother's milk; these constituents are thoroughly cooked at high steam heat, and make a predigested, palatable, nutritious food, a perfect substitute for mother's milk, fit for meeting every demand of the rapidly growing child.

Lactated food has aided thousands of babies this summer through the sickly hot days; it should be in the hands of all parents; as one of the greatest specialists on children's diseases has well said:

"It is worse than thoughtless for mothers who think and read to neglect lactated food, when so many mothers eagerly tell of their own accord how it has saved their babies' lives and made them strong, healthy, plump and full of life."

Lactated food can be had of any druggist; it is always pure, "keeps" perfectly, and is not affected by age or temperature.

WEATHER INDICATIONS.

For New Jersey: Southerly Winds, Shifting to Cooler and Dryer, Northerly and Easterly; Fair Sunday, Light Rain Monday, Preceding Hurricane on the South Atlantic Coast.

To the lay mind it seems a trifle singular that the officials of a public institution like the Muhlenberg Hospital should seek to suppress the facts concerning cases that are treated there. The public has a right to full and free knowledge of all that is done in the hospital, and for all such information they look to their local newspapers.

Give the newspapers the facts. That's all they want.

A TOPIC SELDOM DISCUSSED.

Good Dr. Ketcham has been in the ministerial harness these many years, a zealous worker, and a faithful shepherd. He is ripe in the experience of the vicissitudes of his calling, and can testify that it has many joys as well as many trials. Therefore it is with special interest, and the feeling that something unusually good will be heard, that The Press lays out its choicest Sunday shirt and opens a new notebook, preparatory to sitting in a First Baptist pew tomorrow and hearing the worthy clergyman discourse on the attractions of the ministry as a profession. Young men of either pious or impious turn of mind would better go along.

LIFE-SAVERS ON THE COAST.

Contemporaneous with the claim of The Press that the life guards on the coast should be on duty all the year, "Practical Phil" Gibson of the Newark Daily Advertiser writes as follows:

I am told that during the storm of Wednesday night danger rockets were sent up by vessels in distress along the New Jersey coast in the vicinity of Ocean Grove. A few of the life-saving crews endeavored to locate them and render what assistance they could, but their efforts were not of much avail, because, at this season of the year, they are disorganized and scattered, and their stations, where they have proper equipments for the prosecution of their work, are abandoned. The reason for this is that these brave and efficient men are employed by the Government for only half of the year, their services beginning on October 1. Their pay is also so meagre—only $40 a month while employed—that they must scatter during the other half of the year and find employment in fishing and other pursuits. Braver men than these life-savers do not exist, and their support by the Government is not in proportion to the service they render. Violent storms, accompanied by wrecks, are likely to occur at any time, and these men should be retained in service all the year round at such compensation as will enable them to devote all their time to their humane work. The State of New Jersey is filled with a multitude of useless officials who might be excused from duty for far better reasons than the life-savers along our coast.

SPECIAL SATURDAY FEATURES IN THE PRESS.

The Daily Press has n't been saying much about itself lately. Instead, the sparkle, freshness and vigor of its columns, and its steady effort to maintain its record for giving "All the news, first and fully!" have been permitted to do the talking. How well they have spoken is seen in the continued increase of popularity among an appreciative public.

But while The Press is diffident about sounding its own praises, its Editor may surely be pardoned for emphasizing by his special commendation the chatty and philosophical soliloquies of The Man on the Cars. These amusing and edifying talks show a keen observation of quaint and homely happenings and a fine sense of the ludicrous, and they give frail human nature an agreeable rubbing-up. Readers of The Press will be glad to know that they are to be an established feature of Saturday issues. The writer is one of the bright young men of The Press, too modest to permit his name in print.

Another entertaining Saturday night feature is the series of Captain-Colonel tales.

These and other new departures of The Press have already met with gratifying favor, and the people are showing substantial appreciation of a local newspaper that is original and progressive, unique from its fellows.

AUGUST AND NOVEMBER.

They Were Quietly Wedded Last Night, and the Groom Is Moving Into the Bride's Home Today.

Last night in New York city, at the home of the bride's brother, Charles Elliott La Fetra, the marriage took place of James Merritt to Hattie V. La Fetra, both of this city.

Miss La Fetra is a sister-in-law of the late George R. Pound, and has lived at his home on East Third street for the past 15 years. Mr. Merritt has been courting the estimable woman for some time. His home has been at the Hotel Grenada.

They went to New York city yesterday and were made husband and wife by the Rev. B. F. Kidder. After the ceremony they returned to the home of the bride on East Third street, Plainfield, which will be the future home of Mr. and Mrs. Merritt.

The groom was seen this morning moving his furniture into their residence. He was feeling very happy, and, though about 65 years of age, bids fair to live many years in happiness. Mrs. Merritt is about 35 years, and just the one to make their home the best on earth.

A GREAT NEW INDUSTRY

AN ELECTRIC-LIGHT FACTORY TO BE BUILT NEAR NETHERWOOD.

Incandescent Arc Lights as Patented by L. E. Howard Will Be Manufactured Here—11 Acres of Ground Already Purchased, and $100,000 to Be Spent in Building Immediately.

A new electrical industry is about to be started with headquarters in Plainfield. The staple of the new company is an incandescent arc lamp, and is the invention of Louis E. Howard, of 237 East Ninth street. Mr. Howard's lamp is a material departure from all the forms of electric lamps now in use. Incandescent arc lamps have been the subject of experiment for many years, but apparently insurmountable difficulties have stood in the way of their practical use. Mr. Howard has been experimenting on this lamp for considerably more than a year, but not until recently have sufficient tests been made to render its practical success a certainty.

As its name implies, the new lamp is a combination of the principles of arc lamp and the incandescent lamp. It consists primarily of the carbons, which form the arc, which are enclosed in an envelope of highly refractory glass.

The company, of which Mr. Howard is President, owns patents covering all the features of the lamp in 23 different countries. It is to be known as The Royal Arc Electric Company, and has purchased eleven acres of land on the west side of the railroad track near Netherwood for the erection of Mr. Howard's laboratories. These are to be built at once, at a cost of $100,000, and houses are to be erected for the workmen. A one hundred and twenty-five horse-power engine has been decided on for the works. The contracts for the exclusive rights in many of the States have already been negotiated for, and it is expected that the company will have more than it can attend to for some time after it signifies its readiness for the transaction of business. Yesterday afternoon Mr. Howard received a telegram of congratulation from Chicago on the manner in which his invention had been received by the International Electrical Congress, and his parlors were crowded last night with friends who came in from all sides to congratulate him.

A WIDE-AWAKE AGENT.

She Rouses the Ire of Charlie Hand, and Wants His Money to Retire on.

An enterprising book agent today consulted counsel to bring suit for damages against Charles Hand. The agent claims that yesterday Hand's daughter engaged to canvass for books, with her mother's consent; that the girl deposited $7 for the agent's outfit, as a guarantee of good faith, the money to be refunded when the sales reached a certain sum; that Charles today entered her apartments without leave and tried to force her to take the outfit back and refund the money; that when she refused to do anything except as in the contract, he swore at her, and slandered her; that he has spread false and malicious stories about town against her reputable business; and that thereby he has done her great damage.

She declares herself as determined to secure reparation, and told Hand that she deserved to get enough of his money in return for his abuse to retire on.

Mr. Hand tried to have her arrested for fraud, but Justice Nash refused to entertain a complaint on the grounds that her business was perfectly legitimate.

A brother of the woman, who is canvassing Plainfield with her, for agents, claims to have been threatened with violence by Mr. Hand, and will have the irate man arrested Monday.

NO STARVING HERE.

Instead, Mr. McMahon Found Plainfield Fairly Prosperous.

John McMahon, of the State Board of Arbitration, visited Plainfield yesterday to investigate the report that the working people of the place were starving to death.

Mr. McMahon was agreeably surprised to find no such deplorable condition of affairs as had been reported. Of course he was sorry to find many men out of work, but distress by no means prevailed.

Mr. McMahon called on the large employers of the town, and found them willing as far as possible to take care of their own employes.

He was particularly delighted with the statement of Walter Scott, who is regarded as one of the best friends labor has, and who assured him that he should provide full employment for all his hands all the time, no matter at what a loss.

Mr. McMahon wants The Press to state that any worthy unemployed who are in need will be provided for by the Relief Fund of the Federation of Trades and Labor Unions of New Jersey, if they will communicate their wants to him, care of The Labor Standard, Newark.

SAYS THE BOYS ARE TERRORS.

They Must Stop Their Infernal Racket or Go to Jail.

P. P. Van Arsdale of 301 East Front street has made complaint against his neighbors' boys whom he says have been making life unbearable for him. One of the fathers visited him last night, apologized, and said his boys should bother him no more. Mr. Van Arsdale says the boys have been a terror; that they have made great and continual hullabaloo, and that they have done damage by trespassing and by breaking windows.

He absolutely denies having beaten or choked any of them, and says their annoyance has made his wife ill, absolutely driving her into spasms.

ALMOST A FATALITY.

QUICK-WITTED JIMMY MOORE SAVES PASSENGERS' LIVES.

Thrilling Moment at Fanwood Station—This Custom of Permitting One Train to Pass Another at Stations Where Passengers Are Alighting, Should Be Stopped.

As train No. 14 ran into the Fanwood station yesterday afternoon, the passengers for that place, as is usual, were ready to alight. Just before reaching the station, a sudden jar was felt by all on the train, and those on the platforms were nearly thrown off. The train was due to arrive at Fanwood at 5:53, but being late met the train from the east due at 6:08, at the station. Judge Moore was on the bottom step of a car, about to step off, as the train came to a sudden halt. "Look out there, papa!" came a shrill voice from the station platform.—"Hold the people back. Your engine has left you, and there comes the other train." The Judge acted promptly, recognizing the voice as that of his son, and prevented what might have been a serious if not fatal accident in pressing back those about to alight directly in front of the westbound train. On inspection, the young boy's words were found to be true. Engine No. 160 had left its train, having by some strain broken the casting connecting it with the forward car, completely off, and thus being released dashed ahead at terrific speed, not stopping until nearly up to the Fanwood curve.

Train No. 524, with P. and R. Engine 207, immediately followed, and, attaching the cars of Train 14 to its own, ran them into Jersey City. Engine 150, not being able to couple on, but otherwise all right, ran east on Track 3.

"How came you to call out so loud, Jimmy?"—asked his father.

"I saw the engine break loose"—was the reply—"and was afraid you might get hurt. Kiss me, daddy!"—and the Judge did.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Clifton left town today for two weeks at Chicago. Thence they will go to Minneapolis to visit Mr. Clifton's sister.

Policeman Saunders is alternating his eight vacation days between fishing in Green brook and practising his bicycle on Richmond street.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Conover and daughters, Misses C. J. and E. L. Conover, of Jackson avenue, North Plainfield, are at Asbury Park, for two weeks.

Miss Maggie Ball, formerly a teacher in the primary department of the Plainfield public schools, is in town visiting friends. Her present home is Orange Park, Fla.

Mrs. W. H. Sprague, of 214 Muhlenberg place, and her two children, will start next week for Towanda, Pa., where they will spend a few weeks with Mrs. Sprague's people.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Poillon, famous for their generous hospitality, have been entertaining their delighted friends during the summer at their cottage, "Onalare", Spring Lake.

The Rev. Franklin G. Warnick, pastor of Mt. Olive Baptist church, has begun the publication of a bright little church paper, The Mystic Mirror, which is commended to to the people for their support. The pastor is assisted in his editorial duties by his faithful wife.

The Rev. H. F. Randolph, pastor of the Grace M. E. church, North Plainfield, is in love with the beauties of nature so lavishly bestowed on the Watchung hills back of Plainfield. He spent yesterday at the Voehl home, Sunset Cottage, near Mt. Horeb, drinking in the delights, and gathering flowers of oratory for his Sunday sermons.

The only changes in Plainfield pulpits tomorrow from the regular preachers will be: Rev. Dr. Ketcham, First Baptist; Rev. C. L. Mead, Crescent Avenue; David M. Moore, Warren chapel; Rev. W. P. Eisdon, Park Avenue Baptist; Elder F. C. Cass, First Church of Christ; Rev. George Bowers, Mary E. Wilson chapel; George D. Morrison, Y. M. C. A.; Harry Adams, Third Street mission.

A Great Choir, This!

In the First Presbyterian church tomorrow there will be special music, morning and evening. The choir will consist of Miss Lillian E. Kent, of Elizabeth, contralto; Miss Blanche Fellows, of Plainfield, soprano; Townsend Fellows, of Albany, bass; and James Dunn, of Rahway, tenor.

—Mrs. Bridget Newman, "Queen of the Boulevard", paid the City Court $5 this morning for her little racket with James Barry, Thursday night.

SUN-LIGHT and FRESH AIR are THE BEST DISINFECTANTS, of course; but you can't apply them in every situation. What next? Well, that depends. For damp cellars use Quicklime, plenty of it. For vaults and cesspools use COPPERAS; cheap stuff; we sell it by the pound or hundred-weight—instructions thrown in. For kitchen sinks, for water-closets, for house plumbing, for the sick room, to deodorize discharges, to purify the air and to prevent contagion, use REYNOLDS'S ODORLESS DISINFECTANT. Made and sold for fifteen years at Reynolds's Pharmacy, Corner Park and North Avennes.

A Few Honest Suggestions Which Should Be Appreciated.
All tooth powders practically contain the same ingredients, namely, chalk, castile soap, etc., with some flavoring. We use in the manufacture of Royal Tooth Powder the best English prepared chalk, the finest English Castile soap, delicately flavored. Your dentist will tell you these substances are perfectly harmless and accomplish all that is to be expected from a tooth powder. A full 2-ounce package of this unexcelled article (same as is usually sold for 25c. under other names, but which we retail for 10c.) will be given with each $1 purchase and upwards. People of correct ideas will appreciate this offer, but some will say, "We never use tooth powder." Those who do use it, however, can be distinguished from those who don't, as the rose can be distinguished from the dandelion. This will seem cruel to some, but duty compels us to speak plainly. The "Royal" is being received everywhere, and jobbers compliment us with their duplicate orders. A trial of Royal Tooth Powder will delight you. J. C. ALLEN, Plainfield, N. J.

CHARLES P. RICE SUED.

On the Eve of His Departure for His Fortune in Europe, a Claim on a Note Confronts Him.

An action was brought in Justice Mosher's Court yesterday by Chas. K. Moore to recover $200 from Charles P. Rice on a promissory note of $250.

Justices not having jurisdiction in amounts over $200, the Colonel waived the extra $50 so as to have a quick decision and thus not interfere with Mr. Rice's proposed European trip.

The note is said to have been given for money loaned in 1889.

Lawyer Walter L. Hetfield is attending to the interests of the plaintiff.

Judge Mosher made the summons returnable Wednesday next at 10 a. m., and placed it in the hands of Constable Mattox, by whom it was promptly served. The litigation is the result of the old water-works business transactions.

—The Improved Order of Red Men worked the Adoption Degree on two palefaces last evening.

—For the next ten days U. B. Crane will sell at about half-price all summer wear, to make room for fall stock.

—Initiations will be a feature of the meeting of Plainfield Council, No. 711, Royal Arcanum, Monday evening.

—A Blue Line train from New York was delayed five hours last night in reaching Plainfield, owing to the breaking of part of the locomotive machinery.

—Meetings will be held tonight and all day tomorrow by the Salvation Army, conducted by Captain Alice Bull, assisted by Lieutenants Myrtle Agnew and Mattie Watson.

—Trinity Reformed church is closed for annual repairs and cleaning. Sunday-school and preaching services will both be omitted tomorrow. The regular Wednesday evening prayer meeting will also be omitted next week, but on Monday evening at 8 a union service will be held with the Y. P. S. C. E., to which all are invited.

—The Press office is the coolest place in town, but even that has during the past two days been sizzling up with the terrific heat. Just as the staff were in a state of collapse, Tier saved their lives by sending around some of his boss ice-cream. Tier keeps his cream in an atmosphere of 40 degrees below zero, and it comes in bricks with frost on the outside an inch thick. Tier's cream is just the sweetest and most delicious thing manufactured, as everyone knows. Better have some for Sunday's dinner.

THE EVE OF A LONG FAREWELL.

MR. AND MRS. BREWSTER TURN THEIR FACES WESTWARD.

Reception Given Them at Parting by Comrades of Women's Relief Corps and Grand Army Post—Everyone Has a Sociable Time, But Regrets the Occasion for It.

The farewell reception given by the Women's Relief Corps, No. 10, to Mr. and Mrs. Monroe R. Brewster, at the rooms of the Corps on Front street, last night, was a most pleasant affair. It was the eve of the departure of Mr. and Mrs. Brewster to the far northwestern State of Washington.

After the business of the evening session of the Corps was transacted, Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., and their friends, were invited into the room.

The president, Mrs. Edward Morse, occupied the chair, and seated in the places of honor beside her were Commander M. C. Dobbins and Past Commander W. C. Smith, of the Post.

The president instructed Guard Sarah A. Mattox to escort Mr. and Mrs. Brewster to the front, where chairs were placed for them.

Mrs. Morse then made a few remarks appropriate to the occasion. She said that while it was with sadness that they were to lose two valuable supporters of the organization, they still joined heartily in wishing them godspeed on their journey.

Commander Dobbins was called on, and spoke relative to the departure of the comrade and his wife. The theme of his talk was gratitude, and he stated that all were grateful for the assistance and support received by the fraternity from those about to go away.

Happy Bob Mattox by request gave the recitation "The Picture Turned Toward the Wall", in his usual good style.

Intermingling the speeches, a vocal duet by the Misses Maggie Page and Fanny Westphal was heartily appreciated. Miss Lucy Westphal was the accomplished accompanist.

Comrade Vincent W. Nash in a few well-chosen words expressed his sentiments of regret.

In one corner of the room, unseen by many, sat a young man, whose very name when mentioned before a Plainfield audience precipitates enthusiasm; and when the presiding officer called on John Carney for a speech, the applause was loud and long. Mr. Carney greatly delighted the audience by his quaint and comical renditions in broken German dialect. He gave several selections, for which he received hearty applause.

Comrades Hand and McDonald were called on, and spoke briefly and feelingly of their sorrow in the loss of the departing ones.

Past Commander W. C. Smith was asked to sing a song. He said, jokingly, that he had been expecting it, and for six weeks past had been practising for the occasion. Then he sang two selections that were really very pretty.

Mr. and Mrs. Brewster were invited to say a few words. They expressed their feelings of regret in leaving Plainfield and and those they loved, and said they would ever remember the manifold kindnesses extended to them by their many friends.

A recitation by Miss Florence Dodge was exceedingly well given, and thoroughly enjoyed.

Remarks by Comrades Charles Stephens, Edward Morse and Francis M. Whitely gave further evidence of the high esteem in which Mr. and Mrs. Brewster were held.

Miss Maggie Page, Miss Maggie Summers, Miss Sarah Smith, Miss Florence Dodge, Miss Fanny Westphal and Mrs. McCann sang very sweetly "After the Ball". Miss Nash accompanied them in excellent style on the piano.

Miss Try Mattox by request gave a very pretty recitation, entitled "Jesus Lover of My Soul".

This concluded the set programme, and ice-cream and cake were served in abundance to the relish of all.

An ode was sung, bringing to a close another most enjoyable event long to be remembered.

Don't Miss the Ostrich Dance in "Hoss & Hoss".

"Hoss & Hoss", reconstructed and rejuvenated, will be presented at Music Hall next Thursday night by Willie Collier, the quaint comedian, and his superexcellent company. This is the fourth season for this organization, which like wine improves with age. The company this year is larger, stronger and better than ever, while the piece itself has been entirely re-written up to date. Though all the old features have been left intact, there are many new specialties, parodies, songs and dances, which combined promise to make this engagement the most enjoyable yet seen. Willie Collier as the Saugerties Judge is as quaint and inimitable as ever, and the company includes some of the best farceurs in America. The Bowery Ball, always a strong feature, is still given, with Helena Collier as the tough girl, and all the old favorites in their various characters. Louise Allen Collier will introduce a new dance, called the ostrich dance, in which she will appear in a costume made entirely of ostrich feathers, which is pronounced a dream by connoiseurs, and should prove a great attraction to the gentler sex who like to see the latest thing in fashions.

Things Worth Remembering.

When you feel a kind of goneness about the stomach it is a sign that your food does not sit well and that you are about to have a fit of indigestion.

When you begin to feel nervous and are unable to sit still comfortably; when your clothes suddenly seem to lose their fit and become too tight in places the fit of indigestion is surely upon you.

When this fit of indigestion is recreated from day to day it finally resolves itself into dyspepsia.

Remember that three to ten of BRANDRETH PILLS will cure the worst case of indigestion or dyspepsia, or both, and that a regular course of them, say two every night for a week or ten days, will act as a preventive of either complaint.

SHORTER ROUTE TO THE SHORE.

Florida Grove to Be Sacrificed for the Jersey Central's New Route.

The Commissioners appointed to investigate the value of the property at Florida Grove, over which the new branch of the Jersey Central Railroad is going to run, and condemn it for the use of the road, met yesterday at Perth Amboy, investigated the grounds and took testimony. The board consists of J. Bayard Kirkpatrick, W. P. Voorhees and Col. I. S. Snedeker.

The property in question belongs to the Florida Grove Company, of which Sheriff Acken is one of the stockholders. The Central Railroad has offered the company $1,000 for the ground they need, but the company wants $20,000.

The Central tracks now form the sides of a triangle, with Elizabethport at the apex and Perth Amboy and Bound Brook at the other points. The proposed tracks will go along the base line of the triangle and will thus save the railroad about seventy-two miles of travel. It has been said that the railroad was only going to be a spur to get the brick trade along the Raritan. The railroad men deny this and say they want it in order to shorten the route from the shore to Philadelphia.

The proposed line will greatly benefit New Brunswick by giving it an opposition railroad, and give Plainfield a short route to the shore by way of Bound Brook. It will pass through Highland Park and thus tend to build up that place. It bears the appearance of being a sure thing and not a railroad on paper. The Commissioners will meet in New Brunswick again next week.

The Book of the Fair.

The only work in any wise attempting to reproduce in print the Columbian Exposition entire is The Book of the Fair, that most admirable work to which these columns have already referred. In this respect it is without a competitor. It confines itself neither to art alone on the one side, nor to dry statistic on the other, but presents in attractive and accurate form the whole realm of art, industry, science and learning, as exhibited at the Fair by the nations. The work will consist of 1,000 imperial folio pages, 12x16 inches, and is being issued in 25 parts of 40 pages each, at the rate of two parts monthly, and at the price of $1 a part. Its illustrations are the finest obtainable, and number 2,000, from official sources. Many of them are full page plates covering 102 square inches of surface. For its superior excellence and artistic beauty, with outs of the finest, and heavy paper of highest enameled finish, The Book of the Fair was selected by the Miehle Company to be printed as an exhibit on their new improved press in the Machinery Hall of the Exposition.

United Workmen Grieve Their Loss.

At a regular meeting of Central Lodge, No. 48, A. O. U. W., held the 24th day of August, 1893, the following resolutions were adopted by the Lodge:

WHEREAS, It has pleased Almighty God in His allwise Providence to remove from us by sudden death our brother, John C. Manchester, and

WHEREAS, We are thereby reminded of the uncertainty of life and the immutable certainty of death, therefore be it

Resolved, That while we bow in humble submission to the will of Him who doeth all things well, we deeply deplore our loss and extend to the family of our deceased brother our sympathy in this their hour of affliction.

Resolved, That these resolutions be recorded in the book of records, and a copy be sent to the family of our late brother, and published in the Plainfield daily papers, and be it further

Resolved, That as a token of respect to our late brother, we drape our charter for a period of thirty days.

Rats, You Heathen Hypocrite!

(From The Madison Eagle.)

Will the Madison Eagle please be so kind as to forbear from coming to Westfield? It (i. e. its excellent editor,) has been in Plainfield, and says:—"Plainfield is a very wicked place". The contrast would shock Bro. Bardon if he visited here.—Westfield Leader.

Not at all, Bro. Morse. The contrast between Plainfield and Madison is great beyond description, and we are prepared for almost anything. Keep away from that town, brother, we beg of you! If you did insist upon going there the rest of your days would be clouded with sorrow because of the extreme wickedness of the people upon the Sabbath day.

Cabmen Fall Out.

An interesting controversy took place yesterday afternoon about 3, on East Second street, between Patrick Keely and Michael Welch, cabmen. Welch got into Keely's rig, and Keely objected and threw him out. Welch climbed in again, and then the fun began. They rolled around on the ground and wrapped their whips around one another until they got tired, when they separated and went their ways, each swearing vengeance.

Bowling at Dunellen Today.

The Middlesex Bowling Green Club will play at Dunellen this afternoon. The badge which is offered by the club for the best individual bowling and which is now held by H. P. Haffner, will be contested for. The entries will close at 2:30 p. m. The club has a fine bowling ground at Dunellen upon the property of Christian Schepflin.

SATURDAY NIGHT TALES.

THE MAN ON THE CARS AGAIN HEARD FROM.

He Delivers His Ideas About Plainfield Commuters, and Makes Some Unkind Comments.

"It's a funny thing"—said The Man on the Cars, as the train whirled through Cranford at a fifty-five-second gait—"what a variety of people one encounters on the railway." Nobody was disposed to contradict, and he went on: "The oddest part of it is the difference in the classes met on the New York trains in the mornings; somehow the homecoming crowds at night are more confused; but I'll wager that, if I were set down at the foot of Liberty street any morning without knowledge of the time, I could name the various Plainfield train-loads as they arrived, simply by glancing at the crowds.

"Take the 6:27 from Plainfield, for instance. That carries chiefly laboring men of the higher class—skilled workmen, not too proud, however, for the tin-pail accompaniment, and you can pick them out without a second look. Then the 6:59 is mostly filled with the younger commutation element, the $3 and $5 a week contingent, who have to get in town and unlock the office and dust off the desks before the boss arrives. The 7:26 carries a restless, energetic, hustling lot of busy men who must get to their work early or die. The 7:58 differs again. Its cargo has a dominating air of bank-clerk about it with an admixture of general riff-raff, and it is, I suppose, the most profitable train of the day. But I always hate to ride upon it. Its people stare at you with jealousy in their eyes when you enter the cars, and make you feel at once that you are intruding and out of your class. It is the most uncomfortable lot of persons I ever saw together, and I am relieved to turn my mind to the 8:27, the load of which is made up of deluded souls who fancy that a train must be a good one because it makes no stops, and others who are particular about draughts and opened doors, for there is a tradition that because this train stoppeth not the car doors remain closed. As a matter of fact, I never saw a train upon which the brakemen did so much running through and through and in and out and kept the doors so continually slamming. The 8:31 carries a nice, quiet lot of men with easy hours, peaceable souls and restful ways, who don't much care when they get to town. But the people in the early trains are the most congenial, and the 7:26 is the pleasantest and swiftest of all, since the daily caucus of religious fanatics which used to make it unbearable by their loud talking, distributing of unintelligible tracts, and general obstreperous behavior, have deserted it for some other train. Hello, what's this? Netherwood, already! Goodness gracious, how we travel nowadays!"

And The Man on the Cars got up and climbed out on the platform in order to be the first off at Plainfield.

THE CAPTAIN AND THE COLONEL.

Yarn No. 3 Tells How Rats Saved a Ship from Foundering.

"You know, Colonel, that mosquito story of yours was a trifle on the order of economizing the truth, but it reminded me of what happened on a cruise I once made from the east coast of Africa to Kamschatka. We were loaded with railroad iron in rails; and loading such a cargo in the hold of a vessel you must understand requires considerable skill; and even by the best management there will be an empty space fore and aft.

"Well, sir, in those days ships were overrun with rats, and this voyage was no exception, for we had hardly been at sea three weeks before we sprung a leak, and that right in the middle of the Indian Ocean. I sent the carpenter below, and he reported the ship making water fast, but he could not discover the leak. I went down myself into the hold, taking my speaking trumpet with me. Placing the small end to my ear, and listening intently, I quickly located the place where the water was pouring in, and on further investigation found a round hole in the bottom of the vessel, forward, made by rats having gnawed through the plank and timbers to find water."

"Did the ship sink?"—laconically asked the Colonel.

"No: and that was the curious part of the whole thing, and far beyond any experience of mine up to that time. If you will believe me, sir, those rats when they saw the water in the hold, and recognized that they were liable to be drowned, went to work on that railroad iron and gnawed and gnawed to lighten the ship as the water rose toward them. The iron gnawed off, they carried to a point just over the hole in the bottom, and dropped it through, thus saving themselves and the crew from a watery grave. Of course the cargo was made several tons lighter, and when two weeks later we arrived in port the owners were so well pleased with the safe arrival of the vessel, on learning the particulars they unloaded the cargo, plugged up the hole in the bottom, and filled the hold with cheese as ballast for a return trip."

"Good-Night, Colonel."

"Good-Night, Captain."

Each Criticizes the Other.

A resident of North avenue sharply criticizes Policeman Kiely for alleged brutality in torturing the "mad" dog yesterday. He says the dog was absolutely butchered, and that the women of the neighborhood were sickened and prostrated by the exhibition. The officer claims that this same man insulted him, and says he will arrest him early next week, after Judge Coddington comes back from his fishing trip. The North avenue man has fortified himself with a host of witnesses, and lively music is anticipated.

I was a sufferer from catarrh for fifteen years with distressing pain over my eyes. I used Ely's Cream Balm with gratifying results. Am apparently cured. E. C. Warner, Rutland, Vt.

I suffered from a severe cold in my head for months and could get no relief. Was advised to use Ely's Cream Balm. It has worked like magic in its cure. I am free from my cold after using the Balm one week, and I believe it is the best remedy known.—Samuel J. Harris, wholesale grocer, 119 Front st., New York.

HARD TIMES

force many alleged business men to hide their faces and bemoan their ill luck. They also force many, through inaction, to fail.

It is, however, the golden opportunity of the bright, plucky man who has the nerve to advertise and push his goods. He talks to buyers through his advertisements, making the ads larger and inserting them oftener, so that his goods are continually moving.

He thus has a clear field, and, knowing how to utilize it, gets the public's money.

Plainfield people buy what they need at all times. They are influenced in their purchases by what they read in their newspapers. Advertisements in local papers sell goods.

DIED OF HIS INJURIES.

Flagman Apgar Was Attended by Physicians Who Order the Hospital Matron to Tell Nothing About It.

Peter Apgar, a flagman on the Rockaway Valley Railroad, received fatal injuries last night near the White House Station on the Jersey Central. It is not known how he was hurt. He was brought to Plainfield on freight train that arrived about this morning, and was removed to the hospital by a wagon procured from Roberts's stable by Freight Agent Haynes. He died in the hospital about 4 this morning, and his father from German Valley came on to take charge of the remains. One of the dead man's legs was crushed, but he died of internal injuries. His age was 19. Undertaker Casey will take the body to German Valley Monday.

Those in charge of the hospital refused to give information concerning the case, stating that they had been forbidden by the Staff to disclose anything.

WRECK NEAR POND TOOL WORKS.

Six Coal Cars Smashed on the Jersey Central Tracks.

A wreck occurred at Evona about 5:30 this morning. Engine No. 668 was drawing a train of empty coal cars on the westbound track. When nearing Evona, a coupling on one of the cars broke, and sent six cars off the track, piling them on top of one another. The force of the cars coming together twisted the compressed air tube of the automatic signal system considerably, but did not prevent its working. The wrecking crew cleared away the debris by 10:40. Traffic was kept up on the one track that was not blockaded. No one was hurt.

Congressman Dunn's New Cane.

Congressman John T. Dunn, of the Eighth New Jersey District, is sporting a new and rather unique cane presented to him by E. W. Hadden, of Cranford. The stick is made of ordinary orange wood. The head has a history. It is made of wood taken from a pulpit of a Methodist church in Cranford said to be 130 years old. The head is a nondescript and is handsomely carved and highly polished. Just underneath the handle is a small silver plate containing the following inscription: "To Hon. John T. Dunn from E. W. Hadden, 1893." The gentleman from Elizabeth is very proud of his new walking-stick, and takes great pleasure in showing it to his Congressional friends.

Corporation Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the Common Council have fixed the thirty-first day of August, A. D. 1893, at 8 o'clock p. m., and the Council Chamber, No. 109 Park avenue, in the city of Plainfield, as the time and place for J. Frederick MacDonald, William H. Sandford and Edward C. Mulford, the commissioners appointed by the Common Council pursuant to the ordinance entitled, "An ordinance to widen Madison avenue from the south easterly side line of West Front street to the northwesterly line of the right of way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey," approved June 5, 1893, to meet. The street proposed to be widened and laid out is Madison avenue from the southeasterly side line of West Front st. to the northwesterly line of the right of way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey. The alterations proposed to be made are to widen said Madison so that the same shall be of the uniform width of twenty-five feet on each side of the centre line thereof, which centre line is described in said ordinance, and shown on map on file in the office of the City Clerk entitled "Assessment map for the widening of Madison avenue from West front street of the Central Railroad of New Jersey, city of Plainfield, N. J., dated 1893, made by F. A. Dunham, civil engineer."

The lands and real estate intended to be taken for such purpose are all those comprising twenty-five feet of either side of said centre line between the southeasterly side line of West Front street, and the northwesterly line of the right of way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey, as shown by said map and said ordinance, to which reference is hereby made for more detailed description.

By order of the Common Council.

IT IS NOT AN ACCIDENT

That our business has grown to its present proportions. Everything that a complete knowledge of the Piano and Organ business can do for a customer is done here. There is no mystery here—all that we know, you may know if you'll listen. Our years of experience has taught us that the Steinway, Gabler, Vose, Sterling and Braumeller Pianos are the best to be had; each has its own peculiar features stamping it distinct from the others. Which one is best for you is a question. Any time you'll come in will help you solve it.

CRUELTY OF A WOMAN.

Nim Crinkle Would Have Us Think Marriage Is a Failure.

A Mill Where Hearts Are Ground to Dust —A Cynical and Ungallant Attack Upon the Gentle Sex—A Domestic Study.

[COPYRIGHT, 1893.]

That phrase, I grant you, is very French, and, consequently, paradoxical, but—soul of the sex—so is my subject.

"Consistency is a jewel," and, for fear that my article will not sparkle too much, I plant that gem at the head as security.

Girls who roll their companions in blankets and brand their college mates with nitrate of silver have not awakened to their powers. They are like their brothers, who think it poignant to cut their names in the grand piano and put pepper on the stove at prayer time. When they have grown to the full exercise of their powers and can break a mother's heart, probably, they look back at these things with contempt.

When a girl gets her first lover she begins to see how terribly inadequate all her previous fiendishness was—how gross and material and childish the pin-sticking business was. Now that she has a human heart in her toils she arrives at the first knowledge of her power to inflict pain.

In an article of this kind a fellow has got to allude somewhere to a cat playing with a mouse before she destroys it. It can't be avoided, so I allude to it at once. A girl first begins to be feline when she gets a lover. She is a combination of fur, purr and talons. I have been a mouse myself and I know how it is. She used to let go of me and say in the purr language: "Now run away, you don't amuse me any longer." I don't remember how many attempts I made, but she always put her velvet paw out and stopped me. Then finally she gobbled me.

I have a friend who is a married mouse. Sometimes we commune at the club under our breaths. He is a philosopher. Most married mice are. He has told me of the almost superhuman cunning of the depraved sex. He says that the beautiful feline monster that caught him made him believe that it was his mission to mold cats into the semblance of mice. She used to look down at him, he says, and purr a profound desire to be molded. There were no objects in life but mice objects. She did not care for cats; they were treacherous and small minded. Her ideal was a mouse. O, that she could become more like him.

The molding business he now says is a hollow mockery. It's the wrong fellow who gets molded.

My friend has made several attempts to scamper away. I remember once he came over to my rooms, about ten o'clock at night, very red and flustered, and carrying his traveling bag.

"Well, old fel," he said, "this time she went too far. The die is cast. We have separated. Good-by, old boy. I'm going to a hotel. Take off your slippers and come and take something."

I told him that I sympathized with him, but that he forgot that my wife did not allow me to take things. He wrung my hand and disappeared into the night.

I was very much grieved over my friend's misfortune and came near writing a reproachful letter to his wife. But the next morning he went to his house to get some personal papers that he had left behind. His wife began to play "Annie Rooney" when he came in; he slammed the doors upstairs, jammed the bureau drawers, knocked down the bird cage and then listened. She was still playing in the parlor, but she had changed the tune to something like a waltz. Then he opened the door savagely and called down the stairs:

"Esther, what the deuce did you do with my papers that were in the bureau?"

Esther came up in the most unconcerned manner, still humming the waltz. "I think," she said, "you might wipe your feet before you come into my room."

"O, I haven't time now to think about wiping my feet," he replied. "I've something more urgent to attend to."

"Are you sure," she said, demurely, without looking at him, "that there are any papers? I don't remember seeing any."

"Well, I want you to understand," he snorted, quite savagely, "that I will not leave this house till I get them."

"Can't I send them to you?" she meekly asked.

"No, sir, I want them now, and I don't stir a foot till I get them."

And he didn't. So you see it was lucky for me that I didn't write the letter to his wife.

Whenever he comes over now at night to wake me up and inform me that this time the break is for good, that no earthly power can heal the breach, and all is over at last, I mildly inquire why he can't arrange the final breach in the daytime. And the last time I was so aggravated that I dropped to the momentary perfidy of a pun. "Look here, old boy," I said, "I have heard of wives wearing the breeches, but these breaches must be wearing the wife, really now."

But he only wrung my hand, told me that his was a hidden sorrow, but the world was wide, and then proceeded as before to go out into the night and perform his idiot feat of circling round the neighborhood and getting over fences and climbing in at his own window in the morning.

He never succeeded in getting beyond the reach of the velvet paw. But his intention was good.

My other friend—to distinguish him I will call him a white mouse—suffers from continual abandonment by his wife. She has a subtle instinct, which tells her that he has specially loving spells. She watches these spells coming on and then makes a sudden visit to her mother. My white mouse on these occasions comes home loaded with extra delicacies and finds the house deserted. He storms, knocks over the umbrella stand, musses up the toilet stand, throws the tidies on the floor, kicks the dog and swears he will go and find the boys and have a good time.

He never does; he goes obediently in search of his tyrant to her mother's, and there he is worried for hours by the two women who treat him with extra politeness and tell him what a scheme they have of going off for a week's outing and letting him run the house all by himself. When he is brought to the last limit of endurance and rushes out, declaring that he will go off himself for a month, his tormentor returns home again and waits for him as demurely as if she had never been out of the house.

"CAN'T I SEND THEM TO YOU?" SHE SAID.

The exercise of this kind of power is a woman's prerogative. If she doesn't torment you she doesn't tone you.

Both of my mice have evolved a theory that man should never give up his natural ruffianism if he wants to have his own way with a woman.

They always say Shakespeare knew how to get along with women. Ah! what a head he had, my boy; he created Petruchio. Women respect ruffians; men who wreak things, who have spasms that is not politic to bring on, in which they knock down their wives and kick the furniture to pieces.

I call this the mouse theory.

It doesn't work.

In the first place, any exhibition of that kind convinces the cat that you have a course organization and cannot suffer keenly. The moment she discovers that fact she loses interest in you. She thinks that her ideal has perished, and if you are not careful she will set up another one with finer susceptibilities.

In the second place, she is apt to remark somewhere in your career with an angel voice that it must be fun to have to buy the furniture three times over.

I know of one of these creatures, who conceived the purely feminine iniquity of instigating her spouse to strike her, just for the exquisite delight of going about afterward with a black eye and sticking the knife of remorse into him in her sweetest manner.

That will explain to you why the wives who appear in the police court against the wife beaters always beg the judge to let them off.

Good heavens! You don't suppose they would willingly give up the exquisite delight of making the men suffer for it, to the judge, do you?

No, no, my boy; women are not inquisitions who use thumbscrews and try to convert people. They are delicious little Neros, who want to sit on an ivory throne and enjoy suffering for the fun of it. Men who deceive and abandon women are wild beasts. Women who coax men to fall in love with them, so that they can torture them are esthetes, and they must be pardoned because they are not thinking of the suffering they inflict, only of the satisfaction they receive.

LONG ISLAND'S HORROR

Fourteen Killed in the Railway Wreck Sunday Morning.

MANY OTHERS WILL PROBABLY DIE

Col. E. A. Buck, Editor of the Spirit of the Times, Among the Dead—How the Accident Happened—Scenes of Indescribable Horror.

LONG ISLAND CITY, L. I., Aug. 28.—An accident that cost the lives of 14 people occurred shortly after midnight Sunday morning in the little village of Berlin, near Calvary Cemetery, in the town of Newtown. The Long Island Railway train that left Manhattan at 11:15 o'clock was overtaken by the train that left Rockaway 15 minutes earlier. In the frightful collision that ensued the two rear cars of the five that made up the Manhattan Beach train were demolished and the middle car was overturned. Hardly one of the scores of passengers aboard these three cars escaped unhurt.

Following are corrected lists of the dead and injured:

The Dead.

COL. E. A. BUCK, 55 years, editor Spirit of the Times.

OSCAR DIETZEL, 40 years, 122 East 114th street, died at St. John's hospital.

MRS. MAGGIE DIETZEL, wife, 29 years, died at Morgue.

MRS. BERTHA WEINSTEIN, 347 East 58th street, died at Morgue. Her husband is at the hospital.

SIDNEY WEINSTEIN, 13 years, her son, dead at Morgue.

THOMAS FINN, Brakeman, Manhattan Beach train, died at hospital.

Unknown young woman, blonde, two cards in pocket, upon one, "Laura Duffy, 1931 Madison avenue," and upon the other, "Miss Young, 36 West 17th street, New York."

Unknown woman, 40 years, two cards in Lizard skin pocket-book. Upon one is "Mrs. John Conrad," and upon the other "Mrs. Dyckoff."

Unknown man, small black moustache, letter in pocket addressed to Alexander Grillette, 29 West 27th street, New York.

Unknown man with letter in pocket addressed to Mr. Ditman, 75 West 52d street, New York, also check for $125 signed D. S. Needburg.

Unknown man with bunch of keys marked J. J. Hyland, Westerly, R. I., and small prayer book with J. J. Clancy on fly leaf.

Unknown man, shirt marked E. P. Card in pocket with George Fielding, 1336 Madison avenue, New York upon it, and a valise tag with same name.

Unknown man with letter addressed to Miss McKenna, Clifton, Terrace, Rosebank, Staten Island in pocket.

Unknown man with letter in pocket addressed to "Mr. Stern, care Mr. Goodwin, 238 East 32d street, New York."

The Injured.

John Hahn, 24 years old, of 495 Broadway, Astoria, internal injuries; will recover.

James Barron, 33 years old, 774 Second avenue, New York, scalds and internal injuries; will recover.

Theodore Graeven, 1696 Broadway, New York, terribly hurt; condition critical; wife believed to have been killed.

Eleanor F. Graeven, 18 years, his daughter, scalds and internal injuries; will recover.

Miss Clara Haskell, 101 West 52d street, New York, broken ankle.

Horace G. Kimball, 102 Lincoln place, Brooklyn, spine injured.

Aaron Weinstein; concussion of brain; may die; wife and son dead at morgue.

Morris Fiosheim, 105 East 106th street, New York, right leg broken and eye injured.

James B. Thompson, 50 years, 102 West 64th street, New York; head hurt; will recover.

August Jakobsson, 428 Fourth avenue, New York, horribly hurt; will probably die.

Eugene Weiss, 216 West 16th street, New York, scalded

William Lynch, 935 Park avenue, badly hurt; but will recover.

Frank Larkin, 33 years, 7 Ninth avenue, spine hurt.

Kate Durken, 26 years, 228 East 103d street, New York, suffering from shock; left hospital yesterday.

James J. Brady, 267 West 17th street, New York, internal injuries.

William Livingston, 662 Lorimer street, Brooklyn.

George Hannet, 81 Webster avenue, Long Island City.

James Coughlin, brakeman, Manhattan Beach train, 38 Fifth street, Long Island City.

Scenes of Horror.

The accident happened at half an hour after midnight. It was over an hour before any news of it reached any outside point. It came by a messenger who walked into Long Island City.

The railroad company immediately despatched a relief train with all the physicians obtainable, and everything possible was done to care for the injured.

The scene of the wreck was indescribably horrible. The dead and wounded were massed among the wreckage, beside, upon and beyond the tracks. Everything was showered with the blood of the dead and wounded, and the cries of the latter rose high above the hissing of steam and the calls of the frantic trainmen.

As fast as the wounded were taken from the wreck they were carried to the relief train and cared for.

When all the wounded had been found that could be, the relief train started with them for Long Island City. They were met there by the only ambulance which St. John's hospital owns. Two were placed in it and hurried to the hospital and the ambulance returned for more. Meanwhile express wagons, horse cars, coaches and vehicles of every sort was pressed into service to get the wounded to the hospital quickly.

Seventeen was taken to the hospital in all, of whom two died upon their way there. Oscar Dietzel, of 122 East One Hundred and Fourteenth street, and Thos. Finn, a brakeman on the Manhattan Beach train.

The dead was taken by another special train to Newtown which is the next nearest town to the scene of the accident, and placed in Skelton's morgue by order of Coroner Brandon.

Yesterday both the morgue in Newtown and the hospital in Long Island City were besieged by anxious seekers for missing members of their families. The scenes as some of the mangled bodies were recognized were heartrending, women fainting and men falling on their knees to weep.

Fully 200 persons did not find those they sought among the dead or wounded, and went away with intense relief in sharp contrast with those who found loved ones dead and mangled.

General Manager E. R. Reynolds and Superintendent W. H. Blood were at the scene early. They stated that the cause of the accident was still unknown; that it was a question of veracity between the tower switchman, Nutt, and Engineer Concrits of the Rockaway train. The latter had reported that a heavy fog prevailed at the time, which was true. He declared that signals were set at safety, indicating a clear road, and he went ahead without reducing the speed. Suddenly Fireman Robert Price, his companion, exclaimed: "My God, there is a train ahead!" Looking ahead he saw through the mist the two red lights that always hang at the rear of a train and declares that he immediately reversed his engine and put on steam brakes. Then he and Fireman Price jumped for their lives. When the wrecked engine was examined his statement as to reversed lever and steam brakes was found to be true. The only remaining question was as to whether or not he was right about the danger signal. Yesterday morning it was set at danger and Nutt insisted that it had remained so ever since he set it to warn Engineer Concrite.

Manager Reynolds and Supt. Blood took all these statements and will hold a rigid examination.

VIOLENT HAIL STORM.

Stones Shaped Like Tomatoes and Weighing a Quarter of a Pound.

ROME, N. Y., Aug. 28.—Shortly after 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, this city was visited by a violent electric storm. Two black clouds hanging low and moving swiftly east and west met here. Rain fell in torrents accompanied by hailstones of enormous size. The most of them were tomato shaped, and many of them weighed a quarter of a pound each. In striking the flagging they popped like pistols. Every unprotected skylight in the city was broken, stores were flooded and goods damaged. Plate glass half an inch thick was broken. Tin roofs were broken and set leaking. All the greenhouses in the city were destroyed and the plants and flowers badly damaged. Fruit trees were stripped and melons were destroyed. A canal driver was struck on his head with a hailstone which cut through the woolen hat worn and made a bad wound in his head.

CHIEF ARTHUR'S CASE.

The Famous Suit for Damages Settled Out of Court.

TOLEDO, O., Aug. 28.—The attorneys for the Toledo and Ann Arbor road and Frank Hurd for the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers have agreed to postpone the famous case against Chief Arthur from the September to the December term of the United States Court. The case grew out of the strike on the Ann Arbor last spring, in which the Ann Arbor claimed that Mr. Arthur did it $300,000 worth of damage by the use of his authority.

The postponement of the case was merely a preliminary to its settlement out of court, which has been arranged. What the exact terms and conditions of the settlement are, the public will probably never know. The suit has simply been withdrawn and the attorneys for both sides, as well as the officials for the railroad company, are silent as to the terms.

QUINCY BACK IN POLITICS.

He Leaves the State Department to Help the Massachusetts Democracy.

BOSTON, Aug. 28.—Josiah Quincy has mailed a letter to President Cleveland in which he tendered his resignation of the office of Assistant Secretary of State.

The letter sets forth, in the first place, the exingencies of the Bay State campaign. Mr. Quincy then declares that his own loyalty, his sense of what is right, his natural pugnacity, and his belief that the interests of the Democratic party in Massachusetts will be served by his taking the chairmanship of the State Committee leads him to this decision. And so he writes: "I resign my place as Assistant Secretary of State."

BATTLE OF TRENTON.

Preparations for Unveiling the Monument to George Washington.

TRENTON, N. J., Aug. 28.—The Trenton Battle Monument is so far completed that in a few days the statue of Washington will be placed on the top of the fluted column. It was made at the National Art Foundry, New York. The face of the statue is modeled after Houdan's life mask of Washington, made just after death. The artist is William Rudolph Donovan of Virginia, but now established in New York, who makes a specialty of modeling statues of Washington.

The figure is 13 feet high, and represents Washington in the act of ordering Capt. Alexander Hamilton's battery of New York Artillery into action, the right arm being extended in the act of giving the order, the left hand, holding a field-glass, having dropped to his side. The act which the statue represents was performed on the very spot where the monument stands. Washington then went further upon the heights, and remained there during the battle. Capt. Hamilton was at the time of the battle was but 19 years old.

The statue was paid for by an appropriation by the State of New York, and it is expected it will be unveiled by Gov. Flower at the dedication, Oct. 18. The preparations for the dedication of the monument are going forward in elaborate style. It will be not only an event for the city of Trenton, but for the State as well. The exercises and ceremonies attending it will be in keeping with the importance of the occasion.

COLLISION ON THE HARLEM.

Five Killed and Several Injured, Four of Them Seriously.

PEEKSKILL, N. Y., Aug. 28.—By the collision which occurred Saturday afternoon on the Harlem Road between trains No. 13 and No. 20, passenger trains between Pond and Breakneck's, the following were killed:

WM. ELLIOTT, engineer train 13.

W. BEAN, fireman, train 13.

E. PETERSEN, engineer train 20.

SAMUEL GERNET, fireman train 20.

Miss E. REED, daughter of John A. Reed, of Brewsters. Mr. Reed is in the insurance business, and is a well known resident of Brewsters.

The injured are;

JOHN HANKS, brakeman train 20.

Mrs. Simono Maher, Brewsters.

D. Hermance, Poughkeepsie.

Several others were slightly injured and many badly shaken up. Both engines are complete wrecks, and the accident blocked the main line for five hours.

COLORED BRETHREN.

How One of Their Entertainments at Chicago's Epworth League Hotel.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Aug. 28.—President W. D. Caldwell, of the Memphis Epworth League, has received a telegram from the proprietor of the Hotel Endeavor at Chicago, stating that he did not entertain negroes and offering to furnish accommodations for the members of the local union who visit the World's Fair. The offer was accepted. The feeling against the Hotel Epworth is very bitter and the action of Memphis in boycotting it will be endorsed by all the leagues in the South. Unless the Northern Leagues throw the colored brother overboard the southerners will undoubtedly secede. Telegrams were received from leagues in several other cities indorsing the stand taken by Memphis.

Pilgrims Buried at Sea.

MARSEILLES, Aug. 28.—The steamship Gergovia, of the French Navigation Company, has arrived here from Jeddah. The Captain said that many pilgrims from Mecca took the Gergovia for ports between Jeddah and Marseilles. Twenty of them died of cholera and were buried at sea. The crews of the French steamships Victoria, Languedoc, Auvergne and the ship Lutetia were stricken with cholera, the captain said, in the harbor of Jeddah.

Mrs. Cleveland to Visit Washington.

GREENWICH, Conn., Aug. 28.—Banker Benedict ordered the Oneida's anchor hoisted Saturday and steamed away for Gray Gables. The Oneida will return today, and Mrs. Cleveland and probably the President will be on board. The programme of proceedings in connection with the Oneida's trip is not known. Mrs. Cleveland will return and it is estimated that both she and the President will be the guests of Banker Benedict in Greenwich for a few days or they may proceed direct to New York and thence immediately to Washington.

Tried to Put the Rabbi Out.

NEW HAVEN, Aug. 28.—Joseph Levine, Joseph Soltz and Henry Brody, members of the Congregation B'nai Jacob, a Temple street, have been working for the removal of their rabbi, the Rev. Israel Sachs. The three men in various ways interfered with the services Saturday and finally attempted to drag the rabbi out. About a hundred others of the congregation went to the rabbi's assistance and a lively row ensued. The energetic efforts of a dozen cool heads were required to quell the disturbance. Warrants were issued for the three disturbers.

Mrs. Beecher's Birthday.

YONKERS, N. Y., Aug. 28.—Mrs. Henry Ward Beecher celebrated her 82d birthday at the residence of her son, Col. Henry B. Beecher, of this city, Saturday. Only the immediate members of the family and grandchildren were present, but many messages of congratulation were received.

Victims of the Storm Washed Ashore.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., Aug. 28.—The bodies of Captain Christopher Gratton and First Mate Charles Brown, who were swept overboard from the Fishing Schooner Mary F. Kelley, wrecked here on Thursday morning last, were picked up near Sandy Hook, Saturday.

SHERMAN ACT MUST GO

Its Repeal Considered Among the Certainties.

FURTHER ACTION HARDER TO GUESS.

An Early Decision of the Silver Question Expected in the House—Programme of the Senate—Other Financial Legislation. Springer Opposed to State Banks.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—When the House of Representatives meet at noon today it will begin voting on the several propositions included within the order adopted 15 days ago for the consideration and disposal of the silver purchase question. The vote will be taken first upon the proposition to provide free coinage of silver at a ratio of 16 to 1. This failing, other ratios up to 20 to 1 will be voted upon; then, the House will be given an opportunity to say whether or not it will restore the Bland-Allison act of 1878.

All these are connected with the repeal of the silver purchasing clause of the Sherman law of 1890, that is doubted in any event. Finally all these having failed, assuming that they will fail to secure a majority of the votes cast, the House will face the naked issue of unconditional repeal. It is generally conceded that all of the propositions relating to the coinage of silver will be defeated, and that unconditional repeal will be carried, only the detail of majorities is in doubt.

Saturday all the shining lights of oratory, statesmanship and demagogism of both parties, aired their views to their Congressional colleagues and to an immense throng of American citizens of all races and conditions who came to the Capitol at sunrise in order to get front seats. Ex-Speaker Reed, John Allen, William L. Wilson, Richard P. Bland, John R. Fellows, Bourke Cockran and a host of other greater and lesser lights of all shades of political opinion and on all sides of the silver question lifted up their voices and pleaded for and against the repeal of the famous Sherman act.

On Tuesday the report of the Committee on Rules, recommending the code for the Government of the fifty-third Congress, will be taken up and, it is believed, adopted without much delay. There is no intention manifest at this time to antagonize the committee's recommendations, and after explanation of the effect of the proposed changes by Mr. Catchings, and probably some further observations by Messrs. Reed and Burrows, the minority of the committee, a vote is expected.

After the rules have been adopted the programme in the House is uncertain. A recess for three days may be taken which will give members and employes an opportunity to recover from the unusual and exhaustive strain of the past two weeks. Or the House may determine to continue in session that members may present the bills already prepared and waiting to be introduced. But whether at once or later a small avalanche is expected to materialize which failed to secure favorable action in previous Congresses, establishing at once calendars of considerable magnitude, and giving the new committees plenty of material for examination and report.

It had been practically decided by the most prominent of the anti-silver leaders that the wise course would be to adjourn the House for three days at a time in order to bring public pressure to bear upon the Senate and give the able statesmen there an object lesson with regard to what public pressure means when concentrated upon one point.

Speaker Crisp, strangely enough is opposed to any adjournment of the House and believes it to be the duty of the Representatives to go to work at once upon the framing of a tariff bill in accordance with the suggestion made in the closing paragraphs of President Cleveland's recent message. The Speaker says that the Democratic House was elected by the people, and called in extraordinary session by the President for the purpose of legislating, not adjourning, and he sees no reason why they should not buckle down to work at once.

Some important results are probable from committee action during the week. The Ways and Means Committee will meet to-morrow, at which time a course of procedure will probably be decided upon, including such matters as the approximate date when a tariff bill shall be reported, whether the committee shall give hearings to interested persons or not, and other details relating to the work with which it is charged. Chairman Wilson is reported to have prepared a bill covering the subject of tariff revision in a general way, which he will submit to the committee. There are also several other bills on the subject ready for the committee's consideration, notably those of the New York Reform Club, known as E. Ellery Anderson's, and of Mr. Edward Atkinson, the well-known political economist of Boston.

On the same day the Committee on Banking and Currency will meet, with the expectation of concluding a report upon the bill of Representative Tom L. Johnson, providing for the exchange of national bonds for currency at the demand of the holder. The committee, it is believed, will favorably report the bill, with an amendment intended to protect the gold of the Treasury from raids by those who receive currency for their bonds. The committee will also take up the question of repealing the 10 per cent. tax on the circulation of state banks. On this point Chairman Springer is reported as saying:

"I do not believe the committee will report a bill in favor of the repeal of the tax on State banks. I do not believe in going back to the days of the old state banking system, and of being compelled to have forty-four different kinds of currency in this country. The removal of the tax upon State banks and the reestablishment of the old system would be an obstruction to business. I, for one, am against it, and I do not believe that such a bill can pass. I favor a staple currency, good alike in all the States, accepted without question everywhere, and familiar to the people, and printed upon such paper that counterfeits can be readily detected. Any other currency is an obstruction to business, and I shall oppose it."

Some time in the course of the week the Committee on Appropriations will report bills pursuant to the recommendation of Secretary Carlisle for an appropriation of $300,000 for continuing the redemption of fractional silver coin and an appropriation of $44,800 for distinctive paper for printing Treasury notes. These matters must be provided for speedily, if there is to be no stoppage to the work.

In the Senate the National Bank Extension bill is likely to be taken up at the first opportunity and pushed as rapidly as possible. It may be that a vote can be reached on the Cockrell amendment relative to the deposit of bonds in the Treasury, early in the week, but there still remains the formidable Butler amendment repealing the State bank tax. If this threatens to consume an undue amount of time, it is probable that the bill will be sidetracked in order to allow Mr. Voorhees to forward to discussion and action upon the repeal bill which bears his name. This result may be hastened if the present plan of the silver men takes shape, namely: To endeavor to attach to the bank bill an amendment providing for free silver coinage.

The Wilson bill is expected to reach the Senate not later than Tuesday. It will be promptly referred to the Finance Committee and from that time on the committee will hold daily meetings until it is prepared to make a report to the Senate.

It is within the bounds of possibility some Senator may create a turmoil at some stage by endeavoring to call up the Peffer resolution directed at the New York banks, but this can be done only by a majority vote.

ENGLAND PROTECTS HER SUBJECTS

Uncle Sam Makes Reparation for the Abuse of an English Sailor.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—A Times special from New Orleans says: The National government has made a slight bend of the diplomatic knee, in compliance with a demand from the British Ambassador. It consisted in suspending for 30 days, without pay, Paul Morgan, captain of the night inspectors of customs at this port.

Last May Robert E. Mailhe, first mate of the British steamship Nigretia, had some words with a night inspector. Morgan happened along as the altercation occurred and arrested Mailhe for interfering with a customs officer, treating him rather roughly en route to the jail. The next day Mailhe was discharged by the United States Commissioner.

The local British Consul made an investigation and forwarded the facts to Ambassador Pauncefote, by whom a demand for reparation to Mailhe was made. The special agents of the Treasury sent here to investigate the case made their report last week and Morgan's suspension was ordered by the department at Washington. It is understood that the Ambassador has also asked for financial reparation to Mailhe for false imprisonment.

RIGHTS OF MISSIONARIES.

The Turkish Government Has Promised Proper Protection Hereafter.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—The vigorous protest entered by the United States government against the assault of Miss Melton, an American missionary in the Turkish province of Mosul, has borne fruit that will ensure to some extent in future the safety of Christian missionaries in Turkey. Under instructions from the State Department, the United States Minister at Constantinople made a demand for a rigid investigation of the facts connected with the outrage and the punishment of the guilty parties.

This demand has been met by the Turkish authorities in a manner satisfactory to this government, so far as preliminary steps are concerned. Hereafter the Vizer of Mosul will give a Vizerial letter to ince, recommending the bearer to the protection of the authorities and a military escort will be furnished all missionaries who desire it.

SURRENDER OR STARVATION.

Eight Burglars Imprisoned in a Church by Determined Farmers.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 28.—Eight men, who were surprised Saturday night while burglarizing the farmhouse of William Harnbush, in McCandless township, were held prisoners in an old church near Sample Station by an armed force and have refused to surrender. The men are desperate and they will shoot down any of the besieging party attempting to enter the church. The farmers have decided to starve the robbers out. Burglaries have been of frequent occurrence in McCandless township of late and the farmers organized to rid the county of the thieves, who are believed to be members of the notorious Neff gang, which has terrorized the farmers in the northern part of Allegheny county for years.

Father of Italian Opera.

RED BANK, N. J., Aug. 28.—Angelo Torriani, Sr., of New York, died suddenly at his summer house at Oceanic yesterday of heart failure. He was well-known in theatrical circles and came to this country in 1848 with an opera company in which were the father and mother of Adelini Patti. The latter was with the company and was then about three years of age. He conducted several well-known opera companies and appeared for the first time in the Academy of Music with the "Star of the North" Company in July 1857, and was the father of Italian opera in this country.

The Cherokee Strip.

CALDWELL, Kan., Aug. 28.—This gateway to the Cherokee strip continues to be the objective point of a large number of people who intend to make the run for claims on the opening day. To the thousand odd people now on the ground in the city and vicinity 400 were added yesterday, being brought by the Rock Island Railway. About 75 prairie schooners arrived yesterday and joined the little white city on the border.

Naval News.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—The despatch boat Dolphin has gone to New London, Conn., where her commander will await orders. The vessel will probably be ordered to witness the trial of the gunboat Castine about September 1. The gunboat Benmington has arrived at Southampton, England, where she joined the cruiser Chicago.

Temporary Shut-Down.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 28.—The Edgar Thompson Steel Works closed down Saturday for repairs and improvements. None of the blast furnaces will suspend operations and only about 600 men will be laid off in the steel department. The shut down will probably last six weeks.

Banner Week of the Fair.

CHICAGO, Aug. 28.—The paid admissions at the fair Saturday were 164,300, making the total for the week over 1,000,000. This is the banner week of the fair, the average attendance, including Sunday, when the attendance was only 21,000, being over 143,000.

Cholera in Italy.

ROME, Aug. 28.—There were eight deaths from cholera in Naples yesterday. The report that cholera had become epidemic here and that seven persons had died of it was erroneous.

THE DAILY PRESS.

A. L. FORCE, - - Publisher and Proprietor.
WALTER IRVING CLARKE, - Managing Editor.

The hand of death has been extremely heavy on Plainfield these August days. Affliction has entered so many households that all hearts seem united in one common grief.

It is charitable to suppose that it was the extreme heat that made the attendance at the churches very small yesterday. At the evening service of one of the largest churches in town the worshipers numbered exactly 12. It begins to look as though the Madison Eagle is right after all in claiming this to be a mighty wicked city.

The death of Warren Ackerman amounts to a calamity among Scotch Plains villagers and other people of his section. His liberality was as boundless as his wealth, and many a poor family was dependent on and grateful for his bounty. He administered his charities silently, and fulfilled the Scriptural teaching of not letting his left hand know what was bestowed by the right. He was the rare combination of a man with millions and a man with liberal heart and hand.

ANOTHER GREAT STORM.

Remembering recent rough experiences, the public may well be alarmed at the words of Weather-Observer Dunn, who says another tremendous storm is on the way. To back up Mr. Dunn's prediction, comes news of great destruction along the Atlantic Coast in the Southern States. Details are meagre, as the telegraph wires south of Norfolk, Va., are crippled; but the hurricane is said to be rapidly coming this way, and danger signals have been ordered for the Middle and North Atlantic coast in anticipation of the easterly and southerly gales which will occur within the next twenty-four hours.

It does seem as if the elements were determined to play unending havoc with mankind and his handiwork.

GOVERNMENT CONTROL OF COINAGE

The Hon. J. A. Geissenhainer in his most able speech in the House of Representives, Aug. 26, stated that the production of silver since 1890 had averaged seven tons of pure silver every day; that the Government had paid a total of 147,676,749 for it; that it had cost only 37.3 cents an ounce to produce it; and that it had yielded a profit to the mine owners of $65,168,950.

The proper cure for the ills growing out of the production of silver, it would seem, would be to have the Government own and operate the mines. This, it is argued, would break up the worst ring in the country; benefit the miners; permit the Government to control the output in the interest of the people of this country, and against foreign dictation.

The paper mill at Coltsville, Mass., where the banknote paper is made, is run by the Government, and many would favor coinage so as to raise the silver above a commodity.

THE STATE AND REAL ESTATE.

James A. Bradley, Asbury Park's Pathfinder, is nothing if not unique; and his latest interesting doing is the speech he made yesterday. In it he warmly defended Henry George. Mr. Bradley stated that he had purchased the riparian rights to the entire ocean front of Asbury Park from the State of New Jersey for the sum of $2,000. He owned it absolutely, and, if he so wished, he could erect a tall fence along the beach front and shut all of the people out from going down to the water.

"Now I claim"—said Mr. Bradley—"that the property should not have been sold outright to me. The State should have leased the riparian rights to me for ten years, with renewal of lease. Every time a new lease was made the rental should be increased."

He closed by saying that Mr. George's theories on the ownership of land were both sound and practical, and the time would come when the majority of the people of this great country would adopt them.

All this, from a level-headed, sensible, experienced man like Mr. Bradley, affords much food for sober thought.

POLICEMEN'S PREROGATIVES.

It would seem, judging from the story of Edward Marshall, who is awaiting trial for injuring the dignity of Police Sergeant Kiely, that it is not the privilege of a citizen in ordinary clothes to hold conversation with the blue-coated and brass-buttoned gentry, when they are engaged in target practice on unfortunate canines.

If what Mr. Marshall and his friends say is true, the handsome and gallant sergeant made but a sorry exhibition of marksmanship, and had finally to recourse to a club and an axe to despatch the suffering dog.

Mr. Marshall was actuated entirely by motives of humanity. His wife and others of the neighbors were disgusted at what they considered a brutal butchery. They urged him to remonstrate with the officer. He did so in what he considered to be a proper manner, and in proper language: but the policeman's anger was aroused at being criticised; and now Mr. Marshall is to suffer a police court trial as a penalty for his anti-cruelty instincts.

Leaving unconsidered the question whether or not one of the duties of the police is to kill dogs that have fits while chained in their owners' back yards, it is pertinent to inquire if a man in uniform is any better to be spoken to in a decent manner than one who is not. The thanks of the community will be due to Mr. Marshall if he can secure a settlement of this vexed question. The dignity of the law should be upheld at all times; but even policemen are not infallible.

DEATH'S MIGHTY HARVEST.

FRANCIS GARDNER AND WARREN ACKERMAN JOIN THE SILENT MAJORITY.

Other Well-Known Names on the Death Roll—Long List of Obituaries and Funerals.

Francis H. Gardner.

The death of Francis H. Gardner, late cashier of the City National Bank, occurred at Ocean Grove yesterday noon. Mr. Gardner had been suffering several weeks with heart trouble, and had been taken to the shore in the hope that the sea air would be beneficial.

Acting Cashier William F. Arnold stopped at the house yesterday noon to enquire Mr. Gardner's condition and found him almost unconscious and rapidly sinking. He spoke to the dying man, whose lips gave no reply, but a feeble twitching of the eyebrows gave token of recognition of the voice. The end came soon afterwards. The death-bed was attended by the faithful and sorrowing wife and the grief-stricken children.

Mr. Gardner was about 49 years of age. He had been a man of robust physique, but under his distressing illness had aged rapidly.

His connection with the City Bank dates from its foundation in 1875, when he was book-keeper and teller. He succeeded J. M. Myers as cashier. He had for years been treasurer of the First Baptist church, and was largely instrumental in founding Warren chapel, of which he was a trustee from the date of its organization.

The surviving children are a son and three daughters. The bereaved wife was a Miss Diebrow of Brooklyn. Nathaniel B. Gardner, of the Westfield Town Committee, was a brother of the deceased.

The body will be brought to Plainfield tomorrow afternoon and taken to the First Baptist church, where the funeral will be at 4.

The following quartette, under the direction of W. E. McClymont, will sing several selections at Mr. Gardner's funeral: Mrs. M. I. Cooley, soprano; Miss Gussie Runyon, alto; L. S. Bond, tenor; B. T. Barnes, basso. One selection, "The Christian's Good Night" is from the latest Christian Endeavor hymn book, and is very affecting.

Members of the Berean class, of Warren chapel, will attend the funeral of Mr. Gardner in a body.

George H. Shepherd.

A large number of relatives and friends gathered in Warren chapel, North Plainfield, Saturday afternoon at 2, when the funeral services over the remains of the late George B. Shepherd were held.

The Rev. G. Kennedy Newell, of Hope chapel, had charge of the services. He read selections from the Bible appropriate to the occasion, and spoke as follows—"Another of our number has been taken away, one whom we have walked and dread that comes to our hearts when we think of death. We tremble at the very thought of it, and the question often arises in our minds, When shall that time come to us?

"In the life of David the Psalmist, we see that he longed for the time when he would be free from his burdens and troubles. In fact, he rejoiced at the thought of meeting his Lord. The Master never repulsed anyone who came to Him; therefore we should not tremble, but take courage, and be thankful for such a hope as will give us a rest from the toils of this earth.

"The lesson for us today is that in looking for our release from troubles we should look to God. Paul has said that if we have faith in this life alone we are of all men the most miserable. Our faith should be coupled with hope in eternity. May God speak words of comfort to those left behind, and may we always have an abiding presence of Him who doeth all things well!"

A choir consisting of Miss Bobbie Ingram, Miss Ackerman, Miss Minnie Bolsterli, Miss Lottie Coriell, M. M. Dunham and Fred Walker sang two very pretty hymns "Go Bury Thy Sorrow" and "Gathering Home".

"Mr. Newell invoked divine blessing, and pronounced the benediction. The pall-bearers were: George Watts, Garrett Mattis, Levi Kline and John Wyman. Interment was made at Somerville.

Sarah F. Randolph.

The funeral services of Sarah F., widow of the late Phineas F. Randolph, took place last Saturday afternoon, at the home of her son-in-law, David S. Pope, 417 East Sixth street.

The house was filled with the relatives and friends of this aged lady.

The Rev. Dr. K. P. Ketcham officiated, and spoke from the following text:

Let not your hearts be troubled. Ye believe in God, believe also in Me.

The Doctor said among other things—"Anyone who has studied the plans of our Heavenly Master must be amazed at His care of us poor creatures. The deeper our sorrows the more directly He comes to us.

"This passage I have read is very precious as representing His care in our sorrows. The attractiveness of Heaven is an old, old story. From time to time people attempted to give glimpses of it, and of our holy Saviour. If we will only stop for a moment, He will draw the picture for us, and He will guide us all through the journey of life. What a beautiful personal picture and reality this all is! The comforts of heaven are manifold for God's children. No words of mine can give an adequate idea of our Saviour and heaven. He knows all our sorrows, and, moved with compassion, puts forth His hand to help us. Today we want to enter anew into God's feelings, for He is always attending and comforting us through and through, and when we are called He is ready to receive us."

The talk was concluded with a prayer, after which those present viewed the remains. The pall-bearers were: David Rogers, David S. Pope, William Randolph, Charles Randolph, Davidson Randolph, and Thomas Randolph. Interment was made in the Seventh-day Baptist cemetery at Ninth street and Arlington avenue.

Warren Ackerman.

Warren Ackerman, of Scotch Plains, died suddenly at his residence, Lyde Park, Saturday night, of paralysis caused by acute Bright's disease. He was seriously ill only three days, having gone to New York as usual Wednesday. He was unconscious all Friday, and died late Saturday night. He was in his sixty-eighth year. Mr. Ackerman made his fortune during the war, furnishing rubber goods to the United States Government. Later he was interested in the cement business, becoming president and principal stockholder of the Lawrenceville Cement Company. A few years ago he retired from active business, and devoted his time to his estate and the beautiful Glenside Park, formerly Feltville, which he bought and improved, transforming it from a picturesque but ugly village into its present attractive form. He married a daughter of Isaac L. Platt, one of the founders of the Chemical National Bank of New York, seventeen years ago. His wealth is estimated at several millions of dollars. His wife survives him.

The funeral will take place at the First Presbyterian church on Front street, Tuesday morning at 10:15. Dr. Ketcham and Dr. Herring will officiate.

Mrs. Mary E. Plummer.

The funeral of Mrs. Mary E. Plummer took place this afternoon at the residence of her sister, Mrs. Corydon Tyler, 575 Macon street, Brooklyn. The Rev. Dr. Meredith of Brooklyn officiated.

Mrs. Plummer was for years a resident of Plainfield and a member of the Congregational church in this city. Mr. Goodrich, her former pastor, is on a vacation and was not able to return in time for the funeral. Mrs. Plummer was the second wife of J. L. Plummer, father of John F. Plummer formerly of Netherwood and of Mrs. Henry Bowen of Watchung avenue. They were married in 1873. Mr. Plummer died at Hotel Netherwood several years ago. Mrs. Plummer had been suffering from slow paralysis for some time, and while her death was sudden it was not entirely unlooked for. For the past few years she had made her home with her sister, Mrs. Tyler, who was formerly a resident of Plainfield.

Robert Gotthell.

A sad death is that of Robert Gotthell, of 680 West Front street.

He had been a resident of this city for a number of years, and a draughtsman in the Pond Machine Tool Company since the Plainfield works were started.

He had been ill for some time past, and a short time ago went to a summer resort in New York State, hoping to regain good health, but he gradually grew worse, until his friends were obliged to take him to his cousin's, Dr. Gotthell, Fifty-third street, New York city, where he died yesterday morning.

Mr. Gotthell had remarkable musical talent, which his friends were fond of having him display on the piano.

Mr. Gotthell leaves a wife, who is living with Curt Gotthell, who is well known among ... men bicyclists.

James Brand.

In the death of James Brand, Plainfield loses another of its valued citizens. He passed away last evening at 7.

For the past three weeks Mr. Brand had been very ill.

Mr. Brand was an Englishman by birth, and was born March 10, 1807. When a young man, he came to New York, and engaged in the paint business.

Later he moved to this city, making his home at Short Hills, where he had an extensive farm.

He leaves a wife. His nephew, Robert Brand, is a well-known citizen of Evona.

The funeral will be Wednesday afternoon at 5, from the house.

Mrs. Alice Sebring.

Sad circumstances attend the death of Mrs. Alice Sebring, which occurred Saturday. Only a few days ago occurred the death and burial of her mother, Almira, wife of Lewis C. J. Randolph. The funeral of Mrs. Sebring will be from the home of her father, 1212 West Front street, Evona, tomorrow afternoon at 2:45.

Elizabeth Winckler.

At the funeral of Elizabeth Winckler, last Saturday morning from St. Mary's church, six girls from the Society of the Immaculate Conception acted as pall-bearers, and several other girls from the society sang in the choir. It was a very beautiful and impressive service. The girls were all dressed in pure white.

Mrs. Cleaver.

The mother of the Rev. J. B. Cleaver, recently of this city, is dead at the age of 91. Her husband died in Plainfield some time ago at the age of 97.

CAN'T LOSE THE COUNSELOR.

For Even So Trivial a Thing as the Moving of Trunks, His Law is Always on Tap.

The Corporation Counsel several months ago gave an opinion that a hackman might carry a trunk along with his passenger, but that none but a licensed truckman could carry a trunk for him when the owner did not occupy a seat in the conveyance. When that official arrived at the North avenue station, Saturday night, he had more trunks than any one hack could carry, and no truckmen could be found. The people about the station knew of the opinion the Corporation Counsel had given, and were curious to watch and see how he would get out of his dilemma.

It gave him no trouble. He simply placed Mrs. Marsh in one carriage, took another for himself and divided the trunks between them. Had both persons occupied the same carriage, it would have been in violation of the city ordinance.

SUN-LIGHT and FRESH AIR are THE BEST DISINFECTANTS, of course; but you can't apply them in every situation. What next? Well, that depends. For damp cellars use Quicklime, plenty of it. For vaults and cesspools use COPPERAS; cheap stuff; we sell it by the pound or hundred-weight—instructions thrown in. For kitchen sinks, for water-closets, for house plumbing, for the sick room, to deodorize discharges, to purify the air and to prevent contagion, use REYNOLDS'S ODORLESS DISINFECTANT. A Few Honest Suggestions Which Should Be Appreciated,
All tooth powders practically contain the same ingredients, namely, chalk, castile soap, etc., with some flavoring. We use in the manufacture of Royal Tooth Powder the best English prepared chalk, the finest English Castile soap, delicately flavored. Your dentist will tell you these substances are perfectly harmless and accomplish all that is to be expected from a tooth powder. A full 2-ounce package of this unexcelled article (same as is usually sold for 25c. under other names, but which we retail for 10c.) will be given with each $1 purchase and upwards. People of correct ideas will appreciate this offer, but some will say, "We never use tooth powder." Those who do use it, however, can be distinguished from those who don't, as the rose can be distinguished from the dandelion. This will seem cruel to some, but duty compels us to speak plainly. The "Royal" is being received everywhere, and jobbers compliment us with their duplicate orders. A trial of Royal Tooth Powder will delight you. J. C. ALLEN, Plainfield, N. J. 4-12 tf

"BETTER BE WISE THAN WEALTHY"
Is a very old proverb, and a new illustration of this truth is found in the fact that no wealthy woman can buy better (or even as well) elsewhere as she can at our store. Wise women know we keep all Styles, Widths and Sizes. Prices low.

CLARKSON HAMMEAL.

Pastor Herring Gives Him Tribute as a Man Who Paid His Debts.

The incidents in connection with the life and death of Clarkson Hammeal, made his funeral a particularly sad one.

It was held yesterday afternoon at 1, from his late residence, 50 Elm place, the Rev. C. E. Herring and the Rev. Mr. Bond officiating.

A very large representation of Lodge No. 44, I. O. O. F., was present. There was also a large gathering of Mr. Hammeal's other friends.

Mr. Herring read several Scripture selections, after which Mr. Bond made a prayer.

The remarks by Mr. Herring were excellent. He said:

"The summons that came to me to be present today seems peculiar. In the short time that I have been on my vacation I have been called home twice on account of the death of aged persons, and this morning in church I was told to remain near home as another person very ill was not expected to live.

"I never had the pleasure of knowing the deceased, but I was talking with an aged person recently, and he remarked that he had known Mr. Hammeal since his youth and that he had always been an honest and upright man. He always paid his debts as far as possible, and I was so glad when I heard this, for I have been told there are people in this city who do not pay their honest debts.

"We are reminded how frail life is and our trust should be firm in God, ever ready for the call." Mr. Herring closed his remarks with a prayer, after which Mr. Bond pronounced the benediction.

An opportunity was then given to those present to view the remains. Interment was made in the Presbyterian cemetery in North Plainfield.

The pall-bearers, members of the Odd Fellows, were: John Bodine, Joseph Kingston, Thomas J. Young, William Boe, Thomas H. Clarkson and I. Pangborn.

A pillow of flowers from the lodge with the letters I. O. O. F., one from the butchers with the words "A Butchers' Friend", and one with the word "Father", rested on the casket. Mr. Hammeal's Odd Fellows regalia was placed besides the flowers. The ritual o the Odd Fellows was read at the grave.

CRESCENTS LOSE.

But 'Twas a Stubborn Fight, and a Defeat to Be Proud of.

After a stubbornly contested game Saturday, the Crescents of this city were defeated by the Oritani Field Club on the grounds at Hackensack, by the score of 8 to 6. The Field Club made a brilliant rally in their last turn at the bat, and won the game then and there. Score:

Young Schermerhorn Safely Home.

Charles Schermerhorn, Jr., arrived home from Newberne, North Carolina, yesterday morning, reaching this city at 8:28.

He stood the trip remarkably well, but is obliged to remain in bed as he is very weak.

As soon as he is able, he will be taken by his father to the mountains, where he will no doubt improve rapidly.

At present, it is thought best not to permit anyone to see him.

He'll Be Well-Fed Now.

James Watson, a tramp, was crawling into a cellar window at Henry Windermeyer's home in the borough Sunday morning at 1 in search of something to eat. Marshal Pangborn caught him in the act, and lodged him in jail. This morning Borough Magistrate Crosley sent Watson to jail for 30 days.

Keely Says He Is n't Guilty.

Michael Welsh, carter, and Patrick Keely, hackman, got into an argument which landed them in police court this morning. Welsh acknowledged his guilt, but sentence was reserved until Keely's case can be heard, which will be at 9 Thursday morning.

The American Catarrh Cure

Is the result of twenty-six years' study and treatment of the disease. One bottle convinces the most skeptical. It is always ready for use, needing neither douche nor atomizer. It restores the hearing, cures the hawking cough and expectorating, removes the headache and nose bleeding, increases the appetite, produces sound sleep, invigorates the whole system and increases the vitality. Prepared only by W. B. Jones, M. D., No. 1336 South Eighth street, Philadelphia. For sale by I. W. Randolph, 21 West Front street. Price $1.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—The 10:27 train no longer connects for Long Branch.

—Have you picked out your seats for "Hoss & Hoss"?

—Charles Wood's horse balked this morning and damaged his buggy.

—Judge Coddington added $3 this morning to the cost of Michael O'Hara's little spree.

—The Plainfield public school will reopen for the fall and winter months, Tuesday, September 5.

—The street railway receipts yesterday were $147. The North Plainfield cars alone took in nearly $50.

—The special musical service at the First Presbyterian church last evening was a rare treat, and was appreciated by a large congregation.

—The Plainfield milk dealers have issued a notice to consumers that on and after September 1, the price of milk will be increased to 8 cents a quart.

—Car No. 2 was again put on the Somerset street branch of the street railway yesterday. In making one of her trips, she jumped the track, near Linden avenue.

—It is announced that the First Presbyterian pastor, the Rev. C. E. Herring, will give a series of sermons on the World's Fair, treating specially of the Midway Plaisance.

—A young man hired a horse and phaeton from Roberts's livery yesterday. Driving down Somerset street, one of the rear wheels caught in the car tracks, and was demolished.

—Entries to the Pastime Athletic Club's field day events will close August 29. A. Wagner and A. Crane, the committee, announce that the exercises will take place on South avenue near Scott's Press Works.

—The Union County Christian Endeavor Union will hold a county conference in Plainfield, Friday evening, September 22. Miss Alice Spangenburg, of Netherwood, is expected to speak on Junior Work.

—A union prayer meeting of the Y. P. S. C. E. and of the Wednesday evening service will be held in the lecture room of the Trinity Reformed church tonight at 8. On account of repairs and cleaning, the regular Wednesday evening prayer meeting will be omitted.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

The public will be glad to see Police Sergeant Lynch return to duty Friday.

H. M. Estil returned Saturday night from a week's rest at Maplewood, N. H.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter A. Emmons and family came home Saturday from Asbury Park.

Thomas Hughes, one of Langhorne's faithful assistants, started for the World's Fair this morning.

Mrs. S. O. Horton and granddaughter, Mrs. C. Frank French, left this morning for a visit among the hills of Morris county.

Mrs. Henry P. Talmadge, of Netherwood, returned today from Arverne, where she has been visiting Mrs. Herman L. White.

Dudley S. Miller has returned from his visit to Sag Habor. Tomorrow Mr. and Mrs. Miller and their young son will visit places of interest near Morristown, for a few days.

Corporation Counsel Craig A. Marsh and wife returned by steamship New York from Europe Saturday night. During the passage they had strong northwest winds and head seas, with fog nearly all the time.

James Mee, of New York city, spent Sunday with his cousins, Mrs. J. R. Newman and the Misses Nellie and Margaret Mee, of Steiner place. Mr. Mee will sail for Europe next Wednesday, for the good of his health.

A genuine watermelon feast was given by Miss Burr last Friday at her house, 231 La Grande avenue. Among the guests were: Miss Smith and Miss Banchelle of Elizabeth; Miss Thorne, Miss Patten, Miss Abbott, Miss Honegar, Miss Covert, Miss Bowers, Miss Green, Miss Williams; Mr. Ogilby of New Brighton; Messrs. Chandler and Coryell of Newark; Mr. Banchelle of Elizabeth; Mr. Taylor of Westfield; Mr. Killmer of Bound Brook, and Messrs. Patten, Freeman, Williams, Drayton, Holmes, Smith and French of this city.

Base-Ball Notes.

The Crescent players will have a foot race on their home grounds, Saturday. Heckman will be scratch man, and the others will have handicaps.

Martin split his finger in the ninth inning of Saturday's game, and went to centre field. Unfortunately the first ball was driven to his territory and he muffed it; Meakin was hit hard throughout the game, and in the ninth inning weakened perceptibly. Had there been anything at stake Manager Keller would have put Keenan in the box in the seventh. The game pleased the Field Club's patrons; and they want the Crescents back again.

The New Jersey Athletic Club will present a strong team here Saturday. The great Westervelt-Currie battery will be pitted against the home team. It will be a great game.

May Race Next Saturday.

James Willis, who was tied with Coffin for the time prize in the 25-mile road race of the Lyceum Wheelmen in Plainfield, Aug. 19, won the 1-mile handicap race at Waverly, Saturday. His time was 2:19 1-5.

Coffin came in second in the same race, Willis had 30 yards handicap over the scratch man. He also won the 2-mile race; time, 4:30 3-5. Willis and Coffin will probably race off their tie for the Plainfield time prize next Saturday.

Read and Reflect.

The great mass of mankind lose their health through inattention to catarrh of the head and throat. This insidious disease was considered incurable until the discovery of the American Catarrh Cure. For sale by L. W. Randolph, 21 West Front street. Price $1.00.

ST PETER'S LUTHERAN CHURCH.

CORNER-STONE LAID FOR THE NEW HOUSE OF WORSHIP.

Visiting Clergymen Give Praise to Pastor Klonka for the Work He Has Achieved — Thanks Also to American Friends.

The corner-stone of the new St. Peter's German Lutheran church, at Grove street and Mercer avenue, was laid yesterday afternoon at 4, with interesting ceremonies.

A large crowd of people gathered to witness the event.

Singing, by the congregation, the Liturgie, by the Rev. E. Klonka, and an address in German, by the Rev. E. Moldenke, D. D., of New York, formed the first part of the programme.

At the conclusion of Dr. Moldenke's address, which was a very able one, the Rev. T. T. Heischmann, D. D., of Brooklyn, delivered a most eloquent discours in English. The Doctor said:

"I want to congratulate you today, my German friends, that you have progressed so far with your church. I also want to thank our American friends for their generous beneficence towards raising this edifice.

"The character of a place is not determined by the quality of its factories, stores, etc., but by its churches, and the power they exert among the people. I notice that there are many churches in this city, and it speaks well for your beautiful place.

"But today I especially rejoice because we are to have a German church, where our people can go and receive the teachings of Christ.

"There is a large number of people who have the idea that the German people are infidels, and they are sending missionaries to that country with the Gospel. Why, Germany has had Christianity implanted among her noble sons and daughters, to such an extent that she ought to be giving it out instead of receiving.

"Again, I rejoice because we are to have a German Lutheran church. Our church is founded on the principles handed to us from Martin Luther, from the Great Teacher. Some people have a small idea of Luther and what he was. I believe he was the greatest instrument of God since Paul's time, and we try to inculcate his principles, which are so vital to the heart of Christianity.

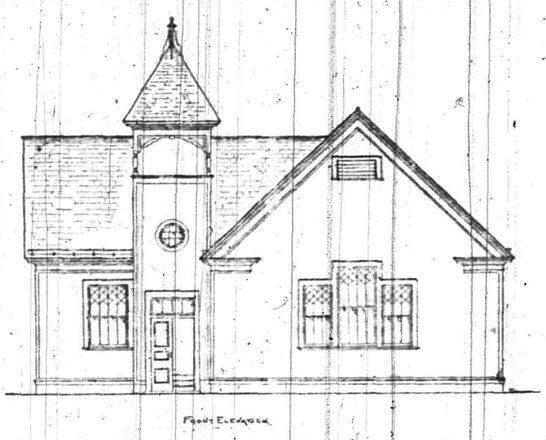
"I am surprised that our people have not had a church building before. But perhaps you were a little slow. We are apt to be, sometimes, and we selected just such a man as Mr. Klonka to come among you and stir you up, and now you are to see your hopes realized. I think you lacked faith and confidence in God, or else you would have had this church sooner.

"We hope the weary and sin-ladened may here find a place to get rid of the burden; and may they seek that divine help which we all need so much."

A hymn was sung, after which the stone was laid by the Rev. E. Klonka, pastor of the church.

The following articles were placed in the receptacle:

A New Testament.
A hymn book of our congregation.
The history of our congregation.
A picture of our church, cut and presented by The Daily Press.
The map of Plainfield and North Plainfield.
The June, July and August numbers of our church paper, "Lutherischer Gemeindefreund.
One copy of Der Sugend Sonntags lust, our Sunday-school paper.
The Kropper Kirchlicher Anzeiger, with the Plattuesche Togan, from Kropp in Germany.
One copy of The Lutherischer Kirchenblatt.
One copy of every paper of this city: Daily Press, Constitutionalist, Courier, Evening News.
Forty-three coins from America, Switzerland, and a few from China. Among the American coins was a 10 cent shinplaster bill, also a 3 cent silver piece.



FRONT ELEVATION

The names of the German ministers who were present at the ceremonies were: The Rev. C. Fischer, from Elizabeth; the Rev. Mertens, Rahway; the Rev. Dewald, New Brunswick.

After the singing of another hymn, the pastor pronounced the benediction, and the services closed with the singing of the doxology.

A brass quartette under the direction of Mr. Conde assisted with the music.

On one side of the stone is the inscription "A. D. 1893"; on the other, "August 27".

The new church, of which an excellent picture is here presented, will consist of one story and a basement, and will be constructed entirely of wood. The audience hall will be 29x49 in size, and will seat 500 people. The Sunday-school room will be in a wing, separated from the church proper by a rolling partition. The entrance vestibule will open directly into each large room. The size of the Sunday-school room is 17½ by 23. In front of the altar platform, 7 inches below, will be a lesser platform of 7 inches rise, with a rail near the edge where communicants may kneel. Large windows will furnish ample light. A commodious toilet room adjoins the platforms. The structure is to be simple in architecture, but of pleasant appearance. It will be used not only as church and Sabbath-school, but also as a German day school. The interior will be finished in hardwood with ornamental rafters. It will be not only a credit to its congregation, but also an ornament to the borough.

STILL AFTER THE TRAMPS.

Two Ugly Specimens Get Their Deserts From Judge Moore.

Three tramps availed themselves of the Sunday quiet yesterday at Fanwood by taking possession of the road leading from Fanwood depot to Scotch Plains, about sundown.

Complaint was made to Judge Moore by Daniel L. Allen and John Traynor accusing James Donohue and John Wilson as disorderly persons.

The Judge ordered the warrants delivered to Constable Hezekiah Hand, who promptly followed up the miscreants.

In the meantime while the Judge stood at the Fanwood station in conversation with Mr. and Mrs. Glover, three men rushed by and attempted to gain the track and disappear. Without apology the Judge grasped two of them, who afterward gave their names as James Donohue and John Wilson.

Mr. Hand being summoned by L. J. Briggs came to the assistance of the judge and shackled the prisoners, whereupon Wilson endeavored to assault the officer but was called down by citizen Craig at demand of the justice.

Officer Hand brought both prisoners to Plainfield under commitment for the night, and upon their appearance this morning Judge Moore, after hearing the evidence, sentenced them to 90 days each in the county jail.

After sentence was pronounced Wilson glared at the judge and said: "Ninety days is a long time, but I'll be back here after that and then look out for yourself."

"Mr. Hand remove the prisoners", and the court adjourned.

Stopped at the Precipice's Edge.

Clarence Thorn, son of Guillermo Thorn, while in Nyack on his vacation, met with a curious wheeling accident. While coasting a steep hill he took a header over a water break in the road, and was insensible for a number of minutes. On regaining consciousness he was startled to find himself seated on the bank of a 300-foot precipice with his feet hanging over the edge. As may be imagined, he quickly scrambled into a safer position, and is now feeling thankful for his escape, narrow though it was.

—The Salvation Army will hold a grand international meeting in the Barracks Thursday, September 7. France, Sweden, Nofway, Denmark, Germany, Canada, England and America will be represented.

A Five-Mile Handicap Bicycle Race.

Saturday afternoon at 4 there will be a five-mile handicap bicycle race in North Plainfield for boys between the ages of 12 and 15. All those wishing to enter must notify Mr. Jones, janitor of the Park Club, before Thursday night. The entrance fee is 10 cents, and four good medals will be awarded, one of which is for the best time. The start will be from the corner of Washington and Willow avenues, and the course is from Washington to Mercer, to Sycamore, to Willow and to Washington.

$10 for Wife Beating.

Frederick Bader and his wife made the beer bottles and dishes fly Saturday night, and damaged one another considerably. The wife considered herself the aggrieved person, and had Frederick arrested. Judge Coddington this morning fined him $10.

Baptism in St. Mary's.

Mr. and Mrs. James McCarty, of Tarrytown, visited Mrs. McCarty's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James McFadden, 445 West Fourth street, yesterday.

They brought their three-weeks-old daughter with them, and at 3 yesterday afternoon Father Smyth of St. Mary's church baptized the infant girl, with imposing ceremonies.

Later in the day the event was prettily celebrated at the home of Mr. McFadden.

Hereafter the little one will be known as Mary Elizabeth McCarty.

The Book Agent Case in Statu Quo.

The case of Charles Hand and the female book agent is resting, pending developments. No arrest has been made on either side. Mr. Hand says he has written to the headquarters of the agent's firm and his future action will depend on what he hears from them.

To Open With a Concert.

To aid in clearing off the remaining indebtedness on the new Sunday-school building and parish house of the Church of the Heavenly Rest, Evona, a concert will be given in the new building, Thursday evening, September 21.

HARD TIMES

force many alleged business men to hide their faces and bemoan their ill luck. They also force many, through inaction, to fail.

It is, however, the golden opportunity of the bright, plucky man who has the nerve to advertise and push his goods. He talks to buyers through his advertisements, making the ads larger and inserting them oftener, so that his goods are continually moving.

He thus has a clear field, and, knowing how to utilize it, gets the public's money.

Plainfield people buy what they need at all times. They are influenced in their purchases by what they read in their newspapers. Advertisements in local papers sell goods.

The Dog Case Comes to Court.

Sergeant Kiely assassinated a North avenue dog Friday, at the request of its owner, as told in these columns at the time. Edward Marshall, a resident of the neighborhood, criticised the policeman for what he termed his cruelty. This put the officer on his dignity; and this morning, he had Mr. Marshall arrested charged with using profane language. Mr. Marshall is very indignant and says in speaking to the officer he used no bad language and merely sought to put an end to a butchery that was sickening the women of the neighborhood. Both the policeman and the citizen claim to have abundant witnesses to their respective sides of the case.

Mr. Marshall furnished bonds for trial before Judge Coddington, Thursday at 9 a. m.

Notice is hereby given that the Common Council have fixed the thirty-first day of August, A. D. 1893, at 8 o'clock p. m. and the Council Chamber, No. 109 Park avenue, in the city of Plainfield, as the time and place for J. Frederick MacDonald, William M. Sandford and Edward C. Mulford, the commissioners appointed by the Common Council pursuant to the ordinance entitled, "An ordinance to widen Madison avenue from the southeasterly side line of West Front street to the northwesterly line of the right of way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey," approved June 5, 1893, to meet. The street proposed to be widened and laid out is Madison avenue from the southeasterly side line of West Front st. to the northwesterly line of the right of way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey. The alterations proposed to be made are to widen said Madison so that the same shall be of the uniform width of twenty-five feet on each side of the centre line thereof, which centre line is described in said ordinance, and shown on map on file in the office of the City Clerk entitled "Assessment map for the widening of Madison avenue from West Front street to the Central Railroad of New Jersey, city of Plainfield, N. J., dated 1893, made by F. A. Dunham, civil engineer."

The lands and real estate intended to be taken for such purpose are all that come within twenty-five feet of either side of said centre line between the southeasterly side line of West Front street, and the northwesterly line of the right of way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey, as shown by said map and said ordinance, to which reference is hereby made for more detailed description.

IT IS NOT AN ACCIDENT

That our business has grown to its present proportions. Everything that a complete knowledge of the Piano and Organ business can do for a customer is done here. There is no mystery here—all that we know, you may know if you'll listen. Our years of experience has taught us that the Steinway, Gabler, Vose, Sterling and Braumeller Pianos are the best to be had; each has its own peculiar features stamping it distinct from the others. Which one is best for you is a question. Any time you'll come in and we will help you solve it.

BRUNSWICK DESTITUTE

The Fever-Stricken City Appeals for Aid.

AVENUES OF SUSTENANCE CUT OFF

While There Have Been Only Three Cases of Yellow Fever, Destitution and Suffering Are Equal to an Epidemic—Colored People Issue a Separate Appeal.

BRUNSWICK, Ga., Aug. 28.—The necessity for immediate relief for the needy who are left without means of livelihood is urgent. Contributions have been received from various cities and towns, but there is yet much distress. The relief committee has issued the following:

To the people of the United States:

The Brunswick, Ga., relief committee desires to place before the country the actual condition of affairs of this place. While there has been but three cases of yellow fever, and it is hoped there will be no others, the destitution and suffering entailed are as great as if it were an epidemic. Our every avenue of sustenance is cut off, our workshops are closed, our factories deserted, our entire business prostrated, and under the most favorable conditions some time must elapse before a resumption of business. We reluctantly appeal to the generosity of a charitable people to sustain us through the ordeal. The situation has been thoroughly canvassed and the appeal is not premature. We are here to stay, come what may.

The colored people have issued an independent appeal for aid. The relief funds are not spent in dispensing provisions broadcast, but all who are able to work are given employment at cleaning up the streets and lots and disinfecting drains and suspicious premises. Wages sufficient to meet the needs of the laborer are paid.

The relief committee has been annoyed by an influx of shiftless blacks from the outlying districts. They come in droves, bringing baskets, tents and bedding, expecting to be fed at the public expense. Little time and no consideration is being wasted upon them.

MEDALS FOR MONEY.

Bold Offers to Guarantee World's Fair Awards for Ready Cash.

CHICAGO, Aug. 28.—For $10,000 Mrs. E. I. Harmon alias Mrs. Harmon Anson, offered to guarantee a Russian exhibitor at the fair a medal of the first class and a certificate of merit. Concerning her ability to perform all that she promised she referred to Commissior Othniel Beeson of Oklahoma, and a commissioner from Wyoming. The consequence was the arrest of Mrs. Harmon and a severe test of nervousness for Mr. Beeson.

It is claimed by the Inter Ocean that the woman approached J. Vaukensicen, in charge of the Russian section of the agricultural department, and offered to secure the medal and certificate for $10,000, referring to Commissioner Beeson as to her ability to secure them. Vaukensicen it is claimed saw Beeson and was told by him that whatever the woman said was all right. Vaukensicen then let out the story and the woman was arrested.

THE SHANN INSURANCE

The Manhattan Life Refuses to Pay the $2,000 Policy.

TRENTON, N. J., Aug. 28.—Counsel for Mrs. Mattie Shann, of Princeton, who was recently tried for poisoning her son, and acquitted, has received notice to the effect that the Manhattan Life Insurance Company refuses to pay the insurance on her son's life. The company through their counsel say that the cause of death has not been satisfactorily established. If Mrs. Shann sues for the money the whole subject will be re-opened. She has not yet decided what she will do.

A Rajah Incognito.

CHICAGO, Aug. 28.—A bellboy at the Hotel Windermere was on the point of requesting a swarthy complexioned man to find a resting place elsewhere than in the rotunda of that house when the man explained that he was the valet of the Rajah of Sanrod. It turned out that the Rajah was registered as J. M. Tata of Bombay, and his incognito might have passed current had not the bellboy supposed the Rajah's valet was an interloper. When it was discovered that Col. Lyon of her Majesty's Navy was in charge of the Rajah, the management of the Windermere warned the bellboys to exercise more caution. The Rajah is an extremely wealthy Parsee, the later years of whose life have been devoted to philanthropy.

Hat Business Dull.

ORANGE, N. J., Aug. 28.—The financial stringency with general depression of business is felt nowhere more severely than in Orange, N. J., the largest manufacturing district for felt hats in the country. There are some 28 factories in the Orange district with a maximum output of 5,000 dozen hats per week, and giving employment to about 3,000 operatives. Fully one half of these are heads of families, so that the number of persons in the district directly dependent upon the hatting industry is between 9,000 and 10,000. There is not a single one of these great hives of industry running regularly to-day.

Fatal Spite.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 28.—Antonio Bachetich died yesterday in a seaman's boarding house after having fasted for 76 days because he was not furnished with a knife and fork at breakfast one morning.

Another Letter to Women.

May 25, '92, Syracuse, N. Y.

"Dear Madam:

"I want to tell you what your Vegetable Compound and Sanative Wash have done for me.

"I was so bad with falling of the womb and Leucorrhœa that I could not stand.

"I had doctored so much without benefit I was entirely discouraged. I expected to die.

"One evening I read in the 'Herald' about your medicine. I got some, and took 2 bottles of the Compound, and used one of the Sanative Wash.

"I am now well and strong, am never troubled with either of the complaints. If more women would use your Compound, there would be less suffering in the world."—Mrs. Ida Casler, 126 Olive St.

SHORT WORK OF SILVER

The House Declares for Unconditional Repeal.

NO FREE COINAGE AT ANY RATIO

After Voting Down All Silver Amendments in Rapid Succession the Wilson Bill is Passed by an Overwhelming Majority—The Battle Transferred to the Senate.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—The House made short work of the silver question yesterday. Voting began on the Bland free coinage substitute at 12:12, and the 16 to 1 free coinage proposition was defeated — yeas, 123; nays, 225. The announcement of the vote was received with applause and some surprise at the majority against free coinage, it being nearly double the largest estimate made by the anti-silver committee.

Mr. Bland asked a yea and nay vote on the question of free coinage at the ratio of 17 to 1, and secured it. The result was yeas, 100; nays, 240.

The 18 to 1 free coinage amendment was rejected. Yeas, 102; nays, 239.

The vote on the 19 to 1 amendment was 237 to 105 against.

The slight gain made on the higher ratios as shown by the last two votes was not unexpected by some of the leaders, and it was the published impression of these that the ratio of 20 to 1, the next amendment offered by Mr. Bland, would poll the largest vote record in favor of free coinage. The result of the roll call was: Yeas, 119; nays, 229.

The amendment to re-enact the Bland-Allison act was defeated. Yeas, 136; nays, 213.

Then when all these propositions had been rejected a vote was taken on the adoption of the Wilson bill for the unconditional repeal of the purchasing clause of the Sherman act requiring the monthly purchase by the United States of $4,500,000 ounces of fine silver. This bill was passed by a vote of 240 to 110.

In one sense the voting in the House was uninteresting. When it was seen that the anti-silver men were in a strong majority upon the first vote taken, the galleries relapsed into their usual buzz of conversation and on the floor the victors and vanquished alike retired to the cloak rooms to fight the great battle over again in a genial mood.

The silver men felt chagrined at their overwhelming defeat but they took their overthrow philosophically and found in their late opponents men who were too generous to say ought of ungraciousness.

After Mr. Catchings had given notice that he would call up the House rules to-day, the House at 3:30 adjourned.

SENATE.

The Wilson Bill Repealing the Sherman Act Received from the House.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—The question of the right of the Governor of a State to appoint a Senator to fill a vacancy caused by the expiration of a regular term, (and not happening by resignation or otherwise) was decided by the Senate yesterday in the negative. The final votes in the two cases from Montana and Washington declaring Mr. Mantle and Mr. Allen not entitled to seats were 32 to 29. There was no vote necessary to be taken in the third of these cases—that from Wyoming—Mr. Beckwith having resigned his appointment more than a month ago.

The remainder of the day's session was occupied in the consideration of the bill allowing national banks to increase their circulation up to the par value of the bonds deposited by them to secure circulation.

The amendment which Mr. Cockrell (Dem., Mo.) had offered some time ago, to allow the redemption of the 25,000,000 two per cent. bonds and payment for them in a new issue of legal tender notes, was rejected—25 to 29.

Another amendment was offered by Mr. Cockrell and discussed at great length to allow the holders of any United States bonds to deposit them in the Treasury, receive their face value in greenbacks and, on repaying the greenbacks, get back their bonds with the interest which had accrued on them while in the Treasury, less 1 1-2 per cent. No action was taken on the amendment.

The House bill to repeal the Sherman act was reported to the Senate at 3:50 and was referred to the Finance Committee. Mr. Voorhees stated that there would be a meeting of that committee to-day and that there would be prompt action on the bill in connection with the measure already reported by the Finance Committee.

The Senate adjourned at 5 p. m.

ON DUTY.

An Unusually Large Vote in the House On the Silver Bill.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—The votes in the House yesterday were remarkable for the very high percentage of members recorded. On the last two roll calls 349 members responded to their names; Shell and Graham, were paired, leaving but three representatives out of a total voting strength of 354 apparently unaccounted for. One of these, Mr. Cooper, of Wisconsin, would have been present and voting but was called out of the city by a telegram announcing the approaching dissolution of his father. Speaker Crisp did not vote, leaving but one whose absence was unexplained, Mr. Newlands, of Nevada. Not in many years has there been a question before the House which so thoroughly enlisted the interest and consideration of members.

One of the causes of the unexpectedly large vote against free coinage of silver was the changed attitude of members from the Southern States. It had been supposed that these were practically solid in favor of free coinage, but an analysis of the vote as cast shows that this was not the case to a large degree.

The vote upon the restoration of the Bland-Allison act made the best showing for the silver men, the total being: yeas, 136; nays, 213.

Effect on the Senate.

WASHINGTON Aug. 29.—Senators on both sides of the silver question agree that the unexpected majority against free coinage in the House will have the effect of hastening action in the Senate.

Free coinage Senators confess now that the bill to repeal the Sherman act will pass that body by a decisive majority.

Mr. Dubois and other Senators from the far West say that all threats of filibustering are absurd, that there may be four or five Senators who will endeavor to delay a vote, but they will grow weary of the effort very soon.

SECRETARY CARLISLE'S VIEWS.

The Country Suffering From Lack of Confidence and Not Lack of Currency.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—All the members of the Administration took the greatest interest in the votes on the Wilson bill—Secretary Carlisle especially so. He received in his office in the Treasury Department the official announcement of the several votes as soon as they were flashed across the wires. When the first vote was received, which showed that free coinage at the ratio of 16 to 1 was beaten by 102 majority, he said the majority was greater than he had anticipated, and that he would have been satisfied with 60 majority. At the conclusion of all the votes Secretary Carlisle stated to the United Press representative that he was very much gratified at the result, and felt that it would do much to restore public confidence. He expressed the hope "that the Senate would take speedy action on the silver question."

In the course of a conversation, Secretary Carlisle was asked if the present stringency was due to lack of money. He replied to the idea, and among other things said:

"No greater mistake could be committed than to assume that the present financial embarrassment is caused by an actual scarcity of money in the country. The fact is that the amount of currency of all kinds in the country outside of the United States Treasury on the 25th day of the present month was $38,452,350 greater than the amount outstanding on the first day of the month, and $70,294,783 more than the amount outstanding on the first day of September, 1892, when business was active and prosperous. There is money enough to transact all the legitimate business of the people, but the difficulty is that it has been withdrawn from circulation and hoarded. The true remedy is to restore confidence and credit, and to thus put the money now in the country in circulation again."

Senator Morgan's Views.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—Senator Morgan, of Alabama, has arrived from Paris after an absence of several months, devoted to his duties as an arbitrator in the Behring Sea dispute. "The reports of financial distress seem to me have been exaggerated," he said, "although I have been absent from the country and form my estimate only by hearsay. This talk of panic originated in certain quarters and was probably set afloat to serve the ends of those who were the authors. The people have not distrusted any form of the government money. They have gone to the banks and taken out gold, silver, or notes of any kind. The people have money in their pockets, but the banks have not this money. Banks have been carrying along inflated enterprises, schemes, booms. Retribution has come in some instances, but those institutions which have gone under to stay are of a class for which there is no mourning, I take it. Have you heard of any crape on the door?"

HAPPY MAKE-UP.

General Alexander Hamilton and His Wife Are Again One.

New York, Aug. 29.—The Times says: General Alexander Hamilton and his wife have been reunited, and by the terms of a verbal agreement made between them last Thursday afternoon will live together in either this city or Washington. The arrangement between them was brought about through the efforts of Lawyer E. R. Vollmer, who was a partner of Robert Ray Hamilton, and is counsel for Gen. Hamilton. Mr. Vollmer convinced Mrs. Hamilton that she had made a grave error in bringing her suit, and he arranged for a long time there was little to indicate an amicable adjustment of difficulties. It was Thursday afternoon when the settlement was reached. Mrs. Hamilton withdrew her allegation that her husband was incapable of managing his affairs, and it was agreed that when they went to live together again the General should control his income, just as he does now.

The General was very penitent, and when the reconciliation was brought about there was a touching scene. Both husband and wife agreed, tearfully, that there had been a misunderstanding, which would never occur again.

THE FATAL STORM.

Bodies Washed Ashore From Wrecks Along the Coast.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Aug. 29.—The body of Diver William Collian, the only victim of the wreck at Watson's Point Thursday morning, was washed ashore near the scene of the disaster yesterday.

SOUTHAMPTON, L. I., Aug. 29.—Another body was washed ashore at this place yesterday. It is believed to be one of the crew of the ill-fated vessels which were wrecked in the recent storm. Arvid Johnson's body was found. He was one of the men lost in the wreck.

Sick of America.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 29.—There is an exodus of Hungarians from this section, the result of the times. Within the last six weeks 900 Hungarians and Italians have left the Connellsville regions for their homes and since August 16, 300 Huns, Poles and Italians have deserted the mines of the Monongahela Valley. Of the 1,900 foreigners who came here during the last year 1,400 will go back as soon as they have the means.

FORTY REPORTED DEAD

A Terrible Cyclone Sweeps Over Savannah.

MEAGER NEWS OF THE DISASTER

The Damage Roughly Estimated at Ten Million Dollars—Indications that the Storm is Extending—Wires Down and the Outlook Bad.

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—Meagre details are received this morning of a terrible cyclone at Savannah, Ga., which is reported to have killed forty people and destroyed property to the extent of $10,000,000.

The cyclone is described as unparalleled in severity and rapidly extending Northward.

The Weather Bureau reports that the hurricane centre has passed over or very near Savannah, Augusta, Charlotte and Lynchburg, causing off telegraphic communication with the South and West.

The gravest fears are entertained along the coast of a repetition of the horrors of last week's hurricane.

The Government Weather Bureau has sent out bulletins warning people that a terrific storm is approaching.

Telegraph wires are down and communication cut off with the South and West.

The outlook is very bad.

Work of Destruction.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Aug. 29.—A late Savannah special to the Courier Journal says that all the wharves along the river front and Ocean Steamship company and Savannah, Florida and Western Railway wharves were under water.

A view of the city revealed a scene of wreck and ruin that surpassed that of the great hurricane of 1881.

Nothing is standing at Quarantine, where one of the finest stations on the South Atlantic was 24 hours ago except the Doctor's house and how this weathered the fearful gale is miraculous.

The wharves are gone, the new fumigation plant which has cost the city so much money is in the bottom of the sea and the vessels which were waiting there for release to come to the city are high and dry in the marsh and no doubt will be totally wrecked. Fourteen sailors of various wrecked ships are known to have been drowned.

The Hotel Tybee is considerably damaged in front. Her verandas are gone and all the bath houses are gone. The K. of P. public house was washed away. Several hotels and club houses are gone.

The north end is practically cleaned out. The water swept with tremendous force over that part of the island. Railroad tracks were carried from 200 to 500 feet. An empty train is in the woods.

It is impossible to get an accurate idea of the loss of life or damage to property, but the indications are that the first estimates were none too high.

The list of fatalities is gradually growing and it is impossible to tell to what extent it will go.

Several bodies of drowned people were picked up during the morning and searches are now being made for others who are missing.

Every hour seems to bring some new story of death as a result of the storm.

THE LONG ISLAND WRECK.

Investigation of the Accident Closed but Kept Secret.

LONG ISLAND CITY, L. I., Aug. 29.—There were no further deaths yesterday among those injured in the Long Island Railroad disaster of Sunday morning since that of August Jakobson reported in the morning. The investigation into the cause of the accident by General Superintendent Blood is practically closed. It was admitted by Lawyer Kelly, counsel to the road that the investigation had fixed the responsibility but would not say upon whom, whether engineer Concrite or signalman Knott. He referred all questions to Superintendent Blood and the latter positively refused to be interviewed or give the result of the investigation. He declined to affirm or deny the rumor that both Knott and Concrite had been found guilty of negligence.

At St. John's hospital all of the remaining 14 wounded ones are resting easily and except possibly in the case of James Thompson a favorable outcome is now expected in each case.

Triple Drowning.

MANCHESTER, N. H., Aug. 29.—A triple drowning accident occurred in the Merrimac river here yesterday afternoon. Edmond Bostarouche, aged 18 years, and Samuel and Alexon Bouchard, brothers, aged 18 and 15 years respectively, were swimming, when one of them was seized with cramps, and the other two went to his assistance. They were both seized in the frenzied grasp of the drowning boy and all three went down together. The bodies were recovered shortly after.

Perhaps Quincy Hasn't Resigned.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—The resignation of Assistant Secretary of State Quincy has not been received at the State Department or the White House. Secretary Gresham, Private Secretary Thurber and Assistant Secretary Hamlin, discredit the report of his resignation.

Reading's Interest.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 29.—It is rumored that the Reading railroad receivers have decided to pay the interest on the general mortgage 4s in October. Secretary Taylor says the receivers have not taken formal action upon the subject.

CHIEF ARTHUR'S CASE.

A Statement Regarding the Terms of Settlement.

TOLEDO, Aug. 29.—A petition was filed in the U. S. Circuit Court yesterday in the case of the Craig Ship Building company against the Toledo, Ann Arbor & North Michigan railway company which indicates the terms upon which the Ann Arbor damage suit against Chief Arthur was settled.

In the language of the petition for authority to settle, Mr. Arthur agreed to pay the receiver the sum of $2,500, said sum including the fee of $1,000 to plaintiff's counsel. Mr. Arthur also pays all the costs of the damage suit Judge Ricks granted an order Saturday authorizing the receiver to settle and dismiss the case on these terms.

Alexander L. Smith, attorney for the Ann Arbor road, says: "Mr. Arthur pays $2,500 and the costs specified. We did not care to press the case for further or punitive damages, inasmuch as by the terms of this settlement the principle and precedent are established, and quite as firmly as it would have been by a judgment of the court. Besides there would have been considerable difficulty in proving just what the damages were. The boycott really lasted only one day.

"Of course it is a victory for us. We would have settled in no other way. I will say, however, that the settlement was the result of an amicable agreement with Mr. Arthur, the Brotherhood and all parties concerned."

FATAL YACHTING.

Five Drowned in a Wreck on Lake Champlain.

WHITEHALL, N. Y., Aug. 29.—George R. Witherbee, of Port Henry, and six companions, who were sailing in Witherbee's yacht, the Alpha, were capsized in Lake Champlain, at 11 o'clock yesterday. Witherbee and five of the boys were drowned. Their names were: William Glides, 18 years old; William Treadier, 14 years; Eddie Jubert, 18 and John Whitman 13 years, all of Port Henry, and Albert Brush, 12 years, of Brooklyn, N. Y., who was a guest of Jubert. Joseph La Barge, 11 years old, saved himself by swimming to the Vermont shore. The yacht was a 24-foot boat and was considered a strong and substantial one. Witherbee was 23 years old and an all-round athlete. He was graduated from Cornell College in June and was elected captain of the "Varsity" football team shortly before graduation. He had been a member of the "Varsity" crew for three years. He was a competent yachtsman, but the boat was ballasted heavily with iron ore and when a stiff squall struck her she went over without warning. Witherbee died in a heroic effort to save young Brush's life. The yacht was raised during the afternoon, but none of the bodies of the victims had been found until 9 o'clock last evening, when four bodies were recovered.

DISEASED CATTLE.

Twenty Out of One Train Load Seized at Jersey City.

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—Health Inspector Benjamin, of Jersey City, yesterday seized at the National Stock Yards, foot of Sixth street, over 20 lung-plagued cattle which arrived between 4 and 5 o'clock on a West Shore train. The train consisted of ten or twelve cars. The cars were all filled with cattle. The diseased cows were distributed among the lot, thus causing them to contagion.

The infected cows were quickly quarantined in an isolated pen, where they will be killed.

Every effort will be made to prevent the spread of the disease by disinfection of the cattle pens and cars.

Inspector Benjamin was notified of the coming of the cattle by a telegram sent by the health authorities of Buffalo, where they were shipped. He intends to telegraph to Buffalo to inquire why the cattle were sent from that city.

Veterinary Surgeon Autenreith will make a thorough examination of the cattle which were on the train, and any showing the slightest symptoms of having the disease will be killed, and the carcasses sent to the rendering establishment.

AFTER THIRTY YEARS.

Efforts to Release Millionaire King From an Insane Asylum.

BOSTON, Aug. 29.—An attempt is now being made to secure the release of the aged William H. King from an asylum for the insane, where he has been long confined. An application for a writ of habeas corpus was made to the Supreme Court yesterday and a hearing on the case will be had today.

Great secrecy is preserved with regard to the circumstances of his case, which appears to be rather a strange one. Mr. King is immensely wealthy, being said to be worth more than two millions. He is about 80 years of age, 30 of which he has spent within the walls of the asylum from which an effort is now being made to release him.

The Harlem Accident.

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—According to General Manager Tracey the blame for the fatal accident on the Harlem railroad Saturday rests between John Dunn, the assistant train despatcher at White Plains, and Operator Wakeman at Turner's Station. Both men have been suspended by the company and also arrested by the coroner.

Redeemed His Prize.

NEW HAVEN, Aug. 29.—Julian Ingersoll Chamberlain, son of ex-Governor Chamberlain of South Carolina, has settled the bill for which the Townsend Prize he won at the Yale Prize Speaking last year was attached, and has been allowed to take away his prize. The prize amounts to $100, and was attached for debts incurred by young Chamberlain.

New York Republican League.

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—A call will be issued to-day to the members of the executive committee of the Republican State League by President Green calling them together for a meeting in this city Monday, Sept. 4, Labor Day.

Eight Hundred Strike.

SHAMOKIN, Pa., Aug. 29.—Eight hundred men struck at Pattersen colliery yesterday, throwing 1,000 men out of employment. The men struck because they did not receive their pay Saturday night.

York Rolling Mill Suspends.

YORK, Pa., Aug. 29.—The York Rolling Mill which resumed work about two weeks ago, after a short suspension, announces an indefinite suspension of operations. Lack of orders is the cause.

Jack Kilpatrick in New York.

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—Jack Dempsey, the one-time invincible middleweight, arrived last night.

PEARY YET AFTER DOGS.

His Arctic Expedition Believed to be a Failure.

METHODS ALLEGED TO BE SUICIDAL.

Forty Cents Offered for Dogs Said to be Worth Four and Five Dollars—The Party Likely to be Frozen In—An Exceedingly Discouraging Outlook.

ST. JOHNS, N. F., Aug. 29.—Further discouraging news concerning the Peary expedition comes from Labrador by the mail steamer arriving here. According to the last report Peary was at Davis' Inlet on Aug. 2, and on the 5th had reached Nain.

There he again tried to purchase dogs, but failed. He offered the Esquimaux 40 cents each for dogs, but as they are worth $4 or $5 each, the Esquimaux would not sell, so Peary left for Okkak, the next Moravian settlement. As he would not pay greater prices there either, he could not get dogs. Then he announced his intention of going to Hebron, Ramah and other settlements farther north, making every effort to secure dogs at those places and if unsuccessful would depend upon getting dogs at Disco, Greenland, as a last resort. Dogs are now doubly necessary to Peary, as the Burrea all perished before Nain was reached and consequently it is impossible for the expedition to accomplish anything without a far greater number of dogs than was at first considered necessary.

It is believed here that Peary's actions are suicidal and that if he was determined to wreck the whole expedition he could not adopt better means. The steamer has been detained a month behind her regular time, rendering it problematical if she reaches her destination at all and it is almost certain that she will be frozen up before the cargo and supplies are unloaded.

The prospect is a very black one indeed.

MONARCH OF THE SEA.

Assertion in Parliament that England's Naval Supremacy is Vanishing.

LONDON, Aug. 29.—In the House of Commons yesterday the navy estimates came up for consideration. The Right Hon. Lord George Hamilton (Conservative), member for Ealing division of Middlesex and lately first Lord of the Admiralty, attacked the government for neglecting to maintain the efficiency of the navy. He declared that unless a determined effort was made to secure new warships England's supremacy on the sea would vanish within three years. Already the French and Russian battleships together reach a total of 25, against 23 effective vessels of that class. France and Russia have ten battleships in course of construction, while Great Britain has only three. In first-class cruisers only was Great Britain slightly superior to France and Russia. He suggested that supplementary estimates be allowed for the purpose of pushing the work of building new warships.

Sir William Vernon Harcourt, Chancellor of the Exchequer, replying to Lord George Hamilton, held that the superiority of the British navy over the navies of other countries was never so great as now. He denied the accuracy of the figures presented by Lord George Hamilton. The Chancellor of the Exchequer concluded by declaring that the government was fully alive to all its obligations, and would maintain the naval superiority of Great Britain.

For the District of Columbia, Eastern New York, Eastern Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Maryland, Delaware, Virginia and North Carolina: Southeasterly winds with rain attending the hurricane centre moving northeastward, followed by colder westerly winds with fair weather.

Give Idle Printers a Chance.

CHICAGO, Aug. 29.—Typographical Union No. 16 of Chicago, which includes all the large English papers of the city, adopted a rule, to hold for five weeks, for the relief of the unemployed in its ranks, by which none of the regularly employed shall work more than four days in each week, laying off two days and putting on substitutes.

New York Democratic Committee.

TROY, N. Y., Aug. 29.—It is reported here and in Albany, on good authority, that Senator Murphy has decided to retire from the Democratic State Committee, and that he will be succeeded by Mayor Whelan of this city. This also includes the making of Lieut.-Gov. Sheehan chairman of the committee.

Collieries Closed.

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Aug. 28.—By request of individual operators, E. P. Wilbur, president of the Lehigh Valley Company, has issued orders to all superintendents to close down the collieries Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday of next week. This order may continue as long as coal trade is dull.

A Purely Private Affair.

LONDON, Aug. 29.—The Speaker of the House of Commons has declined to interfere in the case of Mr. MacNeill, Nationalist Member of Parliament for Donegal, who assaulted Henry Furniss for caricaturing him in Punch.

Appeal for Seed Wheat.

TOPEKA, Kan., Aug. 29.—Secretary Mohler of the state board of agriculture has issued an appeal for seed wheat and money with which to buy it for farmers of western Kansas.

THE DAILY PRESS.

A. L. FORCE, - - Publisher and Proprietor.
WALTER IRVING CLARKE, - Managing Editor.

To pass the silver purchase repeal act in the House of Representatives cost the nation $280,000.

THE HOSPITAL EXPLAINS.

The Press is glad to learn from Dr. Long, of the Muhlenberg Hospital Staff, that it is not the intention of the hospital authorities to withhold legitimate news from the city papers

The authorities at the Hospital, it appears from the doctor's words, were vexed at the unwarranted liberty taken by a certain Plainfield newspaper—not The Press—in attempting to report unauthoritatively a delicate surgical operation that was recently performed at the hospital. The report was incorrect in detail, in such a way as to throw discredit upon the hospital staff. Moreover, it ought not to have been published even if it had been correct. The doctor expresses the willingness of the authorities to supply all proper news to the papers. His courtesy to the Press representative who called on him in reference to the matter was ample evidence of his good faith in the matter.

PRIMITIVE PROPRIETY.

Tattler Wetmore, of the Elizabeth Journal, with his usual patness in commenting on sporting and society doings, thus handles the case of Cranford's silly cycling ordinance:

The wise men of Cranford passed a bicycle ordinance the other evening, one section of which contains the following startling prohibition: "That it shall be unlawful for any person not wearing sufficient clothing to entirely cover his body, except the arms, to ride a bicycle in or upon any street or streets in the Township of Cranford." Apart from the laughable command in so many words to wheelmen to ride through Cranford masked and hooded; the bucolic burgesses of this back country borough have placed themselves in their primitive and pastoral propriety on a par with the old maids who put wrappers on Venuses and seek the seclusion of their closets when they wish to change their minds. The bare legs of some are seen on all our beaches, in racing shells and on every athletic grounds, and the sight of them has never yet brought a blush to the cheek of the most modest maiden nor polluted her pure heart. To prohibit an occasional racer or man in practice trim, passing through the town on a wheel in the accepted athletic rig, is a piece of exaggerated propriety that will make Cranford the laughing-stock of the State. The L. A. W. rules place sufficient restrictions on costumes to ensure a due regard to propriety and modesty in racing garments. Let our Cranford friends amend their ordinance to correspond with this and no wheelman can justly complain at the strict enforcement of this provision of the ordinance.

His Servant Took the Money.

Chief Grant succeeded yesterday in capturing the person who stole $40 from Mr. Goldman, a Front street merchant.

Lizzie Lefkouts, a servant girl in his employ, confessed to having taken the money, but claims she found it in his vest in the street.

She told the Chief that she had put the money in bank and that a woman living in New York had her bank book. She gave the address and he went there yesterday and found no such person as she described and no bank book.

The case will be investigated further.

West Front Street in Bad Shape.

Front street west of Grant avenue is going to ruin for want of top dressing. Christian Schepflin and other prominent tax-payers of that section are vexed at the city's inactivity in the matter. Such good and liberal citizens as Mr. Schepflin contributed largely to the original expense of improving this thoroughfare; and their request for preservation of the street should be heeded. It would be a good idea for the street committee to inspect the road bed in company with the street commissioner, and order him to make the necessary repairs before winter sets in.

More Sunday Statistics.

The Press yesterday told of the meagre attendance at Sunday evening services. Here are some figures of the morning attendance in the representative churches:

First Baptist, 100.
Methodist Episcopal, 150.
First Presbyterian, 500.
Crescent Avenue Presbyterian, 400.
Holy Cross, 250.
Grace Episcopal, 100.
Grace Methodist, 100.
Park Avenue Baptist, 100.
Trinity, closed.
Congregational, closed.

Plainfield Vets to be There.

The 28th Regiment, New Jersey Volunteers, will hold a reunion at Long Branch, Thursday, August 31. The following members from Plainfield and vicinity will attend:

H. C. Drake, ex-Vice-President of Co. C; Seymour Marsh, First Lieutentant Co. F.; D. N. Soffield, of Co. C.; William VanNest, of Co. C., Israel Compton, of Co. C., W. H. B. Drake, of Co. I.

—A broad smile is worn by the letter carriers today. The reason is that Benjamin Mumford, of the steam carpet cleaning works, has presented them with an upholstered cushion for "Letter Carriers' Rest." It's a dandy.

ANOTHER BIG WIND.

Much Damage to Trees and Crops in and Around Plainfield.

A violent wind storm visited this section again last night, bringing much anxiety to those whose houses trembled before the shrieking blast. As in the storm of last week, a number of fine shade trees were felled in Plainfield, among them some of the noble pines at the Opdyke place on Watchung avenue, and large trees at the VanDeventer and McCutchen places in Washington Park.

The full sweep of the storm is felt in the outskirts. Farms especially suffered. It was the worst that had visited Washington Valley in a long time. Though a belt extending to Martinville, peach trees heavy with fruit were blown down, and apple and other fruit trees were stripped bare.

The standing corn, which was just earing out, was broken and twisted so that the grain will be of no use. Many cornfields look as though a mammoth steam roller had crushed them. Haystacks were also blown to pieces and the rain ruined the hay.

Somerville again suffered considerably. The roof of Tunison & Losey's grocery store, which had just been replaced after the storm of last week, was again ripped off.

During the heavy gale this morning Charles Smith was aroused from his slumber by his friends. The occasion was that one of the handsome new signs which were lately placed on his walls was about to fall to the walk. He at once ordered temporary supports, and it will now be properly anchored to the building with iron holdfasts.

All electric wires were badly tangled by the wind. Telegraphic service was seriously crippled.

THE LYCEUM CLUB WILL ENTER.

J. J. Lynch Chosen Vice-President of the Catholic Young Men's Union.

The Catholic Young Men's Diocesan Union had an important meeting Sunday in Institute Club-house, Newark. Seventeen societies had delegates present, representing over 2,000 members. This year the Union will have a bowling league, starting about October, and the C. Y. M. L. of this city will enter a team. Thanksgiving Day, the Union will have a field day. The events will consist of running races, jumping, target shooting between teams of five from each society; also bicycle races and a foot-ball game.

The meeting being also an annual one, the following officers were elected: President, T. G. Fitzpatrick, Newark; Vice-President, J. J. Lynch, Plainfield; Recording Secretary, J. J. Bluvitt, Newark; Corresponding Secretary, D. Fitzpatrick, Newark; Treasurer, W. Evans, Jersey City. The next meeting will be in Jersey City, October 2.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—The North Plainfield public school will be re-opened Tuesday, September 17.

—The Presbyterian young people of Westfield give a peach festival on their church lawn this evening.

—The lawn festival which was to have been held today by the Women's Relief Corps has been postponed till next week.

—Mary Luke was arrested last night for being drunk and disorderly. Judge Coddington suspended sentence on her promise to do better.

—The foot race of the Crescent baseball players will take place Monday morning before the game. Plainfield shopkeepers have offered merchandise prizes.

—A resident of Arlington avenue went home intoxicated last night, beat his wife, and threw knives at her, cutting her on the hand severely. No arrest was made.

—Superintendent Adleman has his men putting in a switch and turnout at the Watchung avenue terminus of the street railway, to be used by both branches of the road.

—Every person purchasing school books or school supplies amounting to one dollar or upwards at one time of Joseph M. Harper, 411 Park avenue, will receive a present.

—A sister of the girl who became hysterical in McVey's restaurant, recently, called at that place last night and wanted the remaining part of her sister's wages. It was refused her, unless she should bring an order from the sick girl.

—The young lady with whom Charles Hand became so angered last Saturday, and whom he accused of fraud and swindle, has engaged counsel for an action of damage suit. She is an educated and refined young lady, and her friends say that Charles has gone too far this time.

—You'll regret it all winter if you don't go on the great excursion of the Odd Fellows to Lake Hopatcong to-morrow. The committee has worked untiringly for the comfort and entertainment of all, and they deserve great credit. The committeemen who have worked so faithfully are S. Schlief, chairman; R. Kersting, J. Staats, E. S. Clevely, T. A. Kurzhals, Jr.

Gallant Bob to the Rescue.

W. R. Mattox, Stage Manager of Music Hall, gave an example of his accustomed chivalry today. Mrs. Pitou and a friend from over the mountain were thrown out of the buggy by the loss of a wheel. They were stunned, but Mr. Mattox was on hand and revived them with the tenderness of a woman. They were taken into Henry Windham's Arlington Hotel and cared for. Their horse galloped off towards home.

His Fielding Errors Killed Him.

(From The New York Sun.)

Billy Keller, who was released to Brooklyn by the New York Club some weeks ago, has gone to Binghamton, but it is not known whether he was actually released or only loaned to the minor league club. Keeler was quite popular in Brooklyn, where his batting won him favor. He played third base for a time, but Hatfield replaced him at that position, and since then he has been playing at odd times in the field.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Mrs. E. Chapin has concluded her visit to Ocean Grove.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Brokaw and family are home again from the seashore.

Mr. and Mrs. Ramsey Blair, of East Second street, are at Ocean Grove.

John Leggett, of Princeton, is visiting his son, J. H. Leggett, the druggist.

Miss Nettie Crawford and mother have returned from their visit to Staten Island.

Casper Wagoner, one of Lederer's popular and courteous clerks, is enjoying a vacation of one week.

Mrs. Elizabeth Lockrie, of 455 West Sixth street, died last evening after an illness of one month.

Margaret Dwyer died this morning. The funeral will be from 49 West Third street to-morrow morning at 9.

The funeral of Warren Ackerman will be in the First Presbyterian church to-morrow morning at 10:15.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Dupee are home again after an enjoyable vacation in the Adirondack Mountains.

Miss Mabel Hannan, of Brooklyn, is being entertained by her friend Miss Henrietta Cuming, of Watchung avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Clark, of Orchard place, have returned from Ocean Grove, where they spent ten days.

Miss Agnes FitzGerald, of Somerset place, is spending her vacation in one-day trips to places hereabouts of local interest.

Mrs. W. A. Schutt, of Duer street, with her little daughter, are at the wave-washed white sand beach of Asbury Park.

Miss Addie Weaver returned home this morning after a pleasant visit of two weeks with Mrs. David Neighbor, Bayonne.

William J. Lamson, Yale '93, formerly of Plainfield, will enter the College of Physicians and Surgeons in New York this fall.

Mr. and Mrs. Grant Hegel, of Detroit, are spending a few days with relatives in town. Mr. Hegel was formerly a resident of Plainfield.

E. P. Gavin, of the West End of the borough, returned with his daughter Miss Lizzie M. Gavin yesterday from a week at Asbury Park.

George and James Boyce, two brothers of Richard A. Boyce, proprietor of the Somerset House, were visiting at that popular hotel yesterday.

Mrs. J. E. Danielson, wife of J. E. Danielson, M. D., of Bergen street, Brooklyn, accompanied by her daughter Miss Lillian, is visiting Mrs. A. L. Force, of Duer street.

The pulpit of the Park Avenue Baptist church will again be occupied, next Sunday, by the Rev. J. W. Richardson, the pastor. He will be given hearty welcome by his congregation.

Grace M. E. church has a jewel of a pastor in the Rev. H. F. Randolph. He is a bright, studious young divine; and seems to have, as he deserves, the united support of his flourishing congregation.

A full-dress hop will be given at Hotel Netherwood Thursday evening, accompanying a promenade and testimonial concert to the hotel orchestra. Special talent from New York has been engaged to assist in the music.

Elisha S. VanNorstrand, of Elizabeth, formerly tax collector of North Plainfield township and now connected with the Central Railroad Company in their main office, is spending this week in the borough visiting old friends and acquaintances.

William F. Arnold, Edward C. Pease and Daniel W. Littell were last night appointed a special committee from the Plainfield Council, Royal Arcanum, No. 711, to review and escort the remains of their late brother Francis H. Gardner, to their last resting-place.

Trinity church is very considerate of its pastor. When the Rev. Cornelius Schenck wrote that he was about to leave Haines Falls and resume his pulpit labors, the trustees wrote back telling him not to return unless his health had been perfectly restored. His leave of absence has been extended one month.

The Misses Recap will leave their summer home, Harriot Cottage, Belmar, for Plainfield September 1, and prepare for the opening of their school. This institution has been very popular since its foundation four years ago. The excellence of the instruction and discipline will no doubt secure for it a continuance of gratifying patronage.

The American Tract Society, in annual session in Milton, Wis., in connection with the Seventh-Day Baptist Conference, has elected the following officers: President, Charles Potter, Plainfield; Vice-Presideat, George H. Babcock, Plainfield; Treasurer, J. F. Hubbard, Plainfield; Secretaries, F. E. Peterson, Dunellen, and A. L. Titsworth, Plainfield.

That Dog Case.

Edward Marshall, who got into trouble with Police-Sergeant Kiely over the shooting of a dog, has n't any time to waste attending repeated sessions of court, and concluded to end the matter speedily. He therefore visited Judge Coddington last evening and pleaded non vult to the charge against him. The Judge appointed Thursday to administer sentence.

Very Low Rate to Chicago.

The Gen. Wadsworth Post, No. 75, of Somerville, has obtained low railroad rates to Chicago via Washington and return via Niagara Falls. The Post starts next Monday and says "Everybody is welcome to go". It attends the National Encampment for two days only, and the World's Fair for six days.

A Few Honest Suggestions Which Should Be Appreciated.
All tooth powders practically contain the same ingredients, namely, chalk, castile soap, etc, with some flavoring. We use in the manufacture of Royal Tooth Powder the best English prepared chalk, the finest English Castile soap, delicately flavored. Your dentist will tell you these substances are perfectly harmless and accomplish all that is to be expected from a tooth powder. A full 2-ounce package of this unexcelled article (same as is usually sold for 25c. under other names, but which we retail for 10c.) will be given with each $1 purchase and upwards. People of correct ideas will appreciate this offer, but some will say, "We never use tooth powder." Those who do use it, however, can be distinguished from those who don't, as the rose can be distinguished from the dandelion. This will seem cruel to some, but duty compels us to speak plainly. The "Royal" is being received everywhere, and jobbers compliment us with their duplicate orders. A trial of Royal Tooth Powder will delight you. J. C. ALLEN, Plainfield, N. J.

CRACK CLUB CAR.

Full Description of the Wheeled Palace in Which Plainfield Commuters Will Ride.

The Harlan & Hollingsworth Company, of Wilmington, Del., have on exhibition at Chicago three cars which may be taken as types. One of these is the result of half a century's effort in evolving a perfect railroad coach, namely, the club-car Plainfield, built for service on the New Jersey Central Railroad, and for the use of a number of business men of Plainfield who do business in New York city.

This car is described by The American Engineer as the realization of all that a refined and luxurious taste could desire in a coach. The body of the car is painted a very dark blue with ornamentation in gold. It is carried on two six-wheeled trucks. The steps at each end are of easy ascent, the platforms wide, and all the hand-rails about them are of polished brass.

The car is divided into two compartments by a bulkhead across its centre, and is finished in mahogany—the walls, bulkhead, doors, tables and chairs being of that wood, and all exquisitely carved and finished. One end contains a heater-room, a linen locker, a saloon and a lavatory. Next to these small apartments is the first main division of the car. It is about 30 ft. long, 8 ft. wide, and under the ventilator about 9 ft. in height. The sides are alternate sections of highly finished mahogany wood, of a dull red color and of the clearest plate-glass; the glass sections, twice the width of the wood, make the car very light and pleasant. The ceiling is of oak, painted in yellow, brown and gold in colonial designs. The wood section of the walls between the plate-glass windows are composed of two turned columns of mahogany, with handsome carved capitals, enclosing a beveled mirror, and behind the mirror—between each pair of windows—is a locker, the mirror being the door of it; the frieze is a handsomely carved belt of mahogany, encircling the car; along the frieze and over each locker is an oxidized package basket.

The furniture consists of 10 tables fixed along one side of the car with four revolving chairs at each table, six or eight big arm chairs along the other side, and several willow chairs about the ends of the car.

There are no upholstered hangings, except the curtains at the windows; the chairs are upholstered in red-brown leather, and the carpet is soft, of the same general tint with sparse dots of deeper color strewn over the surface. The bulkhead of mahogany incloses a circle of plate-glass immediately over the door, two circular topped windows, one on each side of the door, and a big rectangular pane of the same quality of glass forming the upper portion of the door. The wood-work about the glass is decorated in beautifully cut figures.

The entrance at the opposite end of the car is through a semi-circular, dome-capped vestibule. The outer walls and the ceiling of this vestibule are paneled mahogany; the walls inside the car and outside of the dome roof are beautifully carved in floral designs, the figures being in low relief; the door contains panels of plate glass and its hardware is of oxidized silver. The car is lighted by the Pintsch system of gas lights, and each compartment is lighted by three lamps suspended from the ceiling.

The dimensions of this car are as follows: Length, 71 ft. 6 in.; length over platforms, 78 ft. 1 in.; width, 9 ft. 6 in.; spread of wheels, 10 ft., and diameter of wheels, 3 ft.

Two Attempts at Train Wrecking.

Within the past month two attempts have been made near White House to wreck trains on the Central Railroad of New Jersey. The place where they were made is about two miles west of White House, in the woods on top of Pickels Mountain. In each case the attempt was made upon the same train. The first was made nearly four weeks ago. The crew of a local freight train discovered and removed the obstruction five minutes before the express dashed by.

The second attempt was made last Saturday morning. The train, which is known as the Easton express, was going west. Engineer Hank Foster, as he reached the thickest part of the woods, saw something dark on the track. He shut off steam and applied the air brakes, but could not stop entirely and ran into the obstruction. A valve rim on the engine was broken. An investigation showed that old ties had been laid crosswise on the track and heavy stones piled on top.

The American Catarrh Cure

Is the result of twenty-six years' study and treatment of the disease. One bottle convinces the most skeptical. It is always ready for use, needing neither douche nor atomizer. It restores the hearing, cures the hawking cough and expectorating, removes the headache and nose bleeding, increases the appetite, produces sound sleep, invigorates the whole system and increases the vitality. Prepared only by W. B. Jones, M. D., No. 1336 South Eighth street, Philadelphia. For sale by I. W. Randolph, 21 West Front street. Price $1.

ALAS, POOR SANCHO!

He Was the Last Descendant of the Press Dog Fanny, and a Trolley Car Laid Him Low.

The oldest employes of The Press remember with affection a dog, Fanny by name, who lived for many years in the office, and together with an owl and a cat formed a happy family that was only broken up by an untimely accident that sent poor Fanny to the happy hunting grounds. Nobody knew how old Fanny was, for the memory of the employes went not back so far concerning her. She might have been living yet had not a section of the boiler, near which she slept, blown out and ended a happy and useful life. The owl died shortly afterwards from the effects of a similar accident, both calamities strangely justifying the prophesy of a deceased pressman, but that, as Kipling says, is another story.

Fanny's mate was named Jack, and was the property of the Frazee family of Watchung avenue. Their union was blessed by many children, but their ranks were thinned by the scythe of Time until one only survived. This was a younger son, Sancho by name, who had brightened the lives of the Frazee children for 17 years. But in that time Sancho had suffered many things, and the infirmities of age had at last descended upon his head. He was stone deaf, and when he went out to take the air Saturday night and strayed across the tracks of the street railway he could not hear the hum of the trolley. The car was upon him before he knew it, and poor Sancho was no more.

Thus perished the last of a beloved family, and that is why The Press staff is sad and why the Frazee family is cast down.

WHAT'S THE MATTER WITH CRANFORD?

She Passes a Bicycle Ordinance with Some Idiotic Features.

No more fast riding in Cranford by wheelmen. No riding through there on a bicycle unless your entire body, save only your arms, is covered with clothing. And if you go through Cranford between the hours of sunset and sunrise on a wheel you must carry a lighted lantern. Such are the provisions of an ordinance which will go into effect on Sept. 1 in Cranford township, and the penalty of violation is $5 for each offense.

Thus is destroyed the great and popular Elizabeth-Cranford ten-mile race course, one of the best in the country.

Hereafter the Century runs must be so arranged as to slow up at Cranford or pass around the outside of that township, for the rate of speed for bicycles is ten miles per hour; and Century races must not pass through Cranford, for racing by bicycles on the streets of that township is forbidden.

In the ordinance is a section which is probably the first of its kind ever passed by any public body in New Jersey. Section 4 is referred to, and it provides that a wheelmen shall be fined $5 if he rides through the Township of Cranford in any costume except one which covers all of his body but his arms. No more short stockings and short breeches while riding through Cranford.

And they passed this ordinance, they say, because a few bicyclists shocked Cranford's modesty, and rode recklessly through that town.

Quaint Comedy Thursday Night.

That quaint comedian Willie Collier and his unexcelled company come to Plainfield next Thursday night in that exceptional ludicrous farcical entertainment entitled "Hoss & Hoss". Mr. Collier, although still a very young man, takes rank today as one of the very foremost comedians in America. The company which surrounds him will include Sherman Wade, James B. Gentry, Edd Readway, M. L. Heckert, David Andreada, J. R. Murchie, Miss Louise Allen Collier, Helena Collier, Helen Reimer, Madge Yorke, Mae Davenport, and many others. "Hoss & Hoss" will of course be the vehicle in which the company will display their various talents. This play is now in its fourth season and has recently been re-written, rejuvenated and reconstructed until it is now like a new play. The last act which was formerly the restaurant scene has been cut out entirely and is now replaced by the former second act showing the court-room scene, and the famous Bowery Ball, which is now well known throughout the entire country. The second act is now an exterior and will be found to be a great improvement over the former production, and the entire piece may now be said to be strictly "up to date". All the latest songs, specialties, dances and parodies will be introduced.

"First Houses of Bound Brook."

The above is the title of an address recently delivered by the Rev. Titus E. Davis, before the Washington Camp Ground Association, a Somerset county society organized for the preservation of local historical data connected with the Revolutionary period. Bound Brook is one of the oldest villages in New Jersey, its first house having been erected in 1683, by Thomas Coddington, once sheriff of New York county. The address has been printed in pamphlet form, with several illustrations, and contains much history of interest never heretofore published. A few copies are for sale by the Association, and until the edition is exhausted will be sent postpaid upon receipt of twenty-five cents. Address W. B. R. Mason, Bound Brook, N. J.

Things Worth Remembering.

When you feel a kind of goneness about the stomach it is a sign that your food does not sit well and that you are about to have a fit of indigestion.

When you begin to feel nervous and are unable to sit still comfortably; when your clothes suddenly seem to lose their fit and become too tight in places the fit of indigestion is surely upon you.

When this fit of indigestion is repeated from day to day it finally resolves itself into dyspepsia.

Remember that three to ten of BRANDRETHS PILLS will cure the worst case of indigestion or dyspepsia, or both, and that a regular course of them, say two every night for a week or ten days, will act as a preventive of either complaint.

FROM FRYING-PAN TO FIRE.

Wilson Was Out of a Job, and Got Crippled While Looking for Work.

Edward Wilson, a day-laborer from Bloomfield, went to Bound Brook yesterday in search of employment. He failed in his hopes, however; and the approach of night found him penniless and a considerable distance from home. The unfortunate man attempted to board an eastbound coal train at the Bound Brook station, but lost his footing, and was caught beneath the car wheels. One foot was crushed. He was brought to Plainfield on the 5:49 train. At the Muhlenburg Hospital last night the injured foot was amputated.

Wilson is aged 34, and has a wife and family in Bloomfield.

Della Fox Returns Next Week.

With the advent of cooler weather, and the return of the vast army of metropolitan theatre-goers who annually migrate to the mountains, lakes and seashore during the midsummer months, the attendance at the Broadway Theatre, where "Panjandrum" still holds sway, has suddenly increased, and during some of the performances of the past two weeks, that theatre, spacious though it is, has contained but few vacant seats.

One of the secrets of "Panjandrum's" success lies in the fact that the average auditor is not satisfied in hearing the opera once, but often returns a second, third or fourth time to listen to the pretty melodies and laugh at the fun, which are considerably enhanced by many additions that are constantly given in the performance.

Monday evening, Mr. Hopper began the seventeenth week, and the last but four of his long engagement at the Broadway Theatre; and at the termination of his traveling season he will take a vacation, which he has earned, having played almost constantly during the past decade, and as his tour of the large cities will not end until May 1, 1894, he will not again appear in the metropolis for over a year.

Della Fox will be a passenger on the Paris, which arrives in New York from Southampton Saturday, September 2. She will make her re-appearance as Paquita in "Panjandrum", at the Broadway Theatre on the following Monday evening, September 4.

Suggestions Contained in the Popular Summer Guide Book of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company.

Complimented by the press and indorsed by tourists and practical travelers, the Summer Excursion book of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company of this year's issue has become, in consequence of these recommendations and its own real worth, a most highly-prized compilation. The many and diversified routes, including every road of prominence within the great summer belt of Eastern United States, offer those contemplating an early fall trip an opportunity of choosing new and interesting means of reaching their destinations. A list of hotels is appended to each resort, which it is self-evident adds materially to the value.

The month of September being probably the finest month in the year in which to travel, an increased demand for this graphic production has become noticeable, and that all may avail themselves of the manifold advantages to be derived from an inspection of its plain and concise yet elegant and complete descriptions of a thousand places within a radius of a thousand miles, the Pennsylvania Railroad Company's Passenger Department will mail the book mentioned to any address upon receipt of 20 cents in stamps. A nominal sum merely, with cost of postage added. Copies may also be obtained from Ticket Agents of the company.

Odd Fellows Grieve Their Loss.

At a regular meeting of Plainfield Lodge, No. 44, I. O. O. F., held the 28th day of August, 1893, the following resolutions were adopted by the Lodge:

WHEREAS, It has pleased Almighty God in His allwise Providence to remove from us by sudden death our brother, Clarkson M. Hammesl; and

WHEREAS, We are thereby reminded of the uncertainty of life and the immutable certainty of death, therefore be it

Resolved, That while we bow in humble submission to the will of Him who doeth all things well, we deeply deplore our loss and extend to the family of our deceased brother our sympathy in this their hour of affliction.

Resolved, That these resolutions be recorded in the book of records, and a copy be sent to the family of our late brother, and published in the Plainfield papers, and be it further

Resolved, That as a token of respect to our late brother, we drape our charter for a period of thirty days.

A New Car This Week.

One of the new cars for the Somerset Street Railway is expected to arrive here Wednesday or Thursday of this week. Supt. Adleman has received word to that effect. The other car will be shipped as soon as completed. The delay is caused by the number of large orders which the Brill Company, the manufacturers, have to fill first. Work on the Plainfield cars has been pushed as rapidly as possible.

But He's Making a Great Record Just the Same.

The Philadelphia Sporting Life says:

The Philadelphia Club has signed Turner, the Staten Island player. He is a fair fielder, a good left-hand batsman, and fast on his feet. Meantime, Sharrott, who is Turner's equal in all respects, is gracing the bench. Turner is a good player, but by no means a wonder, nor capable of completely filling Hamilton's place.

Read and Reflect.

The great mass of mankind lose their health through inattention to catarrh of the head and throat. This insidious disease was considered incurable until the discovery of the American Catarrh Cure. For sale by I. W. Randolph, 21 West Front street. Price $1.00.

I was a sufferer from catarrh for fifteen years with distressing pain over my eyes. I used Ely's Cream Balm with gratifying results. Am apparently cured. Z. C. Warner, Rutland, Vt.

I suffered from a severe cold in my head for months and could get no relief. Was advised to use Ely's Cream Balm. It has worked like magic in its cure. I am free from my cold after using the Balm one week, and I believe it is the best remedy known.—Samuel J. Harris, wholesale grocer, 119 Front st., New York.

Half Rate Excursions to the World's Fair via Washington and the B. & O. R. R.

The Baltimore and Ohio R. R. will run a series of special excursions from New York to the World's Fair at rate of $17.00 for the round trip. The trains will consist of first-class Day Coaches, equipped with lavatories and toilet conveniences. The trains will start from station, foot of Liberty street, at 8:20 a. m., August 21, September 2, 6 and 12, and will reach Chicago at 4:30 p. m. the following day. Tickets will be valid for outward journey only on the special trains, but will be good returning from Chicago in Day Coaches on any regular train within ten days, including day of sale. Stops will be made for meals at the dining stations on the line. A Tourist Agent and a Train Porter will accompany each train to look after the comfort of passengers. For more detailed information as to rates, etc., apply to C. P. Craig, General Eastern Passenger Agent, 415 Broadway, New York.

NERVY MEN
make the money by getting the business.
When competitors are crying hard times and drawing into their shells, the men of nerve put in their big licks, commanding the attention of the people who buy, and thus securing the trade.
Any one can make money in flush times; men with the know how and nerve can do full as well today.
Plainfield people buy the goods they need. They buy them in all times because they need them.
These buyers read the Daily Press and they buy of its advertisers.

Corporation Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the Common Council have fixed the thirty-first day of August, A. D. 1893, at 8 o'clock p. m., and the Council Chamber, No. 109 Park avenue, in the city of Plainfield, as the time and place for J. Frederick MacDonald, William M. Sandford and Edward C. Mulford, the commissioners appointed by the Common Council pursuant to the ordinance entitled, "An ordinance to widen Madison avenue from the northeasterly side line of West Front street to the northwesterly line of the right of way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey," approved June 5, 1893, to meet. The street proposed to be widened and laid out is Madison avenue from the southeasterly side line of West Front st. to the northwesterly line of the right of way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey. The alterations proposed to be made are to widen said Madison so that the same shall be of the uniform width of twenty-five feet on each side of the centre thereof, which centre line is described in said ordinance, and shown on map on file in the office of the City Clerk entitled "Assessment map for the widening of Madison avenue from West Front street to the Central Railroad of New Jersey, city of Plainfield, N. J., dated 1893, made by F. A. Dunham, civil engineer."

The lands and real estate intended to be taken for such purpose are all that come within twenty-five feet of either side of said centre line between the southeasterly side line of West Front street, and the northwesterly line of the right of way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey, as shown by said map and said ordinance, to which reference is hereby made for more detailed description.

By order of the Common Council.
F. W. RUNYON, City Clerk.

IT IS NOT AN ACCIDENT

That our business has grown to its present proportions. Everything that a complete knowledge of the Piano and Organ business can do for a customer is done here. There is no mystery here—all that we know, you may know if you'll listen. Our years of experience has taught us that the Steinway, Gabler, Vose, Sterling and Braumeller Pianos are the best to be had; each has its own peculiar features stamping it distinct from the others. Which one is best for you is a question. Any time you'll come in we will help you solve it.

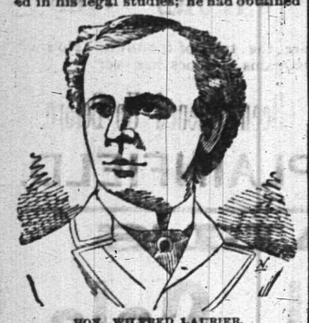
WILFRED LAURIER.

Leader of the Liberal Party in the Canadian House of Commons.

It is not too much to say that among present-day Canadians there is no man better known, more universally admired or more highly esteemed than Hon. Wilfred Laurier. M. Laurier is a man of affairs. He is the leader of the liberal party in the Canadian house of commons. He is an eminent jurist. He is a writer of recognized force. He is an orator without peer in all the length and breadth of his native country. He is absolutely steadfast, absolutely reliable and wholly just. He is a Christian gentleman. M. Laurier is a young man for the position he holds. Born at St. Lin, L'Assomption, Que., in November, 1841, the son of M. Carolus Laurier, P. L. S., the present leader of the liberals came into the world as the descendant of an excellent French family which had been one of the earliest established in La Nouvelle France. He was educated at L'Assomption college and in 1868 married the beautiful Miss Zoe Lafontaine, of Montreal. It was a romantic courtship, for M. Laurier was then but a poor young barrister and she was a beauty and a belle. It has been an ideal marriage, and society has no brighter ornament and leader than Mme. Laurier, while their united home is a synonym for household happiness. After his marriage M. Laurier persisted in his legal studies; he had obtained



HON. WILFRED LAURIER.

a decree of B. C. L. at McGill college in 1864, was called to the bar in 1865 and was appointed queen's counsel in 1880. In 1871 he was first returned to the Quebec legislature from Drummond and Arthabaska, and in 1877 he was returned to the dominion parliament from the same constituency, when he was made a member of the privy council and given the office of minister of inland revenue. In the parliament of 1885-86 he made his famous speech upon the Riel question, and ever since has been known as the "silver-tongued orator" of the house. When Edward Blake withdrew from the commons the leadership of the party was given to the brilliant young Frenchman, and worthily and well he has filled the high position. He is a ready debater, possessing the gift of words without verbosity and a courtliness and tact that befriend him on both sides of the house. In appearance he is tall, slender and graceful, always faultlessly dressed and alert. He is an advanced liberal and believes in commercial reciprocity with the republic

THE MALAYAN TAPIR.

One of the Queer Creatures Now on Exhibition in London.

An addition of special interest has just been made to the collection of animals in the Zoological society's garden, Regent's park, London, England, in the form of a nearly adult specimen of the Malayan or Asiatic tapir. It is only at very long intervals that specimens of this interesting animal have been obtained—the first being in 1840, the second in 1850, one in 1882 and the present example which arrived last week. The home of the tapir is in Central and South America—where there are three well-known species, viz., Baird's tapir, the hairy-eared tapir and the common or Brazilian tapir. Of the latter there are always living specimens in the gardens, where they have bred with tolerable frequency. The Malayan tapir has only been known to European naturalists since 1816. The specimen from which our illustration has been taken is a male, and has been deposited by Hon. Walter Rothschild, F. Z. S., and may be seen in the large house set apart for the exhibition of zebras and wild asses. It is perfectly tame and docile.

Father of American Law Reformers.

In the history of American jurisprudence the name of David Dudley Field will always be associated with law reforms. He began as early as 1839 to show by public utterances his interest in the subject and issued a number of pamphlets on the subject in the years immediately following. His work in the preparation of codes and simplifying forms of procedure in the courts has influenced almost the whole world. More than half the states of the union have adopted wholly or in part his system of codes. The Australian and other colonies of Great Britain, India, the British Isles themselves and other countries have adopted forms of procedure founded more or less closely upon those which he advocated. In international law also his influence has been great. He prepared single handed a code of international law which was published twenty years ago, and which has been translated into many languages, and has had an important influence in forming public opinion on many branches of the law of nations.

The Way They Tell.

Mrs. Trimfoot—These shoes don't fit me at all.

Mr. Trimfoot—Why, they look all right.

Mrs. Trimfoot—Well, they don't fit, anyway. I've had them on over an hour and they haven't hurt in the least.—Puck.

DIET OF CHILDREN.

It Plays an Important Part in the Production of Robustness.

The proper administration of proper food has much to do with the restoration of sick persons to health, and it is equally true that illness may often be avoided by the avoidance of food or drink which is irritating to the digestive organs. The food of children should receive special attention.

During the age of growth the digestive organs are taxed severely to supply the enormous amount of nutriment necessary for the building up of the body. Comparatively few parents realise the important part which diet plays in the production of physical robustness.

A child who is puny, pale and sallow is likely to become an adult of inferior mental and physical capabilities, and excessive fatness in childhood is quite as much to be feared. Either condition invites disease, and parents should know that much may be done to avoid both excessive leanness and excessive fatness by an intelligent and persistent attention to the child's diet.

Acute and chronic inflammation of the stomach are very common among children, especially between two and twelve years of age. These attacks are sometimes produced by exposure to cold, but oftener by the eating of improper food. Two kinds of food especially lead to such disorders—irritating food and easily fermentable food.

The first is a food which is not easily digested, and hence, by its continued presence, acts as an irritant. Easily fermentable food is that which is acted upon quickly by certain ferments, including the yeast and the alcoholic ferments.

This process gives rise to the formation of gases and acids in the stomach and duodenum. All this results in a greater flow of mucus from the surface of the stomach. In the mild cases, "a bilious attack" supervenes. In other cases the attack is followed by fever, frontal headache, restlessness or delirium, a dry and coated or a fiery red tongue. The complexion is sallow, the appetite lost, and dark circles appear under the eyes.

The most important part of the treatment is preventive. Candy and sweets are among the most easily fermentable things swallowed by children. A child's diet should be strictly watched over, and not left to the child's own instincts. A proper amount of simple, nourishing food is the best diet for mental and physical development. —Youth's Companion.

"Now good digestion wait on appetite, And health on both."

To assure both the above ends, good, wholesome, palatable food is demanded. It is next to impossible to present a sufficient variety of appetizing bills of fare for our meals without a liberal allowance of pastry and other food in which shortening is required. How to make crisp, healthful, digestible pastry has puzzled the cooks. A difficulty in all good cooking in the past has been lard. Always fickle, never uniform, most unwholesome—lard has always been the bane of the cook and the obstacle to "good digestion."

COTTOLENE

comes now into popular favor as the new shortening—better than even the best of lard with none of lard's objectionable qualities. And comes attended by both "APPETITE AND HEALTH."

COTTOLENE

HORRORS OF THE STORM

Sad Havoc Along the Atlantic Coast from Florida to Maine.

DEATH LIST INCREASING

Every Hour Seems to Bring Some New Stories of Destruction.

SAVANNAH AND CHARLESTON THE GREATEST SUFFERERS.

Scores of Vessels Wrecked in the Hurricane—Navigation Stopped for Hours in New York Harbor—Last Accounts Say the Cyclone Has Gone Out to Sea—At Midnight It Was Howling Along the Newfoundland Coast.

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—Not for years has one storm so destructive followed another as the two just passed. Shipping men do not recollect any such tales of wreck and disaster at sea as have been brought into port during the past week, and now, before the tale of disaster wrought by one storm is ended, there comes a second storm more widespread in its fury and much more disastrous in its effect.

Hardly was the sea calmed and shipping men once more beginning to regain confidence in the weather when the hurricane of yesterday came roaring along from the southeast and struck New York shortly after mid night. At first there was only a high wind, but soon it began to rain and then the gale increased to a tornado of West Indian proportions.

The hurricane lasted with all its fury until about 1 o'clock, when the wind shifted again to the westward and the high seas gradually grew calm. Then traffic in the harbor began to be resumed and accounts of disasters began to come in from all quarters. The free bath at the battery was wrecked and sunk half way below water. The schooner Belle of Red Bank, N. J., with a cargo of apples, lying at the foot of Danforth street, Jersey City, was capsized by the waves and sunk. The fishing schooner Ida R. Berry from Squaw Beach came into port with her sails in ribbons. She had lost both anchors and anchor chains and reported that when off the Highlands two schooners and a yacht were seen ashore on Bath Beach.

The schooner Annie E. Rickerson, Captain Rummill, came into port in a badly battered condition. On August 20th she encountered a storm which lasted six hours, and during which her lee bulwarks was stove in, the cabin was flooded and every thing movable on deck was washed away.

The bark Glencoyne, Captain Fletcher, was even in a worse condition. On August 20th, when off Hatteras, an easterly hurricane was encountered which lasted for 12 hours. The storm centre was just over the ship and every thing was awash. On August 23rd, a second hurricane was encountered, in which the bark lost her main, fore and mizzen topmasts. The vessel lay over until she was rail under, and every sail was blown from its fastenings.

The fishing schooner Ida Potter, from New York, which sought refuge from the storm behind the breakwater, was driven on the rocks and wrecked, but the crew were saved.

The schooner Frank A. Willis, and a yacht anchored off Camp Low, at Sandy Hook, dropped their anchors and ran ashore.

A three masted schooner broke her anchor chains and grounded on the Jersey flats, while a portion of a wrecked barge floated ashore at Ellis Island, and was made fast at the ferry landing.

A large number of minor accidents to shipping were also reported.

The waves last night had lost their fury of the morning. There were, according to the weather bureau, no more storms in sight or reported. The hurricane had gone to sea, taking a northeasterly course, and at midnight was howling over the Newfoundland banks.

Clear and cooler weather is the latest prediction of the local weather bureau.

HAVOC AT SAVANNAH.

List of Fatalities Growing—No Knowing When it Will End.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Aug. 30.—The list of fatalities is gradually growing, and it is impossible to tell to what extent it will reach. Several bodies of drowned persons have been picked up and search is now being made for others who are missing. Every hour seems to bring some new story of a death as a result of the storm.

The drowning of Mr. A. G. Ulmer, assistant cashier of the Central Railroad Bank, was one of the most unfortunate disasters of the storm. Mr. Ulmer owns a farm on Hutchinson Island, opposite the city, and had gone over to pay off his hands and attend to other duties. There were bruises on his face and it is supposed that he struck against an outshed when he jumped from his barn as it was about to blow down. Miller, his dairyman, has not been found and it is supposed that he was also drowned.

Other fatalities so far reported include 16 colored men. Two unknown sailors were drowned at Tybee Island.

Forty to fifty other persons are reported missing, and it is supposed, as nothing has been heard from them, that their bodies will be found later. Twelve barks and barkentines, which were anchored at Quarantine Station were blown high and dry upon the marsh and some of them were carried by the storm across the marshes on an island two miles distant from the station.

The tug Paulsen brought about 60 passengers from Tybee. Mr. Revers, one of them, stated that four negroes, engaged in clearing the railroad tracks were drowned.

A sailor and the cabin boy on the schooner Harold, which is on her side on North Beach, are drowned.

It is reported that eight of the crew of a terrapin sloop which went ashore on the south end were drowned.

The water swept with tremendous force over part of the island, railroad tracks being carried from 200 to 500 feet. The Chatham club house is badly damaged. The trains on all roads are coming irregularly and some have entirely stopped to repair washouts. The church steeples are demolished and at least 500 large trees were blown down.

More than 30 wrecks have been reported so far.

Fifteen vessels in the Tybee were wrecked or badly damaged.

DEVASTATION AT CHARLESTON.

Great Damage to Property and Reported Loss of Life.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Aug. 30.—The battle of wind and rain commenced with terrific force at 1 o'clock Sunday afternoon and continued without cessation until Monday morning at 7 o'clock. There was not 50 yards space in the streets that did not contain debris, such as roofs of houses, signs, awnings, telegraph poles, etc., which were scattered in all directions. The roof of the St. Charles Hotel was blown off and the streets were flooded with water almost to its doors. Fourteen box cars were blown from the railroad track and turned over. All the phosphate works in the city were blown down or badly damaged. There is a schooner lying high in the streets, having been driven from its anchorage. It is reported that eight people have been killed in the city. It is also rumored that there has been great loss of life on Sullivan's Island, but inasmuch as all communication is cut off there is no means of verifying the report.

DELAWARE COAST.

Several Small Vessels Go Down in the Storm.

LEWES, Del., Aug. 30.—Since 6 o'clock Monday night a terrible wind from southeast to south has prevailed in the vicinity of the Capes, and much damage to shipping off the coast is feared. The tug International, which was placed on the station of the Southern Five Fathom Bank in place of a sunken ship, parted her chains and lost an anchor during the night. She was compelled from the force of wind and seas to seek shelter at the Breakwater. Fishing schooner Ida Potter, of New York, dragged on the stone pile and sank. The crew got out on the rocks and were saved. The little schooner Harry, which has been trading between Lewes and Cape May, sank at the Breakwater. No lives are reported lost. Much damage has been done to fruit trees and large quantities of fruit are ruined. The International has returned to her station.

TRACKS UNDER WATER.

Difficulties Along the Pennsylvania Railroad in New Jersey.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 30. — Railroad connection is cut off between the New Jersey coast resorts and Philadelphia. The railroad tracks of the Amboy Division of the Pennsylvania railroad are under four feet of water between Bayhead and Berkley. An attempt was made this morning to run a train from Bayhead to New York, but the water on the tracks was so deep that it put out the fire in the engine. The railroad company has sent out a big gang of men and efforts will be made to raise the inundated tracks. Trouble is also reported on the same division below Gradwick.

Three Victims.

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—The bodies of three unknown drowned men washed ashore from the Hudson river yesterday. Two were found opposite Rockefeller's estate at Tarrytown and one was picked up at Riverdale. It is supposed that the men were drowned from a canal boat wrecked in the storm.

SILVER MEN SHOW GRIT

Spicy Executive Session of the Senate.

CONGRESS MAY BE LONG AT WORK

Friends of Silver will Not Give Up the Fight and Some of Them Prophesy that the End of the Year will Find Congress in Session.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30.—There was an interesting executive session of the Senate yesterday afternoon at which there was an outcropping of politics and silver. After a batch of names had been acted upon Senator Gorman, acting for the Steering committee, submitted a proposition that at this extraordinary session of Congress financial matters and they alone, should receive the attention of the Senate. A brief speech was made by a leading Democrat arguing that such legislation should be speedily transacted and that thereon Congress should adjourn. This stirred up the silver men from the West who at once began an assault upon the proposition suggested by Mr. Gorman. They took the ground that the session would be a long one and stated that they would never give up their fight for silver and prophesied that Dec. 1 would find Congress still in session and discussing the financial question. It is said that there was some plain talk on both sides of the silver question and the general sentiment when the Senate adjourned was that the Senate was further apart than ever. No action was taken on Mr. Gorman's suggestion.

Persons Accused of the Assault Arrested and Will be Tried.

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—The Presbyterian Board of Missions have information from the United Minister at Constantinople that the persons accused of the assault on Miss Melton in June last, near Amoy, have been arrested and taken to Moscow for trial. The Minister has assurances that the Governor of the province is an honest man and a faithful official.

DAVENPORT INVITED OUT.

Postmaster Dayton Asks Him to Vacate the Government Building.

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—The effort to evict John I. Davenport from rooms in the Federal building has begun. Yesterday Postmaster Dayton, acting upon the advice of Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Hamlin, sent to Mr. Davenport a notice asking him to vacate his present offices.

Is This Cholera?

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Aug. 30. — A woman said to be suffering from genuine Asiatic cholera was taken to the City Hospital this morning. The County Health Board absolutely refuses to give out any information until County Physician Converse is satisfied as to the nature of the disease. It is known, however, that the house from which the woman was taken was hurriedly but thoroughly fumigated. The woman came from No. 3 State street, and the place is now in charge of the authorities.

Sympathetic Aldermen.

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—The Board of Aldermen took up the cases of the striking longshoremen at its meeting to-day and resolved that the members of the Common Council of the city sincerely sympathize with the unfortunate longshoremen who have been made the victims of the greed of the steamship corporations, making large earnings and declaring handsome dividends.

New York Prohibitionists.

ELMIRA, N. Y., Aug. 30.—The Prohibition convention will probably nominate a ticket to-day.

UNCLE SAM'S CASH.

An Official Count of the Wealth in the Treasury.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30.—The official count of the Treasury cash begun May 31 last, necessitated by the transfer of the office of Treasurer of the United States from E. H. Nebeker to D. N. Morgan, has been completed. The committee having this work in hand, consisting of E. B. Dockam, A. T. Huntington and Charles H. Noble, were assisted by 60 expert counters and laborers, and have worked constantly since they first began. Treasurer Morgan signed a receipt in favor of E. H. Nebeker for $740,817,419.78 2-3, made up as follows:

Cash	$176,770,422.97
Treasurer's transfer account	31,580,588.92
Reserves	214,858,406.00
Unissued certificates	1,330,000.00
Bonds held in trust	218,278,001.89 2-3

Mr. Nebeker received the receipt in person and by that act his bond for $500,000 was released and the bond of Mr. Morgan as Treasurer, which was filed and approved some time ago, became responsible for the vast stock of money in the Treasury.

In counting and weighing this vast sum of money not one cent was found missing. Several bags of silver were found broken the bagging having rotted and these were found several dollars short, but subsequently the silver dollars were recovered from the floor where they had fallen. The total weight of the coin counted was about 5,500 tons.

No ceremonies were observed in making the transfer from Mr. Nebeker to Mr. Morgan beyond the passing of the receipt.

NORTON'S STRANGE TOUR.

Acquaintances Say He Went by Rail Instead of Physical Craft.

NEW HAVEN, Aug. 30.—Two New Haven people, Henry Hitchcock and Geo. H. Stahl, explode the pirate story of Louis H. Norton, who was washed ashore at Atlantic City last week, by affirming that they saw him the night he disappeared, after the time he says he left down the Sound with the pirates, on his way toward the Union depot with a satchel in his hand. As both have known the young man since childhood an error in the identity of the person they saw is improbable.

HUSBAND FOR LILLIAN.

Report that Miss Russell is to Become Mrs. "Sandow."

CHICAGO, Aug. 30.—There is an apparently well authenticated rumor in circulation here that Miss Lillian Russell is to become the wife of Sandow, the strong man. They first met eight days ago and since the Prussian has been a constant caller at the theatre where Miss Russell is playing and also at her residence.

Those associated with Miss Russell at the theatre do not deny the rumor, and the Prussian himself says that, while he likes Miss Russell, he has known her only one week.

DIED IN A FAITH CURE.

James Battin Ends His Life in the Institution He Endowed.

NEWARK, N. J., Aug. 30.—James Battin, aged 87 years, died of old age yesterday at a faith cure home in New York. Some time before his death Mr. Battin had given $250,000 to the home. He was worth over $1,000,000 and for the past 30 years was a resident of Elizabeth. He presented the city of Elizabeth with a large stone house, which is at present called the Battin High School. Mr. Battin was the engineer in charge of the Elizabeth water works when they were erected.

BRITISH TRADE THREATENED.

Vigorous Protest Against a Protectorate Over Siam.

LONDON, Aug. 30.—Dispatches from Bankgok and Singapore to the Pall Mall Gazette say that a French protectorate over Siam is imminent. The Gazette therefore urges that all chambers of commerce in Great Britain hold a convention at once and agree upon a protest to the government against permitting France thus to execute a policy ruinous to British trade in the East.

NOTHING BUT DEBTS.

What the Duke of Edinburgh Got by His Succession.

LONDON, Aug. 30.—A dispatch from Coburg to the "Standard" says that the debts of the late Duke of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha are estimated at 3,000,000 marks. In fact, says the dispatch, the Duke of Edinburgh has inherited nothing but debts from Duke Ernest.

Killed by Lightning.

WORCESTER, Mass., Aug. 30.—Three children, Lawrence Blair, aged 11, and two little girls named Fullman, were struck and killed by lightning while playing under an apple tree near A. Blair's house in Petersham just previous to the thunder storm of Sunday afternoon Aug. 27. The little girls were visiting Mr. Blair's house.

Naples Free From Cholera.

ROME, Aug. 30.—Naples was declared free from cholera yesterday.

WORK TOO MANY HOURS

THE CAUSE OF MUCH SICKNESS IN AUGUST.

Those Who Cannot Travel May Gain Renewed Strength—Expressman Seaver Tells of a Remedy in Reach of Every One.

Sick men and women are met on every hand, here and across the continent of Europe, scattered up and down the shores of the Mediterranean, steaming across the ocean in search of rest and health.

But where one can afford the luxury of such recreation there are hundreds who work, work, work all summer.

Those who work too many hours soon lose their only wealth—their health. The nervous system and the brain do not get rest enough; exhaustion and excitability gradually take the place of love of work. Sound sleep deserts, their appetite fails, indigestion troubles, and they are sick. Then it is that they should take the remedy that makes the people well. For Paine's celery compound supplies the system with nerve and brain food, and sustains the vital force and energy. It takes away the drowsiness and nervous headache which result from protracted work coupled with anxiety. Paine's celery compound lays the foundation of health by making sound sleep possible. It soothes and quiets the nerves when they are working confusedly. It tones up the digestive organs.

EXPRESSMAN SEAVER.

One of the most enterprising expressmen in Boston, Mr. H. Seaver of 59 Warren st., Roxbury, Mass., who owns an express business running from Boston to Roxbury and the Highlands, says: "On the recommendation of a friend I got some of Paine's celery compound for my family. We have used it as a family medicine, and in every case it has proved a cure. We will use it and recommend it to all as long as it proves to be such an all curing remedy. The friend mentioned is a commercial traveler, and was cured of dyspepsia by using three bottles of Paines celery compound, and felt in duty bound to recommend it."

In these days of hot and pouring sun rays all those who are obliged to labor and who feel the enervating effects of the summer should take Paine's celery compound. It makes people well, as it did in the home of Mr. Seaver.

Captain and Mate Lost.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 30.—A dispatch received to-day from the cook of the schooner Three Sisters from Savannah for Philadelphia states that the vessel is anchored off Cape Fear river and that the captain and mate have both been lost.

Military Camp Destroyed.

HARPER'S FERRY, W. Va., Aug. 30.—The greater part of the District Militia's camp was destroyed by the heavy rain and wind storm.

ELMIRA REFORMATORY.

State Board of Charities Flooded With Complaints.

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 30.—The office of the State Board of Charities in the Capitol building is being flooded with communications from citizens in all parts of the country in response to the announcement of the committee appointed to investigate the charges of cruelty at the State Reformatory at Elmira that written complaints would be received up to the end of this month.

Strikers Weakening.

LONDON, Aug. 30.—At a conference of the coal owners a resolution was passed that offers of the strikers to return to work at their old wages should be refused. The owners believe that the backbone of the strike is gone and that the desire to go back to work is becoming general. In South Wales and Monmouthshire the determination of the men has been weakened by the increasing suffering of their families.

Thieves Wanted.

HARTFORD, Conn., Aug. 30.—Governor Morris has made requisition on Governor Flower, of New York, for the extradition of James F. Ferguson for the theft of a bicycle at Greenwich, and Harry Hall, who is wanted for theft at Willimantic.

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—It is said that funds will be raised to make good the imprirment of the Madison Square bank's capital and that the institution will reopen.

Republican State League.

NEW YORK, Aug. The executive committee of the Republican State League will meet at Saratoga, Sept. 4.

THE DAILY PRESS.

A. L. FORCE, - - Publisher and Proprietor.
WALTER IRVING CLARKE, - Managing Editor.

Since January 1, last, 145 national banks have suspended. Of this number one has gone into voluntary liquidation, fifty-seven have been placed in the hands of receivers, sixty-two are in the hands of National Bank Examiners, with excellent prospects of early resumption, and thirty-four have already resumed business.

LIFE-SAVERS ON THE COAST.

With a sense of gratification The Press notes that the stand it has taken in favor of making the Life-saving Service a permanent institution, fully equipped the year round, is receiving hearty support and full co-operation from influential journals elsewhere. The Evening News of Newark strongly endorses the idea, and says:

Comparatively speaking, no branch of Government work is treated with such niggardliness as is the Life-saving Service. Its whole history teems with instances of false economy and apparent lack of interest in its welfare. Time and again Superintendent Kimball has called attention to the fact that upon Congress rests the measure of success of the service. The appropriations for its maintenance have almost always been below the estimates, one of the chief results of such "cheese-paring" being the closing of the stations during a stated period, when, it has been claimed, because of natural conditions, there is no necessity for keeping the life-saving crews in service.

Prior to 1878 the stations were not opened after each summer until December 1, because of a lack of funds to begin operations at an earlier period. Terrible loss of life on the United States steamer Huron and the steamer Metropolis, on the North Carolina coast during the period when the crews were not on duty, caused the insertion in the act of 1878, formally organizing the service, of a clause providing that the stations should be opened from September to May, thus covering the earliest autumn storms and the latest spring weather disturbances. The utility of this change immediately became evident, but at this time there is a demand for a still larger extension—in fact, the keeping of the men on duty the year round.

The recent disaster at Asbury Park is sufficient evidence of the necessity for this movement. Had the guard been on duty there the men lost off the shore might have been saved. The Revenue Marine renders effectual service in life-saving, but can not be compared to the branch established for this special purpose, the members of which are not only poorly paid for their arduous work, but are thrown out of employment during the period when the Congressional economists and wiseacres imagine there is no necessity for their service.

These law-makers govern themselves by a storm schedule formulated many years ago, and even though it is evident that appalling marine disasters have occurred during what might be termed the "closed season", they fail to appreciate the fact that the life-savers should be on hand at all times. The cost of continuing the service during the whole of the year is estimated in round numbers at about $1,225,000, or about $360,000 more than is at present expended. Attempts to improve the service by continuing it the year round have been defeated at several Congressional sessions, but the crying need for such a change becomes more apparent every year, and should call for immediate action on the part of the present Congress.

SOCIETY FOOLS.

Among the bores one meets is the man who is continually saying that he can do certain things well, and then awaiting an opportunity to stun you by showing how well he really can do them. He knows he can do the things in question well. He is simply tempted by vanity into deceiving you so that he may later on surprise you into admiration of his skill. What he does is unmanly. It is also traitorous.

Who has not too often met this menace to good society? He is to be found in almost every company or gathering, and he carries his policy of deception into all avenues of human action.

You are at an evening party, and recognize him in the man who is playing the piano in a recklessly self possessed look-at-me way. When asked to play earlier in the evening he did not say that while he could play reasonably well he would rather be excused. Such a reply from him would have been both modest and truthful. He chose, however, to proclaim loudly that he could not play any musical instrument, that he had almost never touched the keys of a piano, and so on. Someone who could not play quite so well as he, then went to the instrument at the request of the hostess. The young man who declared he could not play, waited till an opportunity came, then took a seat at the piano unbidden. He is now endeavoring to astonish the company by the display of his own talent, and at the same time to humiliate the player who preceded him.

You have seen this man in other places. You may have met him at the seaside hotel. When after dinner conversation on the piazza turned to the delights of sea bathing and swimming, he declared that he could not swim a stroke. The next afternoon when the beach was crowded he went into the water, dived deeply, swam half a mile against the tide, then back again, and came out grinning, and listening with greedy ears for your praise.

If one were asked to choose between this sort of man and the one who overrates his prowers, the braggart should have decided preference. The latter gentleman is interesting in a way. He places his own personality before one in a light that for the time engages attention and interest. One is brought into the presence of a hero. He may in reality be of sawdust; but it takes time to learn this; and meanwhile the beholder is interested and refreshed. Then, to maintain his assumed character requires a certain amount of skill and nerve in the bragger. He thus displays a quality that approaches daring in the risk he runs of detection. It is daring of a poor quality, perhaps, but it commands some admiration, nevertheless. If the truth does out, it chagrins and pains the braggart, but does not injure or unfairly surprise those whom it undeceives.

On the other hand, the man who disclaims skill that he actually possesses, does so with the idea of his ultimate glorification and another's humiliation. The final truth brings with it a sense of having been outwitted by the trickster. His ultimate attitude is one of self-adulation, and we know that all his deception has not interested or refreshed us, nor brought any penalty to him. There is little to wonder at, then, if we hate him.

Society is full of such fools.

WARREN ACKERMAN.

Impressive Funeral Over the Lamented Owner of Glenside Park.

The funeral services of the late Warren Ackerman were held today at 10:15 in the First Presbyterian church. The beautiful edifice was filled with the mourners and friends of the deceased. A large number of the employes of Mr. Ackerman at Glenside Park were present with sorrowful faces. The floral decorations were very elaborate and consisted wholly of white roses. The Rev. Charles E. Herring, the pastor, and the Rev. Dr. Ketcham, the former pastor of the church, officiated. W. E. MacClymont presided at the organ.

The pall-bearers were: The Hon. Amzi Dodd, ex-Vice-Chancellor of the State; John A. Stewart, President of the United States Trust Company; Marcus L. Ward, General Plume, Augustus D. Shepard, Judge D. A. Depue.

As the funeral procession filed in, there floated out upon the air the exquisite strains of Beethoven's funeral march. The choir, consisting of Mrs. Asa Collier, soprano, Miss Jessie Smylie, alto, L. S. Bond, tenor, and B. T. Barnes, basso, then sang "Ever With Thee, Lord".

The Rev. Dr. Ketcham read selections from the Book of Psalms and from the last chapter of Revelations.

The Rev. Mr. Herring offered a brief but eloquent prayer. His remarks that followed breathed a spirit of Christian trust and hopefulness. He had always remembered with joy the words that came to John the seer of Patmos in his wonderful vision. The Master had bidden John to fear not, saying "I have the keys of death and of the grave; and because I live ye shall live also". He had also said to John "Fear not, My strength is sufficient for thee. I was dead, but through victory I am alive."

"We must all speak words of comfort to the sorrowing"—continued the speaker "but the comfort coming from the words of Christ is what we need. Paul was brave because he believed in immortality. Oh that this death might be sanctified to us and that we might take the word of God for our guide and Christ for the author and finisher of our faith."

Dr. Ketcham's remarks were based on the following passage of Scripture:

Peace I leave with you, my peace I give unto you; not as the world giveth, give I unto you. Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid.

His remarks were in substance as follows:

"Suffering and starving humanity wants something done for it. Christ does this. He puts forth His hand to us in two ways. We are blind, and He enables us to see. It is our privilege to look Heavenward and see Christ. But seeing is not always sufficient. God then takes care of his child. Mr. Ackerman today sleeps here in the Lord. He has a message for us, as he sleeps. I wish to re-echo, if I can, his words, and to emphasise the lesson of his business life. Young men are today pondering what standards they shall adopt in business. The departed speaks to them. He always carried a copy of the Proverbs, God's word, in his pocket. He wished the word of God to be his guide always. He being dead, speaketh a great lesson.

"Pastors sometimes detect hidden springs of thought in their parishoners. When Warren Ackerman sat in that seat among you, the truth, I know, that affected him most deeply was that Christ was all and in all, in life, in sorrow and in death. Truly Warren Ackerman speaks to us today."

The closing prayer by Doctor Ketcham was sweetly touching. The choir sang for the closing selection, "Lo I am With You Always."

The floral pieces were a piece from the late Mr. Ackerman's New York office, representing a stubble field, a sheaf of wheat and an anchor, the whole surmounted by a snow-white dove; a cross from Ernest Ackerman and his sisters, nephew and nieces of the departed; a large floral pillow from Mr. and Mrs. Wills; a harp from Dr. Coles and sister, of Scotch Plains; a beautiful wreath from Charles D. Stout and his mother, Mrs. Stout, who was a sister of Dr. Coles. Three large sago palm leaves with numerous bunches of roses tied with white ribbons rested on the casket.

Many notable persons were seen in attendance at the services. The ushers were J. M. Bettman, C. E. Bond and H. A. Pope.

Field Day Tomorrow.

The sports of the Pastime Athletic Club will be held on South avenue near Berckmon street at 2 p. m., tomorrow, instead of near Scott's Press Works as was formerly intended. Programmes will be for sale, and some good sport is expected, as twenty-four entries have been obtained.

Wilson Will Recover.

Edward Wilson, of Bloomfield, who had his foot crushed under the wheels of a coal train and subsequently amputated at the Muhlenberg Hospital, as reported in yesterday's Press, is reported by Dr. Long to be doing very nicely.

FRANCIS H. GARDNER AT REST.

Simple and Affecting Services at the First Baptist Church.

The funeral of Francis H. Gardner, who died at Ocean Grove Sunday, took place yesterday afternoon in the First Baptist church. Dr. K. P. Ketcham officiated.

The church was filled with the many friends of the deceased, who had come to pay their last tribute of respect and affection to the dead. The services were extremely simple and affecting, opening with a prayer which was followed by a hymn sung by the quartette composed of Mrs. J. S. Cutter, Miss Gussie Runyon, L. S. Bond and B. T. Barnes.

Dr. Ketcham then read from the Scriptures and the quartette sang "The Christian's Good-Night" from the Christian Endeavor hymn book. This was one of Mr. Gardner's favorite hymns.

The services ended with a benediction. The pall-bearers were J. B. Coward, Mayor Gilbert, William F. Arnold, Christian Schepflin, Robert Cook and Jeremiah Manning. The Berean Class of Warren chapel attended the funeral in a body.

The floral offerings were simple but beautiful. Noticeable among them was a large cross of smilax and roses from the Y. M. C. A., a white wreath and a large bunch of white roses.

The interment took place in Hillside Cemetery. The deceased leaves a widow, a son and three daughters.

A Few Honest Suggestions Which Should Be Appreciated,
All tooth powders practically contain the same ingredients, namely, chalk, castile soap, etc., with some flavoring. We use in the manufacture of Royal Tooth Powder the best English prepared chalk, the finest English Castile soap, delicately flavored. Your dentist will tell you these substances are perfectly harmless and accomplish all that is to be expected from a tooth powder. A full 2 ounce package of this unexcelled article (same as is usually sold for 25c.) under other names, but which we retail for 10c.) will be given with each $5 purchase and upwards. People of correct ideas will appreciate this offer, but some will say, "We never use tooth powder." Those who do use it, however, can be distinguished from those who don't, as the rose can be distinguished from the dandelion. This will seem cruel to some, but duty compels us to speak plainly. The "Royal" is being received everywhere, and jobbers compliment us with their duplicate orders. A trial of Royal Tooth Powder will delight you. J. C. ALLEN, Plainfield, N. J. 4-12 tf

WESTFIELD WARBLINGS.

A Breezy Chat By the Correspondent About Men and Buildings in the Village.

WESTFIELD, August 30.

Building in Westfield continues with no signs of abatement. In the heart of the village, corner of Broad and Prospect streets, John J. Schmitt, the baker, is erecting a handsome three-story brick structure, that will cost $10,000.

On Broad street, half a block south of the Schmitt building, is a handsome brick and stone structure, still unfinished. The owner is John Darsh. The plans for this building were drawn by Mr. Darsh's son, Charles, who, though he is but a young man, has already attained a considerable degree of fame as an architect.

The residence of Mr. Warncke, in process of erection on the Boulevard, is also built from plans drawn by Mr. Darsh. Almost directly opposite Mr. Warncke's new residence, on the same street, is a nearly-completed house, the property of H. C. Sergeant, of the Ingersoll-Sergeant Rock Drill Company. This pretty dwelling when finished will be occupied by a Mr. Phillips, a son-in-law of Mr. Sergeant.

On Park street is a pretty double dwelling owned by John I. Collins, of the Union County Standard. He and his brother, Edwin Ralph Collins, will take possession of the new home as soon as the workmen will permit them to.

Edwin Ralph Collins is probably known to the Press readers as the associate and confidante of A. Minor Griswold in the publication of the humorous paper Texas Siftings. For some time previous to his death, Mr. Griswold traveled extensively to fill lecture engagements; and during his absences, Ralph Collins was acting managing editor of Siftings. The paper was then in its palmiest days. REESE.

UBIQUITOUS MR. HAND.

He Bobs Up with His Seabright Possessions, in a Suit Against the Jersey Central.

Suit has been brought against the New Jersey Central Railroad Company by Charles H. Hand for $3,000 damages to his property at Seabright, caused by the erection of bulkheads thereon by the company. These bulkheads were built about a year ago by the company to protect its tracks from the water, and Mr. Hand says he was never consulted in the matter. Jackson & Angleman are Mr. Hand's attorneys in the suit.

Westfield Ate Peaches and Cream.

A peach festival was given by the Presbyterian young people of Westfield last night, as was foretold in yesterday's Press. The newly-refitted lecture room looked very inviting with its neatly-spread tables upon which was shed the soft glow of incandescent lamps. Laughing groups gathered round the tables; waitresses hurried to and fro; conversation sparkled; and good cheer reigned throughout the evening. Miss Saidie Henry rendered a piano solo with excellent touch.

Among those present were Miss Emma Stilwell, Miss Gilby and Miss Grace Gilby, Miss Shepherd, Miss Jane Morrow, Miss Sophie Condit, Miss Anna Warncke, Miss Nellie Rice, Miss Fannie Clark, Miss Annie Lambert, Miss Ida Clark, Miss Annie Miller, Misses Maud and Edith Manning, Miss Daisy Koester, and Messrs. Condit, J. Willis Pierson, Morrow, Scofield, Clotworthy, F. R. Baker, Andrus, Edwards and others.

Eloped from Warrenville.

It is reported that Arthur Randolph, aged 40, and Miss Kilner, aged 14, daughter of Jacob Kilner, of Warrenville, eloped between 11 p. m. and 4 a. m., Monday. Randolph's home was in South Plainfield, and until two weeks ago he worked for Kilner. He parted from his wife and two children, the oldest of which is 17 years old, two years ago. The girl was not wayward, but Randolph seemed to fascinate her.

Wholesale Damage by the Storms.

(From The Official Crop Bulletin.)

PLAINFIELD—The high wind of the 24th did great damage to fruit trees, and growing crops; corn is blown down badly. The excessive rain of the same date washed the fields and damaged the tomatoes. The amount of rainfall for the month, up to date, is 7.10 inches. Rainfall for the week, 4.51 inches; average temperature, 73 degrees.

The American Catarrh Cure

Is the result of twenty-six years' study and treatment of the disease. One bottle convinces the most skeptical. It is always ready for use, needing neither douche nor atomizer. It restores the hearing, cures the hawking cough and expectorating, removes the headache and nose bleeding, increases the appetite, produces sound sleep, invigorates the whole system and increases the vitality. Prepared only by W. B. Jones, M. D., No. 1336 South Eighth street, Philadelphia. For sale by I. W. Randolph, 21 West Front street. Price $1.

THAT PLAINFIELD INVENTION.

More Detail of the Howard Electric Lamp.

The new electric lamp, invented by Louis E. Howard, and told of exclusively in The Press of Saturday, has caused considerable interest not only among professional men who can understand the technical points in its favor but by the laity, who are always interested in a new invention but who are apt to get a wofully wrong idea of it unless a concise description is given them. The following short explanation of the lamp, which was crowded out of Saturday's issue, will be of interest.

The incandescent arc lamp has been an attractive subject for experiment to inventors for a long time past, but the lamps that have been tried have all been lacking in the one necessary feature of economy. As stated in Saturday's Press, Mr. Howard has been experimenting for more than a year on his lamp but not until recently have sufficient tests been made to render its practical success a certainty.

The investigations and tests as to its efficiency, life, and candle-power have been carried out at Cornell University under Mr. Howard's general direction and under the direct supervision of men who stand in the first rank of the profession of electric engineering. The tests have been most satisfactory in every way and the results as well as a general description of the lamp were embodied in a paper read last Friday before the International Electrical Congress at the World's Fair by L. B. Marks, M. E. The new light was spoken of enthusiastically by Dr. Edward L. Nichols of Cornell and Sir William Thompson, two of the foremost electrical experts of the world.

The lamp as its name implies comprises the principles of the incandescent lamp and the arc lamp. The essential parts are the carbons which form the arc and a glass envelope which surrounds the carbons. The glass used is highly refractory.

This envelope which is formed like a bulb is provided with an asbestos plug at one end and is practically closed at the other, a sufficient aperture being left in the asbestos plug to receive one of the carbons, the other being fixed in the closed end. When the current is turned on the air in the glass chamber is robbed of its oxygen, on account of the combustion of a certain part of the carbons, which oxygen unites with the carbon of the electrodes and forms the two gases, CO2 and CO (carbon dioxide and carbon monoxide). In the lamp the electrodes (carbons) are not in contact, and the heat from the arc is indirectly used in maintaining all the products of disintegration of the carbon (various gases) in a state of incandescence or opalescence which produces a light of great power, steadiness and brilliancy.

The admission of air is practically stopped by the form of the lamp and any that may come in is deprived of its oxygen immediately. A small valve provides for the escape of the heated gases if they arrive at a tension too great to be borne by the sides of the glass bulb. We have then, an arc in a peculiar condition, practically kept away from the influence of oxygen which effects a considerable saving on the carbon.

The lamp may be used with either the alternating or direct current. The light is more brilliant than the incandescent and much more steady and pleasing than the arc lamp, and has the great advantage of economy over all other systems.

This may be seen from the fact revealed by the tests that it was possible under favorable circumstances to produce light of 888 candle-power for every electrical horse-power used, while the ordinary incandescent lamp produces but 236 candles per electrical horse-power.

The consumption of carbon is very much less in this lamp than in the exposed arc. In one case in the experimental work six inches of carbon only were used in a run of 100 hours. With all these advantages over previous systems of producing light it will be strange indeed if the incandescent arc does not supersede in a short time all other lamps where brilliancy, economy and steadiness are to be desired. Of course practical difficulties often come to bother the inventor, but the tests of Mr. Howard's lamp have shown such unrivalled results that the new system may have an easy path before it to success.

Lots of Fun ToMorrow Night.

Here are a few of the parodies which Willie Collier will sing in "Hoss & Hoss" when it is presented at Music Hall tomorrow night: "Molly Ou", "After the Ball", "The Widow" and "Bow-wow." One of the songs which is sure to make a sensation is entitled "Four Dead-Swell Micks". It is something entirely new, and is likely to cause a furore. Another feature of the performance will be Louise Allen Collier's new dance, called the Ostrich Dance, in which she will appear in a costume composed entirely of ostrich feathers. The old Bowery Ball so long identified with this performance will of course remain as one of the leading features. Willie Collier, as quaint and as funny as ever in his inimitable character of Judge Hoss, will introduce a number of novelties in the shape of eccentric dances, funny parodies and laughable witticisms. The balance of the company is said to be stronger than ever, and "Hoss and Hoss" will remain in the memory as one of the pleasantest events of the theatrical season.

The Locomotive Leaked.

Train No. 206 of the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad, due at Plainfield at 8:20 last night, was delayed at the North Avenue station for about 20 minutes on account of a large leak in one of the valves under the boiler. The engineer managed to fix it temporarily, and the train succeeded in getting to Bound Brook.

Read and Reflect.

COL. MOORE WINS.

Trial Before Judge Mosher Against Contractor Rice.

The case of Charles K. Moore against Charles P. Rice, for payment of a note, was heard before Justice Mosher this morning. Mr. Hetfield appeared for the plaintiff, and Mr. Marsh for the defendant. The defense was that Mr. Rice had paid the amount represented by the note and received a receipt for it. "Why did you not demand the note?"—asked Mr. Hetfield. "Because"—was the answer—"it was the first and only note I ever gave. I stole tools for that scoundrel"—pointing to Col. Moore—"and so did Tom Doud."

On being asked where the receipt was, Mr. Rice swore that he burned it up, together with three large basketfuls of old receipts just two days before the action in this case was brought. Charles P. Rice, son of the defendant, swore to the burning of a receipt, but all evidence as to the contents was excluded by the court. Mr. Doud swore to having seen a receipt in Rice's hands at Tarrytown, signed by Col. Moore in 1889. Mr. Marsh with his customary shrewdness endeavored to bring out the contents of the receipt in every imaginable way, but the court ruled it out.

An offset to the claim was presented, of $137, on some old transaction. Mr. Hetfield raised the point that an affidavit should be filed with the offset.

The Judge took the papers for a decision at 4 p. m. today.

JUDGE MOORE WINS.

Judgment was rendered in favor of the plaintiff, for $200 and costs.

Some Doubts About Hough's Legacy.

New York reporters are still scouring Rahway and Plainfield following up the case of John S. Hough, who is alleged to have fallen heir to millions, and they say that grave doubts are expressed as to whether the whole story is not an invention of the Hough family, as it seems incredible that a man would die in California and leave $1,000,000 to a person whom he only knew as a nurse who attended him during his illness many years ago. He may have left Hough a legacy, but if so it is more likely to be as people about Rahway and this city say, a few thousand dollars than to run up in the hundreds of thousands. Hough is at present in Plainfield, visiting his friend Stewart.

Carried Too Much Dead Stock.

James Gaston, a local stationer of Somerville, has failed for about $8,000 Yesterday he made 10 chattle mortgages amounting to $2,500, securing his local creditors. His assets will reach somewhere near $2,500, while his liabilities are fully $6,000. All of the foreign creditors will lose heavily. There is no reason why Gaston should have failed except a heavy dead stock. He is nearly disheartened over his failure.

A Carpenter's Ugly Fall.

J. Quaas, a carpenter, of 415 West Second street, while working for a man named Waters at Westfield, fell from a scaffold, yesterday, a distance of about fifteen feet, and dislocated his right shoulder, besides receiving internal injuries. The scaffold was not properly built, and he and others fell to the ground. Drs. C. M. Field and Frank Searles reduced the dislocation, and the patient is on the road to recovery.

Jolly Crescent Wheelmen.

About 15 members of the Crescent Wheelmen took a run to Rahway last evening, by the way of Elizabeth. On reaching their destination, they went to the Rahway House, where an elaborate spread had been prepared. Speeches were made by Charles Leggett, James Buckle, Dr. D. C. Adams and Dr J. T. Fritts. The return was made by the way of Westfield.

That's the Kind of Man He Is.

F. S. Dunn, engineer at the electric light station, at 4 Tuesday morning, during the heavy blow, in throwing a switch to save one of the dynamos from being burned out, had his hand severely burned. Although the pain of the wound was intense, he remained bravely at his post.

ALONG THE HUDSON.

Damage to Vessels and Barges—Tows Wrecked at Newburgh.

NEWBURGH, N. Y., Aug. 30.—A tow of eight boats with the Austin tugboats Hart and Conqueror of Rondout had a serious time in Newburgh bay. A local tow started southward at about the same time the Austin tow came out of the Highlands. Both tows were driven over to the Fishkill side of the bay, where the boats became massed at a point just at the end of the slip of the Newburgh and Fishkill ferry. One boat was torn away. It floated ashore at south Fishkill. Another was sunk in the ferry slip. Then the tugboats succeeded in pulling the boats out of danger and resuming their respective trips. The sunken boat blocked the ferry slip for hours, cutting off communication between Newburgh and Fishkill.

Night steamer Kaaterskill had a hole stove in her side above the guard while in Haverstraw bay. Freight and baggage were washed overboard. The vessel was driven back to West Point, where it landed the majority of its 200 passengers, resuming its trip when the storm abated.

Three schooners and a sloop and a large Moran tow with the towboat Belle are reported to be ashore in Haverstraw bay.

Yachts and launches have been driven ashore all along the Hudson.

NEW ENGLAND COAST.

Reports of Wrecks Which Rescuers are Unable to Reach.

BOSTON, Aug. 30.—The storm of yesterday was the worst known off City Point for twenty years. The water was terrible in its fury and the yacht club rafts and hundreds of boats anchored out in the bay were tossed about like cockleshells. The damage to yachts and small boats in this section is estimated at $10,000.

A number of wrecks are reported off Portsmouth, but the sea is so rough that tug boats and Isle of Shoals steamers have been unable to move out of the river.

From Portland and Augusta, Me., come reports of heavy damage to fruit trees and crops by the terrific winds that swept through the State.

SCHUYLKILL REGION.

Several Collieries Reported to Have Been Drowned Out.

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Aug. 30.—The storm here blew at a rate of 60 miles an hour. Rain fell in sheets during the entire time and streams are much swollen. Considerable damage has been done throughout the whole Schuylkill region, some houses having been unroofed and many small frame structures razed to the ground. Fruit trees were uprooted in the farming districts and the corn crop has suffered badly. Much damage was done to breakers and colliery buildings, and in the Shenandoah region several collieries are reported as drowned out.

Two Wrecks.

WILMINGTON, N. C., Aug. 30.—The brigantine Wastrow, German, Liverpool for this port with a cargo of salt, went to pieces on Caswell beach. The crew saved themselves by swimming ashore. They are now at Caswell life-saving station. An unknown three-masted schooner is also reported ashore, leaking and showing signals of distress on the same beach, two miles southwest of Southport. The life-saving crew has gone to her assistance.

Half Rate Excursions to the World's Fair via Washington and the B. & O. R. R.

The Baltimore and Ohio R. R. will run a series of special excursions from New York to the World's Fair at rate of $17.00 for the round trip. The trains will consist of first-class Day Coaches, equipped with lavatories and toilet conveniences. The trains will start from station, foot of Liberty street, at 8:30 a. m., August 21, September 2, 6 and 12, and will reach Chicago at 4:30 p. m. the following day. Tickets will be valid for outward journey only on the special trains, but will be good returning from Chicago in Day Coaches on any regular train within ten days, including day of sale. Stops will be made for meals at the dining stations on the line. A Tourist Agent and a Train Porter will accompany each train to look after the comfort of passengers. Corporation Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the Common Council have fixed the thirty-first day of August, A. D. 1893, at 8 o'clock p. m., and the Council Chamber, No. 109 Park avenue, in the city of Plainfield, as the time and place for Frederick MacDonald, William M. Sandford and Edward C. Mulford, the commissioners appointed by the Common Council pursuant to the ordinance entitled, "An ordinance to widen Madison avenue from the southeasterly side line of West Front street to the northwesterly line of the right of way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey," approved June 8, 1893, to meet. The street proposed to be widened and laid out is Madison avenue from the southeasterly side line of West Front st. to the northwesterly line of the right of way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey. The alterations proposed to be made are to widen said Madison so that the same shall be of the uniform width of twenty-five feet on each side of the centre line thereof, which centre line is described in said ordinance, and shown on map on file in the office of the City Clerk entitled "Assessment map for the widening of Madison avenue from West Front street to the Central Railroad of New Jersey, city of Plainfield, N. J., dated 1893, made by F. A. Dunham, civil engineer."

The lands and real estate intended to be taken for such purpose are all that come within twenty-five feet of either side of said centre line between the southeasterly side line of West Front street, and the northwesterly line of the right of way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey, as shown by said map and said ordinance, to which reference is hereby made for more detailed description.

By order of the Common Council.

F. W. RUNYON, City Clerk.

TAKEN AT RANDOM THROUGH THE STORE.

If money grew on trees and everybody owned an orchard, it wouldn't make any difference how much you paid for your goods. As it is, it does make a great difference, and nowhere in the land will a dollar go farther than right here.

Hosiery—We put on sale four different styles of Ladies' Hose: solid tans and drop stitch tan, solid black and drop stitch black, all at one price, 25c. pair. You will say the best ever offered for a quarter.

Jap Water Drop Tea Cups are usually sold for a quarter. We sell them for 14 cents.

Blue and White Ware—We will offer a line of Blue and White Porcelain Lined Preserving Kettles at half the regular price. 20 to 70 cents for extra large ones.

Thin Tumblers—1,000 doz. Thin Tumblers, the 90c. kind, for 50c. doz.

Have you paid that visit to our new housefurnishing department? You will find everything that is needed and prices are your way.

Linen Writing Paper—Manufacturer had more than he wanted. Fine Linen Paper, 125 sheets for 28c.

Sateens—The best goods for the money ever offered in Plainfield. Sateens that cost the French to make 21c., we will sell for 10c. Just the thing for house wrappers.

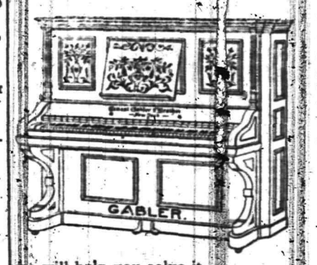
IT IS NOT AN ACCIDENT



That our business has grown to its present proportions. Everything that a complete knowledge of the Piano and Organ business can do for a customer is done here. There is no mystery here—all that we know, you may know if you'll listen. Our years of experience has taught us that the Steinway, Gabler, Vose, Sterling and Braumeller Pianos are the best to be had; each has its own peculiar features stamping it distinct from the others. Which one is best for you is a question. Any time you'll come in we will help you solve it.

SILVER IN THE SENATE.

The Finance Committee Make a Prompt Report.

NO UNNECESSARY DELAY EXPECTED

Crisp and Reed Spar in the House—Consideration of the Interconvertible Bond Bill—Cost of the Civil Service Commission—Official Vote On the Wilson Bill 239 to 109.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30.—The chairman of the Finance Committee was, as he had promised to be, "very prompt" in reporting to the Senate the action of the Committee on the House bill to repeal part of the Sherman law. As soon as the reading of the journal was finished Mr. Voorhees rose and reported back the bill with an amendment, in the nature of a substitute. It was placed on the calendar and will be, according to the notice given by Mr. Voorhees, pressed for consideration, to the exclusion of other business. The substitute is, word for word, the same bill that was reported by the Finance Committee two weeks ago.

The first speech against the substitute, was made by Mr. Gordon (Dem., Ga.), who argued that it would delay indefinitely the repeal of the Sherman law, which he wanted to be immediate and unconditional.

Mr. Teller (Rep., Col.) made a long argument to show that the Sherman law had not produced the existing financial stringency.

A resolution which Mr. Stewart had offered last Monday inquiring from the Secretary of the Treasury whether there will be a deficiency in the revenues of the government during the current year was, after a long discussion, referred to the Finance Committee.

Crisp and Reed Spar.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30.—The feature of House proceedings yesterday was the debut of Mr. Crisp as a speaker on the floor. He was led to leave the chair by some caustic criticisms made by Mr. Reed upon the proposed code of rules and his appearance upon the arena of debate was warmly applauded. The discussion between the two leaders was very animated but led to no conclusion. No action was taken upon the rules.

Interconvertible Bonds.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30.—The House Banking and Currency committee will consider the Johnson Interconvertible Bond bill next Friday.

Cost of Civil Service.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30.—The Civil Service commission has submitted to Congress a deficiency estimate of $42,908 for clerk hire.

The Official Vote.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30.—The official vote on the passage of the Wilson bill shows Boatner (Dem., Iowa) and Capehart (Dem., W. Va.) not voting. This makes the total: Yeas, 239; nays, 100.

Spilman Confirmed.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30.—The Senate in executive session yesterday confirmed Edward G. Spilman as register of the land office at Kingfisher, Oklahoma.

THE PRESIDENT'S HEALTH.

Private Secretary Thurber Declares All Alarming Stories Untrue.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30.—When Private Secretary Thurber was asked yesterday concerning the report that Mr. Cleveland was a very sick man, following an operation performed on his face, he stated that so far as he knew there was absolutely no truth in the report. He added: "I have nothing to add to the statement I gave to the United Press a few days ago concerning the condition of the President. This inform tion you bring to me is the first I have heard concerning any cancerous formation on the President's face, and in fact on any part of his body. That statement made to the United Press is, so far as I know, absolutely true. I hear from Mr. Cleveland nearly every day, and in all of his letters he speaks of his improving health and strength. I received a letter from him Sunday in which he said he was thoroughly rested. Bills and other matters that require his signature are received by me almost daily, and the President's name is signed in a hand that shows health and vigor.

Fatal Bicycling.

MINEOLA, N. Y., Aug. 30.—Benjamin Smith, of Mineola, aged 16, while riding a bicycle on the Jericho turnpike, near Mineola, was blown from the bicycle under a market wagon driven by Farmer Titus Westbury, the rear wheel passing over the boy. His neck was broken and he died five minutes later.

Cadets Safe.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Aug. 30.—The Constellation, with the naval cadets on board, has been cruising about the bay for several days, came into the harbor off the Academy. It was found necessary to throw out three anchors during the night to keep her from dragging.

Fractional Silver.

PARIS, Aug. 30.—The French government has agreed to call a conference of the members of the Latin Union in Paris, to decide the question of the nationalization of fractional silver currency.

For Amnesty.

HARTFORD, Conn., Aug. 30.—The resolutions passed by the last General Assembly, requesting the amnesty of all American citizens in English prisons have been engrossed and bound in four volumes.

OYSTER BEDS.

They Are Reported to be Ruined Around New Haven.

NEW HAVEN, Aug. 20.—Heavy damage to property was done here by the storm. It is estimated that a hundred or more shade trees went down in the gale and chimneys and roofs were blown off in profusion.

The side walls of Proctor's Opera House were toppled over, and the steeple of St. Paul's Church was badly damaged.

The oyster beds are thought to be almost entirely ruined, though nothing authentic can be learned about them for several days. The harbor is unusually well filled with ships, which put in for safety and have remained all day.

Death in the Wires.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug 30.—Two electrocutions occurred here as a result of the storm. Anthony Vonderslice, for 40 years a Delaware river pilot, pushed aside an overhanging wire which was crossed with a live electric light wire in Camden, N. J., and was instantly killed. An unknown Italian laborer did the same thing at Eighteenth and Barlan streets, in this city, and also dropped dead.

Fallen Trees Block the Roads.

LANCASTER, Pa., Aug. 30.—The storm did great damage throughout the country. Many trees were blown down and much fruit ruined. Corn was mostly down from the storm of a week ago. Country people driving to this city were compelled to carry axes with them to cut their way through fallen trees.

Central New York.

FORT PLAIN, N. Y., Aug. 30.—Much damage has been done to the crops and fruit trees have suffered severely. Farmers estimate that perhaps two-thirds of the fruit has been blown from the trees. The wind has been so great that the west bound canalboats could not navigate.

Cumberland Valley Crops Damaged.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Aug. 30.—The storm in this locality did no serious damage, but 1.22 inches of rain fell. Reports of serious damage to corn and fruit in the Cumberland Valley have been received.

A Mother's Duty.

"Watch your daughter's physical development.

"Nature has provided a time for purification, and if the channels are obstructed, the entire system is poisoned, and misery comes.

"Irregularities from any cause, at any age, are sure indications of organic trouble.

"With irregularities come disturbances of the stomach and kidneys, violent headaches, shooting pains, extreme lassitude, and irritability.

"Remove the trouble at once, or a whole life will be sacrificed.

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will accomplish the work speedily.

"It is the most effective remedy for irregular or suspended action known to the world."—Mrs. Chas. Hines, Box 212, Duncannon, Pa.

OUT OF THE FRYING PAN

Has come not a little knowledge as to cookery—what to do, as well as what not to do. Thus we have learned to use the most pure and perfect and popular cooking material for all frying and shortening purposes.

COTTOLENE,

PROGRESSIVE COOKING

is the natural outcome of the age, and it teaches us not to use lard, but rather the new shortening, which is far cleaner, and more digestible than any lard can be.

COTTOLENE,

The success of COTTOLENE has called out worthless imitations under similar names. Look out for these! Ask your Grocer for COTTOLENE, and be sure that you get it.

Made only by

STORIES OF THE STORM

Steamer Savannah Wrecked But Everybody Saved.

RESCUED BY THE BIRMINGMAM

Details of the Hurricane at Savannah and Charleston—Other Southern Cities Devastated—Government Ships Arrive Safely at Fortress Monroe.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Aug. 31.—The steamship Birmingham of the Ocean Steamship company, two days overdue, arrived in Savannah at 7 p. m. yesterday, bringing a portion of the passengers and crew of the steamship City of Savannah, wrecked Monday morning on the shoals six miles from St. Helena Lighthouse, S. C., at 3 o'clock. The following is a list of the passengers of the City of Savannah:

D. A. Hooker, Mary S. Hooker, E. P. Hooker, Wm. Cornell, Dr. G. W. Lamar, Mrs. G. W. Lamar, Norman Helena, Edward Pierson, Mrs. Cooper, Mrs. Ellen Wade, E. Todd, Nathan Darrows, J. M. Donald, John Norman, Annie Love, Geo. Durlow, John W. Armstrong, John Wade.

The City of Savannah left Boston Thursday afternoon. She met one storm after another, there being three storms in all, until Sunday, when her steam whistle was knocked off and the water began pouring into her hold and threatened to stop her engines. Seeing that the ship could last but a few hours longer, Capt. Savage headed her for shoal water. Early Monday morning the steamer was heard bumping and scraping against the bottom. She had not been gotten into an easy place, however. The huge waves broke over her with increasing force and beat the boat to pieces. The cabins were smashed and carried away, first on one side and then another. Capt. Savage and the officers and crew used every effort to prevent loss of life among the passengers and, wonderful as it may appear, they were successful. Not a life was lost from aboard the ship.

Monday afternoon a small boat with three sailors who volunteered from the crew were sent out to find a place on the shore, where the boats could land. They did not return and it was not known whether they reached the shore or not. Tuesday morning the two lifeboats, the only two left, were manned, the first officer being in command of one and the second officer of the other. The boats were filled with women and children, about 15 in all. The boats arrived safely at Coffin Point. Those who remained on the City of Savannah were rescued by the City of Birmingham, which left New York Saturday and had a stormy passage. The Birmingham also picked up the captain and crew of six of the schooner Joseph Southern.

DAMAGE AT CHARLESTON.

Six People Known to be Killed and Many Missing.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Aug. 31.—The damage to Charleston was fully as great as from the terrible cyclone of 1885. The News and Courier estimates losses in Charleston at $1,111,500. The experience of 1885 taught Charlestonians a lesson and over $1,000,000 cyclone insurance was held here. This will greatly offset the damages.

Six persons were killed and two injured at Charleston and others are missing.

Rattlesnake Shoals Light Ship was completely wrecked. The crew escaped. The Seminole and Yemassee of the Clyde Line steamers are both overdue at Charleston and great anxiety is felt. The British steamer Astoria, laden with lumber, from Pensacola for Queenstown, is derelict.

The schooner Morris W. Child from Brunswick, lumber, was towed into Charleston by a tug. She is much injured. This vessel reports passing through wreckage and seeing six men in the water with life preservers on. They were barely alive. No assistance could be given them.

All rivers in the State are over their banks and lowland crops are ruined. Corn looks as if logs had rolled over it. Cotton is badly torn up. The damages to crops amount to several thousand dollars. Every town in the State suffered damage, shade trees being blown down and roofs injured.

SEVENTY BODIES FOUND.

The Horrors of the Storm Not Yet Half Told.

AUGUSTA, Ga., Aug. 31.—News from the storm-swept district of Port Royal and Beaufort is appalling. A dispatch to the Chronicle brings the startling intelligence that 70 dead and swollen bodies were taken from the Coosaw river by searching parties. Not one half of the horrors of the storm have yet been told, as messengers from surrounding sections are arriving hourly bringing news of deaths and terrible havoc caused by Sunday night's gale. The result of yesterday's work of relief puts the number of missing at over 100.

WAR VESSELS SAFE.

The Kearsarge and Nantucket Arrive at Fortress Monroe.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—Apprehension for the safety of the U. S. S. Kearsarge and the old monitor Nantucket was removed late yesterday afternoon just before Secretary Herbert left the Navy Department for his home, by the receipt of a telegram from Commander Crowninshield, commanding the Kearsarge, stating that both vessels had arrived at Fortress Monroe, Va.

Numerous Vessels Lost.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Aug. 30.—The following has just been received by the Morning News from Beanfort, S. C.: "The shipping at Beaufort and Port Royal suffered almost total destruction in Sunday's storm. The following vessels are either sunk or ashore: Clare McGilvray, Regame, Alma Cumming, W. H. Summer; tugs Reliance, Juno, Weymouth, Kinkora, Kent, Stone, Dove, Ida and Ivanhoe, and steamer Pilot Boy. An unknown schooner is ashore and another bottom up in Port Royal Sound.

The Hurricane's Course.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—Reports received by the Weather Bureau show that the hurricane has moved northeast and is now central near the mouth of the St. Lawrence river. The storm covers a pear shaped radius with Montreal at the point corresponding to the juxtaposition of pear and stem. Halifax is on the eastern outskirts of the hurricane's circumference, Eastport, Maine, on the south and Father's Point in the north.

ABSOLUTELY PURE

THE STORM-SWEPT SOUTH.

Vague Stories of Destruction at Beaufort and Port Royal.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Aug. 31.—The storm of Sunday night and Monday morning, was one of the fiercest that ever swept over South Carolina. Wires are down in every direction and details are hard to obtain. The damage was general, extending over the entire State, being most severe in the northwestern angle. The damage at Beaufort, Port Royal and neighboring low islands skirting the Atlantic coast was terrible. Much rice cut and stacked was swept away, and uncut rice suffered seriously. Sea Island cotton farms were terribly washed up.

Indefinite reports received from Port Royal and Beaufort make it appear that the storm did greater damage there and in that vicinity than elsewhere. One report is to the effect that 100 lives were lost at those two places and along the Atlantic coast intervening. Most of the loss was among the negroes, who became frightened and in their panic stayed in their homes too long to make their escape. No message can be gotten from Port Royal or Beaufort. The storm continued for about the same time all over the State, and the only difference was in the damage at each point.

GREAT GOLD MINES.

A New York Syndicate Said to Have Purchased Rich Lands in Canada and South America.

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—It is reported here that a syndicate composed of J. B. Haggin, John W. Mackay and Senator Jones of Nevada, have about concluded arrangements for the purchase of all the gold mines and interests in the Beance mining district in the Province of Quebec. These mines are located about 75 miles north of the city of Quebec, and are known as the Gilbert river gold mines. Mining Expert Dwight Crittenden, who has been all over Mexico, South America and South Africa in the interest of the Haggin syndicate, is making an examination of the mines in the Beance district, and has already made one report in which he says he has found a large number of gold bearing quartz veins. One group of mines in this district is owned by a number of Boston and Portland merchants, but it is reported that arrangements have been made for the transfer of this property to Haggin and his associates.

The value of all the mines is away up in the millions. Mining men here are much interested in the outcome of the deal as the same syndicate is reported to have recently secured some of the richest mines in Chili in return for cash advances made at the time of the Chilian war. Crittenden has lately returned from Chili, where he went in the interests of the syndicate, but all he would say about his trip was that he had secured some very rich mines. None of the principals who were seen would discuss the deal at all.

SIX DAYS FOR ONE.

How Custom House Weighers Work Uncle Sam for Pay.

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—The Custom House Investigation Committee held a special meeting yesterday. Assistant Weigher Setzeiser was put on the stand and voluntarily told of a plan that he and James J. Flood, a laborer in the Seventh district, had been operating. From his statement it would appear that on certain days large quantities of exports would be on the dock ready for the outgoing vessels. This export, Mr. Setzeiser, with Mr. Flood's assistance, would weigh up, and then instead of reporting it all as one day's work, would divide it by six and report on his time slips turned in at the office six days work for two men, when in reality it was only one day's work. The five days left the two men would not work at all.

GOOD-BYE TO CLIFTON.

The Famous Races May be Transferred to Dundee.

HACKENSACK, N. J., Aug. 30.—It is now claimed by those who are in a position to know that George H. Engeman, the millionaire owner of the Clifton race track, who last week paid $30,000 for the Dundee track, will soon desert the Clifton track and open up business on his newly acquired property. Though there is considerable opposition to pool selling at race tracks in Bergen county, it is said that Engeman secured a license from the Saddle River township committee before he made the purchase of the Dundee track. The latter is easier to reach from New York than Clifton and the accommodations in general are much better.

CLEVELAND'S AILMENT

It is Said to be Only an Ulcerated Tooth.

SENSATIONAL SURGICAL STORIES

The President and Mrs. Cleveland Start From Gray Gables for Washington—They Go on Benedict's Yacht as Far as New York.

BUZZARD'S BAY, Mass., Aug. 31.—The report that the President is a sick man is taken as simply ridiculous. The rumor is absolutely false, and Mr. Cleveland is, to all appearances, in the very best of health. Mr. Cleveland himself says he is feeling splendidly, is in very good health and very much rested. The fact that the President has either been fishing or driving to the village every day since he arrived at Gray Gables shows pretty conclusively what his condition is.

Only an Ulcerated Tooth.

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—Although it has been denied by Secretary Lamont and others that the President is ill, yet it is admitted at Gray Gables that he went through a painful but not serious dental operation. Private Secretary Thurber and one of the physicians in attendance when the operation was performed, both declare that it is nothing serious, or in any way alarming. According to Dr. Hasbrouck the operation was similar to cases met with every day in dental practice, and on a less prominent person than the President would not have been noticed. It consisted of the extraction of two of the upper teeth and the removal of a slight portion of diseased tissue and bone back of the nose. The disease causing the operation was not at all in the nature of that for which the operation was made on General Grant; it was simply a case of ulcerated teeth.

Off for Washington.

BUZZARD'S BAY, Mass., Aug. 31.—President Cleveland left Gray Gables on E. C. Benedict's yacht Oneida at 1:30 yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Cleveland and Baby Ruth and the nurse accompanied him. They will proceed directly to New York. The Oneida will arrive in New York early in the morning. The President will leave at once for Washington.

SHERMAN HAS HIS SAY.

He Wants Immediate Repeal of His Famous Bill.

CENSURES DEMOCRATIC SENATORS.

Advocates Giving the President or Secretary of the Treasury Authority to Issue Bonds to Maintain the Gold Reserve—The House Still Debating Rules.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—Mr. Sherman held the close attention of the Senate and of a large audience in the galleries for over two hours yesterday, and he set forth in terse and vigorous language—very rapidly delivered—the reasons why he supported the bill to repeal the purchasing clause of the act of July, 1890, and why it should be passed with as little delay as possible. Incidentally he recommended giving authority to the President or Secretary of the Treasury to issue bonds bearing not over 4 per cent. interest in order to procure gold with which to maintain a sufficient reserve, and he commented upon the fact that while he had proposed such a measure at the last session, the opposition to it came from Democratic Senators, although it was to their own administration that power was to be denied. He also alluded to the remarkable attitude of Democratic Senators in opposing the repeal of the act of July, 1890, although they had voted against it and denounced it, whilst the Republicans, by whose votes exclusively that law was passed, were now anxious to vote for its repeal.

He was followed by Mr. Teller, (Rep., Col.) who concluded the speech which he had begun the previous day, and the Senate at 5 p. m. adjourned.

HOUSE.

Yesterday Devoted to Further Debate on Rules.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—The session of the House yesterday was devoid of interest. The proposed code of rules was debated pro and con, both under the hour rule and the five-minute rule, but the passage at arms the previous day between Speaker Crisp and ex-Speaker Reed seems to be regarded not only as the opening of a fight but as the culmination of it, and little attention was paid to the speeches. Without disposing of the rules the House at 5:05 adjourned.

Contested Seat.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—The House Committee on Elections have agreed on the docket of cases, which will be heard in the following order:

1—Williams, (Dem.,) vs. Settle, (Rep.,) North Carolina.

2—Whatley, (Pop.,) vs. Cobb, (Dem.,) Alabama.

3—O'Neill, (Dem.,) vs. Joy, (Rep.,) Missouri.

4—Moore, (Farmer's Alliance-Dem.,) vs. Funstan, (Rep.,) Kansas.

5—Steward, (Dem.,) vs. Childs, (Rep.,) Illinois.

6—Thracker, (Farmer's Alliance,) vs. Enloe, (Dem.,) Tennessee.

7—English, (Dem.,) vs. Hilborn, (Rep.,) California.

8—Watson, (Pop.,) vs. Black, (Dem.,) Georgia.

9—Good, (Pop.,) vs. Epes, (Dem.,) Virginia.

10—Koontz, (Pop.,) vs. Grady, (Dem.,) North Carolina.

11—Baltzell, (Pop.,) vs. Stallings, (Dem.,) Alabama.

THE KING CASE.

Efforts to Release the Millionaire After Twenty-Seven Years in an Insane Asylum.

BOSTON, Aug. 31.—In the Supreme Court yesterday Hon. John D. Long was appointed as temporary guardian of William H. King the Newport millionaire, with authority to investigate his case and report whether or not Mr. King's place of confinement is to be changed, and make any other recommendations proper in the case.

Mrs. E. Webster Ross, who is trying to have Mr. King released, testified before the court, as did also a colored attendant upon Mr. King, but the hearing was private. The court held that the order of commitment made by the Rhode Island Supreme Court 27 years ago was a valid one. This overrules the objection made by Mrs. Ross, a neice of Mr. King, that it was not a lawful order.

Deputy Sheriff Seavey is relieved of the custody of Mr. King, who is to remain at the McLean Asylum until ex Gov. Long shall have concluded what is best for his comfort, after the investigation.

NICARAGUA CANAL.

The Great Scheme Passes Into the Hands of a Receiver.

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—In the United States Circuit Court yesterday Judge Benedict appointed Thomas B. Atkins, of New York receiver for the Nicaragua Canal and Construction Company on the application of Louis Chaple, one of the stockholders.

The application for a receiver is acquiesced in by Warner Miller, president, who says that the company has no longer means to meet its obligations.

Elmira Reformatory.

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 31.—The State Board of Charities held a special meeting here yesterday. Plans for prosecuting the pending investigation of the State Reformatory at Elmira were considered, but no date was set for the commencement of the inquiry. The attorney-general and one of his deputies will attend all meetings of the investigation committee appointed by the board, and examine witnesses and arrange the presentation of testimony.

American Tube Company.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Aug. 31.—A statement of the condition of the American Tube and Iron Company shows assets of $2,624,841.10, and liabilities of $1,376,857.20, leaving a net surplus of $1,247,983.90. The sum of $56,654.03 doubtful accounts are not included in the assets.

The Dolphin Safe.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—A telegram received at the Navy Department announced the safe arrival of the Dispatch Boat Dolphin at New London, Conn., from Washington.

New German Ambassador.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—Baron von Saurwa, the first Ambassador Germany has sent to the United States, was presented to Secretary Gresham yesterday.

JOY FOR LITTLE ONES.

HOW TO SECURE A CLEAN BILL OF HEALTH FOR BABY.

Cholera Infantum Picking Out Badly Nourished Infants—Five Thousand Little Graves Are Dug Each Year in Philadelphia.

"Five thousand little graves are dug each year in Philadelphia, for little babies, says that excellent journal, Health and Home, "and 5,000 little headstones are yearly set up over their graves, all due to deaths traceable to diseases which spring from wrong feeding."

High temperature with improper feeding brings cholera infantum, diarrhoea and convulsions.

But with the use of proper food, and there is noteing so absolutely good as lactated food, this danger may be avoided. Statistics show that babies thrive best on lactated food. It is worth more as a preventive of cholera infantum than all the medicines ever made.

The superlative importance of pure, nutritious infant food, and the long study by some of the most prominent physicians in the country of infant disorders or mistakes in diet, led to the preparation of lactated food. Next to pure mother's milk it is the most nourishing, strengthening, readily digested, and palatable food that can be given a baby. It more closely resembles mother's milk than any other food known. Its basis is sugar of milk; with it is combined the nutritive elements of wheat, barley and oats, in such proportion as best meets the requirement of the growing child.

In recommending the use of this food at this season, one of Plainfield's best physicians said to a Press reporter yesterday: "This food should be in the hands of each mother. For in all cases of defective lactation the infant's health is best protected either by weaning and using lactated food altogether, or in any event by supplementing the natural ailment of the child with lactated food. The wonderful preservative influence of lactated food is too well known to require any further statement; it is the purest and most nourishing that we can find to recommend to mothers."

The thousands of testimonials from the mothers of children whose lives have been saved by lactated food, are equally as convincing as the statements of physician Here is what is said by the mother of as healthy a baby as can be. Mrs. George Motine, of West Lynn, Mass., writes:

"I send one of my baby's pictures to prove that lactated food is the best food for babies. I have used it since he was 2 weeks old and it agrees with him in every respect. He has never had one sick day since he was born, and I shall always think I owe this to lactated food. He was born November 7, 1892, and was nine months old when the picture was taken."

NOT ACCEPTED.

Railroad Commissioners Dissatisfied With the Investigation of the Long Island Horror.

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—The State Railroad Commission is in session at the Hoffman House. They were called together to take action regarding an investigation into the recent railroad disasters at Brewsters, N. Y., and Long Island City.

Chairman Beardsley and Commissioners Hudson and Chapin are present. Commissioner Hudson said that the commission would take measures to have a most rigid investigation made under their direction into the causes of the accidents.

"We are not at all satisfied," said he, "with the investigation made by the railroad company in the case of the Long Island disaster. The call for this meeting was sent out for the purpose of arranging a proper investigation. The commissioners were all away on vacation, but we have got together as soon as possible."

The railroad law makes it the duty of the board "to investigate the cause of any accident on any railroad, resulting in loss of life or injury to persons, which in their judgment shall require investigation," and provides that when in the judgment of the board, any changes in the mode of operating a railroad or conducting the business is reasonable and expedient, in order to promote the security and convenience of the public, the board may require such change to be made.

The Supreme Court has power to compel compliance with the Railroad Commissioners' recommendations by mandamus.

WILL THEY STRIKE?

New York & New England Railroad Employes Threaten to Resist Ten Per Cent. Reduction.

HARTFORD, Conn., Aug. 31.—A general strike of employes is threatened on the New York & New England railroad on account of the ten per cent. cut in wages which will go into effect Sept. 1.

At a meeting held in East Hartford, committees of three were appointed by the engineers, firemen, conductors, brakemen, shopmen and others to go to Boston and place the matter before President McLeod. The men object to any cut, but are willing to go on short time if necessary. They are afraid that the president's promise to restore wages to the original rates "when the business of the road will warrant it" may mean that a long period may elapse before the officials deem it right to increase the wages.

Some of the men intimate that if the conductors and engineers refuse to accept the cut, providing President McLeod will not grant any concessions, all railroad hands will strike. It is believed that the Brotherhoods of Engineers and Conductors do not regard the cut as necessary.

WEATHER INDICATIONS.

NEW JERSEY'S CORPORATIONS.

Col. John VanCleef, Secretary of the State Board of Assessors, makes the statement that notwithstanding the continued stringency of the money market, the miscellaneous corporations who pay tax to the State of New Jersey for using its name in a business connection, are making their payments to the State with more readiness than they had shown for four years; that over seventy-five per cent of the total amount assessed on the 3,700 miscellaneous corporations has already been paid, and that this beats the record. There have been a few more appeals this year than heretofore, and the statement is made by the counsel for some of the corporations that they are making no money and find it difficult to sell stocks, yet they seem to comply with the demands of the State more readily than heretofore.

The total returns from miscellaneous corporations will be larger this year than for any year in the history of the State. The revenue for the filing of certificates, as well as the assessment of taxes, will be larger by forty per cent. than last year. The possible solution of this is that the State has been careful to follow the corporations closely and to weed out those that have suspended business or collapsed.

It is the duty of the Attorney-General to move against a corporation when it refuses to pay and to obtain a perpetual injunction enjoining it from doing any further business, and this has kept the Attorney-General's office busy for the past two or three years. It has annulled the charter of a large number of corporations that have been carried on the books ever since the Corporation act went into force.

A WAIL FROM THE DISTRACTED.

Plainfielders who are kept awake at night by discordant and unnecessary shrieking of locomotive whistles and whose Sunday rest is disturbed by the needless clanging of church bells, will be interested in the wail which comes from Philadelphia. This city, which enjoys the reputation of being quiet to the point of dulness, is barbarously noisy, according to The Press of that city, which pleads for ordinances against unnecessary din and uproar in the streets and for the enforcement of those ordinances that already exist. It seems that if musicians begin to play before a house in Philadelphia, its inmates can get rid of them only by purchasing their silence, and that although long blasts on steam whistles are prohibited, the ears of the inhabitants are split by such shrieks from the factories several times each day. The Press says that it is all very well to invoke the law against such an outrage; that, in fact, it has been done, but only at the cost of a long and tedious lawsuit. "We are behind the times"—it says.—"The roar of London has been stilled. Paris is a quiet city by the side of the Paris of thirty or forty years ago. So is New York. The Massachusetts Railroad Commission, after a long fight, has reduced the locomotive whistle to comparative silence. Here in Philadelphia we endure all the noises of the past and imagine that noise and energy go together. It is a barbarous idea. Noise is waste. The stillest engine returns the most power for its consumption of coal." This wail coming from Philadelphia of all places will strike most people as extraordinary.

NOTEWORTHY ENGINEERING.

In a few months the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad will be able to abandon the old Bollman bridge over the Potomac River, and its trains will thenceforth run over a new double-track bridge of modern construction after passing beneath Maryland Heights through a tunnel carved out of the solid rock. The work of tunneling was begun about a year ago, and as an engineering feat it is worthy of note. The drilling started at both ends at the same time. A small hole about seven feet in diameter, known as a heading, was first made. As soon as the headings were far enough advanced, work on the lower part of the rock, which had to be taken out, was begun, the headings having given room to drive the drill horizontally so that much larger masses of rock could be blasted. The headings met July 20 of this year and were only half an inch out of line, which is considered remarkable in the way of engineering. The work of tunneling has proceeded so fast since then that the only blasting now done is for the purpose of trimming the interior to make ready for the east and west portals, which will be of masonry "topped out" with brick arches. The tunnel will be 850 feet long, 28 feet wide, and 24½ feet high. Over 22,000 cubic yards of rock were taken out of the tunnel, and 26,000 cubic yards were blasted in making the approaches. The rapidity with which the work has been done is not often equaled. The bridge piers across the river, of which there are eight, have been built on four-foot foundations laid on bedrock. In their construction 64,000 cubic yards of Gettysburg granite have been used. When completed the bridge will be forty-three feet above the river, and the railroad tracks will be laid at a point seven feet higher than the highest water ever known on the Potomac. The bridge will be 900 feet long between abutments. To make room for the new work, the railroad station had to be moved down about 100 feet, and the old Potomac House, which was almost as much of a landmark as John Brown's Fort, had to be torn down.

THE FESTIVE FEMALE BOOK AGENT.

CHARLES HAND AND FAMILY TELL THEIR EXPERIENCE.

How Miss Sadie Was Induced to Part With Her Cash—Mr. Hand Has'n't Yet Found Any Tangible Evidence of the Existence of the Publishing House.

Charles Hand, who has been mixed up in an affair with a book-agent, as told exclusively in The Press, says that as all the reports of the trouble have come from the agent, only one side of the story has been told. The Press accordingly prints the statement of the affair as told by Mr. Hand and his family.

The trouble started when Sadie Hand saw the agent's advertisement in the paper and answered it. The ad ran as follows:

Wanted, ladies for a well-known publishing house. Salary $8 and $10 per week.

In response to Miss Hand's answer, a woman called at the Hand home, and, according to the Hands' story, stated that she was the manager and told Sadie that the position that she would have would be either in New York or Plainfield, as the publishing house intended opening an office in one of the two places by the first of January. She went on to say that in order to understand the work that she would be expected to do it was necessary that she should have the outfit, which she produced, and which would cost $7 50. Mrs. Hand said to the agent that it was her custom not to do any business without consulting Mr. Hand, and that she did not happen to have the $7.50 in her pocket at the time.

"Never mind;"—said the agent—"you can borrow it of your butcher or baker."

Mrs. Hand objected to this course, but the agent turned to her daughter, and said something to the effect that she knew Sadie was a hustler and would not be stumped by any little thing like having to borrow the money. She talked to Sadie in this manner for some time, and finally induced her to go and borrow the money, by saying that if everything was not satisfactory the money would be refunded. When Sadie returned and paid the money to the agent, she asked for some receipt or voucher that she could take as a guarantee that she would have the position. The agent said that no receipt was necessary.

"How do I know that I will get the position?"—asked Sadie, to which the woman replied: "How do you know you will live to fill it?"—and left the house.

Sadie had previously asked the woman for her name and address, but the agent said it was not necessary to give them.

When Mr. Hand returned home, he concluded from the story that his wife told him that the agent had decidedly got the best of the bargain, and he set to work to find out where she was staying in town so that he might go and interview her. He was fortunate enough to have her pointed out to him on the street the next morning, Friday, by someone who knew her, and he followed her to her boarding house. Having located his quarry, he brought his daughter around to the house and and sent her up to ask for her money back.

When the agent saw Sadie coming in, she exclaimed: "How did you find out my address?" When Sadie came into the room the agent locked the door after her, unlocking it after a moment to let in her brother, who is in the same business. She told Sadie that the money had been sent to the company, and that therefore she could not give it back. Mr. Hand, who had been at the foot of the stairs, came up to the room and asked Sadie if she was ready to go. The agent unlocked the door, and Sadie said that she had not recovered the money. Mr. Hand then sent his daughter out for a policeman, and demanded the money back. The agent told him that the money had been sent to the company and that he would have to write to them to find out about it. She said that if he would write to the company he would hear within a few days. Some slight passage of arms took place between Mr. Hand and the brother, an account of which is not essential to the story. Mr. Hand said frankly to the agent that he did not believe there was any publishing house at all, and he feels that his suspicions have been partially confirmed, as he wrote to the address given Saturday and has received no reply as yet. Justice Nash refused to take a case against the agent, and Policeman Kiely had no grounds for arrest, so could not act. Mr. Hand says that he has a letter in his possession written by the agent to a young girl in Plainfield saying that all the positions were taken. Mr. Hand considers this another proof that the whole thing is a fraud. He also says that he would have had a statement published before, but that he did not care to have the trouble made public unless it was necessary. He has written to W. P. Edgerton, Chief of the Post Office Department at Philadelphia, to know if he has a case against the agent for using the mails to obtain money under false pretenses.

Take it altogether, it is an interesting case, as the agent is as much incensed against Mr. Hand as he is against her, and says she will have damages from him. The issue will be watched with interest.

Burial of Their Little Son.

The funeral services of little Percy VanMiddlesworth took place last evening at 8, at the home of his afflicted parents, 111 Elmwood place. The Rev. Dr. C. R. Barnes, and Pastor Hand of the First Church of Christ, had charge of the service, and made remarks appropriate to the occasion. Interment was made at Somerville this morning.

Oh Dear, Still Another!

Weather Observer Smith, who is presiding in New York city during the absence of Farmer Dunn, who is on his vacation, says there is another storm chasing the hurricane of Monday night, and thinks it will reach this section in a few days. The storm which passed Monday was reported yesterday in Upper Canada and was still heading for the north pole.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

John J. Kenney is confined to his home by illness.

The Misses Rocap came back from Belmar yesterday.

The Rev. J. W. Richardson is home from Middlebury, Conn.

J. D. Case and family are home from a month at the seashore.

Col. Mason W. Tyler and family are home from the White Mountains.

Principal Maxson of the High School returned today from his vacation.

Charles French, of Rogers, Peet & Co., is resting from business for a short time.

Mrs. Sarah A. B. Green and daughters are home at 920 Park avenue, from the West.

Dr. O. L. Jenkins and family are enjoying the autumnal glories of the Thousand Islands.

Street Commissioner Meeker is home from the World's Fair, enthusiastic over its glories.

B. A. Hegeman and family left Lake Placid yesterday to return to their home, 37 Sycamore avenue.

Samuel Dollner and family are at Hotel Netherwood, after a season at Great Barrington, Mass., among the Berkshires.

Philip Jacques, of Washington avenue, leaves Plainfield today and becomes a resident of Twenty-eighth street, New York.

Miss Sunnie Waldron, of Clinton, Hunterdon county, whose nature is like her name, is visiting her aunt, Mrs. Milligan, 419 West Fourth street.

Harry S. Curtis, press agent of Hunting's Circus, is in town today, making friends of all who meet him. The show comes to Plainfield Thursday, Sept. 14.

Townsend Fellows, who sang so acceptably in the First Presbyterian church last Sunday, has been staying with his mother and sister on Duer street. He returns to Albany tomorrow.

Oscar Bennett Smith was drowned while in a rowboat during the storm of the 29th, at Isle au Haut, Penobscot Bay, Maine. His age was 26, and his home was at 721 Watchung avenue.

Alex. Lusardi, of North avenue, is one of the lucky winners of two building lots given by Il Progresso Italio Americano, the Italian paper, in New York city. The lots are at Vineland, Cumberland county.

Arthur T. Gallup and Miss Ernestine Smith are expected home tomorrow from the great White City. Frank Smith and Frank Randolph will fill their places among the admiring host at the Fair.

Ernest L. Kieb, of Fanwood, held a levee last night, and entertained the entire community, which had been informally invited to view a magnificent specimen of the night blooming cereus that is in flower at his residence.

Andrew Love, Jr., accompanied by his sister, Miss Maggie, and Mrs. James Love, left town today for a few weeks recreation. They will make their headquarters at the Buxton House, among the delightful hills of Pike county, Pa.

Al Bunyon, whom everyone knows as Little Rabbit of the Pottawotamie Tribe, and who is the courteous and competent bookkeeper at Boice, Bunyon & Co's, has been given a vacation of one week, and his friends are stretching their ears to receive big fish stories when he returns.

The employes of The Press will cast off dull care this evening in the enjoyment of a box of fragrant Havanas, and as they smoke you may be sure they will think kindly and appreciatively of Louis Coombs, who in his happiness as bridegroom presented the box to the staff.

The Rev. Cornelius Schenck, wife and children, arrived last night from the Catskills. Although granted an extension of his vacation by the Consistory, he feels thoroughly rested and invigorated, and anxious to be in his pulpit again. He will meet his congregation next Sunday morning and evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Augustus D. Shepard, of Scotch Plains, left yesterday with a party for the World's Fair, to be gone two weeks. In the party, besides Mr. and Mrs. Shepard, were Buritt, Fred and Rutherford Shepard, Miss Daisy Shepard, Miss Edith Smalley and Arthur Talmadge of Netherwood, and Elliott F. Shepard of New York.

First Lieutenant William W. Miller, of Company I, Third New Jersey Volunteers, who visited Comrade Thomas M. MacDonald, yesterday, is now a resident of Philadelphia, at 1718 Spring Garden street. He enlisted at the outbreak of the rebellion as a private in Company C, Third Regiment. His services were of a meritorious character, and he was several times promoted, until the end of his term he was made First Lieutenant of Company I, and brought that company to Plainfield at the close of their term of enlistment and mustered them out of service. He and Comrade MacDonald spent several pleasant hours together. Neither recognized the other at first, after so many years.

All Is Forgiven.

In the case of the city against twelve boys of East Front street, Judge Coddington in the City Court this morning suspended sentence at the request of the complainant, P. P. VanArsdale. For over two weeks, he said, the boys had given him no trouble whatever.

He'll Never Do So Any More.

Charles Saueraker was in the City Court today charged with disorderly conduct and cruelty towards his wife. At the request of his wife, the prisoner was discharged, not however, without receiving a reprimand and some excellent advice from the Judge.

Caution.

Imitations have been put upon the market so closely resembling ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS in general appearance as to be well calculated to deceive. It is however, in general appearance only that they compare with ALLCOCK'S, for they are worse than worthless, inasmuch as they contain deleterious ingredients which are apt to cause serious injury. Remember that ALLCOCK'S are the only genuine porous plasters—the best external remedy ever produced; and when purchasing plasters do not only ask for but see that you get ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS.

SUN-LIGHT and FRESH AIR are THE BEST DISINFECTANTS, of course; but you can't apply them in every situation. What next? Well, that depends. For damp cellars use Quicklime, plenty of it. For vaults and cesspools use COPPERAS; cheap stuff; we sell it by the pound or hundred-weight—instructions thrown in. For kitchen sinks, for water-closets, for house plumbing, for the sick room, to deodorize discharges, to purify the air and to prevent contagion, use REYNOLDS'S ODORLESS DISINFECTANT. Made and sold for fifteen years at

Reynolds's Pharmacy, Corner Park and North Avenues.

A Few Honest Suggestions Which Should Be Appreciated.

All tooth powders practically contain the same ingredients, namely, chalk, castile soap, etc., with some flavoring. We use in the manufacture of Royal Tooth Powder the best English prepared chalk, the finest English Castile soap, delicately flavored. Your dentist will tell you these substances are perfectly harmless and accomplish all that is to be expected from a tooth powder. A full 2-ounce package of this unexcelled article (same as is usually sold for 25c. under other names, but which we retail for 10c.) will be given with each $1 purchase and upwards. People of correct ideas will appreciate this offer but some will say, "We never use tooth powder." Those who do use it, however, can be distinguished from those who don't, as the rose can be distinguished from the dandelion. This will seem cruel to some, but duty compels us to speak plainly. The "Royal" is being received everywhere, and jobbers compliment us with their duplicate orders. A trial of Royal Tooth Powder will delight you. J. C. ALLEN, Plainfield, N. J.

COZIER THAN EVER.

Artist Edwards Has Made Delightful Treatment of the All Souls Interior.

The interior decorations of the Unitarian church will be viewed publicly on the reopening of the church next Sunday.

They are gratifying to the observer, in that they display the perfect good taste of George Wharton Edwards, the artist, who selected the colors and the designs, and the faithful execution of Woolston & Buckle, the decorators.

Around the sides of the interior, to the height of seven feet, and within the alcoves behind and at the sides of the pulpit, the color is a rich brown. Above this, and over all, and giving the prevailing tint, is a coloring of light cream. Where the brown and the cream meet run four broad stripe of gold. Three tasteful gold floral designs decorate the alcoves behind the pulpit; and the arches above them are rimmed with stripes of gold.

The decorations harmonize well with the furnishings of natural wood, and give the church interior a warm and altogether an inviting look.

THE TINGLEY FAMILY PICNIC.

NOT SO BIG AS THE SMITHS', BUT JUST AS JOLLY.

Merry Time at the Blackford Farm, New Market—Plenty to Eat, and the Originals' Pictures to Gaze at—A Handful of Direct Descendants, and Lots of Cousins—Pretty Girls Abounded.

Not since the days of "ye olden time" have the Tingley family held such a glorious re-union as that which took place yesterday at the David Blackford farm near New Market:

There were Tingleys from far and near, all come to have a good old-fashioned time, and enjoy the renewing of acquaintances, which has been their custom for a number of years.

Early in the morning they began to arrive, some on foot and some in carriages. Of vehicles, by the way, some are only used on State occasions, and the best of care is taken of them by their owners.

To enliven the celebration, the Friendship Cornet Band of New Market was secured, and gave their best selections to the delight of both young and old.

The day was perfect in every respect, and the fresh green grass and foliage added to the charms to the scene, while the cool air seemed to inspire everyone with new ambition and sociability; even the most aged present vied with the youngest in striving towards making it a successful event.

Around the old farmhouse were arranged long tables and comfortable seats, where an inviting feast of good things was placed before the hungry multitude of people.

On the lawn in front of the house some of the folks were taking things easy under the large shade trees. Everyone present was supposed to be a Tingley, or to have an interest in the family, and their generous hospitality was bestowed on all alike. One could not help but feel acquainted and at home in such a gathering.

Genial John Tingley, whom Plainfielders know so well, was manager of the affair, as usual, and looked after every need.

As a reminder of good old days, the familiar pictures of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Tingley were hung in front of the house. They were the original Tingleys of these parts, and their pictures brought moisture to the eyes of many a one, as they gazed in fondness on their kindly faces.

In the afternoon the Rev. Mr. Thompson, pastor of the South Plainfield Baptist church, called the gathering to order, and made a short speech, after which he introduced the Rev. Mr. Cox, who formerly preached in that neighborhood and was well acquainted with the early residents. Mr. Cox gave a graphic description of the early days, and brought to remembrance many instances that recalled those palmy days, and said that he had held many a pleasant pastorate since, but none gave better satisfaction than the one at that place.

The Rev. Frank Fletcher, pastor of the New Market Baptist church, was called on, and gave a most stirring and profound talk. At times, however, he became quite funny, and his occasional joke was hugely enjoyed.

The Rev. Mr. Thompson announced that the band would entertain the audience, and later on Charles Dyas, of Somerville, who played the drum, gave an imitation of a train of cars passing through a country and being cannonaded. It brought forth hearty applause. Mr. Dyas is a member of Co. H, 3d Regiment, Somerville.

Those present of the original Tingley family were:

Mrs. Phoebe Tappan, a sister, White Plains, Georgia.
Mrs. David Blackford, New Market.
David Tingley, a nephew, Florida.
Ebenezer Tingley, George Tingley, Charles Tingley, John Tingley, of New Market.

One sister living in Illinois, one in the southwestern part of Missouri, and a brother in New York, were not present.

A familiar face was that of Uncle William Randolph, of Randolphville.

There were many sweet-faced maidens and bright-faced youths. Newark, where there are Tingleys, was well represented.

The people began to leave about 6 in the afternoon, and all joined in praise of the most successful reunion ever held. All were invited to be present again next year.

His Old Friends Bore Him to Rest.

The funeral of the late James Brand was held from his late residence, corner of Madison avenue and Fifth street, yesterday afternoon at 5. A large number of the relatives and friends were present.

The Rev. Dr. C. R. Barnes of the First Methodist Episcopal church, and the Rev. Dr. E. M. Rodman, rector of Grace Protestant Episcopal church, officiated.

Dr. Barnes gave an impressive talk. His remarks were addressed to the living, and were very effective.

Dr. Rodman read part of the Episcopal service at the house, and the remainder at the grave.

The pall-bearers, all warm personal friends of the deceased, were A. M. Vanderbeek, Andrew Lutkins, Isaac Brokaw, John Sharp, Edward Dunn and Ethan Lanphear.

Interment was made in the Methodist cemetery, Plainfield avenue and Sixth street.

Their Friends Surprised Them.

When Mr. and Mrs. Louis Coombs, whose happy marriage was noted in The Press of yesterday, returned from Lake Hopatcong last evening, they were pleasantly surprised by a jolly party of Elizabeth friends who had gathered at their home to receive them. A most enjoyable evening was passed by the merry gathering.

Read and Reflect.

The great mass of mankind lose their health through inattention to catarrh of the head and throat. This insidious disease was considered incurable until the discovery of the American Catarrh Cure. For sale by L. W. Randolph, 21 West Front street. Price $1.00.

CONCERT AT THE NETHERWOOD.

Miss McGinnis Will Give a Skirt Dance, and Others Will Play and Sing.

The promenade concert to take place in Hotel Netherwood tonight will be a subscription benefit given by the guests for the hotel orchestra, and will be under the direction of Richard Stoelzer. The soloists will be:

Herr Theodor Hoch.

Pas De Quatre—Skirt Dance, (special request).
Little Miss Marie Josephine McGinnis.

A hop will follow the concert. Many Plainfield people will doubtless participate, as the management extends a cordial invitation to society young people and other friends.

He Owned Washington Rock.

James M. Frazee, of Columbus, O., is visiting his brother, Samuel D. Frazee, of West Second street, after an absence from Plainfield of 26 years.

Mr. Frazee was the owner of Washington Rock, and built a hotel on that site. He was ahead of the times, however, and paid the penalty of his enterprise by losing a considerable fortune. Mr. Frazee is now in the silver hardware business in Columbus. His wife accompanies him on his visit to Plainfield, and both are heartily welcome.

Wake Up, Neighbor, and Read The Press.

A sleepy old journal claiming to be a newspaper told last night of the mysterious disappearance of a Frenchman, Robert Pierrat, a book-agent, and hinted that he had swindled Plainfield people. These columns weeks ago told of the arrest, conviction and sentence of this same Pierrat, for his wrongdoing.

Mr. Pierrat's "disappearance" is because he is in jail, and all Plainfield long ago read of his swindle, in The Press.

The Press alone, of all papers in Plainfield, gives "all the news, first and fully".

No Lack of Funds; It's Signers They Want.

The report that has been circulated by another newspaper to the effect that the Plainfield Street Railway Company was short of funds, and, therefore, unable to extend its tracks to Dunellen, is denied by Superintendent Adleman, who assures The Press that as soon as the company can secure the consent of the property owners along the proposed line, the work of extension will be pushed rapidly forward.

A Big Brave Man Holds Up a Boy.

One of the Western Union Telegraph messenger boys was stopped by a strange man on East Front street, last evening about 8, while on his way to deliver a message. The boy was very much frightened. He said the man wanted money, but as he didn't have any the man let him go.

These instances are becoming quite frequent, and steps should be taken to rid the city of these sneaks.

Now They're Out of Work.

A gang of Italians working on the turnout switch on Watchung avenue, finished work last night. A number of them, for whom the contractors had no work, were discharged, whereupon they all threatened to cease work. All were immediately discharged. This morning many of them made application for work but were not taken back, as their places had already been filled by new hands.

Keeley's Fate Uncertain.

At an auction sale held last Friday afternoon at Thompson's stables on East Second street, Michael Walsh and Patrick Keeley were drunk and disorderly. They were arrested, and this morning in the City Court Judge Coddington fined Walsh $8. Keeley pleaded non vult, and in his case sentence was reserved.

The Depositors Get Half Their Savings.

William Y. Johnson, who was appointed receiver for the Somerset County Bank, has prepared his report to the Chancellor.

Mr. Johnson states that he is ready to declare a dividend of 50 per cent. to the depositors as soon as the Court issues an order to that effect.

Should Be Suppressed.

Complaint has been made to Chief Grant that two colored men frequent John I. Holly's premises and fish from his pond, which he stocked himself. When ordered to leave the place, they became insulting, and said they would go when they got ready.

THE MOORE-RICE CONTROVERSY.

A Higher Court Than Mosher's to Determine Its Merits.

Counselor Marsh was indignant at Justice Mosher's verdict against his client, Charles P. Rice, which he held to be directly contrary to the merits of the case.

On securing judgment, Charles K. Moore had a warrant issued, to attach Mr. Rice's chattels, or his body if they could not be found.

Mr. Marsh denounced such action, and said he should certiorari the whole proceedings within 24 hours.

The Moore faction then withdrew the warrant, and Mr. Marsh filed for Mr. Rice an appeal bond, taking the case to a higher court for reversal.

For Mr. Rice's language in Court to Mr. Moore, Mr. Moore had him arrested, and brought before the City Court this morning. Mr. Marsh as Corporation Counsel was not one whit embarrassed at having to prosecute his own client, for Mr. Marsh is always honest, and he frankly said, "My client is guilty; I heard him use the language, under provocation". He impressed all with his candor and fairness. Judge Coddington suspended sentence on Mr. Rice.

The sentence of Mr. Rice, uttered yesterday, "I stole tools for that man" (Col. Moore), was, it seems, qualified by his saying afterwards "That is, I borrowed and bought for him, what he never paid for, and I think that's the same as stealing". He denies having mentioned Mr. Doud in the same connection.

No one who knows Mr. Rice and Mr. Doud believes either of them capable of a dishonorable act.

HOME FROM THE WRECK.

Perilous Adventure of a Plainfield Party During the Storm of Monday Night.

Albert A. Wright, Mrs. Corlies and Miss Corlies returned to Plainfield yesterday from New London, and are resting after their recent exciting and perilous experience in being rescued from Mr. Wright's schooner yacht, Priscilla, during the storm of Monday night, off Watch Hill. The yacht was being driven on the rocks, when the life-saving crew came to the aid of the party and took all on board safely to shore. The life-savers were none too quick, as the yacht was driven aground shortly after the party left her, and went all to pieces the next day.

Mr. Wright purchased the Priscilla only this spring, and had her completely refitted and done over. She had been in commission but two months. During that time she had been cruising about the Sound. The party on board of her at the time of the disaster was made up a little over a week ago, and the yacht was on her way to Newport when the storm that caused so much damage struck her. The owner and all on board are to be congratulated in getting off with their lives.

Frankie Took a Tumble.

Frank, the 13-year-old son of George Foster, of 84 Somerset street, at noon today fell from the first floor of the unfinished North Plainfield public school, into the cellar, and was picked up unconscious and taken to his home. To the Press reporter who called there this afternoon it was stated that although the little fellow's back was badly bruised, no bones were broken, and that he was getting along nicely.

Alas, for the Philharmonics!

It is much to be regretted that H. D. Newman has decided not to give Philharmonic Concerts this season. The generally prevalent financial troubles render this an unfavorable season for an undertaking involving so much enterprise and expense. It is thought, moreover, that if the concerts are omitted this year, they will by another season have gained much in popularity, from being missed.

No Great Crime.

Judge Coddington this morning suspended sentence in the case of Edward Marshall who had pleaded non vult to the charge of talking unnecessarily to Police Sergeant Kiely last week while the latter was despatching a dog.

Notice is hereby given that the Common Council have fixed the thirty-first day of August, A. D. 1893, at 8 o'clock p. m., and the Council Chamber, No. 109 Park avenue, in the city of Plainfield, as the time and place for J. Frederick MacDonald, William M. Sandford and Edward C. Mulford, the commissioners appointed by the Common Council pursuant to the ordinance entitled, "An ordinance to widen Madison avenue from the southeasterly side line of West Front street to the northwesterly line of the right of way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey," approved June 5, 1893, to meet. The street proposed to be widened and laid out is Madison avenue from the southeasterly side line of West Front st. to the northwesterly line of the right of way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey. The alterations proposed to be made are to widen said Madison so that the same shall be of the uniform width of twenty-five feet on each side of the centre line thereof, which centre line is described in said ordinance, and shown on map on file in the office of the City Clerk entitled "Assessment map for the widening of Madison avenue from West Front street to the Central Railroad of New Jersey, city of Plainfield, N. J., dated 1893, made by F. A. Dunham, civil engineer."

The lands and real estate intended to be taken for such purpose are all that come within twenty-five feet of either side of said centre line between the southeasterly side line of West Front street, and the northwesterly line of the right of way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey, as shown by said map and said ordinance, to which reference is hereby made for more detailed description.

BILL THE BICYCLIST.

NYE'S EXPERIENCE OFF AND ON WITH A PNEUMATIC TIRE.

He Mows the Lawn In the Early Morning and Acquires a Tired Feeling—The Famous Ride of Riley and Reed—Nye's Latest Poem.

[Copyright, 1893, by Edgar W. Nye.]

For a long time I would not be argued into getting a bicycle, for it is not suited to my time of life. It is not dignified for a man who has chatted with crowned heads to hump his back and claw into the air with both feet and scoot across the horizon with wild eyes and a distorted mouth like that of one who has tried to eat with a souvenir spoon to excess.

ON A PNEUMATIC TIRE.

"No," I said, "I was born too far back to pick this up. I can never ride the wheel in public successfully." I tried one of the tall kind once, because it looked so graceful, and it not only threw me in such a way as to drive my spectacles up my nose quite a long distance, but it followed me up and stepped on me and lay down on me and got one of its cold, hard treadles in the bosom of my bicycling jacket, where my lunch was.

But with a pneumatic tire and a low wheel there is less danger of shortening the spine and finding vertebræ in your shoes when you undress at night. The pneumatic tire is blown full of air, being a tight rubber tube encircling the wheel. Riding on air that way is great sport, especially to the witness. It is like running a lawn mower.

I have a large colored gent who exerts himself for me at a reasonable price, and I saw him from my study pushing the lawn mower one bright June morning till I could not stand it any longer. He pushed it from him as he would a watermelon, it was so easy. He kept singing something about like this:

Shell I be called when de great day come,
Or shell I hide my hade in shame?
Shell I jine de hosts dat wall and gum
'Cas Dennis is my Christian name?

And the green grass rolled like a fragrant cataract over the machine. I couldn't write because the sputter and buzz of that lawn mower and the hymn, or whatever it was, kept wooing me to the window, and I couldn't get two ideas together to save my reputation. Finally I gave up my job and went outside. It looked even easier out there than it did from the house.

"You may go down to the garden, Alcibiades," I said, "and weed the succotash pines awhile. I will finish mowing the lawn."

I took off my rich dressing gown and hung it up on the doghouse; took off my reversible cuffs and put them on the tail of a beautiful, ornamental iron dog which stands on the lawn, and started in.

But why go on? Every man with a soft muscle or two has tried these things to get up a glow. I did not do anything more or less than other men have done who need exercise and gorge themselves with it in an hour so that they can't bear the sight of it any more forever.

I mowed a place as big as this morning's paper. I think, a small rosebush and a rubber doll, when I began to see that the sun was rapidly removing the shade from the lawn and putting it over on the north side of the house.

I mowed down the old rusty arches of a forgotten croquet set and got mad eight times and started a tumor at the place where I rested the handle of the mower against my person. The hotter I got the less I knew. I aimed at first to just fool with the machine awhile and quit, but as I went on and overheated my judgment I mowed down a bed of mignonette and some tuberoses that were just beginning to bear.

I would have mowed down a trainload of fresh air fund children if they had come my way; but that's nothing. Anybody would do that if they had ever met a fresh air fund outfit alone on the road.

Well, that's the same way I rode the bicycle, only I concealed myself while practicing. Then I went at it on rainy days. It was in the barn. I enjoyed it some, though at times I knocked the rafters a little to one side with my head. I soon learned, too, to carry in one hand a heavy club with which to knock over the machine whenever it hopped on me while I was down.

Next I learned how to repair my wheel if the pneumatic tire got punctured and let the climate out. You carry a little kit of things, gum and things, also a plumber's furnace by a strap over your shoulder, with your vest pocket full of charcoal, and then when your pneumatic tire gets a hole in it and looks like a pink tight in the hands of the sheriff you get off the wheel at the roadside, and the children of the district school come and stand by your side while you fix it.

I am not of a mechanical turn of mind, and so I could not find the hole where the air had escaped when I broke down. When you puncture your tire, you blow into the valve, and then, if you look soon enough, you will deftly discover the air in the act of escaping. Then you heat a piece of pneumatic pelt and solder it on as soon as possible.

I did not realize till I was 11 miles from home, at the bottom of a five mile hill in a bed of sand and "hit a-raining," how hard it was to find a pinhole in a rubber tire by watching for the place where the mean temperature is escaping.

As night came on and the children had to separate and go their several ways toward home I gave up the idea of repairs, carefully concealed the machine in a swamp and rode home on the running gear of a farmer's wagon, on which I sadly pinched myself several times, which hurt me exceedingly.

Did you ever ride on the "reach," or the "bolster," or the "hounds" of a lumber wagon seven or eight miles in the noontide heat with your feet hanging down and gouging large holes in the road? It is equal to a straw ride among asylum acquaintances.

Referring to rides and vehicles, I am reminded of the chariot race in "Ben-Hur." Everybody remembers his wonderful picture and wishes that he had been first to write it. Every one calls to mind the speech of Ben-Hur to his steeds as they flew around the course; how he kept his temper even when Messala gave the Jew's beautiful horses a cut as he passed them, with his "Down, Eros! Up, Mars." But when the moment, the supreme moment, arrived, Ben-Hur, when all else was silent, addressed his horses:

"On, Atair! On, Rigel! What, Antares, dost thou linger now, good horse? Oho, Aldebaran! I hear them singing in the tents. I hear the children singing and the women sing of the stars, of Atair, Antares, Rigel, Aldebaran, victory, and the song will never end. Well done! Home tomorrow under the black tent—home. On, Antares! The tribe is waiting for us, and the master is waiting! 'Tis done! 'Tis done! Ha, ha! Steady. The work is done. Soho. Steady!"

Rev. Myron W. Reed and James Whitcomb Riley one afternoon about the time of the publication of "Ben-Hur" went out to dine with George Hitt of The Journal at Indianapolis and came home in the evening full of "Ben-Hur." They took a surface car drawn by a pair of moth eaten mules. It was quite a ride from Hitt's chateau to the Dennison House, and so, as the car was unoccupied except by two colored ladies named Trask, who lived across the track—Eloise and Pearl Trask—they talked freely.

Shortly after these two gentlemen got on the car stopped, and the driver went back to set a switch or recover his whip, but soon it moved on in the darkness, gaining speed as the grade seemed gently descending, till directly the Misses Trask began to giggle and look sort of apprehensively toward the front of the car. Mr. Reed looked, too, and discovered that there was no driver. Moreover, the mules were running away.

The pastor made about two strides of eight feet each and found himself at the dashboard of the car, the lines dragging along the track and the driver a mile back looking for his whip.

The Misses Trask screamed as the car now and then returned to the track with a cruel shock, and Mr. Riley, extending his head through a ventilator at the top of the car, exclaimed "Help! help!" twice in rapid succession.

Mr. Reed, holding his hat on with one hand, reached twice for the lines beneath the car, and twice the off mule most put the pastor's eye out with its impressionist tail. At last Mr. Reed succeeded, and scorning the brake he slapped the nigh mule across the person with the lines, and waving his broad hat in the air he cried:

"On, Atair! On, Rigel! What, Antares, dost thou linger now, good mule? Oho, Aldebaran! I hear them singing in the tents. I hear the children singing and the women singing of the stars, of Atair, Antares, Rigel, Aldebaran, victory, and the song will never end."

As the car passed the corner near where The Journal office was Mr. Riley again extended his head through a new place in the roof which he had made with his silk hat and ejaculated hurriedly: "Help! Help! Help! Will no one derail the car and save us?"

But his cry was drowned by the roar of the car and the remarks of Mr. Reed as he slipped the off mule with his slouch hat and exclaimed:

"Well done! Home tomorrow under the black tent—home! On, Antares! On, Aldebaran!"

It was a grand sight.

A MORNING MOW.

I think they went past the car stables eight times, and it is said that those same mules never ran away any more since that. You can leave them standing at a crossing now while you go away to Siberia, and when you come back they will be there.

Below I give a poem addressed to my farm during the late dry spell which visited our place:

MIDSUMMER ON MY PLACE AT A GIVEN POINT, AND LOOKING TOWARD ROAN MOUNTAIN BETWEEN THE STANZAS.

I.

Oh, the sweet potato's swelling on my upright farm,
And the sourwood blossom feeds the bee,
And Kope Elias with his strong right arm
Scoots the moonshine maker up a tree.

II.

Oh, the sun shines hot on my blue grass lawn,
And the mule goes on mighty sad,
For my upright farm is a dark venetian red,
And the eating clay is looking mighty bad.

III.

For my lawn is as red as the Sandy Bottom road,
And the peach busts open on the bough,
And my long parch-ed well at the back of my abode
Wants a cold, damp towel on its brow.

IV.

It never was so droughty since prior to the war,
When the apples got so wormy on the tree,
And it puzzled you all to know what they was for,
Except a gnurly death to you and me.

V.

But the banks may bust 'n do the money centers harm,
I reck not a low neck clam,
For I am content on my upright farm,
And that's why I seem like I am.

Bill Nye

The Ultimate Sacrifice.

The tramps were trudging along the dusty roads on a hot afternoon, because the harvest hands wouldn't let them stop in the shade to rest, and they had had nothing to eat or drink since the night before.

"Hungry?" asked one.

"Yes, but I'm drier," was the gloomy response.

"What would you give for a nice, cold glass of beer?"

"Willie," responded the other earnestly, "I'd almost work for it."—Detroit Free Press.
